I have a beautiful black, tan and white registered Beagle, named for LYNDON JOHNSON, that I want to place, as a free gift, to some boy or girl living in the rural area of Martin County. I paid $60 for LYNDON and he is a year old this week. My dog's pedigree goes way back. I have known for a long time that he is not the type of dog to keep in town. He yearns for the open spaces. He needs running, rabbit hunting, and exercising. He is loyal, lovable, and I hate to part with him. Money cannot buy him. I want to give him away. So, call me, Neal Estes, at SK 6-2463, if you have a country home for this dog. Town people please refrain from phoning. I love LYNDON so much I won't part with him until I know he has a happy home awaiting his arrival.

We are also looking forward to meeting with the new Stanton school superintendent, RUSSELL McMEANS. We have already had several calls from patrons wanting to know when school will start, when the faculty will be announced, et al. So, we will try and get this information from all school chiefs in Martin County by the next issue. We would like to have full and complete school calendars from each plant in the county so the parents and students could Cockerham came to Martin County at the turn of the century to work for a ranch and homestead his own spread.

Mr. Cockerham's parents were charter members of the First Methodist Church here. Interment followed the last rites in Evergreen Cemetery under the direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home. Rev. Harrell, a former pastor here, officiated.

Later that year his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cockerham Sr. came out and later the family homesteaded four sections southeast of Stanton. Mr. Cockerham was associated with his brother-in-law in the gin business for several years. He had attended a Dallas business college, but he preferred the ranch life.

Farm & Ranch Review

Agricultural scientists are finding young bull beef is just as "eatable" as meat from steers or heifers.
And what's more, say researchers at Texas A&M University, bull beef is leaner and has less fat trim — but qualities demanded by consumers.

An article by G. T. King and Z. L. Carpenter in A&M's Texas Agricultural Progress magazine, elaborates on the increasing acceptance of bull beef.
The article says with beef consumption at an all-time high, cattlemen are looking for more efficient beef production practices to meet the predicted 25 percent increase needed by 1980.

Researchers at A&M did mechanical tenderness tests on bull, steer, and heifer beef. The machine scored steers slightly over bulls and heifers in tenderness. But all three were above average and entirely satisfactory, the article points out.

Kenneth L. Denmark, on August 1, will become a rural civil defense specialist on the headquarters staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He replaces Thomas G. Hollmig who is now acting district agent in Extension District 9.
In making the announcement, Extension Director John E. Hutchison said Denmark will work with state and county extension personnel, civil defense agencies, and others in planning and coordinating programs in this important field. In addition to programs dealing with living in the nuclear age, other important aspects of his work will include organizing to handle natural disasters, such as floods, tornadoes and hurricanes. Programs already underway will be continued and improved, the director said.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Each year thousands of students work in summer jobs. Their employers, in accordance with the law, withhold taxes from their wages. A lot of students do not earn enough during the summer to require them to file an income tax return. However, it is very important that they file a tax return shortly after January 1 next year, so they can get their refund. If a student does not file a tax return and claim his refund, the government doesn't know he has a refund coming. In the case of many students, filing a tax return can be a profitable task.

Roots and young stems of the burdock plant are both edible.

Bobby Pins

Commandeer the little plastic containers your wife's bobby pins come in. They make dandy holder for files, small spinners, hooks, etc.

ively, he says. They will eat the leaves of forages which are much higher in digestible energy than the stems they leave. Pastures which look to be uniformly grazed are generally grazed to short for maximum production. If cattle are given a chance to graze selectively, the pasture will have an uneven, ragged appearance, he says.

Community Improvement Program Off And Running

The Community Services Award is to honor the weekly newspaper in West Texas that has done the most to provide leadership and encourage community service projects.

This year the award will be presented by R. W. Hardy of Abilene, vice president of the WTCC and president of West Texas Utilities Company John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, president of the West Texas Chamber, will also be on hand and will speak on the Potentials for Progress — the project on which the West Texas Chamber has been working on so diligently for the past three months. The chamber has thoroughly investigated the growth potentials in West Texas and is now taking steps to put them into action. Mr. Shepperd is expected to ask the cooperation of West Texas newspapers in helping translate the Potentials for Progress into reality in the West Texas area.

A feature of the San Angelo breakfast, to be held at the El Patio Motor Hotel, will be the menu. It will consist entirely of products grown or processed in West Texas, Shepperd said.

Three Million Applications For Home Loans

Nearly 3,000 applications for home loans under the new GI Bill program have been received from Texas veterans, the Veterans Administration reported today.

A VA study to determine what impact the Veterans Readjustment Act of 1966 (new GI Bill) has had on the nation's economy also showed 7,157 Texas veterans have applied for certificates of eligibility for loans, Jack Coker, manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco said.

The number of applications for GI home loans is considered important because the lender usually makes the application, indicating the loan has gone through the initial, or interviewing stage, Coker said.

Nearly 42,000 applications for home loans under the new GI Bill have been received nationally, the VA manager said. Throughout the country 135,000 veterans have applied for certificates of eligibility.

Divorce Cancels Home Exemption

A divorce decree cancels a man's $3,000 homestead exemption from state ad valorem taxes, the attorney general held Wednesday.

The opinion went to state Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, who presented the following fact situation with his question:

"A husband and wife own a home and are allowed the homestead exemption from state ad valorem tax. Neither has any kin. Later they divorce, with the husband receiving title to the home in the settlement and he continues to reside alone in the home."

After citing several court decisions, laws and constitutional provision the attorney general said:

"It is the opinion of this office that the familial relationship has been dissolved by divorce and there being no minor children or dependents, the homestead exemption cannot be allowed."

Stamford American: "Working as an American advisor to Vietnamese forces was at times quite frustrating but at others very rewarding. Maj. Raymond Bragalone told members of the Stamford Rotary Club Tuesday noon. The major, married to the former Huda Hassen of Stamford, has just returned after slightly more than 11 months spent near Da Nang."

McCamey News: "Is McCamey a dirty town? Sorry but that, chief. Would you believe we used 1,332,000 gallons of water Tuesday, July 19? A new all-time high in water consumption was set last week, according to James Pirkie, water superintendent. The 1,332,000 gallons used broke a record set July 16, 1963, when 1,320,000 gallons flowed through the city pipes. We are pumping more water now than we did when our population was larger, Pirkie said."

The Comanche Chief: "Comanche County began the current year with more protection in the form of life insurance than ever before. Coverage, per family, has reached an all-time high. Total holdings of life insurance in the local area are now placed at more than $39 million, $18 thousand."

The Graham Leader: "Construction on the new addition to the rapid sand filters in the City Water Plant is 99 per cent complete according to City manager Doyle Duke. Cost of the project is approximately $32,000, and it should be ready about August 15. The modern addition to the Graham water treatment plant will have automatic control filters, and when it becomes necessary to backwash the sand to remove sludge and other deposits, the unit will shut off."

Seminole Sentinel: "Seminole's city council Monday night gave its stamp of approval to a newly-formed emergency radio network in the area. The radio network is an outgrowth of a group of local residents interested in citizen's band radio work who have formed a club, the Gaines County CB's. After the objectives of the club and the emergency radio network were explained to the council by E. L. Wallace, 511 SW 16th St., club president, the council members authorized installation of citizens band radios in one police car and the fire department emergency station wagon. The radio's installed will cost the city $169 each. The city already has a citizen's band radio in operation in a water department pickup truck."

The Merkel Mail: "Thursday, July 21, Jim Morris of Austin and Information director of the Texas Electric Service Cooperative Assn. headed a discussion with a representative group of TEC members and other concerning a proposed legislation for creation of a Federal Bank for Rural Electric Systems. Morris pointed out that rural electric cooperatives are political creatures and that their existence depends on congressional enactments. Congress has, he said, 'done just about all it can do to make 2 per cent loans available to rural electric cooperatives. The National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. in convention two years ago, authorized that a study be made to determine the establishment of a REA supplemental loan program through a Cooperative Bank.'"

The Memphis Democrat: "Farmers who are eligible to vote in the community committee election on September 12 also have the right to nominate candidates to be entered on the ballots. Roy L. Gresham, ASC Chairman, announced today Nominations are made by filing a petition at the ASCS Office signed by six or more farmers who are qualified voters. Each petition must be limited to one nominee each and filed not later than August 12, 1966. Nominations are invited and desired."

Philosopher Says President Can Find Plenty Of Foreign Affairs Experts Here

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw seems to be discussing the unemployment situation, although we're not sure.)

Dear editor:

As I understand the present boom times, nearly everybody who wants to work is working and a lot of people who don't are, but still shortages crop up. For example, I read in a newspaper yesterday afternoon which a neighbor left on his tractor seat to keep the sun off while he went to the house for a drink of water and the wind blew off, that President Johnson is having a hard time finding enough experts on foreign affairs to fill some jobs now open on his staff.

I do not understand this. Clearly he's not looking in the right place. If he will come out to this area, I can show him dozens of experts on foreign affairs, in any direction he wants to go.

I don't mean one-sided experts. We've got experts on every side of any question about any country, whether we've heard of it before or not, the same as the U. S. Senate. You don't have to be able to pronounce a country's name to know what we ought to do about it, or what the Administration ought to stop doing about it.

Studying the country you're hiring out as an expert on doesn't mean anything. There are men in Washington who have spent years studying China, they can read and write the language and pronounce the names, and half of them say China will attack us if we keep bombing Hanoi and the other half says she won't. You can get exactly the same vote out here, where most of our information is limited to what we think up on our own. As I found out long ago, never call on more than one expert for advice

Local People Attend Funeral

Loyace and Ode Hazlewood, Mrs. Jess Angel, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Russell of Midland, attended the funeral of their uncle, Manley Farrington, at Eastland, Monday, August 1. Mr. Farrington's home was in Orient, Iowa.

on one problem. If you get two, you'll wind up with opposite advice and be about where you were before you started.

However, if President Johnson hasn't filled those jobs for foreign affairs experts yet, he can find plenty around here, although actually he can find just as many right there around Washington who are fully as capable as we are.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Notes Payments Under 'Doctor Bill' Insurance

Erven Fisher, district manager of Social Security in Big Spring, has noted some older people enrolled for Doctor Bill Insurance under medicare may be having difficulty paying the full $9 quarterly premium.

Fisher said that these people may pay $3 or $6 amounts covering one or two premiums, but they should make a payment as soon as possible. Older people who are receiving monthly Social Security or Railroad Retirement payments have the $3 monthly premium deducted from their benefit checks.

Others received premium notices last month requesting them to mail in a quarterly payment of $9. Payments may be by check or money-order mailed to the Social Security payment Center that sent the notice, or payments may be made to the District Office in Big Spring.

Farm Bureau Sponsors Student To Seminar

One high school student from Martin County will attend the fourth annual Texas Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar Aug. 9-13 on Baylor University campus in Waco, according to Owen Kelly, president of the Martin County Farm Bureau.

Attending the four-day Farm Bureau sponsored school will be Michael Springer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Springer of Lenora. Michael will be a senior in Stanton High School this fall. His parents are members of the farm bureau and active in all phases of farm bureau work.

Martin County Farm Bureau is sponsoring the attendance of the student going from here.

Four nationally-known educators and lecturers will address the more than 350 high school juniors and seniors from Texas who will attend.

They are Dr. C. L. Kay, vice president, public affairs, Lubbock Christian College, and winner of many awards, including a special citation by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr. president and head of the Department of History and Social Science of Harding College at Searcy, Ark.; Herbert A. Philbrick, noted author, and former counter spy for the FBI; and W. Cleon Skousen, author of "The Naked Communist," and former FBI agent and chief of police of Salt Lake City.

Purpose of the seminar is to convey to students a better understanding of the American system and way of life. Emphasis will be placed on the economic, moral and social aspects of the society in which we live — aspects that were envisioned by our forefathers in our Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Gibson Column

The easiest job of the week was in picking a subject for this new column. It is fitting that we open with a look at another beginning, one you may already have heard about. That would be the start of a new life for Luci Baines Johnson and Pat Nugent.

There is more than one area of similarity between this corner and the nuptial scene. As mentioned, there's the newness: bit. More important, there are certain angles in the romance that conceivably could cause a chuckle now and then. That is a purpose of this column — to cause a chuckle now and then. And finally, a wedding is a solemn occasion, in some ways. This corner, surveying the world and the people who make it up, will no doubt be pretty grim now and then.

This weekend's wedding joggles the imagination in some ways. Luci said recently that she and Pat expect to move into a little Austin apartment and face the same problems that all newlyweds have. Now, I wish the Nugents well, really, but I don't think their problems are going to be quite the same as other people have.

She mentioned the problem of going to school and living on a budget. I do hope she is not planning to handle her budget the way her father handles his and mine. If Luci uses Washington arithmetic, the Nugents are going into debt in a hurry.

Of course, there is one school of thought that says the future Mrs. Nugent doesn't need to fret about her budget. This school thinks that every time the President barbecues a calf at the ranch he will send a hind quarter over for the Nugents' freezer. (First he sends the freezer.)

There is probably some truth to this. Pat Nugent doesn't seem like the kind who would sponge off his relatives. Therefore, he and Luci can't take money, except perhaps for Christmas. But who would refuse to take a quarter of beef left over after Lyndon had barbecued a small herd for some visiting potentates?

It would be wasteful. So we can assume that the Nugents will get along all right in the food department, especially if they like barbecue.

There is another problem as yet untouched. The Nugents, like all of us, especially newlyweds, need their privacy. Luci says they plan to live quietly, just like other student couples at the University of Texas. However, few other UT couples will have as many secret service guards as the Nugents.

As the President's daughter, Luci gets a secret service escort almost everywhere. It was hard for young Nugent to find time to propose without a secret agent looking over his shoulder. They will change the rules under the new situation, of course, but secret service men will always be within yelling distance. That includes the classroom, study hall and supermarket.

So Luci must disabuse herself of the notion that she and Pat are going to face only the problems that other students have. They will have their own special set of problems... including what to do with all that barbecue.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

THE Texas University student sniper from Florida was undoubtedly insane. CHARLES JOSEPH WHITMAN, 24, an honor student, married, ex-Marine, murdered his mother and his wife before going on his slaying spree from the University of Texas tower in Austin Monday. Sixteen were killed, including the sniper and several persons wounded. It was an hour and a half of terror in the Texas capitol. A young Austin patrolman finally climbed to a position above the sniper's entrenched position and killed him. On Tuesday morning the NBC self-styled opinion makers, were out to "tare Texas apart again." The same band of commentators attempted to run down the reputation of the state like they did when the late PRESIDENT KENNEDY was assassinated in Dallas. The wildeyes and extremists slandered the good people of Dallas who had absolutely nothing to do with the actions of LEE OSWALD, the Communist imported killer of KENNEDY. Dallas and Texas were placed on trial. So, back we go again, this time a Florida native comes to Austin and unleashes his terror and the broadcaster bombard the reputation of the state. Some of the wildest of the lot, including some U. S. Senators and northern liberals started yelling for federal legislation to ban the sale of firearms. To prevent people from purchasing arms to protect their homes would be to again erase a mighty important right from the Constitution.

THE mercury registered a record high here Monday afternoon when the red line climbed to 103 degrees. It was the hottest August 1 registered in Stanton in history. Nearby cities, including Lubbock, had 105 readings. It was a steamy, hot, sultry, summer day. Some relief was promised Tuesday when a light breeze rolled in from the northeast and raindrops cooled the area some about mid-morning Tuesday. But this is the month of August and August is supposed to be the real steamer in these parts.

WE wrote about a new business coming to Stanton last week. The FRIDAY SHOE SHOP opens formally here this week end. The firm is planning an open house with free coffee, refreshments and door prizes. It will be a nice day for the town. We need all the new business blood we can get. The FRIDAY family is most welcome. We also wish to point out the fact that some of the friendly merchants of the city have arranged for space congratulating the new business neighbors in this issue of the paper. This is indeed a commendable gesture.

IN this issue of the newspaper our readers will find sixteen proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution published. These amendments need to be carefully read. They will appear three more times in the paper and we recommend they be clipped out and saved and referred to several times before election day, November 8. Too many times in the past we citizens have been derelict in our reading of these kind of changes. We should all attempt to find out what each amendment contains and then vote our own consciences when the time comes for you to mark ballots.

THE Texas Insurance Board has authorized a Texas auto insurance penalty plan to become effective August 1, 1967. Higher premiums for drivers who cause accidents or who commit certain traffic offenses, such as speeding, will be charged. Insurance on cars for some people is almost prohibitive now. We agree that those guilty of causing accidents should be compelled to pay higher premiums but the trouble comes from the fact that too many low-income drivers are operating cars on state highway now have no insurance, no licenses to drive, and they cause more accidents than any other type driver. We feel like the time is ripe to strengthen the standards on licensing car operators. We also feel like a statewide week should be arranged for just to catch the persons driving cars without any kind of license. Hundreds of operators need to be removed from the roads and highway. This careless group is causing as many accidents as men and women who get out and violate the traffic laws in other ways.

STANTON is indeed fortunate to have two peace officers cut from the seasoned and experienced casts from which men like JAKE BRUTON and DUB WEATHERFORD come. These veterans are wise in operational and investigative methods but active and efficient enough to contain just about any disturbance of the peace that takes place in the city limits of our town. They are men of calm judgment and are not given to rash statements or acts. We can depend on these fine authorities and we congratulate the city council for providing such worthy law enforcement for Stanton.

NEAL'S NUGGET: A good editor needs good friends. I have many. One of my most trusted supporters advised me this week of something I have suspected for a longtime. He warned me against the confederacy of association with another individual. I cooled his fears. I restated my confidence in the man he mentioned for me to 'beware of'. But, you know something, my friendly informant was right! That's where the pub comes in. It hurts to be hurt by a guy you admire. What has happened in Our Society?

Pecan Growers Chief West Texan Of Month

John B. (Johnny) Harris of Hamilton, outgoing president of the Texas Pecan Growers Association, has been named West Texan of the Month by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Harris is a farmer, rancher, merchant and realtor, a man who, at age 38, has demonstrated his interest in agriculture, civic affairs, higher education, land development, real estate and other activities.

He is also outgoing chairman of the Texas Pecan Improvement Association; a trustee of Hardin - Simmons University in Abilene, former trustee of Wayland College in Flatview; former member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board in Odessa; active member of the Hamilton Lions Club; former director of the Hamilton County Farm Bureau; members of the State Study Commission for Improvement of Agriculture; and a special delegate to Washington for the Federated Pecan Growers.

His wife, the former Frances Jenkins of Nashville, Tennessee, is author of a weekly column in the Hamilton Herald-News. The Harrises have two children.

Harris is a native of Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Guy Harris. He attended public school at Bryan and began his business career there when he sold squares from pig-houses, operating a cold drink stand on the courthouse lawn; running a paper route at age 9; doing yard work and selling vegetables from the family garden. He bought his first rental property at the age of 12, a dilapidated old house which cost him $150. He made the down payment from savings and the monthly payments of $5 from rent he collected.

After moving to Odessa with his parents, Harris graduated from Odessa High School. While still a teenager there he bought two confectionaries, later a drug store and still later two skating rinks.

He developed property in Odessa, mostly in partnership with his father, and has now developed more than 5,000 acres presently in the City of Odessa.

In 1960, Harris bought 2,000 acres of rich Leon River bottom land, expanding it until he now has 3,500 acres. He has pecan orchards, fruit, Angora goats, Angus, Brahman and Brangus cattle, sheep, small grain and cotton.

The Harrises also operate a unique store to sell their farm products, located four miles north of Hamilton. It has become a showplace for tourists. The Harrises sell original oil paintings there; there's an exhibit of buffalo, deer and bear heads; Indian artifacts; a collection of early farm tools, buggies, wagons and other historical items.

Harris is optimistic about West Texas and its future. He says it is easier to get started here than anywhere else in the United States. He says West Texans look at man without regard to his family or his background and don't rely on traditions.

He is optimistic about the future of agriculture and says, "Some of the finest and most capable people in the world are engaged in agriculture. They are rich in individual resources/wisdom. When called on to produce, they always find a way to do it."

MARTIN LEROY (RED) GIBSON, Denton resident, will mail in a weekly column for publication. RED is an old friend of ours and he has decided to try his hand at pouncing out a string of weekly columns. We hope he puts a little bit about Martin County in each release. He is a faculty member at North Texas University. RED wrote that his family would be visiting with his parents, JUDGE and MRS. MARTIN GIBSON here in late August. We are looking forward to seeing the family when they arrive.

Another GIBSON is making our front page this week too. He is MARTIN LEROY GIBSON, SR. He will be honored today in Big Spring with a citation and emblem from PRESIDENT LBJ for long draft board service. We salute JUDGE GIBSON on this fine honor and join other friends in genuine congratulations. The story appears elsewhere in the paper.

Those in the community interested in helping organize the BUFFALO BOOSTERS CLUB are invited to be present tonight, August 4, at the High School, to indicate to the players that they can count on this solid organization again this season to back them up all the way. We have not been able to contact the coaches for their rundown on the prospects but will try and get around to nailing that story down next week.

(Continued from page 1) test is to develop a formula for world peace because we feel peace is attainable," President Wood said.

In announcing the contest internationally, President Lindsey said that Lions International, the world's largest service club organization is well qualified to sponsor such a contest.

Contestants should submit their entry in essay form, not to exceed 5,000 words.

"Judging will fall into four categories: 75 per cent of the essay's points will be devoted to content, ten per cent to organization, ten per cent to style, and five per cent to mechanics," Wood said.

"Three judges will be appointed to evaluate the entries submitted to our club," Wood said.

"If our winner can advance through the judging stages up to the world finals he will receive an expense paid trip to Chicago to attend the Lions International 50th Annual Convention for the final judging of his essay in addition to the $1,000 award."

Wood said he hoped local young people would accept the challenge and enter his club's section of the contest. Closing date for the club's contest is December 10, 1966.

"Students wishing to enter the contest should contact John Wood, Paige Eiland, or John Roueche to get full details of the contest," he said.

The age limit for the contest, includes all youth 14, but less than 22 years of age, as of January 15, 1967.

Wood announced that each applicant would be limited to one entry, with one winner's essay eligible to compete in the Lions District 2-A-1 contest. Winner of district contest will be entered in state or country contest. Each country or multiple district winner will be entered in one of the eight world divisions.

Health & Safety Tips

Tuberculosis still is a serious health problem in the United States.

One hundred thousand Americans are walking the streets today with active infectious tuberculosis who don't know they have it, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

By the time symptoms appear — fever, weight loss, coughing, and perhaps blood spitting — the disease has reached a point at which control is difficult. Some won't recover; 10,000 victims died from tuberculosis in a recent year, Today's Health reports.

Everyone is susceptible. TB is contracted from someone who has it, mainly by breathing air contaminated with TB germs. These are spread by coughing, sneezing and spitting. Sometimes a person becomes infected when germs enter his mouth from contaminated fingers, food or eating utensil, or from kissing an infected person.

If active tuberculosis is diagnosed, your physician has a choice of a variety of drugs, such as streptomycin and isoniazid, which effectively suppress the germs while the body builds up its own immunity.

Children under five are a "high risk" group because of the frequent and close associations with their parents, relatives, household help and baby sitters, any of whom may be carriers.

Everyone should have an annual check-up in the form of a skin test or chest x-ray. These tests are available free in most areas any time of the year. Local public health officers and the local chapters of the National Tuberculosis Association will direct you to TB detection centers in your area. The skin tests are simple and painless. If one of these indicates TB germs are present, it doesn't necessarily mean the germs are doing damage. It takes an x-ray and sputum test, along with blood and urine studies, to determine accurately whether the bacilli are active.
