Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

About half of us are allergic to something.

Pollen in the air can trigger hay fever, certain foods may start hives. Possible allergens are countless — house dust, animal fur, feathers, cosmetics, bleaches, medicines, foods, pollen. Some people are even allergic to heat, cold or sunlight. And there is the classic case of the woman who was allergic to her husband.

Most common result of allergy are four illnesses — hay fever, asthma, skin ailments and digestive disturbances. Hay fever is an inflammation of the eyes and nasal passages. Asthma is a disease of the bronchial tubes of the lungs. Food allergies, a sensitivity to one or more foods, can affect the skin, the digestive tract or the respiratory system. Skin allergies cause itching, sometimes rash.

Reaction to an allergen varies with individuals. One person may be only slightly upset by eating an egg. Another could become violently ill from the small trace of egg in salad dressing. There still are many unknown factors about the reason why someone suddenly becomes allergic to something. Allergic diseases are not usually fatal, but they cause untold discomfort and suffering. Although worry and stress might be a contributing factor, allergy is not an imaginary illness. It is very real to the sufferer.

Sometimes the allergen is known and can be avoided. Sometimes many tests by a physician are required to arrive at the true cause. Medical care is necessary in all cases for relief of discomfort and for protection against future attacks.

If you suspect you are allergic to something, see your doctor. Self-diagnosis and self-treatment not only are futile, they frequently are dangerous.

Your doctor often can prescribe medications that will relieve the discomfort. And sometimes he can provide treatments that will desensitize you, so that the allergen no longer causes illness.

Robert P. Griffin, U. S. Representative from Michigan, said: "To force a worker to join a union, and then to use his dues for politics, is to make him a second-class citizen."

Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, says if you are "making more now, but enjoying it less" you have "prosperity disease". . . . This comes from confusing luxuries with necessities, and trying to own all the extras. . . .

THE BIG LAKE WILDCAT: "The annual West Texas Boy's Round-Up is now underway in Reagan County according to Siler E. Williams, Wagon Boss for the drive. Local ranches and farmers wishing to donate livestock may bring it to the county 4-H Club feeding barn in Big Lake. From there the stock will be taken to the auction ring. The annual round-up is more important than ever this year, due to the recent fire at the Boys Ranch, which burned the recreation building including new furniture which was stored there for the new dormitory to be opened soon."

THE McCAMEY NEWS: "Lest we forget, wear a Poppy — this will be the message of the American Legion Auxiliary to the people of McCamey, Rankin and Iraan on Poppy Day, May 25. Members of the Auxiliary and cooperating groups of young women will be stationed at numerous places all day offering baskets of Memorial Poppies and urging all citizens to wear one of the red flowers in honor of our nation's war dead."

THE ALPINE AVALANCHE: "Some 300 to 500 persons are expected in the area next week for the 18th annual Woodward Ranch Rockhound Roundup to be held May 23, through May 30, at the ranch 14 miles south of Alpine. This year a rock swap has been added to the roundup and rock hounds from a large area of the United States are expected to attend."

THE COMANCHE CHIEF: The following telegram was received in Comanche Wednesday morning from Congressman Omar Burleson: "Those of us in Congress who introduced legislation to eliminate entrance fees public reservoirs have just been notified by the Army Engineers of the new policy regarding the collection of such fees. The number of acres where fees would be collected has been drastically reduced from 955 sites to 163 sites." First, there will be maintained at least one free access area at all reservoirs to which the public may gain entrance to the waters without payment of any fee.

THE FORT STOCKTON PIONEER: "There has been little let-up in the filing of claims on sulphur prospects of northern Pecos County, as developers await a decision by the supreme court as to the methods of development to be followed. More than 4,000 — we've lost count, was an answer of Country Clerk Billy Hodges this week, as to number of claims filed in the county to date. Most are for 20 acres, and the affected area stretches from Girvin and Bakersfield to Cayanosa across the county."

Ford Company To Market New Automobile

Henry Ford II has confirmed reports that Lincoln-Mercury Division, will market a new specialty car, the Cougar, in its 1967 line.

Ford and Arjay Miller, Ford president, disclosed details of the plan. They said the Cougar "will fill a separate niche in the specialty car market," and added, "it follows the specialty car theme of the Thunderbird and Mustang fitting into a large market in between them."

Ford said the new car "will offer more flair and sophistication than the present Mustang. . . . It will be about nine inches longer and three inches wider and will be more roomy, more luxurious and will sell for more money."

ers, with Nancy Hursh registering the numerous guests. Among the out of town guests were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Lee Brice, of Clovis, New Mexico.

The many friends of Linda Brice and Thadd Koonce, are cordially invited to attend their wedding, which is set for June 5, at 5:00 p.m., at the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints in Stanton.

Bible Comment—

Jesus Taught The True Worth Of Giving

When Paul was leaving Miletus after having called the elders of the Christian Church of Ephesus to hear his words of farewell, he bade these Christians to remember the words of the Lord Jesus: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

No words could express more accurately the spirit of all that Jesus had said and exemplified in His life and death. Nor could any words express more pointedly the challenge of Jesus and His teaching to the ideas and action of what He called "the world."

Getting and receiving is such a normal process of life and is so natural to happiness and welfare that we might well ask whether Jesus was right in declaring that it is more blessed to give than to receive. We may ask but there is only one answer. And the answer is found not only in some spiritual blessedness that compensates for the giving or renunciation of some material possession or treasured thing. Jesus offered men rest: "Come unto me . . . and I will give you rest."

Yet rest is the thing that men, rich, poor, old, young, sick or well cannot do without. That offer of rest by the Master was supreme in its insight into human need.

So, in this matter of the blessedness of giving in any large and spiritual reality, the assertion that it is more blessed to give than to receive is an extension of much that is true to normal living. The giving of parents to their children, the giving to loved ones, the innumerable acts of graciousness and self-sacrifice in which men and women find supreme satisfaction, bear witness to the testimony of Jesus.

Philosopher Says 90 Million Cars In Traffic Is Bad, But 90 Million Horses . . . ?

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw takes a look at the traffic problem this week.)

Dear editor:

According to an article in a newspaper which I found caught on a corner post where my pasture makes a right angle and which I pulled off as that post has enough to hold up the fence without any extra weight being added, there are so many cars in this country now, 90 million at the moment and multiplying faster than people, that city people are having more and more difficulty getting anywhere.

A survey showed that at peak traffic periods in big cities cars travel about 6 to 8 miles an hour, which is no faster than you could go with a horse and buggy.

I was discussing this with a neighbor and he said, "See there, that's what I've been arguing. We're no better off with cars than we were with buggies. It was a mistake to ever start building them. They ought to be outlawed."

I didn't argue with him, but I got to thinking, maybe he has a point; then I thought some more.

Ninety million cars, I'll

"Nearly half of all traffic deaths occur at speed under 40 miles per hour," says the Portland Traffic Safety Commission. "When a man traveling in a car at 20 miles per hour hits an immovable object, the forward thrust of his body against the windshield is equivalent to falling out of a one and a half story window."

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Harris and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ferrell have moved to Cisco to make their home. Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Ferrell both have been teachers in the Stanton Schools.

The Stanton Study Club sponsored a book review recently. They presented Mrs. Lenora Rosamond Morris, who reviewed her own book, "When East Goes West." Mrs. Morris came here from her home in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and was a guest of her brother, J. H. Rosamond, and Mrs. Rosamond while here.

The third grade class of Stanton school, accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. L. B. McClane and several mothers, went to Midland for an all-day holiday. The children rode the train to Midland, and then visited Midland Army Air Field. The children visited several business houses and went to Cloverdale Park for a picnic lunch.

Some 250 persons were guests of the Lenora school at a barbecue Friday evening at the school house. Immediately following the meal, a softball game was played by the Lions Club and City Cafe.

Installation of new officers of the Lions Club will be held June 24. Officers are to be elected on June 10. Nominations for officers were made at a meeting this week. Dr. Frank L. Turner, general evangelist, who is holding a revival at the First Methodist Church, was the speaker. He spoke on 'Building and Builders.'

 The Rev. Billy Rudd officiated for the ceremony. The church was decorated with an archway of emerald greenery flanked with candelabra and baskets of white gladiolus.
 Mrs. John Billings, organist, played traditional selections and accompanied the soloist, Ariena McCartney.
 The maid of honor was Barbara Hobbs, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Kathy Drake of Odessa, cousin of the bride, and Linda Cathey.
 Best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Johnny Graves of Stanton. David Graves of Stanton, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Bud Glasple of Stanton were the groomsmen. The candles were lighted by Clifford Hobbs, brother of the bride, and Wayne York.
 Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin and Chantilly lace with an overlay of lace covering the bodice. A large satin bow accented the back, which fell into a chapel-length train. Her waist-length veil of illusion edged in lace fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white carnations atop a Bible belonging to her grandmother.
 The bride's attendants wore dresses of yellow embossed peau de soie designed with full street-length skirts.
 A reception was held in the church after the ceremony.

Approval Due On Promotion Cotton Bill

Final congressional approval of a self-help cotton promotion bill in time for the 1966-67 crop year was predicted this week by Chairman Harold D. Cooley of the House Agriculture Committee.
 The bill which the North Carolina Democrat sponsored was passed by the House weeks ago and is pending in the Senate.
 Growers must approve in a referendum before the proposal can go into effect. It calls for $1 a bale from cotton.

ACC To Offer Financial Aid To Students

"Any student in the Abilene area who needs a combination of loans and work funds to attend summer school at Abilene Christian College can still receive help," Bill Hilton, assistant business manager reported Friday.
 Hilton said there are two programs in which very good possibilities exist for summer school aid.
 National Defense Loan Funds providing loans of up to $300 for the 12 weeks of summer school are still open. Also, the College work-Study program is open. The work-study plan furnishes $1.25 an hour to qualified students enrolled in summer school for up to 15 hours of work, or a minimum of $1.25 an hour to qualified students who must work full-time this summer in order to attend Abilene Christian College next fall.
 To qualify for the program, Hilton stressed that a student must need the money to stay in school.
 Particularly needed at present in the work-study program are young men who would be skilled in getting buildings not in use this summer ready for use next fall. Especially needed are men with painting experience.
 Hilton said that if a student is in dire circumstances limited funds might be available through scholarship programs. Some funds in the school loan program might also be available if the student fails to qualify for any of the federal programs.
 Interested students should contact Ron Perkins, the financial aid officer, at Station ACC, Box 618, Abilene, Texas, 79601 or call him at 915-OR-2-8441, ext. 215.
 The first six-weeks' session begins with registration June 6, and final exams slated July 15. Registration for the second

Midland Museum Sets Exhibit

The Museum of the Southwest, Midland, will open its second exhibit, "Lights of Action," three weeks from today.
 The exhibit, scheduled to start June 16, will feature some applications of science in the field of art.
 "The contrast to our first exhibit, which was historical in nature, will emphasize our intention to make the Museum of the Southwest a general museum with interest in the arts, science, and historical fields," stated William B. Blakemore, II, chairman of the museum's board of trustees.
 "Electronic Abstractions" by Ben F. Laposky will be among the items featured in the exhibit. Electronic abstractions, also known as "oscillations," are unique art forms in light, created by means of electronics. They are composed of their aesthetic values by the selection and control of specialized electronic circuits, and then photographed.
 Kinetic sculpture by Jean Tinguely, on loan from The Museum of Fine Arts, in Houston, will also be featured at the exhibit.
 Other items to be featured include a light machine, lava lights, and optical illusion art.

Gentlemen: We would very much appreciate having the news item, as indicated below, printed in your newspaper at an early date:

The 15th annual A. J. R. A. Junior Rodeo gets underway Thursday, June 9, 1966 in Andrews, Texas opening with a downtown parade at 4:00 p.m. The rodeo is slated to run through June 11th.

Events include barrel racing, pole bending, flag racing, break away roping, tie down calf roping, ribbon roping, steer riding, bare back bronc riding, and bull riding with livestock furnished by Mutt Black of the Black Rodeo Producers from Marfa, Texas.

The annual event is being sponsored by the Andrews County Sheriff's Posse.

Thank you very much for your assistance in this handling.

Very truly yours,

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw, J. D. Crawford.

"Never before has the upstream watershed protection and flood prevention programs in Texas been tested so extensively and thoroughly, and never before has proof of adequacy been so evident," says H. N. Smith, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, in commenting on the torrential April rains.

Smith went on to point out that extremely heavy rains fell over large areas of the state, April 17-28. Rainfall ranged from eight inches near Dublin to more than 25 inches in the Marshall - Gladewater area.

Heavy flood damage occurred in agricultural and urban areas alike. Damages to roads, bridges and utilities ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars. The Texas State Highway Department reported damages to highways totaled almost one million dollars. More than a dozen Texas counties were declared disaster areas because of flood damage. Total damage estimates, still incomplete, range upward of $15,000,000.

Only minor flooding was noted on watersheds where upstream watershed protection and flood prevention programs were substantially completed. All of the approximately 1,100 completed floodwater retarding dams in Texas caught and held some floodwater.

About 820 completed dams are located in North Central and Northeast Texas where rains were heaviest. It is estimated these structures held back over 600,000 acre - feet of floodwater and released it downstream over a period of several days. The holding back of this much water in watersheds on which the dams are located prevented damages being several times heavier than they actually were to crops, livestock, fences, roads, bridges, and urban areas.

An outstanding example of the benefits of a completely installed watershed protection program was on Cow Bayou which runs through McLennan and Falls counties. This project, in addition to land treatment, includes 29 floodwater retarding dams and 11 critical sediment areas. All measures in the watershed are completed. No flooding and no damages occurred. Without the program on this watershed it is estimated damages would have totaled $104,000 during April alone.

Even partially completed watershed construction on the Tehuacana Creek watershed east of Waco was effective. The work plan calls for 30 floodwater retarding dams and about 12 miles of stream channel improvement. Thirteen dams have been completed; no channel work has been done. During the heaviest

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

A great Texan passed to his last reward in Austin, Texas last week. DAN MOODY, 72, a four-year governor, was a prince among men and a politician and statesman without peer. Elected to serve his native state at the age of 33, GOV. MOODY was responsible for much of the finer things we enjoy today. He was the father of Texas' good highway system. MOODY was born in Taylor, Texas and at the age of only two financial reverses brought his family hardship. DAN got a job in a coffee roasting plant when just a lad. He drove a grocery delivery wagon. He served as an electrician and worked in a department store as cashier. MOODY got $4,000 annually as governor as compared to the $25,000 JOHN CONNALLY now makes. DAN MOODY retired after two terms as governor, declaring "I'm going to try and make some money to support my family practicing law." He didn't continue in politics because he knew honest men couldn't make a living running for office all the time. A politician needs to do something in life except wear out the hall of our state and national houses. The more I see of this long tenure in office business the sicker I get of it. Seniority is a plan or should we say a plot, conceived and coined in the mind of a politician to keep his mouth at the public feed trough for time evermore.

LP

WITH most politics over and out of the way for 1966 we note the following: (1) GOV. CONNALLY wants his salary increased from $25,000 annually to $40,000. (2) LT. GOV. SMITH says the next Legislature is going to have to find ways of raising more money to support programs sponsored by the state. (3) The monthly oil allowance has been reduced. How much more can the middle man stand in taxes? Oh yes, the House passed a bill raising the minimum hourly wage from $1.25 to $1.60 and the Senate is expected to concur. It's time some of those Senators and Congressmen came back to the cotton country and tried operating a business in a small town, a country printing plant for instance, and see how in the world you can do it without increasing costs of merchandise on the local level to a prohibitive price. This could be what the bigwigs in Washington want. Put the little people out of business so their dictatorial aims could go unchallenged. The voice of the small press is the only thing keeping the would-be conquering dictators from going hog-wild. The NBC is already run lock, stock, and barrel by the news planners. The entire country is undergoing an airwave brainwashing that is even creeping into the tv soap operas. Some of the western programs are beamed at the co-mingling of the races. The other day a colored cowboy shot a "crooked" screen sheriff. No doubt his defense was based on "police brutality."

JOE RUSSELL stopped us downtown Tuesday and we had a dialogue. JOE says Stanton needs industry—some kind of good industry. We agreed. JOE says his boss, HORACE BLOCKER, president of the C. of C. has a project or two in mind. Some opposition might develop to any proposed measure of progress. We'll wait and see what happens. In the meantime, JOE RUSSELL is dead right about one thing—Stanton can stand something and the town needs it now. Unless we get replacements in the ranks of citizenship to replace the many who have left the community in recent months it's going to be hard to get election judges and clerks enough to hold an election, much less to get a voter turnout.

CRAWFORD MARTIN, candidate for attorney general, reports the top expense account again. His opponent in the run-off, FRANKLIN SPEARS spent about one-fifth as much as CRAWFORD did in the run-off the required reports showed. CRAWFORD, has the apparent support of JOHN CONNALLY. SPEARS, we heard at press time Wednesday, will get the vote of LYNDON JOHNSON. There is no doubt to doubt the rumor—LBJ is not about to be too prominently identified with a conservative candidate in the race. SPEARS could get his vote. Certainly, SPEARS will get the vote of U. S. SENATOR RALPH YARBOROUGH. SPEARS could win this election going away. Watch it. We might say that the contest could be called a fight between the labor crowd and the establishment. The qualified conservative, GALLOWAY CALHOUN lost out in the primary between the "Goldust Twins," MARTIN and SPEARS.

OUR friend G. TUNNELL brought us a loaf of home-style enriched bread from the Fredericksburg bakery this week. MR. TUNNELL has many relatives and friends in the friendly country around Fredericksburg, Johnson City, and Hye. We always think of that great section of Texas as a kind of home-away-from-home of the fine and thrifty German immigrants who settled the country. It's their country first and always. The political tag placed there recently by those (we know the type) who would have America think of this great Texas region of loyal Texans as "LBJ TEXANS" is as dumb as that brigade of truth-twisters who fled the Holy land when JESUS CHRIST died on the Cross.

The Oregon Department of Motor Vehicles has released statistics which show that 63 per cent of the 70 motorists who failed to produce driver's licenses when stopped at New Year's Eve roadblocks had no legal right to drive. Twenty-eight and six tenths per cent of the drivers had no driver's license: 17 per cent were driving while suspended: 10 per cent had no Oregon driver's license, but had a record on file as a result of previous accidents or violations; and 7 per cent had allowed their licenses to expire. The remaining 37 per cent (26 drivers) had valid licenses, but did not have them in their possession when stopped.

Planning For Emergencies

Recent severe spring storms, floods and tornadoes remind Texans that being prepared for any emergency is important, says Miss Sherilyn Bailey, extension rural civil defense specialist at Texas A&M University.

Preparedness can save many lives, especially if some family members are away from home at the time of the emergency. Discuss emergency planning as a family, suggests Miss Bailey. Identify all possible emergencies encountered by the family, and prepare for them.

Next, discuss each individual emergency and its effects in terms of where you live and where family members go to school or to work. Consider all possible situations, such as a tornado while at work or a severe windstorm while at school, or a flood while traveling.

After discussing all possible emergencies and situations, compare them in terms of necessary preparedness. Make a written list of the preparedness steps necessary to meet all emergency situations and Post the emergency preparedness steps agreed upon in a prominent place to remind family members of their responsibilities. Also determine how and who will maintain your family's preparedness, such as rotating food supplies and keeping emergency cooking equipment in good condition.

Follow these few emergency preparedness steps and you'll not only protect your family during an emergency, but also reduce anxiety due to a lack of preparedness, concludes the specialist.

13 West Texas Counties Dray 'No Pit' Orders

The Texas Railroad Commission has set deadlines for oil and gas operators in 13 West Texas counties to fill surface pits used to collect salt water and other waste material.

The counties over the vast Ogallala formation, which provides fresh water to numerous communities in the area.

A Sept. 1 compliance deadline was set for operators in Hemphill and Swisher counties and a May 1, 1967, deadline for Bailey, Cochran, Dawson, Gaines, Hale, Hockley, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Andrews and Martin counties.

In certain cases, the commission said, pits lined with impervious material would be accepted. Operators who fail to comply with the order by the deadlines face severance of their pipeline connections.

The commission said it found that salt water pits were seeping into the underground water formation.

The Texas Water Pollution Control Board held lengthy hearings and issued several no-pit orders affecting the Ogallala before a district judge ruled that the commission had sole jurisdiction over such matters.

NMMI Observes Seventy Third Commencement

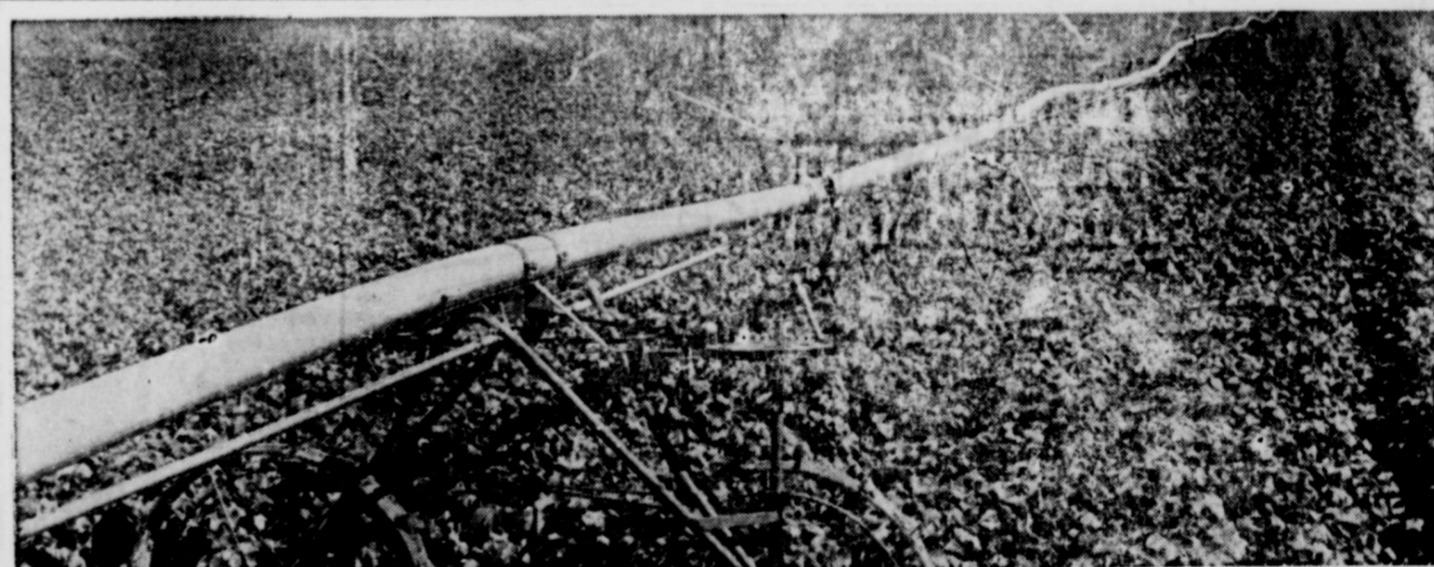

The New Mexico Military Institute observed its Seventy-third Annual Commencement May 27 through May 29. The commencement period was crowded with three days of festivities and ceremonies for its junior college and high school graduates and students and visiting parents, alumni, and friends.

Highlights of the annual occasion were a reception by the Superintendent, Major General Sam W. Agee, U. S. Air Force (Retired) and Mrs. Agee, a military awards ceremony, a military athletic jambolaya, a baccalaureate service, a final review and parade, an alumni meeting and luncheon, a colorful final ball, a father and son golf tournament, a polo game, and a graduation ceremony in which Associate in Arts Degrees were conferred on junior college graduates.

All activities were terminated with the playing of "Auld Lang Syne" and dismissal by the Commandant of Cadets, Col. Curry N. Vaughn, U. S. Army (Retired).

Rabies Shots For Pets Recommended By Vets

In order to better understand the disease we know as rabies it is important to correct some of the more common misconceptions, according to Dr. V. H. Driscoll of Wharton, a practitioner in that area of the state and a member of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association Public Information Committee. Few diseases have been recognized for a longer period of time nor have been more misunderstood than rabies.

"This is not a disease confined to our canine population but includes other domestic pets and all warm blooded animals as well. This disease is not, as is the common belief, a seasonal problem. In fact the disease in Texas occurs more frequently in the winter and spring than in the summer and fall. Symptoms of the disease are not always expressed in violent and vicious actions. Indeed a change from the animals normal behavioral pattern is sometimes the first observed symptoms.

Since rabies is a disease of the central nervous system it is commonly confused with many other conditions. Definite diagnosis is usually impossible until pathological studies are made of the brain tissues. The appearance of inclusion bodies that enable diagnosis to be rendered does not occur until the disease has run its course and the victim is near death. This makes it imperative that the animal not be destroyed but rather confined safely until the disease terminates in death.

Which raises the question of how the animal should be confined. Even though the animal does not appear to be strong or vicious, if it is suspected of having rabies the place of confinement should provide the maximum protection for the individuals that may be exposed and adequate facilities to prevent escape of the animal.

The seriousness of this disease makes prevention imperative. This can be at least in part accomplished by the an-

As and aftermath of the power blackout in the northeastern U. S., the Monongahela News says: "Consolidated Edison still is sweating out the problem of finding a power plant location acceptable to everyone. In their fight with the conservationists and nature lovers who have blocked, at least temporarily, Con Ed's proposal for a pumped storage project at Cornwall, on the Hudson, the company recently got a bit of support from Robert Moses, chairman of the New York City Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority. Moses said that turning the control of the city's water and power supplies over to 'bird watchers' is the wrong solution."

GET BETTER WATER DISTRIBUTION AND CONSERVATION

Knight's Tri-Matic Sprinkler Irrigation System was designed to put the desired amount of water on your acreage with the least amount of labor, and with a minimum time involved in moving from one location to another. It will apply 3 1/2" to 4" of water to 160 acres in a period of ten days, yet it requires only one man a short time to move the entire system from one location to another. The well "shut down" time is reduced considerably. The Tri-Matic propels itself forward, backward or endways and may be pulled endways by a tractor to a location several miles away.

Let us show you how Knight's Tri-Matic System can help you solve your irrigation problems.
