Philadelphia Mayor JAMES TATE said this week that the civil rights riots in his city during the last week in August cost $4,105,000. Think of it — this kind of wanton lawlessness in the streets of our country. The biggest item in the total was 2.5 million to satisfy claims of shopkeepers and others whose property was looted and damaged. The second biggest item was 1.5 million for police and firemen overtime pay to quell the civil rights demonstrators and holligans involved in the action. The Philadelphia authorities are also sure that Communist influence in the riot was a factor.

A group of prominent Texas lawyers met in Austin this week to frame court action to insure compliance with the Texas election code and ballot secrecy in the general election. A spokesman present for the vital session called to stress the importance of a confidential ballot said: "An honest election can be the difference between BARRY GOLDWATER carrying Texas or losing it in November." SEN. JOHN TOWER added: "And that might mean the national election because Texas is definitely going to be a pivotal state. It is now in the minds of some of the more renowned area attorneys to impound ballot boxes in several counties to be sure a correct count in the presidential race is forthcoming."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND writes that the latest GALLUP poll shows that regardless of the outcome of the presidential race, the South will definitely embrace a strong two-party system. According to GALLUP, 68 per cent of the Southerners prefer to end the long Democratic party monopoly so that the Democrats can't take them for granted or the Republicans ignore them.

Next on the football schedule for the STANTON BUFFALOES will be Coahoma's Bulldogs. We play them in Coahoma on Friday night. Despite the 32-0 setback of last week, we should all travel with the team to the Howard County city and be in the stands to back the boys when they play their third game of the season. Right now, Stanton is standing an even 500—winning the opener 12-8 against Roscoe.

The weather has been brisk, cool, and simply grand the past few days and nights. As a matter-of-fact a lot of blankets, quilts, etc., have been brought from storage places during the past week. The slow, soil-soaking rain falling in the area the past few days certainly made most people feel better. The ranchers and farmers, along with the bankers and merchants really did appreciate the measurable moisture.

We are grateful for our many subscribers, and too, for all the many new names we are adding to our mailing list these days. Some of the new subscribers have entered their names on our subscription list just because they want to read the editorials and many have written to us telling us that is why they take the Stanton paper.

J. C. SALE mailed in his subscription renewal for two more years. An attached note stated that he endorsed "most" of the items found in our columns. That's fair enough. We only hope to bring the facts in our weekly messages to the people and they will diagnosis them as they (Continued on page 4)

Jackie Won't Help Lyndon

The London Sunday Observer says President Johnson offered Mrs. John F. Kennedy many jobs and invited her to the White House many times but she turned all jobs down and sent regrets when she received invitations.

One of the jobs offered Jackie was the ambassadorship to Mexico and the other to head up a cultural program but the widow of the late President declined.

In a special article on Mrs. Kennedy the newspaper said of Mr. Johnson's reported attempts to win her support: "For reasons not entirely clear, the new President wanted to draw her openly into his camp. Repeatedly he asked her to the White House. Repeatedly she sent regrets. He asked her to be an ambassador to Mexico, she said she was not interested. He invited her to head the White House cultural program; she declined."

"In the end there was a strain."

Many people have heard the story of how Jackie regretted that she stood by Lyndon Johnson's side in a state of sorrow and deep grief and shocked emotion when he quickly took the oath of office just minutes after President Kennedy died in Dallas. Jackie wasn't even allowed time to get the blood of her slain husband from her dress before the swearing-in ceremony was hastily held at Love Field in Dallas. The plane was back in Washington so swiftly Jackie had no time to fully realize what had happened in Texas on the ill-fated politically motivated and (Continued on page 4)

Wes-Tex Co-op Annual Meeting Held Saturday

Members attending the 14th annual meeting of Wes-Tex Telephone Cooperative Saturday heard Manager O. B. Bryan report on continuing growth of the organization.

The phone cooperative was activated in 1950 and now has eight automatic dial exchanges and 1,294 miles of line in seven counties. The system serves 1,324 rural subscribers.

Attendance at the meeting, held in the Cap Rock Electric building, was short of the 50 voting members required for a quorum, so no official business was transacted. The business meeting was adjourned until the next annual meeting in 1965, and incumbent directors will continue to serve until then.

D. O. Lawson, Stanton, who has served on the board of directors since 1954, received a 10 year service pine.

Bobby Hamm, Lenora, entertained with piano selections before the meeting started. A feature of the meeting was a flute duet by Linda Holder and Vicki Driggers, both of Stanton.

White Motor To Sponsor PP&K Contest

The National Football League and the Ford dealers of America today announced the fourth annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition for the nation's 8- through-13-year-old football fans.

"PP&K" pits the youths' punting, passing and place-kicking skills against those of other participants of the same ages. Since its inception in 1962, the program has attracted more than 1,100,000 entries, including nearly a half a million last year.

Last year a Dallas boy, 8-year-old Steve Pierce, won the national championship in his age category, and Marshall Lambson, 9, of St. Johns, Ariz., was tops among boys in his age group. Both represented the Dallas Cowboys in the national PP&K championship at Chicago last December 25.

Registrations for this year's competition will be held at White Motor Company, September 1 through October 9.

The 12 finalists — one each in the 8-13 age groups from the Eastern and Western Division team areas — will go to Miami for the final PP&K competition at halftime of the NFL Runner-Up Bowl Game on January 3. The all-expense-paid "Tour of Champions" for the youths and their parents will begin with a visit to Washington, D. C., on December 26. The Washington visit will be highlighted by a special tour of the White House.

Following the halftime show-down in Miami, the six national age-group winners will be crowned by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. While in Florida, the group will attend the Orange Bowl game January 1.

Clinton spoke concerning problems within the school as they relate to the present enrollment distribution. He pointed out that 265 in high school, 515 in the white elementary school, 49 in the colored school, and 70 in the Courtney school. The trouble area is in the elementary school, he said. For example, he cited that there were 74 pupils in one grade in the elementary school with two teachers, while there were 70 students in Courtney with six teachers. If some arrangement could be made whereby the teacher load would be more equally divided the district as a whole would profit. Supt. Clinton said. Clinton urged the citation. (Continued on page 4)

Buffaloes Fall To Big Lake Eleven

Stanton's Buffaloes fell before a powerful and much more experienced Big Lake Lake eleven Friday night on the local playing patch — going down 32-0.

Big Lake maintained possession of the pigskin most of the night and a fundamental rule of football is that a team has to possess the ball to score. Stanton's defense was actually better than it appeared on the scoreboard.

The Owls racked up 16 first downs as compared to nine for the Buffs. Stanton lost the ball three times on fumbles.

Don Childs, a great running back, tipping the scales at 205 pounds, led the Owls scoring charge. Childs got two first period touchdowns.

ADA

Congressman William Miller, Republican candidate for Vice President, and other conservative leaders have started warning the nation of the aims set forth by the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action (ADA).

ADA is an independent, national political organization formed in 1947 to promote programs of domestic socialism and world government. Its attitude toward Communism has been described by conservatives as "incredibly naive."

ADA has come under close study since the Vice Presidential nomination of Hubert Humphrey, a founding member and former national chairman of ADA.

The featured speakers at the ADA annual convention this year were Humphrey, Martin Luther King and Walter Reuther.

The following quotes were taken directly from the ADA World, official publication of the organization:

"We believe serious consideration should be given to the adoption of Federal price, rent and wage controls."

"We advocate enactment of a universal health insurance program."

"We recommend Federal construction and operation of atom-electric power plants."

ADA would discontinue Communist investigations:

"We urge that the Un-American Activities Committee of the House of Representatives be discontinued, and we also oppose the Compulsory Testimony Act of 1954."

ADA would not outlaw the Communist Party:

"We oppose any legislation outlawing any political party. We urge the abolition of the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations."

On Communist China:

"We urge immediate initiation, together with our allies, of negotiations toward diplomatic recognition of the Peiping regime and its accreditation to the United Nations as the government of China."

"We also urge free trade with Red China, the removal of all trade and passport barriers and surplus food shipments to this nation."

ADA advocates no attempt to liberate Cuba, instead: American Alliance for Progress."

"We should welcome the Castro regime into the South American Alliance for Progress."

These positions are but a few of the extreme liberal positions taken consistently by ADA.

Philosopher Claims He Has Idea For Saving Billion Dollars In Government Spending

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw reports on a money-saving idea in his letter this week.)

Dear editor: People are always talking about how the government ought to save money but practically nobody tells exactly how.

Well, I got to thinking the other day while I was trying to get my mind off a stack of bills due the next day and this idea hit me. I know how the government can save around a billion dollars, which I admit is a piddling sum but after all every little bit counts.

As I understand it, it'll cost at least a billion dollars to put a man on the moon, but there's a place out in the state of Oregon called Bend which scientists claim is almost a duplicate of the surface of the moon, lava dust, pot holes, extreme heat in the day time and cold at night. In fact, its wastelands resemble the moon's surface so much that they're going to put an astronaut in a space suit and let him wander around that area to see how he makes out. Scientists say it's the closest thing the earth has to the moon's surface.

Here's a place where the country can save a billion dollars. Instead of sending some astronaut to the moon, send them to Oregon. It's cheaper it's safer, it can be done by jeep on home ground, and there's no re-entry problem. Just keep them out of bathtubs and they'll be all right.

I know that some people are going to say you shouldn't throw cold water on space exploration and that's not what I'm doing. Sure, space ought to be explored, but judging from those pictures the moon rocket sent back, it sure seems like going a long way to walk around in lava dust, when we've got some just as good right here in our own country.

Now that I have saved the country a billion dollars, the next question is what to do with it, or maybe a better one is, where is it?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bible Comment—

Paul Was Founder Of First Church At Philippi

The name "Philippi" may mean little to the casual 20th century observer, but it was in that ancient city that Christianity was founded. From there the new religion was introduced into Europe. From thence it spread to our Western World.

Answering the Macedonian call, Paul crossed the sea from Asia to Europe. He had seen a vision of a Macedonian man standing beside his bed saying "Come over into Macedonia and help us."

The vision may have been an expression of Paul's waking thoughts for he must have felt even then, that he wanted to preach the Gospel to the ends of the earth.

Paul was an imperialist and the empire he sought to build was the empire of Christ.

In this empire the lives of men would be ruled by the constraining love of Christ. But it was to be an empire nevertheless, world-wide in its sweep and ruling every destiny of man.

No earthly empire builder was ever inspired with a greater vision than that seen by Paul. And certainly, none ever served his purpose with greater intensity, determination, and courage than Paul.

As Christ began His empire among lowly fishermen and others from every walk of humble life, so the first Christian church in Europe began among the group of women meeting for prayer by a river outside the city of Philippi.

The fact that Paul had strong ideas concerning the proper place of women in society did not prevent his supreme appreciation of their value in the work and life of the church.

Among the notable women who had much to do with the acceptance and spread of the Gospel was Lydia of Philippi. A seller of purple and apparently a very good business woman, Lydia turned from commerce to make the service of the Lord her chief business.

Paul benefited a great deal from the generosity of Lydia. When she was baptized, she gave him the wonderful hospitality of a Christian home.

Warren Urged To Stress Red Role In JFK Death

The Warren Commission will perpetrate a great disservice to the American people if it absolves the Communists from direct or indirect involvement in the assassination of President Kennedy, Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, chairman of the commission, was told Thursday.

Republican Congressman John R. Pillion of New York, in a letter to Warren and the other six members of the President's commission, charged that Lee Harvey Oswald was wholly influenced and motivated by his communist ideology, training, associations, and objectives in his November 22 assassination of Mr. Kennedy.

He called upon the commission to "make a finding of Communist complicity and culpability for the death of President Kennedy in the long-delayed report."

In his letter Pillion said that he expected the commission to "whitewash" the role of international communism.

Pillion stated that the findings of the commission will be in conformity with the State Department's policy of "integration, appeasement and convergence toward the Soviet and communism."

"It is the policy of our government to deemphasize or suppress information that might create an antagonistic public opinion toward the Soviet-dominated international Communist apparatus," Pillion wrote.

"The circumstantial evidence is sufficient to exclude to a moral certainty any other hypothesis except that Lee Harvey Oswald assassinated President Kennedy to advance the world Communist plan designed to ultimately destroy the United States and the free world," the New York Republican said.

Pillion said that Oswald's intent to assassinate former Vice-President Richard Nixon, his shooting at Gen. Edwin Walker of Dallas, his wounding of Texas Gov. John Connally and his assassination of President Kennedy "constituted a pattern of premeditated, but impersonal Communist political assassinations."

Pillion's letter concluded that "President Kennedy's last sacrifice will have been in vain if the true cause of his death is not identified, so that the American people and their government can be fully alerted to and informed of the sinister, secret, complex, universal and immediacy of the dangers of the Communist world apparatus."

Forage Testing Makes Modern Farming More Efficient

Forage testing, an important management tool, allows today's progressive farm operator to become increasingly efficient. It helps him to achieve efficient utilization of forages, improve management practices and strengthen his feeding programs.

In Texas, forages are depended upon to supply large amounts of feed nutrients in dairy and beef cattle rations, says Albert C. Novosad, extension pasture specialist, Texas A&M University.

These forages cannot be properly supplemented if their nutritive value is unknown, the specialist points out. If forage is improperly utilized and supplemented according to its feeding value, this will be quickly reflected in beef and milk production and in profits.

Although numerous methods are used to evaluate forages, the chemical evaluation method is the most common, says

Novosad. This method, he explains, should be used in combination with a visual estimation because it will not reveal foreign material, mold, shattering and other conditions which may be present.

Through this evaluation method, determinations are made for percentage of crude protein and crude fiber, and calculated values are reported for digestible protein, total digestible nutrients and net energy. Moisture percentage, says Novosad, is usually reported for silage only.

Although chemical evaluation may not always reveal the true value of a forage, it can serve as a valuable guide as to its feeding value, the specialist adds.

The Texas A&M Forage Testing Service, initiated last March, is available to anyone desiring to have hay or silage tested, Novosad points out. A two-part service is being offered in connection with the program. This includes the chemical forage analysis and a suggested feeding program based on the forage analyzed.

A balanced feeding program suggestion for both dairy and beef cattle will be provided for those who request it, says the specialist. Request for this service must be submitted on the proper forms and all hays and silages to be fed must be analyzed.

The Forage Testing Service, says Novosad, is operated somewhat similar to the Soil Testing Service. Forage sample mailing bags, instructions and all other forms are available from county extension offices.

Your county agricultural agent will be glad to assist you in preparing samples and in providing any additional information which you may desire, the specialist concludes.

Mateos Says Mexico Will Continue Cuban Relations

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in his last state of the union message said Tuesday that Mexico would continue to maintain relations with Communist Cuba.

In a three-hour speech, the president said Mexico based its controversial stand on serious doubts over the recent action of the Organization of American States calling for severe sanctions against Cuba.

The OAS asked in July that all Latin-American nations clamp down on Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime. Since then, Bolivia and Chile have broken relations.

Only Mexico and Uruguay still have embassies in Havana, and Lopez Mateos made clear this country planned to continue its relations.

Mexico had promised earlier that if another country brought the matter up before an international court of justice, and the court ruled Mexico wrong, it would comply with the decision.

Promise Not Mentioned

The president's prepared text mentioned this, but he dropped the reference from his delivered version.

The OAS decision was based largely on Cuba's shipments of arms and supplies to the terrorist underground in Venezuela.

Lopez Mateos — who leaves office December 1 — said Mexico has a high concept of its relations with all the American republics.

"We want to maintain with them clear, cordial and fruitful relations," he declared.

Salads Are Important To Daily Menu

Salads are important in the daily menu because they add zest and interest to a meal and they contain many nutrients necessary for good health. What's more, they are delicious! A pretty appetizing salad is right for almost any occasion, and there is always the right salad for a specific menu or occasion.

When made of varied combinations of fruits, vegetables, meats, eggs, cheese, poultry, fish, potatoes, macaroni and similar foods, salads provide interesting ways to include one or more in well-planned daily meals following the Texas Food Standard, or Food for Fitness Guide.

Meats, eggs, cheese, poultry, and fish furnish part of the daily need for protein, which is essential for building and repairing body tissues. Potatoes, macaroni, spaghetti, rice and beans are good sources of carbohydrates which supply heat and energy.

Salad dressings furnish some fat which is necessary for a well-balanced diet.

Fresh fruits and vegetables and various kinds of cheese are particularly good sources of several minerals. Minerals are essential elements in building bones and teeth. They also help to regulate the many body processes, since they are a part of all cells and body fluids.

Vitamins in food help the body make better use of other nutrients. Most foods are a source of one or more vitamins, but fresh fruits and vegetables are especially good sources of vitamins A and C. Vitamin A is abundant in green and yellow vegetables. Vitamin A helps to keep the skin and linings of nose, mouth and inner organs in good conditions. Vitamin C helps keep tissues throughout the body in good condition. Citrus fruits, tomatoes, melons, and raw green vegetables all of which can be used in salads, are excellent sources to supply the daily need for this vitamin.

Jamboree Highlights

Boy Scouts from 42 nations recorded their Jamboree activities on tape donated by the 3M Company. Like the Philippine youngster here, foreign scouts sent taped voices of their new American Scouting friends across the seas.

Fun and games, as ever, played a big part at this year's Jamboree, including the Alaskan blanket dance, some guitars, and there was an international recording session at the jamboree. A French scap, left, participated in this taping session using a Wollensak recorder.

Scouts from our area, too, were part of this Jamboree scene, showing tents dotting the landscape at Valley Forge National Park where the Jamboree was held.

Chamber Chatter

By MAURYN VARNADORE

Friday night we took off for a weekend camping trip on the river. As usual, it rained on Saturday and all weekend, which is the case every time we go camping. We had not been camping since the last time it rained, so my predictions are being borne out, that we are worth more when we are on the river than we are in town.

—CC—
We took all kinds of goodies for the fish, but the best bait we came up with was Dr Pepper and Wheaties mixed together to form small balls. We captured several yellow cats and channel cats on this delicious concoction. Try it next time you head for the river. Even the fish like Dr Pepper.

Several members of the Chamber will be on hand to welcome visitors to Stanton on September 24, when the American Cancer Society holds its annual convention here at the Baptist Church. Folders are being made up to be presented to the visitors with many business houses furnishing the gifts to fill them to the brim. Lets all do all we can to make these visitors feel welcome on that day.

—CC—
We were in Big Spring on Wednesday attending the hearing before the Railroad Commission on the proposal by the Texas and Pacific Railway Company to discontinue two passenger trains through this area. Following these hearings, which will be held in Fort Worth and El Paso, in addition to the one in Big Spring, the commission will make its decision on whether the railway company shall be permitted to discontinue these trains if they shall have to leave them on.

—CC—
On September 22, Fall begins, however, it seems that it has already begun, what with the cool nights and days we have been having. This type weather has put some life back into people and they are stirring around more than during the heat of the summer months. Merchants have reported that retail sales are up over last year in some instances. It is good to see the outlook brightening.

Cotton producers will not be required — after August 29 — to obtain micronaire readings on their 1964-crop upland cotton in order to be eligible for price support loans. Action was taken to comply with provision enacted by Congress in the Agricultural Appropriation Act which prohibits use of CCC funds to formulate and administer loan program for the current crop which includes mandatory micronaire readings. The "voluntary micronaire reading service offered through AMS cotton classing offices will not be affected.

88th Congress Dragging Slowly To Dismal Finish

The 88th Congress, after a session that has gone longer already than any in more than 20 years, drags toward a dismal halt this week. Many members think it will go out not with a bang but a whimper.

A lot of Democrats, anyway, say this is too bad. They say Congress ought to have quit while it was ahead.

This controversial Congress is running down like an unwound clock. Most of the members have got tired waiting for adjournment and have gone home to campaign.

For better or worse, it is a fact that some big, new, different legislation has been enacted. New ground was broken in the field of welfare and civil rights. The 88th Congress will be known for a long, long time to come as the passer of the civil rights bill under the leadership of a southern president.

The 88th Congress is expected to adjourn before trying to get the highly sought Johnson Medicare bill across. Right now it looks like the one billion Appalachia welfare development bill has been set aside and remains in limbo.

Another item on the Johnson list once given high priority but not a chance now, due to other heavy spending by the administration, is a $355 million federal aid for cities and towns with high unemployment. This bill, of course, was supposed to take care of the loafers who wouldn't work if they could be driven to work in a golden automobile.

Yes, the 88th Congress is due to shut down this week. Back lash or no back lash, some of the members who so stupidly followed the leadership in the drive for the big CR legislation won't be going back to Washington when the votes are all counted this fall.

Mrs. Mildred Eiland gave a short talk on "Time Management."

Mrs. Lee Castle was elected to serve as Texas Home Demonstration Association chairman, due to the resignation of Mrs. L. C. Morris, who formerly held this office.

Members present were: Mrs. Owen Kelly, Mrs. Stanley Barnes, Mrs. Albert Pittman, Mrs. Chalmers Wren, Mrs. Norwood Holloway, Mrs. Albert Posey, Mrs. N. L. Riggan, Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Mrs. Loy Cox, Mrs. James Luech, Mrs. O. D. Green, Mrs. J. T. Mims, and Mrs. Donnie Jones.

Fonville Passes Lie Test On $50,000 Question

United States Senator Ralph Yarborough's political hide is back on the Pecos story grill and this time it looks like it's going to be the Senator's barbecued bottom rotating on the spit instead of one of Billie Sol's premium Herefords.

Yes, and that $50,000 figure allegedly passed in Pecos earmarked as political largess is once more cropping out all over.

The Department of Public Safety in Austin has conducted a lie detector test for James F. Fonville, and he has passed the test. In other words he has been vindicated and has cleared the "liar" brand placed on him by Senator Yarborough just a few hours before Texas voters marched to the polling places in the first primary in May. Fonville stated that he was present at a barbecue given by Billie Sol Estes in Pecos, Texas on November 6, 1960, and that he saw Billie Sol hand Ralph Yarborough $50,000 in cash. The test indicated that Fonville was telling the truth when he said he counted the money in the presence of the two men, handed it to Estes and saw him give it to Yarborough, the DPS test revealed.

Fonville former Dallas and Midland policeman, thus became the second of three witnesses who have given sworn statements on the disputed transaction to pass lie detector test at the Texas Department of Public Safety headquarters in Austin.

Fonville earlier had offered to take a lie detector test only if Yarborough would take one. He said he changed his mind and agreed to take the test anyway after the U. S. Department of Justice announced that the FBI had not found any "credible" testimony to support Estes' statement.

"I told the truth originally and I want to show that I am a credible person," Fonville told The Dallas News after he had taken the test. "I appreciate the confidence my friends have had in me and I didn't want them to have any doubts."

"I didn't have anything personal against Sen. Yarborough until he said I was a liar," Fonville added. "I wanted to prove I'm not."

Fonville said he had "never had any personal gain out of this and have had no promise of personal gain."

"It's cost me a whole lot," he said, "but I felt the people of Texas are entitled to know the truth. I feel sure the results of my test will be made public so that my name will be cleared.

"I appreciate the Department of Public Safety giving me an opportunity to make my side clear," Fonville declared. "They've done a real good job. They are very competent."

Recently Senator Yarborough challenged the right of the DPS to investigate what he termed "discredited charges", contending that "This is a federal matter."

Yarborough had asked for a Washington based FBI investigation of the alleged $50,000 gift during his heated Democratic primary campaign against Gordon McLendon, Dallas radio executive.

On election eve, Yarborough said the U. S. Department of Justice had told him Ernest Keeton, a retired negro Army sergeant who had signed a sworn statement that he saw the transaction, had admitted lying about it.

Keeton later said he had retracted his original statement only because his life had been threatened. His passing of a lie detector test on that and his original statements was revealed in an exclusive Dallas News story on August 31. The following day, the Department of Justice said it had closed its investigation because "no credible testimony" could be found by the FBI to support Estes' claim.

Whether the Justice Department knew about Keeton's passing of the lie detector test is unknown. The department has steadfastly refused to discuss the case further.

Estes, Fonville and Keeton all signed sworn statements on the money they say was given to Yarborough when he came to the now-bankrupt promoter's Pecos home for a barbecue in his honor.

Yarborough has steadfastly denied receiving the $50,000, claiming he was given only about $900 at the barbecue.

Late Rainfall Helps Wildlife

Late summer rainfall that blanketed much of West Texas is giving young wildlife of all species a much needed shot in the arm, according to Pierce Uzzell, wildlife supervisor for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Young already on the ground will now have homes late summer succulent greens to help prepare them for the coming winter, but recent rainfall came too late to materially boost hatching success relates Uzzell.

The winter survival of game birds depends primarily on the seed produced during the summer, and this past summer was too hot and dry to produce a substantial food crop. Consequently, food availability for game birds will likely be short this winter throughout West Texas.

Farm And Ranch Review

Many fruits and nuts, vegetables and ornamental plants are susceptible to cotton root rot, one of the most destructive plant diseases occurring in Texas. And little can be done to control this dread disease.

Selection of disease resistant plants is the best known method of combating root rot, says C. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Since the disease is very prevalent in heavy, alkaline soils, drying-out and acidifying the soil will aid in its control, explains Horne. Adding ammonium sulfate or sulfur to the soil will make it more acid and may help delay or prevent root rot infection.

Plants affected with the disease will wilt and then die in a relatively short period of time, the pathologist points out. They can be pulled up very easily and brownish fungus growth can usually be observed on the roots.

Horne advises planting an indicator crop such as cotton before locating new orchards, vineyards, berry patches or nurseries. The crop should be observed for root rot for at least one season.

A number of plants, trees and shrubs are either immune or resistant to the disease, says Horne. A listing of these is found in Extension leaflet L-390, "Cotton Root Rot," which is available at local county extension offices.

Grain sorghum and cotton go hand in hand to produce better yields, according to John Box, associate extension agronomist.

Where cotton fields have had the advantage of fertilization and rotation with high residue crops, such as sorghum, and where the residue has been effectively used, crops are doing remarkably well during the dry weather, says Box.

In a rotation program, sorghum residue helps maintain the annual 4,000 pound per acre minimum organic matter level needed for satisfactory crop production.

To maximize sorghum residue, stubble should be shredded right behind the combine and root system destroyed immediately. This, says the agronomist, cuts regrowth and moisture loss. The residue should be either partly or completely covered, depending upon the farmer's desire, to start decomposition. It also provides the soil organisms with a supply of food and energy.

Although the temptation may be strong to use crop residues for other purposes such as grazing or baling, Box says they will prove to be of greater value in the final analysis when used in a sound soil improvement program.

Shoppers should find this consumer information helpful as they make purchases at their favorite food market during the next week, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist.

At retail meat counters, look for best beef values on ground beef, arm and blade pot roasts and steaks, rib steaks and roasts and ground steaks.

Pork values should include smoked picnics, boneless cooked hams and spareribs. Fryers continue to be high in quality and low in price. Grade A large eggs offer the most quality for one's money.

Fresh fruit and vegetables items in greatest supply the most pleasing prices include bananas, lemons, cantaloupes, plums, watermelons, squash, head lettuce, eggplant, cabbage, dry yellow onions, sweet corn, cucumbers, green beans, southern peas, green onions and beets. Radishes are featured at some markets.

Some brands of frozen orange juice concentrate are featured at some markets.

By careful shopping, consumers will find other special features in their favorite markets.

Lynn Parks of St. Joseph, Louisiana, has been named consumer education specialist in clothing and textiles for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, effective September 11.

In making the announcement, Director John E. Hutchison said the need for consumer information is increasing all the time. Miss Parks will give leadership to clothing and textile information programs for extension agents and will help develop publications and train agents and leaders.

Miss Parks is a May, 1964, graduate of Texas Woman's University. She was a 4-H Club member for six years and was active in Future Homemakers of America programs in high school. She was a state and national winner in the Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool Contest, and received two national scholarships. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William E. Parks.

At T.W.O., she was named to the Dean's List, and was president of the Student Council of Social Activities. She won the coveted Leman Award for artistic contributions by a member of the senior class—the highest award that the university makes to a student. Her selection for the award was based on creative work in clothing and textiles, and for her outstanding work with the Dallas Textile Club show. She was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Miss Parks was selected as Texas Aggie Sweetheart for 1962-1963.

She is a member of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists of the American Home Economics Association.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jaw Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw,

Terracing and contour farming are very basic conservation farming practices in the Martin - Howard Soil Conservation District. It is a necessary farming practice where row cropping is being done if maximum per acre production is to be obtained, and as the acreage allotments continue to decline these practices become an ever greater necessity in maintaining farm income.

Increased production with terraces and contour farming is obtained by holding the water that falls on the land so that the water will be able to penetrate into the soil and be stored for later plant growth and fruiting. By holding the water where it falls soil erosion is held to a minimum and productive top soil remains on the land instead of being eroded away.

Soil erosion by wind and moisture evaporation is also greatly minimized on terraced and contoured lands as the wind force is reduced where row direction follows the slope of the land rather than in one constant direction.

The parallel terrace system is a relatively new approach to terracing in Martin County. The parallel system is used on land which has a constant slope where by point rows are eliminated between terraces. Cuts and fills can be used to help develop a parallel system on land where the cost is economically feasible.

Although a field may not be entirely adapted for a complete parallel terrace system all terraces that can be paralleled should be constructed as such so that the terraced land can be more easily worked with large farming equipment. If a field that is to be terraced has outside water flowing into it, arrangements should be made, prior to terracing, to handle the surplus water either through the use of diversions or diversions and waterways.

Where outside water is of large quantities it is usually desirable to channel the water, through the use of diversions, into a natural drainage area that is vegetated. In cases where it is necessary to divert the surplus water into constructed waterways, the waterways should be built and grasses seeded into the waterway so that the waterway will be protected from unnecessary water erosion due to the excess water being diverted into it.

When grasses in the waterway become established, the diversions that are to divert the surplus water into the waterway should then be constructed. After the diversions are built the actual terrace system within the field should be designed and constructed to handle the water which fall within its boundaries.

Any landowner having land management problems may contact their local Soil Conservation Service office for assistance in developing corrective methods. Cost shares are available through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Chevrolet Introduces Expanded Truck Line For 1965 Models

To meet the increasingly specialized needs of its customers, Chevrolet has expanded its 1965 truck line to 327 models, 131 more than in 1964 and the largest number in history.

"For the past several years, there has been a growing trend toward assembly line customizing of trucks," James E. Conlan, Chevrolet's assistant general sales manager for truck and fleet sales, said in announcing the new line. "The expanding and changing economy and the rising pressure of costs has created a demand for the most efficient possible truck tailored for specific load requirements and operating conditions."

"The number of different engines, transmissions, wheelbases, axles, springs and other components has grown steadily, along with the introduction of whole new chassis and body designs to give the customer the best possible combination of performance, load carrying ability, and economy for his particular operation."

"For example, ten years ago we offered two basic engines, four transmissions, six rear axles, 11 wheelbases, and 127 standard options. In 1965 we will list 13 basic engines, 26 transmissions, 28 axles, 24 wheelbases and more than a thousand standard options."

Largest expansion of the 1965 Chevrolet line is in the steadily developing diesel field. The new diesel lineup will include 148 models, an increase of 126 from last year, and extend down into the 1½-ton class for the first time.

To keep pace with the trend toward diesel power in city pick-up and delivery service, the division will offer a medium-duty model with an in-line 3-cylinder, two cycle 159 cu. in. engine developing 94 h.p. It is especially well adapted to stop-and-go operations with high idling time because of its exceptional fuel economy.

Also new to Chevrolet are three four-cycle, V8 diesel engines, named the Torq-Flow line. One is 351 cu. in. displacement and develops 130 hp. The others are 478 cu. in. displacement with ratings of 150 and 170 hp.

The engines are proved power plants offering the fuel economy and low maintenance of a diesel, but with only a moderate weight and cost differential. Because of their short-stroke design, piston speeds are reduced and friction power loss is low. Short, high-swirl inlet manifold passages, short exhaust manifolds, and a high pressure fuel injection system contribute to high efficiency.

In line with the trend toward a higher ratio of load space to overall truck length and better maneuverability in metropolitan traffic, Chevrolet has more than tripled the number of tilt-cab models for 1965 to a total of 71, of which 47 are diesels. Low-cab-forward models also are increased — to a total of 52, with 31 of them diesel powered.

To meet customers' need for metropolitan delivery trucks with greater load capacity, Chevrolet is introducing two new forward control chassis. Available in 157 and 175 inch wheelbases, they will accommodate large van bodies for hauling bulky and heavy cargoes and are powered by a 140 hp. six cylinder engine with a 170 hp. six optional.

For the important economy truck market, Chevrolet will concentrate on the successful Chevy-Van, introduced early in 1964. New for 1965 in the Chevy-Van is an optional 140 hp. six-cylinder engine of 230 cu. in. displacement which replaces the 120 hp. six formerly offered as an option. The four-cylinder 94 hp. engine remains standard. The Corvair 95 commercial line has been discontinued.

Also new this year is a much wider choice of Chevy-Van window options. Customers now may specify six different combinations for body windows ranging up to a total of ten windows all around the vehicle.

Along with the expansion of models and equipment options, Chevrolet has added many improvements and refinements throughout the truck line. New synthetic rubber front wheel bearing seals provide greater protection against moisture and contaminants and together with improved steering knuckle finish, make possible extension of the lubrication interval to 6000 miles across the entire 1965 line.

Other improvements include self-adjusting brakes on one-ton models, heavy duty chassis wiring on light-duty forward control Step-Van and chassis models, and important revisions in front spring hanger and rubber bushing design for longer life and easier steering in medium and heavy-duty series.

Of particular interest to buyers of trucks for camper body use are a new more favorable optional 4.57 axle ratio and a new front stabilizer equipment for improved performance and handling.

Hunter McLean, chairman of the State Board of Insurance, will head the Johnson-Humphrey campaign in Texas, Gov. John Connally announced at a news conference.

At the same time, Connally said he himself may have "no precise role" in the presidential campaign, although there is a possibility he will make some out-of-state speeches for the ticket.

Selection of McLean ended some speculation over whether a Democrat of the moderate-conservative group which backs Connally or the liberal faction would run the Texas Johnson-Humphrey show.

McLean is a close friend of the governor and one of his first major political appointments. He is also a longtime supporter of the president.

Connally acknowledged he contacted McLean about the campaign director's job after talking the matter over with Johnson.

"The choice was completely satisfactory to the President and to me," Connally told reporters. "The President was delighted."

McLean, former Fort Worth insurance executive, is taking a leave of absence from the board of insurance and will open a campaign office here, Connally said.

Goldwater - for - president headquarters under the direction of Tad Smith of El Paso, working with State Republican Chairman Peter O'Donnell of Dallas, already is operating full blast a few blocks from the state capitol.

Spending Requests Up — State financial outlook is rosier than ever, but state agency spending plans are breaking all records too.

Gov. Connally gave reporters a briefing on fiscal matters in a photo-slide illustrated press conference.

State agencies, he reported, are asking a whopping $689,472,181 increase in spending for the 1966-67 fiscal period. He emphasized, however, they aren't likely to get it.

Connally pointed to possibility of a $82,500,000 surplus at close of the 1964-1965 period next August 31. He also estimated there will be $623,800,000 available for appropriation by the Legislature next year. This is some $153,400,000 more than the present level.

State agencies, however, have proposed spending of more than $813,000,000 from the general fund, $3,800,000 from all funds.

Connally said he wanted to make "abundantly clear" that review of the requests did not represent his approval.

"The money is going to be a little harder going out than it was coming in. My own recommendations (to the Legislature) will probably differ to a marked degree (from these figures)."

This is the way the requests break down:

Judiciary — asking an increase of $962,808; hospitals and special schools, up $51,600,000; departments and agencies, up $229,100,000; public and higher education, up $331,700,000 (not including a $76,000,000 figure for pay raises being sought by school teachers).

State Bar Committee Meets — A State Bar Committee, representing grievance groups from over the state, met here to discuss proposed changes in procedures for disciplining lawyers.

Proposed revisions will be submitted to attorneys in a statewide referendum next year. Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert addressed a luncheon meeting of the group.

Parole Supervision Helps — Fewer boys are being sent back to the State Training School due to better parole supervision. Youth Council Director James Turman reports.

Rate of return has dropped to 26 per cent, lowest in history, Turman told the Council. He calculated the dollar saving for the last year at $217,000.

Buses Argue For Rate Boost — National Bus Traffic Association, representing some 31 Texas bus lines told a State Railroad Commission examiner that operating costs justify a 10 per cent rate increase for most types of in-state service.

Rates requested would apply to passenger, charter and express service.

Pollution Board Challenge —

State attorneys claim district court has no jurisdiction over the Texas Water Pollution Control Board in an oil company's suit challenging the agency's authority to regulate disposal of oil field brines and waste.

Superior Oil Company sued the board in 53rd district court here, claiming the Railroad Commission is the proper agency to regulate oil field brines and waste disposal. District Judge Herman Jones agreed to consider the suit questioning board jurisdiction.

The state moved for dismissal, claiming such an action could be brought only with legislative permission.

Traffic Fatalities Increasing — A steadily-increasing highway death rate is bringing demands for corrective action.

The death rate is up 14 per cent from last year. Total number of fatal accidents is up 13 per cent.

There have been 1,860 fatalities this year, compared with 1,631 in 1963.

Parks Program — J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, says improvements at Lake Whitney, Falcon and Dam B State Parks have reached the point where he foresees completion of the $1,200,000 parks improvement program before next summer.

Parks people said the first days of the dove season proved a definite success as hunters "generally" obeyed the law, and most hunters apparently got their limits since birds were plentiful.

Employment — The advent of cotton - picking time in Texas offset the decline in the number of workers employed in vegetable, fruit and nut activities from mid-June, and the Texas Employment Commission reported that farm employment rose to a 346,300 workers by mid-July, and total employment in the state rose for the seventh successive month to a total of 3,622,000 — an increase of 2,100 from June and up 60,800 from July, 1963.

The commission also stated that only 4.2 per cent of the total labor force was unemployed in mid-July, compared to 4.8 per cent in July, 1963, and 4.4 per cent in June, 1964.

Water Proposals — Another bid to capture flood waters of the Colorado River above the Highland Lakes has been submitted to the Texas Water Commission by the Menard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1.

Menard County WC&ID No. 1 wants to study the possibility of a dam site on the San Saba River four miles above Menard. This is the same dam site on which the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers is expected to propose a $27,000,000 dam and reservoir when it completes its comprehensive report on the Colorado basin.

Mental Health Planning — A year from the date when Gov. Connally asked interested citizens to develop a moderate, comprehensive program of mental health services for the state, a 12-member committee, headed by Judge C. L. Abernathy of Hale County, was ready to review its steering committee's hefty volume of "a nearly - complete working draft" of a new Texas Plan.

Central theme of the 298-page document is that of treating mentally ill persons in or near their home communities, rather than sending them off to a mental hospital far from home and isolating them for society.

State psychopathic hospitals still would be needed for many thousands of patients each year, but the community plan is designed to provide an emergency care formula for some patients who would not need to be institutionalized with early treatment, and for those discharged from mental hospitals who need a "half-way" house to help them back to normal living.

Committee's completed set of recommendations will go to Connally and to the 1965 Legislature for implementation and legislative action.

Independent Oilmen Seek Relief — Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPO) says independent producers are in "deep trouble," and the organization's executive vice president has recommended a program of state and federal government action to help them.

W. Earl Turner says the oil

Expanded 1965 Chevrolet Truck Line

To meet customers' needs for more specialized trucks, Chevrolet has greatly expanded its 1965 truck line to 327 models, largest number in its history. Most expansion is in the diesel field, extending down to the 1½-ton class for the first time. New to the line are an economical in-line, 3-cylinder two-cycle diesel of 94 hp for city pickup and delivery work, and three V6 four-cycle diesels of 130, 150 and 170 hp. A 230-cu.-in. 140-hp six-cylinder engine will be optional in the Chevy-Van, replacing the smaller 120-hp six previously offered as an option.

industry is suffering from "a grave monopoly trend." He believes the trend is partially due to imports, sharp competition in marketing, and failure of prorating states (including Texas) to get their share of U. S. production.

Short Snorts — Personal incomes of Texans gained 5.2 per cent to a total of $11 billion during the first half of 1964. . . . A total of 326 new lawyers will be sworn in September 21 here. . . . Allan Shivers will be master of ceremonies at a banquet October 16, where Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will be honored as a distinguished graduate of the University of Texas. . . . Yarborough Put Squeeze On Workers, Bush Says

George Bush, Republican candidate for U. S. Senate, charged Monday that U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough used "crude pressure tactics" on federal employees to sell tickets for his fund-raising dinner Monday night in Dallas.

Bush's statement, made in a speech at Texarkana, was released here by his campaign headquarters.

"Yarborough spoke to the American Federation of Government Employees in Dallas on September 8," said Bush, "and sharply criticized them for failing to buy tickets to political rallies. This was six days before the Yarborough dinner which was in stiff competition for ticket sales with Gov. John Connally's dinner on the same night. It appears that Yarborough turned to ruthless hard-shell tactics to unload unwanted tickets to his dinner.

"In that speech to the federal employees," said Bush, "Yarborough tried to shame the members by saying they 'hid behind the Hatch Act' to avoid buying tickets to political dinners.

"Here we see Sen. Yarborough openly advocating the breaking of a federal law which prohibits government employees from participating in politics," Bush added. "He tries to shame and coerce these government employees into giving monetary support just because he voted for a pay raise.

"This is a typical Yarborough taxpayers' money, an attitude of political pay-off," said Bush. "Federal pay raises should be given on merit, not on the number of tickets the employe buys to a senator's campaign dinner."

WHITE MOTOR COMPANY

STANTON, TEXAS

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

THE Mississippi regular delegation to the recent Democratic convention in Atlantic City, N. J. got kicked out of the hall by the extremist groups but their football team has just been voted number one in the nation by Associated Press sports writers. You can bet your bottom Confederate dollar that 'OLE MISS' won't be bothered with a color problem on the team either. And you could almost wager GEN. ROBERT F. LEE'S statue against the White House that the socialists and pinkos won't even show up down there in Oxford in the stands when the Rebels take the field. There is a fellow down in Jackson, Mississippi named JOHNSON—PAUL JOHNSON not LYNDON, who is the governor of the state who will not permit any picketing around the football field either. The only marching on the menu for the football season in Mississippi will be done by the famed Rebel Band.

WHILE we are on the more pleasant subject of sports, we might add a note about our new MISS AMERICA too. She is from Arizona, and her name is VONDA KAY VAN DYKE. Before being selected to wear the crown of the nation's prettiest and most talented girl, she was picked as Miss Congeniality by the other contestants. At the time her honor was announced the very religious girl exclaimed: "GOLDWATER here we go!" SENATOR GOLDWATER is also from Arizona as most people in the nation know. By-the-way, the three runnersup contestants were from Arkansas, West Virginia and Texas. All those states appear now to be safely in the Arizona's political column.

IN the Transportation and Travel Pavilion at the World's Fair they are playing a political game. When a lever is pulled a plastic bust of either JOHNSON or GOLDWATER goes floating up. It's sort of a new kind of poll people are taking part in. Through Sunday BARRY was leading LYNDON by a 3-2 ratio.

SENATOR BARRY GOLDWATER demanded this week that LYNDON tell the nation what is going on in South Viet Nam without "waiting for a politically opportune moment to turn the spotlight on it." To that demand we add an Amen. Americans are DYING there. How long is this administration going to sweep scandal and war under the rug? Do they think the people have turned their backs on the price of liberty, freedom and individual enterprise? Do the leaders in Washington think this nation is going to vote for an original ADA man for such great office? Why was GENERAL TAYLOR—MAXWELL TAYLOR that is, the personal representative of LYNDON in Viet Nam back over here in America just a few weeks before the November election giving out interviews on "peace" and then having to admit he "didn't know about the coup that took place while he was over here "doctoring" up the news media. That coup has set any offensive against the Communist back for months to come. Is this Viet Nam another Boy of Pigs political faux pas?

DALLAS was disappointed when LYNDON announced he didn't intend to show up at the American Legion Convention to be held in that city. GOLDWATER will be there and without 5,000 body guards. The Arizona senator will address the national convention on Sept. 23. Let's all pray that one of those Communist-Karl Marx-Socialist like they spawn up in Minnesota don't slip in and draw a bead on BARRY while he is there.

FOR some real, old-fashioned tv entertainment and lots of fun, why not catch Channel 4 at 5 p.m. each day if possible. That "AMOS N ANDY" show will make you laugh and relax and help you forget the day's trials. We have always considered the script in the show typical of the true and patriotic colored man of yesterday. There is nothing artificial about it. We might add that we get to hear BRUCE FRAZIER right after the CBS news too.

IN this issue an advertisement appears for TAYLOR'S STUDIO. A photographer will be at Motel Belvue on Tuesday, Sept. 22. These are very reliable people—they always are when they advertise in the best medium in Martin County — THE STANTON REPORTER. Incidentally, now is as good a time as any to point out that this newspaper's circulation is several times more than all other circulated news media in the county.

NEXT week will be an exciting one for the residents of the area when they read the new car advertisements in THE STANTON REPORTER. We will have ads, pictures and stories all about the new models for 1965. Be sure and read all about them in the only publication in Martin County that really cares about you and yours. Yes, sir, the new models just ain't official until they have been announced through the tried and trusted columns of the OLE RELIABLE.

NEAL'S NUGGET: Please try and remember that if we all looked alike, thought alike, voted alike, there would be nothing left for us to do to pass the time of day but walk up and down the streets meeting ourselves.

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

The pollens that trigger hay fever are in the air again. From now until first frost the nine million American sufferers face their annual season of sneezing, stuffed-up runny nose, itching and swollen eyes.

Many people suffer from hay fever needlessly. Enough is known by the allergy specialists to make the average sufferer fairly comfortable and able to carry on a normal existence, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Consult with your physician or allergist if you have any of the above symptoms. Hay fever is a serious and sometimes incapacitating illness that requires the attention of a physician.

Desensitizing injections are the most effective and practical means of managing hay fever. Treatment may be given just prior to the season or all year round. Your physician will decide which will be most effective.

Seasonal hay fever is primarily caused by inhalation of pollens, the male fertilizing element of flowering plants, trees or grasses. Allergens, such as dust of all kinds, molds, and animal fur, aggravate symptoms during the hay fever season.

Some people move to another part of the country, where the pollen count is at a minimum. Your physician can obtain from the American Academy of Allergy listings and maps which give the pollen count indexes for different parts of the country.

Any location with an index of 10 or above is not recommended for those allergic to ragweed. In most of Alaska the count is 0. Lowest in the continental United States is Cape Coral, Fla., with 19. Lexington, Ky., on the other hand, has an index of 156.

With the opening of the 1964 football season in thousands of colleges and high schools, the American Medical Association's Committee on Medical Aspects of Sports again reminded coaches and trainers to be wary of the athlete who has continual or recurring back pains, even if the pains are not disabling.

Serious disabling injuries of the back are unusual in sports among persons who have a sound spine to begin with.

Youth Work In Martin County

What does youth work in Martin County mean to you? A committee interested in the youth of Martin County met Wednesday, September 9, in the county extension agent's office to discuss the county youth program.

Martin County has approximately 1,600 youth between the ages of 5-19 or roughly one-third of the total population. Many youth organizations are available to this group. Each should select the one or ones that would meet their need, and be an active participant. All should consider the opportunities offered by the churches.

Other organizations to consider are: Future Homemakers of America, Future Farmers of America, 4-H, Girl Scout and Boy Scout, and school clubs. There are summer programs, such as Little League, family night at school, and special summer programs for older girls.

Each week we will attempt to give you some of the things you can expect from the different organizations in The Stanton Reporter.

Each organization needs more parental support. If you will volunteer to help, please contact the group in which you are interested.

Those attending the committee meeting were Rev. Ralph Caffey, Mrs. R. O. Anderson, Mrs. Cliff Hazelwood, Jr., Mrs. Floyd Walker, Mrs. Mauryne Varnadore, Beryl Dean Clinton, Roy Pickett, Eiland, and Bob Johnson. David Parkhill, Mrs. Mildred

Per capita food consumption is expected to be 1 percent higher in 1964 than in '63. This would be the largest increase in 5 years. Expenditures for food for the first 6 months of 1964 were 4 percent higher than for the same months of last year and are expected to hold at that level for the remainder of the year. Consumers are now spending about 18.5 percent of their disposable income for food. Food is still a bargain.

Contusions of the muscles, strains of the ligaments and even fractures of various aspects of the lumbar vertebrae ordinarily heal with no persistent disability in from two to six weeks. If disability persists beyond six weeks, the physician will search for some underlying defect in the spine or its juncture with the sacrum.

Congenital defects of the spine are rare and may not be detected. Unless they produce obvious external signs they are not ordinarily recognized during childhood. During adolescence, however, heavier stresses are placed on the spine by the greater size and weight and more strenuous activities of the individual. When the boy or girl becomes active in athletics, pain in the back or spasms of the back muscles may appear for the first time.

Unless there has been a history of injury these difficulties are often discounted as "back strain" or "growing pains." Continuation of athletic activities, especially contact sports such as football, may then result in an injury which becomes chronically disabling because of the underlying defect.

The AMA declared that the only way to prevent serious chronically disabling back conditions in young athletes is by detecting and rigidly excluding those who have serious birth defects of the spine from sports which have a high risk of injury to the back. This can be done, first, by taking a careful history from all candidates for these sports. Any history of frequent back symptoms demands a careful evaluation, including x-rays.

Excluding such individuals from sports with a high risk factor may seem harsh when the player is able. But counting on such a player for continuing service can have disastrous results, both to the team which risks losing his services at a crucial period in the season, and to the individual who risks a disabling injury. Far better to guide the person with this potential into less hazardous activities.
