

Texas Rangers Pick Eight Men

The Texas Department of Public Safety announced the appointment of eight new Texas Rangers Friday, including a Mexican-American, the only one on the 62-member Ranger force.

The appointments were made by DPS Director Col. Wilson E. Speir and approved by the Public Safety Commission. All the new Rangers fill vacancies resulting from retirements or promotions.

Highway Patrolman Arturo Rodriguez, Crystal City, is the new Mexican-American Ranger appointed. He will be assigned to Co. "D," headquartered in Carrizo Springs, and headed by Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee.

Other new Rangers and their present duties are: Baylor County Sheriff John W. Styles, Seymour, Co. "A,"

Houston; James R. Singleton, DPS intelligence agent, Co. "C," Lubbock; James A. Wright, Highway Patrolman, Co. "F," Waco; Clayton McKinney, a pilot-investigator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Co. "E," Midland; Max Womack, Highway Patrolman, Co. "B," Dallas; Roy Scott, Austin, Highway Patrolman currently assigned to the governor's mansion, Co. "B," Dallas; Thomas E. Arnold, DPS intelligence agent, Co. "B," Dallas.

The DPS has had Mexican-American Texas Rangers in the past, but none recently.

Allee was criticized bitterly by some Mexican-Americans for what they said was brutality during the Rio Grande Valley farm workers strike in 1966.

Grassroots Opinion

MORA, MINN., TIMES: "Representative H. R. Gross of Iowa, who is a watchdog of the House, reports that 12 enterprising young persons in Montgomery County, Md., have figured out a way to beat the system. Each of the dozen, six male and six female, draws $55 a week in unemployment compensation which they pool in a common fund. In a four-week month, their take is a cool $2,600. They rent a six-bedroom house complete with swimming pool and sauna, buy their food and have enough left for other luxuries. They pay no taxes on their benefits and on an individual basis, each probably qualifies for food stamps and Medicaid benefits as well. Whatever else may be said (in) criticism of young people these days, no one can accuse them of being dumb."

GOODLAND, KANS., NEWS: "We kind of chuckled to ourselves as we opened an armed forces despatch here at the office the other day. The contents of the envelope weren't of the kind to bring smiles. But what did ignite a chuckle were these words printed when you and I would normally place a stamp: 'Postage and fees paid, Department of the Navy.' Wouldn't it be better if it read: 'Postage and fees paid for by the taxpayers of the United States.'"

CHARLESTON, MO. ENTERPRISE-COURIER: "This is the generation of instant everything. . . Even instant diplomas although they are unearned. . . Many of the fanatic militants are not college material. Many of them were 'shoved through' high school wholly unprepared for college or university work. Many have difficulty in reading, and that spells no end of trouble. However, it is not too difficult to justify the demands for no exams—or even no class attendance, and an indifferent attitude toward assignments. A diploma granted under such circumstances makes a mockery of education."

HD Agent Gives Breakfast Tips

"A good breakfast can mean a good start for not only the student of the family, but also for all the members," reports home demonstration agent, Mildred Eiland, on the subject of breakfasts for school children.

Surveys have shown that a child will actually produce better work when they are sent off to school after a nourishing breakfast in the morning.

"Breakfast is a do-it-yourself project in America," says Mrs. Eiland. Three-fourths of all American families do not eat breakfast together. A third of all housewives, and a fourth of all husbands eat alone.

If your family is tired of the common bacon and eggs routine, reports Mr. Eiland, try something different. "Try a peach, hamburger and bun with milk; or orange juice, oatmeal cookies and milk."

Remember it is vital that a child get a fourth to a third of the day's calories and nutrient requirements at breakfast, Mrs. Eiland points out.

If your child is not taking vitamins, it is important that some citrus in either juice or fresh produce be included in the breakfast to help supplement the child's supply of vitamin C. Vitamin C is helpful according to medical sources of building up resistant to winter colds.

A good breakfast can get everyone in the family off to a good start, reminds Mrs. Eiland. "So, use of the imagination and experimenting can renew your families interest in breakfast time again."

NEMATODES TEST

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service will operate a testing lab to help in the fight against plant parasitic nematodes. Farmers and homeowners by submitting a soil sample to the lab for testing can get needed information on treatment and control recommendations. Local county agents will provide sample shipping containers and information on how to take and mail samples. Also testing fees and other needed information.

THE COST OF DRIVING

The cost of automobile insurance averages out to approximately 1.4 cents a mile, notes the Insurance Information Institute. The figure was calculated by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which reports that depreciation maintenance, taxes parking and tolls run the total cost of owning and operating automobiles up to 11 cents a mile.

TRY PORK WHEN ROASTED OVER CHARCOAL

Wonderful things happen to pork when roasted over charcoal; it cooks well done inside with delightfully crisp flavored exterior. Roast the meat over glowing - rather than flaming - coals, suggests Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist. If you have a meat thermometer, use it. Cook pork to an internal temperature of 185 degrees whether cooked indoors or out. Pork rib ends are a good choice for barbecuing.

Mourning Dove Season Opens In North Zone

Blasts of thousands of doves hunters' gun went off at noon Sept. 1, in the first day of the mourning dove hunting season in the top two-thirds of the state, commonly known at the North Zone.

The season in the North Zone will extend until Oct. 30, with a daily bag limit of 10 and a possession limit of 20.

Since Texas has more than one time zone, noon comes an hour earlier in most of Texas than for those who live west of Van Horn.

A few tips for the local hunters might include the fact that anyone hunting dove in the county of his residence is not required to buy a hunting license.

Also, ammunition dealers will be requiring each person who purchases shotgun shells to fill out a small form, registering each purchase. It is not too much of a handicap, and it is the law.

Hunting licenses for those who hunt outside of their county of residence is just $3.15. For a non-resident, it is $25.

SEMINOLE SENTINEL: "John Clanton, who has farmed in Gaines County some 19 years, brought in the first cotton bale for the 1969 season August 20."

"The bale was ginned at 6 a.m., at the Loop Co-Op Gin. It weighed 510 pounds, and yielded 900 pounds of seed."

A commercial compound derived synthetically from coconut oil, an help launder and dryclean shearings, and leather garments, announces Hazel Roberts, extension clothing specialist. It preserves the softness of shearings, sheepskins with wool left on, when added to the rinse water in laundering. The fatty amino acid also helps reduce cost of drycleaning leather garments, because it allows retention of natural lubricants.

Enzyme laundry products fall into two classes, according to Extension Home Management Specialist Doris Myers. Some are complete detergents which can be used in the washer just like conventional laundry detergents. Others are enzyme pre-soak products that are designed primarily to be used for soaking before the regular wash detergent.

Exports Of Vital Importance To American Agriculture

Exports are of vital importance to American agriculture and the nation's balance of trade. For the past 15 years, notes W. E. Black, extension economist in market and policy at Texas A&M University, agricultural exports have trended upward.

Total U. S. agricultural exports in 1955 were $3.5 billion. In 1968 they were $6.3 billion. There was also, says Black, an increase in agricultural imports during this period, but it was much slower— from $4.1 billion to $4.7 billion. But actually, points out the economist, the U. S. position in agricultural trade is less favorable than the figures indicate. Commercial dollar sales were $4.5 billion in 1968, while sales under government programs amounted to $1.8 billion. The return from sales under government programs varies. For some countries, the value is virtually nil, but for others there is some value depending on the financial abilities of the receiving countries.

It is highly important, explains Black, that agricultural trade balance continues to be favorable and the volume of exports to increase. This is a most desirable solution to the problem of surplus farm production, believes the economist.

Some U. S. farm products, such as wheat and flour, feed grains, oilseed and oilseed products, tobacco, cotton and rice, are sold abroad in very great volume. There are many others, says Black, but those listed are the export leaders.

Standing at the head of the list of the heavy buyer countries is Japan, following in order are Canada, India, Netherlands, United Kingdom, West Germany, and Italy. These countries bought almost $3.5 billion worth of our farm goods in 1968.

There are two groups of countries, Black maintains, were effort toward maintaining and expanding out volume of farm exports could be effective and justified. One group is the well-developed nations of Western Europe, Canada, and Japan. The other is composed of those nations which are turning toward urbanization and industrializa-

Dry Weather Cuts Supply Of Fresh Vegetables

Dry weather has cut the usual supply of fresh vegetables in food markets, but among the best selections are cabbage, russet potatoes, dry yellow onion, carrots, red potatoes, and tomatoes.

This report comes from Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A&M University.

Cantaloupes continue at reasonable prices for very good quality, she adds. Peaches still are available at attractive prices.

Prunes, plums, nectarines, limes, bananas, oranges, honeydew melons, and seedless grapes are other fresh fruit offerings.

In the protein category, Mrs. Clyatt says turkeys and chicken hens are good choices in most markets. Grade A large size eggs are the best value for egg money.

Beef prices are about the same as for the past few weeks. Most markets feature various cuts of beef at special prices, so check food ads for family preferences before shopping.

In general look for chuck roasts and steaks, short ribs, ground beef and round steaks and roasts. Pork calve include shoulder roast and steaks, ham portions, picnic, and some brands of bacon.

SMOKED HAM DIFFERENT FROM SMOKED PICNIC AND CUTS OF MEAT

Easily confused because of the similarity in both shape and flavor, smoke picnic and smoked ham are different cuts of meat, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist, explains. Meat cut from the shoulder section is called picnic; meat from the leg is ham. Although both meats are baked, smoked picnic should be cooked slightly longer than ham for best flavor and tenderness.

Screwworm Cases Reported In Texas And New Mexico

Texas recorded a screwworm case in El Paso County Wednesday, August 13, the first case to be confirmed in Texas since July 14. Recent cases, however, have cropped up in New Mexico and Arizona, Mission Screwworm Eradication on program officials remind.

New Mexico also reported a new case Wednesday in Grant County, officials add.

The Texas case was confirmed from a larvae sample taken from a dog in the city of El Paso and boosts the state total for the year to 155 cases. Arizona thus far has recorded 28 cases, and the New Mexico total now stands at 16. California has reported four cases to up the total for the southwestern United States to 203 cases this year.

Larvae sample being received at the Mission Laboratory have declined sharply in recent weeks, and officials urge livestock and pet owners to remain on the alert for new screwworm cases, and to examine their animals closely, collect worm samples and treat wounds.

"The worst part of the screwworm fly season is just ahead of us, so let's make it everybody's business to watch for screwworm cases and to submit larvae samples from any infestations found to the Mission Lab for identification," urges Dr. M. F. Meadows, Jr., veterinarian in charge of field operations.

Only nine of the nearly 50 vegetables common to the American table are natives of the Americas. They are corn, white potato, sweet potato, lima beans, common bean, tomato, squash, summer squash, and pepper, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Farm & Ranch Review

Farm Experts—Exports are of vital importance to American agriculture and the nation's balance of trade. For the past 15 years, notes Extension Economist W. E. Black, agricultural exports have trended upward. Japan, Canada, India, Netherlands, United Kingdom, West Germany, and Italy were listed as the leading buyers of U. S. farm products.

Dairy Calves Do Well In Feedlot—Research at Texas A&M revealed that dairy calves can compare favorably with beef-type calves in overall feedlot performance. Rate of gain was comparable, feed efficiency was greater, and there was no major difference in physical and chemical properties of the meat. The tests showed that feedlot dairy calves will do a better weight gaining job on high level protein rations than those receiving less protein.

Watch For Mum Diseases—If you want beautiful chrysanthemums this fall, it is time to begin checking plants for leaf spot disease. Jerald Johnson, extension plant pathologist, says the diseases usually start showing up during September and October. Leaf spot diseases spot the lower leaves on the plants and cause them to wither and fall off. If controls are not applied, the plants may be defoliated by flowering time. Spraying or dusting with Zineb or Phaltan will give control.
