Glynn Signs With Howard Payne

Coach Glen Whittis, athletic director and head coach at Howard Payne College, has announced the signing of Tommy Glynn, who is a six foot, eight inch senior at Stanton High School, to a letter of intent to attend the Brownwood school on a full basketball scholarship.

Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Glynn of Stanton, and was a mainstay on the 1967-1968 edition of the Buffalo cagers of Coach Vaughn Thomas, who finished the season with an impressive 23-8 won and lost record. Tommy played perhaps his finest game as the Buffs upset Midland Carver in the season's final 87-82 in overtime for the Hornet's only district loss. Tommy captured high point honors in this game with 29 points and was tremendous on defense.

At Howard Payne, he will be joining one of the perennial basketball powers in the Lone Star Conference. The Yellow Jackets are coached by Glen Whittis, who is one of the most respected coaches in the Southwest. Whittis will be the featured speaker at the Stanton High School All Sports Banquet on Tuesday night, April 23.

TOM ED ANGEL, president of the Lions Club, raked me over the coals for leaving out an important story last week. Frankly, the copy was turned in a little late, but TOM is right, the story should have made the last edition. It told about local Lions winning second place and a $25 prize for proficiency displayed in a contest at Brownwood when the District 2-1A convention was held there. MR. and MRS. BILL TERRY, MR. and MRS. CECIL BRIDGES, MR. and MRS. JOHN ROUCHE, MR. and MRS. TOM ANGEL, MR. and MRS. JOHN WOOD, MR. and MRS. GLENN MORRISON, and their daughter, VICKI, attended from Stanton. VICKI MORRISON was Lions representative at Brownwood in the queen's contest.

RED GIBSON, author of a regularly appearing column in the paper, his wife, NANCY, and attractive children visited JUDGE and MRS. MARTIN GIBSON, here during the Easter holidays. I managed to get in some dialogue with them before they went back to their home in Denton where RED is one the faculty at North Texas University. I also had an Easter opportunity to talk awhile with BOB HOWARD of Midland. The HOWARDS were over visiting with friends and relatives.

Pressure generated by April deadlines has ceased. It is good to have the voter registration (car registration, auto inspection, and income tax deadlines behind us. I am looking forward to some nice dates, including Mother's Day, Father's Day and July 4, Independence Day.

Library Week has been proclaimed in Texas to start April 21. MRS. GLENN BROWN passed along this thought which is appropriate of the occasion: "Your world too small — break out — READ." The local library is growing and considered well managed with MRS. CAFFEY in charge. Use your home county library.

Farm & Ranch Review

Corn Leaf Aphids — This insect, normally no problem in corn and grain sorghum, is causing extensive damage to emerging plants from Central Texas east and south. Weather conditions favorable for population explosions and unfavorable for predator insect increases are largely to blame for the situation, said John Thomas, extension entomologist. Fields already suffering damage should be treated at once and local county agents should be contacted for control information. The infestations are expected to spread north and west as planted corn and grain sorghum plants emerge.

Chemicals For Healthier Ornamentals — Keeping fungi and nematode populations under control on ornamental plants will make them healthier and more attractive. The most effective controls come from the use of chemicals, says Wendell Horne, extension pathologist. A visit with the local county extension agents is suggested for needed information.

Alert For Screwworms — Livestock producers are urged to continue a close watch over all animal wounds. Weather conditions are very favorable, says officials of the Screwworm Eradication Program, for fly development and spread. Stockmen are urged to continue submitting worm sample to the Mission Lab for positive identification. It's the only way, say the officials, we can know what is happening.

Income From Turkeys Up In 1967 — Turkey growers in Texas last year grossed $30 million, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This was an increase of $3.4 million over the gross for 1966. Turkey prices average 19.2 cents per pound liveweight, 2.2 cents below the average price received in 1966.

Veterans Administration

(Editor's Note: The Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q — I understand that the veteran pension law President Johnson signed recently raised the amount of income a veteran may receive and still be entitled to a pension from the Veterans Administration. How much was the limit increased and when does it take effect?

A — Effective Jan. 1, 1969, income limitations, which govern financial eligibility for VA pensions and dependency benefits, will be raised $200 for all beneficiaries. This increase is particularly important to "old law" pensioners since it will mean that the recent Social Security income hike will cause no loss in VA payments.

Q — How will the $100 increments in the new Veterans Administration pension structure which goes into effect next January affect pension rates?

A — Basically, the $100 increments in the new VA pension structure will mean that maximum VA pension and dependency and indemnity compensation benefits will go to veterans, widows and parents with the lowest income. For example, under current law, the monthly VA pension for a veteran with one dependent and an annual income of $1,000 to $1,099 is $109. However, the re-structured pension program will provide payments ranging from $120 a month for an income of $500 or less to $109 a month for an annual income of $900 to $1,000. And VA monthly pension benefits will be reduced an average of only $3 or $4 for each $100 increase in income up to the new ceilings.

Q — My Social Security check went up in March — enough to put me over the income limit for the amount of pension I get from the Veterans Administration. Yet, I received a pension check in the same amount from VA around the first of April. Was this a mistake? Will I have to return the VA check?

A — The amount of the VA pension check which you received around the first of April was no mistake and you won't have to return it. On March 28, 1968, President Johnson signed Public Law 90-275 which specifically protects pensioners like yourself from any reduction in their VA benefits due to the recent hike in Social Security payments. This is true not only for 1968 but also for 1969. For information as to how your higher Social Security income may affect your VA pension beginning in 1970, check with your nearest VA office.

Bible Comment—

Whosoever Believeth On Him Shall Not Be Ashamed

St. Peter wrote to the believers of the dispersion, some thirty years after the death and resurrection of Christ:

"Unto you therefore which believe He is precious; but unto them which be disobedient, the Stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner.

"And a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient . . ."

(I Pet. 2, 7, 8). It is true that Israel's builders, 1900 years ago, "disallowed" Christ as the cornerstone for their building, and that when He became the "Head of the corner," according to Psa. 118:22, it was for them an occasion for stumbling and embarrassment.

But Christ is a "stone of stumbling" to all who reject Him. In Rom. 9:33, St. Paul quotes from several Old Testament passages:

"As it is written, Behold, I The fife and drum were the instruments used to furnish music for the Continental Army.

lay in Zion a stumblingstone and rock of offense; and whosoever believeth in Him shall not be ashamed."

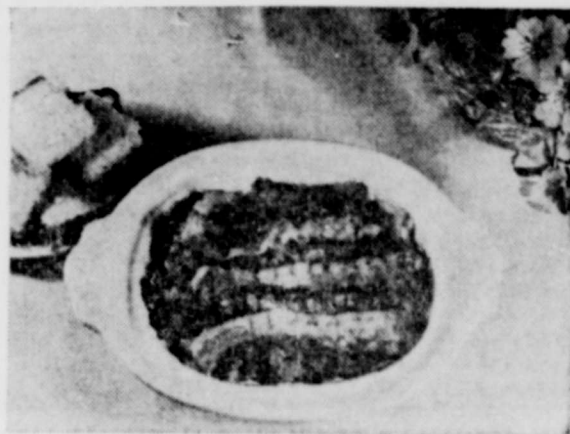

In Peter's day and Paul's, those who looked upon Christ as their cornerstone were never given cause to be ashamed. It was those who disallowed and refused Him; it was they who kept stumbling over Him and were constantly embarrassed by Him.

So today, those who put their trust in the crucified, risen Christ, are eternally secure and will never be put to shame for having done so. But those who reject Christ keep forever stumbling over Him. They hear him preached over the radio, they see Him offered as the One who died for their sins, they are constantly confronted with His claims and they are embarrassed. They keep forever stumbling over Him.

"Who so ever believeth in Him, shall not be ashamed."

Philosopher Knows Why De Gaulle Is Mad; Also Wants Search For Intelligence In Space

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw reports on a few items he has run across lately.)

Dear editor:

I brushed the ants off a copy of the Sunday issue of The Midland Reporter - Telegram which somebody had used to wrap up a picnic lunch they ate on the roadside near this Martin County grass farm yesterday and after reading it I've come up with a few items I'd like to report on.

First, I've found out why President De Gaulle is mad at the United States. France still owes us 7 billion dollars in World War II debts, and it's one of the quirks of human nature that when someone owes you and can't or won't pay, he gets mad at you, whereas you'd think it rightfully would be the other way around. This explains everything. You figure up what the principal and interest on 7 billion dollars for 50 years come to and you can see De Gaulle is so mad it's all he can do to keep from coming over here and thrashing us within an inch of our life.

Also, I notice that Europeans are denouncing us because we're pulling out a lot of our troops stationed there since World War II to help protect them at our expense. Let's see, how many troops did those nations send to help us in Viet Nam? How much money did they contribute?

And finally, over on an inside page, I read that radio monitoring stations lately have been picking up strange signals from far out in space, which some scientists believe may be coming from intelligent creatures from somewhere in the vastness of the boundless universe.

On this theory, the scientists want more money to finance a continuing and expanded search for intelligent life somewhere out there.

I say let them have the money. Who knows, somewhere out there on some other planet they may indeed find some intelligent life. It's worth a try. Up to now, they haven't been able to find any on this planet.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Former Rice All-American For George Wallace

Dick Moegle, former All-American football great at Rice University whose Owl team whipped the Alabama Tide by a 28-6 score in the 1954 Cotton Bowl game, will travel with and introduce former Alabama governor George Wallace when he visits Texas April 25, 26, and 27th.

Alabama football fans will recall the name Moegle with perhaps a bit of chagrin (the spelling was recently changed from Moegle to Maegle to aid in pronunciation as Maegle now has school age children). It was the blinding speed of the Rice halfback that letterally devastated the Alabama defense in that 1954 football game. This is also the same Dick Moegle who was tackled by Alabama fullback Tommy Lewis after he had broken into the clear for a sure touchdown. One of the biggest football shockers of all times was that Lewis came off the bench as a 12th man to make the tackle.

One of the shocked Alabama fans that day was George C. Wallace, a Crimson Tide alum, who later became governor of Alabama and is now a leading candidate for the presidency of the United States.

During the hospitalization of his wife, Gov. Lurleen Wallace, at Houston's MD Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, George Wallace resided in Houston at the Tideland Motor Inn where Moegle is manager. It was then that Maegle became a good friend and supporter of George Wallace.

In Houston Maegle said, "It is an honor for me to be of service to my good friend George Wallace in his drive to get on the ballot in our state."

Wallace's 3-day swing through the Lone Star State by chartered plane is part of his effort to persuade at least 14,259 Texans to come to their precinct conventions of his American Party so he will be guaranteed a place on the ballot in November. Adding difficulty to this task is the fact that those attending the Wallace American Party precinct conventions must refrain from voting in the Democratic or Republican primaries.

"REINDEER AGE"

An accomplished TV announcer, Maegle has done TV and radio commentating for the Houston Oilers games for the past six years. He also did the color commentary for last year's national telecast of the Sun Bowl Game at El Paso between University of Mississippi and the University of Texas at El Paso.

King Changed His Original Rights Policy

Mr. Martin Luther King, Jr., definitely changed the goals and objectives of his original civil rights plans.

As a matter-of-fact, King had abandoned those original blueprints. At the time of his death, he was mixing economics, labor union tactics, and material causes up with his old established factors. The Southern Conference of Christian Leadership, headed by the slain colored leader, as organized in the beginning, has no identity with the causes King sponsored in March and April of 1968.

The announced march on Washington, scheduled for April 22, carried threats never heard before in a King sponsored pre-invasion plan. Overtones that could be called "first cousin" to the violent tactics of Stokely Carmichael & Company was present.

The United States awaited this proposed march of 500,000 invaders with a great deal of apprehension.

Commentators made much of the fact Tuesday that Dr. King's business in Memphis, Tennessee, and his involvement with a local level labor dispute was to be a premier for his same-style show set up for the nation's capitol on April 22.

Martin Luther King realized he had lost prestige and his cause would certainly be lost if the Washington march failed.

As Edwen Newman, a commentator said Tuesday: "It now appears the King cause and his planned march on Washington, has been headed."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw, Bobby Howard.

Water runoff is a waste of natural resources, says Jake Hodges, local S. C. S. technician, assisting the Martin-Howard Soil and Water Conservation District.

Studies on water runoff have been carried out at the South Plains Research and Extension Center at Lubbock since 1963. Loam soils (similar to the ones we have in Martin County) of different slopes, were planted to cotton and grown under three moisture conditions.

Objective of this study was to evaluate the economics of land leveling, such as done with parallel terraces. Water lost to runoff from sloping fields would increase yields if stored in the soil; however, land leveling and parallel terraces cost money. Results indicate that yields can be increased an average of 85 pounds of lint per acre by preventing runoff. On dryland that was flat with no slope the average yield was 272 pounds of lint per acre, when this slope was increased to 2 (that is 2.4 inches per 100 feet) the yield dropped to 154 pounds of lint per acre. That is a decrease of 43 per cent. When the slope was increased to 1.2 per cent, or 14.4 inches of fall per 100 feet, the yield dropped from 272 pounds of lint to 96 pounds. This was a decrease of 64 per cent. The data from this experiment indicate that up to 32.4 per cent of the rains causing runoff will be lost to runoff on soils having no more than a six inch fall per 100 feet. This small amount of slope is presently considered good. Removal of slope will not only prevent runoff, but will increase control of irrigation water, er, which is necessary for maximum irrigation efficiency. A farmer can more than get his money back the first year, based on average conditions, says Hodges.

For example, if a man had 160 acres of land, that was 1-3 per cent slope, it would take about 30,000 feet of parallel terrace at 10 cents per foot, this would cost $3,000.00. The cost - share assistance under the Great Plains program is 70 per cent, or 7 cents per foot. That is $2,100.00. This leaves a balance of $900.00, or $5.62 per acre. The average increase was 85 pounds of lint per acre, figured at 16 cents, this makes $13.60 more per acre.

The investment for the farmer was $5.62 and the increase is $13.60 or $7.98 net profit. This is a 241 per cent return on the initial investment. How many places will pay 241 per cent interest on the money you invest? In Martin County the average lint yield is more than the 272 pounds used in this experiment. With a higher yield you could expect greater results than was shown in these tests. In Martin County similar results can be obtained by controlling runoff. A system of parallel terraces, with additional land leveling and smoothing work done in between terraces, will provide greater water distribution. Greater water distribution will provide the operating unit with a more sound economical operation. Remember with rainfall, it is not what you get, it's what you keep that makes the crop. Anyone who would like additional information on the economics of parallel terraces, should contact the Soil Conservation District at Stanton, for planning and guidance, said Hodges.

Angus Owners Form Southwest Association

Angus breeders from eight Texas and one New Mexico counties met at the county agent's office in Seminole, recently to organize the Southwest Angus Association. Counties represented are Dawson, Ector, Gaines, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Terry, and Yoakum, in Texas, and Lea, New Mexico.

Elected president was Jimmy Markhom, Seminole. Ray Adams, Tahoka, is vice-president, and Magdalene Markhom, Seminole, is secretary-treasurer. Members of the new board of directors are J. H. Flippo, Seagraves; Vernon A. Townes, Denver City; R. L. Warren, Tahoka; Weidon Mason, Meadow; Rex Dunn, Lometa; J. H. Crouch, Jr., Midland; Dr. A. B. Frinch, Odessa; Joe Mabee, Midland, all of Texas, and Leroy Sumruld, Lovington, New Mexico.

The main objective of the association, according to president Markhom, is to encourage more junior participation in Angus activities in the area. They will do this with educational meetings and field days. The first event will be a field day Saturday, August 17, at the Mabee Ranch, Midland.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Quibbles And Quirks

Farmer Jesse Paul watched sullenly as a deputy sheriff, sent by creditors, arrived to cart off his hay. Paul had not paid his bills, and there was no doubt that the hay was subject to seizure.

But suddenly a wicked gleam came into his eyes. He had just realized that the deputy was using his pitchfork without permission.

The next day, Paul filed a damage suit against the deputy. Clearly the fellow had no legal right to use the pitchfork. Yet, the judge tossed the case out of court.

"De minimis non curat lex," quoth the judge. That is Latin for "The law doesn't care about trifles."

Whatever the letter of the law may be, courts do have a certain amount of leeway in the name of common sense. A judge may thumb down a complaint that is simply wasting his time and the taxpayer's money.

Here are other examples: A dentist, reading a hypodermic needle for a woman patient, allowed a bit of liquid to dribble onto her tongue. Although the stuff was bitter, it was perfectly harmless. Nevertheless, the woman sued the dentist for damages, blaming him for an offense to her taste buds. The court characterized this as an "injury without damage" — and dismissed the case.

A pedestrian dented his hat on the bottom of a barber pole. Charging that the pole was too low, he aimed a damage suit at the barber. But the court, noting that the dent was very small and the hat very old, ruled that this too was a case of "de minimis."

And a man who tried to upset a verdict because of a 58-cent error got short shift from the appellate court.

Of course, mere money is not the crucial test. A man's claim for a single penny won a respectful hearing in the trial court and two appellate courts, with scholarly opinions being written by three justices. But that case involved not only the penny but also the interpretation of a new tax law.

In short, the law does care even about trifles — if there is a principle at stake. But there really must be a principle, not just pique. As the court said to Farmer Paul: "The law should hold out no inducement to useless or vindictive litigation."

Riots Cut Back Capital City Tourism To Trickle

The usual vast springtime tourist invasion has become a trickle in the heat of racial violence in the nation's capital, leaving the city's leading industry reeling in what should have been its richest week of the year.

The cost is staggering, apparently running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars daily.

One sightseeing firm lists its losses at $8,000 a day. At a 1,000-room hotel, almost three-fourths of the guests did not keep their reservations. High schools have called off class trips to the capital.

The full cost cannot be counted easily. Even the Washington Convention and Visitors Bureau was closed Tuesday along with most businesses in respect to assassinated civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The annual Cherry Blossom Festival this year came only a week before Easter, when thousands of pupils converge on the city during spring vacation.

But racial violence flared last Thursday night after the slaying of King in Memphis, Tenn., and the city came to a standstill beneath the pall of smoke from scores of burning buildings.

The few small conventions planned this week generally have been canceled but the Daughters of the American Revolution convention and the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting remain on the agenda next week.

Transportation is still snarled and taxicabs disappear as a daily curfew descends at dark.

National Library Week April 21-28, 1968. Let's Read!

The National Library Week Program, sponsored since 1957 by the National Book Committee, in cooperation with the American Library Association, is a continuing year-round reading and library development effort enlisting the voluntary support of scores of public and private agencies and thousands of persons. It seeks to remedy unfavorable conditions for a better-read, better-informed America.

To bring it down to our local level, we can see whether we have become a better-read, better-informed Stanton through the efforts of the Study Club in sponsoring National Library Week. Perhaps a comparison of the report of 1962 with 1967 will help us judge. In 1962 the library was open on Saturdays only for a total of nine hours a week. We are now open five days a week, for a total of 20 hours per week. A total of 111 registered borrowers in 1962, compared with a total of 694 in 1967, with approximately 1,300 circulation in 1962, compared with 5,602 in 1967, gives us

Red's Corner

By RED GIBSON

Some time back it was suggested in this corner that the powers that be in Texas might do well to show that they can enforce ANY liquor law before asking the people to vote in a whole new set of looser laws.

It was further suggested, or at least it should have been, that although Gov. John Connally may be thinking of a swank restaurant when he says people should have a right to have a drink with their meal, his new laws would mean that a bartender would open a package of Fritos, call his place a dining hall and start serving mixed drinks. This would, in short, produce a proliferation of bars, which means a proliferation of drinkers, which means a proliferation of calls for the police.

I must own up to my stake in all this. I am not being paid by the bootleggers, although I would consent to take the fifth if it were offered. No, I am motivated by cowardice — I am tired of looking at figures that say I have a fairly good chance of getting knocked off the highway. These figures say liquor is involved in half the accidents. That's scary.

Now, as noted before, my main hobby is hpyrocrisy, so I have to own up to at least sniffing a cork now and then. The taste or liquor won't necessarily corrupt a person. We don't need to worry too much about the morals involved in liquor by the drink legislation; we need to worry about the practicalities. If the guy can show us that we'll save lives on the highway because people will have only one drink instead of taking their bottle into the night club and getting soused, then I'll say hooray let's have liquor by the drink.

There is an element of hypocrisy in all discussions of this particular problem. Most people know that liquor isn't first place. The dries are no better—by and large they tend excuses for tolerating it in the first place. The dries are no better — by and large they tend to bilious self-righteousness, as evidenced in this column.

In fact, probably no other issue could draw together such a large crowd of hypocrites as the liquor issues, in which the bootleggers and many respectable tipplers vote dry while the wets say they are thinking about tax revenue.

It reminds me of an old story about a crusty old West Texan who was running for the legislature in one of the last citadels of prohibition. The editor of the weekly paper demanded to know how he stood on whisky. The candidate replied:

"You ask how I stand on whisky. Well, sir, if when you say whisky you mean the devil's brew, the bloody monster that defiles innocence, dethrones reason, creates misery and despair, yes, literally takes the bread out of the mouths of babes; if you mean that vile drink that topples the Christian man and woman from the pinnacles of gracious and righteous living into the bottomless pit of shame and despair, then, sir, I am against it with every fiber in my body."

"If, on the other hand, when you say wiskey you mean the oil of conversation, if you mean that philosophic drink that is consumed when good fellows get together, which puts a song in their hearts, laughter on their lips and contentment in their eyes; if you mean Christmas cheer, if you mean that stimulating drink that puts the spring in an old man's step on a frosty morning; if you mean that drink that permits a man to forget, if only for a moment, life's tragedies and sorrows; if you mean that drink which pours into our treasury untold millions with which to provide tender care for out little crippled children, our aged and infirmed, and to build schools and hospitals and roads — then, sir, I am for it with all my heart."

"There, sir, is my stand. From it I will not retract; I will not compromise. There, sir, is my stand!"

Stanton Girls Advance In Regional Play

The Stanton High School girls volleyball team, champions of District 4-AA, won over Olton, the District 3-AA title holder, in the first round of regional play held at Frenship, Tuesday night, April 9. Scores of the sparkling win were 15-6 and 15-1, and earned the Buffs the right to advance to the final round of regional play, which will be held in Lubbock on April 16.

The Buffs had captured the District 4-AA championship in the district tournament held in Frenship on Friday, April 5. They are coached by Miss Ruth Love, who is in her first year of coaching, after graduating for Sul Ross State College in Alpine. The championship was the first team championship that the local school had earned since joining District 4AA two years ago, and the first for Miss Love

Announcing Chevrolet's new Torque-Drive.

Nobody else offers anything like it at the price.

Torque-Drive does away with the clutch pedal. Most of the shifting, too. And for the most economy, it's available exclusively on all Camaro sixes and Chevy II

Novas 4- and 6-cylinder models.

Look how simple it is. You accelerate in 1st, then shift to Hi for cruising. That's all. If you like, you can even start in Hi. And accelerate from standstill to cruising speed. It's just a little slower that way.

The shift lever is conveniently located on the steering column, and there's a selector quadrant with easy-to-read indications: Park-R-N-Hi-1st. Only your Chevrolet dealer has it—clutchless driving at only $68.65.

Battle Of The Budget

At the beginning of the current session of Congress, Rep. George Mahon declared that it "will be a repeat of the battle of the budget, and it must be in view of the unacceptable deficit and challenge to the dollar. If we do not respect and protect the dollars we cannot expect foreign money markets to do so."

The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee has a good point. Though talk is cheap and political economy talk is even cheaper, in this case the speaker has both the opportunity and the plan whereby action may well result.

"In all but the imperative necessities," Mahon said, "we ought to close our eyes to each and every increase requested over the present level. . . . Reject the unnecessary. Defend the desirable. Minimize the essential. All it takes is good old-fashioned will—and a majority vote."

The administration claims that it has pared its 1969 budget down to the bare bones of necessity. Yet the Council of State Chambers of Commerce went over the budget and found dozens of programs which had been added or increased over the present level. By dropping these programs back to 1968 budget levels, the council noted, the government could save billions.

Among the many programs boosted in this "bare-bone budget" are the food stamp program, educational research and training, the National Institute of Health, urban mass transportation, highway grants civil super-sonic aircraft development and construction of sport fisheries.

The economic opportunity program is budgeted up nearly half a billion over present levels, more than that over 1967 levels. An even billion can be cut from the budgeted $2.5 billion for economic foreign aid—the council notes that there will be about $4.5 billion in unexpended funds from past years available in 1969.

In making these and other cuts of funds for programs ranging from the atomic energy commission to highway beautification, the council says, the Congress can save more than $8 billion without undue hardship to anyone. Such an example of responsible action would help not only to bring the federal budget back under control but to relieve the pressures on the dollar at home and abroad.

Congress has given quite a bit of lip service to such economizing effort in the past. It remains to be seen if the lawmakers will give economy the majority vote Rep Mahon mentioned.

Odessa To Host C Of C Anniversary Convention

The 50th Anniversary Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Odessa on May 5, 6, and 7, will be highlighted by several special features, according to an announcement today by Don Wooten, Abilene, president of the regional organization.

Opening Sunday, May 5, with a reception and buffet dinner honoring Dr. Milford O. Rouse, president of the American Medical Association, the three days will be packed with sessions devoted to subjects of vital interest to business community of West Texas, Wooten reported.

Three special panels have been arranged for the discussion of subjects directly connected with the economy of West Texas. "Petroleum and Chemicals," "Finance" and "Vocational and Technical Training" are the subject of the special sessions.

Another feature which has never been utilized before at a WTCC convention will be the "Displaced West Texans" dinner. At this function outstanding leaders of various businesses and professions from throughout the United States will be honored. All of the honorees are people who have formerly resided in West Texas and whose homes are now in other sections of the U. S.

A "Water Seminar" is also scheduled for the convention. Leaders in the plan to move water to West Texas from sources outside the State will take part in the seminar. Latest details and developments of the Texas Water Plan will be aired, according to K. B. Watson, Amarillo, chairman of the WTCC Water Committee.

The usual Quota Busters' Breakfast is a feature which will probably attract the largest attendance in the history of the WTCC. More cities will be qualified for attendance by their directors than ever before because of the increased activity toward membership development during the past few months, it is reported by Ralph Duncan, membership director of WTCC.

Convention headquarters will be Inn of the Golden West, Odessa. All business sessions will be conducted in the hotel, but one of the large dinner meetings will be held in other locations.

Individual participants on the program will be announced within a few days, according to Jack G. Springer, executive vice president of WTCC.

"With the extra entertainment features being planned for this year it appears that our attendance will be as great or greater than at Del Rio last year," Springer stated. "We will also honor the living past presidents of the organization at the annual banquet when we present the film on the history of the WTCC," he added.

Owen B. Ingram Dies In Hospital; Rites Friday

Owen B. Ingram, 52, Midland building contractor, died Wednesday night, April 10, in a Houston hospital. He resided at 2108 W. Missouri Street.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church with Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor, officiating in the service in Resurrection Memorial Park.

A native of Winters, Ingram spent his early life in the Abilene area. He was a graduate of Abilene High School and attended Texas Tech. He also attended the University of Texas, receiving a B.A. degree. He was married in 1940 to Anne Bade of Sterling City.

Ingram ranched near Stanton several years before moving to Midland in the early 1950s. In Midland he was a builder of custom homes.

Survivors include the widow of Midland; a son, William B. Ingram of Houston; a daughter, Glee Ingram of Austin; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Ingram of San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Glee Monroe at San Angelo, and one grandchild.

Mourning Dove Prospects Look Good This Year

This year could be the best in a decade for Texas mourning dove hunters, predicts Ted Clark, project leader of the state-wide mourning dove project for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Clark said this prediction is based on the excellent rainfall which has pretty well covered the entire state and the expected heavy growth of seed-producing weeds and grasses. "This could be the best year in several years if such conditions continue through the summer."

Post-nuptial flights of doves have been reported in several areas of the state. These flights indicate that doves have paired off in preparation for the nesting season. Research earlier indicates that birds hatched this year will make up from 50 to 70 percent of this year's harvest.

Wildlife biologists say a higher percentage of young birds in a hunter's bag means a good dynamic population. A higher percentage of mature birds could mean the brood stock is being harvested.

Clark's prediction comes at the end of the post season banding period when 5,072 mourning doves were banded at 32 trap sites scattered widely throughout the state. Once banded, these birds were released to be heard from again only as an entry on a computer printout sheet tabulated by the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

A return of three percent of the small aluminum bands is considered good, Clark said. With years of band returns in the computer, biologists can establish patterns in migration, life expectancy and other data which will assist in management of the state's number one game bird.

Of the 5,883 mourning doves banded by department personnel in 1967, some 53 of the bands were reported to the Bureau. The computer printout sheet showed that birds banded in Texas were taken by hunters as far north as Michigan and as far south as Mexico. However, most of the birds were killed in Texas and in many instances in the same or adjacent county where they were banded.

Roger Babson was asked by the president of the Argentine republic, "Why is it that South America with all its natural advantages is so far behind North America, notwithstanding that South America was settled first?"

The financier replied, "What do you think the reason?" "South America was settled by the Spanish who came in search of gold," answered the president, "but North America was settled by the Pilgrim Fathers who went there in search of God." Warned Babson, "May we never forget the foundation upon which our permanent prosperity is based."

But we are forgetting the foundation, and it is written in Psalm 11:3, "If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?"

The foundations which support Christianity support our country. We are enjoying a free government because our forefathers experienced a faith in God. The Bill of Rights came into being because of their belief in the Bible.

In all countries that reject God there is ruthless government and wickedness and wretchedness among the people. And those things that destroy the foundations of religion will also destroy our republic. Our country cannot continue if the foundations of Christianity crumble.

Let us renew our faith in the Lord and His Word. It is revival or ruin!

West Texas Solons Vote Against Bill

West Texas Congressmen, all of them, sensing the mood of the people in the area of Texas they represent, voted against the hurriedly passed civil rights bill.

Under pressure from many sources, including Lyndon Johnson, the Kennedys, and the eastern establishment, the West Texans did not stampede and go off on the emotional wave.

Opposing the adoption of the civil rights measure were George Mahon of Lubbock, Omar Burleson of Anson, Richard White of El Paso, O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, and Bob Price of Pampa.

Congressman Earle Cabell of Dallas, Joe Pool of Dallas, Jake Pickle of Austin, Olin Teague of College Station, Bob Casey of Houston, John Dowdy of Athens, and Ray Roberts of McKinney voted against the bill also.

Question-And-Answer

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. This column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q — What form do I use to report a profit on the sale of my home?

A — Profits on the sale of a home should be reported on Schedule D, "Gains and Losses From Sales or Exchanges of Property." Taxpayers who filed this schedule with their return last year should find included with the 1040 tax package they received in the mail.

Copies of Schedule D are available at many banks and post offices as well as local offices of the IRS.

Q — I owe a couple hundred dollars on my 1967 tax. Can I pay half of this when I file and the rest later?

A — No. The tax due must be paid in full when the return is filed.

Q — I drive to work every day and have several regular riders. Am I taxed on the money they give me to cover driving expenses?

A — Payments such as you describe do not have to be reported as income unless they exceed expenses.

Q — I am expecting a refund this year. Do I use the envelope that came in the 1040 package?

A — Yes. All returns calling for a refund should be sent to the IRS Service Center. Taxpayers expecting refunds but who do not have an envelope addressed to the Service Center should check page 10 of the 1040 instructions.

Q — I read in the 1040 instructions that unemployment benefits paid by a company are taxable. Does that include state unemployment benefits too?

A — No. State unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported.

Q — Can you claim someone as a dependent if he does not live with you?

A — A person does not have to be a member of your household to be eligible as a dependent as long as he or she is a close relation.

A parent, brother or sister, child or grandchild are among those that meet the legal definition of a close relation.

Q — Where can I hire someone to help me prepare my tax return?

A — Call your local accounting, legal or tax practitioner association. They should be able to make a recommendation.

Q — I changed jobs last year and when I left my old job I collected what had been built up in my profit-sharing account. Is that taxable?

A — Yes. However, if you received the funds all in one year because you left the company, then the excess over your contribution could be taxed as a capital gain. Otherwise, report it as ordinary income.

Q — My company provides me with an expense account to cover costs while I am on business trips. Do I have to report this on my return?

A — This should be noted by checking the box at the bottom of Page 2 of Form 1040. If you account to your employer for these expenses and your reimbursement matches these expenses, then there is nothing further to report.

However, if your reimbursement exceeds your expenses, then the excess should be reported as income. If your expenses were greater than your reimbursement then you report the reimbursement and deduct the expenses. Details on expense accounts can be found on Page 7 of the 1040 instructions.

Q — Are lump sum Social Security payments taxable?

A — No. All Social Security benefits are tax exempt.

Q — Withholding covered my 1967 income tax. Do I still have to file a return?

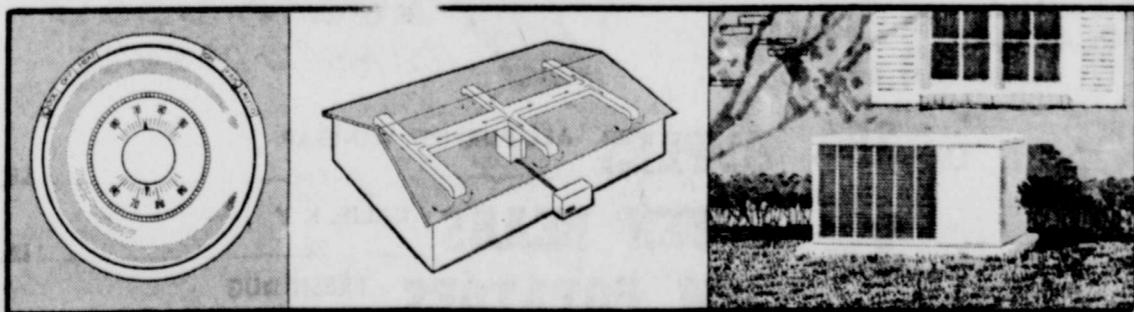

A — Whether you owe additional taxes is not the determining factor. If your income was $600 or more, or $1,200 if you are 65 or older, you must file. If you have net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more you must file a return and pay self-employment tax.
