NEAL ESTES, editor of THE STANTON REPORTER for the past 11 years, returned to his home here Saturday after being hospitalized in Midland — where he underwent extensive heart examinations—for more than a week. ESTES, although still confined to his home, reports that he feels better since returning home and expects to be "in the pink" within the next ten days.

LAUNCHING PAD, a regular STANTON REPORTER column written by NEAL ESTES, is due to return soon after being deleted from the paper for three weeks while its writer occupied a Midland hospital bed. The STANTON REPORTER has been deluged with letters asking about the column's fate, including one man who wrote, "I don't agree with a thing you said but I want the column back in the paper so I'll have something to argue about."

Four Martin County youths traveled to Houston this week where they will exhibit animals in the HOUSTON LIVESTOCK SHOW. JOHNNY MCINTYRE took two hogs with MORGAN COX exhibiting a calf. JODY YATES took a Chester White pig. Also attending is ROSLAND WELCH.

Fifty-five young Grayson County men got an "uncalled for" letter from the county Selective Service Board here last week. The letters told them not to report for induction at the end of the month as they had been ordered to do previously. The Grayson County Selective Service Board's monthly call was cancelled because of a shortage of funds.

Teasing showers spread across much of Martin County Monday but very little moisture was actually derived from the short rain. The precipitation came on the heels of a two-inch snowfall and rain last week.

Charges Filed In Martin County Car-Truck Crash

Three charges of negligent homicide were filed in Martin County Court Wednesday against Ernest Andy Brooks, a 54-year-old Midland truck driver who was involved in a three-fatality traffic accident here last week.

Martin County Attorney Roy Pickett filed the charges claiming that Brooks made a left turn on an intersection

Election Interest Runs Hot And Cold

Trustee Filing Period Ends With Seven Candidates

Interest is running high in upcoming school elections here after seven Martin County men announced they will be candidates for three Board of Trustee positions with the Stanton Independent School District.

The filing period for school candidates ended here March 1 with the election slated to be held April 1.

Announcing their candidacy last week were Jack Ireton, Dale Snell, and Owen Kelly, all longtime residents here. Four others—Stanton White, Fred Holder, G. P. Harrell, and Wesley W. Williams—announced for the offices earlier.

Ireton was born in Lamesa and graduated from Lamesa High School. Following a two-year stint in the Navy, he graduated with a degree in business administration from Sul Ross State College at Alpine. Ireton moved here in 1949 and was employed with the First National Bank for more than 14 years.

He currently is with White Motor Co. Ireton and his wife, Margie, are the parents of two children, Dennis, 11, and Danny, 6.

KIDS 'N KITES — Heavy March winds, and a good bit of West Texas soil, blew into Stanton Wednesday as the traditional kite-flying season got into full swing. Multi-colored kites blossomed all over the city with Shana Briggs, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Briggs, and Kyle Terry, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Terry, being early participants.

Martin County Included In College Proposals

ODESSA — Odessa College Regents last week voted to seek legislative approval for a regional college district that would lead to the creation of a four-year college in the Permian Basin.

The regents' proposal would include as many as 10 Permian Basin counties — including Martin County — in the original financing and eventual support of the school.

The action came in an effort to counteract a decision by the State Coordinating Board last week that virtually ruined chances of establishing a state-supported four-year college here.

Under the regents' plan, no state money would help finance the institution, although legislative approval is required for the district to be formed. Dr. Jack Rodgers, president of Odessa College, told the board of regents that State Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa, has agreed to introduce the bill in the Legislature.

However, all details of the proposal remain to be worked out and the regents came up with no estimates of finances during the session.

Pickens, according to Dr. Rodgers, recommended going ahead with the new bill in case the Coordinating Board omits a four-year college here in its master plan for higher education.

Rodgers said if the regional college district plan were initiated, it would be operated as a two-year, junior and senior year addition to the Odessa College program. The new program, while it would be operated in conjunction with OC's junior college, would not necessarily be operated from the same facility.

Rodgers said the governor could, if he chose, veto a bill for the formation of a regional college district.

The regents, in a rather half-hearted gesture, also approved a resolution asking Pickens and Sen. Dorsey Hardean to continue to pursue their bills proposing a four-year state-supported school.

One Man Files For City Post, Deadline Near

With two days remaining before the end of the filing period for upcoming city elections, only one candidate — incumbent Jul E. Reid — has made application for a city council post.

The election will be held to fill two council vacancies, one created by the expiration of Reid's term and the other by the resignation of Herbert Jones.

Jones resigned last year to make an unsuccessful race for a county commissioners' post.

Reid has served on the City Council for three years after being elected to the post in a special election held here on Oct. 24, 1963. He was re-elected in 1965 with 90 votes.

Deadline for filing as a candidate will be midnight Saturday. All requests for candidates' name to be included on the city ballot must be filed at the city hall with City Secretary L. H. White or with Addie Mae Burgess, city treasurer and assistant city secretary. There is no filing fee, White said.

The election will be held April 4 with the polling place to be located in the basement of the Stanton First Methodist Church. Election judge will be T. W. Haney.

Absentee voting will open here on March 15 and run until 12 noon, Saturday, April 1. Residents desiring to cast absentee ballots may vote at the city hall at any time during that period. The city hall is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

City officials also will accept mail requests for ballots and, after the ballots are filled in, accept them back by mail.

White said voters must produce their Texas Voter's Registration Certificate or a poll tax receipt in order to vote in either the absentee session or at the regular polling place.

Councilmen elected will hold office until April, 1969.

Incumbents who have filed for reelection are Jack Bowlin, H. D. Fowler and Larry Shaw. Others who have filed for a place on the ballot of April 1 election are Durwood Blagrove, W. C. (Dub) Fryar and Jerry E. Hall. Deadline for filing is Wednesday.

Mrs. Glenn Brown named City Chairman of ACC's $25.7 million Design For Development

Mrs. Glenn L. Brown has been named city chairman for the Community Gifts campaign of Abilene Christian College's $25.7 million Design for Development.

Mrs. Brown will direct the activities of team captains and volunteer workers in Stanton as the Community Gifts campaign gets underway here.

The Design for Development, initiated in 1965, is a 10-year program to raise $25.7 million for academic, physical and endowment exansion. The Phase I three-year target of the campaign is $10.4 million, and currently more than $8 million has been raised.

Mrs. Brown received her bachelor arts degree from Abilene Christian in 1943 and her M. A. Degree from the Uni-

Editor's Mail

Dear Editor: If the saloon bill is passed and liquor by the drink is allowed by law, more than 600 Texans will die needlessly in automobile accidents the first year.

The 600 figure is based on a 20 per cent increase in fatal automobile accidents that occurred in other states after liquor by the drink was legalized. Some of our neighbors, friends, children, will be the victims of drinking drivers—deaths that are needless.

In addition to the 600 additional deaths in automobile accidents, the number of alcoholics will increase by 50 per cent, according to records of other states with saloon laws. These are well-documented facts. For every $1 in alcohol taxes Texas collects, it spends $37 in alcohol-caused costs, such as crime, welfare, lost jobs, extra policing, courts, etc., according to the American Business Men's Research Foundation.

Liquor by the drink will cause more people to start drinking. It will enable more minors to drink. It will increase crime. It will increase the traffic accidents, cause alcoholism, and poverty.

It is our Christian duty to oppose the saloon bill. Open saloons would not increase available tax money because so much alcohol-caused costs would arise, according to statistics from Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, Inc. open saloons would not cut down the amount of drinking, but it would increase it.

In "bottle only" states, per capita consumption of alcohol is slightly under one gallon per person per year. In open saloon states it is nearly two gallons.

Rev. W. H. Uhlman, Pastor, Stanton First Baptist Church.

Southwestern Bell Announces New Rate

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company announced today that effective March 1 the monthly rate for a Princess telephone will be reduced from 75 cents to 50 cents.

Harry Sawyer, manager of the telephone company, said the reduced Princess rate is in addition to the cut in long distance rates and other miscellaneous rate decreases which were announced late last year, resulting in annual savings of $6 million to Southwestern Bell customers in Texas.

Work Progressing Nicely On Stanton Loop Project

Work is progressing steadily on the Stanton Loop of Interstate Highway 20, the resident engineer's office of Texas Highway Department reported today.

Work currently is being done on grading, pouring small culverts, crushing base material and channel excavation.

C. Hunter Strain of San Angelo, is contractor on the project. The company has taken advantage of a mild winter to complete approximately 12 per cent of the work needed. Header banks for grade separation on the East Business

Route are complete while headers for twin overpasses on Lamesa Highway are taking shape rapidly.

Estimated completion date is June, 1968.

The project consists of two main lanes, continuous frontage roads with an interchange east and west of Stanton. These interchanges have a business route and suitable ramps to provide free and easy access to and from the city. A complete four-way entrance-exit system of ramps is also provided at State 137 (Lamesa Highway).

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graves, Granville Graves and children, Terri, Craig, and Leigh Ann, have returned from El Paso, where they carried Mrs. Fannie Graves, who is en route to Phoenix, Arizona, for a visit. While in El Paso, they visited Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Graves. Mrs. Granville Graves was unable to make the trip with the family, as she helped accompany a group of YWCA girls of the First Baptist Church, to Abilene.

ATTITUDE IS IMPORTANT

Attitude, rather than skill, can be the determining factor in avoiding an accident, says "Texans for Traffic Safety." The driver with the proper attitude may not be as skillful as another driver, but he will more often avoid getting into an "accident situation."

Home For Girls Operates Without Any Government Aid

Persons interested in the War on Poverty and rehabilitation - relief might well take a page from the book of the High Sky Girls Ranch near Midland in West Texas.

Supported entirely by voluntary and fraternal contributions, the ranch shelters 32 girls ranging in age from 8 to 18 from homes broken by death, divorce or poverty. The girls come from states as far away as California and Nebraska. It is reported in the March issue of Together magazine.

Nondenominational High Sky Girls Ranch was started by a small group who got their inspiration at a Midland Parent - Teacher Association meeting in 1959. It was modeled on Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo.

The 100-acre site four miles north of Midland was purchased by a board of directors in 1962.

High Sky girls are very active in 4-H Club projects, because Director Russell Miller believes that animals provide a special brand of therapy.

"A child who's been neglected or mistreated often learns best how to give and receive love through a pet," he explains.

Projects include raising beef cattle, lambs, pigs and chickens. In addition, many girls have pet ducks, rabbits, dogs, cat, and a guinea hen.

All the girls attend public schools in Midland, where several are leaders in high school and Methodist Youth Fellowship at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Miller's wife, Marjorie, teaches in an elementary school and also serves as houseparent.

"The High Sky girls are a healthy, winsome lot, many of them abundantly freckled by hours spent in the Texas sunshine," it is reported in Together, Methodism's general - interest magazine for families that goes into almost three - quarters of a million homes monthly.

From age 15 on, girls are permitted to date.

Each one has chores. And all participate in evening devotions and family huddle.

"It's important to give them a chance to open up and talk about themselves and their problems," Mrs. Miller explains. "And these kids show a

Bible Comment—

Faith With Us All Should Be Positive

The one thing worth knowing for a man born blind, who recovered his sight through the ministry of Jesus was that he KNEW he could see.

The man's neighbors, the doubters, the enemies of Jesus — all were skeptical, or tried to explain the miracle away.

But the blind man, now seeing, set them straight about that. He said flatly, "I can see."

The appeal to the fact, or facts, is always the most incontrovertible evidence. To know one thing is far more important, than not to know a great many things.

The ringing testimony of this former blind man seems symbolic of a sound and wholesome religious attitude that would give an anchorage of faith for many who have floundered in doubt.

Observation of the religiously insecure leads to the impression that they make more of their doubts than of any possible certainty they might have.

More than one eminent man has lived and died a skeptic, though speaking of the religion of other men in a way that would seem to suggest a yearning that never found satisfaction.

These people have everything necessary for the foundation of faith, if they would only stand upon the simple things that they know. But they so often make a religion of their doubts, and there is something tragic in a life that lacks affirmation.

Each of us must find in our life something to affirm, something of which we can say, "This I know."

Philosopher States Flat-Footedly That The C.I.A. Is Not Financing His Farming

(Editor's note: the Martin Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has heard about the activities of the C.I.A., his letter this week indicates.)

Dear editor: Every newspaper I've picked up out here lately has had another long article on what the C. I. A. has been doing and I've done my best to keep track of it.

As I understand it, the C. I. A., or Central Intelligence Agency, gets a lot of secret money from Congress to keep this country informed on what's going on behind the scenes around the world, and to help conteract Communism, and a smarter man than I recognize it's a valuable work and I believe it.

However, it might not be a bad idea to give an intelligence test to the man in the outfit who thought he could hand out money to college students and keep it quiet.

The way the newspaper articles explained it, a lot of the college students didn't know the C. I. A. was supplying them with money, and I believe it, but you can't depend on all students staying in the dark all the time. One or two of them were bound to catch on.

On the other hand, a lot of organizations run by grown men were unaware of where their money was coming from, so you don't necessarily have to be a college student to be fooled.

A friend of mine in town got to thinking about all this and he stopped me and said, "Say, I understand you farmers are always getting government checks. You reckon the C. I. A. is behind that?"

I have investigated this thoroughly, and I can state that unquestionably and beyond a shadow of a doubt the C. I. A. is not financing me or any other farmer.

It is an insult to our intelligence to suggest such a thing. It is outrageous to even think it.

Certainly the C. I. A. is not financing me. But in this connection I would like to say, how do you get in touch with them?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

RIGHT OF WAY

Failure to yield right of way figured in 10 per cent of the fatal accidents on the rural highways of Texas last year, according to the Department of Public Safety. This being the case, "Texans for Traffic Safety" suggests you don't depend too heavily on other drivers doing what they're supposed to.

A flood in Hwang-ho, China, wiped out an estimated 900,000 lives in 1987.

when needed. So happy are High Sky girls that Director Miller says some of them literally need to be pushed out of the nest upon reaching their 18th birthday.

"Nearly all develop strong ties to the ranch, probably because the Millers guide with a firm but tender hand," it is breezily put in the article, A Family of 32!

Others in the Miller family are an adopted son, Mike, and an adopted daughter, Cathy, 12.

Knight's Tri-Matic Sprinkler Irrigation System was designed to put the desired amount of water on your acreage with the least amount of labor, and with a minimum time involved in moving from one location to another. It will apply 3 1/2" to 4" of water to 160 acres in a period of ten days, yet it requires only one man a short time to move the entire system from one location to another. The well "shut down" time is reduced considerably. The Tri-Matic propels itself forward, backward or endways and may be pulled endways by a tractor to a location several miles away.
Let us show you how Knight's Tri-Matic System can help you solve your irrigation problems.

Hospital Volunteer Group Slates Special Session Here

Mrs. Ennis Cochran

Mrs. Ennis Cochran, Coordinator of Volunteer Services at the Big Spring State Hospital, will be special guest of honor here Tuesday during a meeting of the Stanton Volunteer Auxiliary.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Martin County Library.

Mrs. Cochran has held her position for the past two years and is a graduate of Oklahoma State University, and a professional school, Topeka, Kan. She has been a resident of Big Spring for the past 18 years.

Her talk will be entitled "Linus and His Security Blanket," a fictional story of a man who relied on his job for inner security. "When his work changed, his world fell apart and he became mentally ill," she said.

"His sojourn through the hospital is detailed with accents on all therapeutical work involved in his treatment; the different types of patients he encountered; rehabilitation and his eventual return to the enlightened community that accepts him for what he is, a new individual," she concluded.

Mrs. Ennis is the wife of the food service manager at Big Spring's Bennett House, and the mother of a Howard County Junior College student and two Big Spring public school students.

Her visit here is being made in an effort to recruit more women for volunteer work at the hospital. Ten Stanton women currently are aiding at the hospital, their work being concerned with occupational therapy.

Staple Loan Rate Reduction Predicted

The Department of Agriculture may soon announce an arbitrary reduction in the loan rate on short staple cotton, says U. S. Rep. George Mahon of Colorado City.

USDA complaints that a heavy accumulation of short staple cotton exists in the loan program was given for the expected reduction, he said.

Mahon cautioned Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman that an arbitrary reduction in support rates would be unfair and unacceptable. Mahon believes that differentials reflected by the spot markets provide a sufficient spread between cotton qualities to encourage the production of better cotton.

"I have been encouraged by reports which have come to me indicating that West Texas farmers are aware of the threat to their economic welfare," Mahon said. "I'm happy to hear they are planning to make a major effort to improve staple length and quality."

Mahon said unless something dramatic is done within the next three years to improve the quality and uniformity of Texas cotton, the industry could deteriorate badly and the economy of many producing areas would suffer great loss.

"My discussions with farmers lead me to believe many producers are quite certain as to what particular strain of cottonseed should be selected for planting," the congressman said.

"Farmers need more information and clarification as to what the best varieties actually are, Mahon said. Another question relates to the availability of adequate seed supplies. Nevertheless, there seems to be much expectation that significant progress will be made this year. It would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of better quality and more uniformity," Mahon added.

USDA has appointed a group, known as the Underhill Committee, which is preparing recommendations on cotton loan differentials for submission to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mahon said he realizes the urgent need for improvement in cotton quality and uniformity but he would continue to protest any threat of action which might be arbitrary and punitive.

Officials at the USDA Cotton Classing Office in Abilene recently reported that staple lengths of cotton processed at their office ranged from 3/4 inch to 7/8 inch. There were about 20,000 bales processed during the past ginning season which were taken from Acala cotton (long-staple), containing staple lengths of from 1 1/4 inches to 1 3/4 inches, they said.

Of the 393,886 or more bales classed at the Abilene station, which serves about 25 counties in West Texas, the predominate grade was middling light spot and strict low middling light spot, B. B. Manly Jr., office manager, reported.

The USDA announced last November that a major effort would be made this year to discourage the production of low quality cotton and slow down the rise in government stocks of such cotton.

URGENT SAFER DRIVING

Over 50 per cent of all rural fatal accidents involve only one vehicle, says "Texans for Traffic Safety," and almost one-half of these are caused by a car running off the roadway. Whether the driver falls asleep during or loses control through carelessness, the end result may well be the same — tragedy.

WRONG SIDE OF ROAD

Fifteen per cent of the fatal accidents on the rural highways of Texas occurred last year when some body was driving on the wrong side of the road, according to the records of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Impeding traffic is against the law in Texas, says "Texans for Traffic Safety." In effect, the group adds, the law

Grassroots Opinion

South Bend, Wash., Journal: "Secretary of Labor Wirtz has come up with the crying need for a method by which it can be assured that dropouts who don't want to go to school can reap the maximum benefit from this great and glorious society called USA."

Calling for 'a rational, equitable and effective' policy for youth, Wirtz would establish community 'Opportunity Boards' where youth would be required to register on reaching the age of 18 or quitting school. . . . The aim of the community 'Opportunity Board' would be as follows: 1. To provide badly needed 'human inventory' (Translated: A large group of live bodies) 2. To arrange for every American boy and girl 'to proceed along the course — education, employment, training, or service — that he or she wants or ought to take'. . . . The choice of words seems to imply that if they don't want to take the course they ought to take, they then would be compelled to take. . . . Cradle to the grave maintenance of people by their government is abhorrent. . . . and always has been. Each program enacted for the so-called welfare of the people have drawn a net tighter and tighter 'round the citizen by giving him something and then taking some of his freedom away in exchange."

TOO FEW PATROLMEN

Texas should have three times as many Highway Patrolmen as it does to patrol the vast network of state highways, according to nationwide standards Governor Connally is going to ask the Legislature to make a substantial increase in the Highway Patrol force and provide adequate salaries to attract and keep qualified men—and "Texans for Traffic Safety," is actively supporting the proposal.

Protect Your Children Against Measles, Says The AMA

CHICAGO—Now is the time to have your children immunized against measles if they have not already received this protection, says the American Medical Association.

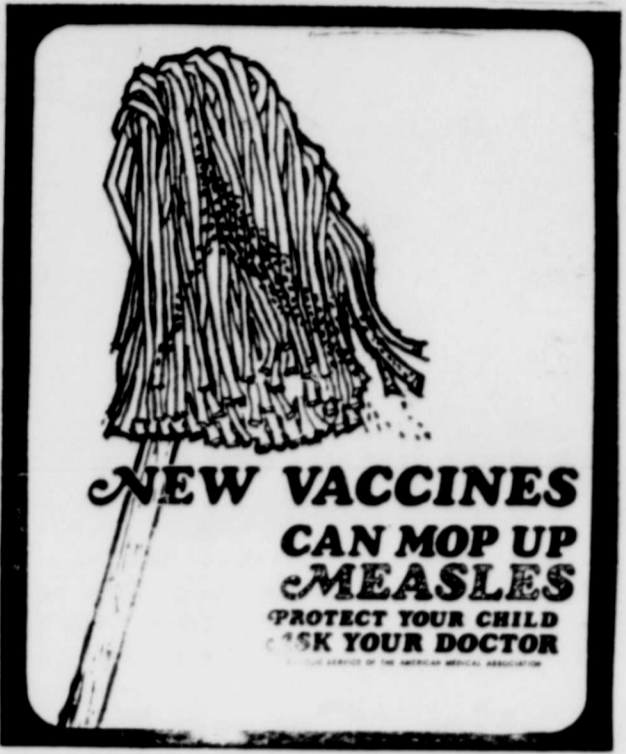

Many parents are surprised to learn how dangerous this common childhood disease really is. An estimated 250 American children died from measles in 1966. More than 150 suffered measles encephalitis, sometimes called sleeping sickness, or brain fever. Encephalitis frequently leaves children with permanent disabilities, including mental retardation, deafness, and blindness.

Future tragedies can be prevented because safe and effective measles vaccines are now available. In the past four years, these vaccines have helped cut the measles death rate in half.

It's possible that measles could be eradicated in the near future if more parents protected their children with immunization.

The AMA recommends that every infant be vaccinated when he is about one year old. All children over this age who have not been vaccinated and who have not had measles, should be immunized now.

It is especially important that children in nurseries, kindergartens, and the first two grades of elementary school receive measles immunization. These youngsters have the highest risk of infection.

Measles immunization is safe, inexpensive, and easily performed. See your doctor for his recommendations.

If enough children are protected by immunization, measles will disappear. It's time to get rid of this familiar, but often dangerous, and sometimes deadly childhood disease.

Council Expects Action On Water Contract Soon

A check with Mayor Stanley Wheeler on the status of the CRMWD water project for the city of Stanton revealed that some word on it should be forthcoming shortly from the Texas Attorney General's office.

The Mayor said that a letter was sent approximately two weeks ago requesting advice and instructions on the legal aspects of a bond issue to cover the cost of the proposed project and he hopes for a reply prior to next week's city council meeting.

"We are not running out of water at this time," he said. "In fact, we are not even short. Of course our situation gets pretty critical in the summer time and has been getting steadily worse over the past five years. That is why we are working on this thing now, so that when the pinch does come, we will be ready for it."

The Mayor indicated that the CRMWD intends to build a second pipeline from the Robert Lee reservoir that will pass closer to Stanton than the present line that originates in Lake Thomas.

"If the proposed contract goes through, we would undoubtedly hook onto both these lines, thus giving us double assurance of an adequate water supply under any emergency condition," the Mayor added.

"This doesn't mean that we intend to abandon our present wells," he said. "We will keep most of them to take up the slack if our daily consumption figures rise in the future. Fortunately we have never had to have water use restrictions, such as lawn watering, up to now, though we have discussed it from time to time," he continued.

"Need for this additional water is definitely on the horizon, and the council in planning ahead to meet this need," the Mayor concluded.

BROADER VEHICLE INSPECTION

Vehicle defects that cause bad accidents go undetected under the present Texas Motor Vehicle Inspection Law, according to "Texans for Traffic Safety." Governor Connally is proposing expansion of this law to permit inspection of any part of a vehicle designated by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

Although no single factor will prevent heart disease, says a pamphlet of the American Medical Association, good health habits are as favorable to the heart and circulatory system as they are to all body functions.

If you already have some form of heart disease, suitable medical management and good living habits will prolong life and make it more enjoyable.

Here are some suggestions from the American Medical Association for healthful living—

- * Understand heart disease. Don't fear it.
- * Learn your health status by periodic medical examinations.

* Reduce weight if obese: Eat less and the hope you will live longer to eat more.

* Don't experiment with special diets. If your physician thinks you need one, he will prescribe it.

* Exercise regularly. If you have heart trouble your physician will set your activity limits.

* Prevent infectious diseases. If one should occur, seek treatment promptly.

* Accept life's challenges, come to terms with the inevitable, and live as though you will live forever.

Martin County Library Plans Week Observance

Mrs. Ralph Caffey, Stanton Librarian, announces that National Library Week will be celebrated in Stanton from April 16 through 22.

Preliminary plans are now in the stage of formulation by the Standing Library Committee of the Stanton Study Club to make this one of the largest and most productive observances in the city's history.

The committee, consisting of Mrs. Glenn Brown, chairman; Mrs. Stanley Reid and Mrs. Caffey, members, has announced that the theme for this year will be "Exploring Inner Space," with the emphasis on urging the public to read about what is happening in this field.

"Emphasis this year," Mrs. Caffey says, "will also be on the students of the Stanton area in an effort to stimulate their interest in this subject and to urge them to read the wealth of material available to them on it."

Mrs. Caffey stated that the library had remained open at night in times past for the benefit of students desiring to study, but that interest had dropped off in recent months to the point where it was no longer lucrative to stay open evenings. She expressed a strong interest in re-stimulating their former interest and the committee will bend their efforts toward this end during National Library Week.

The library will resume the evening schedule if the schools show sufficient interest, Mrs. Caffey added.

Stanton Couple Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Matthews of Stanton recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house.

Hostesses were daughters of the couple, Mrs. Doug Mims of Midland, and Mrs. J. L. Simmons of Tupelo, Miss. Sandra Mims of Midland, granddaughter of the couple, registered guests. Refreshment were served by Mrs. O. C. Turner and Mrs. Barney Mims.

The refreshment table had a lace over gold cloth and was decorated with crystal and silver appointments. Bronze chrysanthemums accented with gold also were used on the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews were married Feb. 17, 1917, in Tupelo, where they lived five years before moving to Royce City. They lived at Royce City five years before moving to Stanton. Matthews has retired from farming in the Lenora community.

The couple have four grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter.

Shirley Ratliff of Eastland, and Travis Clay of Comanche, visited with her family, Mr. and Mrs. Verbin Graves, this week end.

Red's Corner

By RED GIBSON

The fire was still going, but the flames had died down almost to embers, I was sitting there, on the ground, watching the stump burn.

The kittenish winds blew me a whiff of the smoke, and I smelled something I hadn't smelled in 20 years. For an instant — no, less than that — I remembered every detail of past fires. Suddenly, my stump fire cried out for a potato. It was just right for baking the young boys bake potatoes.

We baked a lot of potatoes 20 to 25 years ago in Stanton. Somewhere, we had acquired a metal cylinder about eight inches in diameter and two feet long. We would bury the potatoes and then build a fire in the cylinder atop them. Sometimes, before we became experts, we would put the potatoes in the bottom of the cylinder, without putting any dirt over them.

This latter method had one notable advantage — no part of the potato was left uncooked, whereas, in our other method, the middle or bottom part would often be raw. However, there was a drawback to putting the spud directly in the fire — the first half-inch of the potato was turned into charcoal and only a core was edible.

There is a house now where our oven used to be, three blocks south of the railroad tracks on St. Peter Street — the main street in Stanton. The Gregg family lived on the northwest corner of that intersection there and we lived on the northeast corner. The southwest corner was the beginning of a wilderness for us, although Will Ed Fuqua's family and Leonard White's family lived only a block away.

To the west stretched a mesquite flat, dipping toward the forbidden Latin section. The neighborhood kids rode stickhorses many a weary mile through that brush country, and many a badman bit the dust there.

Glynn and Hubert Gregg and I were the main cooks, but Don Winslow and James McCoy also helped dispose of the potato surplus. As I remember it, we didn't progress much beyond potatoes, probably because that was all our mothers would part with.

At one time or another that area served as a campground, a baseball field and a work area. That is, we sometimes slept out, we often played baseball, and we occasionally gathered mesquite beans and sold them.

There was only one market for mesquite beans—Mr. Payton. I might say here that little kids don't worry about first names or spelling. Mr. Payton may have spelled his name Peyton, and he surely had a first name. All I know is that he paid five cents a bushel for mesquite beans, delivered to his goat pen. I do not know whether goats eat mesquite beans. Perhaps Mr. Payton threw the beans out after paying us for them. Such a thought never occurred to me until four minutes ago.

At any rate, we didn't get rich in the bean business, but we stayed out of mischief. And we ate a lot of potatoes on summer evenings.

Heart Fund Drive Held

A Stanton Coffee Day session held in conjunction with the Texas Heart Fund Drive here Feb. 19 brought in a total of $156, it was reported today.

The event was sponsored by Rho Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi with cooperating groups including eighth grade girls, Highway Cafe, Belvue, and Stanton Drug.

The funds will go into the Texas Heart Association fund in Houston for various research projects into the causes of diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

In 1966, $259,695.50, or 26.7 per cent of the funds contributed by the public to the Heart Fund were awarded to 44 research projects at nine institutions in four Texas cities. Public health education and information ran a close second with 25.3 per cent, or $245,680.44. Another 14.7 per cent — $142,578.37 — was earmarked for professional education programs while community service projects received 6.6 per cent, or $63,957.99 of the available funds.

Contributions from Stanton may be made through writing HEART in care of the Stanton Postmaster, or through the Rho Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

HIGH TEENAGE DEATH TOLL

Almost one-fourth of all traffic fatalities in Texas in 1965 were youngsters under the age of 20, says "Texans for Traffic Safety." All motorists are urged to use extreme caution in operating a vehicle around children, or with a young passenger in the car.

YOUR SAVINGS BOND QUIZ

Question: I have a $50 Series E Savings Bond which I purchased in January, 1945. What is this Bond worth today? Is it still earning interest?

Answer: In March, 1967, your Bond — for which you paid $37.50 — is valued at $74.56, and it is still earning interest. No E or H Savings Bond ever sold has ceased to earn interest.

Question: My wife and I hold a number of Series E Savings Bonds. We will have to redeem some of them this year to meet anticipated expenses. That's why we bought them and held them. What's the best time of the year to cash our Bond?

Answer: Normally, on the anniversary date of your Bonds, or at six-month periods thereafter, E Bonds gain in value every six months.

Question: They talk about the advantage of taking your income tax refund in Savings Bonds. What is the advantage and how do I go about getting it?

Answer: The advantage is that, when you take your refund in Bonds, it continues to grow, as your Bonds continue to earn interest. Look for the line near the bottom of your tax return form. There's a box to check, if you want your refund in Bonds.

Question-And-Answer

(This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q — I think I'm liable for self-employment tax. Which form do I use?

A — Use Schedule C-3 to report this tax. Any tax due should be entered on your Form 1040, line 15, page 1, and paid with your income tax.

Copies of Schedule C-3 may be obtained from local IRS offices as well as some post-offices and banks.

Q — I got married this January. Can I file a joint return with my wife for 1966?

A — For tax purposes, your marital status is determined by whether you were married or single on the last day of the taxable year for which the return is filed. From the information you provide, you must file a separate return since you were not married until after the close of your 1966 tax year.

Q — I heard a lot about changes in educational deductions last year. Can I still deduct courses required by an employer?

A — Yes, you can if the course is required by your employer to maintain your present job. The cost of educational courses may also be deducted if they are taken primarily to maintain or improve the skills required on your present job.

Q — Our baby had a bad skin rash last year and the doctor advised us to use a diaper service instead of doing them ourselves. Is the cost of the service a medical expense?

A — No. This is not a deductible medical expense.

Q — I have some income from the sale of a home to report. Where should I do this on my 1040?

A — Gains or losses from property sales should be reported on Schedule D, and then entered on Page 2 of the Form 1040 on line 5, Part II. Copies of Schedule D may be obtained from local IRS offices as well as some banks and post offices.

Q — I've heard that you should identify your payments of tax to IRS to make sure they are credited to your account. How do you do this?

A — To identify your tax payment, put your Social Security number on the check or money order. If the payment is in response to a notice of payment due, please enclose the notice with your payment.

Veterans Administration

(Editor's Note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q — I had active duty in the Air Force from 1959 to 1963. I want to establish a business. Am I eligible for a G. I. loan for this purpose?

A — No. The new G. I. Bill makes provisions for G. I. loans for the purpose of a home or a farm, but not a business for persons with active duty after January 31, 1955.

Q — I was discharged from military service last month after serving three years. I am not a disabled veteran. May I take on-the-job training in an automobile repair shop to learn a new trade?

A — No. Educational assistance is not available for on-the-job training under the so-called "New G. I. Bill." Educational assistance is available to study at recognized colleges, universities, trade or vocational schools. It is possible to study automobile mechanics or many other approved subjects in this type of training.

Q — Are educational assistance allowance benefits payable under the provisions of the new G. I. Bill taxable?

A — No. These benefits are not considered income for income tax purposes according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Representatives of 14 Texas Cotton Producer Organizations in Dallas on February 14 nominated 26 men from which the Secretary will select five members and five alternates to serve on the Cotton Board being formed under the dollar-a-bale Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., with producer members in 23 counties surrounding Lubbock, was represented in the Dallas producer organization caucus by its president, J. D. Smith of Littlefield.

Smith was authorized to speak for PCG by the Executive Committee at a meeting on February 9, and in accordance with the Committee's instructions placed in nominations the names of eight cotton industry leaders well known on the High Plains.

To determine the areas from which the five members and five alternates on the Board would come, Texas was arbitrarily divided into five "Places." Members and alternates from four of these are to represent one or more of the major cotton producing sections of the state. The Board representative from the fifth Place was to be what might be called a "roving" delegate, and could come from anywhere in the state.

For Place One in Texas, which covers the High Plains area, PCG nominated Roy Davis and Roy Forkner, both of Lubbock, as board members. As alternates, the names of Donald A. Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, and John B. Pate, Jr., were submitted.

All fourteen of the producer organizations concurred in these nominations, and Smith says it can be assumed the Secretary will appoint either Davis or Forkner to the Board and Johnson or Pate as alternates.

Place Two includes the Rolling Plains, Pecos and El Paso areas. Place Three is made up of North Central and East Texas, and Place Four covers the Coastal Bend and Rio Grande Valley regions.

There were two nominees each for board members and two each for alternates from Places Two and Four, and the 14 organizations were unanimous in the nominations of leaders from those areas.

No complete agreement could be reached among the organizations on Places Three and Five, so three names each were placed in nomination for members and alternates from Place Three, and four names for each position from Place Five.

PCG took no prominent part in the nominations from North Central and East Texas, but nominated its own candidates for the fifth Place.

Aubrey Lockett, of Vernon and Lockettville, and Guy Nickels of Muleshoe were PCG's nominees for board members along with Donnell Echols, Lamesa and Roy Hickman, Morton, for alternates. The High Plains normally produces 40 per cent or more of the cotton grown in Texas and the PCG Executive Committee felt the area therefore should nominate two of the five board members that will come from the state.

The Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association, with headquarters at Stamford, went along with PCG on its nominations for board members from Place Five. With this exception, the other 13 organizations agreed on a slate of four nominees from the staff of Prairie View A&M College, Prairie View, Texas.

Smith said, "We felt the obligation of PCG was to nominate people who could adequately and effectively represent this area on the Board, and we have met this obligation."

The Cotton Board, with 20 members in all, is the group which will designate the cotton handler responsible for collecting the $1 per bale and work out procedures for refund. It will then contract with a beltwide producer organization, yet to be formed, to carry out cotton research and promotion projects.

All of the cotton producing states have now held producer caucuses such as the Texas caucus in Dallas. And in view of the need to expedite the program the Secretary's appointments to the Cotton Board are not expected to be long in coming.

Area-wide, county and community meetings of cotton producers and ginners are continuing over the High Plains to help fill an almost consuming desire for more knowledge on the production of better quality cotton.

Traffic Accidents in Texas Will Cost $500 Million This Year

Texas traffic accidents will cost at least $500 million this year, according to an estimate announced by "Texans for Traffic Safety," following a meeting of the board of trustees.

Noting that 700 highway patrolmen have the job of patrolling 65,000 miles of highway, Robert F. Miller, president of the safety group, stated, "The lack of trained manpower to police our state's highways is showing up in our rapidly escalating traffic accident rate."

"Conservative estimates place the number of Texans to be injured in traffic accidents this year at 200,000. It is my firm conviction that if adequate trained manpower were available to enforce the traffic laws, this number could be reduced to a humane minimum. Nothing can take the place of enforcement."

"According to recognized authorities, a minimum of 2,500 patrolmen is needed to patrol the state's highway. There are 700 on the job today."

"Two hundred more jobs are authorized, but wages are so low that few qualified men can afford to take them," Mr. Miller stated. "Wages must be raised to realistic levels in order to attract and retain qualified men. The safety of all Texans is adversely affected by the lack of men to properly enforce the laws."

At the recent meeting of "Texans for Traffic Safety," Dr. Otto Lippman, Austin, chairman of the Transportation Safety Committee, Texas Medical Association, was elected chairman of the board of trustees. Mr. Miller, Dallas, president of Trinity Universal Insurance Company, was elected president of the safety group.

Lester O. Taylor, Dallas, president, Texas Automobile Dealers Association, was elected vice president, and John W. Lenehan, Dallas, regional vice president, Continental Insurance Company, was elected secretary-treasurer.

In addition to the officers, other members of the board of trustees include Dr. M. L. Price, Houston, president, General Missionary Baptist Convention of Texas; Mrs. B. P. Seay, Andrews, president, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs; O. A. Edgeworth, Dallas, regional vice president, State Farm Insurance Company; Jim Barnhill, Hillsboro, president, Texas Press Association; William E. Larner, Lubbock, president, Texas Association of Insurance Agents; Ray Herndon, Midland, president, Texas Broadcasters Association, and J. D. Squibb, manager, Austin, Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office.

"Texans for Traffic Safety" are people, companies, and associations, banded together to fight traffic accidents.

Governor's Highway Safety Conference To Be Held March 19-22

The 28th Annual Texas Safety Conference and Governor's Highway Safety Conference will be held March 19-22 at the Rice Hotel, Houston, it was announced today by S. Ross Carr of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association.

He also announced that an area Youth Safety Conference will be held in conjunction with the annual safety meeting. Some 200 high school students are expected to attend the youth session scheduled for Sunday afternoon, March 19.

The Texas Safety Conference and Governor's Highway Safety Conference, largest safety meeting held annually in the state and one of the largest in the nation, is expected to attract some 2,000 persons. Among delegates will be representatives of business and industry, schools and churches, civic organizations and federal, state and local government agencies.

Stanley D. Atherton of Houston, general conference chairman and a member of the TSA Executive Committee, said 43 safety sessions are planned with 235 persons scheduled to participate in the programs.

In addition to business sessions, there will be breakfasts, luncheons, an Annual Banquet and an All-Conference Party — highlight of entertainment functions. Safety equipment manufacturers also will be on hand to show the new developments in their fields. Some 55 exhibitors are expected to participate.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cross last week end were: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cross and children, Mrs. J. W. Graham and daughter, Pamela, and Mrs. John Schlager and children, all of Midland; Tracy Cross, their grandson of Sweetwater, and Mrs. Earl Creech and children of Denver City.

Question of inches . . .
Farmers Like Corn In Narrow Rows

Farmers across the nation are using new techniques to increase yields. For example, Orville Tunis (above) of Satuska, Kan., grew his corn in rows only 20 inches apart—about half the usual width. With his Allis-Chalmers combine, he harvested this 150-acre field. It yielded an average of 175 bushels per acre, despite damaging hail and an 80-mile-an-hour wind storm. In previous years, his 40-inch corn had averaged 115 bushels.

A new way to plant corn is making news on the nation's farms. On these wintry days, farmers are asking themselves: "Should I go to narrow rows? Should I put twice as many plants in the field by planting them in rows only 20 inches apart, instead of the usual 40?" Not since the days when Indians buried fish to fertilize their fields has there been so much discussion on how to grow more corn per acre. The discussion arises because over the last few years, mounting evidence has proven that farmers can get higher yields from narrow row corn. They produce as high as 20 per cent over crops grown in the same wide rows that great-grandpa used. The latest convincing evidence comes from Allis-Chalmers, the first manufacturer to offer equipment for planting and harvesting the corn in rows 20 inches apart. The company surveyed 199 customers from Pennsylvania to Colorado. Together, they planted 36,620 acres of corn in 20 inch rows during the 1966 season, far from an ideal growing year. It was an unusually hot, dry, windy summer in many parts of the country. These farmers said they thought the corn they planted made better use of the fertilizer and ground moisture than wide planted corn. Their yields averaged 122 bushels an acre. These same farmers compared their yields with their neighbors. Results showed that nearby fields planted in rows 40 inches apart grew 110 bushels, and the standard 40 inch corn only 101.

Obviously, the farmers surveyed were in the better corn growing areas, since the national average was only 72 bushels last year. Most of the farmers in the survey were sold on the narrow row method. More than half, 102 said they would plant more 20 inch row corn for 1967, and 52 indicated they'd plant the same amount. So what does it all prove? "Farmers who are already getting maximum yields from conventional rows can reasonably expect substantially higher yields from narrow row corn," says an Allis-Chalmers official. "Our more than 10 years of experience—working with land grant colleges and on our own—proves this." He said the company is continuing experiments in even narrower rows—down to 15 inches. A 200 acre plot in Wisconsin averaged 176 bushels last summer.

New Motion Picture Presentation To Be Featured At HemisFair

A striking new design for a theater structure and a totally new concept in wide-screen motion picture presentation will be featured in the $6,750,000 United States pavilion at HemisFair 1968.

John Orchard, director of the U. S. Exposition Staff for the Department of Commerce, said that the feature of the two-building federal exhibit at the Texas World's Fair will be a circular theater structure, 195 feet in diameter and 70 feet high.

A 20-minute movie based on the theme of the international exposition, "The Confluence of Civilizations in the Americas," will be shown in the Confluence Theater. The three-phase movie will examine "The Legacy," "The Harvest" and "The Promise" of American culture. It will be planned by Academy Award winner Francis Thompson.

The audience will enjoy a completely new experience in theater during the three phases of the performance. Initially, the theater will be divided into three 400-seat theaters, with the first phase of the movie being shown on three separate 15 to 20-foot screens. For the second phase, the screens will enlarge to 20 by 40 feet. Before the third phase, the walls dividing the groups will be raised into the ceiling and the three screens will disappear into the floor. The 1,200 persons in the audience will be joined for the final phase, which will be shown on a vast 50 by 150 foot screen.

Architectural engineering work on the exhibit is being done by Marmon and Mok of San Antonio, working in cooperation with Donald Deskey Associates of New York, the firm which created the idea for dramatizing the U. S. story.

Before entering the theater, the audience will enter an Exhibit Pavilion which will serve as an orientation area for the theater. In three-dimensional exhibits, it will contain artifacts, graphics, narrations, legends and other presentation teachings, all telling the story of how the United States has achieved its present confluence of cultures.

The Exhibit Pavilion will be a temporary structure and will be removed following the World's Fair. Although the ultimate use of the theater is post-Fair years has not been determined. Congressman Henry B. Gonzalez has suggested that it be utilized as an administration building for the planned Inter-American Educational Center.

"A more detailed announcement concerning this area can be expected in the near future," said Gonzalez. "The results of conceptual design competition have been received and evaluated by the Commerce Department and negotiations are under way for the winner to receive a letter of intent to proceed immediately."

HemisFair will be held on a 92-acre site in the heart of downtown San Antonio from April 6 to October, 6, 1968. Nations which have already announced participation plans in the World's Fair include Canada, Spain, Switzerland, Mexico, the Philippines, Peru, Bolivia, Panama, Honduras, and the Republic of China. Companies exhibiting include General Electric, the Coca-Cola Co., Humble Oil & Refining Co. I.B.M., Pesi Co., Inc., Pearl Brewing Co., Gulf Insurance Group, and Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Commissioner General of the Exposition is Gov. John Connally.

Midland Pioneer
Died Feb. 21
In Galveston

J. R. (Joe) Shelburne, 57, of 1007 S. Weatherford St., Midland, died Tuesday in a Galveston hospital following a two-year illness.

Shelburne, who had resided in Midland since 1913, operated the Joe Pal restaurant here, a firm he established after returning from the armed services in 1946.

Born Jan. 9, 1910 in Ballinger, he attended schools in Midland and operated a taxicab before entering the service.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Friday, Feb. 24, in the Newmie W. Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Ross Payne of Cotton Flat Baptist Church officiating, assisted by Dr. Presnell Wood of Crestview Baptist Church. Interment was in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. James Lair of Savoy; three brothers, Gene Shelburne and Ed Shelburne, both of Midland, and G. B. Shelburne of Stanton; four sisters, Mrs. Minnie Holmas of Alpine, and Mrs. T. D. Montgomery, Mrs. Thurman Pylant, and Mrs. Hoyt Burris, all of Midland, and three grandchildren.

Underground School Working Perfectly, McMeans Reports

Stanton's new underground school is working out perfectly and student's grades are improved since the new building came into use last year, Russell McMeans, Superintendent of the Stanton Independent School District reports.

McMeans said the school, one of the first underground plants in the United States, has also proven feasible economically.

"Since we have very little outside space to maintain and virtually no windows to replace, it is extremely cheap and easy of operate," he said. Currently, only first and second grade students are being housed in the new building.

McMeans said the grades of the children attending underground classes are better than those of their surface counterparts. He explained that the reason is probably because there are less distractions.

"It is relatively quiet down there," he said of the classes, "and there are no windows or visible outside activity to distract students."

McMeans said he "is very well pleased with the way the school has worked out" and supports the placement of another similar plant here when, and if, another new school becomes necessary.

Texas Farm Bureau Sponsors
Hero Contests

Somewhere in rural Texas lives a person who is due a hero's award. He or she, adult or youth, may be a member of your family or one of your neighbors.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council is now seeking that individual and you can tell the Council where he or she lives and about the deed performed.

The individual being sought may have rescued another person from a building building, saved a child from drowning or performed an heroic deed of another nature.

Whatever the deed, the Council would like to recognize and show their appreciation to the one considered by a selection committee as most typical to the nominees.

The Council will present to the person selected their Rural Heroism Plaque. Nominees must come from a rural area or from a town of less than 2,500 population. It is easy to make the nomination. Just submit a narrative covering the heroic deed and include the details, such as the full names of all persons involved and news clippings and pictures if they are available.

Mail the entry before March 10 to Rural Heroism Safety Award, c/o Joe Smetana, Safety Director, Texas Farm Bureau.
