By NEAL ESTES

Band members who received Division I in the UIL solo ensemble contest at Odessa recently will present the program for the Stanton PTA Tuesday night, April 13, at the high school auditorium. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Where any admission charge is made and out-of-town entertainers brought in to share in the proceeds it will be necessary to run notices of such appearances as advertising and not as free news items. All other publications follow this plan, and this is a standard rule. Without some revenue the community would soon learn to live without a paper. We are always ready to accept these admission affairs but only when accompanied by paid advertising. After all, ink, paper, machinery, labor, salaries, utilities, cars, and other services a paper has to purchase to be able to print cost money. Our only product in the paper to sell is our advertising space. Please understand our position.

Merchants are invited to advertise their Easter merchandise in the next issue of the newspaper. If you want to really see a prosperous Easter Parade in Stanton why not start parading your values out by placing them in public print so you can prove to the people and prospective buyers that our merchants have real nice bargains right here at home.

We observed a city crew out patching the town streets Wednesday morning. This group of fellows were working on the holes on Broadway. Recently they did some excellent patch work on the more recently laid pavement on St. Boniface, School, and Carpenter streets. Streets must be maintained and we wish to commend the crew for their fine patchwork. We also appreciate the operation of the street sweeper. Investment in the sweeper was a splendid idea.

Police Chief BOB SMITH and Sheriff DAN SAUNDERS advised us Wednesday morning that progress was being made on the breaking and entering case at REED'S service station on East Front Street. Suspects in the burglary are under arrest and being questioned at this time. The station lost about $125 from the safe.

THE STANTON REPORTER will petition MAYOR STANLEY WHEELER to issue a Straw Hat Day Proclamation next week. We want to keep the men around our city and county in step with style and a lightweight head piece is appropriate at this time. We realize that some of the fellows like to parade around town hatless because they own thick shocks of hair but we bald and semi-bald guys really need a fedora. This West Texas wind can simulate a bald pate quicker than MARTIN LUTHER KING can start a march in Mississippi.

VOICE OF VARIETY: THE STANTON REPORTER is printing more than one hundred local news stories every week and adding about five new subscribers with each succeeding issue. We are rightfully proud of this consistent record. If you can't see it in print or advertised in the local paper then it isn't worth reading about or buying.

Editor Receives Letter From W. V. Laird Family In Libya

The editor of The Stanton Reporter has received a letter and a copy of a newspaper from Mr. and Mrs. Walton Laird, former Stanton residents, now living in Tripoli, Libya.

The letter follows:

Tripoli, Libya

Dear Mr. Estes:

We thought you might like a copy of our weekly paper. We look forward to getting it each week.

We get all the newspapers from New York. But most of the news we have heard over the radio before the papers arrive here.

We all like over here very much. Each day there is something new and exciting to see and learn.

We have visited one old Roman ruin (Sabratha). Tomorrow we are going to see the largest one. (Leptis Magna). It is about 120 miles up the coast. They are very interesting.

We will probably have to go two or three times to ever see them all.

Richard, our son, likes school, and finds the country and its people interesting.

Our Regards, Valuan and Luamae Laird.

Libya is in Northern Africa, west of Egypt, just across the Mediterranean from Italy. It is a country of many nationalities. It is one of the more interesting places in the world and has a history as colorful as they come.

Among other things we know about Libya is that the famous Arabian horses originated there and many of our thoroughbreds today are from this line of animals.

Libya should not be confused with the part of Africa known as the Congo or the South African sector. The people are entirely different.

Bible Comment—

St. Paul Describes Riches We Have

"Poor, yet making many rich"; that is how Saint Paul describes the condition and privilege of early Christian believers, many of whom were evidently quite poor in worldly goods. "As having nothing," he adds, "and yet possessing all things."

It was not a chance remark or a sentimental idea on the apostle's part, but an expression of his settled philosophy concerning the Christian's possessions. And also, in the First Epistle to the Corinthians, reasoned more directly concerning the Christian's wealth.

"The Christian belongs to Christ. Christ is God's. All things belong to God. Therefore he writes to the Corinthians, 'All things are yours.'"

The cynic may protest that this sort of wealth will not pay the rent. There is a point in the criticism, but it might also be pointed out that Paul was no visionary dreamer regarding the practical affairs of life. He worked at his trade as tentmaker to support himself, and he insisted that everybody else should work. He would have no loafers in the Christian community.

Further, if he admonished Christians to "bear one another's burdens," he qualified this with the declaration that "every man shall bear his own burden." There never has been, even to our time, a clearer statement of social and individual responsibility.

His words forcefully bring to the attention that there is a reality of inner wealth and richness of life for which no amount of worldly material wealth or possession can compensate.

One who has missed the Christian's spiritual possessions has missed the greatest treasure that God and life have to offer.

Texas Farm Bureau Tour To Western Europe Planned

Some 50 Texas farmers, Ranchers, businessmen, farm writers and their wives will participate in the Texas Farm Bureau's "market-builder" tour of Western Europe the first two weeks in April, according to Walter Meyer, TFB commodity director who will lead the tour.

The group will leave from Houston by KLM jetliner for Amsterdam. Countries to be visited include The Netherlands, Belgium, England, Germany and France. Tour members will return by jet to Houston April 15.

Heading up the list of tour participants is TFP President C. H. DeVaney and Mrs. DeVaney. Commodities represented by tour members include beef products, poultry, honey, canned and fresh vegetables, citrus, grain seed, flax, pecans, wheat and feed grains, mohair, cotton, and beef and dairy stock.

Purpose of the tour is to develop and expand markets in Europe for Texas farm and ranch products. Samples of various products will be exhibited at miniature trade fairs to be setup in various hotels where the Texans will be staying. Tour members representing commodity interests are also scheduled to meet with importers and buyers in each country visited.

Meyer said the tour is unique in that participants are paying their own expenses in a group effort to find new market outlets for Texas agricultural products. He said similar trips are planned for the future.

Highlights of the tour include visits to the American Farm Bureau Federation trade office in Rotterdam and the Common Market headquarters in Brussels. The group will also tour port facilities in Rotterdam and London and visit major meat and produce markets in London and Paris. They will also inspect retail market outlets in countries visited.

Although billed as a "working tour," the trip's itinerary includes sightseeing tours of the famous scenic and historic places of Europe.

Here is a brief itinerary of the tour:

April 1-4—Rotterdam. Visit American Farm Bureau Federation trade office and tour port and city. Side trip to Brussels, headquarters of Common Market. Sightseeing in The Netherlands.

April 5-8 — London. Tour Covent Garden and Borough agricultural markets. Visit U. S. Trade Pavilion and Embassy. Sightseeing around London, including port facilities.

Bible Comment—

We Should Remember God's All-Seeing Eye

Nothing stands out more strongly from the Hebrew Scripture of the Old Testament than the fact of God's all-seeing Eye.

The Eye is symbolic of the presence and judgments of God as He observes the actions of men and discerns between right and wrong.

The Psalmist expressed it in "Whither shall I go from Thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from Thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, Thou art there; if I make my bed in hell; behold, Thou art there. The darkness and light are both alike to Thee."

The consciousness of that presence filled, and should fill today, thoughtful men with awe. That inexorable Eye upon them quickened a sense of fear. "The fear of the Lord," one wrote, "is the beginning of wisdom." There is much in the Old Testament concerning the fear of God.

Thus, they prayed, "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting."

It takes courage, as well as knowledge and faith, to make a prayer like that. But the judgments of God have a meaning and significance beyond individual character and conduct. A world without judgment would be a world without moral sanctions. To whatever heights man may aspire, he can have no higher aspiration than to reach that spiritual peak upon which he may stand and say: "Judge me, O God."

What do you want to know Joe? Each day there's more and more for Joe to know, and more important for Joe is to survive in today's world; Grandpa was lucky, he didn't have to know half as much as Joe does today. It's more and more important for Joe to know more if democracy is to survive in today's world, he has to know how to get along with the rest of the world or else; also it's fun to know! It's also Joe's only chance to grow.

How does Joe get to know? From his parents? (but they left school a good many years ago.)

From his teachers? (but they are interested only in certain subjects.)

From friends and neighbors? (but their interests may not be Joe's interests.)

From his bosses? (but they're mostly interested in doing special jobs.)

From his clubs? (but each has its own special purpose.)

From mass media such as TV, radio, newspapers, magazines (but most of this is spot news and entertainment.)

So if Joe must know to grow, where can he go? He must go to his free public library where it is more and more an all-purpose, all-age information center for the entire community. That is why the special emphasis on acquiring more books for our library, to help everyone open their future by reading!

Jobless Rate Shows Drop

Unemployment in the nation dropped to the lowest level in more than seven years — to 4.7 per cent — while employment hit a record high of more than 70 million, the government reported Thursday.

The Labor Department said the jobless rolls lost 500,000 during March, which was about double the expected decline. This lowered the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate from February's 5 per cent.

The number of unemployed workers was 3,740,000 a drop from 4,218,000 for February.

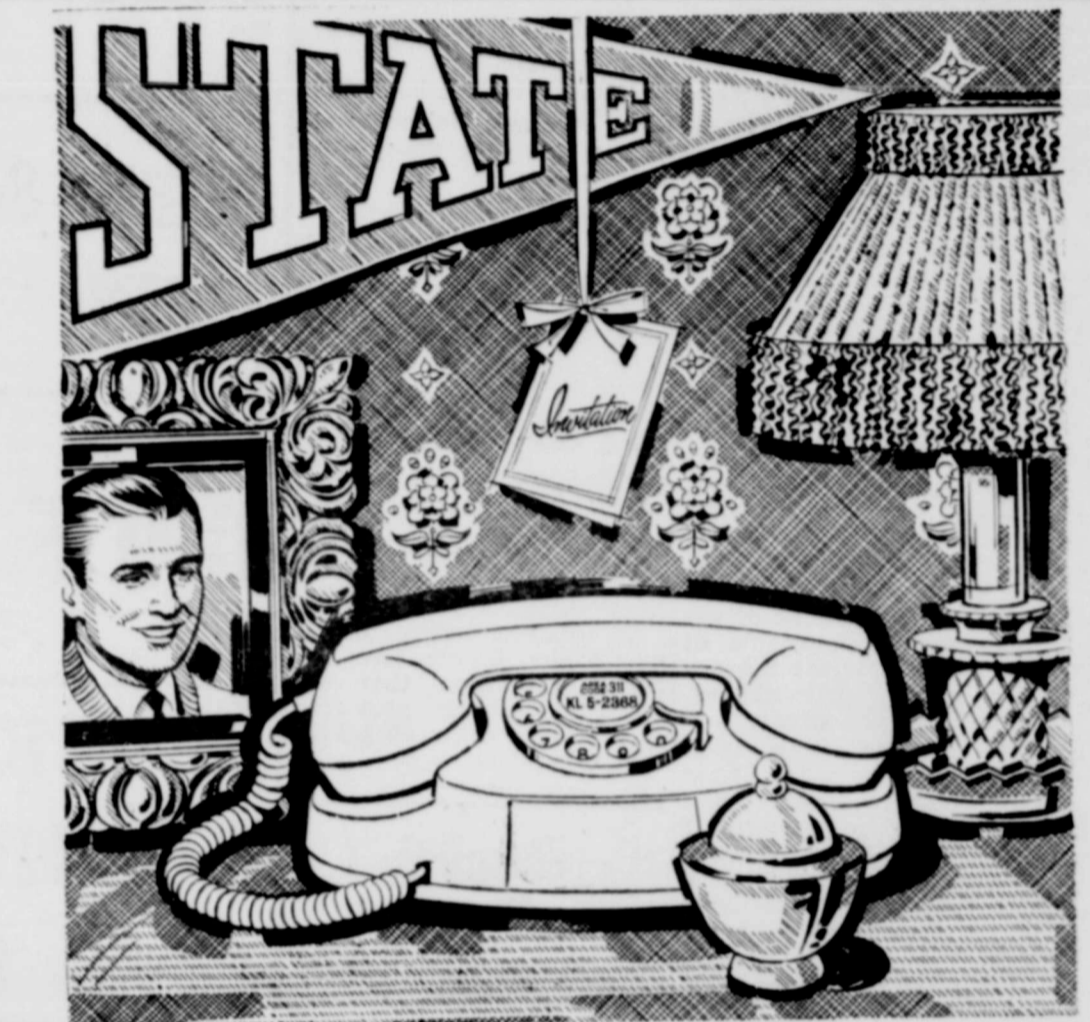

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said most of those who got jobs were among workers who had been looking for full-time employment.

The government defines an unemployed person as one who is out of work and looking for a job. If he is hired or decides not to look any more he is taken out of the unemployed category.

The Labor Department adjusts its employment and unemployment figures to reflect seasonal trends.

On an unadjusted basis the jobless rate for March was 5 per cent of the total labor force of 73,909,000. The civil labor force increased by about 200,000 during the month.

On an unadjusted basis employment rose by 700,000 to 70,196,000, a record March high. On a seasonally adjusted basis, the total employed for March was 71,440,000, also the highest in the nation's history.

IRS Sends Warnings Against Incompetence

The Internal Revenue Service has issued its annual warnings against incompetent and fraudulent income tax advisers.

An IRS spokesman said today that at least two such warnings have been sent out through the service's district offices. They list, in general terms, some of the things taxpayers should look out for if they enlist help in preparing their returns.

The warning may be especially pertinent this year since more taxpayers are probably seeking help because of the changes made last year in the tax laws.

Anyone who can sign his name is eligible to become a "tax adviser" so far as federal regulations are concerned.

But any advisers who defraud taxpayers or misrepresent their qualifications may be subject to legal action under laws covering other businesses.

Free Help Offered
The government offers free help for taxpayers at IRS district offices and by telephone.

But the lines are often long any many people find it profitable to hire a consultant or adviser. However, the taxpayer must provide the basic information to the adviser and the taxpayer remains responsible for his own return.

There are several types of tax return preparers. Lawyers and certified public accountants have special training for this purpose and they subscribe to codes of ethics.

Anyone who passes an examination given by IRS or who has worked for IRS as a revenue agent for seven years, is entitled to a government certificate stating that he is qualified to prepare tax returns.

Uncertified Operation
Others operate without a certificate or other formal evidence of their qualifications. Persons in this category may have become thoroughly familiar with tax regulations through informal training or long experience.

The government offers these tips on how to choose an adviser, and how to avoid getting hooked by a confidence man:

— Be on guard against a person who offers to make out your return for a fee based on how much he can save you.

— Beware of the "expert" who claims to know the angles on how to get questionable items past the government men.

— Never sign a blank tax form and let the adviser fill in the blanks later; it's like

Social Security Information

Self-employed people have a dual responsibility when it comes to filing their 1964 Federal income tax returns, according to Erven Fisher, social security district manager in Big Spring. They must not only complete Form 1040, but must also complete either Schedule "C" or Schedule "F" to figure the amount of net earnings from their trades for social security purposes. The deadline for filing the tax returns is April 15.

Mr. Fisher stated that self-employed businessmen and farmers are required by law to report net earnings from the operation of businesses and pay the social security tax if net earnings amount to $400 or more for the year.

Mr. Fisher emphasized the importance of completing all appropriate items on the Form 1040 as well as the Schedule "C" or "F". Prompt and accurate reporting is essential to assure social security protection for self-employed people and their dependents. If earnings are not correctly reported, potential benefits may be reduced or lost entirely.

Mr. Fisher also pointed out that if for some reason a self-employed person failed to report self-employment income for 1961, he has until April 15, 1965, to make the report. After that date, no credit can be given for that year.

As a final reminder, Mr. Fisher stated that the self-employed person should be sure to show his correct social security account number on the tax return to assure himself that he will receive full credit for his earnings. For more information regarding taxes and tax return forms, get in touch with your Internal Revenue office at 1011 Gregg Street. For information about social security benefits, visit your social security office at 1009 Gregg Street in Big Spring.

— Do not sign a return made out in pencil — it easily can be changed.

Pay taxes only by check or money order, and make certain it is made out to Internal Revenue; use a separate check to pay the adviser's fee.

— Be on guard against the adviser who suggests that you have a tax refund sent to his home or business address.

Mayor's Proclamation

The President of the United States, by direction of an Act of Congress, and the Governor of our State of Texas have proclaimed April as Cancer Control Month.

The magnitude of the problem of cancer needs to be recognized here in our own community, for if present rates continue, one out of every four persons will be struck by cancer—almost every family in our city will have experience with this dread disease. Yet one-half of all cancer cases can be saved, but only if the patient receives prompt diagnosis and immediate treatment.

In this month of April, our friends and associates here in Stanton will carry on the "Tell Your Neighbor" Crusade, visiting you in your homes, and distributing life-saving information through pamphlets and discussions.

The funds you give as voluntary contributions, collected and distributed by devoted volunteer workers, represent the best community spirit at work—citizens of our city joining forces with other Americans to combat and defeat the dread disease, cancer.

Therefore, I urge citizens of Stanton to participate in the activities of Cancer Control Month and observe April as Cancer Crusade Month, giving generous support to the American Cancer Society's annual effort to raise funds vitally needed for its program of Education, Service and Research.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 6th day April, 1965.

Mayor of the City of Stanton, Texas.

Philosopher Finds World Geography Has Gotten Out Of Hand And Is Getting Worse

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw reports on his geographical ignorance this week.)

Dear editor:

I was talking with a man in town who is up with such things as geography and the impending crisis in foreign countries, listening to him explain just what the situation in Viet Nam is, what North Viet Nam has done, what South Viet Nam has done, what our foreign policy there is and what it ought to be, etc., and to tell you the truth I was getting bored to death, so I broke in on the flow.

"Say," I said, "I see that Upper Volta is still on our side."

"What're you talking about?" he asked.

"Nothing, especially. It's just good to know that Upper Volta is still on our side."

"Upper Volta? What's that?"
I know I had him, but I didn't press the point, and came on home and hunted up the newspaper I'd read the name in, to make sure I hadn't imagined it.

It's true. There is a country named Upper Volta, and its president, Maurice Yameogo, has just made a visit to Washington and been given the full red carpet treatment, with a 2-gun salute and a parade.

Now I haven't taken a survey, but I'll bet a subscription to The Stanton Reporter against a subscription to the New York Times that until

Mr. Yameogo showed up in Washington and got his name in the papers and on television, there weren't 100 people in the United States, including teachers, professors, editors, politicians and owners of encyclopedias, who'd never heard of Upper Volta.

What this proves it that regardless of how well posted a man is on world affairs, he can't know it all, there has to be a good part of the world he's ignorant of. In fact I doubt if there are a dozen people in the world who can sit down right now without any preparation and name all the countries on earth, and even among those who can it's about like memorizing the names of all the counties in the 50 states in the U. S. and knowing something about the internal politics of each.

Where geography got out of control was when we didn't stop with 13 colonies, and here we are about to take on outer space.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Buried cable: $10,000,000 in new life insurance for your telephone this year

Put telephone wires underground and you've put them in a safe place. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. All around safer from the kinds of trouble which can affect your phone service.

That's why this year Southwestern Bell is spending $10 million burying hundreds of additional miles of telephone cable underground. In effect, buying life insurance for your telephone service.

There's another benefit. New jobs will be created. Some in the telephone business and an estimated 500 new jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

This is a 1965 communications bonus. Part of a massive construction effort to make the world's best telephone service even better.

Scribe Okays Parks Shaped For '65 Trade

(Editor's Note: Dick McCune, President of Texas Outdoor Writers Association and Outdoor Editor of the Dallas Times Herald, hitchhiked a ride with Johnny Buck, Director of Planning for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, on a weekend inspection trip of Texas' mighty new park projects, and wrote this story.)

By DICK McCUNE
An early-rising roadrunner in search of a breakfast bug scurries through the blackbrush, prickly pear and huachuca. Coyotes have ceased their howls with the new light and the Spanish dagger outside the screened cottage begins to cast a statuesque shadow.

Some fishermen who were on the lake long before dawn have climbed the grassy hill to put bacon on the grill and sit at the picnic table on the shade shelter. One who is also a hunter turns at a cove in the wide-spreading live oak across the road and sees a mourning dove wheedle out of the branches toward an oak grove.

Late sleepers in the trailers hear a pine warbler trill their wake-up time from a 60 foot loblolly. Down the road between the magnolias, pines, gum and dogwoods an early customer enters the rustic concession buildings to buy supplies.

It is another morning of scenic beauty in a Texas state park.

But not the same state park, obviously. These are sights and sounds from all three of the brand-new "showplace" parks which will be completed soon and open to eager campers, fishermen, rockhounds, birdwatchers, hikers — and anyone who wants outdoors.

They are products of a bold new venture which in time can turn shame into pride. For it is only morning, also, in the making of a statewide system of excellent parks and Texas has been a long time sleeping in the dark.

The three sprawling campgrounds — Falcon, Whitney and Dam "B" State Parks, in the order described above — have been under construction only a year with meager funds to do the job. Already they vastly outclass the puny park efforts of yesteryear which in recent times have been left to neglect and decay.

All three are practically identical in facilities and yet as diverse in topography as only sites hundreds of miles apart in Texas can be. Whitney is a hill-and-river country park; Falcon lies in a raw, arid desert of stark beauty, and Dam "B" is a cool haven in the piney woods once part of the Big Thicket.

Most important, all side up to large lakes.

Facilities at each offer four kinds of accommodations — parking sites for trailers, screened overnight shelters, tent campgrounds and shade shelters for picnickers. Only Dam "B", well-shaded by trees, does not have or need the latter.

Modern restrooms, roomy concession buildings, ranger residences, maintenance buildings and park headquarters are the same design at all the new parks. Mexican-flavored Falcon State Park is unique in that wide construction use is made of inexpensive Mexican brick.

Further economy in turning out three parks at a time is practiced by sending to all from Austin such items as identical signboards and metal grill cookers which are set conveniently waist-high on metal poles.

Gateways to each park are identified with the terrain. Whitney's entrance is flanked with planter walls of Brazos River rock; Falcon's is brick latticework in Mexican style, and the merely symbolic short fence at Dam "B" is built of overlapping pine logs.

Great effort has been made to bring civilized conveniences into the parks without disturbing natural beauty. Enough underbrush has been cleared to allow human passage but not destroy bird and animal habitat. Dozens of miles of otherwise unsightly electric lines have been buried underground with more dozens of miles of water lines.

Said construction foreman Jim Reeves, at Whitney: "We worked for months before we even got above ground. I thought we'd never have anything to show for all that work."

And while he was busy, Mrs. Reeves recorded 196 species of birds in the trees around their on-site trailer home. State interagency cooperation has helped the underfinanced Parks Division with much of the work. The Texas Highway Department has built and is still shooting asphalt roads where early visitors once stuck their autos. The Department of Corrections has prisoner work gangs living five days a week at Whitney and Dam "B", clearing land and pouring cement picnic tables and shade shelters.

Each of the parks has locally-hired construction workers and some of the jobs have been under contract. All three construction chiefs reported work going smoothly.

The overall improvement program, headlining the three major parks, dates to the installation of J. Weldon Watson as the first Executive Director of the newly merged state departments in August, 1963. He immediately activated funds appropriated by the previous State Legislature, re-organized his staff and set a target of early 1965 for having the vast improvements ready for the public. This the greatest step ever taken toward modernizing Texas state parks, received new momentum in May, 1964, when William M. (Mark) Gordin was appointed Assistant Director for Parks.

Director Gordin, encountered at Lake Whitney State Park on his own weekend swing, said: "We've planned facilities so that none is more than 1,000 to 12,000 feet from any area in the parks. Interiors have been protected with epoxy paint and virtually mark-proof marble. Costs a little more to install, but it's cheaper in the long run."

Parks planning chief Johnny Buck, a former Texas Tech student of Gordin's, pointed out other practical designs.

"All the trailer spaces are pull-through," he said. "A lot of visitors take out their trailer only once or twice a year and they don't like to have to back them up. At our new parks, they don't have to."

Screened shelters are partially louvered on three sides for privacy. "If Mama wants to camp out, but is worried about bugs or snakes, this is for her," said Buck.

Keys to the shelters are attached to large tags like those used by hotels and motels, with the address of the park inscribed. "If we're going for the professional touch," explained Buck, "we might as well go all the way."

So is it a practical touch. During transit from the manufacturer to Austin, four tags were lost and missing when the boxes arrived. Within a few days, however, all four turned up in the mail in compliance with the request to "Drop in any mailbox."

There is no question that the three new parks are as fine as any in the nation, despite the pinchpenny budget. Small and large miracles have been worked to prove that Texas need never again apologize for its parks.

But three parks, of course, is only a beginning.

"We want to establish a network of parks all over the state," said Buck. "Texas is the gateway to our own West and to another nation, Mexico. There should be state parks, both for Texans and visitors, all the way on every route."

Such a reality depends on allocations this year, and there is hope a new federal program can also be put to this purpose. If the state will provide $1,500,000 for parks for the biennium, the Federal Land and Water Conservation Act automatically doubles it to a workable $3,000,000.

The department is also seeking to increase the two-year parks budget from $1,742,583 to $2,976,182 for the 1966-67 period.

There are three reasons why Texans can well wish the requests good luck in the appropriations hearings — Falcon, Whitney and Dam "B" State Parks.

And there should be not only three, but thirty.

Peace Corps Test Set For Midland

An opportunity for Stanton area residents to test their aptitudes for Peace Corps service will come at 9 a.m., Saturday, April 10, at the Main Postoffice in Midland.

The opportunity is the Peace Corps Placement Test. It is not passed or failed, but simply indicates where your potential lies. The Peace Corps Questionnaire, which must be filled out and brought to the exam unless previously submitted, tells what an applicant has done in the past. But the placement test is aimed at showing what he or she CAN do in the future. Applicants do not have to register for the test ahead of time.

The Peace Corps Questionnaire can be obtained at all Post Offices. On college campuses, they are available at college placement centers or the offices of Peace Corps liaison officers, who are members of the faculty or college administration. If you can't find a Questionnaire, write the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

There are two parts to the Peace Corps Placement Test: a general aptitude test and a modern language aptitude test (for which knowledge of a foreign language is not necessary). Applicants should plan on about one and a half hours at the testing center, unless they wish to take the Spanish or French language achievement test, which requires an additional hour.

Test results are used, with the character references and Questionnaires, to provide the most suitable assignment for volunteers overseas.

Don't ride in a completely closed car. The Portland, Oregon, Traffic Safety Commission reminds you that deadly carbon monoxide gas is present in every running engine. It can enter your car from your own leaking exhaust system or through your heating system from the car ahead.

Vocation Seminars Scheduled

Vocation seminars and inspirational messages highlight the program of the Latin American Baptist Youth Congress set for First Baptist Church, San Antonio, April 15-16.

Latin American high school senior and college age young people will receive counsel and guidance in choosing their life's vocation, according to Oscar Romo of the Baptist General Convention of Texas Language Missions Department.

In addition to the seminars, tours of San Antonio are on the program and a banquet is scheduled for Friday evening. Speakers at the Congress include Rudy Sanchez, pastor of Primera Iglesia, Dallas; Ruben Machado, director of Friendship Center, San Antonio; Tony Romeo, Boston Patriot end; and Bill Lawson, pastor of Wheeler Avenue Baptist Church, Houston.

Open at least one window and allow the circulation of fresh air — no matter how cold it may be.

Social Security Information

The Social Security Administration needs your help in keeping an accurate lifetime record of your earnings and the more than 100 million other Americans covered by the program according to Erven Fisher, district manager of the Big Spring Social Security office.

Future benefits are based on these records. Unless an error in reporting is brought to light within about 3 years, after the year in which it occurs, correction may not be possible. Because of this, it is a good idea to check your record occasionally. There is no charge. Your Social Security Office, located at 1009 Gregg Street, in Big Spring, can furnish you with a post-card Form OAR-7004 to do this, or you may request the information by letter, being sure to clearly show your social security account number, date of birth, and name.

MRS. W. J. HARLOW brought us a clipping she received from a relative living in Denver, Colorado recently. The clipping was from JACK GUINN'S column. He writes a column of international scope. GUINN had this to say about Martin County: "There is a sign in West Texas just outside a town of 1,603 people and it says—'Welcome to Stanton, home of 1,603 of the friendliest people on earth — and three or four sore-heads.'" JACK got the language and the facts a little mixed up but Stanton's sign has received lots of favorable publicity through the years. A few years before his death, the late O. O. (Odd) MCINTYRE wrote of the sign in a New York newspaper's article.

TUESDAY at noon we turned on the tv for news and found the divorce slush still being laded out to the people. We cut in just in time to hear an attorney for a defendant in a trial requesting that his client be referred to as a mixologist instead of a plain bartender. No doubt the mixer of drinks—the bartender—complained to council that his civil rights as to the title of his profession would be violated if testimony referred to him as a bartender. I know where there are a lot of other "mixologist" operating in Alabama these days, but they bring the bottles and women in from Detroit.

CONGRATULATIONS go this week to MRS. VIOLA McCLANE on her 90th birthday. She observed the day among family and friends at a Birthday Tea on Sunday, April 4 at the home of MR. and MRS. JIM WEBB, 605 N. St. Paul Street in Stanton. The distinguished lady is loved and admired by those in the community who join the editor in extending genuine felicitations to a grand person.

WE are knocking those important dates off the calendar pretty regularly these days and most of us have met all legal deadlines to date and hope to wind some of this real important business up by May 1. Car registration has passed, poll tax paying is by us, car sticker inspection day is near and the last day to get by without a windshield decal is April 15. That day, friends, is also the time-up date for income tax paying. We have some better days to look forward to in the next fortnight. Easter is just around the corner and then Mother's Day and these special days help make life brighter after the tax deadlines.

THIS IS CANCER CRUSADE MONTH. The drive kicks off at a family night affair at Courtney School Friday, April 9. MRS. LEO TURNER is the local chairman of the Martin County Cancer Society. JENDO has always achieved wide support by the citizenship for this very worthy cause. Let's put the campaign over again this year. She has the able assistance of MRS. ROY PICKETT this year and with the constant support of the newspaper we are confident the people of Martin County will again respond generously with their contributions.

WE have caused a letter to be written to the proper authorities to determine the exact legal rulings, precedents, and the frequency of legal notices, publications of same, required financial statements, audits, and for an authentic interpretation of the competitive bid requirements on all purchases made by public officials, purchasing agents, et al for government and public offices on all levels. We expect to have this requested information in a few days. In the meantime folks—pay your income tax.

THE GLENN MADISON family will move to Colorado City on April 15 and their many friends will regret to see this young couple and their children leave our community. GLENN is a native of Colorado City. Many of us did not know that fact. He will be associated with the oldest drug store in the Mitchell County city—the CORNER DRUG STORE. GLENN'S reason for moving to Colorado City was determined when his wife ANN, and the boys agreed that in addition to being a larger and growing city the family could have more time together and we suspect those fine fishing waters around C-City had something to do with the move. The MADISON'S own a boat and we'll wager two cups of coffee that they get out on the lake pretty often in the future.

WE want to remind our readers that the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Spring Festival is coming up pretty soon and you'll be getting plenty of pre-publicity about the big coming community attraction.

NEAL'S NUGGET: A business hypocrite is a bird who talks out of two sides of his mouth. He preaches home town loyalty out of one side and buys his products out of town. He is really rushing the "grass-growing" in the main intersection of his hometown.

Outdoor Tips

QUAIL TIP

Be at your favorite quail field at daybreak. Whistle and the birds will answer. Easiest way to locate covey there is.

LOST KEYS

You'll never lose your car keys on a long hunt if you unscrew your rifle or shotgun's butt plate and toss keys in the hole behind it.

SILENT ARROWS

Keep arrows quiet in your quiver by taking bristles from a paint brush and sewing around rim. Hair holds arrows still.

BRICK-RED WORMS

Crush a brick and sprinkle dust on your worm bed. In a week the worms will take on a glowing healthy red hue that makes fish bite FURIOUSLY!

NO SKID

If you have slippery steps on home or rock, paint and sprinkle with sand while steps are still wet. Makes traction secure.

BEST BAIT

As good a bait as you can find is a piece of red wool on a small hook fished behind a small spinner.

LAMP LIGHT

You can make a number of torches cheaply by soaking bricks in kerosene 30 hours. Wrap with wire and hang. They burn brightly from three to five hours.

MOUSE BAIT

A gundrop is the best mouse bait. Beats cheese or bacon. When mouse bites gundrop it's teeth stick. Movement pops trap every time.

RLDS Church Activities

The Women's Department sponsored a slide lecture on the Berlin Wall by Miss Arah Phillips, accompanied by Miss Anna Smith of Big Spring. "In Christ There Is No East Nor West" was sung by the congregation, with the invocation by Mrs. Denton Hines. Mrs. O. E. Saunders, leader, was in charge of the meeting, with Mrs. Delmar Hamm, program chairman, in charge of the program. The devotional, "Who Is My Neighbor?" was read by Mrs. Steve Church.

At the close of the film, "When Holy Ghost Shall Come" was sung, accompanied by Mrs. Roy Koonce, with benediction given by Mrs. O. E. Saunders. Mrs. Hazel Hamm was hostess to 12 members and the following guests: Miss Arah Phillips, Miss Anna Phillips, Mrs. Fred Alexander, Mrs. Winston Wheeler, Independence, Missouri; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cross, Mrs. Charlie Polk, Mrs. Jack Kuhlman, Mrs. Dale Fryar, Mrs. Charlie Christopher, Mrs. Roy Langlais, and her father, Mr. Nolan.

The slides were taken on the 1963 trip of Miss Phillips to Berlin.

All are encouraged to share the preaching services of Jack T. Fears missionary sent from Independence, Missouri to Lubbock, and surrounding territory.

A hymn sing under the direction of Mrs. Roy Koonce each evening at 7:30 prior to the service.

Six Flags Sets Season Opener For April 16

Six Flags Over Texas will commence its 1965 season at 10 a.m. Friday, April 16, according to Angus G. Wynne, Jr., president of Great Southwest Corporation, owner-operators of the popular tourist attraction.

For the opening weekend, April 16, 17 and 18, the gates will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

A crew of about 150 specialists ranging from landscape gardeners to builders and lighting engineers, have been busily engaged over the winter and early spring months in completing a $600,000 expansion program before April 16.

The Six Flags personnel department which has the awesome job of interviewing thousands of applicants of college age each season for positions as hosts and hostesses, has settled on approximately 1,200 to begin the season. Another 400 - 500 personnel will be added when Six Flags commences daily operations May 29.

The bulk of the expenditures for this year is centered on expanding the Park's historical value and landscaping.

Other attractions have been added including a new ride named "El Sombrero" for the Mexican Section. An Aviary located in the Animal Kingdom, will be the new home of nearly 100 exotic birds recently imported from all over the world.

A true replica of one of America's most revered shrines, the Liberty Bell, has been obtained by Six Flags. White-chapel Bell Foundries, Ltd., in England who made the original bell in 1752, cast an exact replica from the same moulding pit in 1960. The bell, made of pure copper and tin, is 47 inches in diameter and weighs 2016 pounds.

A rare and interesting collection of branding irons from many legendary ranches in Texas and the Southwest, will be displayed in the Texas Section.

For young cowpokes and budding deputy sheriffs an indoor firing range containing J. Bean's "Shootin' Irons" has been built just across the porch from the venerable Judge's Jersey Lilly Courthouse.

The fascinating lighting display at Six Flags after dark which has always been a conversation piece, should have added visual dramatic effects, thanks to the efforts of the Park's lighting engineers.
