Gillspie County Commissioners, facing an overflow crowd of irate landowners, postponed indefinitely land condemnation proceedings for LYNDON B. JOHNSON STATE PARK. The commissioners received a petition with 321 signatures protesting the establishment of the park. The proposed park was to have been built across the property line of the LBJ Ranch. A 245-acre area was to be used. This action by a commissioners court in Texas shows independence. The taxpayers of Texas are extremely tired of having this "crackpot mess" tossed down their throats. We congratulate the landowners who fought in court for the right to keep lands that had been in their families for more than a hundred years from being condemned by the "power czars." I can remember the popularity of the late FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT while he lived, but in Texas, nobody bothered to build a monument to him in death. Things happen like that.

LBJ signed a war fund bill in the amount of $4.8 billion Tuesday. About the time he was signing the administration's war measure the top-heavy Democratic Congress was passing another war bill in the amount of about $13 billion to buy more battle gear, bullets, et al. It's not the big money spending war appropriation measures that hurts — it's the fact that American boys are dying at the rate of about 200 a week over there. Most of us would give up just about everything if we could only stop this war in Viet Nam. We can continue to hope but as long as there are those in Washington who are getting rich on war profits the chance for bringing about a conference for peace is indeed remotely dim.

The area daily press carried a news story from Pine Bluff, Arkansas Tuesday telling how the father of a murdered girl shot the man accused of killing her during a court recess. A few years ago, in Henderson, Texas, I was a young reporter covering a similar murder trial. JUDGE RENEE ALLRED, brother of the late JAMES V. ALLRED, one-time governor of Texas, was presiding. He recessed court. Spectators dashed out of the courthouse for coffee and food. I walked over to a place known for its famous stew and ordered a bowl. The defendant in the murder trial, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, had the same idea — to eat a bowl of chili. Just about the time the steaming bowl of hot stuff was served up by the waitress behind the counter the father of the murdered girl walked in — pulled a knife — and cut the young man's throat then and there. When court convened a few minutes later, JUDGE ALLRED announced from the bench: "The jury in this case is dismissed. Court is adjourned. This case now rests in the hands of the JUDGE of judges."

A segment of the Great Society revolted in riot again Tuesday in the Watts area of Los Angeles. The resulting deaths amounted to two. A white man was chased down and murdered in the streets as he pounded on a door trying to find safety from the surging mob. In view of the smallness of the incident which incited the murders and property destruction of the riot last summer, it is not out of line to assume that some of the bums didn't receive their poverty checks on time. A great percentage of residents in Watts are drawing some kind of Great Society relief payments.

Mahon Committee Approves LBJ Request For War Funds

President Johnson's emergency request for $13.1 billion to fight the war in Viet Nam has been approved unanimously by the House Appropriations Committee headed by Congressman George Mahon.

Congressman Mahon said more funds might be needed within a few months.

Quick passage of the bill in Congress is expected. It would give Johnson money to buy planes, helicopters, missiles, immunization and economic aid, and meet other war needs.

Mahon told the House Rules Committee, which cleared the measure for a floor vote, "Most of us feel an additional supplemental for Viet Nam may be required before the end of this fiscal year." The fiscal year ends June 30.

"It all depends on the escalation," Mahon said. Nowhere in the Appropriations Committee's report on the bill was there any debate of the President's Viet Nam policy. Nor did the committee make changes, as it usually does, in specific sums sought by the Defense Department.

While Republicans supported the bill, they announced they would file their own views along with the formal committee report. Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.) said the bill in effect gave Sec. of Defense Robert S. McNamara authority to throw the entire defense budget into the Viet Nam fighting.

The President already has on his desk a bill, finally passed by Congress Thursday which authorizes spending $4.8 billion of the $13.1 billion in the appropriations measure. The rest of the spending previously had been authorized.

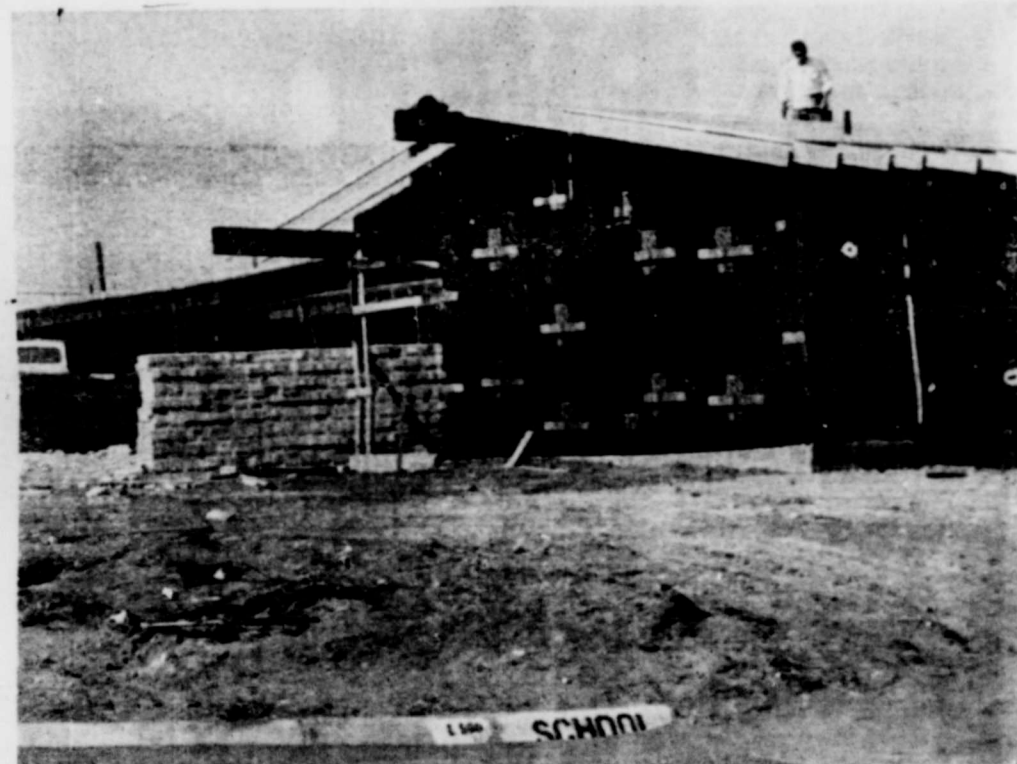

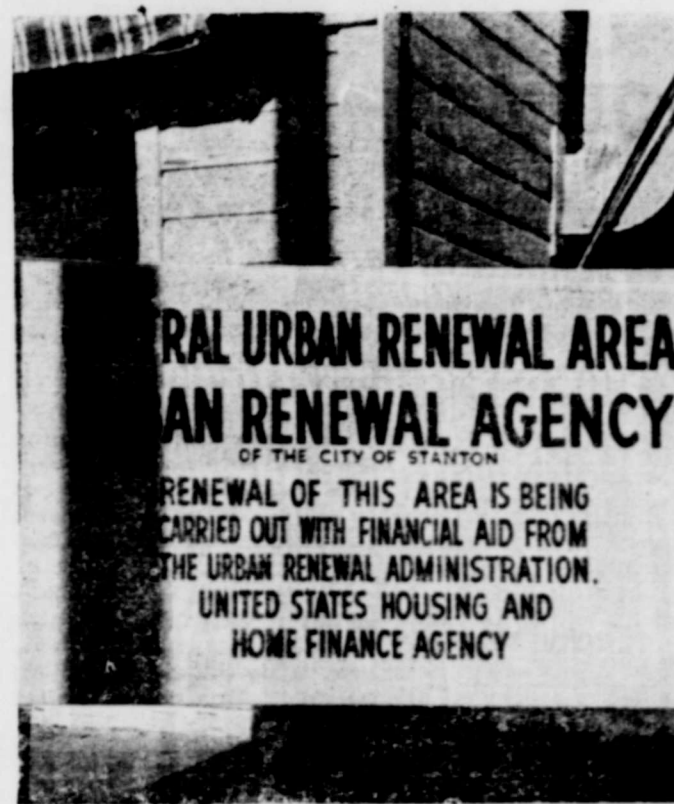

Costlow Talks To Lions Club Here Tuesday

The Stanton Lions Club met in regular session Tuesday noon at Belvue Restaurant, Lion President Bob Cain presiding.

Guests present were Joe Russell, of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce, and Joe Moore, area representative for the Salvation Army. Moore reported that a finance drive for the Army will get underway at 7:30 a.m. Thursday at the Belvue Restaurant.

George Costlow, manager of the Farm Home Administration for this area, brought the program on procurement of a golf course for Martin County. Costlow outlined steps to be taken by local golf enthusiasts in order to get such a program moving.

THE FEDERAL WAY—Workmen are busy completing construction of 78 new public housing units in the city. Acres of the units are springing up and will soon be ready for occupancy. It is thought that the demand for the PHA property will increase as Urban Renewal cleans out the depressed and sub-standard section on the south side of town. Certain sub-salary requirements will have to be met before a family can be moved in to the attractive new housing units. It is safe to say that few federal taxpayers will be among the tenants.

Federal Funds Enable Hammers To Play Progress Tune In City

A big army of out-of-town workers are drawing government paychecks for driving nails and hurrying construction of the 78-unit Public Housing project in Stanton.

The American taxpayers are backing and banking the deal. It is assumed that the units will all be occupied by the tenants who are soon to be moved out of the section to be face - lifted by the Urban Renewal Agency across the tracts in Stanton.

In any event, progress in the building business is on the move here if it is coming under the banner of a federal stamp.

Plans are also ready for the second phase of urban renewal. A grant of more than a million dollars recently assured the continuation of the effort. The money will be used principally to clear out sub-standard structures south of the T&P railway tracks.

Negro families mostly populate the section of town slated for urban renewal progress. The area has long been in need of proper sewage facilities and improved streets.

It is apparently now possible for loans to be granted by urban renewal to improve local properties regardless of location in the city. This information was released the past week when it was disclosed that 65 property owners here have voluntarily agreed to improve their residential structures to meet minimum city standards at their own cost.

About twenty or twenty-five other property owners are planning on cooperating with urban renewal employees in bringing their property up to

Hundreds Turn Out To View New Elementary School Sunday

Residents of the Stanton Independent School District, out - of - town visitors, and friends of public education enjoyed a special treat Sunday afternoon when an open house was held at the new underground elementary school building on Broadway Street.

From one o'clock p.m. until 5 p.m. a steady stream of patrons visited the building.

Supt. Beryl Clinton, members of the board of trustees, the architect Olen Puckett of Big Spring, and J. D. Jones, general contractor were present to greet the visitors. Representatives of the power company servicing the structure were also on hand to answer questions.

A pioneer venture in these parts, the underground school is expected to furnish information on the economy of air-conditioning the year around, and maintenance. Aside from cost factors, other information on reduced exterior distractions and dust nuisance is expected to result.

Teachers were also on hand to proudly explain the many fine advantages incorporated in classroom construction. The exhibits on the walls of each room were superb. Desks were well spaced, about thirty to the room, and the controlled lighting system guarantees uniform brilliance at all times. This constant electrically controlled system refuses to allow a single shadow anywhere in the underground building. The air - condition-

Taxpayers To Ballot On Issue April 9

Martin County taxpaying voters will have an opportunity to vote on a swimming pool bond issue on April 9.

The Commissioner's Court voted to call the election Monday morning after receiving a petition bearing approximately 80 signatures of property taxpayers and after consultation with representatives from a qualified bonding company.

Infocade '66 Meet Set For San Angelo

Infocade '66, a series of one - day orientation meetings sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the leadership of West Texas, opened Wednesday at Lubbock, moved to Mineral Wells and will close at San Angelo on Friday, March 18.

The San Angelo meeting is expected to be attended by residents of this area. Friday's program will follow the same general pattern as those presented in Lubbock and Mineral Wells. Ben Barnes will moderate the session and Beeman Fisher will keynote the meeting. He also served in that role in Lubbock.

Fisher is president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and also Texas Electric Service Company.

The newspaper has been advised that the issue will be a comparatively small issue. Only $50,000 will be asked for construction of the county swimming pool. If the bond issue carries the pool site will be determined and construction started as soon as possible.

Young people in the area started the ball rolling for the recreational project. All of the petition signers are qualified taxpayers and more names could have easily been added had it been necessary. Only those residents who have real or personal property rendered for taxation on the county rolls can vote. All voters must meet the state age requirements too.

Parents of the young people in the community will do the balloting in the main.

If the bond issue passes it will be the first step to provide the youth of the entire county with their first really recreational facility.

March 17 Midnight Deadline On Free Voter Registration

Tonight at midnight is the deadline for registering for a free vote in Texas.

The March 17 date was set by the Texas Legislature at the recently called special session to provide guidelines for voting qualifications. The session was called by Gov. John Connally after a three-judge federal panel declared Texas' poll tax invalid.

Sheriff - assessor - collector Dan Saunders and his staff will accept the prospective voters until midnight and unless the time is later extended those failing to register will not be allowed to cast ballots.

People who paid their poll tax earlier do not have to register. Over - age individuals do not have to register and first voters need not register. Only those people in the county who have not paid a poll tax need register.

Collector Saunders advised the newspaper that no complaints had been filed with his office conducting the manner in which registration has been proceeding in Martin County. The office has been wide open for the two-week time limit and all comers have been properly and courteously accommodated.

Sign up today if you want to vote and did not pay your poll tax. It's free and each resident who has lived in the state and county the sufficient amount of time will be welcome to sign the registration forms.

Philosopher Comes Out With Sure-Fire Method Of Getting The World Organized

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw sounds about half-way serious this week, but you never can tell.)

Dear editor:
As I understand it from what I read in a newspaper which an insurance salesman was using for an umbrella to get from his car to my house during a shower and left after he discovered there wasn't much of a prospect around here, the Russians have hit Venus with a satellite and while something went wrong with the brakes and it smashed instead of settling gently, it proves it can be done and they'll try again.

I got to thinking some more about the general space race, how it's more than likely that we'll put a man on the moon in a few years and after he lands around at the lonesome rock getting back to the interesting green earth is going to be his main ambition; how exploring one planet after another may get a little dull and monotonous; for example, can you get very excited over a headline: "Astronauts Land Successfully On One Of The Pleiades?" Be like getting excited over who got elected Justice of the Peace in some precinct in Utah.

Then I got to thinking some more, and I have decided we've got to keep exploring; after the moon and Venus try Mercury, Jupiter, Neptune, etc., and then try those further out we haven't even named yet.

What we've got to do is find some planet out there inhabited by intelligent creatures. Then we've got to make them mad at us. It's the key to world peace.

It's this way: right now more than half the world's thought and money and energy is taken up with war and defense against future war, and one country can't stop as long as the others don't. At least, the U. S. isn't, I hope.

But, if we got some distant planet mad at us and its inhabitants attacked, and not knowing the difference between Communists and free world, started shooting at both, helter - skelter, everybody would unite, for the first time in the history of the world. Everybody's be falling over each other to share scientific and military secrets, and all the guns would be pointed up instead of horizontally.

This sure would be going the long way around to get this world organized, but not as long as the route we've been going since the dawn of history.

There's got to be some planet out there willing to shoot at us. Making its inhabitants mad at us will be easy. We'll bombard em with guitar music.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Stocking Data Aids Bass Fans

Persons interested in obtaining black bass for stocking private waters are reminded by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department that April 1 is the deadline for receiving applications for these fish with delivery to authorized places in the spring.

The deadline for catfish and other fish is August 1, with delivery in the fall.

Applications received after those dates are filed for consideration the next year.

The department advised prospective recipients:

"Bass will not be delivered to ponds previously stocked unless the waters have dried up or have been chemically renovated and the out-of-balance fish population removed. Channel catfish may be requested, if needed, every three years because this species does not normally reproduce in small lakes. Recommendations for stocking by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists will be honored."

Here is additional advisory data:

"A properly stocked farm tank, fish pond or small lake will provide fishing over a number of years. There is no need to restock with fish every year. Such a practice is not only wasteful of hatchery reared fish but results in an overcrowded condition and stunted, small fish. Overstocked waters produce poor quality fish just as overstocked land produces poor quality cattle."

Vet College Deadline Set For June 1

Veterans planning to go to school under the new GI Bill do not have to rush to meet a deadline, Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, said today.

Although most benefits under the new bill are effective immediately, the education benefits will not begin until June 1, 1966, Coker said.

Late in April, the VA expects to have application blanks and full information available at all VA offices and at the admission offices in most approved schools.

Veterans will have ample time to select courses and make application without losing either class time or payments from VA, Coker said.

Bible Comment—

Church And Home Worship Blend

Today, there is a great resurgence of emphasis on religion in the home. This is a good thing. But we must never forget the vital role of the church. The two, home and church, ought to go together in the life of every family that would be in any real sense Christian.

Family religion, fine as it can be made, is not enough in itself. A family religion, divorced from the church and lacking the full expression of Christian fellowship, could not be in any real sense completely Christian. The family needs the church as much as the church needs the family.

The first Christians, those of the early church, had all things in common. They experienced communal living as do groups of Christians in monasteries or religious orders.

Such communal endeavor has been practiced at many times and in many places during the centuries since the church began.

This does not mean that communal living, as these first Christians practiced it, is either advisable or feasible under the complex conditions of modern society in which the vast majority of us play a part.

But it does mean that even in the most complex social conditions, true Christians will wish to live unselfishly, using themselves and their possessions for the doing of the will of God, and for the blessing of their fellow men.

Let us thank God for the men and women who have lived in that Christian way. And let us realize that, complex as society may be, there can be no lasting peace, prosperity and happiness for all until all men live to love and help one another.

Bark Saves Bunnies As Birds Fade

Game Warden C. L. Boynton said cottontail rabbits joined the brush control program as they ravenously ate bark from young mesquite trees in a desperate effort to stay alive during the recent snow and ice storm.

"The cottontail peeled the bark on the young trees as far up as they could reach but many didn't make it," said Boynton.

He said he counted 47 dead cottontails while making the rounds in one morning alone following the cold blast.

The game warden noted a

Don't settle for being another face among party-goers this season. With make-up in the holiday spirit, you'll shine through—and maybe even steal the scene.

It's easy to create an impression of gay and sparkling glamour that will seem completely uncontrived. Your complexion should appear clear and radiant with the slight flush of excitement, your lips definitely hued and taste-treated with holiday party flavor, and your eyes wide-awake and lively.

To achieve this dazzling effect with cosmetics, complexion and lips will require brighter shades in sunny-warm peach and beige tones to spotlight them with touches of brilliance.

First, brighten your complexion in holiday color with the Peach shade of Brush-A-Live!—a new sheer-textured blend of brush-on powder by Angel Face. To apply, simply pick up the powder with its own compact-shaped brush, and buff it over your face. Now you've added the amount of coloring desired for a complete, glowing look. Still on the bright side, wear deliciously new lipstick with plenty of "Party Punch" flavor from Cutex. For added shimmer and shine, wear two tasty shades instead of one: Cinnamon Swizzle—a barely bronze shade, topped with Egnog Grog—a saucy vanilla cream.

Use a light touch in your eye make-up. Select eye liner, shadow and mascara from a palette of gray, brown and taupe shades for a wide-open effect. As an "eyebrow-raising" plus, apply a dash of white eye shadow just under the brows.

Complete your holiday look by putting your warmest personality forward . . . and you're ready to shine!

Area Social Security Staff Open Saturdays

The Big Spring social security office is now remaining open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. on Saturdays until the end of March for the added convenience of residents of this area. Erven Fisher, district manager, announced.

On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, March 28, 29 and 30, the office will remain open until 9:00 p.m. and on March 31, the deadline for filing for Medicare, the office will be open until midnight.

The special hours are in addition to the regular 8:30 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. schedule of office hours, Monday through Friday. Fisher pointed out that it is difficult for many people who should file applications to establish their eligibility for medicare benefits to call at his office during regular hours.

These include, he said, people who are over 35 and still working. They should file applications now even though they have no immediate plans for retirement.

Another large group includes those over 65 who have worked very little or not at all under social security. Fisher emphasized that even those who have never had a social security account number may qualify for medicare benefits. The special hours will make it possible for many older people who have to depend on relatives, friends or neighbors for transportation to visit the office, according to Fisher.

The address of the Big Spring office is 1009 Gregg.

Woman Talk

Hello, There,
We do hope the past week was a pleasant and profitable one for you, and that you have a few minutes to relax and visit with your writer.
How many of you read WOMAN TALK last week, or the week before? So far all reports drifting in via grapevine have been favorable. Why not drop us a line with your opinion? It is always more enlightening when one can editorially support the swimming pool bond issue for the following meritorious reasons. First, the young people of this county need a supervised center and the pool will serve this purpose. Secondly, it will be a step in the right direction to provide physical fitness in keeping with the President's program for that purpose. Thirdly, Red Cross and other life saving courses can be administered at the pool. Fourth, a home pool will keep our children at home and eliminate their having to learn to swim at other natatoriums. Fifth, the cost in increased property taxation, at only $50,000, of any, will be too light to keep from supporting this step to provide our boys and girls with a place of relaxation from the tensions of the day.

evaluate many points of view. Summertime will soon be here, and now is a very good time to give your hands and complexion extra care. Perhaps the most important single item during the next few weeks is protection. Before working in your flower garden, yard, or just going for a walk in the wind or sun, take a minute to smooth protective, moisturizing lotion or cream on all exposed skin areas. There are so many excellent ones on the market these days.

No doubt many of you want to get a suntan early in the season. It you would like one of those attractive, smooth, even tans — DON'T RUSH IT. Secure a good suntan oil, use generously, and never stay in the bright sun more than ten minutes at a time at first. The sun's burning rays can inflict permanent skin damage if taken in too large doses. Skin specialists warn us repeatedly of the very real danger in over exposure. The tendency to coarser texture and aging lines are definitely encouraged by such exposure. How many of us want those age lines? Something else we should keep in mind is the fact that the sun veiled in fog or light clouds can still project a severe burn. If you happen to be in the sun for an extended time without protective cream apply a medicated sunburn soother as soon as possible. Avoid washing with soap, as it may be quite irritating.

Even the most dewey, soft teen age skin needs protection.

Get your pharmacist to explain the two types of sun preparations to you. One is for protection and tanning, the other protects and prevents tanning. In any case blistering enough to peel should be avoided by persons of all ages.

Quite enlightening and a little sad, was a recent talk with a young soldier who had just returned from Viet Nam. He was 20 years young—and I say young advisedly. He had seen more of bloodshed and death than most of us can imagine in a lifetime. When asked what was uppermost in importance over there, he replied, "First, staying alive, and second, letters from home." He said that it made no difference what the letters contained just so they were there. Their presence seems to give the boys some assurance that the home front is solidly behind them. It was sad to me because so many of us, engrossed with

It would mean so MUCH to him. Let's declare a "Write to a SERVICE-MAN crusade" now! O. K?

That reminds me, I must get that letter to the nephew in Carolina off in today's mail. So, until we meet again, let's write!

Demos Consider Placing Price Tags On Telecasts

Democrats are thinking of putting a price tag—perhaps up to $3 million—on television coverage of their national conventions.

The talking-stage idea: Let the television networks bid for the right to broadcast the party's political extravaganzas.

"They do it on major sports events," said Wayne Phillips, director of public information for the Democratic National Committee. "Instead of having all three networks cover the convention, which has gotten to be a madhouse, we'd try to sell the time to one of them."

"I think they can well afford it," Phillips said. He said the networks try to get commercial sponsors for their convention broadcasts.

"Astounding idea," said Elmer Lower, president of the American Broadcasting Co. news division.

"Can't Believe Serious"

"We can't believe that this is a serious proposal," said CBS News President Richard S. Salant. "If they want to treat themselves as if they were a commercial spectator sport, that's their business."

"As a new organization, we intend to cover the conventions as news," Salant said. A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said only that the GOP has no plan such as that advanced by the Democrats.

The amendment is the handiwork of Sen. John J. Williams, (R-Del.) who has charged that the practice of soliciting businessmen—especially government contractors—for political advertisements can amount to blackmail.

So far, Phillips said, he has not discussed the proposal with network executives.

"I've tried it out on some newsmen from the networks," he said.

Their reaction? "Shock," said Phillips.

legibly on the check or money order.

Q — Our medical expenses should be well over 3 per cent of our income. Can you tell me if we can deduct the full amount of our expense that we have been billed for or just what we have paid so far on these bills?

A — Only the amount you actually paid last year should be used as the basis for figuring your medical expense deduction. Remember to deduct from that total whatever reimbursement insurance, etc. you received for these expenses.

Medical expenses which exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income will be deductible. However, only medicine and drugs over 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income can be included as a part of those medical expenses. If you or your wife are 65 or over, these limitations do not apply to either of you.

Q — What can be deducted by salesman for the cost of operating a car?

A — You may be entitled to deduct 10¢ a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and 7¢ a mile thereafter if you qualify, or you may deduct the actual cost of operation including depreciation. Of course your car travel must be an ordinary and necessary business expense. These rules are explained in more detail in the 1040 instructions.

Q — I received unemployment benefits from the state last year. Are they taxable?

A — No. State unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported.

Q — I have several W-2 forms since I worked for several people last year. Should I send all of them with my return or can I add them up and give you the totals?

A — You could file Copy B of all your W-2's with your return, although only the total need be entered on line 17a of your Form 1040. Failure to do so will hold up the processing of your return and any refund that might be due you.

Q — I changed jobs last year and now find myself driving about 30 miles a day to get back and forth to work. Can I deduct 10¢ a mile for this driving?

A — No. Commuting to and from work is a personal expense and not deductible.

Q — I frequently buy food which I give to my neighbor. They have 4 kids and the husband has been having a hard time finding steady work. Can I deduct what money I spend for them when I fill out my return?

A — Certainly your gifts are very charitable, but the law does not permit gifts to individuals to qualify as tax-deductible contributions.

Q — This is the first year I've ever filed a return. What figure on the W-2 should I report as income — the amount I received before taxes were withheld, before Social Security or what?

A — Use the figure given on the W-2 as "wage paid subject to withholding in 1965" under "Income Tax Information." Add any amount that appears in the box "Other compensation paid in 1965" and report the total on your return.

Q — I was married last year and we were fortunate enough to receive some very nice wedding gifts. Are they taxable on my income tax return?

A — The gifts themselves are not subject to income tax, although any income from them may be. However, if someone gave you gifts worth $3,000 or more during the year, the giver has to file a federal gift tax return and pay any tax due.

Q — I am a teacher and took a summer course last year. Will I be able to deduct what it cost me?

A — The cost of the course will be deductible if one of the following two conditions

Beta Sigma Phi Activities

The Rho Xi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Joyce Bergstrom on Thursday, March 4. The business meeting was called to order by Mona Elmore, chapter president. The minutes were read by Johny Conner, and a treasurer's report was given by Sara Blocker.

The Heart Fund Drive held in February was discussed and a total amount of $270.00 had been collected from the drive and individual donations. The rush party is to be held March 31 at the home of Edwenna Tom.

Sandra Jones was selected to represent the chapter in the Lions Club queen contest. Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Jones of Tarzan. Sandra is a senior in Stanton High School, and has been active in Student Council, National Honor Society, Drama Club, Future Teachers Association, and many other activities. The chapter feels honored to have Sandra represent them.

A program on sculpture was given by Jeanene Wheeler. Jeanene showed slides pertaining to her subject while she and her husband were living in Europe.

Joyce Bergstrom served refreshments to Nona Cain, Nita Graves, Wanda Bryan, Mona Elmore, Linda Bess Angel, Johny Conner, Sara Blocker, Patsy Jones, Jeanene Wheeler, and Claudene Sorrels.

Q — Is the retirement income credit the same this year?

A — No. The rate used to compute the credit is 15 per cent for 1965 income compared to 17 per cent last year. This is to keep in line with the reduced income tax rates for 1965. For an explanation of how to use this credit write your District Director for a copy of Document 5018, Retirement Income and Credit.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bolstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Farmers Work With Nature

Farmers and ranchers nowadays have many specialties, titles and jargon words for their work—agribusiness, for instance. Basically, though, they still are people who work with the wonders of nature's production and reproduction. Cell by cell the living tissues of their crops and animals grow into farm products under their guidance.

Every tiny cell, and there are billions in each animal and human body, is a busy chemical and physical laboratory. The body may have as many cells as the skies have stars.

In an oversimplification we see the physical fact that some 60% or even 70% of the body weight of an animal is water.

To carry this bit of elementary analysis further, it has been computed that a man weighing 140 pounds contains enough fat for 7 cakes of soap, enough carbon for 9,000 match heads, magnesium for one dose of salts, iron to make one tannery nail, sufficient lime to whitewash a chicken coop, enough sulphur to rid one dog of fleas, and water to fill a 10-gallon can, all at then current prices worth about 98 cents.

Somewhat this sort of dissection of the anatomy leaves one with the impression that those materials are in a more or less static condition. But this conception is jarred by the information, it is likely that each will be using a different approach to the solution. It is true that the research will cost three times as much, but there will be three times as many changes to solve the problem. . . . I'd rather pass on to the consumer the cost of the cancer cure than to pass on to the consumer the cost of no cancer cure."

One of the major functions of the blood, for instance, contains 50 billion white cells and 30,000 billion red cells, all actively metabolizing, and that the plasma, the liquid part of the blood, contains proteins, minerals, vitamins, acids, sugars, fats and the secretion of all glands and tissues, antibodies for defense against microbes, fibrinogen (a protein) whose strands adhere to wounds and stop hemorrhages.

Bone tissue is alive and is not merely a sort of scaffolding for the body. The bone marrow is the main producer of red blood cells throughout life, said to be sending some 10 million new cells per second into the bloodstream. The liver takes care of the blood cells that are worn out.

And how is the blood used? One of the major functions of the oxygen; carbon dioxide exchange, therefore respiration, in which billions of the body cells participate.

These facts give some idea of the throbbing activities of the body which are also supported by the diet which should include all necessary energy, protein, vitamins, additives, and both major and minor minerals.

Questions: What are the best kinds and grades of salt to use for livestock?
Answer: Cattle observed in Kansas chose loose granulated rock salt first, the evaporated salt blocks came next, and other blocks in more or less regular order according to increasing hardness. A general recommendation among modern stockmen is to use trace mineralized salt whether loose or block.

Dr. Thomas F. Carney, in a broadcast over a Chicago radio station, said: "If any one group of people, whether it be industry or government, ever started directing all the research, research would be dead. In my sound as if there is some duplication, but it is duplication of objective, rather than duplication of work. If, for example, three companies are working on the solution of the cancer prob-

St. Patrick's Day provides the theme for a long-awaited springlike approach to parties and meal planning. Irish green salutes the special day and the new season. Combine it with the lavender of an attractive tablecloth or the purple tones of violets and you'll have a color scheme as refreshing as the hues of springtime.

Since it's customary for everyone to look at the world through green tinted glasses on March 17, it's only fitting that festive meals pick up tones of the same color. Make the day as gay as your most delightful Irish friends. You may be having guests in or it may be your family group, but in either event this merry day calls for a celebration.

For our feminine friends here is a recipe for SHAM-ROCK GELATIN MOLD.

- | | |
|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin | 2½ teaspoons salt |
| 1½ cup cold water | 1/16 teaspoon red hot sauce |
| 1¼ cups hot water | 3 cups (3-4) sieved ripe avocados |
| 2 tablespoons lime juice | ¼ cup salad dressing |
| 2 tablespoons grated onion | |

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot water. Stir in lime juice and seasoning. Mix in avocado puree and salad dressing. Pour into oiled individual shamrock molds or six-cup mold. Chill until ready to serve (about three hours). Unmold onto serving plates and serve with chicken salad, tomato slices, wafers and crackers.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

We were among those in the TV audience Sunday evening when the DANNY THOMAS show was presented. Isn't it too bad we can't have good, wholesome entertainment like he unfurled for us in his special? The entire show was Americanized all the way. The finale was especially impressive. The thoughts expressed by MR. THOMAS on the future of the youth of this nation, his call for us all to reaffirm and love our country, salute the flag, and remember how our freedom was won, was patriotically appealing. Then the entire cast closed out with that famous number: "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Our hearts are always stirred when we hear the strains of that song with the words reminding us that "HIS truth is marching on."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

BOB BASKIN, Dallas News writer penned a nice story about CONGRESSMAN JAKE PICKLE and the small Texas community of Snook, this week. BASKIN revealed that "REP. PICKLE has found in his district an entire community dedicated to the principles of physical fitness." The town of Snook is in Burleson County and has a population of 200 people. Snook High School has 79 students, of whom 30 are boys, and all of them go all-out for basketball. They think nothing of keeping physically fit in Snook the year around. Any person becoming ill with anything short of a serious major operation would be called a sissy in Snook. We were happy to learn of the story of Snook because it is refreshing information in this day of pill addicts, tranquilizer tablets and quack remedies.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

The new underground elementary school building certainly looks like a winner. It has been beautifully planned and 127 students are now attending. Seating capacity for each of the classrooms has been allowed for 30 students. The building will accommodate 140 students. With vision for possible future expansion, a sealed up hallway was included in the plans. It can be opened and construction on any future addition accomplished. Facilities in the building are all electric. We are sure the children and the teachers are going to enjoy the new building. Congratulations are in order for all of those responsible for the planning and construction of this modern structure.

Henry Hazlett writes in Newsweek: "The new budget is undoubtedly inflationary. But it would be inexcusable to increase the already excessive and growth-stunting burden of taxation on the American people on the plea that this is necessary to combat the inflation. The way to prevent

A spacious hallway leads to all rooms and has been arranged to allow for possible future expansion. The underground rest rooms are well planned and fixtures have been installed to suit the needs of students of all ages.

The elementary school building, which is all located below ground level, became operational about three weeks ago. Only structure above ground is the penthouse which shelters mechanical equipment, also an escape hatch should anything happen to the conventional stairwell exits. The slab roof of the underground building serves as a playground area.

The building is also equipped with an auxiliary generator to give light in case of a general public power failure, but such a failure is not anticipated because of the fine service rendered the community by Texas Electric.

The Stanton P-TA joined in the open house observance by serving refreshments to those visiting the building.
