Sunday, May 11, is Mother's Day. If your mother is living try and be with her on her day of days. She will appreciate your company and thoughtfulness more than anything in the world. Wear your red flower with love, devotion and affection while you can. If your mother has answered the final summons then remember her in your heart and do something for another who remains in the land of the living.

It is not the intention of the writer to tell anyone in Martin County how to vote in Saturday's tax election. Personally, for what I deem good cause, my ballot will be cast for the tax issue. Our county judge and commissioners are standing on firm ground when they appeal to Martin County residents to pass the tax measure. Our lateral and farm-to-market road system must be improved and maintained if the county is to keep pace with our neighbors in the Permian Basin. The cost is small when compared to the other necessary alternative. Vote in Saturday's tax election.

The fine rains falling in the county Friday and Sunday made ranchers hearts leap with joy and appreciation. It was money-in-the-bank moisture. The farmers in West Texas always welcome rain. True enough, some cotton will have to be replanted. But all should be thankful it is not too late to plant and the anticipated yield more than compensates for any inconveniences caused due to the ground soaking rains.

Our sister city, Midland, witnessed two acts of violence in a span of 24 hours, when two service station attendants were shot in armed robberies. A wave of fatal shootings followed armed robberies appeared suddenly on the Texas scene last week. It is to be sincerely hoped that this pattern of violence be curbed even if drastic means for personal protection have to be put in operation.

The local newspaper is rightfully proud of the award presented by the United States Treasury Department this week for patriotic support of the U. S. Savings Bond program. The citation was delivered to the news office by JAMES JONES, local county bond chairman. The award was number sixty-four for the local journal in the past few years and it will be treasured along with other honors bestowed on the hometown newspaper.

Congratulations are in order this week for STEVE STALLINGS, son of MR. and MRS. JIMMY STALLINGS. STEVE brought recognition to Stanton when he finished first in the Class AA mile run competition sponsored by the UIL in Austin last Saturday. As far as the editor has been able to learn, the significant honor won by STEVE for himself and for the community, marked a first in the field of track for a local school speedster.

Voice of Variety: "It's tough to profitably operate a small newspaper these days but it is nice to know that the large fellows like Uncle Sam — approve our efforts."

Martin Voters To Decide Road Issue

★ ★ Three Times Too ★ ★ Basin Skies Drip, Drip!

Permian Basin skies started dripping for the third time in the early hours Tuesday morning and more than three inches of moisture has saturated the soil in many Martin County spots.

The moisture mana made the scene first on Friday and a second performance was staged Sunday. The third generous rain sprayed the countryside early Tuesday morning.

Some sections in the Basin reported rainfall up to five inches since the three-day waterfall started. Stock ponds have been filled, lakes in the area promise a new high for this time of the year, and ranchers are happy because their rangelands have benefitted from the penetrating moisture.

Some of the lateral roads and farm - to - market roads in Martin County are almost impassable due to high water in places. This was interpreted as a signal for voters to turn out and adopt the tax issue in Saturday's schedule county wide election.

Rain slacked off but cloudy skies hung on Tuesday morning and no moisture was reported in the county on Tuesday afternoon nor Tuesday evening.

During the zenith of the wet weather spell a Martin County sheriff's deputy reported seeing a funnel on the Midland-Martin County line. Another dark cloud was watched for several hours by DP-S personnel. One tornado was reported to have briefly touched ground southwest of Andrews. Heavy hail was reported in the northern part of Martin County, but no official report had been made at press time Wednesday.

Forecasters predicted cloudy skies with thunderstorms and scattered shower through late Wednesday night. Chances for more rain Wednesday night climbed to the 80 per cent mark.

Good Rains Fall Over Most Of Martin County

Martin County's rainfall total for 1969 was moved close to the six inch mark on Friday night by general rainfall which fell over most of the county.

A general rain fell late Sunday evening and past midnight in some sections to bring the total to around seven inches to date.

Ector, Howard, and Midland counties all reported far-reaching and soil-soaking rains.

Stanton seemed to get the most moisture in the two rainfalls reported Friday and late Sunday evening.

The city gauges indicated eight-tenths of moisture Friday night and more than one inch by Monday morning. Some gauges in Stanton measured one and one-half inches on Monday morning.

Some light hail was reported in Martin County both on Friday night and Sunday evening. The storm Friday was ushered in by a brilliant display of electrical flashes. Power was off in Stanton for fifty-one minutes Friday evening.

At Lomax a brief but terrific dust storm preceded a rain which totaled 1.1 inches on Friday.

Philosopher Wants To Know If Kids, Like Cars With Defective Parts, Can Be Recalled

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on is grass farm on Mustang Draw, asks a hard question this week.)

Dear editor:

I found this newspaper on the floorboard of my car after I'd taken it in to have some repair work done—some people say they don't make cars like the used to but I don't know about that, my 1946 model can burn out a tail pipe just as fast as these new ones—and to get my mind off the repair bill I sat down and read it.

The thing that caught my eye was an article about how many new cars have been called back in an account of defective parts.

It's not just lower-priced or mass-produced models but all kind, all the way up to Rolls-Royce. When the manufacturer discovers some models have gotten out to the public with defective parts, he calls them back in for correction.

I have been thinking about this and it has suddenly occurred to me; why can't we use this system on people?

Right now here must be a good many parents all over the nation who'd like to call back their college kids to see if they can correct the defective parts. Obviously they weren't ready to come off the assembly line.

And it's not just college students. You run into people in all walks of life with defects clearly demanding a recall. There are even college president whose mainsprings seem to be under-strength, and you'll find a college professor here and there whose muffler has fallen off and his motor hitting on only two cylinders, some even who have blown a head gasket, as well as politicians needing new carburetors, not to mention others so antiquated they can no longer pass a safety inspection and ought to be taken off the road, but not stored in Congress.

Unfortunately, the car manufacturers have the edge on the rest of us. When they recall a car they have a place to fix it in. Where's the garage that can handle a college kid?

On the other hand, while I don't have the figures, I estimate there are more cars than kids with defects. The current models may not be improved much, but they're just as good as the ones produced over the last 1,000 years.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

Bible Comment—

Suffering Brings Fellowship In Christ

When Jesus hung upon the cross, one of the two thieves between whom He was crucified, reviled Him, urging Him to save Himself and them. The other thief rebuked his fellow, reminding him they were suffering justly for their misdeeds, whereas Jesus was suffering for His innocence and goodness. The penitent thief had the reward of hearing Jesus say, "This day thou shalt be with me in Paradise."

It is the distinction between two kinds of suffering which Peter emphasizes in his writings that does so much to encourage suffering Christians. The Christian who suffers is partaker of the sufferings of Christ. Instead of being embittered, he may well glorify God.

Certainly as we observe life, we can not very well say that the ideal life is entirely free from suffering.

We have seen those who have accepted the way of suffering patiently and in subjection to the will of God ennobled by their experiences, finding a deep satisfaction in life often denied to those whose ways have been easier and more pleasant.

Peter brings this philosophy of endurance of suffering into the realm of Christian faith and practice, emphasizing the part of humility and the strength that comes to men through casting all their care upon God.

The mystery of pain has never been solved. We do not know why the innocent suffer with and for the guilty. We don't know, however, that there is a fellowship in Christ's suffering which has brought to suffering Christians happiness and peace. And this too, is a mystery.

County Agents Column

Recent moisture in Martin County has brought on more pasture weeds, and they should be controled in order to use the moisture to grow grass, reminds County Agent Billy Reagor.

A heavy weed growth will prevent good grasses from growing and weeds should not be left to make a seed crop, adds the agent.

Spraying now with 2,4-D will kill most weeds that have germinated, and those which will germinate within the next few weeks. But, warns Reagor, care must be exercised this chemical, since many crops now growing are susceptible to it and can be damaged.

In areas where chemical control is questionable due to growing crops, mowing can be successfully used, says the county agent. This will prevent the weeds from making a seed crop, is most instances, and from shading out the grass and using the moisture now available.

Nixon Aide Promises Campus Crackdown

Atty. General John N. Mitchell has declared war on the plotters of riots and other disturbances caused by black militants on college property.

Mitchell said in a speech on Law Day in Detroit, Michigan, that the Nixon administration's patience was at an end and the "violence-prone militants will be prosecuted to the fullest extent."

"I call for an end to minority tyranny on the nation's campuses and for the immediate re-establishment of civil peace and protection of individual rights," Mitchell said in a Law Day speech in Detroit, which the Justice Department released there.

"If arrests must be made, then arrests there should be," he said. "If violators must be prosecuted, then prosecution there should be."

"It is no admission of defeat, as some may claim, to use reasonable physical force to eliminate physical force."

Mitchell said the federal government would rely primarily on the 1968 Civil Rights Act to move against the sort of disorders he said had occurred on more than 200 college campuses so far this year, resulting in 2,300 arrests and property damage of more than $2.2 million.

He referred to a provision of the law making it a federal crime to cross state lines to incite, encourage or support a riot. A conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Mitchell called campus militants "nothing but tyrants," but he also had harsh words for "others who share the blame by failing to act."

"University administrators must take firm and immediate action," he said. "Faculty members should stop negotiating under the blackmail threat of violence. Apathetic students should stand up for the rights of those who wish to pursue civility and scholarship."

"When people may be injured, when personal property may be destroyed and when chaos begins," he added, "the university officials only aid lawlessness by procrastination and negotiations."

Mitchell, one of President Nixon's closest advisers, said the government has substantial evidence confirming the wide-spread belief that several disturbances had been incited by a small core of professional militants intent on violence.

"This administration has tried to be patient in the hope that students, faculty and local officials, working together, would put an end to this chaos," the attorney general said.

"But the time has come for an end to patience. The time has come for us to demand, in the strongest possible terms, that university officials, law enforcement agencies, and local courts apply the law."

Two other Justice Department officials denounced "barbarians of the new left" and "the ideological criminal on our campuses" in Law Day speeches Thursday, and a second congressional investigation of campus violence was announced.

DPS Region Gets Own Helicopter

The Department of Public Safety at Midland, put into operation its own helicopter. The Bell helicopter will serve the 49-county region which stretches from Eastland to El Paso, and from Del Rio to Seagraves.

Region commander Major E. K. Browning, Jr., said the helicopter would be available for use anywhere in the region when needed.

Pilot of the craft is Sgt. Joe Herring, a native of Weatherford.

The Midland DPS has one other aircraft, a Cessna 320, a five-place, fixed-wing plane.

It has a cruising speed of from 85 to 95 miles per hour, and can operate for 3 1/2 hours without refueling.

Among the uses for the helicopter Browning mentioned, were aiding in searches for lost persons, such as hunters in West Texas terrain; on manhunts, where wanted subjects are on foot; for use in disasters, such as floods, tornadoes, explosions, or fires; for surveillance during riots or civil disorders; for traffic surveillance to observe certain high volume stretches of major highways to detect impediments to traffic, and to conduct traffic surveys.

EDITORIAL - Advocate, Or Critic?

Politics is a funny thing, or would be, if so many people did not take the subject seriously. Among the latest from the jokers, who apparently rely on the politicians' theory that the average man is forgetful, are some pretty wild ones.

The former vice president, Hubert H. Humphrey, turning columnist, stated publicly he would be "an advocate" and not "a critic." He failed to mention however, that he would "advocate" views opposite those of the Nixon administration.

Moreover, he makes numerous speeches, both on and off the TV screen, has characteristic voice pealing forth like the Oracle of Delphi. The other day he accused President Nixon of failing to realize the "seriousness of the domestic crisis" and said that the time has come for an "in-dept inquiry" into military spending.

If memory serves us right, Mr. Humphrey was a member of the United States Senate from Jan. 3, 1949, until he assumed the vice presidency in January, 1964. Both as senator and vice president, he saw the war in Vietnam grow from a few advisers to more than 500,000 combat troops, and he witnessed the growing unrest generated by domestic problems.

As senator, and later as vice president, Mr. Humphrey was in a key position to use the weight of his office to prevent escalation on both fronts. The fact that he didn't speak for himself. He went along to get along — from 1949 until 1969—20 years.

But now, apparently, his vision has improved and he, like Sens. Edmund Muskie, Edward Kennedy, and Charles H. Percy, expect President Nixon in 100 days to clean up the mess they've made during the last eight years, since the end of the Eisenhower administrations.

—Longview Daily News

He said his staff already found what "seems to be an interworking relationship between such groups as the Black Panthers, SNCC (Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee), the Black Student Union, and other organizations."

The House Internal Security

Committee has conducted its own investigation in recent weeks and plans to start hearings shortly. Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen introduced a resolution Thursday calling for a similar investigation by the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Sen. Gordon Allot, C. Colo., chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, urged federal and state grand jury investigation of every college riot.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., said there had been no trouble in his state, because "We have college presidents who have plain old guts." He supported federal prosecution under the antiriot law.

Lemarion Gray Retires From Shell Company

Mrs. Lemarion Gray, clerk in Shell Oil Company's Midland Division Services Department, recently retired from the company, after 21 years of service.

Mrs. Gray began working for Shell as a clerk in 1948, in the Midland Area Treasury Department. Later the same year she was named payroll clerk. In 1950 she assumed the position of Clerk - Bank Reconciliation. She became clerk in the Office Services Department in 1962, remaining in that capacity until her retirement.

Mrs. Gray plans to continue to reside in Stanton.

Job Corps Center Scandals Tabulated

The Nixon administration is holding confidential files on gang rapes, homosexuality, extortion, and drug use at Job Corps sites as trump cards in the angry dispute over its plans to abandon half the centers.

Administration officials insist the investigators' reports were not used in deciding which centers to close. These decisions were based, they said, on a complicated grading system taken into account a center's dropout rate, job placement record, and achievement rate.

But these same officials concede the files reflect conditions which could be the underlying cause for some centers' poor ratings. And while officials say they don't want the reports to become involved in the Job Corps controversy, sources reported some of the documents already have been shown to one congressman opposed to the cutback plan. The congressman "bugged out his eyes" when he saw them, the source claimed.

President Nixon's plan to eliminate 57 centers has triggered bitter debate and stormy hearings in Congress. Resolutions have been introduced in both the House and Senate asking him to shelve the shutdown.

Among the documents in the administration's hands are reports prepared by Office of Economics Opportunity investigators, as well as summaries of these reports. All are marked "confidential."

They focus on such problems as homosexuality at Poland Spring women's center near Lewiston, Maine; narcotics use at Kilmer Center for men at Edison, N. J.; and racial strife at Parks men's camp at Pleasanton, Calif.

The file on the St. Louis women's center reported: "The inspectors were told by one residential adviser that there were about three or four rapes each month involving corpswomen.

"Not all are reported," she said, "because of the severe questioning methods used by the security staff even if the corpswomen had already reported the details to the local police. . . . The security chief indicated that his records showed that since July 1 there had been six reported rapes, and one attempted rape."

This is the center to which women trainees invited the President's daughter, Tricia Nixon, after it was announced the facility would be closed. Miss Nixon did not accept.

Black Revolt Leader Not SMU Student Now

The leader of the gang of militant black students who made demands on Southern Methodist University in Dallas last week, was not even enrolled at SMU and is not currently in college there.

Mike Morris, chairman of the Black League of Afro-American and Afro College Students dropped out of SMU after the fall semester, according to records in the school registrar's office as reported by The Dallas News.

Morris and his band of followers met with Willis Tate, president of SMU and submitted a 12-page list of demands.

The demands included recruitment of 500 negro students by September, compared to about 50 now on campus. They also called for recruiting more negro faculty members, more financial aid for the black students and curriculum changes for the Africans. SMU, a church sponsored school, cannot be regulated Texas Rangers of the Department of Public Safety or any other organized police force.

Gov. Preston Smith stated earlier this year, that Texas would not tolerate any sort of unreasonable demands by force in state supported institutions. But that does not cover SMU.

President Richard Nixon stated only 24 hours before the Dallas blacks took over State's office, that the U. S. would no longer put up with violent acts from rioting or rebellious students, black or white, red or yellow.

Nixon also called on college heads to demonstrate some courage and backbone in dealing with difficult campus uprisings.

Seeds From The Sower

By MICHAEL GUIDO

Someone has said, "The Japanese kill themselves by harakiri and the Americans by hurry-worry." But it is written in Psalm 37:7, "Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for Him."

The expression "rest in the Lord" means "be silent toward the Lord." The idea is that of waiting in silence for that which the Lord is about to do for you.

Moses led the Israelites out of Egypt. But the Egyptians pursued them and overtook them at the Red Sea, and they were frightened. While they were criticizing and contriving, Moses said, "Fear not! Stand still and see the salvation of the Lord, which He will work for you today. Hold your peace and remain at rest."

The Moses stretched out his hand over the sea and the Lord turned it into dry land. And the Israelites marched through the sea on dry ground.

Red Sea experiences come into all our lives. Some try to suggest to the Lord, while others are silent toward Him. Some try to work things out in their own bungling way, while others wait for Him to work it out in His blessed way.

Be still and rest in the Lord. Wait for Him. The Lord is worth waiting for. His clock is never slow. He will come to you just when you need Him most.

New Wheat For Texas — Caprock, a hard red winter wheat and a sister selection to Sturdy, has been announced by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Crops Research Division, Agricultural Research Service USDA. The new variety was developed cooperatively by station and service. It is not recommended for planting in sites north of Texas. Seed from approximately 60 acres of foundation seed stock will be harvested this year, and this seed will be released to certified seed producers for fall seeding in 1969.

Off-Campus Training In-Depth — To answer the increasing number of requests from the counties for more detailed training for agriculturists and agribusinessmen, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is answering with short courses, clinics, and workshop. A. H. Walker, state agricultural leader, said 891 such training sessions were held last year in the state with almost 46,000 persons in attendance. Subject ranged from agribusiness, agricultural chemicals, to wildlife management, for a grand total of 29 different subject matter areas. Local county agents, and county program building committees handled most of the planning, while extension specialists did most of the teaching. Instruction ranged in hours from 2 to 40, Walker said.

Texas Stocks Of Grain — April 1 stocks of grain in all positions are estimated at 336 million bushels, an increase of 31 million bushels over last year, reports the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Stocks of grain sorghums accounted for 39 million bushels of the increase.

Farm Tractor Safety — With farmers stepping up the tempo of farm work when weather permits, tractor accidents can be expected to increase. Extension agricultural engineers at Texas A&M University urge tractor drivers to be doubly careful in handling their machines and equipment. Take some breaks and stay alert.

Maverick's hot! Any questions?

Measure it any way you like. By the crowds. The news stories. The sales. Few cars have caused a sensation like Maverick or broken so many records. Every day more and more people are asking questions about it. Here are the answers.

- Q. Why did you build the Maverick?
A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.
- Q. Why did you call it Maverick?
A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.
- Q. Why did you make it this size?
A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.
- Q. What do I get for the price?
A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls . . . important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.
- Q. What about options?
A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.
- Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?
A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will

- get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.
- Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?
A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.
- Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?
A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet in any parking space.
- Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?
A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)
- Q. How about parts and service?
A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.
- Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?
A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick). Those are

- just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.
- Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?
A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points . . . plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.
- Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?
A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight . . . power . . . stability. Designed for American driving conditions.
- Q. How does Maverick ride?
A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.
- Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?
A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)
Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is . . . right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's . . . Fairlanes . . . Mustangs and Falcons.
You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's . . . the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department , Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

The new lady in our office, BRENDA HANER, her husband, ERNEST and their children, BRIDGETT and ERIC, were among the enthusiastic members of the area Appaloosa Horse Club, attending the annual show held in Sweetwater the past week-end. MRS. HANER serves the group as secretary. The HANER horse herd—it that's the right term—was recently increased by one when a young colt arrived and BRENDA and ERNEST spent the first night looking after the four-legged arrival. She named the strikingly beautiful little foal Copper, but ERNEST, a ranch-raised young man who has added experience as a range specialist for the Soil Conservation Service, vetoed his wife's name selection. He diplomatically pointed out the fact that colts could change colors. Sure enough, Copper could turn to chestnut hue and besides that colt had a white blanket distinctly visible. I have had absolutely no experience in the Appaloosa business but I saw a picture of handsome looking horse once named Hell's Thunder and I admired the animal's name. It struck me that a mount with a name like Hell's Thunder ought to be high spirited and sure-footed. I wouldn't want to own a horse called Milk Toast or Sonny Pie. Somehow, such names wouldn't fit in with my favorite style of writing.

Speaking of personalized style of writing, I want to say a few words about Supreme Court Justice ARE FORTAS. Since the Prince-of-the-Perdenales—one already about forgotten LYNDON JOHNSON—appointed ABE to the high bench, the U. S. Senate has turned thumbs down on his promotion to the chief justice's spot to succeed EARL WARREN, and now he is trying to explain another serious charge. Faulty FORTAS is currently being raked over the coals for accepting a $20,000 legal fee by a family foundation involving imprisoned financier LOUIS WOLFSON. ABE says he returned the money 11 months later without rendering services of any kind. He took the money, the story goes, about three months after LBJ elevated his once personal attorney to the Supreme Court. ABE may be clean and clear as a whistle but to me FORTAS stinks. I would like to suggest that he turn in his resignation. Being rejected by the most august body of men in the world—the U. S. Senators—should have served as rebuke enough to cause him such humiliation he wouldn't want to continue as a member of the nine-man panel of judges. Now the revelation that such a small amount of money was tendered to purchase his legal talents as a member of the highest court in the land and by his own admission, has surfaced, he must know any confidence the public had in him has been badly shaken.

LYNDON JOHNSON made three appointments to the Supreme Court while in office. He named ARTHUR GOLDBERG and THURGOOD MARSHALL and FORTAS. MARSHALL was the first Negro ever named to the top tribunal. LBJ's appointees reminds me of the story the wags used about the dialogue between a Baptist preacher and a Jewish rabbi after the late MARYLYN MONROE and another famed actress and SAMMY DAVIS, JR., all accepted Judaism. The preacher said: "I wouldn't brag so much about those three converts. Really, all you have is a couple of much-married bogs and a one-eyed Negro." Of course, in justice and fairness it is only right to say that MR. GOLDBERG resigned from the Supreme Court to accept the ambassadorship to the United Nations. No cloud of suspicion ever touched him in his posts of public service. And THURGOOD

Blowing Dust Can Contain Microscopic Cotton Pests

Nematodes can be spread by wind.

This has been confirmed in studies conducted in Terry County this spring by researchers at the Texas A&M Agricultural Center at Lubbock.

For the first time, Dr. Calvin Orr, nematologist, and other researchers proved the microscopic organisms can be spread by blowing dust as well as by water and through the soil.

They set out dust traps approximately six feet above the soil surface. When dust collected in these traps was placed in incubators, nematodes hatched at a rate of one for each two grams of soil.

"This leads us to think that no farm can be considered safe from nematode infestation," Orr said. "Presumably, eggs could be carried great distances on a windy day."

Nematodes have been recognized as a significant cotton problem on the South Plains only in recent years. They attack the roots of cotton in many sandyland irrigated areas.

In other work at the Lubbock center, soil samples from more than 2,000 farms across the Plains have been analyzed in the last year to determine whether or not these growers had a nematode problem.

Orr said nematode populations great enough to reduce cotton yields substantially were found in more than 50 per cent of the samples.

The best method to control the underground pest, the nematologist said, still is through annual treatment of the seedbed with soil fumigants either before planting or when the crop is seeded.

This usually is done with knife-type applicators that deposit the chemical in the soil through hollow tubes at the trailing edge of knives running 10 to 12 inches deep.

The operation can be done with knives mounted on a tool bar anytime before planting up to the same day the seed goes into the ground.

Some farmers fumigate and plant in a single operation by mounting knives on the planter tool bar.

In four years of research, Orr said, "we never have failed to produce a profit fumigating land where troublesome buildups of nematodes were known to exist."

"This year, when we have good moisture and a good chance to start good crops, it seems more important than ever to treat land where nematodes are the problem," he added. "Nematode can

Parents should pre-enroll their children before the beginning date, by contacting Mrs. Ledbetter, or Mr. Yater, at the school.

MARSHALL went on record as frowning on black militants ready to riot and ruin at the drop of the hat this week in a statement made in Louisiana. THURGOOD will undoubtedly be tagged an "Uncle Tom" by the RAP BROWNS and STOKELY CARMICHAELS of this country, but he sure set the rioters back a spell in their campaign to rush the Red flag to the top of the standards in this country.

It was with genuine sadness that I read of the thirty militant black students taking over the office of President WILLIS TATE of Southern Methodist University in Dallas last week. The demand delivering minority caused concern in all corners when they marched in and then seized TATE's quarters. In regret that the president of such a distinguished school saw fit to "fold his umbrella in NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN fashion and flee" in his first acid test as a supposed-to-be learned leader. What SMU needed in the president's chair last week in Dallas was another DR. HUMPHREY LEE. LEE might have been killed like the heroes who died at the Alamo but the late SMU prexy would have perished like a patriot. It's like President NIXON said the other day — "Modern college heads must have backbone."

Speir Cites Tornado Activity

Colonel William E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and state director of defense and disaster relief, today reminded Texans that the peak tornado season has arrived.

Information obtained from the U. S. Weather Bureau's State Climatologist indicates that Texas reported 140 tornadoes during the past year. This figure compare with a record number of 232 during 1967, of which more than half occurred September in connection with Hurricane Beulah. Since 1951, Texas has reported 1,659 tornadoes.

There were no months free from twister in 1968. The peak tornado months, April, May, and June, produced 13, 48, and 21 tornadoes, respectively. Other totals included January, 2; February, 1; March, 3; July, 4; August, 8; September, 5; October, 8 November, 11, and December, 16.

A circular of tornado safety rules has been prepared by the Department of Public Safety and county Civil Defense directors.

The worst train wreck in the history of the United States, killed 101 persons at Nashville, Tenn., on July 9, 1918.

Administration Veterans

Q — My son will soon be discharged from the Army after two years of service. He received his college education under the War Orphans Education Assistance program. Will he be entitled to any additional education assistance under the G. I. Bill?

A & Yes. A recent law increased the aggregate amount of Veterans Administration educational assistance which a veteran may receive may receive under two or more programs from 36 to 48 months. Assuming your son received 36 months of VA benefits under the War Orphans program, he will be entitled to 12 months of additional aid under the G. I. Bill.

He should make application for a Certificate of Eligibility from the VA regional office where his veteran records will be on file.

Q — I am a World War II veteran who financed my home with a G. I. loan. I am being transferred to another city by my employer. May I have my G. I. loan entitlement restored?

A — Yes, the sale of your G. I. home due to such transfer entitles you to restoration of entitlement, provided the loan is paid off.

U. S. Senator James B. Pearson from Kansas commented, "The mare's nest of overlapping agencies and duplicating programs that the new blue-ribbon review panel (Hoover Commission) will have to unravel is truly staggering. We find today that three discharged from the Army going to the treatment of deaf children. Thirty are involved in teacher-training activities. Nine deal with job recruitment, while at least five subsidize on-the-job training projects. Moreover 15 different departments and agencies are now administering 97 separate training and education programs."
