There is no diplomatic way to say what must be mentioned in this paragraph. I just hope that these loyal friends and supporters of the county newspaper understand and accept the explanation for a change in credit policy of the "Ole Reliable." Credit on all forms of advertising will be extended for thirty days but all accounts must be paid after that period of time or a service charge of four percent will be added. Our interest rate at the bank on loans to meet expenses here in the office every week, is much higher than that. So send in your past due accounts today. And again, please understand that the paper is your servant but we are small and can't carry a lot on our back for too long a period of time. Thanks, "Ole Neal."

It is yet too early to consider the impact of GEN. CHARLES De GAULLE'S resignation in France but one fact is for certain... the Frenchmen who voted "No" on the question that brought about the patriot's leaving office of his own free will, are destined to regret the day they did so. And those loyal to the General are in for a long spell of Communist domination with the bronze buzzards of high finance and felons of finance moving back into the counting houses.

Friends of RAY SIMPSON are delighted to know that his operation was successful and he is expected to be back on duty at Cap Rock in a few days. I missed RAY in the postoffice and asked where he might be. RICHARD PAYNE overheard my remark and brought me up to date on the popular citizen's illness and return home. While RAY has been gone another good Cap Rock man, SAM HOUSTON, has been gathering up the morning news.

Speaking of our own SAM HOUSTON reminds me of the famed Texas General SAM HOUSTON. GEN. SAM was the hero of the Battle of San Jacinto. I made a remark about the famed battle last week in this column. I had a communication from FRED HERNANDEZ that was a real brick. If war ever comes to this state again, I sure hope FREDDY is on my side.

They make a big thing out of San Jacinto Day down at Texas A&M. The date is observed with the Aggie Muster. This past day was one of deep significance there on the campus of the Aggies for a local man. I hope to have that story next week after more information is received.

Schools in the county will be closing down for the summer the latter part of May. Some of the students will attempt to find gainful employment during the next three months. Others too young to work, will find enjoyment by participating in the recreational programs planned for the next few weeks. Some of the students will start making plans to go to college. Undoubtedly, some of the boys will get ready to a hitch in some branch of the service. Faculty members are expected to continue with their studies or to travel. Anyway, graduation for the seniors is just around the corner and school will be out in a few more days.

Stanton Bank Adopts New Credit Cards

The First National Bank of Stanton has adopted the new and progressive BankAmericard system.

The bank has a sponsoring advertisement in this issue of the official county newspaper concerning the new system of credit card operation.

It's all the credit card one will ever need. It will be honored locally by merchants participating in the plan and by out-of-county and out-of-state merchants who have previously elected to honor BankAmericard credit cards.

BankAmericard is the world's largest credit card system. Over 18,000,000 Americans are enjoying the convenience of unquestionable credit at more than 400,000 fine retail establishments from coast to coast.

BankAmericard holders are welcomed at motels, hotels, and restaurants from Boston to Los Angeles. You can rent a car, charge airlines tickets, bus tickets, even gasoline. Wherever one goes, if he holds a BankAmericard, he can obtain instant credit.

Read the opening ad in this issue of the paper and then watch for follow up ads telling you who the sponsoring merchants are here in Martin County.

TEXAS TOURIST DEVELOPMENT AGENCY

Mr. Neal Estes

Stanton Reporter
 Stanton, Texas 79782

Dear Mr. Estes:

The Texas Travel Trails, as you are probably aware, were created early last year by the State of Texas to guide pleasure drivers into regions that are especially abundant in scenic beauty, historic interest, and recreational opportunities. They were drawn to take the motorist off of heavily-trafficked interstate and primary highways and put on pleasantly meandering back roads, principally farm-to-market and state highways. A primary goal is to help funnel new economic life into countless smaller communities across the state that have been bypassed by super highways.

Because of the graciousness of the Texas press in using our initial releases about the Trails, Texans' interest in them was quickly whetted. Unfortunately, however, the material that we distributed then for press use could not be as detailed as that which became available later in the year.

Now, on the eve of a new travel season, we are understandably anxious to place in eager hands the provocative sets of Trail pamphlets produced by the Texas Highway Department for free distribution. Too many Texans have told us that they have read about the Trails, seen Trail signs, but have had no idea where to write for the new pamphlets.

To help resolve their quandary we have prepared this series of ten 500-line ads, one on each of the 10 Trails. We hope that you will consider them carefully and once again grant them the public service space that you have so generously accorded our past material. You will, of course, remember that we must ask for this special consideration inasmuch as we are constitutionally barred from using any of our media budget in Texas advertising media.

Naturally, we would be delighted to see you use all of the ads. But we realize that your space is valuable. We would, therefore, be pleased if you could at least run those pertaining to Trails nearest you.

Thanks so much for your continued help.

Most gratefully,
 Frank Hildebrand,
 Chairman, Texas
 Travel Trails
 Committee.

Radiation Hazards

The Public Health Service has told color television owners not to sit closer than 6 to 10 feet from their sets to minimize potential radiation hazards. A PHS survey in Suffolk County, N. Y., showed that about 20 per cent of nearly 5,000 color sets emitted X-ray at a level above the maximum safe amount.

Library Lines

Mrs. Ralph Caffey,
Librarian

Library Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 1-5 p.m., Saturday 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

National Library Week has once again merged into the regular weekly activities of the library. A check of the past week, shows that 336 books were checked out, (that is usually a good average for a month), and 97 boys and girls, first through fifth grade, registered for the contest the Stanton Study Club sponsored. I believe that Mrs. Harrell's 4th grade won, with 21 of her pupils registering, and Mrs. Gray's second grade, was second with 12.

The Study Club also sponsored a Benefit Coffee on Wednesday morning to aid in acquiring drapes for the front windows of the library. Thanks to the wonderful cooperation of the snack bar at the drug store promoting contributions at the same time, the fund for the drapes was swelled by $56.00. Anyone wanting to donate, may feel free to do so, by bringing it by the library, giving it to any members of Study Club, or TOPS Club.

Another project of the Study Club, was making a survey of how many boys and girls had read a book the past month, not required by the teacher. In Junior High, 41 out of the 47 who answered the poll, had read at least one book. In Elementary and Primary grades, out of a possible 361, 231 had read a book. Our young people are reading, and that is why it is so important for the library to continue to grow and add books, to meet the need of these students. Anyone wanting to donate time to help the library accomplish this, is indeed welcome.

Canned Foods Highlight May Plentiful Foods

May's a good time to stock up on canned and frozen foods, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Such canned items as beets, tomatoes and tomato products, and sardines are on the plentiful foods list of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Green beans and sweet corn are abundant in both canned and frozen form.

Turkeys and onions complete the list of May plentiful foods reported by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

With a 1968 pack of around 1.717 million cases of sardines — one-half more than the previous year — March 1 packers' inventories amounted to about 650,000 cases, or 250,000 more than on the same date a year ago. So you'll probably find sardines a most attractive buy this time of year.

Record stocks of 62½ million cases of canned green beans have been available during the winter and spring. Supplies of frozen green beans exceeded 158 million pounds on January 31.

Storage stocks of onions from the late summer crop will supplement early spring production from the Texas Rio Grande Valley. This should mean an unusually large volume of onions this April. Sliced onions are always a welcome feature on the dining table.

Look for continued larger offerings of canned and frozen sweet corn, canned tomatoes and the many tomato products.

Elizabeth Tallent Becomes Bride Of Denver Springer

Elizabeth Gayle Tallent of Tarzan, and Denver Allen Springer II of Lenora, were married at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Tarzan Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lueb of Tarzan, are the parents of the bride, a 1968 graduate of Stanton High School. Prior to her marriage, she was employed by National Bank of Odessa.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Allen Springer of Lenora, is a sophomore student at Howard County Junior College. The couple will be at home at 514½ N. Muskingum Street in Odessa, after a trip to Abilene.

The Rev. John S. Rankin of Stanton, performed the double ring ceremony. Mike Springer, cousin of the bridegroom, was the organist and soloist.

Attending the bride as matron of honor, was her sister, Mrs. Covey Bean of Odessa. Jannetta Avery of Stanton, was the bridesmaid, and Denise Barnes of Tarzan, was the flower girl. Candles were lighted by J. T. Springer II, cousin of the bridegroom, and Kem Crawford. Lynn Bean, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Glen Ward of Clyde, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the best man. The groomsmen were Preston Springer, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Lueb of Tarzan, brother of the bride, and Neil Hull, were the ushers.

Baskets of white gladiolus trimmed with blue were used with candelabra to decorate the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza over heavy white satin with a flowing skirt ending in back in a chapel train. The bodice had a sweetheart neckline and long tapered sleeves. Scalloped lace panels enhanced with seed pearls and sequins fell to the hemline in front. Her waist-length veil was attached to a wide satin bow. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations trimmed with touches of blue.

The bride's attendants wore dresses of light blue satin styled with sweetheart necklines and floor-length skirts falling from the Empire waistlines. They carried blue and white nosegays.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Danny Clayton Odessa, registered the guests. Presiding at the bride's table were the sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Glen Ward of Clyde, and Virginia Springer of Lenora.

Mrs. Weldon Weaver of Lubbock, sister of the bride, served at the bridegroom's table. Mrs. S. O. Barnes of Tarzan, and Mrs. Howard Avery of Stanton, also were in the house party.

Top Ropers To Appear In Big Spring

Five of the nation's top 10 professional calf-ropers will be featured in a matched calf roping and jackpot roping May 4 in Big Spring.

Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla., and Ronnie Sewalt, Chico, Texas, will be paired in a matched roping on 10 head of calves, and they will compete in the jackpot competition on a two-calf average, which also features Dean Oliver, Bud Farris, and Ernest Forsberg, all among the top 10 in standings of the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Sewalt is currently in second place in RCA calf roping competition with $10,097 earned, and Burk is fifth in the money with $6,195. The Sewalt-Burk dual is billed as competition between sons of former champion ropers. Bonnye is the son of Royce Sewalt, world calf roping champion in 1946, and Barry is the son of Dee Burk, an outstanding roper in the 1930's and 40's.

Oliver, seven times world roping champion, is currently the leader in RCA standings with $11,519. He will compete against 29 other ropers in the jackpot battle. Oliver, a Boise, Idaho, product, has earned more than $357,000 during his 15-year career as a professional cowboy, and has been all-around cowboy champion three times.

Farris, Las Cruces, N. M., is standing sixth in calf ropings this year with $6,056, and Forsberg, Chatsworth, Calif., is seventh with $5,498. Competition, sponsored by the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion, and will begin at 2:00 p.m. at the Rodeo Bowl in Big Spring.

Farm labor legislation again this year is being pushed in both Austin and Washington by labor-minded lawmakers with little or no regard for the adverse effects such legislation would have on the agricultural economy.

A serious qualitative and quantitative labor deficiency already is a major bottleneck on U. S. farms and in farm-related industries.

Tightly wedged between rising costs of production on one side and declining commodity prices on the other, agriculture is in no condition to withstand the increased expenses and labor strife that would be the inevitable result of passing the farm labor bills now under consideration.

Yesterday (April 24), the Texas Senate, after a hard fight by Senator H. J. (Doc) Blanchard of Lubbock, who led the opposition, passed 18 to 12 a State minimum wage bill. It provides a $1.25 per hour minimum for non-agricultural Texas workers not covered by the Federal wage act and sets the minimum at $1.10 for some 40,000 workers on small farms not currently under the Federal wage edict.

The National minimum wage for agriculture, now $1.30 an hour, covers only those workers employed on farms using 500 man-days or more during any calendar quarter.

The State minimum wage bill sponsored by San Antonio's Senator Joe Bernal, now goes to the House of Representatives. According to Blanchard if it isn't defeated there "this proposal will come close to repealing the right to work law" in Texas.

In Washington, action to bring agriculture under the National Labor Relations Act, has started early this year. Hearings already are underway before the Senate Labor Subcommittee on the perennial proposal by Senator Harrison Williams (D-N.J.) to bring farm workers into the fold of labor unions. The bill is numbered S-8.

The bill's supporters, notably representative of Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, took up most of the first day's hearings.

UFWOC head man Cesar Chavez was not present, but was ably represented by Dolores Huera, vice-president; Jerry Cohen, counsel, and Robert McMillen, legislative representative of UFWOC.

They not only called for bringing farm labor under the NLRA, but asked that farm labor be exempted from "the bans on recognition and organizational pickets and secondary boycotts" under the Act.

Huerta also said, "We are opposed on any exemption of small growers, whether it be legislative or administrative."

Strong opposition to the bill was voiced on the second day of hearings by Richard Thornton, Executive Vice President of the National Council of Agricultural Employers, of which Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is an active member.

Thornton said, "This bill is not a solution to anything under the general heading of farm labor problems," and went on to show the lethal effects such legislation could have on American farmers and the American public.

He said, "... any regulation or law which permits a field or orchard worker to strike at harvest time is capable of destroying a crop..."

He later pointed out the "Food is a vital necessity of life. Food is our existence. To give any one group of persons or organizations control over the flow of this basic ingredient of life would be unthinkable. And to give to any persons or groups complete control over the existence of an independent businessman, the farmer, is unjust."

Many observers believe that the Williams forces failed to present their case either early enough or intensively enough in the previous sessions of Congress. Those present for the current Williams hearings agree that the conduct and mood of the committee's opening attack is sharp and determined, and that employers who constitute the opposition to S-8 can well prepare for fast and aggressive action to get the bill before the full Senate as soon as possible.

The Williams bill was discussed at the most recent meeting of PCG's Legislative Committee, where it met with unanimous opposition.

The committee voted to "continue an active role in the affairs of NCAAF and take whatever other actions are possible to prevent passage of either State or Federal labor legislation detrimental to farmers."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw, Bobby Howard.

Favorable moisture conditions this winter and spring, have created an ideal situation in Martin County and the surrounding area for successfully spraying mesquite, reports Ernest Haner, range conservationist, Soil Conservation Service in Stanton. With the large amount of moisture stored in the subsoil, the mesquite will be growing continuously, at a rapid rate. This is an ideal situation where Z-4,5-T spraying is most effective. Mesquite takes about 40 to 60 days after budding to become mature enough to respond to foliar application for Z-4,5-T. Usually aerial spraying should begin about 40 to 90 days after the green buds of growth are noticed. The light green colored leaves which are evident soon after budding, indicate that food reserves are being used from the roots. Aerial spraying at this time is not effective. When the leaves take on a dark green color, it is an indication that the leaves are producing food and the flow of the plant food is back to the roots. Spraying mesquite while the leaves are light green will knock off the immature leaves, and cause no permanent root kill. Aerial application of Z-4,5-T should be done when the leaves are producing food and sending it to the roots. The herbicide is then absorbed by the leaf and transported into the root system. A large percentage of the trees will be killed when sufficient herbicide is carried into the root system. Mesquite spraying should be followed by deferment from grazing to obtain maximum benefits. The deferment periods should be for at least 120 days, and preferably for the whole growing season following spraying. The deferment will allow the grass plant to expand their root system and use the moisture released by the weakened mesquite.

Farm & Ranch Review

Screwworm Cases Increase — Officials of the Screwworm Eradication Program advise livestock producers to "spray herds, doctor all wounds, and collect larvae samples of all worms found within wounds and send samples to the Mission Laboratory for positive identification." Twelve cases were confirmed in Texas during the first 12 days in April, and condition continue favorable for further trouble.

Vote On Cotton Allotments — Cotton growers are reminded that the period from May 5-9, is the time for voting on whether they favor or not the selling, leasing of cotton allotments for the crop year of 1970. ASCS committeemen and county officials can provide detailed information on the referendum.

4-H Sunday — May 11 is Martin County Abstract Co. P. O. Box 766 Stanton, Texas 79782

What To Do With Old Farm Buildings — Make a thorough cost study and determine whether or not it would cost more to rebuild and repair, than build a completely new building, suggest W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer. Some old buildings can be used economically and efficiently in new and modern farm facilities, while others should be razed, he said.

Watch For Plant Pests — Home gardeners, farmers, campers, hikers, and travelers are urged by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to be on the lookout for unusual insects or damage to ornamentals, trees, lawns, houses, and crops.

Bible Comment—

Paul's Letters Reveal His Philosophy

We have no formal biographies of the great apostles and leaders in the first generation of the Christian Church.

It is interesting that, on the whole, we know more about Paul than we do about any of the original 12 apostles. We are fortunate in having the letters. They tell us more about Paul than the formal facts of his life and career as they are recorded in the Book of the Acts.

In the passages by Paul, we have an indication of the intimate relationship he maintained with the churches and with the disciples.

Apparently there were two attitudes on the part of these disciples. Some there were whose loyalty to Paul was so intense that there was a danger of their religion making them disciples of Paul rather than disciples of Christ.

Others were inclined to be critical of Paul and to adhere more closely to other preachers or leaders who had come into the church.

Paul found it necessary to remind both these classes of disciples that their primary allegiance was to Jesus Christ, that their faith should not stand in Paul or in any other man, but in their Master.

He was insistent upon maintaining his integrity as a preacher of the Gospel. He had received his commission, not from man but from the Lord Jesus.

His counsel to Timothy is advice that any young men who would follow the Christian life might well take to heart.

The pecan nut casebearer is the number one pest of pecans in Texas, says County Agent Billy Reagor, and thus becomes a determining factor in producing pecans, whether on a few trees or in large groves.

To effectively control the pecan nut casebearer, it is necessary to provide thorough insecticide coverage of the nutlet clusters during the period when the majority of the eggs are laid and the length of this egg laying period. A banding procedure in providing precise timing information has proven extremely accurate.

Banding pecans is an excellent method demonstration and ideal educational program for adults and youth. Should any questions arise, Reagor says, to feel free to drop by his office at any time.

Included will be teaching the inter related subjects of sight-reading, transposition, ear training, repertoire, harmony and keyboard improvisation, and is intended to give piano students a broad musical understanding and develop musical literacy and independence. The educational programs of the National Piano Foundation, are under the direction of Dr. Robert Pace, internationally known educator and author.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

Next Monday, May 5, is Dollar Day in Martin County. Some of the local merchants have caused advertisements to be placed in this issue of the paper calling attention to the many special values being offered in Stanton on that day. The bonus specials will also be sold on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, in advance of Dollar Day by some merchants. Check the ads and buy what the family needs in Martin County.

The law is as plain as the nose on an individual's face that boards, bodies, sub-divisions with authority, councils, courts, and school districts are required to advertise for bids—to publish financial reports—to meet out in the open with news media of the area present, and to act in responsible ways. This is true because taxpayers are entitled to know all about any proceeding where their money is being spent. It is common knowledge that some situations in Martin County need to be studied and reorganized. The day of spending any amount of public money in this county without proper notice and accounting is over. The people have a right to know. A majority of loyal, honest, Martin County residents are backing the official county newspaper and editor in seeing that all the facts are brought out in broad daylight.

This community needs a Chamber of Commerce organization. And the Chamber of Commerce needs to keep the traditions for which it is known alive in the community. The annual Spring Festival started here a few years ago needs to be continued. May is the month to continue the fine event. Let's have a chili supper or a pancake supper, an auction, and an old-fashioned get-together in Stanton for all the folks in Martin County before June 1 rolls around.

Daylight savings time is with us again. I really have no big quarrel with the change but my dogs don't like it. Their sleeping and feeding time has been off schedule all week. And when animals and nature are monkeyed with—the Legislature needs to realize that the country is ready for repeal of such a foolish mistake and strike the Time Act—(artificial time) that is, off the books at the next session.

The people of Texas will ballot on nine proposed amendments to the state constitution in August. The amendments appear in this issue of the newspaper as required by law. Read the texts of the questions to be voted on and come up with clear opinions on election day. I will definitely support the two amendments calling for an increase in public assistance for the aged and for seeing the families of our volunteer firemen and policemen are adequately considered financially when a loved one is lost in line of duty. The elderly people of this state made Texas what it is today. They paid deductions far larger than the average insurance policy would cost into the public treasury and certainly they are entitled to get back some of their money in monthly payments for their use in the golden years.

Mother's Day will be observed this year on May 11. If you are one of those fortunate persons with a living mother be sure and honor her on her day. If you are one of us whose mother has been called to her final reward memorialize her by doing that something or another she would admire you for.

NEAL'S NUGGET: To abandon one's heritage and a lifetime of teaching is a big price to pay for anything.

Midland Minister Leads Fight For Civic Action

The new spiritual leader of a million Presbyterians in 17 states is a mild-mannered Texan known in his hometown of Midland as "the community pastor."

He is the Rev. R. Matthew Lynn, recently elected by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. in session in Mobile, Alabama.

Dr. Lynn was elected the past Thursday after his third bid for the top office of the 17-state denomination, that of moderator.

He has studied at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, and served with the First Presbyterian Churches of Brownsville and Houston, before becoming pastor of Midland's First Presbyterian Church in 1947.

While watching his congregation grow from 425 to 1,600, Lynn took on several civic challenges. He won city financing of the prenatal clinic, and has led a movement for homes now under construction for retired people in Midland.

He is the dean of Midland pastors, a past moderator of the Texas Synod, and a trustee of Austin College at Sherman, a Presbyterian school.

Lynn succeeds Patrick D. Miller of Atlanta, as moderator of the General Assembly, highest ecclesiastical court of the denomination. Miller presented Lynn with a gavel and a cross on a necklace.

The Midland minister, who is 65 and has thinning grey hair, has four sons and two daughters.
