Old Settlers Reunion Date Fixed

By NEAL ESTES

HAZEL and EZELL McKASKLE have returned home from a vacation jaunt to their native Louisiana. I worked in Louisiana at one time and owned and edited a newspaper near the state border for many years. The people of the Pelican state are some of the finest. I have copies of THE TIMES - PICAYUNE, NEW ORLEANS STATES-ITEM and LAKE CHARLES AMERICAN PRESS, brought to me by the McKASKLES. "ALL DEMONSTRATIONS OUTLAWED BY FRANCE." That was the banner appearing on the ITEM on June 12. Wouldn't it be a wonderful thing if we could read a headline like that in THE WASHINGTON POST about the U.S.A.? Of course, New Orleans is heavily populated with Frenchman and people of French extraction. The people residing in Louisiana, one of the 50 sovereign states of our country — never have bought the JOHNSON-HUMPHREY administration. They admire and respect GEN. CHARLE DE GAULLE because they think he has done a job worth remembering with the French Republic. Certainly, he is not going to tolerate the street riots and marching, and you won't read where a "Insurrection City" rose on the capital grounds in Paris, France.

AL CAPPE, the cartoonist, lecturer, and fair thinker, appeared on the CARSON Show the other evening and said a lot of things Americans wanted to hear. He answered Mayor JOHN LINDSEY, who appeared on the program just ahead of him, with a genuine blast. CAPPE said he could not condone the crime in New York and the manner in which students were closing up schools, colleges and great universities such as Columbia, simply by locking up the teachers and instructors and interfering with classes. And yet we have men like ROCKEFELLER who want to be President when he can't even control crime in his own state as the governor. The garment unions are running part of New York and the unions, strong-arm gangsters, hoodlums, hoodlums, and minority groups are running the other part of the state. JACKIE ROBINSON, former baseball great, is on ROCKY'S staff. It took the newspapers to reveal the trouble ROBINSON'S son has been in lately with the dope head of the Empire State. This country needs more Americans like AL CAPPE.

JIMMY BROWN, the colored football player turned actor, is in the news again. He has been charged with assault to commit murder in California. A few months ago, BROWN was involved in a court case in another state. As a former grid great and leader in the ranks of his race, he should set a better example. The very charges BROWN has been hauled into court on twice recently are exactly what members of other races are afraid of when some people speak of social equality. No race in this country is ready for animal - type integration. Any cause worthy of acclaim must move on its own merits. Those clamoring for equal rights must earn those rights by respecting the members of their own race and especially the womenfolk of other races. There is nothing more disgusting in finding out that a man with talents is nothing more than a cad. JIMMY BROWN is a disgrace to his race.

I am very happy about LAWTON WARE'S decision to become a citizen of Martin (Continued on page 8)

West Texans For 'Ethics' Amendment

The House of Representatives refused to pass an "ethics" amendment offered to Gov. John Connally's liquor bill by a vote of 78 against an 66 in favor.

The amendment was offered by Dallas Rep. James Clark and would have forbidden legislators from representing clients for hire before the Texas Liquor Control Board. Voting for the Clark amendment were Reps. Frank Calhoun of Midland, Frank Calhoun of Abilene, Temple Dickson of Sweetwater, Charles Fimmel of Holliday, D. C. Howard of Uvalde, Grant Jones of Abilene, Burke Musgrove of Breckenridge, J. E. Nugent of Kerrville, Randy Penderton of Andrews, Gerhardt Schulle of San Marcos, R. C. Slack of Pecos.

Voting against the amendment were Reps. H. B. Doran of Del Rio, F. A. Harding of San Angelo, Gene Hendrix of Alpine, Ace Pickens of Odessa, and R. B. Rosson of Snyder. The current liquor bill does not prohibit legislators from engaging in law practice before the liquor board. However, it does contain a provision which requires solutions to register with the board when working there and show who they are working for. Clark argued that their filing of an affidavit will not put a halt to what he termed "influence peddling."

Two Producers Finished In Martin County

By JAMES C. WATSON
John L. Cox of Midland has finished two more producers from the Spraberry-Dean section in the Martin County sector of the Spraberry Trend Area. Both are about 10 miles northeast of Stanton.

It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 34, block 35, T-1-N, T&P survey.

No. 1-B Anderson pumped 217 barrels of 40-gravity oil per day from shot holes at 7,496-7,538 and at 7,923-8,037 feet after a 90,000-gallon fracture. Gas-oil ratio was 691-1.

Top of the Spraberry is at 6,510 feet and top of the Dean is 7,920 feet. Ground elevation is 2,524 feet.

On the 24-hour potential it pumped 29 barrels of 32 degree crude and two barrels of water from shot holes at 4,068-4,078 feet after treating with 500 gallons of mud acid and fracturing with a slurry of 10,000 gallons of fluid and 15,500 pounds of propping materials.

It is 10 miles southeast of (Continued on page 8)

Sale was born in Stanton on June 25, 1907, and had resided in the county of his birth for many years. He was the son of distinguished Martin County parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sale. His father preceded him in death a number of years ago. He was a nephew of the late E. B. Dickinson, long time West Texas rancher and landowner.

J. C. Sale was a deacon in the First Baptist Church of Stanton at the time of his death. He was widely known for his religious participations, charities, and service to the boys and girls engaged in 4-H work in the area. He was a director of the Cap Rock Refrigeration and Electric Co., and was widely known by other West Texas cattlemen and contributed much of his time in encouraging area youths in raising cattle. Many animals from the Sale herd found championship honors awaiting them in show rings throughout the state. Friends from all over the state attended the funeral rites for the prominent rancher held at the First Baptist Church of Stanton on Saturday morning, June 15, at 10 a.m. Several county agents now serving in West Texas positions were among those who returned to pay their last respects to their benefactor. Sale numbered all of the former Martin County agents his friends and several of the boys who had received their start in 4-H Club work from the efforts of J. C. Sale were back in town Saturday to pay homage to this splendid man.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. W. H. (Billy) Uhlman, his pastor and personal friend, officiating. Interment followed final rites in Evergreen Cemetery, under the direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home.

Wallace Opposes Gun Control Bill

George Wallace, back on his presidential tour of the South, says federal gun control legislation will do little, if anything to combat crime.

Wallace said the gun control bill as advocated by a certain element in Washington would do nothing more than "keep guns out of the hands of law abiding citizens. The criminals will get them like they always have."

Wallace said the only real deterrent to crime "is to enforce the criminal laws and

Parade Will Feature Big Annual Event

Mrs. Morgan (Beulah Mae) Hall announced a change in the celebration time for the annual Martin County Old Settlers Reunion this week and also advised the newspaper of the date fixed to hold the event.

The Old Settlers will be entertained in Stanton on July 13. Only one day of the reunion activities has been scheduled for the Saturday date in July.

In years past old-timers have arrived in Stanton a day in advance and registered. This year the registration will be held on Saturday morning and the entire day will be devoted to reunion activities.

The annual parade, always a colorful feature, will be held at 10 a.m. instead of in the afternoon. Mrs. Hall stated that this would give the visitors a chance to rest up some before continuing with the day's activities. Merchants, clubs, and organizations are expected to prepare floats for the parade. Some individual units have also requested a place in the reunion parade. A number of riding groups, including the Stanton Rangers and the Martin County Sheriff's Posse are also expected to be in the parade. Some riding outfits from Big Spring, Odessa, Andrews, and Lamesa have been invited and will also visit the city as parade participants.

The annual barbecue, always catered, will be held late on Saturday afternoon at the City Park. Following the barbecue, the main program and memorial service will be conducted. Various prizes will be given and visitors from the longest distance will be introduced. Other traditional events, such as the youngest child present, and the oldest to attend, will be announced.

There will be an election of new officers in the afternoon and the officials for next year will be announced sometime during the evening program.

Mrs. Hall has announced a meeting to be held on the eve of July 1 at 8 p.m. at the Martin County Library to discuss the final arrangements for the special day. The interested persons living in the community are invited to be in attendance at this called meeting by Old Settlers Reunion officials.

Philosopher Takes On A Slightly Serious Note In Comparing U.S. With Some Others

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw is either serious or hunting for some garden fresh vegetables this week, we can't tell which.)

Dear editor:
After I'd shaken the dirt off a newspaper a neighbor had used to wrap up some fresh vegetables he brought over to me out of his garden yesterday, proving guess that we're living in a sick society or why wouldn't he have washed the greens first, I went out on the front porch and started reading.

The article that won top honors with me was one about a man who left this country a while back in a stolen boat because, he said, "America never done anything for me," and went to Cuba. Last week he floated back to this country on a rubber raft, saying "Cuba never did anything for me either." He added that he believed he preferred jail in the United States to being out in the open in Cuba.

Actually of course he gave up too soon. Why didn't he try France, where the minimum wage is 40 cents an hour and demonstrations, even by students, have just been banned?

From there he could have sampled Russia, where apartment rent is free to all three families living in the same room and you can denounce the government any time you don't mind being shot.

Then of course there's India, free of air pollution because they travel on foot and pull their own plows and the average income is $73 a year. They have no over - weight problems either.

I started to mention China, but I don't have the heart. I could go on listing the other countries on earth, well actually I couldn't because I don't know the names of a tenth of them, I don't suppose anybody, not even college students, can sit down and name all the 200-odd countries, but I guess I've made my point.

America still has a long way to go, the same as you and me, but I doubt if Cuba has outdistanced us, or Russia or China or France or North Viet Nam.

Why don't you improve the health of this country and send me my copy of The Stanton Reporter each week wrapped around a batch of fresh vegetables, cleaned of course?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Farm Bureau Asks FCC For Equal Time

The Texas Farm Bureau asked assistance of the Federal Communications Commission today in obtaining television time on the National Broadcasting Company network to answer what it termed "half-truths, distortions and misrepresentations regarding the current farm labor situation in the Lower Rio Grande Valley."

Texas Farm Bureau President Sidney Dean of Victoria, requested the commission's assistance after Hugh Downs, NBC "Today" show moderator, failed to answer a telegram sent by TFB Vice President M. F. (Mike) Frost of McAllen May 17.

Frost charged that Cesar Chavez, Delano, California, director of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL - CIO, in his appearance on the May 17 "Today" show, left the impression that farm workers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley are paid starvation wages, as low as forty cents per hour.

He continued "Allowing this guest to lobby on national television for legislation now pending before Congress, and to make the farmer a 'whipping boy' for the many admitted problems of poor people without permitting a farm spokesman to appear, is unfair."

All Junior and Intermediate G.A.'s of the First Baptist Church, will have a picnic at Birdwell Park in Big Spring, Monday, June 24, at 6:00 p.m. Plans will be made for summer camp next year. The counselors are Mrs. Elmer Long, Mrs. Granville Graves, and Mrs. T. R. Louder.

Mrs. Alice Koonce of Breckenridge and granddaughter Mrs. Doris Bragg of Dallas, have been visiting relatives and friends in Stanton and Midland.

Two Aspects Of Jesus Appear In The Gospel

Many people are familiar with the hymn for little children: "Gentle Jesus, meek and mild; Look upon a little child."

It is an aspect of the Christ in the Gospels, and we are not sure whether it is not the dominant aspect in the world's portrait of the Man from Galilee. It is Jesus blessing the little children; it is the sympathetic Savior weeping with Mary and Martha at the death of Lazarus.

It is the Good Shepherd leading the sheep to green pastures; but in a sterner, less pastoral scene, seeking the lost sheep "far on the mountain cold and drear," and willing even to give His life for His sheep. We would not be true to the Gospels if we did not know and love that gentle Christ.

But there are other aspects of the Master, far from gentle, and as firmly set in the gospel records. We are familiar with the angry Christ driving the money-changers from the temple; there is the courageous, dominant Christ, confident of the truth of His words and deeds, daring to assert His own authority against those who asked Him: "By what authority doest thou these things?" and to pursue His mission in spite of those who hurried Him to His death.

It may take some time, but the government some day could be telling doctors what they can charge."

What gets under Chevrolet's skin?

Only the toughest truck components in the business!

Beneath Chevrolet's thick skin (double-walled in most places) lies a truck chassis built for punishment. A heavy-gauge steel frame provides the solid backbone for this inner strength. While a host of durable driveline components supply the muscle. Enough to whip most any job.

Of course, the heart of all this brawn is a Chevrolet engine. Six or V8, all are built for stamina. They last longer because of such things as induction-hardened crankshaft journals. Inexpensive to operate, too. All run on regular gasoline.

Keeping everything riding smoothly is the job of Chevy's famed independent front suspension. And what a job it does! Combined with tough coil springs, front and rear, this suspension system cushions the entire truck from jarring road shock.

So you see, beautiful engineering is more than skin deep on Chevrolet.

The twenty part parts of the institute were selected by their superintendents and principals. The group represents a variety of teaching backgrounds at different levels, and represents several schools of Region XVIII.

Purpose of the institute is to arm teachers with knowledge of how to reach the Mexican - American child and to provide materials that will make the task possible.

Sessions will be held beginning July 1, at the Royal Room at the Sands Motor Hotel, Midland, and will be in session through July 26.

Burial Expenses Paid By VA If Filed Within Two Years

Up to $250 for burial expenses for eligible deceased veterans will be paid by the Veterans Administration if the claim is filed within two years after the veteran's burial or cremation, according to Jack Coker, manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco.

Burial claims may be filed by the undertaker, if he has not been paid, or by the party who paid the undertaker, the VA spokesman explained.

Coker said the VA would reimburse up to $250 in expenses for the permanent burial or cremation of any veteran who was discharged under conditions that dishonorable, if the veteran served during wartime or after August 4, 1964.

Coker pointed out that similar burial expenses are also paid by VA for veterans of peacetime service who were receiving service - connected disability compensation at the time of their death, or who had been released from service for disabilities incurred in line of duty.

(Burial expenses for servicemen who died on active duty are borne by the military, not the VA.)

Almost every deceased veteran is eligible for an American flag for his casket, Coker said. Flags are furnished by undertakers, on request, by any VA office or post office.

Following the veteran's burial, the flag may be given to the next of kin, or, if there is no next of kin, to the closest friend of the deceased veteran.

Further information may be obtained at any VA office.

Under protect the public has vastly complicated the problems of law enforcement officers. Law enforcement officers are not receiving adequate support.

This all adds up to an intolerable situation and the patience of the American people is reaching the breaking point. There is a sense of insecurity everywhere.

I am encouraged over the rising tide of concern and resentment which the people are displaying. They are rightly demanding an end to the appeasement of the lawless. This is the first step toward effective action.

Well in excess of 90 per cent of the crimes which are committed are against state and local laws, and the principal task of law enforcement is a local problem, but there must be firm support for law enforcement from all levels, federal, state, and local. The homes and churches have a major responsibility.

Without the preservation of law and order there is no long range hope for this country. We have the tools at hand. We must provide the leadership and the will to do the job.

Americans consume more than 30 billion pounds of beef, veal, pork, and lamb annually, twice as much as any other country, according to "The Kansas Restaurant." That's about 170 pounds per person. Since 1937, meat output has doubled to provide a population — which has increased by one-third — with 45 more pounds of meat per person. This larger amount of meat costs each of us an average of less than five per cent of disposable income, leaving 95 per cent for purchase of other goods and services. We get more meat for a smaller part of our paycheck than ever before.

Veterans Administration

(Editor's note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q — I recently got out of a Veterans Administration hospital after being confined there more than a month for treatment for a disability not related to my military service? Is it true that I am entitled to payment from VA for this period since I was hospitalized for more than 21 consecutive days?

A — If, as your letter indicates, you were hospitalized and treated by VA for a non-service - connected disability, you are not eligible for the compensation that is paid for the temporary 100 per cent rating given by V9 to all veterans hospitalized more than 21 consecutive days for treatment of a service-connected disability.

Q — Last summer a buddy of mine, who served in Vietnam, was discharged and applied for G. I. Bill apprenticeship training. He was told that there was no apprenticeship program. I'll soon be getting out of service and have been told that I can enter apprenticeship training and receive G. I. Bill benefits. What's the story?

A — The story is that both your buddy and you are eligible for G. I. Bill education and training benefits, including apprenticeship training. What undoubtedly happened is that your friend applied for apprenticeship training benefits before the new law authorizing this type of training was signed by the President last Aug. 31. Since Oct. 1, 1967, when the new or expanded education and training benefits provided by the law went into effect, apprenticeship training has been authorized for veterans who served after Jan. 31, 1955.

Your buddy may be already aware of this fact. If he isn't, however, tell him to get in touch with his nearest VA office and reapply for apprenticeship training approval and benefits from VA.

Grassroots Opinion

CANTON, N. C., ENTERPRISE: "Newspapers probably wear out the reading public about politics during a political year, particularly so when it comes to the time when a candidate or candidates are up for endorsement. Now, with all of this being said, we'd like to state how we intend to go about endorsing candidates this year. We're going to be for the guy who can say the least about doing the most at the least cost to we taxpayers. In other words, the guy who don't promise to do everything for everybody at no cost will get the word here."

POSEYVILLE, IND., NEWS: "Freedom is not something to set up on a pedestal like a trophy to admire. Freedom is something to use to make life worthwhile. It is the opportunity to work and to impose self-restraint and to respect the rights of others. Only those who can use freedom wisely can have freedom long."

IDAHO FALLS, IDAHO, EASTERN IDAHO FARMER: "William McChesney Martin, Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, says that this country today is living in a 'Fool's Paradise' financially. Certainly we are; we have been for a long time. But Martin's dire prediction of financial disaster to come unless we mend our ways will fall on deaf ears: nobody wants to listen. And the merry-go-round will keep right on rolling."

ELK POINT, S. D., LEADER-COURIER: "Man is equal before God and before the law. Beyond that there are so many variables in individuals that it is impossible to legislate equality. This country was built by highly motivated people who did not want to be average, they wanted to excel. Equality is a delusion, it is something to strive for but will not be attained until we arrive at some highly improbable Utopia."

FORT DODGE, IOWA, MESSENGER: "Secrecy in government has reached a crisis stage of enormous proportions in the United States and at last some of our senators and congressmen are beginning to raise their voices in sharp protest against this most dangerous trend."

Farm & Ranch Review

Co-ops Increase Their Business — Thirty-two percent of the nation's farmer cooperatives had gross business of $1 million or more in 1965-66, up 27 percent from 1961-62 when the last survey was made. A further breakdown of the gross business volume of $20.9 billion done by the co-ops, according to the Farmer Cooperative Service, shows that 40 percent of the total came from 66 co-ops reporting annual gross business of $50 million or more. This represented less than 1 percent of the total number reporting, and was made up primarily of large regional associations.

Stop Accidents — Most home deaths from accidents are caused by falls, fires or poisons. Most could be prevented if family members would see that all hazards are removed and kept out of the home.

State 4-H Horse Show — The sixth annual State 4-H Horse Show will be held Aug. 7-10 in Fort Worth's Will Rogers Coliseum. B. F. Yeates, extension animal husbandman, says 480 4-H members from every section of Texas will participate in the show. The participants in the show will have already won their parents, other family members, leaders and extension agents numbering more than 1,000. For the first time, teams will be competing in a 4-H mounted precision drill event. Yeates added that there are now more than 10,000 4-H horse club members in Texas. Those in the state honors in county and district eliminations shows.

Prestige And Profit From Community Pride — Residents of the Stag Creek Community in Comanche County, say community pride and prestige are major reasons why they have competed in the Texas Community Improvement Program and its predecessor, the Rural Neighborhood Progress Program, for 15 consecutive years. Neat farmsteads, well-kept fences, good pastures are a trademark of the community and the improvements still go on. Reagan Brown, extension sociologist who coordinates the state program, says that Stag Creek story is one of people, the kind who inhabit any rural community in Texas today, but because of their desire for the better things in life, they are different from many.

Wool Incentive And Mohair Support Prices — A shorn wool incentive price of 69c a pound for 1969 marketings, an increase of 2c a pound over present level, has been announced by the USDA. At the same time the support price for mohair was announced at 77.4c a pound, same as 1968 support on marketings. Payments to producers for 1969 calendar year marketings will be made beginning in April 1970. Applications for such payments must be filed not later than January 31, 1970.

June Dairy Month — "Nature's most perfect food" takes the spotlight this month as the nation observes for the 32nd consecutive year June Dairy Month. And, says A. M. Meekma, Extension dairy specialist, milk is better than ever. A quart of milk per day can supply 100 percent of your calcium needs; 93 percent of the protein; 23 percent of the thiamine; 31 percent of vitamin A; 17 percent of ascorbic acid needs in addition to other important nutrients. Take home an extra quart today, suggest Meekma.

Give Attention To Pastures — Pastures should receive closer attention in view of current conditions over the state, believes Neal Pratt, extension agronomist. There is lots of grass now that moisture is plentiful, but when moisture gets short, fertilizer is what makes the grass grow, he adds. A soil test will indicate what plant foods are needed to keep production up. In many areas of the state lime may also be needed, he reminds. Get weeds under control by mowing or by using chemicals and don't let them mature.

Federal Crop Insurance — More than $900 million in farm crop production investments are protected by Federal Crop Insurance this year. This is the highest amount of protection in the 30-year history of the insurance program, reports the USDA. In 1967 an estimated 83,000 farmers across the nation shared in Federal Crop Insurance payments, totaling more than $54.5 million.

Orange And Grapefruit Tablets? — Orange and grapefruit may one day be served in tablet form. USDA scientists have made the tablets in research conducted to find new uses for citrus.

SBA Distaster Office Will Close June 21

The Small Business Administration today gave formal notice that will close its disaster loan office in Midland, on Friday, June 21.

The office was opened in Midland after the flood brought widespread damage to the Midland area.

Gerald S. Rutland, SBA Disaster Office manager from Dallas who heads SBA's office in Midland, said that loan applications had fallen off sharply in the last few days. Last week, he said, very few applications were filed, and only a small number of persons visited the office seeking information.

"Any person who for one reason or another has been unable to complete his loan application, should make an effort to do so as quickly as possible," Mr. Rutland said.

Arrangements have been made to have a loan officer at Room 305 of the Midland City Hall on Wednesday of each week after disaster loan office closes. The loan officer will handle applications for persons who were unable to file before the office closed. Applications will also be accepted at the SBA Regional Office in Lubbock, 1616 - 18th Street.

Rutland said he was highly gratified with the response of local citizens, businessmen, bankers, city, state, and local officials, all of whom have been very helpful and cooperative.

Recent Assassinations Raise Security Question

Did the bullet that killed Robert F. Kennedy also kill the idea of a more open, freer presidency?

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was planning to introduce his concept of an "open presidency" in a speech scheduled for only a few hours after Kennedy was shot.

Under the circumstances the speech was not delivered. Humphrey flew back to Washington under the strict security of Secret Service agents.

In the past, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy often expressed his views on a more open presidency by telling supporters that if elected he would tear down the fence around the White House.

But hours after Kennedy was shot President Johnson ordered Secret Service protection for all the presidential candidates—not just the president and the vice president. And in the early hours after Kennedy's death when a newsman called the McCarthy home for a statement a Secret Service agent answered the telephone.

The Vice President has spoken of the difficulties of campaigning under security, saying:

"There are always so many people around me . . . but our Secret Service is very, very good."

They are young men in sober suits looking grim faced out of the crowds.

It can be a nervous job. Is there a fanatic with a gun among those smiling people reaching out for the candidate, waving signs?

Was the shooting of Dr. Martin L. King, Jr., or Robert Kennedy a conspiracy with other assassins assigned to get some other candidate, some other prominent person?

These may seem to be unlikely possibilities. But men charged with protecting those who carry the flame of democracy have to think about them. And yet as one of them says, "The idea of campaigning and security are in conflict. The candidate wants exposure. Perfect security would be to put them in a room underground, I guess."

Gov. George Romney campaigned, including visits to storefront headquarters of slum militants, with two Michigan state troopers as his personal bodyguard.

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller carried along a New York state police major.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy had no one.

Kennedy's personal security aide was former FBI agent who was vice president in charge of security at a bank. Despite the crowds Kennedy discouraged additional police protection.

He told friends "I play Russian roulette every time I get up in the morning. . . But I just don't care. There's nothing I could do about it anyway."

Could the Secret Service — or more police protection — have done something about it?

Kennedy's brother, President John F. Kennedy, was killed despite Secret Service bodyguards.

But a man who has worked with the Secret Service and has given thought to the problem of security vs. exposure expresses the belief that the man who shot Robert Kennedy "would never have been allowed to loiter in the kitchen by the Secret Service. If he had been he would never have got off the second shot."

The Secret Service has been given more men and better equipment since John F. Kennedy was shot Nov. 22, 1963. The agency has a computer to sort out the names of persons considered dangerous. It uses helicopters. It now has formal liaison with the FBI (the CIA, and other law enforcement and security agencies. It is more careful.

Baggage is routinely fluoroscoped before being loaded aboard planes.

Recently when the vice president was speaking out of town, a Secret Service agent ducked into a foyer off the auditorium which had been set aside as a waiting room for Humphrey. The agent spotted a pitcher full of water on a table.

"Did you bring the water?" he asked campaign aide.

"No. I don't know who put it there."

"Then will you pour it out and refill it with your own hands?"

The aide did.

Even the base for the flag that travels with the vice president carries the little yellow seal that shows it has been inspected.

The problem is to protect without being obtrusive. It is not easy. As the vice president goes through a room shaking hands, a Secret Service agent moves along with him watching the hands. When the vice president speaks, agents stand at each end of the platform, and another often sits out in front facing the audience.

Privately the Secret Service men are irked at news stories that say the vice president "was shielded by a wall of Secret Service agents."

This "wall" may run out to include newsmen, campaign aides, staffers, hangers on — and local policemen.

When Robert Kennedy was shot he had no police protection at all, according to the Los Angeles police.

Impractical Jokes

Good-natured, John, proprietor of a grocery store, kept a can of free tobacco on the counter. One day, just for fun, he sprinkled a little gunpowder into the tobacco.

Sure enough, the first customer to use the mixture set off an explosion in his pipe. Result: injury to the customer's eyes and a successful damage suit against John.

It is well worth remembering, when you feel playful, that "I was only joking" is seldom a good defense in a court of law.

"One who plays dangerous practical jokes on others," observed one court, "takes the risk that his victims may not appreciate the humor."

Of course, if there is no reason to foresee harm, you are on safer ground. Thus, a prankster who wore an outlandish costume was held not responsible for the fright which his appearance caused in the woman next door.

But add enough cruelty or recklessness to your sense of humor and you may have to pay for costly consequences. For example, courts have imposed liability on:

- 1) A joker who gave a hot foot to a man too drunk to realize that he was suffering a third degree burn;
- 2) A grocer who packed a dead rat into a bundle of groceries;
- 3) A wag who informed a woman, falsely but convincingly, that her husband had both legs broken in a smash-up;
- 4) A card player who, while bending down for some money, flipped a fellow player backwards out of his chair.

In fact, in addition to liability for damages, you might even face criminal charges.

A man had an old revolver containing a jammed cartridge. Confident that the gun wouldn't shoot, he playfully brandished it at a visitor and pulled the trigger. To his horror, the gun fired a shot that killed the visitor.

Booked on a manslaughter charge, he pleaded that it was as pure accident—"al in fun." But the court found him guilty.

"Human life," said the court grimly, "is not to be sported with."

RFK Eulogized For His Bravery

Richard Cardinal Cushing eulogized the assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as a man who did not know the meaning of fear.

"Like his brother (the late President John F. Kennedy), he did not know the meaning of fear, and even where duty was wedded to danger he embraced it," the Catholic archbishop of Boston said in a televised eulogy.

Cushing said Kennedy's violent death "rends the heart of America, already scarred by earlier sorrows."

"The madness of men once again grieves our nation and brings us to our knees in prayer. We have lost another of our sons in the promise of his youth and vigor of his years."

The cardinal, a longtime friend of the Kennedys, said Robert had lived a lifetime in a little more than four decades.

"The memory of those years is now his monument," Cushing said.

Saying that Kennedy had shown talent for leadership among men, Cushing said that "no one will forget with what dignity and strength he bore himself in grief, with what energy and unselfishness he gave himself to public service, with what joy and affection he was father to his family."

Cushing said that Kennedy had a rare courage and that for both him and John, life was an adventure which summoned each man according to his abilities, and for those to whom much was given, much was demanded.

Said Cushing: "The Lord summoned him in the city named after the Queen of Angels; may these angels now welcome him into the kingdom of her Son."

Veterans Administration

Needy veterans with wartime service who are 65 years of age or older, may qualify for a Veterans Administration disability pension without proving a specific disability. Jack Coker, manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco, said today.

For VA pension purposes, wartime veterans are considered by law to be totally and permanently disabled at age 65.

This makes such veterans eligible for pensions at rates authorized for other needy veterans who are totally and permanently disabled from causes unrelated to military service.

Currently, a veteran without dependents must have an annual income of less than $1,800 to be eligible for a pension, Coker said. The limit for veterans with dependents is $3,000.

However, under a law signed recently by President Johnson, beginning January 1, 1969, all income limits are to be increased $200 a year and most payments will be increased under a scale computed by $100 income increments.

Today, veterans without dependents receive monthly pensions ranging from $104 a month (for incomes not over $600 annually) to $79 a month (for incomes over $600 and not over $1,200 annually) to $45 a month (for income ranging from over $1,200 to $1,800).

For veterans with more than two dependents pensions range from $119 a month (for an annual income not over $1,000) to $84 a month (for incomes over $1,000 and not over $2,000) and $50 a month (for incomes of more than $2,000 and not over $3,000).

Under a law signed by President Johnson last summer, the Vietnam area (after August 4, 1964) is considered wartime service for non-service-connected disability pension purposes.

Veterans interested in more information should contact their nearest VA office. Coker said they should keep in mind that pension benefits are not related in any way to compensation to which a veteran may be entitled for disability relating to his military service.

No income limits apply to compensation payments, Coker said.

"The incident was reported to the Pecos County Sheriff's Department at about 4 a.m. Sunday by John Williams, foreman for Connors Construction Company of Odessa, contractors on a pipeline project for Northern Natural Gas Co.

"Williams told Deputy Sheriff Louis Davis that night watchmen Nolan A. Box and J. O. Willis were on duty early Sunday morning when a light-colored Oldsmobile or Pontiac drove by the construction site located about nine miles west of the city.

"An unidentified culprit in the car began pumping what was believed to be a .22-caliber rifle shots into a company pickup driven earlier by one of the watchmen. The two men said the car made two trips by the area, first going westbound, then returning in an easterly direction."

Sen. Russell Long Suggests Judge Tenure Amendment

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., has declared that if the Supreme Court fails to heed congressional directives in the recently passed anti-crime bill, the Congress should consider amending the Constitution to end the life-tenure of the justices.

Such an amendment, if adopted, would bring the justices before Congress periodically for a review, he said, and "we would then vote, based on a judge's record and based on his age and other relevant considerations" whether a justice should continue on the federal payroll.

Long said that if the Supreme Court should strike down the anti-crime law "they do it at their peril, because they are beginning to go on trial themselves now."

Veterans Administration

(Editor's note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q—I was recently discharged from service. While I was still in Viet-Nam a representative of the Veterans Administration talked to a group of us about our veteran benefits when we got home. I don't remember him saying anything about G. I. business loans. Am I entitled to a business loan?

A— Post-Korean veterans (with military service after Jan. 31, 1955), and Viet-Nam era veterans (with military service after Aug. 4, 1964) are not eligible for business loans under either the "Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966" — popularly known as the Post-Korean or third generation G. I. Bill — or the "Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967." They are entitled to home and farm loans.

However, the Small Business Administration may make business loans to veterans. You can obtain information about these loans from your nearest U. S. Veterans Assistance Center or Small Business Administration office.

Long said his answer as to Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William Douglas would have to be no. And, he added, "Based on the way (Justice William) Brennan and (Abe) Fortas are going, I would have to say no to them, too."

Long contended, in a talk for broadcast in Louisiana, that the Supreme Court through its decisions has made it "difficult to convict and punish people who are guilty of these major crimes."

The court, he said, keeps changing the rules after the fact and fails to respect the law.

"Their job is to uphold the law," Long said. "They refuse to respect it and write a whole new law to suit their own whims of what is right and what is wrong."

The first step for Congress, he said, is to do what it has done and "try to make the Supreme Court see the light of day by passing laws to tell them what we think."

"And, if they won't respect those laws, then I think we ought to propose a constitutional amendment to put in to effect something like the Missouri plan for judges, which stops life-tenure business and says that, after a long period of years — let's say 8 or 10 years — we would then vote on should a justice continue to serve."

Such an amendment would only be adopted he said, if the entire nation was completely aroused. He added he believes the situation is moving in that direction "when we can muster a majority in the Congress to express our supreme disappointment in what the court has been

Seaman Becomes WTCC Minerals Panel Chairman

Jack W. Seaman, area manager for Northern Natural Gas Co., Midland, has been named chairman of the Mineral Resources Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Announcement of the appointment was made by Beverly King of Graham, WTCC president.

"This committee formerly was the Oil and Gas Committee, but with the growing interest and activity in other mineral resources we thought a new name should be given to the committee to more clearly represent the scope of its activities," King said.

Seaman will appoint sub-committees to serve the varied interests represented. It is envisioned there will be special groups on problems of oil, gas, petrochemical, sulphur, and other minerals.

Other WTCC board members who will serve with Seaman in representing the Midland area are C. W. Barclay, John P. Butler, L. H. Byrd, Harry W. Clarks, W. H. Collins, Burvin Hines, L. Roy Prescott, and John T. Sims.

Mr. Walter Boudni, president of the Alabama Power Company, has noted: "You consider your electric service fairly reliable. If so, you are correct. On an average, it is about 99.98 per cent reliable — Somewhat better than the famous soap — and tens of thousands of us in our business are making every effort to improve that percentage."

Incubators Hatch Nine Baby Cranes

Nine whooping crane eggs have been hatched in incubators, the Interior Department says.

Secretary Stewart Udall of the department said it was a major success in man's battle to preserve this rare bird.

The eggs, gathered near the Arctic Circle, were hatched at the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Laurel, Md.

Only 46 whooping cranes are known to exist in their natural habitats, nesting in northern Canada in the spring and wintering at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas.

In its announcement Thursday, the Interior Department said a record number of 22 cranes is in captivity and still more may result from mating of a pair at a San Antonio zoo.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

My friend and neighbor JIM YELL is as firm of faith and good as they come. He is also a staunch Democrat. Perhaps JIM can be called a star-spangled party man. He is the type of fellow who will tolerate his friends who disagree with him but he frowns on their weak excuses most of the time. I asked JIM the other day why all the Democratic leaders were being assassinated and no Republicans. JIM responded quicker than a bolt from the blue: "There are none of them worth assassinating." His remarks closed that session of the "sidewalk senate" which meets daily in front of BROWN'S drug.

It was my pleasure to run into T. KNOX Thursday evening doing some shopping with his attractive little daughter. I have heard of MR. KNOX for a long time and he said he knew me by editorial reputation. In the recent governor's race KNOX voted for one candidate, his brother-in-law for another and your editor for a third. Thursday night T. KNOX and your editor practically agreed on the same presidential candidate come November. That is—if he is still alive.

J. C. SALE expired unexpectedly late Thursday evening. His death was a distinct shock to his many friends. During his entire lifetime, I seriously doubt that J. C. SALE ever brought sorrow to the heart of any person. I knew the prominent rancher for many years and always found him a truly cultured man. He was a good thinker, a good family man, a religious worker, and a man of much ability and many talents. J. C. SALE was a person I liked to talk with and on the occasions I chanced to meet him, I did most of the listening because I respected his judgments. Other good men have left imprints of a full and dedicated life on Martin County but surely none surpassed J. C.

The honest good humor without rancor, I would like to suggest that persons wanting pictures and news stories in the local paper please transact business during our regular office hours. Calls coming to staff members homes at six in the morning and six in the evening and on Sundays are not desirable. The majority of these items will keep until the regular working hours from eight in the mornings until five in the evenings. Very few people would call up the local bankers and ask them to go down and open up and supply a favor at the hours we have been called recently. Please understand that we appreciate the calls—but make them within our working hours in the office.

It has been suggested that a public inspection of the new filter plant and water system should be held. Why not? The system was bought by the taxpayers. It is a very fine thing for our town because the bond issue voted last year has forever solved Stanton's water problem. Only a miracle could cause a shortage here now. Water rationing, low pressure, and the danger of the city suffering a disastrous fire due to lack of water to fight it with are over. Bonds in the amount of $325,000 were voted but only $253,000 was spent on the new system, filter plant included. So there is approximately $50,000 left over from the bond issue to make other improvements in the system from time to time. This means no more bond issue and no increase in water rate. How about that?

'Order Or Anarchy'

We have been pushed past the question of individual freedom to the question of self-preservation," said Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, in an address delivered in Dallas last week.

This really is something to consider — this business of self-preservation. And this is exactly the point to which the situation has developed.

Gov. Smith said law-abiding, freedom-loving citizens no longer can stand aside and say, "I don't want to get involved." He said, like it or not, "we are involved . . . and we'd better know that we are involved."

Referring to the horrible, disgusting, disappointing events which have happened and are happening over the land, Smith called for a restoration of a sense of responsibility . . . one to another, and of all to the community, the state and the nation.

Law and order, of course, constitute the answer to many of America's problems, but citizens first must desire and demand strict enforcement of existing laws.

Smith said it is not the intention to infringe upon individual rights and freedoms, beyond the minimum extent necessary to preserve those same opportunities for others.

But it is fundamental, he explained, in a civilized society that individual freedom must be modified in the total interest of the community.

"This is not a denial of freedom," he said. "It is instead, a guarantee that all of us may share it . . . not merely the fortunate, the strong, the shrewd, the irresponsible, or the ruthless."

And this is where the question of self-preservation enters the picture.

The causes of anxiety and disorder may be blamed on a number of conditions, Smith said, "disagreement, dissent, civil disobedience, or rebellion against the status quo, but after the quibbling over words is done, the truth stares us starkly in the face. And we have to realize that what we are actually dealing with is revolution."

"Not a peaceful revolution either. Not a revolution that even offers an alternative to our system of government."

"The choice we have is clear: Order or anarchy."

This is laying it on the line. This is how it is.

Gov. Smith, speaking in the name of all God-fearing peace-loving Texans, declared, "We will not countenance government by intimidation; we will not tolerate politics by assassination, and we are not going to turn our streets over to criminals."

Texas Officers Ready For Any Riot Trouble

Acting Chief Wilson E. Speir of the Texas Department of Public Safety said this week that the DPS officers are ready for any type of riot disturbance this summer in the state.

"We are ready to use as much legal force as necessary," Speir said in Dallas when he appeared as a speaker before the Texas Police Association.

He went on to say that "We are dedicated not to stand idly by while people smash windows and carry out merchandise."

Speir told the officers that the DPS had trained men available to supplement local police forces in case of mob violence of any kind.

Intensified training has put the department in position to place 400 to 500 men in any Texas city within four hours if their help is requested in containing rioting.

He added that 800 to 900 men can be mobilized within 12 hours. These men have all had riot training, Speir concluded. Chief Speir was appointed to temporarily fill the vacancy in the DPS created by the death of Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., last spring.
