Philosopher Wants To Call Out The National Guard To Empty His Piled-Up Trash Can

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw reviews a problem we really hadn't thought much about.)

Dear editor:
Since one of the problems of living on this Martin County grass farm out here or any place in the country is what to do with your garbage, naturally I followed the garbage collection troubles of New York City, in the newspapers and on television.

If you haven't thought about it, you might suppose that garbage would be a minor problem in the country, but think about it a minute. Where would you put it? Start your own trash dump? Haul it to town? Let it stack up? Dig a hole and bury it every time the wastebasket is full?

It's sort of like Viet Nam. You didn't know there was a problem there until people started calling your attention to it, did you?
Therefore, I followed the New York situation closer than I would a good western and what I'd like to know is why can't we get a system like that going around here? I'm talking about the solution. It's simple, as I understand it. All you do is stack your garbage outside your house and if the Mayor won't pick it up the Governor will.

Maybe at first nobody pays any attention to it, but just keep stacking it up and sooner or later it'll get noticed. Sometimes politicians are said to be insensitive to the problems of the people, but it's not true when it comes to weeks-old garbage.

When I saw those television pictures of that New York garbage overflowing the sidewalks and piling up in the streets I said to myself, I don't have the answer to that problem but somebody's going to figure it out.

When I saw those television pictures of that New York garbage overflowing the sidewalks and piling up in the streets I said to myself, I don't have the answer to that problem but somebody's going to figure it out.

I'll empty it myself in a day or so, I guess, but in the meantime it's gratifying to know that when it comes to garbage I'm up on the New York level. You can't beat sophistication. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Bible Comment— And Such Were Some Of You

"And such were some of you; but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified, in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God" (I Cor. 6:11).

The preceding verses of I Cor. 6 contain a long list of vile sins and vices into which men have fallen, and the apostle adds: "And such were some of you." God's Church is not made up of "good people" who have never fallen into sin. It is rather made up of sinners, saved by grace, through the infinite payment made for sin by Christ on Calvary's cross.

"And such were some of you." Had the apostle included the more "refined" sins, such as pride, self-righteousness, etc., he would have had to say: "And such were all of you."

Note further that the apostle says: "And such WERE some of you."

Thank God, he goes on to say if those who had been stained with sin: "But ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified, in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God."

How beautiful these three phrases: "But ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified." The word "but" appearing before each phrase indicates that each should be considered separately. Such vile creatures were some of you, "but ye are washed," cleansed from the sin that contaminated you. "But ye are sanctified." Having been cleansed you are now set apart as sacred for His glory. "But ye are justified." When God justifies us, who can condemn? "Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth; who is he that condemneth?"

All this is done for the believing sinner, as our verse says, "in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God." It is because Christ died for us that we can now claim cleansing, sanctification and justification, and it is "by the Spirit" that all this is applied to our lives.

Texas Cotton Growers Use Production Chemicals — The use of agricultural chemicals for grass and weed control is listed by Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist, as the most significant development in Texas cotton production over the past six years. Last year, he said, either pre-emergence or post-emergence chemicals were used on almost two-thirds of the state's harvested cotton acreage. In 1962, only 46,389 acres in the state were treated with pre-emergence chemicals and even fewer with post-emergence.

Commercial Bait Fish Conference — Because of the great interest in fish farming, including bait fish, Wallace Klusmann, extension wildlife specialist, says a Bait Fish Conference will be held at Texas A&M University, March 19-20. The discussions will center on golden shiner and goldfish culture, fish nutrition, parasite and disease diagnosis and control, pond weed control, and handling, marketing and transportation. The conference is open to persons interested in fish farming. Local county agents can supply details.

No Screwworm Cases In January — The first screwworm-free January since the eradication program was started in 1962 is in the record books. Program officials urge livestock producers to continue their alert and submit samples from each worm infestation found to the Mission Lab for positive identification.

He suggests a visit with your local county agent for detailed information on the amount of nitrogen needed and the best method of application.

Lucas plans to harvest the rye this Summer and plant more next Fall.

The Stanton Lions Club is looking forward to a big night next Monday night when they have ladies night. All members of the club are urged to be present and bring their wives as guests. The club is expecting quite a number of out-of-town guests, and is to be especially honored by the presence of District Governor Frank Jordan of Brownfield, and Deputy District Governor M. O. Woolam of Andrews. Also plans are in the making to have some out of town talent for a very interesting program.

Due to a big lot of Stanton male population discussing the topic, the fishing season is at hand. Already one group of fishermen headed by W. S. Barnhill, has returned from the muddy water of the Rio Grande with three or four hundred pounds of fish, among the poundage, one cat fish that weighed 60 pounds. Before that bunch of fishermen took off, another group headed by Billy Clements and Finley Rhodes had returned with one or two members of the finney tribe. Two other groups, one a Baptist headed by Guy Eiland and the other a Methodist, headed by Cecil Bridges, but they have headed into a barrier, the Baptist began their revival Sunday, good for a week, and soon to follow is the Methodist revival. Two or three weeks of fine fishing weather must pass before the heads of these two groups dare take off for fishermen's paradise.

Last summer, in a little town in Syria, a potter was working at the wheel. And I knew he had a plan in mind, for he made a shapely and serviceable vase.

So our Lord, the Divine Potter, works with us, the clay, and He has a plan for our character and our career. We are not here by chance, but by Divine Choice. The Lord had something definite in His mind when he permitted your creation and made possible your conversion.

As the potter worked, the clay was marred in his hands. He did not reject it. He reworked it into another vessel, saying, "This takes patience." The Lord has never planned a failure. But sometimes we fail. The fault is not with the Potter, but the person. He is never responsible for the marring, but we are. Although we disappoint Him, He will not

Job Graduate Deferments Slashed

The Selective Service system has abolished draft deferments for men in critical jobs and for many male graduate students, freeing more than 800,000 previously deferred men for immediate call-up.

Only graduate students in medicine, dentistry and other medical professions and those who entered at least their second year of graduate study last fall would continue to be deferred until they receive deferments.

Local draft boards would continue to have discretion to grant individual occupational exemptions "on a showing of essential community need," draft Director Lewis B. Hershey said.

Friday's order will cover 339,474 full-time workers and 41,161 apprentices who had occupational deferment, Selective Service headquarters said.

It will also make eligible for the draft about 433,000 students, reported the Scientific Manpower Commission, a non-government agency created by scientific organizations.

The impact on college campuses was certain to be considerable. The Council of Graduate Schools estimated recently that graduate classes next year could be cut by as much as 50 per cent if graduate student deferments were ended.

The action was taken on the recommendation of the National Security Council (NS-C), composed of the nation's highest military and civilian officials concerned with defense.

The NSC noted many graduate students holding deferments could be fairly certain of never having to don a uniform by staying in school or going into deferred occupations.

"This is unfair — particularly in time of armed conflict — to all the young men who do not have the opportunity or finances to attend graduate school," the council said.

The NSC said neither the armed forces, the civilian economy nor the national interest require continuation of the deferments.

Mahon Protests Assignment Of Jet Fuel Import Quotas

Rep. George H. Mahon (D, Texas) chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has urged Defense Secretary McNamara to "resist" efforts to assign all or part of a Department of Defense (DOD) jet fuel import quota to marketers of home heating fuel.

Use of the DOD quota, under which the military formerly imported 30,554 barrels daily of jet fuel, was discontinued in June, 1966, as a means of helping to curb the U. S. balance of payment deficit. Rep. Mahon had urged an end to the military imports as an aid to the nation's balance of payments position and to support the objectives of the Mandatory Oil Import Program.

In a telegram this week to Secretary McNamara, Rep. Mahon expressed doubt that a case could be made for import quotas to marketers of home heating (No. 2) oil, based on "the contention . . . that No. 2 fuel oil is in short supply."

He said that domestic oil industry had demonstrated its ability to substantially increase oil supply on short notice, "during the Middle East crisis of the past summer."

"Furthermore," he said, "the transfer of the DOD (import) allocation which has not been used during the past two years would have an adverse impact on the balance of payments and nullify the contribution DOD has made toward correcting this problem."

"This certainly is no time for such action and I hope you will resist these efforts," said the Texas congressman. A similar telegram was sent to Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall, who has responsibility for the oil import program.

Rep. Mahon, in releasing his telegram to the Defense Secretary, recalled that when DOD discontinued use of its import quota in June, 1966, it sought and obtained assurances that the quota would not be assigned to other importers.

Noting that 8,700 barrels daily of the unused DOD quota has already been reassigned to the Oil Import Appeals Board and other importers, Rep. Mahon called this "distressing." "Obviously," he added, "reassignment of any part of the quota defeats the purpose Secretary McNamara had in mind when he ordered discontinuance of the use of the quota as an aid to our balance of payments position."

He said the Oil Import Administration ought to "settle any legitimate grievances or hardships" without use of the DOD quota and without increasing oil imports in any manner. "At a time when the administration is trying to effectively curb our dollar outflow."

Producer Finished In Spraberry

By JAMES C. WATSON
 John L. Cox of Midland has finished a producer in the Spraberry Trend Area of Martin County and has spotted site for a new project in the same region.

No. 1 Erod, 19 miles northeast of Stanton, and a northwest flanker to completed Spraberry well, pumped 227 barrels of 36-gravity crude per day on potential test. The production was from shot holes at 7,622-52 and 8,060-8, 203 feet after a 90,000 gallons fracture. Gas-oil ratio was 805-1.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 15, block 35, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Cox No. 1-C Phillips, also 10 miles northeast of Stanton, is projected to a possible 8,300 feet. It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 22, block 35, T-1-N, T&P survey, a southwest outpost to the proven territory in the Martin sector of the Spraberry Trend.

Stanton Skips By Tribe, 54-50

The Stanton Buffaloes rallied in the second half to nip the Morton Indians, 54-50, here Friday night to salt away second spot in the hectic District 4-AA chase.

Midland Carver clinched the title Friday night with a resounding 102-54 victory over visiting Denver City. The triumph left Carver with an unblemished 11-0 loop showing and a 22-3 for the season.

Stanton's triumph behind the rebounding and 17-point production of David Jones bolstered the Buffs' impressive district record to 9-2 and 22-8 for the season.

The game was tied seven times and the lead changed hands only three times.

Byron Willis tallied 13 of his 18 points in the first half to spark the fired up Indians, who bowed a sixth time in 11 district starts.

Morton led, 27-23, at intermission and was still threatening the slow starting Buffs in the waning seconds.

The score was knotted 46-46 with less than two minutes remaining when David Jones' lay-up put Stanton into a 48-46 lead to stay.

Jimmie Jones and Tommy Glynn followed with two-pointers to give the Buffs a 52-46 cushion. After Morton's Charles Carter sank two threes, David Jones connected again and Stanton led, 54-48, a lead that held up despite Willis' last - second field goal for Morton.

Morton outgunned the Buffs in the first two quarters, 11-10 and 16-13, but Stanton found the range in the second half to edge the Indians, 14-11 and 17-12.

However, Morton held the lead—except for a brief time in the first quarter—or was tied until the waning seconds of the third period when David Jones' 20-foot set shot put the Buffs in the lead, 37-36.

But Willie Moore's 18-footer vaulted the Indians back in front, 38-37, at the end of the third chapter.

Then the score was tied four times in the finale before Stanton broke loose.

Also setting the pace for the Buffs was Glynn with 14 points.

Stanton's B-team eked out a 59-54 victory, with Allan

Army ROTC Is Available To College Juniors, Seniors

College students in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico with two years' study remaining can still receive commissions as second lieutenants through the college ROTC program, according to Maj. Gen. Francis J. Murdoch, deputy commanding general for reserve forces at Fourth U. S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.

The traditional Reserve Officers' Training Corps program requires four years of on-campus training. The two-year program enable students who have not taken ROTC during their first two years in college to qualify for a commission. Although designed specifically for junior college graduates, many students beyond their sophomore year have qualified for the program.

To qualify for the program applicants must complete six weeks of summer training at Fort Benning, Ga. during June and July. This training substitutes for the on-campus training given to four-year ROTC students during their first two years of college. In addition to meeting physical, moral and mental standards, candidates must be at least 17 years of age and cannot be older than 28 years when commissioned as second lieutenants.

Students are paid at the rate of $95.70 a month during the summer training period plus travel pay to and from Fort Benning. Those who qualify for the program enter the ROTC advanced course and receive $50 a month during their last two years of college. An additional six-week period of summer training is mandatory for all ROTC students, (at Fort Sill, Okla., for those in the Fourth Army area) usually between the junior and senior years; the pay for this session is $160.46 a month.

ROTC cadets study for degrees in the fields of their choice. The military portion of their college training provides instruction and experience in organizing, motivating and leading others. It help to develop qualities of self-discipline, physical stamina and bearing.

Many ROTC graduates make the Army their career. Others, who return to civilian life after completing their military obligation as officers, find that the leadership training and experience gained through the ROTC program have enhanced their chances for success in almost any kind of career.

Students interested in the program may obtain an application questionnaire from the professors of military science at any of the 259 colleges and universities throughout the nation offering Army ROTC training, or any of the 38 within the five-state Fourth Army area. Applications must be submitted before March 31. They will be reviewed during April and the names of students selected for summer training will be announced in May.

Army ROTC is offered at: Texas: Hardin - Simmons University, Midwestern University, Prairie View A&M College, Rice University, Sam Houston State College, Stephen F. Austin State College, St. Mary's University of San Antonio, Tarleton State College, Texas A&I University, Texas A&M University, Texas Christian University, Texas Technological College, Trinity University, University of Houston, University of Texas at Arlington, University of Texas at Austin, University of Texas at El Paso, and West Texas State University.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

When A Child Darts Out

Rare is the parent, and rare is the motorist, who has not been haunted by the vision of a child darting out in front of an oncoming automobile. Yet, tragically, such accidents are anything but rare.

If a child is injured or killed in this manner, who bears the legal responsibility?

In a sense the child himself is at fault, since he "took the initiative" in causing the accident. But the law adjusts its standard of care to fit the age of the individual. In most of these darting-out cases, the child is too young to be tagged with the label of negligence.

Yet, the fact that the child is not responsible does not automatically shift responsibility to the motorist. Our impulsive, humanitarian sympathy for the youthful victim does not justify placing the blame on someone who is truly blameless.

Thus, a motorist is ordinarily not liable for running down the child who darts out suddenly from behind a parked car. For there is nothing to give the motorist fair warning of what is to come.

But there are many circumstances which should put the motorist on a special alert. An obvious example is the presence of a child in the street. The motorist should not assume, even if he blows his horn, that the child will promptly and prudently retreat to the sidewalk.

Even if there is no child in sight, other telltale signs may cry caution. For example:

In one case, the fact that a ball bounced into the street was held good reason for an oncoming motorist to expect that a child might follow.

In another case, a posted notice of "CHILDREN AT PLAY" was held sufficient to call for extra careful driving.

It is true that this special responsibility on the motorist, when children are in sight or in prospect, has a tendency to slow the movement of traffic.

But it is also true that cars are killing thousands of our youngsters every year. The law is willing to slow the traffic, to slow the slaughter.

Benefit Increases Due Persons Now On SS Rolls

By: ERYEN FISHER, District Manager, Big Spring, Texas

When medicare first started on July 1, 1966, there were two ways for older people to get their doctor bills paid under the program. The first called for the doctor's agreeing to claim the 80 percent payment direct from medicare, by filling out a very simple one-page application form. The other required that the beneficiary first pay the bill and then apply for the medicare payment, with or without the help of the doctor.

During the first year and a half of medicare, about half of the claims for doctor bills were put in directly by the doctors, while the beneficiaries had to apply, after paying the bill, in about half the cases. The system worked well enough—almost $1.3 billion was paid in benefits under it—but not without hardship to those older people who could raise the money to pay the bill only by borrowing or by depriving themselves of necessities while waiting for the medicare payment to come in.

Now Congress has changed all this to eliminate the necessity for the beneficiary's paying the bill first, in cases where the doctor decides not to make the claim himself. Beginning January 1, 1968, all the beneficiary needs is an itemized bill—not an itemized, receipted bill as in the past.

Of course, the assignment-to-the-doctor method is still the simplest method for all concerned. It requires the use of only a single sheet of paper, (the "Request for Payments" form), with no attachments or enclosures that might become separated from the claims for and delay a payment. Also it has blanks for all of the kinds of information needed to pay a claim, thus further preventing "write-backs" for missing data without which a claim cannot be paid. Under this method, the doctor agrees to accept the "reasonable charge" determined by the carrier, as his full charge, and the basis of the 80 percent payment made to him. The patient is responsible for the other 20 percent, plus any part of the $50 annual deductible that might be remaining.

But even if the doctor declines to accept an assignment, it can be to his advantage to use the "Request for Payments" form in lieu of his standard receipted bill in the case of medicare beneficiaries. Experience has shown that payment can be processed

Tax Man Sam Sez:

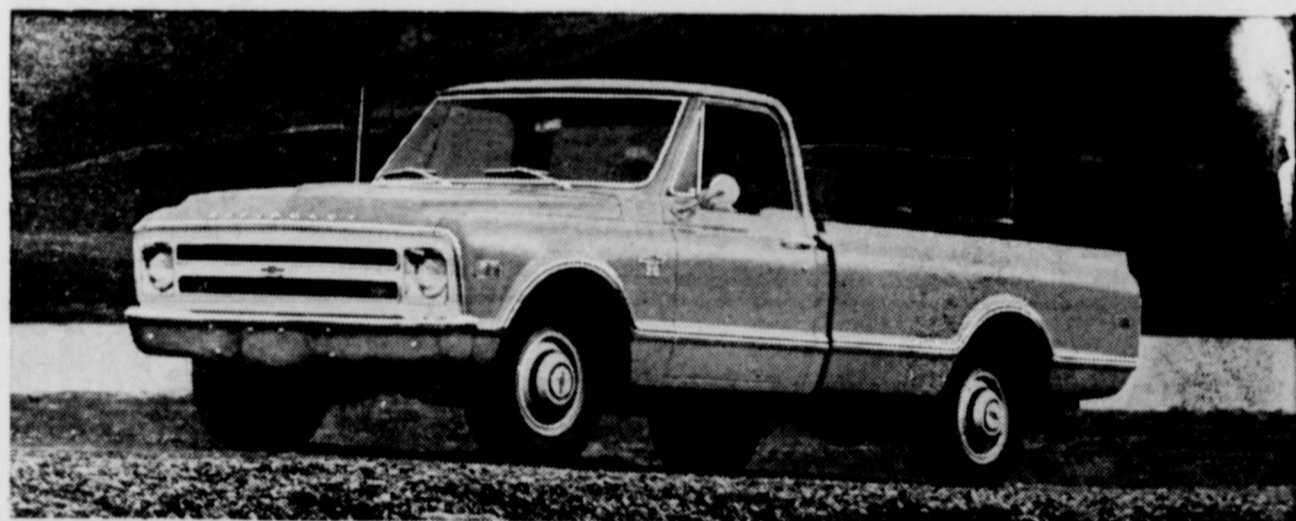

If you have a question about preparing your income tax return after reading the income tax instructions you received in the mail, IRS has three booklets that can help you. If you have farm tax problems, you can get a copy of the Farmer's Tax Guide free at any Internal Revenue Service office or at your county agent's office. Internal Revenue sells "Your Federal Income Tax" and the "Tax Guide for Small Business" for 50c each. "Your Federal Income Tax" answers most of the questions for an individual. The "Tax Guide for Small Business" does the same thing for a business.

As a part of their course of study, vocational agriculture students are required to have farming programs, or to gain agricultural work experience, under the supervision of the teacher.

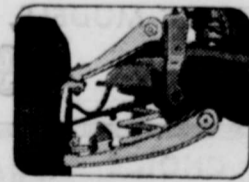

ed much faster when the form is used. This, in turn, will result in the beneficiary's receiving his medicare check sooner, with its proceeds passed along that much sooner to the attending doctor. All the doctor's office needs to do is complete Part II of the standard form. That will serve as the itemized bill which the patient can send in, to claim his payment. As before, medicare pays $4 out of every $5, after the first $50 medical bills in a year.

Mahon Forecasts 1968 Tax Increase

Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Texas) of the House Appropriations Committee said Sunday Congress would probably approve a tax increase this year after making considerable spending cuts.

Mahon said he believed that Chairman Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) of the House Ways and Means Committee, the chief obstacle to President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge would change his mind later in the year.

"I would say that it is very probable that Congress at this session will pass a tax increase."

Door Not Closed
"Mr. Mills has not closed the door. He is still trying to put on the pressure for more reductions in spending and this is all good."

"I believe that Mr. Mills will, this year, support a tax increase after we have proceeded a little farther in this session."

Mahon said he thought the defense budget would exceed the administration's request and advocated holding the line on spending at home.

Opposes Domestic Escalation
"I think we ought not to escalate these domestic programs," he said. "I think we ought to cut back wherever we reasonably can."

"I realize you can eliminate at this time the antipoverty program, the federal aid to education program in all its facets, but I don't think we ought to surge ahead too rapidly."

Mahon predicted Congress would make some cuts in the model cities program and said the space program would be trimmed "as much as reasonably possible without destroying it..."

National FFA officers (there are six) travel extensively. During his year's term of office, each officer will travel 50,000 miles or more and spend about two-thirds of his time working in the interest of the FFA.

the paper makers on acreage in addition to regular cotton allotments has been explored. This idea has not been abandoned, but to date USDA has refused to authorize such plantings.

Paper makers do not judge the suitability of cotton for their operations on the same basis as does the textile industry. They are not interested in staple or micronaire, only in cleanliness. No staple is too short nor micronaire too low for their needs.

"We hope to prove with this first shipment that the paper industry is a customer for raw cotton," Johnson concludes, "and whether that cotton is the low end of our normal production or is something we can produce on a high volume, low cost basis, it is still a significant step in the direction of a totally new market."

An informational seminar on cotton futures trading will begin at 2 p.m. February 28 at the KoKo Place, 5201 Avenue Q, Lubbock.

Sponsored by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, the event will feature addresses by the three top officers of the New York Cotton Exchange, Inc. Each will speak briefly on one phase of the futures market and a liberal amount of time will be reserved for questions and answers.

Bob Potet, Executive Secretary of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange said the seminar was arranged after many area cotton producers and others expressed an interest in the possibility of using the futures markets as a hedge against next year's cotton prices.

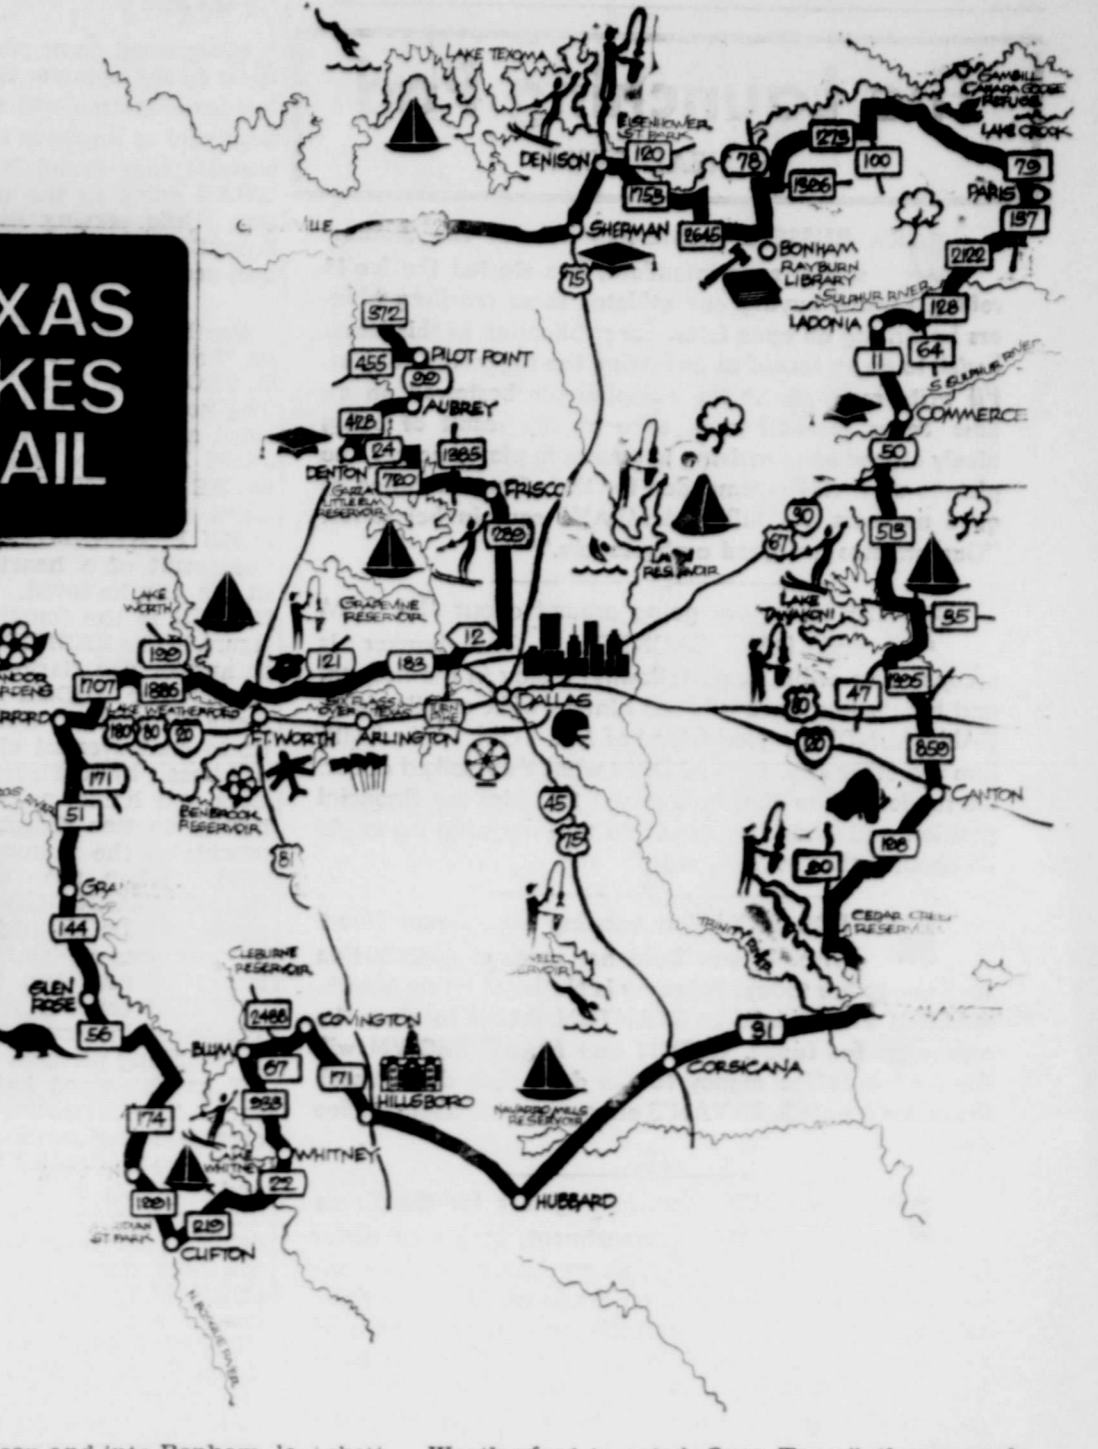

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. said "At one time the cotton futures market was an integral part of the cotton business and served various useful purposes. And as the Commodity Credit Corporation becomes less and less of a factor in the price of cotton it may be that some can again use the futures market to advantage."

He added that "To do so, most of us need a much better knowledge of how the market operates, and that is what the seminar is all about."

The organization, function and purposes of the NYCE will be discussed by F. Marion Rhodes, President.

J. Raymond Stuart, Chairman of the Board, will discuss market terminology and holding operations, and the Exchange Secretary, J. William Donaghy, will explain financing and variation of margins.

Potet said the Seminar would be open to all merchants, ginners, producers, and other interested parties.

LAKES TRAIL
In a recent nationwide survey, people who take vacations regularly were asked what they would not expect to find in Texas. Most frequently they listed lakes.

This surprises most Texans, especially when the state is second only to Alaska in volume of inland water. It was only natural then that the Texas Lakes Trail be included as one of the 10 Travel Trails announced by Gov. John Connally here January 17 at the third annual Governor's Tourist Development Conference.

At least six of the state's major bodies of water are included on the estimated 697-mile trip, including sprawling Lake Texoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border. One of the world's largest artificial reservoirs, it covers 144,100 acres with a shoreline of over 1,000 miles.

Other major bodies of water along the route are Lake Whitney, Lake Tawakoni, Garza Little - Elm Reservoir, Cedar Creek Reservoir, Lake Worth, Navarro Mills Reservoir, Cleburne Reservoir, Lake Weatherford, Benbrook Reservoir, Lavon Reservoir, Grapevine Reservoir, Mountain Creek Reservoir, and Bardwell Reservoir.

There are more than 200 lakes in Texas with at least 5,000 surface acres. Naturally all lakes could not be included on one tourway, but Travel Trail committees believe the ones chosen clearly emphasize the magnitude of Texas water resources for power and recreation. Two mammoth reservoirs are still under construction — Amistad, on the Rio Grande River near Del Rio and Toledo Bend, on the Sabine River.

Counties on the Lakes Trail are Bosque, Cooke, Dallas, Denton, Fannin, Grayson, Henderson, Hill, Hood, Hunt, Johnson, Lamar, Navarro, Rains, Somervell, Tarrant, Van Zandt, and Wise.

The northern rim of the Lakes Trail follows State Highway 69 through Sherman, Denison and into Bonham, location of the Sam Rayburn Library. This library was established to preserve the books, documents and other historical papers of the man who served as speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives longer than any other.

Continuing east as far as Paris, the trail turns southward to Commerce, home of East Texas State College and on to Greenville and Canton, site of a most unusual event. The first Monday of every month is "trades day" in Canton and people arrive from throughout East Texas to buy and swap their wares including everything from fine china to hound dogs.

The trail circles Cedar Creek Reservoir near Malakoff and continues to Corsicana, hometown of the fruit cake baked by Collin Street Bakery since 1896. Navarro Junior College is here and the Navarro County Historical Society has constructed a pioneer village in the city park. The trail leads south to Hubbard and north again to Hillsboro, gateway to Lake Whitney where there is no closed fishing season. Architecture of the Hill County courthouse in Hillsboro has been the subject of many stories.

Swinging up to Covington, Blum and back down to Whitney, the trail circles the lake and goes as far south as Clifton. From here it travels north again to Meridian and Meridian State Park. Located off State Highway 22 southwest of town, the park offers facilities for camping, picnicking, fishing, boating, and swimming.

Next comes Glen Rose via State Highway 144. Discovery of dinosaur tracks in the Paluxy River creekbed has made this Somervell County community the meeting place for geologists and paleontologists from across the world.

Granbury and Weatherford are the next stops. Acton State Park in Granbury is the grave site of Elizabeth Crockett, second wife of Davy Crockett. Weatherford is noted for its beautiful Chandor Gardens, inspired and built by English portrait painter Douglas Chandor. In spring and early summer, countless shrubs, flowers, and vines are in full bloom. Dore's Doll Museum and a rock hound museum are other interesting places to visit.

The trail loops above Fort Worth and Dallas, as each traveler must decide how much time he wishes to spend seeing the many attractions of these twin cities have to offer. Just off the trail is Arlington's popular "Six Flags

Over Texas" theme park. After a tour around Garza Little-Elm Reservoir, the next stop on the Lakes Trail is Denton, home of two universities, and excellent museum featuring Civil War relics and Pilot Knob Hill where outlaw Sam Bass hid from pursuing lawmen. Northward again, the trail passes Gaineyville, site of Cooke County Junior College.

Traveling on State Highway 82 westward, the trail returns to Sherman and completion of its circle around some of the state's most impressive lake country.
