TOM ED ANGEL met me in the alley down by ALSUP-NOWLIN MOTOR the past Saturday morning and we got to passing a few remarks concerning some of our problems. TOM didn't seem to have any to speak of and when I related two or three of mine he volunteered to come up and fix a window air-conditioner I have had worked on already about four times this year. He found the trouble quickly and remedied it and wouldn't charge a thing. Then to show the kind of gentlemen he is he told me the kind of trouble he found with the window fan was not the fault of those repair fellows who had been on the job before — just a stoppage in the spray lines.

Martin County apparently escaped any serious automobile accidents over the Fourth. No reports were given to the local press concerning traffic mishaps and no crimes of major violence were reported. All in all, with the exception of the shooting of some fireworks occasionally, it was a quiet three-day holiday period here for which we are all very grateful. Speaking of fireworks — it is a violation of law to shoot them — any size — in the city limits. Officers were in a tolerant mood about the firecracker shooting on the Fourth but don't try to explode them anymore during the year unless you get outside of town to celebrate.

Several reports of attempted house breaking have been reported in Martin County lately. Up until Wednesday morning the would-be burglars remained elusive. City officer DUB WEATHERFORD made an arrest on the attempt charge and lodged the suspect in jail after he was charged. The other day, in broad daylight, a television set and other merchandise was removed from the STANLEY REID residence just north of the city. So far the property has not been recovered. Other reports of attempted breaking and entering have been conveyed to the newspaper, both in daytime and at night. Be sure and lock your house when you leave it. Fasten the windows too. Notify your neighbors if you plan to be away from home long and tell the police if you are leaving town on a vacation so they can add extra patrol protection to your place while you are away.

Milk prices in Stanton are in keeping with those being charged in other Texas towns and cities. The price increase was definitely not the fault of the retailers. The price hike resulted from a federal marketing order. So, once again, we must realize that cost of living under the Great Society continues to climb.

Those who have been privileged to live in Stanton for the past 20 years are looking forward to the Old Settlers Reunion which will be held here Monday and Tuesday, July 11 and 12. Natives are especially proud of their heritage in this splendid West Texas county named for the great Texas pioneer WYLIE MARTIN. We know the reunion session is going to be another successful event and we are looking forward to covering the celebration as a newsmen.

MRS. LOIS POWELL brought us a specimen of a granddaddy-type mosquito one day recently. The bug measured three-eighths of an inch. Yes, that is the truth. The insect was killed in the city limits and MRS. POWELL bottled the creature and brought it by our office. The spraying campaign developed by the city has been beneficial and we must all apply mosquito kill-

Heat Holds Tight Grip On Martin

Heat took a tight grip on Martin County Sunday and held on hard through today with no big relief from the sun's hot rays in sight.

Tuesday's high reading in Stanton measured 102 degrees and Monday posted an even 100. It was 93 degrees in Stanton at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon.

The mercury sank to 69 degrees early Wednesday morning.

Thunderstorms fell in scattered sections of West Texas but evaded Martin County on Tuesday.

July 4th temperatures in El Paso and Wichita Falls climbed to 102.

The hot weather slowed the business pace some in Martin County as residents sought refuge from the blistering hot rays of the sun. Several cars stalled due to faulty radiators or bad motor circulation in the Stanton vicinity Monday and Tuesday.

Bryan Speaks To Rotarians Here Wednesday

The Stanton Rotary Club met Wednesday, June 29, at the Belvue Motel, with president Dr. Jack Woodrow presiding. The invocation was given by Rev. Victor Ortiz, with music directed by Doyle Corder. Guests included: Bill Ray of Abilene.

O. B. Bryan was introduced by program chairman, Woodford Sale. He spoke concerning the future developments of the Cap Rock Electric Coop.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by G. B. Shelburne, Sr.

Texas Records 52 Holiday Death Toll

The nation set a new July Fourth death record through traffic and other accidents and Texas contributed 52 fatalities to the total.

It was a record death toll for any July 4 holiday period and exceeded the long four-day period recorded in 1963. Traffic accidents across the nation killed 657 persons. At least 41 deaths were reported in Texas traffic with three persons dead from boating mishaps and eight drownings were announced.

Traffic killed 567 on national highways and there were 215 drownings, almost double last year's 114 during a similar 78-hour weekend period. Boating accidents accounted for another 52 deaths. That made a total 834 accidental deaths reported over the holidays.

Multi-death highway accidents were a factor in the heavy traffic death toll. Four persons were killed in a crash near Sterling City, five died Saturday night near El Campo, while three-fatality accidents occurred Sunday near Irving and Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shanks and Tommy, and Mrs. R. P. Odum and Bobby, have returned from an extended trip which included Washington, D. C., New York City, all of the New England states, Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, where they visited with Harold Bratley and family at Lindstrom.

Welcome Old Settlers

It is that time of year again to prepare a cordial welcome for our returning Old Settlers to Martin County on July 11-12 for their annual reunion.

For thirty-three years, editors of this publication, the Old Reliable Stanton Reporter, have helped roll out the royal red carpet for those distinguished sons and daughters born and reared in the county named for Wylie Martin, Texas patriot.

The illustrious history of this county and its people, have been preserved through the years in the columns of the county newspaper. The Old Settlers Reunion Association is responsible for the annual celebration.

Reunions to the individuals who attend mean going back through the years and lingering long in the lane of memories. Stories, legends and events of another generation, are relived. Fellowship and friendship is rekindled and for a few hours happiness and goodwill cloaks the community.

Welcome home sons and daughters of Martin County for your thirty-third reunion!

WTCC District Directors Set Meet In City Monday

A West Texas Chamber of Commerce District VI Directors' Action Forum will be held here July 11, Cecil Bridges, Stanton's WTCC director, announced today.

The forum is scheduled at noon in the Bellvue Restaurant.

Results of WTCC's nine Brainstorming Session held last month will be reviewed at the session. Plans also will be made for WTCC membership report meetings to be held in all cities of the district, including Big Spring, Coahoma, Lamesa, Andrews, Seminole, Seagraves, Kermit, Wink, Odessa and Midland.

Representatives of news media are invited to attend the Stanton meeting.

John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, WTCC president; Jack Springer of Abilene, executive vice president, and Bill Collins, Midland, vice president, will attend the session here.

Russell McMeans Elected Stanton School Chieftan

Stanton Independent School District trustees voted unanimously Thursday night in a special meeting to hire Russell McMeans, San Angelo native and Sul Ross College graduate, as the new superintendent of schools.

McMeans will assume duties here on July 17, replacing Beryl D. Clinton, who resigned to take a position as dean of Clarendon Junior College.

The 36-year-old McMeans was graduated from Lakeview High School in San Angelo and obtained both a BS and MB degree from Sul Ross State College in Alpine.

After graduating from Lake View, McMeans attended San Angelo Junior College for two years and played tackle on the football team coached by Max Bumgardner. While attending San Angelo College, the new Stanton superintendent met and married the former Georgia Eaves.

McMeans served two years in the Army and enrolled at Sul Ross College, where he also played football under Coach Al Milch. He was captain of the team and named a little all-American in his senior year at Sul Ross. He

Man Arrested For Attempted House Breaking

A 19-year-old Midland man was arrested for attempted house breaking in Stanton about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday morning.

City patrolman Dub Weatherford made the arrest after having received a call concerning the attempted breaking at the residence of Juil Reid on West Broadway in the city.

Weatherford said the suspect was taken before a judge, charged and held in jail pending the making of a $2,500 bond.

The city patrolman said he made the arrest strictly on a hunch after questioning two occupants of an automobile parked in the driveway on the courthouse property. They notified Weatherford at that time that they were waiting to see Sheriff Dan Saunders.

The night patrolman later encountered them in another part of town and made the arrest when he became suspicious following a phone call he made to Sheriff Saunders at his home.

Milk Prices Increased Over Texas

Higher price levels for raw milk set by the Federal Marketing Administration has caused milk prices to rise all over the state.

Houston was the last big city to announce the price increases.

Producers over the state raised wholesale prices in accordance with a federal price support order.

Milk prices are now practically uniform in West Texas as with retailers doing the very best they can to keep prices as low as profitably possible. Retailers were not responsible for the raise in prices. They preferred to favor their consumers as far as possible with low prices.

The producers said the in-

Shanks Winner Santa Fe RR Scholarship

Buddy Shanks has been selected as the winner of the State Santa Fe Railroad scholarship award for area 2, in the FFA Awards program. The award is based on outstanding leadership ability exhibited at the recent area 2, FFA convention held at Ft. Stockton, June 1. The award includes an expense paid trip to the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Missouri, in October.

The winner was not announced until a meeting of the selection committee, which met in Austin.

Buddy is on a tour of Europe at the present time, and did not know of the award before leaving. Danny Fryar of the Stanton chapter, will accept the award for Buddy at the State FFA Convention in Austin on July 14.

Other Stanton boys attending the state convention July 13 through July 15, will include Bill Wilson and Bobby Hamm. The local vocational agriculture teacher, Nolan Parker, has been selected as one of the judges for state FFA Public Speaking Contest. The state winner will represent Texas in the National Public Speaking Contest to be held in Kansas City, Missouri, in October at the National FFA Convention.

Henry Graves Promoted To Staff Sergeant

Henry Graves, son of Mrs. Fannie Graves, has been promoted to staff sergeant of his unit, 55th Transportation Co., Medium Truck Petroleum, located at Toul, France. Sgt. Graves has been in France since January 13, 1966. Prior to his position now he served 16 months in Korea. Prior to re-entering the U. S. Army in January, 1963, he served in the Panama Canal Zone for 32 months.

The promotion also provides a new job title, which is "Motor Sergeant." Sgt. Graves is to see that numerous five ton trucks are kept on the road to provide the Army posts in the area as well as government housing areas with fuel for heating and petroleum for all government vehicles.

Mrs. Graves has recently gone to France to be with her husband on the three year assignment.

Parade To Highlight Big Event

Members of the Old Settler Reunion executive family announced at press time today that everything is ship-shape and ready for the 33rd observance of the Martin County Old Settlers meeting to be held in the city on Monday and Tuesday, July 11 and 12.

Monday will be given over to registration and old-fashioned hospitality. Tuesday will be the big day and the town will be ready to host the local and returning natives in a gracious manner.

W-Tex Growth Potentials To Be Aired

Cecil Bridges, director of West Texas Chamber of Commerce announced today that the members of that organization in Stanton will preview Growth Potentials of West Texas at a meeting on July 11, at 12:00 noon at Belvue Motel Restaurant.

These potentials were developed by experts in all fields vital to West Texas during 9 recent brainstorming sessions. The Growth Potentials developed include; water; tourism; industrialization; education; petroleum and chemicals; agriculture and ranching; and public affairs.

"Moving West Texas Forward is the objective of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and we need the help of Stanton leaders to accomplish this goal," said Bridges.

Urban Renewal Money Fosters Wink Romance

By COPE ROUTH
Midland Reporter-Telegram
Writer

A five-year love affair with federal urban renewal has brought remarkable changes to this former rip-roaring, hard-drinking West Texas oil boom town.

Before urban renewal came along with millions of dollars jingling in its fancy jeans, Wink didn't have much lust for life.

Her main street was lined with crumbling, false-fronted buildings, her residential area was dotted with empty and rotting houses and her dusty streets rambled off in haphazard directions.

Then along came urban renewal handsome with a promised initial federal loan of more than $1 million and the enticing lure of more money later.

Big Change

It was love at first sight, and look at Wink today blushing with a new interest in life and optimism for the future.

Her main street is lined with vacant lots and empty off-street parking facilities, her residential area is dotted with empty but cleared vacant lots and her streets come together with tidy precision.

Banker Melvin Dow, who as publisher of the Wink Bulletin once had been an acid-penned critic of all these fancy goings-ons, seems to have mellowed during the romance. He said recently: "The property they bought up hasn't moved very fast, but still Wink hasn't been hurt by urban renewal."

As you would expect of any girl whose romance had been exposed to the world, Wink is skittish about visiting newspaper and magazine reporters. Wink has been leery of strang-

Registration headquarters will be set up downtown in one of the vacant buildings on St. Peter Street. A sign will be appropriately posted to indicate reunion registration headquarters.

On Monday evening at 7:30 a special gathering will be held at Cap Rock Auditorium where films of the old-timers past reunion activities will be shown. This should be an interesting feature of the two-day celebration.

Mrs. Morgan Hall advised the newspaper at press time that those planning to attend the showing of reunion films at Cap Rock Monday evening are invited to bring their films to be shown too. She said lots of different type projectors would be available for the showing of home movies.

On Tuesday morning most of the crowd will gather in downtown Stanton, shaking hands with old friends, meeting some of the new residents ers from the start.

It wasn't so bad when she had an election to pass a minimum housing standards ordinance — a pre-requisite to entering the federal program under state law.

And nobody paid much attention when an application was filed with the federal government for a 10-an and a grant to help pay back the loan — some people even thought it was a joke.

Approved

But then came the announcement: An application had been approved in the amount of $1,034,758 for a sun-baked little town in Texas called Wink.

Across the nation, editors checked their almanacs to see what Wink was — and then they checked again. Wink was a town of 1,863, the way the census people figured it in their 1960 count.

Reporters descended on bewildered little Wink. They came from metropolitan newspapers and national magazines.

They wrote unkind things — even bent a few facts now and then — and the nation laughed and kidded about this government program which wanted to help Wink.

The people didn't like the jokes, and probably neither did the urban renewal people, but they were not deterred. They proceeded under a master plan drawn up by Midland, Texas architects.

Some properties were acquired by negotiation and some by condemnation.

Seventy-six families were moved out, some into a quickly-built low-rent housing project, a part of the program. Some of the merchants mov-

Baptist Preacher Urges Integration

A Florida Baptist minister told pastors and seminary students in Fort Worth there is no place for the church of the future which shuts out the Negro.

Dr. C. A. Roberts of Tallahassee urged Baptist to become "personally involved in witnessing to those of all races—99 per cent of the races is not enough."

Dr. Roberts, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tallahassee, addressed the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Pastors' Conference.

Reporting that his own church is not doing the job at present, he said:

"We have an international student day every year and make much of the fact that we welcome many races of the world when in fact the only race not welcome is the predominant race at our doorsteps (Negro)."

Baptists, he continued, must not assume that just because a man has a denominational tag that his needs are met.

"We need to underplay the party line and realize that our primary obligation is to introduce people to Jesus Christ and not to make Baptists of them," he said.

"We must not make people accept a package deal as a requirement for our witnessing."

To become a church of the future, he added Baptists must also witness "to the whole man" and realize the worth of the social revolution which is aimed at filling man's

FORT STOCKTON PIONEER: "A $78,000 contract for partial restoration of historic buildings at Fort Davis Historic Site has been awarded by the Department of Interior to Cope-Brown Lumber Company of Fort Stockton. The Pioneer was advised of the award by Senator John G. Tower, and the successful firm had been notified earlier by Congressman Richard White."

THE MITCHELL COUNTY NEWS: "Elderly people who live in the Loraine area and depend upon the Johnson Hospital for medical care, can be assured now that if they are eligible for Medicare the local hospital will be able to take care of their needs under the bill. The hospital received approval Friday to operate under the Medicare Program."

A consumer survey by the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association showed that while most people think prescription drugs cost too much, 82 per cent of those interviewed said their last prescription did a good job and 70 per cent said it was worth the cost.

Commenting on a possible tax increase, Representative William Widnall (R.-N. J.) said, "A tax increase, by itself, will not cut down on the demand for a limited supply of goods and services which is presently causing inflation. If the tax money is spent by the government, the only change will be that the government will decide what to buy and not the individual wage earner, who will still be faced with rising prices and even less income to spend. We need to cut back on government spending by setting program priorities."

Bible Comment—

Paul Spent Months In Corinth Helping Church

Athens and Corinth were the two outstanding cities of ancient Greece. Athens had a background of a long history of culture and in Paul's day it was the university city of the Roman world. Corinth, which aspired to rival Athens, was the city of commerce. It was noted more for the luxurious living of its inhabitants rather than for its culture.

It was in Corinth that Paul spent one of his longest visits. It lasted 18 months and was his first to the city.

Apparently the church at Corinth was composed mostly of Gentile converts, although there adhered to the Christian way a few noted Jews. There was Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, and Aquila and Priscilla with whom Paul lived and worked.

As the Corinthian Church grew in numbers and dissensions appeared, Paul found it necessary to rebuke those who were fostering the feelings of division. Some of the finest chapters in his Epistles deal with the nature of Christian unity.

Some of the worst troubles came about when an eloquent teacher named Apollos came to Corinth some time after Paul had left for other parts. Partisans foolishly made a certain rivalry seem to grow between the two men. Some people said, "I am of Apollos." Others claimed "I am of Paul."

Paul rebuked this thoughtless partisanship vigorously. "Is Christ divided," he asked. "Was Paul crucified for you?" He wanted no glory for himself but he was stirred by these unchristianlike divisions as much as he would be by the unchristian like divisions of today.

It is not enough to name the name of Christ, or to profess fellowship in His name. If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His. "This description applies as much to churches as it does to individuals."

Philosopher Can't Understand Why Some People in U. S. Want Faster Mail Service

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw defends the mail system, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editor:

According to three different articles I've read in three different newspapers I've found out here in the past week, a lot of people, especially in cities, are complaining about the mail service. They say it's too slow.

According to one article, a man living on one side of New York sent a letter to a friend on the other side. At the same time another man in Australia sent the same friend a letter, and he got them both on the same day. One crossed the ocean while the other was crossing New York. Some Congressman up there even got on a horse and proved pony express was faster than the regular system.

Another article claimed mail service in London is three times as fast as it is in big cities over here, said you could mail a letter there in the morning and be delivered before noon.

Of course there are reasons for such things. Take London. London is a very old city and the postmaster probably knows everybody in town. No trick to that. Postmaster Bill Morrow probably could beat London, if it ever became necessary, although I figure if anybody in Stanton needs to communicate with somebody else in town that fast, he could phone or walk across the street.

Personally, I have never been too concerned over how fast I got my mail. Half the letters could never have reached me at all and I'd probably been better off. Anybody who can't wait till the 1st to get a bill can always go in ahead of time and pay it in the middle of the month.

Furthermore, I don't know of a thing I need to tell anybody now that day after tomorrow wouldn't do just as well, even if he never heard it he'd probably be just as well off, and I don't know anybody who has any information for me that I'd be any less confused by getting two days late. I've never understood all this craze for speed.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The Internal Revenue Service is probably the most efficient collection agency in the world. They collect more than 115 billion dollars each year for less than one-half cents per dollar cost. They have a well trained group of employees who work hard to do a good job. However, they get a lot of help from the American taxpayer. Our nations' taxpayers pay 97 per cent of their tax bills through taxes withheld or voluntary compliance. Only three per cent of our taxes are collected through the enforcement efforts of the Internal Revenue people. The voluntary compliance record of the American people is one of which we can all be proud. No other country can equal this record.

Cotton planted at Texas A&M University with a precision planter on flat, pre-shaped beds is over a foot high now. Adjacent cotton, planted on regular beds with a conventional planter is only about 6 to 8 inches high.

According to Lambert Wilkes, agricultural engineer at A&M, the test is part of a project to determine how much better precision planting is than conventional planting.

Wilkes designed the bed shaper and precision planter. The planter has a furrow opener that slices into the soil and leaves at neat, clean seed trench. He says that bed shaper and planter last year boosted yields some 13 percent.

This year, cotton planted by the conventional method took 14 days to reach a complete stand. That planted on the flat beds had a complete stand in only six days.

Now, says Wilkes, there are three plants per row-foot in the precision planted cotton compared to one plant per row-foot in the conventionally planted cotton.

Wilkes says that flat beds catch more sun and have a higher temperature — accounting for the faster germination and stand. He says with the precision planter there is minimum soil disturbance, resulting in a good soil-to-seed relationship.

This means healthier plants — less susceptible to seedling disease and other rigors. Also, the flat beds and precision planting conserve moisture.

Outdoor-minded Texans, suddenly become masters of scratching every year at this time. The activity is not a planned summer pastime. It's simply an on-the-spot reaction to the bites of redbugs or chiggers.

Texas A&M University entomologists receive many letters and phone calls requesting information on the little tormentors, what they are exactly and how to avoid their attacks.

Phil Hamman, assistant extension entomologist, says redbugs are a type of mite that cause intense itching and small, reddish welts on the skin. The young or larval forms are the trouble makers. They are parasitic to man and animals, about 1/150 of an inch in diameter, and are orange-yellow to light red.

Anyone who has been on a chigger's menu doesn't need to be told about their feeding sites. This becomes obvious after a few hours. But the main places are those parts of the body where clothing fits tightly over the skin or where the flesh is thin, tender or wrinkled, Hamman says.

The result is reddish welts, swelling and the sharpest kind of itching that makes the victim go through all sorts of contortions to get at the bite.

One way to keep your food dollar from shrinking is to use all the food you buy. Throwing food away because it's spoiled, dried, or wilted does about the same thing to the food budget as tearing up dollar bills.

The extent of food spoilage and quality loss depends directly upon the quality of the food purchased and the way it's stored, says Miss Frances Reasonover, extension foods specialist at Texas A&M University.

She suggests that you can get a dollar's worth of food value for each dollar spent by following these pointers:

Temperature, light and air are the three important factors to consider when storing any foods. In general, low storage temperatures mean better flavor, texture, and nutritional value — even for canned foods.

Between the temperatures of 50 and 120 degrees Fahrenheit, bacteria will grow very rapidly in meat, milk products, poultry and egg dishes. If these foods stand at such temperatures for only four hours, they may develop dangerous toxins or bacteria that cause common food poisoning.

Don't let cooked foods stand on the kitchen table after a meal — refrigerate immediately. Use left-over meat within a week after refrigeration. Use foods cooked in gravy even sooner.

Store milk and milk products in covered containers in a clean, cold place. Milk should be the first thing back in the refrigerator after a meal because bacteria grow rapidly in milk at room temperatures.

Sort, wash and drain most fruits and vegetables and refrigerate as soon as drained. Berries are the exception. Store in the refrigerator without washing.

Livingston, N. M., Daily Leader: "Did you know there's a limit to how much the federal government can go into debt? Really, there are three limits. One is the legal limit. Congress decides that. The second might be called 'the sky' because it's up there somewhere out of the sight of all. The third limit is the economic limit, which, unfortunately, no one can know we have reached until it is too late."

TSGR Group Opposing Proposed Law

Quick action by individual ranchmen and farmers is imperative if agriculture is not to be included under the Wage and Hour Laws, declared G. C. Magruder, Jr., of Merzon, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association.

Inclusion of farm and ranch labor was recently voted by the House and now is being considered by a Senate subcommittee headed by Senator Ralph Yarborough of Texas. As late as Thursday, the subcommittee defeated by a vote of only five to three an attempt to set the minimum wage for agriculture at $1.60 per hour instead of the $1.00 voted by the House. Also defeated was an attempt to include any farm or ranch which hires more than 300 man-days of labor per quarter. The House version set the minimum at 500 man-days. The two new proposals were presented by Senators Robert F. Kennedy, New York, and Harrison A. Williams, Jr., New Jersey.

"Our association and others are working desperately to keep agriculture out," said Magruder. "But it is a very difficult fight. The tide is running against us. It is imperative that ranchmen and farmers individually send letters and telegrams to their Senators, urging that they support an amendment to the minimum wage bill to exclude all agriculture and certainly those employees on an operation devoted principally to production or feeding of livestock."

"This is a seasonal type of work which cannot always follow a clock or a calendar," Magruder declared. "Lambs, kids and calves are not born on an eight-hour day, and storms do not always occur only between eight and five."

He said a current interpretation is that even contract labor such as sheep shearers, fence builders and pear crews will be counted against the 500 man-days.

A 50-Years Tale Of Ike And Mamie

Ike and Mamie Eisenhower, looking back over 50 years of married life, have decided "these last years" are the happiest.

For former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, it's because he has more time for such things as exploring supermarkets or painting "anything that intrigues me."

For his wife, the former Mamie Geneva Doud, it's because she has a home of her own for the first time since she married a young Army lieutenant in the parlor of her mother's red brick house in Denver July 1, 1916.

In a rare joint interview, the famous couple reviewed their lives together — the moments of great tragedy, like "the death of our first son," and the great moment "when I was inaugurated as president."

Eisenhower said he didn't want anyone to think he was "a downtrodden slave" in the White House. He considered the eight years — the longest they ever lived in one place — "a very thrilling, very exciting, very humbling experience."

He called the White House "a sort of hotel," roomy and nice but a place the New York tax department didn't even consider his official residence. While there, he said, he had to pay New York taxes on his presidential salary until he finally took up residence in Gettysburg in 1955.

At the interview they had gaiety about them — Ike at

GI Bill Aids Vets On Civil Service Tests

While most of the interest shown in the so-called new GI Bills of Rights has been concerned with educational benefits, there are certain little-noted provisions that give the 4-million veterans affected under the new law certain civil service job preferences.

They get five points added to their scores in civil service tests and 10 points if they were disabled or were awarded the Purple Heart, according to Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco.

In addition to the actual 5 or 10 points being added to the civil service test score, those veterans who have served since January, 1956, thus become eligible for veterans preference in job selection. Prior to the enactment of the new GI Bill, veterans who served since 1955 did not receive veterans job preference even though they rated high on the tests, Coker said.

Nitrogen, which forms four-fifths of the air we breathe, becomes poisonous when breathed at great pressures.

Nearly 275,000 pedestrians were injured and 9,000 were killed during 1965 in the United States. This includes 300 persons who were injured while actually standing on a traffic safety isle.

Random Lake, Wis., Times: "Lots of students and young professors today are complaining, or rather just bellyaching, about how things are being run, how badly the world is treating them. We wish we could just take them back to the 1930's and turn them loose. Where there were no jobless payments, benefits of any kind. Where if you wanted to eat you worked . . . and where the boss was boss, not the administrator of the demands of organized labor."

The Canadian Wildlife Service advised the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department by telephone that the 1966 hatch of Whooping Cranes is well underway in the far north.

W. E. Stevens, regional superintendent stationed at Edmonton, Alberta, said aerial surveys already have spotted three young cranes. He added that earlier observations located five Whooper nests. Eight young accompanied the majestic cranes southward last fall.

Stevens said checking out the new arrivals is extremely difficult. The routine has to be done by aircraft and the young Whoopers fluffy camouflage is practically perfect.

He said they have a sandy brown color, with a dark red tinge, that blends perfectly into the vegetation and the muddy areas where they feed.

The Canadian official said the young birds seldom are seen for any length of time around the nesting areas since the parents move them away just as soon as they are able to travel.

The first survey of the Sass River breeding grounds in Wood Buffalo Park, Northwest Territory, was made by a biologist stationed at Fort Smith. He found five nests in the same general area as during past years. Two eggs were found in each of four nests but an adult bird was setting on the fifth nest.

On the June 15 survey one pair and two young were seen along with a second pair with one young. Another pair observed had no young.

Possible trace of the odd ball Whooping Crane loner that winters on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, but arrives late and leaves late, was reported by Pilot Ernie Kutty. He said a wandering bird had been spotted May 10 about one and one-quarter miles south of the Sass River nesting site.

Wildlife authorities join countless bird watchers in following the ups and downs of the majestic cranes. The spring total of 44 was the highest in more than a decade.

Our forefathers ran their farms with less machinery than we now use to keep up a lawn.

Robstown Church Setting Of Tech Students' Wedding

Elizabeth Ann Wagner of Corpus Christi and Fred Wayne Houston of Stanton, were married in a nuptial mass at 7 p.m. Saturday in Saint John's Catholic Church in Robstown.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wagner of Corpus Christi are the parents of the bride, who attended Del Mar College and now is a student at Texas Technological College. She is a member of the Women's Service Organization, American Institute of Interior Designers and American Home Economics Association.

The bridegroom, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Houston of Stanton, attended Howard County Junior College and West Texas State University. He now is a candidate for a bachelor of science degree from Tech in May, 1967. He also is engaged in farming and ranching interests near Stanton.

Mexico Honeymoon Following a wedding trip to Monterrey, Guadalajara and Mazatlan, Mexico, the couple will reside in Stanton.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. G. S. Seccina preside for the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Dick Carroll was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk mousseline de soie over peau de soie. The dress had an Empire waistline of Venice lace and a cardinal coat of mousseline de soie forming a chapel train accented with Venice lace applique. Her veil of silk illusion outlined with matching Venice appliques was held by a pillbox hat. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and English ivy with a white orchid.

Judith May Wagner of Corpus Christi was maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaid was Dianna Gail Casparis of Corpus Christi.

Bernard T. Houston of Stanton was best man for his brother, Yeull Winslow of Midland, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the groomsmen, and E. E. Carson of Big Spring, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Robert Martin of Frost and Frank Parker of Robstown were the ushers. Ring bearers were Donnie Winslow of Midland and Steve Carson of Big Spring, nephews of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Fred Wayne Houston

Freeman Bridges, president, had charge of the business meeting when Hollis Spruill was elected president for the new year. Mrs. Daisy Thrumman was elected secretary. The reunion will be held at Bridges chapel next year, in the month of June at Mt. Pleasant. A sing-song was held with Mrs. Walter Graves at the piano.

Stanton Couple Recites Vows In Midland Nazarene Church

Judy Carol Barnhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Barnhill of Stanton, and Ray Edward Louder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tull Ray Louder, Stanton, recited double ring wedding vows in a ceremony held at 8 p.m. Saturday in Midland's First Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. N. L. Range of Dallas, retired minister and grandfather of the bridegroom officiated. He was assisted by Rev. Lawrence Gholson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau with a fitted bodice featuring delicate re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs sparkled with tiny seed pearls and long sleeves which formed petal points over the hands. A double scissor pleated chapel train swept from the controlled silhouette. Her bridal cap was fashioned of layers of Alencon lace petals edged with tiny seed pearls and crystal beads and held a bouffant veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and a Phalaenopsis orchid atop a white satin-covered Bible. Inside the Bible was an heirloom handkerchief which had belonged of her great-grandmother.

Bride's Attendants Mrs. Don Williams was matron of honor for her cousin, Trudy Powell of Stanton, cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and Mrs. Jimmy Barnhill of Stanton, sister-in-law of the bride, was the bridesmatron.

John Harper of Tullahoma, Tenn., was best man. The groomsmen were Jimmy Barnhill of Stanton, brother of the bride, and Charles Blocker, cousin of the bride Don Williams of Midland and Jimmy Louder of Stanton were the ushers, and Danny Ireton of Stanton, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Candles were lighted by Dennis Ireton, cousin of the bridegroom, and Gene Louder, the bridegroom's brother, both of Stanton. Stella Bickley of Robert Lee, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. The bride's attendants wore ice blue crystal peau dresses fashioned with bateau necklines and fitted bodices with bell skirts. Their matching headresses were petal points surrounding small cabbage roses. They carried nosegays of blue Frenched carnations with showers of white satin streamers.

Church Decorations Tree candelabra and palms flanked by baskets of white gladiolus, together with a white satin-covered prayer bench, decorated the church. Mrs. Woodrow Phillips, organist played selections and accompanied Joyce Phillips, soloist.

The reception was in the church's Fellowship Hall. Mrs. W. L. Blocker, aunt of the bride; Darlene Blocker, cousin of the bride; Patty Gholson, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Cecil Roberson, Mrs. Lawrence Gholson, Mrs. R. V. Cobb, and Debra Robinson were in the house party.

The newlyweds will be at home after Tuesday at 305 Summit St., Apt. 11, in Arlington. The bride is a 1965 graduate of Stanton High School and Commercial College of Midland. The bridegroom attended the University of Texas and plans to attend Arlington State College. He is employed by Texas Electric Service Co.

BILL COLLYNS, editor of THE MIDLAND REPORTER - TELEGRAM will preside when the WEST TEXAS CHAMBER DIRECTOR'S meeting is held at 12 noon Monday, July 11, at Motel Belvue Restaurant. We are indeed honored to have the Area Six Chamber district chief and his fine group to select our city for a business session to summarize the planned operations of the West Texas Chamber for the coming year. CECIL BRIDGES is the local county representative and he advised us at press time Wednesday that he expected the press of the area, the members of the West Texas Chamber, the mayor and local chamber officials to be in attendance.

ONE of our county's finest women—MRS. ALLIE SPRAWLS, our across-the-street neighbor, is doing just fine in a Big Spring Hospital after being there for a few days. Members of her family have advised us that she is going to be able to avoid surgery and in a few days will be coming back home. MRS. SPRAWLS is a remarkable woman. She has reared a fine bunch of children and is truly a dedicated and loyal member of her church. Our neighbor has always been active, energetic and finds time to keep one of the prettiest yards in town, drive her car any place she desires, and she is an independent thinker and keeps up with everything that happens to be going on from the national level down. We are glad to know that she is going to be just fine.

THE red carpet will be out and awaiting the arrival of former citizens planning to attend the OLD SETTLERS REUNION here Monday and Tuesday. It is true enough that many of the former residents have either passed on or will be unable to travel the distance back to Stanton for the 33rd annual reunion. It is also true that many of those who do come back home will find many families moved from Stanton for economic reasons. We have lost a number of families in recent years who could be classified as being part of the core of our community. Local lack of private enterprise and of new business places and industry caused some of our more outstanding younger couples to start a new life elsewhere. We only hope that our elders of yesterday will understand that some fundamental things have really changed around Stanton.

SOME of the loyal merchants of our town have gone to a lot of work and thoughtful planning to hold sidewalk sales during the reunion. We appreciate their efforts and hope the visitors pick up their share of old-time priced values at these tables on Tuesday. Their ads appear in this issue of the paper. Shop and visit with them.

NEAL'S NUGGET: OLD SETTLERS: We present residents of Martin County deeply appreciate the heritage left us by the honest toil and lofty living of you pioneers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Glaze entertained their family and friends with a barbecue and ice cream supper July 2. Approximately 25 attended.

Mrs. C. C. Kelly has returned from a week's visit in Andrews with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Clark.

Editorial . . . Poverty Communiques

For those who are wondering if we can expect victory or at least a negotiated peace in the war on poverty, we can only advise patience. And a strong stomach.

In Fort Lauderdale, Florida, 16 boys were persuaded to defect from the other side of the tracks and wear tuxedos to a high school function, courtesy of Sargent Shriver's Office of Economic Opportunity, with the taxpayers picking up a $290 tab. However, there may be some subtle symbolism here and hope for the future. If poor boys can get used to wearing tuxes they may be influenced to become capitalist. In time they may even be able to contribute to $100-a-plate political dinners.

Thanks to OEO, wages are going up. At least in the OEO. A welding instructor worth $3,200 on one payroll became worth $9,780 when placed on the OEO payroll. A physical education instructor who had earned $4,600 found he could command $9,480 as a poverty warrior. Teachers are being pirated away from dollar-conscious school districts at Great Society salaries that are usually twice what they had earned.

There's more than money involved, too. Some of Shriver's happy warriors are showing a dedication to duty that is not just outstanding but downright stupefying. An OEO official was invited to address a "graduating class" of Head Start scholars, moppets aged 5 and 6. The class was located 200 miles away—a trip that would have taken a few hours of the official's valuable time had he elected to travel by bus or car.

Conscious of the importance of his mission he chartered a twin-engine plane to get to the kindergartens about to be graduated in a harsh, extremist world. For such gallantry in action, we trust that Sargent Shriver will award this interpid traveler the Bobby Kennedy Award, solid brass.

On the low echelons, too, the Poverty Corps is shaping up. Certainly the troops are showing that they are developing the same attitude toward ordinary taxpayers as their bureaucratic superiors. Not long ago a mob of Job Corps enclaves armed with clubs and rocks stormed into New Bedford, Mass., to do battle with teen-agers there. Police action averted serious bloodshed but a request from the townspeople that the camp be closed got this reply from the All-Highest, Sargent Shriver: "Job Corps has no intention of leaving Fort Rodman."

There's one Sargent who'll never retreat. —Stamford American

What's the best 5-letter word for fertilizer?

And for cotton—NIPAK 45. Get better cotton production and earn bigger profits. Side-dress your cotton with NIPAK 45 right now—for greater yield. (You may get more than the average $6 return for every $1 invested in fertilizer, depending on your farm. Experiment station tests averaged this.) NIPAK 45—45% nitrogen fertilizer from Urea—gives you one-third more nitrogen per pound than any other form of solid nitrogen fertilizer—which enables you to handle less fertilizer and cover more ground in less time. NIPAK 45 is uniformly prilled, too. It flows easily, won't cake, clog or corrode your equipment. NIPAK also dissolves in the soil moisture and moves quickly to the root zone where it stays put until your crops need it. So for more grow power, ask your local NIPAK dealer about NIPAK 45. He can help you plan a complete fertilizer program because he can provide a complete fertilizer service.

Roberts, Guinn Get Judgeship

Northern Sector Gets Dallas Co. District Judge

William A. Taylor, Jr. of Dallas, former state district judge, was named by President Lyndon Johnson as a candidate for appointment to a federal district judgeship of the Northern District of Texas.

Speculation has it that Taylor will remain in Dallas to assist Chief Judge Joe E. Estes in the courts there although no assignment will be made by Estes until the Senate has approved Taylor's appointment.

Taylor was one of six Texas men named by the President. The Senate Judiciary Committee should meet in Washington within two weeks and upon approval will present the appointments to the Senate for its approval.

In the Western District of Texas, one of the fastest growing districts, Jack Roberts of Austin and Ernest Guinn of El Paso were named. Both men probably will remain in those cities after assignment to alleviate the loads of Chief District Judge Adrian Spears in Austin and Judge D. W. Suttle in El Paso.

Judge Spears said Tuesday he is happy both men have been named and he feels sure the Senate will approve both. He said due to the loads on court dockets, new judges would be a great help. The Western District covers the area from Waco to El Paso and includes courts in Pecos, Del Rio, Austin and Waco.

Roberts, 56, a native of Sweetwater, attended the University of Texas and received his degree in 1933. He has resided in Austin ever since.

Roberts first was appointed by Gov. Beauford Jester in 1948 to fill the 126th District Court vacancy.

Guinn, 60 a law partner with his wife Mary, was graduated from the University of Texas Law School in 1927 with the highest grades in the history of the school.

Roberts and Guinn both said Tuesday they would not be notified of their assignments until approval of their appointments has been made.

Irving Goldberg will be named to serve on the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

In the Southern District, John V. Singleton Jr. and Woodrow Seales, both of Houston, were named.

William Howard Taft said: "To obey the law is to support democracy. If every man thinks every law must suit him in order that he shall obey it, he does not support democracy but destroys it. The basis of good government lies in the fact that the people are willing to obey the law as they have determined it to be."

Old Time Fertilizer Practice

In his book "Indian Corn, Its Value, Culture, and Uses", published 100 years ago, in 1866, the author, Edward Enfield, cites average yields of 25 bushels per acre in the United States.

But he speaks of yields of over 100 bushels for a run of years on a certain farm in New York. In New Jersey "an improved King Philip" variety yielded nearly 200 bushels per acre, and a Dr. J. W. Parker of Columbia, South Carolina, on land that was "under-drained, highly manured, highly cultivated, and closely planted", produced 200 bushels and 12 quarts of shelled corn per acre.

Forerunners indeed of our high-yielding hybrid corn, although corn improvement in those days was by selection only!

The author in those days of little understanding of fertility needs, emphasized the proper use of stable manure, including liquid manure, also night soil, and decomposed vegetable matter, therefore compost.

Yes, he mentioned some elementary commercial fertilizers and in a prophetic vein stated that: "If the chemist could indeed resolve the soil into its elements, with an absolute precision and certainty as to the condition of each—fertilization would be reduced to an exact science, and agriculture would be revolutionized."

Meanwhile, he stated, there is "just one method, and only one, of arriving at this knowledge—consult Nature. Interrogate the soil in a series of experiments."

Mind you this was before the establishment of any publicly supported agricultural experiment stations in this country. This is what he said regarding soil as a fertilizer: "There is much difference of opinion in regard to this fertilizer but there are doubtless soils on which it is useful. It has a tendency to check the growth of weeds, and its effect on grain is to increase the solidity and weight."

Professors Emil Truog of Wisconsin and Dale Hoover of Mississippi would be interested in such a statement made nearly a hundred years before their own illuminating experiments with salt in partial replacement of potash used on various crops.

Question: Considering the fine repute of hay curing, watering and pelleting machines, are they the answer to handling a hay crop?

Answer: Except for really large operators, their cost restricts them to custom work and to the relatively arid southwest. But efforts are continuing to adapt them to the more humid areas of the country. Tests of the products show them to be more palatable and efficient than baled hay.

Carr To Keep Code Change Suggestions

The attorney general's office will serve as a clearing house for suggested changes in the new Code of Criminal Procedure, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr announced this week.

Carr said in letters to law enforcement officials, including judges, district and county attorneys and bar association officials, that his office would collect and organize material received and forward it to the governor and legislature.

"The next session of the legislature will be faced with a great number of suggested amendments to the new Code of Criminal Procedure," Carr said. "Though this means, by having the suggested changes assembled and in a uniform fashion not only will the members' task be made easier, but each suggestion will receive close examination as to

Ontario Research Help Fishermen

Most fishermen know West Texas bass fishing slows during hot summer months but must thank fishery research in Ontario, Canada as to why.

It is that: when water temperatures reach 80-86 degrees metabolic processes of black bass slow markedly and feeding virtually stops. Similar inactivity occurs when water temperatures drop below 41 degrees in the winter.

Fortunately for Texas anglers the winter water temperature in large reservoirs seldom falls below 50 degrees Fahrenheit over much of Texas which permits the bass to feed through out the winter months.

Its merits. It is extremely important that our Code of Criminal Procedure be free from errors and that it not unduly hinder our law enforcement officials in their work."

Carr is running for U. S. Senator and will not be attorney general when the legislature convenes.

Several store windows will be decorated with relics of the past and pictures of family groups of yesterday, photographs of some of the county's favorite people, and other interesting historical documents will be displayed.

The big feature — the annual parade, will get started promptly at 4 p.m. Parade marshals Billy Houston and Ohmer Kelly promise a big show. They have pledges of several units and once again a mystery rider will be entered in the parade.

Following the parade the crowd will move to the City Park where the remainder of the festivities will occur. The annual barbecue will be catered by Johnny's of Midland and will be served at 7 p.m. Memorial services will follow the program to be presented after the barbecue.

Hon. George B. Shelburne, distinguished and beloved citizen of Stanton will preside at the memorial rites. Shelburne Little League Park is named for the former long-time city official, now retired. Prizes will be awarded Tuesday night for the usual accomplishments.

Election of officers will follow the business meeting with President Bob Cox, of the group, presiding.
