Since daylight savings time started a lot of people not accustomed to rising early have purchased alarm clocks as the first step in being to their jobs on time. We've all heard of that old expression, "scaring the daylight out of you." Well, when that alarm clock bell sounds these days it scares the daylight into you.

In Kentucky, former GOV. A. B. (HAPPY) CHANDLER lost by a two-to-one vote to his opponent in the Democratic primary race. CHANDLER, one of the early dispensers of pork in the New Deal days couldn't stage a comeback. In Michigan young JIMMY HOFFA was defeated in a race for the statehouse. The voters, it appears, seem to be through returning the has-beens and those whose families have been touched by scandal to office. It is high time. A vote for HOFFA or anybody named JIMMY HOFFA, in our opinion, would be a distasteful one.

The Stanton Reporter is currently ready to make any type news photograph. If you have a good story requiring a picture call us up. With addition of new facilities we can have a reporter-photographer on the premises fast and your copy will be included in the first available issue after the story breaks.

Tuesday, May 30, is Memorial Day. It is our hope that our readers pause long enough on this special day to honor the dead who have fought and died for freedom. Let us all offer a prayer for an early peace in Vietnam. America needs it's young men at home where their contributions by their presence can be felt best by their loved ones and friends. The nation needs the peacetime strength of these youthful veterans to build a greater country now instead of losing their vitality on the blood fields of battle.

The contractors are hurriedly but carefully completing the task of helping give Stanton a new and extremely modern grocery and market through the investment of ALTON and O. C. TURNER at THRIFFWAY. The old store on Broadway is closed. Moving operations and stocking are expected to be completed in a few days. The one enlarged store will be situated at the FRIENDLY FOOD location, of course, but will be called STANTON THRIFFWAY and the phone number of that store retained.

It is well to suggest here that the present politicians in the pilot house in Washington refrain from making any more commitments that would cause this country to go to war over the mistakes of another nation of lesser stability. With a war running full blast in Vietnam claiming untold deaths, we now have the sorry spectacle of finding out politicians of the past, for expediency, committed this nation to another war. We can't stand two. In our opinion it makes very little difference whether the waterway at the Gulf of Agaba is temporarily closed or not. Certainly, it is not worth the death of one American boy. That shipping point is not so important but what it can be kept closed until some agreement is worked out. The attitude of one of the nations in Middle East fuss reminds me of the boy who yelled: "Come on, let's you and me fight him." The U. S. has a fight on right now in the Far East—a second brush fire would be hard to handle.

Bulletin

The Stanton Independent School District, through their trustees, were ordered to pay Mr. and Mrs. Belvin Steward a total of $1,500.30 for salary compensation for the school teaching time lost as members of the local faculty by Federal Judge D. W. Suttle in San Antonio Tuesday afternoon. The Stewards brought suit against the district several months ago, claiming they had been discriminated against, and were not re-employed when Stanton schools integrated. The school district won the first case held in Judge Suttle's court and the Stewards appealed. The appeal brought the Tuesday order before Judge Suttle again and the order issued by the court in the amount of $1,500.30 represented the difference in salary the plaintiffs would have made had they been teaching in Stanton in 1966-67, Spokesmen said. The school board was not ordered to reemploy the colored instructors, the order declared.

Stanton Reporter Sets Open House For Friday

The Stanton Reporter will hold Open House on Friday, May 26, nine a.m. to 5 p.m.

The staff will serve refreshments to those dropping by the office to view the new improvements in the plant's decor.

The building has recently been subject to a complete redecoration and interior improvement program. Several improvements have also been added to the exterior of the plant. A new coat of paint was one of the major additions to the building, along with additional overhead lights, a new floor covering and the new filing system set-up was installed for convenience and permanence.

The rubber tile flooring is especially outstanding. It covers the entire lobby and editorial rooms and the rest rooms. New plumbing fixtures have been recently added and a reception center arranged in the main office.

The building was covered on the inside with two coats of paint. The back shop was decorated with a two-color paint combination designed for eye comfort and is especially attractive. The bottom color is in green with the top pattern in white. The ceiling has white paint adding lighting power. New lighting fixtures have been installed on the inside and outside of the building. The outside lights are kept burning nights both on the front and at the back of the building.

A completely new set of doors have been installed. The rear door is of the pull-up type and allows a wide opening for loading and unloading material.

Filing cabinets have been arranged for more convenience and the floor plan of the editorial offices rearranged.

The Reporter staff invites those interested to come by the plant Friday for a look at Martin County's newly decorated publishing plant.

Invitation

With a great amount of pride and pleasure the staff of The Stanton Reporter wishes to extend a cordial invitation to friends and patrons of the paper to visit with us on Friday, May 26, at our Open House party. It's Not Surprising

The close ties existing between Stokely Carmichael and "a Chinese Communist-oriented organization" has been confirmed by none other than FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover . . . but the news didn't come as much of a surprise to most persons.

Hoover made the disclosure at a closed-door meeting of a House Appropriations subcommittee last February. The panel made it public this week.

Carmichael a leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, has, according to Hoover, "in espousing his philosophy of 'black power' been in frequent contact with Max Stanford, field chairman of the Revolutionary Action Movement, a highly secret, all-Negro, Marxist-Leninist, Chinese Communist-oriented organization which advocates guerrilla warfare to attain its goal."

The two groups are as dangerous as can be. Their activities should be curbed. —Midland Reporter-Telegram

Philosopher Can't Understand Price of Painting, But Wants In On The Enterprise

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw wanders out of his field this week, but that's his lookout.)

Dear editor:

One of the fine things about reading a newspaper is that a man can find such a wide choice of things in it about human nature he can't understand.

For example, I have been puzzling for days now over an item I read in a newspaper last week. According to it a bunch of art experts inspected a Texas oil man's collection of paintings and decided three-fourths of them were fakes.

Now up to then, the pictures had suited the owner, his friends liked them, everybody was impressed, but now that the experts say they are fakes, all the pleasure has disappeared.

I don't understand this. I knew a 4-year-old once who wouldn't eat any apple on Christmas morning except the one Santa Claus put in her stocking, but in a couple of years she had come to the notion that it didn't make any difference where an apple came from so long as it tasted good. Couldn't tell by biting into it whether it came from the grocery store or the North Pole.

I heard of a western rancher once who found out Kansas City steaks were somehow considered better than any others and hence brought a little better price, so he shipped his cattle to a town in Kansas, held them there a week, then took them on into Kansas City and sold them and got a big laugh out of all the people there who were eating fake steaks.

Understand, I'm not qualified to discuss art, I'm not even qualified to discuss farming if you get right down to it, but I can't figure out a

Bible Comment—

Resurrection Was Start Of Jesus Mission

If one thinks of the earthly life of Jesus as lived in its Palestine home then the Resurrection was its triumphant climax.

It was not only the victory over death, it was also the victory over those who sought to destroy Him.

But for the world at large, into which Jesus had come, it was not a climax, but a beginning.

It was now that He told His disciples to go forth and preach the gospel. In obedience to that great commission 20 centuries have seen the growth of Christianity.

But even greater than the outward power of churches and organizations is the mystic fellowship of all believers, who have taken to themselves the Christian name and who have sought to live according to the teaching and example of the Master.

The evil that Jesus fought and that crucified Him is still abroad in the world, seeking to destroy His teaching, setting up other standards of selfishness, violence, worldly power, and caring nothing for justice, mercy and right.

So great is this evil, so apparently overwhelming and successful, that it is easy to underestimate the power of good, the forces of righteousness and strength of Christian progress toward what may still be a far off goal.

But the power and impulse of Christianity are not in the past. Jesus still lives and leads in every devout soul whose daily life, no matter how lowly or great its place and environment, is attuned to love.

He lives and leads in every service for one's fellowmen, in the schools and colleges and in the missionaries.

We sing in our prayer, "Jesus Still Leads On," and that prayer has its answer before it is spoken, for the surest, most hopeful thing in all the world is that Jesus is still leading on.

Yogurt Yoked With Fruit

If your family fancies fruit for dessert, serve them this medley—an ambrosia delightfully flavored by Swiss style mandarin orange yogurt. A low-fat milk product, akin to custard in consistency, yogurt is smooth and tangy. Pair with a variety of fruits, or be inventive, as the Borden Kitchen suggests, and put in or atop many foods. Good eating just as is, too.

Clay Trial Due June 19

Cassius Clay is scheduled to stand trial June 19 on a charge of refusing to be inducted into the Army.

U. S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham set the date Thursday which is two weeks later than the original June 5 date but six weeks earlier than the Aug. 1 date the former world heavyweight champion's lawyers had sought.

Counterfeiting of U. S. currency reached an all-time high in 1966. Recovery of counterfeit money and arrests for counterfeiting were also at an all-time high. The Secret Service recovered $9 million in counterfeit currency last year. Only $900,000 of this amount ever was passed on to the public.

In ceremonies commissioning the Navy's $130 million Atlantic Undersea Test and Evaluation Center at West Palm Beach, Florida, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said: "This center has been established primarily for purposes of national security. But the knowledge we gain here will help us in other ways... perhaps the greatest promise of all lies in food from the sea."

Council banquet held on May 20. Butch Robnett, past president of the council was master of ceremonies. Invocation was led by Eunice Stephenson. Entertainment was provided by Melrae Angel and Mike Springer. Melrae sang "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" and "Climb Every Mountain." Mike sang "Moon River." Special recognition was given to Eunice Stephenson for her hard work and efforts during the past year.

Approximately 30 members and guests attended the banquet.

Final edition of the school paper, The Buffalo Rumble, was sold Friday, May 19. It included a summary of the year, and senior plans.

Graduation Exercises will be held Saturday, May 27, in the high school auditorium.

Clay was in jail last week for about an hour in Miami on a traffic charge.

Clay was arrested as he drove his 1967 Cadillac along a Miami street with his chauffeur at his side.

He was kept in the booking section for an hour until he made $75 bond on charges of failing to have a driver's license and not keeping a promise to appear in court.

There are additional appeals procedures available to you. A full explanation of these is contained in IRS Document 5202. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Anyone with income, regardless of age, should have a Social Security number. Application for a number may be made on Form SS-5 available at local IRS and Social Security Administration offices.

Question-And-Answer

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q — We are thinking of renting our house this summer while we're away. If we do, will the money we get be taxable?

A — Your total income from this rental must be reported but only the amount in excess of allowable expenses will be taxable. Heat, light, repairs and depreciation are some of the expenses that may be deducted. Since you will be renting the house only part of the year, annual expenses such as taxes must be pro-rated.

Be sure to keep good records on both income and expenses so you will be able to file an accurate return next year.

Q — My wife and I are taking in an under-privileged child this summer. Will we be able to claim her as a dependent?

A — If you plan to have the child with you for only a few months no dependency claim may be taken. To qualify as a dependent, the child must be a member of your household, live with you the entire year and obtain more than one-half her support from you.

Q — I got a letter from your service center asking for some more information so they could process my return. Can I give this to my local IRS office instead?

A — Because the information is needed by the service center it should be sent directly there. When you reply, return the form requesting the information so that both can be quickly associated with your return.

Farm & Ranch Review

4-H Roundup, June 6-7 — The highlight of the annual Texas 4-H Roundup will be the naming of winners in 32 different judging and demonstration contests. Some 850 4-H Club members from every section of Texas will participate in the contests to be held at Texas A&M University, June 6-7. The Roundup is one of the Nation's oldest statewide annual 4-H events.

Herbicide Combination Improves Mesquite Control — A relatively new hormone-type herbicide, picloram, in combination with the well known 2,4,5-T has shown superior results in mesquite control on West Texas ranges. Aerial application tests begun in 1964 boosted mesquite root kills from two to five times above kills obtained with 2,4,5-T alone, according to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Picloram, however, is not yet U. S. Department of Agriculture - approved for rangeland use. Further testing is necessary.

Warning Issued on DDT Residues in Milk — DDT residues in excess of recently established tolerance in milk have been reported in some areas of Texas. Improper application and/or the application of DDT in proximity of dairy farms and forage crops that are to be used as feed for dairy animals may be responsible for the trouble, explains C. W. Neeb, area extension entomologist. He warns that DDT sprays used for crop protection should not be applied within one-fourth mile of dairy farms or forage crops.

More Boll Weevils Survived The Winter — Recent U. S. Department of Agriculture report says that boll weevil survival in 1967 is higher than in 1966. In Central Texas, the average count this spring was 1,292 weevils per acre compared with 1,098 in 1966. In nearly all areas of the South where counts were made, the report said enough weevils will emerge to cause serious trouble if the weather is favorable.

The Union Pacific Railroad says it virtually rebuilds its original transcontinental line every eight years through its maintenance program. In terms of cash, the maintenance task is even greater by comparison. The dollar outlay for maintenance of way and structures last year alone was greater than the cost of building U. P.'s original line from Omaha, Nebraska, to Promontory, Utah—$59,166,272.

Soup As Cool As A Cucumber

Cooks, play it cool with Yogurt-Cucumber Soup, a refreshing start to any meal. Here's the Borden Kitchen way; just prepare the cucumbers, season, then add custard-like plain yogurt. If minutes really count, make the soup early in the day, then refrigerate until it's time to say: "Soup's on!" Yogurt soup's a treat to tote—just chill first, then pack in a wide-mouth thermos and it's ready to go to picnic or barbecue.

Yogurt-Cucumber Soup
(Makes 2 1/2 cups or 2 servings)
2 large cucumbers
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-1/2 teaspoons sugar
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 cup (1/2-pint container) Borden's Swiss style plain yogurt

Peel cucumbers; slice thinly. In medium-size mixing bowl mix cucumbers with salt, sugar, and olive oil; fold in yogurt. Refrigerate about 2 hours. Spoon about half of the mixture into blender; blend 15 to 20 seconds. Pour into individual soup dish. Blend remaining mixture. If desired, garnish with sliced cucumber and fresh dill.

Gunfighter John Selman Died With His Boots On

It was difficult to tell the good guys from the bad ones matter what color hats they wore.

One of the hard-to-identify kind was John Selman, sometimes a badman, sometimes a lawman.

It was Selman who gunned down Texas' most notorious killer, John Wesley Hardin, in the Acme Saloon in El Paso Aug. 19, 1895. Selman claimed Hardin had gone for his gun. Others claimed he hadn't. Selman's trial resulted in a deadlocked jury and a mistrial. Before he could be tried again, Selman was slain by Deputy U. S. Marshal George Scarborough.

Selman, an old man as gunfighters go by the time he held several terms as a constable in El Paso, was never convicted of a serious crime, although he killed at least 12 men and perhaps twice that many.

Until his lawman days in El Paso he had spent all his time with the toughest crowds the Texas and New Mexico frontiers could produce—the Fort Griffin Vigilance Committee, with which he participated in lynchings of about 20 supposed outlaws and a gang called Selman's Scouts operating around the Lincoln County War in New Mexico. The Scouts confiscated property from practically every ranchman in that area of New Mexico and left a few dead men behind.

At one point during Selman's varied career he showed up in Fort Davis and opened a butcher shop under the alias of Capt. John Tyson. Some of his old gang were operating in the vicinity, and Fort Davis and Fort Stockton became victim to many outlaw raids.

Texas Rangers, trying to capture the gang, suspected Selman was connected with their operations but were afraid he would learn of their suspicions and would flee. So they

Regulation of wheelhead natural gas prices by the Federal Power Commission will cause a shortage of natural gas in the United States, and even if price levels were to be raised immediately, it is already too late to totally avert this shortage. According to a Mobil Oil Corporation executive, "... the shortage will result because natural gas prices are too low to justify sufficient exploration to meet the demand."

American consumers spent more than $28 billion for health care in 1965, or 6.5 percent of a total of $431.5 billion in consumer expenditures, according to figures released by the U. S. Department of Commerce. This was an increase of 9.5 per cent over that of 1964.

Salad Days Are Here Again

When the weather turns warm, many homemakers yearn for cool, easy-going foods. From the Borden Kitchen comes one such recipe—a cottage cheese salad. It's a refreshing ring of low-cost cottage cheese and peaches, pickled with lemon juice, then wreathed in crisp greens.

Peach-Lemon Cottage Cheese Salad
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)
1 (1-lb. 13-oz.) can sliced peaches
1 (3-oz.) package lemon-flavored gelatin
2-4 tablespoons RealLemon reconstituted lemon juice
2 cups (1 pound) Borden's creamed cottage cheese
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped cottage greens

Drain the sliced peaches; reserve a few slices for garnish. Pour 1 cup of the syrup into small saucepan; heat over low heat. Stir in gelatin until completely dissolved. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice. Cool. Add cottage cheese to cooled mixture. Beat with rotary beater to blend thoroughly. Chill in refrigerator until mixture becomes thick. Fold in whipped cream and drained peach slices. Spoon into well-oiled 8-inch ring mold. Refrigerate until firm. At serving time, unmold onto salad greens and garnish with reserved peach slices.

Dora Roberts Center Clinic Opens May 27

The first of a series of regular quarterly crippled children's clinics will be held at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center in Big Spring, Saturday, May 27, starting at 9 a.m.

The clinic, under supervision of the center's medical advisory committee, is designed to offer a diagnostic and evaluation service to crippled children through team approach. There is, of course, no charge.

The team will consist of an orthopedic surgeon, pediatrician, physical therapist, public health nurse and brace man. By employing the team approach, it is felt that a better evaluation of the kind or kinds of treatment can be given, said Jim Thompson, therapist in charge of the center. The team may advise one or a combination of physical therapy, speech therapy, surgery, braces, corrective shoes, drugs, or some home exercise program.

Parents of crippled children who wish to have their children seen in this clinic should contact their family physician in order to have them referred. If they do not have a family physician, they should contact the center or register the day of the clinic.

All children up to 21 years of age are eligible to attend, and Thompson said he hoped that those from Lamesa, Colorado City, Snyder, Lorraine, Stanton, Sterling City, Garden City and other communities would take part as well as those from Big Spring.

The medical advisory committee supervising the clinic, as well as those scheduled for Aug. 26 and Nov. 18, includes Dr. E. Broadrick, Mr. M. W. Talbot, Jr., Dr. Neil W. Sanders, Dr. Louise Worthy, Dr. Desmond McCann and Dr. Lowell Suckow. The medical director of the clinic will be Dr. Thurston Dean, orthopedic surgeon from Midland. Pediatricians in Big Spring will alternate in supplying pediatric services.

One purpose of the clinic is to locate children not yet under treatment.

Ice Cream Takes To Cake

Surprise! Surprise! Nestled in the center of a new version of a devil's-food cake is delicate, pink strawberry ice cream. The cake's made in minutes from a mix, the center scooped out and the softened ice cream scooped in. The Borden Kitchen did give a hint of the surprise to come, though, by cloaking the cake in a pink frosting of heavy cream and sugar, then cresting it with strawberries.

Heavenly Ice-Cream-Filled Cake
(Makes one 9-inch tube cake)

- 1 (10-1/2-oz.) package devil's-food cake mix
- 1 quart Lady Borden strawberry ice cream
- 2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons kirsch, optional
- 1-2 drops red food coloring

Prepare cake mix in a 9 x 3-1/2 inch square or round tube cake pan according to package directions. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven 40-45 minutes. Cool. Remove from pan; cool thoroughly. Let ice cream soften about 15 minutes at room temperature. With a sharp knife, slice a 1-inch horizontal layer from top of cake. Carefully lift off and set aside. To make a tunnel for filling: cut around cake 1/2-inch in from center and 1/2-inch in from outer edge; leave a 1/2-inch base. With a fork, gently scoop cake out of tunnel. Carefully spoon softened ice cream evenly into cake shell. Replace layer cut from top; cover ice cream and press on gently. Place in freezer about 3 hours, or until ice cream is very firm. Remove from freezer 15 minutes before serving time. In a small-size mixing bowl, combine heavy cream, sugar, food coloring and kirsch. Beat just until stiff peaks form. Frost sides and top of cake. If desired, garnish with fresh strawberries. Serve.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Since school will be out in a few more days, many teachers are planning to go to summer school. Deducting educational expenses on your income tax return makes an important difference in the taxes you owe. If you are planning to go to school this summer read the chapter in "Your Federal Income Tax" on Educational Expenses, or ask the Internal Revenue Service for a copy of Document 5014. If you need help, call the Internal Revenue Service.

Red's Corner

By RED GIBSON

Ask any high school student who has had the most influence on his life and he will unhesitatingly tell you: his coaches.

Even admitting the student's tendency to overlook the influence of his parents, we can't dispute the effect a good coach can have on youngsters.

And thus it is that this corner is doubly regretful to see Doyle Edmiston leave Stanton. In the first place, he has produced an enviable basketball record. In the second place, while doing it he has helped Stanton youths become young men. Punks are rare in Stanton, and the influence of good coaches is one of the reasons.

My acquaintance with Doyle Edmiston is what you might call "passing." We met one afternoon last fall at a football workout. I was impressed by Coach Edmiston before I met him and was more favorably impressed after our brief meeting. He turned Stanton into a basketball power, and that's some feat.

I have never heard anyone utter a bad word about this write the names down on the enrollment form at the library and continue reading until at least 12 books are read. The library does encourage that each child read more than 12, but 12 is the number required to receive a certificate at the end of the program. As usual, pictures will be made and the ones who have read the most books given special recognition on August 31.

The library will be closed May 29, 30, and 31, but will be open ready to start the reading club program June 1.

The Associated Industries of Alabama says: "One of the best records of efficiently managed consumer needs has been compiled by investor-owned electric utilities. While consumer prices have risen by over 200 per cent since 1930, the cost per kw of electricity has steadily dropped. Lower costs resulted from greater capital investment per employee, good management, and the need to compete with other fuels. Free market forces continue to be the con-coach. This is surprising, since almost any town can produce a malcontent or two who will second guess a coach. Loudly. And frequently.

Few people will begrudge Coach Edmiston his move to Waco. The law of the jungle or of economics or of something says that a man should progress. Nobody is happy to see this man move away, but most of Stanton wishes him luck in his new job. He gave Stanton some good years. He'll be missed.

Mr. J. Howard Pew, chairman of the Sun Oil Company said: "Recently we witnessed an attack on the earnings of the oil industry when the government threatened the industry with the most dire consequences unless certain of the companies that had made a modest increase in the price of gasoline rescinded it. If the government continues to interfere with the price of gasoline, as it has done in the price of natural gas, it will establish another dangerous precedent which will prove to be a great disservice to the American people."

Dear Staff:

Open Letter To The Buffalo Roundup Staff

We adults, with our busy and complicated lives, are often too inclined to take the good our teenagers do for granted, while we expound too loudly on the bad.

So please let me take this time to say congratulations on a job well done!

During my past 12 years in various schools, I have been particularly interested in their year books, but never have I seen one with any better coverage of the schools or school's activities, or any better organized or assembled.

I feel sure that "outsiders" seldom realize how much work is involved in preparing an annual for publication, so I'd like to take this opportunity to say for all of us who have enjoyed the 1967 Roundup.

Congratulations on an excellent year book!!!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Russell McMeans.

The bill allows businesses a 10 per cent tax credit on employer expenses incurred in establishing and continuing a program of job training. THE FAMILY LAWYER

Assassinating A President

To many foreigners, and to many Americans as well, one of the oddest aspects of the assassination of President Kennedy was that the United States had no law against it.

Was this just a legislative oversight? Not at all. On the contrary, such a law had been proposed and debated a number of times over the years—and had always been turned down.

Of course, that does not mean the assassination was legal. The lack of a federal law merely reflects the fact that, in this country, the punishment of crime has always been entrusted primarily to the individual states, while not forbidden by federal law, was clearly forbidden by the laws of every state.

Why this arrangement? For reasons both historical and geographical, most crimes fit more naturally into state and local jurisdiction. It would seem strange indeed to have the federal government prosecuting the man who holds up the corner grocery or who drives recklessly down Main Street.

And the Constitution itself, while giving the states a free hand to deal with crime, gives the federal government no such leeway. The federal government may punish crime only if the power is:

- 1) given expressly (for example, the power to punish treason); or
- 2) given by implication (for example, the power to punish interference with the United States mail).

As a rule, the crime of murder has no peculiar significance to the federal government. Neither expressly nor by implication does the Constitution give the federal government a general power to punish homicide.

Yet, murdering the President is more than just murdering a man. It is a blow at the government itself, because it destroys the central repository of the nation's executive authority.

Furthermore, as a practical matter federal agencies—which have the duty to protect the President—should be better able to investigate such a crime.

The Kennedy assassination lent fresh urgency to these considerations. And at last, 176 years after the nation began, Congress has finally given overwhelming approval to a bill making it a federal offense to kill the chief executive.

The maximum penalty: death.

COTTON TALKS FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

It now appears that cotton producers in some sections of the Plains this year may be forced by weather conditions to avail themselves of the "disaster relief" provisions of the current cotton program.

Under certain circumstances these provisions permit farmers to plant certain other crops on acreage intended for cotton production.

They apply when a farmer, after an "honest and workmanlike" effort, is unable to get or unable to keep a stand of cotton early enough in the season to allow for the expectation of a crop. Under these conditions the producer may apply to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office for permission to plant certain other crops on the acreage intended for cotton.

The date after which a producer will not be expected to plant or replant cotton is left to the discretion of each individual ASCS county committee and will vary from one geographical location to another.

It is also the responsibility of the county committee to determine whether an honest and workmanlike effort has been made to plant and grow cotton.

Walter Wells, Lubbock County ASCS Office Manager, says the important thing for growers to remember is that an application must be made to the county office prior to planting another income crop on cotton land. Otherwise, both price support and diversion payments may be denied.

Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is voicing almost unbridled optimism on the future of High Plains cotton production.

Businessman and farmer alike have a great concern for the well-being of this area's number one industry, and Johnson recently has been called upon again and again to assess the situation for managers, civic club and farmer groups throughout the 23-county area represented by PCG.

He leaves no doubt as to his personal opinions on the matter. He summed up his remarks on one such occasion by saying "The High Plains of Texas will supply a substantial, increasing portion of the U. S. and world markets for raw cotton fiber probably for so long as such markets exist."

His optimism stems primarily from faith in the area's superb physical production capacity, faith in the results of cotton breeding programs and other cotton research, and faith in the progressive, never-say-die attitude of Plains cotton producers.

To illustrate that his faith is not of the "blind" variety, he points to expectations that at least 25 per cent of the area's production in 1967 will be in staple length of an inch or more, as compared to only 13.7 per cent in this category in 1966.

"This is a tremendous improvement in a single year, and it shows without doubt that the Plains is determined to meet the demands of the textile industry, whatever those demands may be," he said.

Johnson also has confidence that the newly inaugurated dollar-a-bale cotton research and promotion program will do great things for cotton markets and eventually raise cotton back to a more prominent position as a textile fiber.

Under the new program growers across the nation have voted to assess themselves $1 per bale to finance a vastly increased and improved research and promotion effort.

"It has invariably held true that whenever total cotton consumption in the world rises, the consumption of cotton in the shorter staples goes up right along with it, and the effects of the new market-building program will be felt right down to the grower of 7/8 inch cotton, provided that cotton has the other desirable characteristics," Johnson believes.

He points out the varietal and cultural practice improvements that have already been developed by local research, much of which is financed by PCG with its producer dues of 15 cents per bale and dues from cotton oriented businesses. Among these he lists on-the-bed planting (which has the net effect of giving farmers a longer season in which to produce crops); faster maturing varieties which are adapted to the area and which have been highly acceptable to textile mills; irrigation studies aimed at proper timing of water application to increase overall crop maturity; glandless cotton resistant to at least one of the most damaging cotton diseases; cold-tolerance testing of planting seed to assure adequate stands early in the season, and the diapause boll weevil control program, which, coupled with research is leading to the elimination of boll weevils as a current or pending threat to the High Plains in the not-too-distant future.

"The effects of these and other research projects are already being felt, and they are just the beginning of what can and will be done to circumvent the obstacles to the economical production of quality cotton on the Plains," Johnson stated.

On the declining supply of underground irrigation water, Johnson calls attention to the forming of Water Inc., which will lay the groundwork for importing irrigation water to the area, and says this is another example of how we are now spending more "working time" and less "worrying time" on our problems.

"It is widely known," he goes on, "that we have the largest and most fertile concentration of irrigated and irrigable land in the world. And when we have an adequate and assured supply of irrigation water, and I think we will have before we are too much older our production capabilities will be al-

How's Business?

RECORD PERSONAL INCOME REASSURING

By Roger W. Babson's Staff

Latest economic statistics are generously sprinkled with indications that erosion is still taking place in the private sector of the economy. For example, after a hopeful stabilizing of factory output in March, industrial production resumed its downturn in April. In retail trade, what appeared to be a strong upsurge in March was revised down to a smaller gain, and the preliminary estimate of sales for April showed less than seasonal strength.

But along with the host of disappointing developments during the slip in business since the beginning of the year has been a group of factors which hold out hope that the slowdown in business can be minimized in intensity and duration. Chief among these is the sustained upturn, to successive new peak rates each month, in personal income. Since one of the causes of the drop-off in business has been the sluggishness in consumer durable - goods demand, the strong showing of gross personal income is a definite plus factor.

In the month of March, gross personal income was running at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $613.1 billion. This was nearly 8 per cent higher than the year-ago rate. Fortunately, the key sector of salaries and wages has been rising steadily also, which should do much to bolster consumer confidence. It is earned income which bulwarks consumer propensity to spend. Nevertheless, the crested-over in industrial activity has slowed the rate of increase in personal income.

The primary retardant in the upturn of personal income has been the contraction of Elizabethtown, Ky., News: "A few weeks ago most of the large oil companies in the United States announced increases in price which would amount to about a cent a gallon to the consumer. The action was promptly denounced by Secretary of Interior Udall, who demanded that it be rescinded. . . . The News doesn't know what the price of crude oil or of gasoline be. Neither does anybody in Washington. The newspaper knows that the oil business is not subsidized and that the law of supply and demand should fix its price on the open market. Furthermore, if there is any collusion among companies in price fixing the legal machinery of the Department of Justice is poised to act against them. The Government in Washington gets wrought up about almost any, or every, kind of price rise except that in wages. The latter never seems to ruffle its feathers."

factory work weeks. This has reduced the flow of lush overtime work. But employment has not suffered, and thus the inflationary trend of wage rates has kept personal income rising. It is likely that the favorable climate in both employment and personal income will continue as long as defense business remains brisk. It is therefore reasonable to expect that as installment debts are whittled, and as savings continue to rise, consumers may soon step up spending.

most unviewed. "In view of these things and the growing world demand for agricultural production, pessimistic predictions about the future of cotton or other crops in this area are obviously not taking into account cumulative scientific know-how, our determination, our willingness to work together toward problem solutions and our ability to adapt our operations to the latest discoveries or research. "It seems to me, in fact, that pessimism at this time can only be the result of letting a few very real but by no means insurmountable problems stand as craggy trees between us and the luxurious forest of our agricultural future."

Under the new program, VA will issue an identification card to veterans who require this type of treatment, and each patient will be permitted to select a doctor of his choice for treatment of the medical condition stated on his card.

Tests of the new system — conducted in Indiana, Colorado, and Alabama — demonstrated that administrative costs of providing this treatment were reduced significantly.

Both the patient and the doctor also benefit by the new plan. The patient can visit the doctor of his choice as often as his doctor considers necessary. The doctor is relieved of much of the paperwork associated with the old system. Instead of preparing a medical report and a claim form, he merely files an itemized bill on his own letterhead just as he does for his other patients. Medical reports to the VA are filed by the doctor only when there is a significant change in the veteran's service-connected condition.

In the three-state test program conducted by VA before the system was adopted nationwide, both veterans and doctors cooperated with the program. Doctors provided care consistent with sound judgment and ethical medical practice, and there was no evidence that veterans abused the greater freedom of choice and the reduced controls. In fact, there was a slight decrease in the average number of visits per veteran. Additional details on the program which might be needed by doctors, veterans and veterans organization will be available next week.
