Philosopher Says Washington Shouldn't Be Blue Over Exceeding Its Budget

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has some comforting words for Washington this week.)

Dear editor:
Judging by an article in the news the other day, Washington is not in tune with a lot of the country.

The article said the Administration is sorely disappointed but it has to admit it's going over its 1970 budget by about a billion and a half dollars. Instead of a planned surplus it's going to have an unplanned deficit.

In addition to the fact it took Washington till the middle of May to find out it was exceeding its budget while I found out I was going over mine the second week in January, what indicates Washington is out of touch with the rest of the country is its disappointment over the cold figures.

Doesn't Washington know that practically everybody in the country is exceeding his budget? Doesn't it know that any Administration that can get all the votes of all the people who exceed their budget can stay in office forever?

Take me. I had everything down on paper for 1970 and the figures show I could stay within my budget, but how did I know my tractor was going to blow a gasket and the radiator spring a leak? Nobr-y told me my television set was going out, and two of my sows weren't going to make it to spring. I couldn't any more know the wind was going to blow down the post that holds up the southeast corner of my front porch than a college president knows how many buildings he's going to lose in the next riot.

I know a student who, required by his teacher to draw up an outline before he wrote a theme always wrote the theme first and then drew up the outline. If you want to be happy with a budget, finish the uncertain year first and then look back over your canceled checks and draw one up. It won't help your financial status but it'll keep you from being disappointed. Like it is, any time Washington stays within its budget it'll be a personal embarrassment to millions of us.

Yours faithfully,

County Agents Column

By BILLY REAGOR
County Agent

Small grain farmers in many sections of Texas will soon be harvesting grain and afterwards they may have a problem of what to do about the straw.

It should not be burned, advises County Agent Billy Reagor. Good residue management is one of the better soil and water management practices leading to increased crop production, he adds.

According to the county agent, residues plowed or disked into the soil help keep it open, thus allowing for good water infiltration and aeration.

Reagor says farmers interested in providing the necessary raw materials for residues should keep their land planted to close-growing or high residue crops half to two-thirds of the time.

Incorporation of residue into the soil provides an added bonus, in that it is an effective way to prevent the carry-over of disease organisms. Cotton root rot, for example, can be substantially reduced by a combination of deep tillage and the incorporation of large amounts of residue deep in the soil.

Farmers interested in knowing more about how to get the most from crop residues are invited to come by the county agent's office for a copy of MP-807, "Crop Residue to Improve Texas Soils." The publication outlines in detail how crop residues can be used to benefit the land as well as the owner.

Blessedness Of Work Is Told

Work is more than just a task, more than a drudgery. Saint Paul says, "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

The spirit in which one's work is performed is important. One may take great satisfaction in performing his part in the fabrication of finished, marvelous products.

Also, there is a great compensation in the fact that even monotonous routine has been offset by shorter hours of labor, which leaves the worker more time for family and real business of living.

Nevertheless, the old debate remains as to whether work is a cure or a blessing. The original conception of Genesis suggests that it is something of a curse: — "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread" —. But in the Old Testament that conception received another interpretation. To extract from the soil abundance and prosperity became a national and social ideal. A glory was attached to work, and to achievement of craftsmanship.

The blessedness of work, too, became more emphasized and vindicated in all that Jesus said. — "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work." — Work was what Jesus called His "Father's business." It was Christian work, and as Paul commended it by precept and example.

And St. Paul has a message as a tent-maker as well as in the role of an Apostle and Christian leader.

Disaster Bill Hearing Seen

Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock said this week that he has received assurances from the House Public Works Committee that it will begin hearings on an early date on a comprehensive bill to extend and expand benefits provided under present law for disaster relief.

Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which would initiate funding of legislation if the Congress were to change authorization for disaster relief, said he has filed notice with Public Works to testify when the legislation is considered.

Enactment Seen

Moving in the wake of the Lubbock tornado disaster, the congressman said, "after exploring the situation in the House and Senate it appears certain that comprehensive disaster legislation extending and expanding benefits available under present law will be enacted into law this session."

Mahon noted he was strongly supporting legislation by Senators Ralph Yarborough and John Tower which is designed specifically to be helpful to Lubbock and to the nine other tornado stricken West Texas counties and that he has introduced a companion bill in the House Wednesday.

Principal Features

Principal features of the bill are:

— Authorization of the Small Business Administration to cancel up to $5,000 of any loan made under the disaster loan program for repairing and rebuilding damaged homes.

— Authorization to the Farmers Home Administration to cancel up to $5,000 or a loan for the purpose of repairing or rebuilding agricultural property.

— Special temporary housing provisions which would provide up to 12 months of relief.

— Authorization for the Secretary of Commerce to make direct grants of money to cities and political subdivisions in the affected areas in the amounts equal to tax on bond obligations outstanding at the time of the tornado which now cannot be met because of the disaster.

Urges Passage

Mahon noted that he would urge passage of the measure which he and the senators have introduced, but should that effort fail, he would add that adequate additional provisions be made for the stricken areas in West Texas in the comprehensive bill. He noted that President Nixon has submitted a message to Congress urging expansion and extension of present law relating to disaster relief, many features which expire Dec. 31 this year.

"I will work closely with the Texas senators and other colleagues here in an effort to get action on legislation and to meet the special needs of the West Texas areas and the nation as a whole at the earliest possible moment," Mahon said.

Seeds From The Sower

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A letter came from a reader, my case? Can He undo my tangles? Can He keep me from yielding to the sin that is destroying my life and home? It will take a miracle, Can God?

Sometimes the question "Can God?" is asked hopefully, and other times hopefully will take a miracle, Can God? lessly. But in asking this question in Psalm 78:19 "they spoke against God," because they called in question His ability.

They looked around and saw nothing to eat or drink, and they asked, "Can God furnish a table in the wilderness?" But it is not necessary for Him to have anything to work with. "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." What did He make them out of? Nothing. A God who can make the world out of nothing can fill to the full your needs whether He has anything to work with or not.

There is no limit to His love. No one has been able to measure His might. He is never at a loss for wisdom or resources. He is noted for doing unheard-of things, so expect the unlooked-for things. He is the Wonder-working God.

Ask not, "Can God?" Instead say "God can!" And He will.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Pupil Accident Insurance

Growing in popularity are insurance policies that cover the school child in case of an accident. Since the idea is relatively new, a number of legal questions have arisen — notably, as to accidents that happen somewhere between the school and the home.

Consider this case: A schoolboy, starting homework after school, decided to make a slight detour in order to accompany a friend on a shopping errand. During the detour, the boy suffered a painful fall.

In due course, his parents tried to collect on a student accident policy, claiming that it covered their son while he was traveling to or from school. But the insurance company denied liability.

"Our policy did cover him on the way home from school," the company conceded in court, "but only if he was going 'directly' home. Here, although he was going home, he was not going directly. Therefore, this accident is not covered by the policy."

Nevertheless, the court decided the company would have to pay off.

"The deviation was slight," said the judge. "A practical and sensible interpretation of 'directly' will permit such a deviation. The company must have known the propensity of children not to follow a str-ightline."

On the other hand, there are limits as to how far afield the child can stray before losing his protection.

In another case, a youngster fell out of a tree and fractured his arm. At the time of the mishap, school had been over for almost an hour. Furthermore, the boy, instead of moving toward home, had actually gone some distance in the opposite direction. In these circumstances, a court ruled that the insurance protection did not stretch that far.

Of course, the terms of the individual policy make all the difference: In another case, parents tried to collect on a school accident policy when their son got hurt right at home.

Obviously, the accident had nothing to do with school. Yet, the policy stated in so many words that it covered the boy on a 24-hour basis. Following the plain terms of the policy, the court granted

SON. CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

This is the time of the year when farmers are watering to start this year's crops and planning their irrigation operation. This brings up the question of irrigation water management, which simply means using the available water to get the best returns for each inch of water pumped and each dollar spent.

It is an established fact that pre-plant irrigation pays more dollar returns per dollar invested. In pre-planting irrigation, land should be brought to field capacity or to the depth that planned crops will be able to use the moisture during the growing season.

Deep soils can store more water than shallow soils, hence six to eight inches of water can be stored in deep soil, while shallow soils may only hold four to six inches of moisture.

Time is also important in irrigation water management. We have until about the first of June to apply base moisture. After crops are growing soil moisture should not get below 40 to 50 per cent of water holding capacity in the effective root zone of crops being watered. Without this precaution maximum returns cannot be obtained. If base moisture is good only one or two inches of water may be needed the first watering. As crops grow their need for water increases, therefore each watering will need to be increased. This will increase through the peak use period which will be during July to August, depending on the season. Considering these facts two to three times as many acres can be pre-watered than could be irrigated during the peak use period. Some farmers may need to pre-plant irrigate as many acres as possible and reduce the irrigated acreage during the peak use period based on moisture needs and effective rainfall. Water conservation should be practiced by everyone, especially the irrigated farmer.

SCS technicians assisting the Martin - Howard - Midland Soil and Water Conservation District, can provide assistance in checking or reorganizing an irrigation system for maximum efficiency.

4-H Clubbers Slate Annual A&M Roundup

The Texas 4-H Roundup is rich in history. It's beginning goes back almost to the turn of the century. Later it was to become an important part of the Farmers Short Course. About a quarter-century ago, the name was changed to the Texas 4-H Roundup.

Throughout its history, it has met each summer on the campus of Texas A&M University, and 1970 will be no exception. On June 3-5, 4-H boys and girls from every section of the Lone Star State will again come to A&M to vie for state honors in many events.

Some 850 boys and girls, plus about 350 local 4-H adult leaders, and county extension agents who have coached and supervised the county and district winners, will attend. In addition, some 500 Friends of 4-H are expected for all or parts of the planned program. Included will be sponsors of judging and demonstration team contests, and members of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

The Foundation sponsors many of the Roundup activities and its trustees, all prominent leaders in agriculture, industry, and public service, will hold their annual meeting on June 3.

At the first general assembly, individuals and businesses will be recognized for their contribution to 4-H, with Foundation Chairman Larry Baker of Orange, making the presentations.

A Golden Anniversary Dinner will follow. It honors the 1920 Texas 4-H Livestock Jud-

Grassroots Opinion

BELTON TEXAS, JOURNAL: "One senator severely criticized the President's welfare proposal which would require all able-bodied persons to work if work is available. The critic said such a procedure might cause a welfare recipient to perform work which is 'demeaning'. Now wouldn't that be too bad! Personally I do not think one kind of work is any more demeaning than other, because I do not particularly like any kind. Although I began working at age 12, it has always offended my sensibilities and I have never emotionally adjusted to it."

MOUNTAIN VIEW, ARK., LEADER: "We have only to look at the day's headlines to see signs of how disaffected much of our youth has become. But it seems worthwhile, even so, to ask ourselves whether or not we have made a good, genuine, attempt to involve them in real comprehension of the American system. We cannot lay all the blame on the youngsters, We need to kindle their interest. Responsible participation will follow."

TINLEY PARK, ILL. TIMES: "A sage remark printed in a local . . . bulletin arouses deep thought. It said: 'A child cannot read the Bible in school, but it can be read in prison,' — G O — COVINGTON, TENN., LEADER: "It had been widely assumed that nobody read the Congressional Record with the exception of those who contribute to its contents who read their own contributions, but it is reported it is the first thing President Nixon scans every morning." — G O — OKABENA, MINN., PRESS: "Americans did things in a big way last year—we smoked 550 billion cigarettes, chewed six billion aspirins, used more than one trillion safety pins, ate more than three billion quarts of ice cream, mailed three billion Christmas cards and drove an estimated 800 billion miles in just going places and doing things. You can't say there are ask ourselves whether or not we have made a good, genuine attempt — G O — TIPTON, IOWA CONSERVATIVE: "The idea that any family with a yearly income of $8,400 could be poor is of somewhat recent origin. As a matter of fact, the amount that a family can earn and be in poverty increased $1,000 last year, according to the Department of Labor."

Wichita Lawmaker Vows War On New Car Insurance Boosts

State Rep. Davis Allred of Wichita County said today he strongly opposes auto insurance rate increases being mentioned by some industry spokesmen.

His remarks were similar in tone to comment Monday by State Sen. Mike McKool in Dallas, which was followed by a denial from an official of the Insurance Information Institute in Dallas that any rate boosts were being asked.

"Automobile insurance rates already have skyrocketed until they are almost out of the reach of most people," Allred said. "This cannot go on."

Allred said he will fight any further raises in premiums before the Texas Insurance Board and will urge the board to consider income from insurance company investments in determining what rates are to be charged.

Automobile insurance companies invest the money they receive but the profits from these investments are not included in the rate making process, he said.

A committee appointed by Gov. Preston Smith and headed by former Gov. Price Daniel, studied the procedure for fixing such rates last year after the industry had proposed increases.

That special committee recommended that the state board include investment income among rate making factors, Allred recalled.

The Wichita County legislator said he had checked with the state insurance department and had been told the committee's recommendation still was being studied. He said he was contacting the board to urge that investment income be brought into the determination of rates.

"This is only part of the solution in this problem, but it is one part and it should be told, Allred recalled.

He quoted news reports stating officials of the Southwest

Insurance Information Service in Austin had said they were holding news conferences around the state to "prepare the public" for new rate increases. Some estimates have mentioned boost of 15 to 20 per cent, Allred noted.

A spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute of Dallas was quoted as saying that the figures of 15 to 20 per cent only estimates and no formal request had been made to the state board.

"That may well be," Allred said, "because the hearings at which the insurance industry presents its figures have not yet been held. They will come this summer, but even if no formal request has been presented, some industry spokesmen already are talking about another rate increase."

Linda Zuck, Patterson Wed In Double Ring Rites

Belvue Church of Christ was the setting for the 6 p.m. wedding Saturday of Linda Jean Zuck and Jerry Joe Patterson.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Zuck of Stanton and Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson of Princeton, Ind.

An arched candelabrum with white tapers, and a kneeling bench flanked by palms ornamented the bridal scene.

Recorded selections were played for the ceremony and Mrs. George Loudamy of Wichita Falls, and Laura Zuck, sisters of the bride, sang. They also served as matron of honor and bridesmaid.

Lisa Zuck, sister of the bride, lighted the candles. Cynthia Loudamy and Robert Loudamy of Wichita Falls, niece and nephews of the bride, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Ushers were Jim Silva and Bob Greenlee, both of Abilene. Robb Conover of Evansville, Ind., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the groomsmen.

Thomas Lepzinski of Abilene was the best man. Mr. Zuck, minister of the church, officiated for the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Lepzinski read the scripture. The bride's attendants wore full-length dresses in Empire styling of sheer pastel green flocked with daisies, and carried baskets of white daisies.

The bride wore a full-length gown of sheer white dotted Swiss. The full sleeves had wide cuffs trimmed in rows of lace and fastened with tiny covered buttons. Satin ribbon defined the Empire waist finished with a bow and streamers in back. A lace trimmed high collar with tiny buttons emphasized the old-fashioned dress design. Her veil of illusion fell from a headband of daisies. She carried a basket of white daisies and carnations.

A reception was held in Cap Rock Auditorium. Mrs. Conover served the punch. Mrs. Lepzinski and Mrs. Gary Nevils of Houston, served the cake. Ann Robinson of Abilene, was at the guest book.

The bride's basket served as a center-piece for the bride's table.

Other members of the house party were Mrs. H. P. Morrison, Mrs. Floyd Huckaby, Mrs. Virgie Quaid, Mrs. John Shanks, and Mrs. J. S. Morrison, all of Stanton.

The bride is a May graduate of Abilene Christian College with degree in speech and hearing therapy. The bridegroom, who recently completed four years in the U. S. Air Force, is employed in Evansville by Whirlpool, and will attend Indiana State University beginning this fall. The couple will travel to Indiana on a wedding trip.

LAWN TENDING DO'S AND DON'TS!

If you want to look from your window upon a lawn that will turn your neighbors green with envy, cultivate these do's and don'ts suggested by scientists.

Do water a new lawn lightly and often until it is established. Do soak an established lawn to a depth of three to six inches but don't water again till the soil becomes dry and crumbly.

Don't mow a newly planted lawn until it is three inches high. Then keep it at one and a half or two inches.

Do use a quality seed mixture instead of a bargain basement mixture; it will prove an economy in the long run. Do follow instructions on the fertilizer package very carefully.

Don't apply lime, fertilizer or anything else except with a properly adjusted spreader.

Do use a sharp mower. Dull blades split tops of the grass, causing them to turn brown. A new cordless electric lawn mower, for example, is both efficient and convenient. The country's first battery-powered, four-wheel, reel-type mower, the Black and Decker Cordless Electric Lawn Mower will cut more than 10,000 square feet of average lawn on one battery charge. It can be recharged automatically by connecting it to the recharging unit which operates on regular household current. Do utilize the many other features of this modern mower. They include a leak-proof battery that carries a three-year warranty, a quiet permanent magnet motor, a contact safety switch, safety lock and deep set blades, self-sharpening ability, six adjustable cutting heights, four-wheel construction and a shock absorbing clutch. Follow these lawn care practices and the lawn won't be greener on the other side of the fence. It will be greener on your side!

Questions And Answers

(This column of questions most frequently asked by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service, and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions and answers on federal tax matters as provided by taxpayers.)

Q) It's been just about a month since I sent in my tax return and my refund still hasn't come. Why should it take me so long to get my money back when fellows at the shop got their refunds in a month?

A) The date the return was filed has a lot to do with how long it takes to be processed. Returns filed early can be processed and any refund checks issued within 4-6 weeks from the date they were received by the IRS.

Returns filed in April take longer to process because of the great number of tax returns that come into our service centers during this period.

It is just not possible from an equipment and manpower standpoint for the IRS to process the 30 million returns received in a two-week period as rapidly as we do the 45 million returns received over a twelve-week period.

However, you should receive your refund in the next few weeks unless a mistake is discovered. Then you will receive a letter explaining the delay.

Q) My daughter is eligible for a scholarship that will pay part of her college tuition. If she gets it will it be taxable for her? Also, will it affect the exemptions claim for her?

A) Income from scholarships is generally not taxable, and does not have to be included by parents in determining a student's total support.

Q) Are tips taxable? I'm taking a job as a waitress in a summer resort and my girlfriend tells me that tips are very good there.

A) Yes, tips are counted as taxable income.

If your tips amount to $20 a month or more, they should also be reported to your employer so they can be credited for Social Security purposes. Your employer will make the necessary adjustments in your tax withholding.

Q) Does everybody have to have clearance from IRS to leave the country?

A) No U. S. citizens are not required to obtain tax clearance. However, many aliens are required to obtain this clearance from the IRS.

For details on this requirement, send a post card to your district director and ask for Publication 513, "Tax Information for Visitors to the United States." The publication is free.

Q) If I buy savings bonds and put them in my son's name, who has to pay tax on the interest they earn?

A) If the bonds are issued solely in your son's name, or in his name with you as beneficiary, then the interest earned on the bonds will be income for your son.

A key factor is who has control over the bonds. If you can cash them, the interest is your income. If only your son can cash them, the interest is his income.

Stanton Women Plan Summer Trip To Europe

Mrs. Dewayne Ory, Mrs. Wallace Kelly, and Mrs. Jim Webb will leave June 6, for a two week vacation in Europe. The vacation is a guided tour through European cities of interest for members or members and their immediate families of Beta Sigma Phi.

Their trip begins from the Midland Air Terminal into Houston, where they will change planes and fly into New York. The trio will have an overnight flight across the Atlantic to Brussels, Belgium. The next three days will be spent touring Brussels, and Ghent, Belgium; Aachen, Bonn, and Coblenze, Germany.

Wednesday will be a busy day for the three, as their tour will include the Rhine River, Frankfurt, Wurzburg, Romantic Road, and Rothenburg, all in Germany.

Other places of interest they'll visit are Augsburg, Bavaria, Garmisch - Parkenkirchen, all cities in Germany. Austrian cities of Innsbruck, and Breener Pass, Italian cities of Cortina, D'Am Pezzo, Venice, Florence, Autostrada Del-Sole, Piacenza, Milan, Lago Maggiore, and Simplon Pass; Swiss cities of Martigny, Lake Geneva, Geneva, and the French cities of Dijon and Paris.

Midland Club Will Present Fashion Show

The Midland Cotton Boosters will feature the season's styles in late cotton patterns at a fashion presentation to be held at Holiday Inn, Midland, in the Patio Room on the morning of May 29 at 10 a.m.

Cottons for all occasions make up the collections, which is coordinated by the Cotton Producers and McCall's patterns. Some garments will also be custom made by the models themselves. Some garments have been donated by various Midland stores.

Focusing on the latest trends in fashion, Cavalcade of Cotton presents many design ideas to the creative home sewer. Casual clothes, lounge wear, tailored suits and coats, late-day dresses, and children's wear are featured in an array of fabrics from knit to mod prints, and smart woven cottons.

The theme for the show will be "Cavalcade of Cottons." Mrs. Ervin Baumann will serve as commentator. There will be a brunch and a door prize. Co-sponsor will be the Midland Farmer's Co-Operative. The pianist will be Mrs. Charlie Welch.

Martin County women are extended a special invitation.

TAKE-ALONGS FOR VACATION MEALS

It's a challenge to be a creative cook in the cramped spaces of a boat galley or the kitchen of a camper or a tiny cottage. You have lots of help at hand, however, in all of today's lightweight foods—freeze-dried coffee, instant potatoes and onions, gravy and casserole mixes, instant puddings, etc.

Many of these products can play dual roles, too—for instance, salad dressing mixes make unique seasonings, and soups can masquerade as sauces. Even a handy beverage mix, like Tang Instant Breakfast Drink, can pop up at all times of day. Sprinkle it on chicken, while broiling it on the charcoal grill. Serve it in a punch to lazily sip as the sun goes down. Or use it in an easy and unusual salad like this slaw.

Tornado Alarm Sounded Minutes Before Storm Hit

"The thunderstorm spawned a tornado over Lubbock. We sounded the alarm as soon as we had an official confirmation. That was about two or three minutes before it hit—sometime about 9:45 p.m.," Bill Payne said.

Payne, Lubbock's civil defense director, had been called away from a program he was presenting Monday evening at the Embers Restaurant for an Optimist Club.

He said the city hall switchboard relayed to him a weather bureau notification of threatening weather at about 7:30 p.m.

By 8 p.m. Monday, civil defense headquarters in the basement of Lubbock's city hall was attuned to radio communications crackling through the atmosphere as city policemen and highway patrolmen were watching the weather from different observation points.

By television, civil defense officials were watching a radar scanner so they could track storm cells.

Confirmation of a tornado came from the Lubbock Police Department, Payne said.

Through the obscuring rain, the Department of Public Safety and Lubbock city policemen had been watching from two sides as the storm moved into the city from the west, Payne said.

There were at least two big storms under observation Monday night in Lubbock. The first storm carried more hail than the second, which brewed the tornado over the city.

As the civil defense officials listened and watched, the Lubbock weather bureau, located in the airport northeast of town, issued a tornado warning at 8:10 p.m. — to last until 9 p.m. — based on sighting of a funnel cloud south of the airport and on a "hook formation" showing on the bureau's weather scanner.

The weather bureau teletype reissued the warning at 8:59 p.m. Monday and extended the warning until 10 p.m. based on business district, Payne said.

At 9:03 p.m., weather bureau radar showed a "hook formation" on the radar screen at a location about three miles east of the city.

It was about thirty minutes later that the tornado formed and slammed into downtown Lubbock — with the wail of the warning sirens blasting into the rain a scant few minutes earlier.

And Bill Payne never did get back to finish the program for the Optimists.

He'd planned to show them a movie.

About tornadoes.

Republicans Predicted Winner Of Senate Seat

A key strategist for Rep. George Bush, R-Texas, says Republicans will win the Texas Senate seat by taking some conservative Democrats and many liberals away from Lloyd Bentsen, the Democrat who defeated Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the primary.

"The liberals are going to be way more upset than in 1961 or 1966," said Texan James Allison of the Republican National Committee, "because Bentsen knocked off their leader."

"I think they'll do more to defeat Bentsen than they did Waggoner Carr or Bill Blakley," said Allison, a former Bush campaign manager and native of Midland, Texas.

In addition, Allison said in an interview, "I think you'll get some of the labor vote and, more important, I think you will get a lot of them to stay home."

He said some Mexican-Americans voted against Yarborough "but they're going to identify Bentsen as the same kind of person who met them on the highways. I think George can expect to get a fair percentage of their votes."

Allison referred to a 1966 highway confrontation between Mexican-American farm workers marching from the Rio Grande Valley to Austin to appeal for a $1.25 hourly minimum wage. Then Gov. John Connally — one of Bentsen's firmest supporters — met the marchers with Ben Barnes and Carr, then a Senate candidate, refusing their demand.

Allison conceded that Democratic control of the Senate and whether Texans will choose a second Republican to represent them in the Senate will be issues.

"But you still have 20 out of 23 House seats which are Democratic," he said. "I don't think the two GOP seats is too much of an issue. It may have been with Lyndon Johnson in the White House but not now, with a Republican President," Allison said.

Allison insisted that Bush is in a better position against Bentsen than against Yarborough.

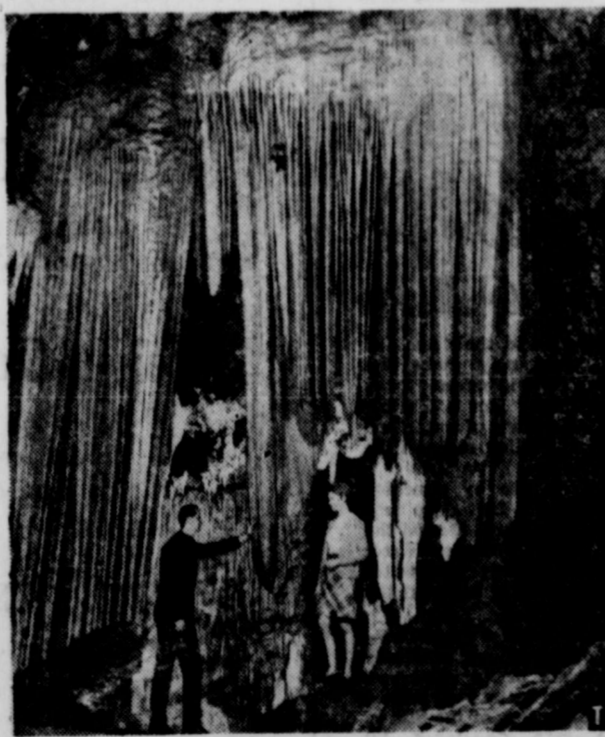

"A lot of the Bentsen strength was anti-Yarborough, not pro-Bentsen, so those votes are available to George if he comes over as a better candidate which I'm confident he will," Allison said.

"Bentsen has been out of touch and George is right on top of it. People know how much he has done for the state and how close he is to the President," he added.

He said Texans realize that many Nixon programs haven't passed because a Democratic Senate has blocked them. No matter how conservative Bentsen may be, he said, the fact remains he would be obligated to vote with Democrats in organizing the Senate and the same committee chairmen would remain in power.

Yes, Allison said, Bush's close identity with Nixon could hurt him "if we're in a recession in November and still in Cambodia," but he assumes neither case will be true.

STONE CAVERN HARD TO EXPLAIN

Geologists have many theories about the reasons for the unusual forms of the stalactites (growing down from the ceiling) and stalagmites (growing up from the ground) in America's famed Luray Caverns in Virginia, but few of the scientists agree on any one theory. It is known that the caverns are ten to 12 million years old, and that parts of it are still growing at the rate of one cubic inch of cave onyx every 120 years. The largest room is 300' x 500', and ceilings range up to 140' in height.

Farm & Ranch Review

Farmer Efficiency And Food Costs

Consumers pay less for food because their farmer friends are producing 20 percent more on 6 per cent fewer acres than they did in the period from 1957-59. Each of the nation's farm workers is now supplying the food and fiber for 45 persons, compared with 23 in 1957-59, and his output per man-hour has increased 83 percent over the past decade, reminds extension economist W. E. Black.

Farmers Pay More For Foods And Services Used

From 1957 to early 1970, the index of prices farmers pay for commodities, interest, taxes, and rates increased 31 percent. Taxes were up to 129 percent, hired wage rates 81 percent, motor vehicles 35 percent, fertilizer 7 per cent, and feed 6 percent to name a few. Thus, the cost-price squeeze continues to keep their earnings below those in other industries.

The Food Dollar

Farmers received an average of 41 cents out of each $1 spent for U. S. farm produced food in 1969. This was about 2 cents more than in 1957-59, but 9 cents less than in 1947-49. The farmer's share of the consumer's dollar varies widely among products. It is smaller for a highly serviced product such as bread than for an unprocessed product, such as eggs. When $1 was spent in 1969 at the grocery store, 41 cents went for products, and 59 cents for marketing service.

By NEAL ESTES

A lot of criticism has been heard recently concerning the accuracy of the population figures for many West Texas cities released by the census takers. Some of the jive might be justified but most of the hue and cry has been raised by the same organizations that "inflated" the actual population figures to draw new industry into their respective communities. A person always needs to remember to try and keep one foot on the ground when a guy full of balloon juice and poll sheets tries to take another for a sky ride in a patched up and loosely-put-together craft.

Many of us are constantly amazed at the continuing barrage of abuse being hurled down on TED AGNEW for "telling it like it is" on television commentators a few weeks ago. The Veep must have known that every stand-up comic and cornfield clown from Nebraska to Maine would take after him personally following his clear-cut comment on the "management of the news." But remember this fact. The minority groups, the union-busters, the marchers, the dopey college professors, the student radicals, and the hippies and yuppies never voted for RICHARD NIXON or GEORGE WALLACE in the presidential race in 1968 and their support is not counted on or wanted by loyal thinking Americans in 1972, 1976, or even in 1980.

Senator McGOVERN of South Dakota made the silliest statement to fall from the lips of an educated man in the past decade when he recently said "Our troops must come out of Vietnam now. On the basis of the senator's remark, I am sincere when I say that it is my personal belief that guys who make such careless statements would like to see something other than our flag flying over the Capitol in Washington, D. C."

T. W. HAYNIE, adjutant of the American Legion Post here has advised the newspaper that graves of veterans of all wars will be marked with the Stars and Stripes on Memorial Day. No service will be held but special red, white, and blue decorations will be placed on the permanent grave stone in Evergreen Cemetery which was constructed, inscribed with names of fallen Martin County veterans, and constantly serves as a memorial to vets killed in World War One and World War Two.

Post Commander LOUIS STEWART of Stoeger-Estes Post 439, Stanton, rode out to Evergreen Cemetery with your writer Wednesday morning to check some information on veterans graves. The Legion plans no special Memorial Day rites this year, but appropriate steps have been taken to assure that all veterans buried in Evergreen and in St. Joseph Catholic Cemetery are properly honored this Saturday.

County Agent's Column

By BILLY REAGOR, County Agent

Sorghum midge over the past 20 years has been the most destructive insect pest of grain sorghum in Texas. Loss estimates have exceeded $10 million annually several times since 1950, reports County Agent Billy Reagor.

Since grain sorghums were planted in Martin County this year over an extended period of time, midge could be a real problem especially to late plantings, warns the county agent.

To effectively and economically prevent losses to this pest, producers must understand the habits of the midge, and realize how and when sorghum is damaged. To avoid economic loss, two factors must be kept in mind, says the county agent: namely, that midge damage occurs at the time of floret pollination and what population level constitutes an economic infestation.

Midge populations do not increase greatly until volunteer or early planted sorghum becomes available for egg laying. Approximately two weeks (about 16 days) are required for each generation. The build-up period may extend over six or seven weeks, and it can be shortened by weather, ample early blooming sorghum and other factors favorable for midge development. Sorghum blooming after the heavy emergence has begun is generally damaged extensively unless adequate insecticide control is used.

Close field inspection is a must for the buildup can change almost overnight, points out Reagor. Once the population has reached the "economic loss" stage, head inspections suddenly reveal numbers (5 to 100x) midge per head. Control measures must be applied during the time of

Former Area Newsman To Edit New Magazine

Spontaneous growth in the horse industry in the Southwest has sent one Texas newspaperman galloping off in all directions with one goal in sight — reporting what's happening to all those horses.

"The increase in horse activity in this area in the past decade has been tremendous," says Tex Rogers, editor of The Texas and Southwestern Horseman, a new monthly, tabloid "horsepaper" which makes its maiden run in May.

"More people than ever in Texas and surrounding states own and use horses," he says. "The horse population here in Texas has jumped from 237,000 in 1959 to nearly 600,000 in 1970. And where you have horses, you have owners doing things with them."

Rogers has a big chore staying on top of all the horse action — such as racing, cutting, trail rides, rodeos, and the news of riding clubs, breed associations, and youth events.

"Why, there are more than 13,000 4-H Club members in Texas alone with horse projects," according to Tex. "Add more than 200 riding clubs, plus hundreds of horse shows, rodeos, and breed clubs, and it's easy to see there's plenty of news."

But gathering news — and telling it like it is — has been Rogers' feedbag for more than seven years in some of the best-known newsrooms in the state.

Rogers really looks like a cowboy ought to look, standing over 6-2 in his boots, he doesn't own a pair of shoes. And he talks like a rangehand, too. If you catch him without his hat on, it's because he's indoors.

Tex isn't really a cowboy although he's broke horses, worked cattle and rodeoed. He's a newspaperman first, and he rides the range of a typewriter keyboard. His territory has covered the fields of publishing, reporting, advertising, commercial art, and photography. And he's even won a few ribbons for his work along the way.

One reason he is good at his trade is because Tex Rogers would rather write about cows and horses and cowboys than anything else. At 27, that's what he knows best.

So when he was invited to be editor of a Texas based newspaper for horse owners in Texas and the Southwest, Tex Rogers figured he had better saddle up and get to work. Now he's editor, proofreader, chief fact collector and photographer for The Texas and Southwestern Horseman.

If that sounds like a job no cowboy would be caught dead doing, you have to understand people who love horses as Rogers does.

Nowadays it seems that nearly everybody else loves horses, too. They're coming out of the cities, the towns, the brush country and the woodwork in ever-increasing numbers. They are buying horses as if there's no such thing as a recession. They're organizing, exhibiting, training, hauling, buying, and falling off horses in every nook and cranny of Texas. And writing about all this is up to Tex.

He didn't assume that nickname just to run the "horsepaper." It got stuck on him years ago when as a kid he alloted floret pollination to be effective. The second through the sixth day of blooming is the most important period for any given head; however, the susceptible period for the entire field must be considered.

The susceptible periods vary from south to north, but normally begin around June 5 in the counties south of Austin; June 10-20 in south of and surrounding Brazos; June 25 in south of Hill, and August 1 on the High Plains. Growers interested in detailed control measures are invited to contact the county agent's office.

Conference will be represented by more than 500 clerical and lay delegates. The annual meeting will run through Sunday afternoon, May 31, and will close with the reading of appointment by Bishop Carleton.

Merger On Agenda

One of the items on this year's agenda is a joint session for merger, involving five West Texas Conference churches and the present Northwest Texas Conference. The five churches are Negro churches, members of the old Central Jurisdiction of churches which has been abolished. The churches, which lie within the bounds of the Northwest Texas Conference, will be merged with the NWTC.

The five churches are Plum Street in Abilene, Wyatt Memorial in Amarillo, Mt. Vernon in Lubbock and Howell Memorial in Midland, as well as a church in Levelland.

The joint session for merger will be held at 2:30 p.m. May 28. The Rev. M. T. Reed of Lubbock, pastor of the Mt. Vernon United Methodist Church, will represent the West Texas Conference in the ceremony.

The plan for merging the West Texas and Northwest Texas Conference was voted last year by both conferences. Dr. J. Howard Crawford of Lubbock, will represent the NWTC in the merging ceremony.

Actions To Be Ratified. Actions of a called session of the NWTC, held April 4 in Lubbock, will be ratified early in the May meeting, including a vote which abolishes the Brownfield District, and reduces the number of districts to seven.

Dr. Gaston Foote of Fort Worth, longtime pastor of

First United Methodist Church there, will be the preacher at the gathering and will speak at worship services Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

New Feature

A new feature of this year's conclave will be youth caucuses, held each day. The Rev. Ron Hamby, conference youth director, said the caucuses would stress greater youth participation in the conference, would orient the young people on the work of the NWTC, provide fellowship and social opportunities during the week, and give the youth an opportunity to express their views.

A "Celebration of Unity" will be a special feature on the closing day. A processional Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. has been planned, involving Mexican - American representatives, Indian, Blacks, and Anglo Americans. Music will be provided by the Mt. Vernon United Methodist Church in Lubbock. On hand will be Mexican - American young people from Lydia Patterson Institute in El Paso.

to both the Mexican and U. S. governments. Screwworms are the larvae of the screwworm fly. They infest and often kill hooved animals by burrowing into wounds. Eradication depends on the production of sterile male screwworm flies, which are dropped from planes to mate.

The feasibility study shows the three ships could handle the entire program, including storage of food for the flies and the sterile fly production facilities.

The vessels would operate on the Pacific side, with the goal of eradicating the screwworms from the Yucatan Peninsula north.

Total cost of the proposed program was not announced. Spokesmen said the U. S. and Mexico shares of the expense were subject to negotiation between the two governments.

Officers of the two groups then will make formal presentations of a screwworm eradication program for Mexico

AVOID THESE GARDENING GOOFS!

BY MAXWELL SMART

Root of All Evil?

Are mothers always in favor? No. Gardeners will blame Mother Nature, Father Time—or the weather, the neighbor's dog, a fungus blight, an insect plight, or a score of other imaginary predators—without ever realizing that the true cause of their tree trouble is inadequate care of the roots.

The evil men do has been said to live after them, but the evil they do to their tree and shrub roots may make this greenery go long before.

The simple fact is that big plants use plenty of water, and a light sprinkling means little or nothing.

Water a tree by punching holes about a foot deep into the soil in a circle around the outer rim of branches. Water this area, letting the water trickle down the holes to the tree roots.

An all weather garden hose is a good investment, especially if it's partly what you invested in when you bought your home. One of the best of these was developed by Monsanto for year round performance in any weather.

Observe the underground, for rhododendrons and azaleas, with their shallow roots, may call for more watering than other shrubs. You can tell if they need watering from the surface of the soil, for if it's not moist on top, your underground may be drying up.
