Many football fans read this paper. I wonder have they noticed how well the Dallas Cowboys have done since DON MEREDITH left the game. This is not to discredit DON. He was a great player. But, the Cowboys have established the fact that they are not a one man football team. Any team, anywhere, cannot succeed without total cooperation from all 11 players on the field at a given time. It is impossible for a backfield star without a sturdy line to do the blocking. Let us hope the lesson given by the retirement of MEREDITH will not go unnoticed. Dallas has defeated both the Green Bay Packers and New York Jets this year without the services of DANDY DON. They couldn't pull these victories off before CRAIG MORTON took over and started playing with the entire team.

A man most Americans loved and admired died in Washington the past Sunday afternoon in Walter Reed Army Hospital. SENATOR EVERETT DIRKSEN was 73 when the bells tolled for him. He was a friend and confidant of presidents of both parties. The late JOHN KENNEDY counted his friendships as one of his finest. Former chief executive LYNDON JOHNSON and DIRKSEN were warm friends. DIRKSEN held more power under the late President EISENHOWER than any man in Congress. SENATOR DIRKSEN looked like a statesman. The likes of this distinguished man with many talents will not be found around the national capitol for years to come, if ever again.

DOYLE CORDER, former minister of the Church of Christ is this city, mailed in his renewal to the OLE RELIABLE from Harper, Kansas, this week. DOYLE also requested a change of address. The CORDERS are living in a new home in Harper. They now occupy a very liveable and attractive new structure that looks real comfortable from the photograph. I wish the CORDERS continued success in their chosen field.

State Representative E. L. SHORT mailed us an interesting comment the past week from Austin. A lot of people do not realize that taxes in Texas are among the lowest in the U.S. REP. SHORT pointed out that a recent national survey showed that Texans paid an average tax levy of $200 per capita. The survey revealed that New Yorkers now pay an average of $500 per person.

High School football opens up Friday night officially with the SHS Buffaloes journeying to Tahoka for the first game. The Bisons have played some scrimmage games, the last with Roscoe the past week, but the season really gets started this weekend. Several local fans are expected to make the trip to Lynn County to give backing to the team.

Flying insects are reported plentiful in the city limits. The flies seem to be leading the parade. It seems they are swarming more this September than in previous years. Colder weather is about the best way to eliminate the menace. In the meantime, anti-fly sprays are enjoying strong sales here.

Drinkers and smokers more than any other consumers will feel the effects of the tax bill passed by the Texas Legislature.

Texas Size Rain Splashes Stanton

Soil Soaking Moisture Good For Rangelands

A Texas size rain splashed down on Stanton and most of Martin County on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week and guaranteed plenty of needed moisture for some parched pasture lands.

Clayton producers were not too happy about the big rain but took it in stride with the hope that the sun would chase the wet weather and allow harvest to continue.

The heaviest rainfall started about 2 a.m. on Tuesday morning and by daylight most rain gauges held two and one-half inches. Wednesday found another half-inch falling and that brought the total rainfall to better than three inches in some sections of the county counting the small amounts of measurable moisture falling last week.

Martin County Cancer Unit Met At Cap Rock

The Martin County unit of the American Cancer Society met recently at the Cap Rock Auditorium, for its first meeting of the new club year. Tom Ed Angel, president, was in charge of the meeting. He introduced Michael Dean, of Midland, as the new field representative of ASC of this area.

Mrs. Tracey Cockrell, Midland, state director at large of ASC, presented the unit certificate of authorization. Mrs. Bob Bryan, secretary, gave a resume of last year's work, and reports were given by Mrs. Jimmie Sawyer, service chairman; Mrs. John Roueche, treasurer and memorial chairman. A report was also given by Mrs. Glenn L. Brown, publicity chairman.

Plans were made to send Angel as a delegate to the Texas division meeting in Houston, October 15 and 16. Mrs. Roueche will serve as alternate. The next meeting of the unit will be Monday, October 6. Seven members and guests were present.

Accompanying the rainfall, came an old welcomed friend — cooler weather. Temperatures dropped to low 60's in the morning hours, and low 80's in the afternoon. The cooler weather is causing most residents to start speculating when the first freeze of the year is due in Martin County.

One of the local "weather watchers" reported that he had been able to pinpoint the frost date, by counting three months from the date of the first northern in August. This year by using this system, the "forecaster" predicted the first frost by November 10 or 11 of this year.

Other weather experts report that this is going to be a long hard winter, due to the past long hot and dry summer.

White Motor Company Sponsoring PPK Contest

Registration is now underway in the Stanton area for boys wanting to register for the ninth annual Punt, Pass & Kick Competition, in which they will show their football skills in punting, passing and kicking, and compete for trophies, and the chance to represent Stanton in future competitions.

Registration and entries will be accepted through October 10th at White Motor Company, Stanton, Texas. A parent or guardian must accompany the boys to register. The entire competition is absolutely free. There is no body contact in PPK competitions, and all equipment, such as football and kicking tees, are provided.

Everyone who registers will receive a free Punt, Pass & Kick Tips booklet which features stories and competition tips from NFL stars Don Meredith and Mike Clark of the Dallas Cowboys, and Billy Lorthridge of the Atlanta Falcons. The booklet also features Don Shula, the coach of the Baltimore Colts, and includes physical fitness exercises for boys in the PPK Competition age group.

Every boy who participates in PPK has an equal chance to win, for he competes only against boys in his own age group. Points are awarded for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly, with points subtracted for each foot the ball lands to the right or left of a center line. The overall competition is divided into six levels — Local, Zone, District, Area, Division, and National.

The first level — the Local competition — features 18 handsome trophies, which will be awarded locally by White Motor Company. Gold trophies go to first place finishers, silver to second, and bronze to third. The first place winner then moves up to Zone competition.

Winners of Zone competitions will receive trophies, and runners-up are awarded certificates. Zone winners move to District competitions, where 216 District champions will be awarded trophies, and go on to compete for Area championships at NFL stadiums. Area champs travel to Divisional competitions in NFL stadiums in Dallas or Detroit, where 12 finalists are chosen — six from the NFL Eastern division, and six from the NFL Western division. Winners are accompanied by both parents to all Area competitions. The 12 Division winners go, with their parents, to the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida, for the National Finals (Continued on page 6)

Coach Gerald Loyd Likes Roscoe Play

Stanton coach Gerald Loyd said he was not too pleased with the offense but lauded his defense after the Buffs had scrimmaged Roscoe Friday night. Neither teams could get moving in the middle of the field, but Stanton scored eight times against the Plowboys, while Roscoe was able to go into the end zone only twice. Linebacker Johnny McMeans, Rick Mims, and Lindsey Jones, were the boys Loyd singled out for praise. On offense, quarterback Rusty Hicks, and halfback Gary Kitchens impressed Loyd with their ability and hustle. Stanton, with Tahoka scouts in the stands, seemed content to run inside most of the time. The Buffs go to Tahoka to open their season Friday night.

Texas Electric Will Sponsor Atom Conference

An outstanding high school senior from this area will be sponsored by Texas Electric Service Company to the 1969 National Youth Conference on the Atom, to be held in Chicago, Oct. 23-25, according to Cecil Bridges, company manager here.

Students interested in attending the conference must submit applications by September 26, on forms available in area high schools, or from the company. Detailed information concerning the conference and application procedures also is available at these locations. The student will be chosen by a selection committee of distinguished educators and scientists on the basis of the applications submitted, Bridges said. The student's grades, test scores, and interest in science, will be among the qualifications considered by the selection committee.

Members of the selection committee are Dr. E. Leigh Sechrist, vice chancellor for advanced studies and research at Texas Christian University, who will serve as chairman; Dr. Wendell H. Netherham, vice president for academic affairs at the University of Texas at Arlington; Dr. Arthur F. Beyer, chairman of the biology department of Midwestern University; Dr. H. R. Dvorak, chief scientist at General Dynamics Corp. in Fort Worth, and W. R. Garrett, chief engineer and manager for research and development of the Drilco division of Smith Industries in Midland. Calvin A. Cumble, registrar at TCU, will serve as advisor to the committee. According to J. R. Dillard, the principal of the school from which the student is chosen will be asked to name a science teacher to accompany the student to the conference, also as a guest of Texas Electric Service. The company will sponsor eight students and eight teachers to the conference from high schools from communities it serves. Representing most of the 50 states, the 800 conference delegates attending the eleventh annual event held at the Sheraton - Chicago Hotel, will hear some of the nation's leading scientists discuss the latest progress in a variety of scientific areas. Discussions in the past have ranged from nuclear fusion to weather satellites and exploring the solar system, always conducted by top authorities in these fields. The students and teachers also will make tours of the Argonne National Laboratory, a principal center for peaceful research, and the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry. Bridges said the National youth Conference on the Atom, is designed to inspire the scientific leaders of tomorrow by giving them an opportunity to meet and talk with the leaders of today. "Young men and women are finding it necessary to be able to think and speak intelligently about what science is and what it does," Bridges said. "We at Texas Electric (Continued on page 6)

Ralph Lowe Estate Plans No. 1 Dickinson

Ralph Lowe Estate of Midland plans No. 1 Dickinson as an 11,000-foot Strawn prospect on the Midland-Martin County line, five miles northeast of Midland.

Drill site is 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 20, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey, 3/4 mile north and west of Dean - Spraberry oilers in the Spraberry Trend Area, two miles north of the Azalea (Strawn and Devonian gas) field and five miles east of Strawn gas production in the Midland, East (Strawn and Devonian gas) territory.

John L. Cox of Midland finished No. 1 Scott as a 3/4-mile south and east stepout to the Martin County sector of the Spraberry Trend Area, seven miles northeast of Stanton.

It yielded 83 barrels of 40-degree crude and 10 barrels of water per day, pumping from shot holes between 7,467 and 8,087 feet, with a gas-oil ratio of 735-1. The interval had been fractured with 0,000 gallons of fluid and an unreported quantity of propping materials. It is 1,340 feet from north and 800 feet from east lines of section 36, block 35, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Locations for two exploratory ventures have been staked in West Howard County. Depest of the wildcats is No. 1 Reeves, a 9,200-foot Pennsylvania probe, scheduled by Lario Oil & Gas Co. of Midland, six miles southwest of Vealmoor.

It spots 467 feet from north and 853 feet from west lines of section 44, block 33, T-2-N, T&P survey, and a mile northeast of the Brooking, North-east (Canyon reef) pool.

Miler & Fox Drilling Corp. of Corpus Christi, will drill No. M G Simpson as an 8,725-foot Pennsylvania reef prospect, 20 1/2 miles northwest of Big Spring, and 1 3/4 miles northeast of the Modesta, South (Pennsylvanian) area.

Philosopher Doubts New Plan To Extend Man's Life To At Least 100 Will Work Out

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw, has had another flat tire. His letter this week reveals.)

Dear editor:
According to an article I read in a newspaper the other afternoon while I was trying to make up my mind whether the right rear tire on my car could stand another boot or if I should give up and buy a new one, scientists from 40 nations met in Washington week before last to discuss the problem of getting old.

In the main speech before the group, many of whom are getting along in years, a biology professor from London said a crash program costing something like 20 million dollars is needed to explore the possibilities of extending man's life, to where the average person would reach at least 100.

One of the ways worth exploring, he said, would be the use of an anti-oxidant chemical now used by the rubber industry to help prevent deterioration of automobile tires.

I sat up and took notice at this. If they're going to give human beings the same treatment they give automobile tires to keep them from wearing out, I'd suggest to those scientists they put that 20 million dollars out at interest to help replace the tires on their own cars. Some of them I'll bet are getting a little smooth right now. We've got plenty of humans who can outlast a set of tires, but where's the tire nearly anybody without half a trying can't outlast?

I don't know what it is they inject a tire with to keep it from wearing out, but personally I wouldn't have too much confidence in a similar injection for me.

When the scientists perfect a tire that'll outlast me, then they can go to work on a human being that'll outlast a tire. Scientists are always getting their priorities mixed up all they're doing in this instance is arguing that the average man ought to have to buy more tires before he succumbs.

Meanwhile, I decided to try one more boot on my tire. Most business experts are arguing anyway we ought to cool off the economy, although it's hard to do. When you slow down the tire industry you speed up the boot business.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bible Comment—

Bible Tells Us Just What Man Is

The Bible asks in Psalms and Hebrews, "What is man?" And it then gives the answer with a completeness unequalled anywhere else in literature. It's an answer unsurpassed even in the delvings of modern psychology.

In the Bible, man is revealed in all the heights and depths of his aberrations, and variations of his acts and character, with nothing withheld.

In the early record man appears as an unbrotherly murderer. Cain becoming the symbol of the unbrotherly murderers of all time, including our own.

Man is a liar, even in the lapse of the good Abraham; a cheat in the week, but the ultimately better Jacob; and adulterer in the strong and great David; and oppressor in the glorious builder, Solomon.

In these any man other characters is expressed what man has been and is, in just and cruelty; in ruthless ambition and misuse of power; in slowness and weakness; in petty and major sins and transgressions.

It is all there — the Bible's answer to the question, "What is man?" But the uniqueness of the Bible is this: weigh all the realism concerning man's degradation and degradation of himself and his fellows, it also reveals man in all the heights of his possibilities and attainments.

In contrast to it Ahab and Jezebel, and the Johns, Josephs, and Simons, the Anna, and the Marys. In contrast, with all the deaths are the pinnacles of man's aspirations and glories.

Not if this all. For man in the depths there is the favor and grace of God. The Bible is the Book of the Gospel, of faith and hope, of restoration and uplift, of a new life.

THE DASHING DOT

Micro-miniature circuits with components scarcely larger than the dot over this letter "i" are carrying a giant load in today's earthbound and outer space electronic systems.

Low in cost and high in performance and reliability, these nearly microscopic integrated circuits are revolutionizing electronic switching systems, transistor radios, telephone sets, TV and computers.

For example, almost a million electrical components can be packed into a silicon wafer the size of a postage stamp and not much thicker. A wafer is divided into hundreds of squares, each containing 672 transistors and resistors and each so tiny that it is visible through a postage stamp perforation.

Close-up of a single microminiature beam-lead circuit.

and contains 12 transistors, 13 resistors and one diode. Bell's integrated circuit bears little resemblance to individual electronic components linked by a maze of wires. One technique for making integrated circuits involves building up a "sandwich" of thin layers of conducting or insulating film to form resistors, capacitors and interconnections. Most film layers are 1,000 times thinner than a human hair.

Integrated circuits are almost indestructibly rugged. In centrifugal tests, they survive acceleration of 20,000 g's—or roughly the acceleration of a well-hit golf ball at the instant of take-off.

Looking to the future, the Bell spokesman predicts: "The spread of integrated circuits through the Bell System certainly will be marked by communications systems with capabilities far beyond those of systems known today."

The Italian prune crop is estimated to be a large one so take advantage of attractive prices on this tasty fruit, advises Extension Consumer Marketing Specialist Gwendolyn Ciyatt.

Cantaloupes of good quality though a bit small are well priced, she adds. Oranges, bananas, peaches, plums, pears, avocados, grapes, and honeydew melons offer variety.

Carrots, dry yellow onions, potatoes, tomatoes, radishes, green onions, and celery are among the most economically priced vegetables.

At the meat counter, beef prices are about the same as the past few weeks. Some markets are featuring popular steak cuts and rib roasts, while others emphasize cuts which require long cooking with most heat: chuck roast and steaks, boneless rolled shoulder and short ribs.

Pork specials are limited due to short supply, but Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, picnic, and ham portions are generally the best values.

Egg prices make them a good protein choice. Fryer and fryer parts are featured in some Texas markets, although prices have increased slightly.

As yet there are no solid grounds on which to base predictions as to the kind of farm program Secretary of Agriculture Clifford B. Harman will recommend, in fact he does recommend a specific program, when he takes the stand September 24 before the House Committee on Agriculture.

A group of some 25 cotton industry people, including two representative of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, met with Secretary Harman and other Department officials in Washington, September 2, for an "informal discussion" of future cotton programs. They returned "hopeful but by no means certain" their views will have a significant bearing on the Secretary's deliberations.

Representing Plains Cotton Growers at the meeting were PCG President L. D. (Don) Anderson of Crosbyton, and Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President.

They reported that the Department "threw out for comment" some alternative approaches to a cotton program, but was careful not to let anything in writing leave the discussion room.

However two things emerged as dominant factors in the meeting.

First, the kind of cotton programs which seem to be getting the most serious consideration from the Department, are programs which would involve eliminating acreage diversion payments, have non-recourse loans at about the same or below the current 20.25 cents basis Midding-inch, provide for a domestic allotment well below the present 65 percent of total allotment, permit some form of "open end" production above the cotton grown on domestic acres, and provide in some way for "land retirement" as a condition for program participation.

One such approach being looked at by the Department would fix the domestic acreage allotment at about 50 percent of total allotment, set the loan at around 19 cents, and price support payment on domestic production from 10 to 14 cents per pound.

Under this set-up there would be no penalty on cotton produced above the domestic allotment and the additional production might even be eligible for the loan. To incorporate the land retirement feature, the producer might be required as a condition to program participation to "set aside" somewhere on his farm an acreage equivalent to some percentage of his domestic allotment. This "set aside" acreage could not be used for the production of any crop according to present thinking, but this would be the only restriction on permissible cotton acreage.

Jansson commented, "There was support for the 'open end' features of this approach from some areas, but the industry representatives present were predominantly in opposition to it, and we strongly urged that the Department come up with something more nearly approaching the present program."

The second point of the discussions which Johnson and Anderson felt to be of special significance, concerning the limitation of payments, was also disappointing to the cotton people who attended the meeting.

They came away with a fear that the Department is leaning toward a farm program which would limit the total government payments that could be made to an individual producer.

"And since a payment limit would cause such an upheaval in agriculture and so greatly reduce the effectiveness of any farm program," Anderson said, "we asked for and granted another meeting with the Secretary and his people on September 11. And we hope at that time to be able to present a case against limitations that will be strong enough to turn the Secretary against them."

It has suggested by some, including some USDA officials, that farmers should accept the inevitability of a payment limit and devise a "workable" program incorporating a

BGCT Receipts Show Increase

Although Texas Baptist receipts for the month of August were lower than at this time last year, the total picture is encouraging according to the latest report from the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The amount of $108,063.48 less than the total amount received in August of 1968, but the figure represents an accumulative increase of $149,864.04 since January of this year.

The BGCT has reported gifts of $9,006,478 for 1969 thus far.

Texas Baptists are now more than $6,000 ahead in their attempt to fulfill the record $13.5 million budget approved last year in Fort Worth.

In addition to Cooperative Program receipts, the BGCT reports special gifts for August of $250,342, bringing the total mission giving amount for the months of January through August to $13,660,112.52.

Stanton High School News

Football fever has hit SHS. Symptoms of this dreaded disease are being shown by a large number of students. Most display a hoarse throat from too much yelling of "we gonna win," blood-shot eyes from reading yardage statistics, and high temperatures of over 104 degrees, when derogatory comment is made about the Buffal squad.

A common symptom found in most girl students, is a rapid pulse beat when a football player is spotted in the hall.

The disease commonly lasts approximately three months, or until the last football game is played. The only known cure for the illness is a long winning season for the Buffs. And the September 12 game with Tahoka, will be first dose of medicine for students of SHS.

But Anderson points out that the PCG Board has a solid position against payment limitations, and says "In view of the inequity of a payment limit, the fundamental wrongness of a payment limit, and the certain chaos that such a limit would create in agriculture, we cannot bring ourselves to endorse them at all."

SHRIMP-SPINACH DISH BIG ON FLAVOR

It's a swinging, singing sort of a dish, fluffy and tasty beyond belief, the kind you crave to serve after a lot of heavy going in the kitchen. And it is just about as fool-proof as a souffle can be. You don't need to make a white sauce for it, as for most souffles, and you can begin at the last minute to put it together. If you need to, starting with a frozen block of spinach. Biggest size-saver will be canned shrimp. These shrimp, cooked and ready to use, are absolutely right for this or any seafood souffle or casserole. Simply toss them into a colander, drain, and that's it. This is a nice dish for company luncheon or late supper and suggests crusty rolls or French bread, even relishes and a fresh fruit-cup dessert.

SHRIMP AND SPINACH SOUFFLE

- 2 cans (4 1/2 ounces each) shrimp
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
- 4 large eggs, separated
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon coarse black pepper
- 1 garlic clove, cut fine
- 1 tablespoon grated onion (pulp and juice)
- 1/2 cup commercial sour cream
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted

Drain shrimp; reserve a few for garnish; chop the rest. Fold the spinach block under water tap just to melt the ice coating. Squeeze the block into a half-dozen pieces, using the point of a heavy knife, and chop thoroughly. Beat egg yolks slightly; add salt, pepper, garlic, onion, sour cream, cheese, butter or margarine. Mix well. Add chopped shrimp and spinach. Beat egg whites until they stand in stiff, moist peaks; fold in the shrimp and spinach mixture. Turn into a buttered 1 1/2-quart souffle dish or casserole with straight sides; "dot" with reserved shrimp. Place in a pre-heated moderate (350-degree) oven; bake 50-60 minutes or until souffle is puffed, browned, and set. Serve immediately. Makes 6 portions.

THE BEST MAN
IN THE SENATE

JOHN J. SYNON

Here is a query: "On balance, who do you think is the best senator in congress?" Well, now. That's not an easy one. But it is intriguing. There is Sam Ervin of North Carolina. I am a flat-out admirer of Senator Sam. But only within somewhat narrow limits. Ervin's incisive mind is the best on The Hill — so far as the convolutions of the law are concerned. And when he is in a floor fight, he is something to see. But the Carolinian's influence across the breadth of the country is limited. He is hardly known outside the political periphery of Washington, excusing of course his native State; they know him there.

Another of my favorites is the Delaware chicken rancher, John J. Williams. Whenever John Williams blows the whistle, thieves scurry. He is a protege of Harry Byrd, and says a lot. But, like Ervin, the man from Delaware has a limited range of influence and while I don't deprecate his value to the country because of it, Senator Williams is not in my opinion, the answer to the reader's inquiry. And what is true of Ervin and Williams is true of a number of others. (I am no cynic as it pertains to the United States Senate). There are many fine men there, serving their State and nation valiantly; I think of Goldwater; yes, Goldwater. And West Virginia's Bob Byrd; Cotton of New Hampshire; Hruska of Nebraska; Thurmond of South Carolina; Jim Eastland and John Stennis of Mississippi. Both of them. John Stennis, for instance, is the Senate's own judge. When the August 100 want an impartial answer, they give the problem to the man from DeKalb.

But what I take it my reader really wants to know is who, above all, do I think of as the toga-type Senator. The Political Renaissance Man of Capitol Hill? Well, if somebody gave his vote to Florida's Spessard Holland, I wouldn't argue much. Except that Holland, much like Ervin, and for all of Holland's scintillating versatility, the Cracker's light is pretty well covered by the Capitol's bushelbasket. Except for that probably-self-imposed limitation. I wouldn't argue at all. Spessard Holland is a very, very good man. My man is John Tower of Texas. I think John Tower, now that he has weathered, is the best of the lot, his potential the greatest. Admiration for this erstwhile school teacher, erstwhile radio announcer, 44-year-old son of a preacher, is almost without limit. That he and I do not agree wholeheartedly on ever issue only signifies the growth the senator has yet to attain. But you take a cross section of John Tower and the growth rings you will see will prove magnificent. To answer the lady, then, "on balance," my choice is John Tower.

This pin-neat, little fellow, in my opinion, has the best mind in Washington. He is a John Randolph without Randolph's bitterness, and that about describes him. And, as I say, he has weathered real good. Tower's outlook is truly national. Not only geographically but culturally as well. Make no mistake through: First as he should be, John Tower is a Texan. John Tower drinks in knowledge like a sump pump sucking at a well. He is the best talker I ever heard; his courage is unquestioned and he

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

J. H. MARICELLI, brother of MRS. EZELL McKASKLE, this city, has been a subscriber of ours for years. He lives with his family in Shreveport, Louisiana, and has been working with the Byrd Roofing Company since that firm was formed several years ago. The other evening EZELL brought his brother-in-law out to our house for an introduction and a visit. I can't recall when I have spent such a good hour with such an informed and interesting person. EZELL just listened as the conversation spread over two states. I edited a paper in Carthage, Texas, near the Louisiana line for years. When I mentioned happenings, personalities, and expressed my admiration for the residents of the Pelican state, MR. MARICELLI listened attentively with a knowing sparkle in his dark eyes. The gentleman from Louisiana told us he read our paper avidly weekly and then passed it around for friends to scan. He has often written his relatives here and urged them to "tell the editor to keep on writing about what he does—this country needs more news comments in his style." I am indeed thankful for the thinking, intelligent, very alert, type of men and women who read this newspaper. Without their encouragement, it would be difficult to continue to pen the prose we attempt here in our small effort to preserve Americanism—plain vanilla—week after week.

S Stanton caught two and one-half inches of the type of rain it takes to truly saturate the soil Monday night and early Tuesday morning. The good earth soaking moisture followed two or three showers recorded here in recent days. It's like a citizen said Tuesday morning — I think it was TOM GLYNN, "This is getting to be a rainy country."

The official opening and formal dedication of the Martin County Country Club will be open to the public and will be held on October 4 at 11 a.m., according to CECIL BRIDGES. A story appears elsewhere on the event to come.

Watch the newspaper next week for announcements concerning the formal showing of the new 1970 model automobiles in Martin County. Most of the local dealers will hold special premier showings with diff-day parties planned with favors and refreshments for their friends who turn out to view the new cars.

JESS ANGEL was in the grocery store late Tuesday evening after making a trip to Waco. He had been down in the Baylor University country to be present when his daughter, MELRAE, enrolled. JESS was surprised to see me and said he could have truthfully told anyone that he met me, thought he recognized my car, and all, in Waco territory Tuesday. This might sound coincidental, but another party stood me down late Tuesday afternoon that my car crossed an intersection in Lamesa Tuesday afternoon too. Man, with all this good rain, I wouldn't think about leaving dear old Martin County. I might add that I spent a very profitable day in Stanton Tuesday and a lot of people saw me here at home too.

I read many tributes published and the memory of the late SEN. EVERETT DIRKSEN. One of the tributes said a lot for me and in a few words told how the late senator from Illinois fitted into the modern picture. "His language smacked of Shakespeare and the Bible and Victorian England, his delivery of WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, his fervor of BILLY SUNDAY. His stage could have been the Chautauqua circuit and his product patent medicine, but he made it politics and when he spoke it was pure Americana, like the Fourth of July picnics of old. EVERETT DIRKSEN was an orator, master at unrolling cubic yards of rhetoric at the slightest nudge. He was of the breed that went out with mustache cups and trolleys and shoes with hooks for laces. He was purveyor of the well said put-down as well as the silky threads of praise. When DIRKSEN spoke it flowed, it flowed. He was the last link between his generation and ours."

The big explosion on television is due next week. For weeks the networks have serenaded the listening public with announcements. I plan to quietly view most of the shows and then as the late beloved PRESIDENT KENNEDY would say, "make a judgment." I'll pass this judgment along to the readers. A lot of ballyhoo preceded ROY ROGERS special the other evening but the entire show fell flat on the face when ROY and guest star LITTLE JOE CARTRIGHT appeared in formal. I didn't recognize the boys out of the saddle and off their oat burners. Talk about a mule-and-buggy-harness deal—old ROY looked like a one-eyed jackrabbit loping across one of BERNARD HOUSTON'S back Glasscock County pastures.

NEAL'S NUGGET — Every Texan needs to take a long and serious look at the $348 million tax bill passed by the legislature after two special sessions and 180 days of name calling and wrangling. This is the largest tax package in history. One can't help but ask if the full amount of the huge levy was honestly needed. The next time the big spending demanders send up their trial balloons be ready to ask questions about the merits of the proposed expenditures.

Variety — more dollars for the many state services. Sales taxes go up on October 1. Retail cigarette prices are expected to jump about five cents per pack. Beer catches the first men and natural gas producers also will be chipping in tax increase in years. The CENTER FORM — Stanton High grid coach Gerald Loyd watches the form of his center, Randy Nichols, as he prepares to center the ball to quarterback Rusty Hicks. Nichols is a 162-pound senior, and Hicks is a 150-pound senior, both preparing for their first game of the season at Tahoka Sept. 12.
