Seeds From The Sower

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

Our greatest need is revival. There is no problem, religious, social, or economic, that would not be solved by revival. Let's pray with the writer of Psalm 85:6 "Wilt Thou not revive us again; that Thy people may rejoice in Thee?"

What is the source of revival? The assembly? No, the almighty. The minister? No, the Master. The plea is, "Wilt Thou not revive us?" If the Lord wills revival, and we refuse to pray and work for it, then we are opposed to His will.

Who are the subjects? "Us." The unbeliever? No, the believer. The unbeliever needs life. This is regeneration. The believer has life. But oftentimes it is in a state of declination and its need reanimating. That is revival.

What is the sequel? "That Thy people may rejoice in Thee." The religion of some people seems a distress, not a delight. They are like the man with an aching tooth—it hurt him to keep it and it frightened him to lose it. But the Lord wants us to have joy here as well as hereafter.

He sinned, and lost the joy of God's salvation. So he drew a circle, stepped inside and prayed, "Lord, revive everything inside the circle." The Lord did, and with the reviving came the rejoicing. Remorseful? Seek revival.

The Association of Western Railways, in its publication "Competitive Transportation," commented, with the nation's railroads leading the way, containerization was developed a variant of the "piggyback" concept. Most containers look like truck trailers without wheels. As much as 30 times faster than conventional handling, containerization speeds up the loading and unloading of freight and protects it against repeated handling.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH
MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

As you drive through the country-side this fall, or as you visit your favorite hunting or fishing spot, note the signs of conservation on the land. Perhaps you take for granted the contour line on cropland, or the vigorous grasslands, or the plentiful game.

Clear flowing streams and channels mean that the land above has been conservation-treated. Ponds and watershed lakes are signs of conservation too. These conservation measures are a tribute to your local soil and water conservation district, a local agency that local people set up and manages to protect our state's soil, water, and wildlife resources. It is independent, and it is your assurance that our natural resources will be conserved while they are being used and developed by an expanding nation.

Give your local soil and water conservation district and its leaders your support. Parallel terraces can pay big dividends to the farmer who takes advantage of this conservation practice. During a three inch rain, 40 acre feet of water falls on a quarter section of land. An acre foot contains 325,850 gallons of water. A farmer would have to irrigate for 20 days with a well producing 450 gallons per minute to replace this amount of water. If a three inch rain can be held on the land where it falls it is worth $720.00 in pumping costs alone. Parallel terraces can be cost-shared up to 70 per cent through the Great Plains Conservation Program, administered through the Soil Conservation Service.

Grassroots Opinion

WINNSBORO, LA., FRANKLIN SUN:

"The next time you are day-dreaming of the days of your youth and remember how, when you get hot and thirsty, you'd reach a cupped hand down into a cool running stream for a sip of water, we suggest that you take a quick hike to the nearest body of water and see whether or not you would dare try it now. Then we suggest that you join us in trying to figure out ways and means to keep 'America the Beautiful' at least 'America the Livable'."

— G O —

CHICAGO, ILL., SOUTHWEST NEWS-HERALD: "Many manufacturers and business firms have been gearing their merchandise and advertising messages toward the younger set in the belief that this is the age group that has the money. Though the teen market is important, most of its money probably goes for food items. The nation's real purchasing power is still in the over-45 age group, with middle-aged and senior citizens spending more than half of all the dollars in this country."

— G O —

SHIDLER, OKLA., REVIEW: "We hear too much about the pinkos, malcontents and the government spongers, and too little on the bright side of the nation, which makes the following announcement heartening. One company that makes American flags says sales are up 30 percent, and his organization expects a 10 to 15 percent increase in sales during 1970. Two other flag makers say they expect a 10 percent increase in sale in 1970 over last year. How about this? Demand, they say, is greater for American flags than during World War II."

— G O —

OPPORTUNITY, WASH., SPOKANE VALLEY HERALD: "When there is less production than there is demand, prices are bound to go up! This was true 100 years ago, 30 years ago, and will be true 100 years from now. But we still continue to believe that production will be accomplished by legislative fiat and not by the sweat of our brows."

The Portland, Oregon, Journal reporter: "It has become all the more plain in recent months that the action of Congress in boosting its members' salaries 41 percent was a catalyst that stimulated an endless round of inflationary pay increase demands by unions. These fed the inflationary fire like gasoline poured onto open flames."

At best, gulls make a hasty landing on the water where fish are breaking surface, but they cannot dive in the sense that terns, gannets, pelicans, or even cormorants do.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The good tax folks pride themselves on having most American taxpayers voluntarily comply with the law. IRS has a lot of proof that most Americans are fairly honest and law-abiding — at least in federal tax matters. However, in spite of all the talk about voluntary compliance, there is another side.

A few thoroughly screened tax fraud or tax evasion cases are selected each year for the thorough type of investigation required of the government in making a case that will send a tax cheater to jail. During the past six months, the court records show that the United States Attorney and the Internal Revenue Special Agents who investigate tax cases, took nine taxpayers to court. These taxpayers included an attorney, two truck owners and operators, a salesman, two manufacturers, a TV repairman, a Savings and Loan Association vice president, and a used car dealer. Six were charged with filing false income tax returns, two were charged with not filing any income tax returns at all, and one charged with withholding federal taxes from his employees and keeping the money. The court records in these and the 2,000 similar cases across the country each year indicate that complying with the tax laws can eventually become mandatory.

Bible Comment—

Jesus' Life Is Life Of The Spirit

The raising of Lazarus from the dead, as recorded in John, the bringing of life from the dead of the son of the widow of Nain, in Luke, and the resurrection of Jesus Himself are the only instances of bringing to life from the dead recorded in the Gospels.

In the case of the widow's son, a plausible explanation might be that the boy was apparently dead, but actually in a trance. But in the case of Lazarus no such plausible explanation is possible, for the record specifically states that Lazarus had been dead four days and mortification had set in.

So the event as recorded is wholly and completely miraculous, with no explanation whatever but in the life-giving power of Christ. Why, then, with His lifegiving power, did Jesus exercise it only in these instances?

Jesus Himself never set the miracle as being of primary importance. His supreme appeal was spiritual. To accept His words, to follow His example and to find new life through the Gospel of the grace of God — these purposes stand out as above all else.

The Gospels might easily have been compiled wholly of miraculous things, but is evidence alike of their greatness and of their authenticity that Jesus stands out in their pages, not as a great magician, but as a great Savior.

His supreme mission has not been to raise men from physical death to physical life, but to bring men from the death of sin to the life of righteousness and the joy and blessedness of the New Life in Him.

Judith Simpson Becomes Bride Of Timothy Bristow

Judith Page Simpson of Bloomington, Indiana, and Timothy Knox Bristow of Stanton, repeated double ring wedding vows in a ceremony at 11 a.m. Saturday in Beck Chapel.

Mrs. Flanagan Simpson and Dr. Harry Moody Simpson, Jr., of Florence, Ala., are the parents of the bride. She received a bachelor or arts degree from Queens College in Charlotte, N. C., and is studying for a specialist degree in reading education at the University of Indiana.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Marshall

Bristow of Stanton, has a bachelor of business administration degree from Texas Tech University, and is studying for a master of business administration degree at the University of Indiana.

After a trip to New England, the couple will reside at 1309 N. Lincoln St., in Bloomington.

The Rev. Paul Miller of the First Presbyterian Church officiated. The organist was Alan Montgomery.

Sharon Jean Ferguson of Atlanta, Ga., was the maid of honor, Kenneth Edmund Loyd of Chicago, Ill., was best man.

Farm & Ranch Review

Marketing In Agriculture — The market, says Dr. Wm. E. Black, extension economist, is the basis of survival in the "farming game," and many farmers are becoming increasingly aware of this fact. The real measure of success now, he adds, is how much money was put in the bank and how much of it was in excess of cost. In the future, the economist sees more and more farmers joining together into marketing organizations either as cooperatives or corporations.

Broomweeds Can Be Controlled — Results of research studies at the Texas A&M University Research Station at Spur show that broomweeds can be killed with herbicides if the application is made at Harry Moody Simpson III of Florence, brother of the bride, ushered the guests.

Decorating the chapel were wrought iron candelabra decorated with ivy, yellow roses, and cornflowers with yellow gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of candlelight satin organza and re-embroidered Alencon lace. It was styled with an Empire bodice accented with lace with high stand-up lace neckline and bishop sleeves with wide lace cuffs. The skirt was in A-line styling. She also wore a mantilla bordered with re-embroidered Alencon lace in chapel length. She carried a bouquet of Phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis with ivy.

Mrs. Ferguson wore a floor-length dress of yellow Saki, with Empire bodice accented at the high waistline with braided loops. The back of the dress had a mock panel effect. She carried yellow roses and cornflowers with ivy and baby's breath.

The reception was held in the Coronation Room of the Indiana Memorial Union.

the right time. Dr. C. J. Seifres, of A&M's Range science Dept., says facts are not available on whether cattle utilize any of this broadleaf plant in their diet. We know we can kill it but whether we should or not is another question, he noted.

Investigate Before Closing — Owners of livestock slaughter plants are urged to investigate the new meat inspection law which is to become effective on December 15, before making a decision to close their plant. W. D. Bailey, extension livestock and meat specialist, believes that in most cases the regulations can be met without undue hardships on plant owners. And, he adds there are advantages to operating a slaughter plant under meat inspection.

Veterans Administration

Q — I'm a Vietnam veteran with two years of service who would like to go to college, but I lack a high school diploma. How can VA help me?

A — You can receive from VA, G. I. Bill monthly payments from high school training without charge against your basic educational entitlement. After completing high school, you are still entitled to 36 months of further training. Q — I will be released from active duty just before school starts this fall. May I now apply to VA for a Certificate of Eligibility?

A — No. You will need your discharge paper and you cannot obtain this until you are actually separated from active service. However, it is advisable to apply for school admission before you are separated to increase your chances of acceptance. You should hurry, as many schools have already completed their enrollment.

Karen Nealu Ferguson Weds William Dale Holloway Recently

Mrs. William Dale Holloway

Karen Nealu Ferguson and William Dale Holloway were married Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Harvey Raines performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked with twin baskets of gladiolus, and candelabras.

Music was by Miss Marquarite Ross, organist, and Mrs. Betty Thomas, soloists.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Euel Ferguson, and the late Mr. Ferguson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and C. L. Holloway of Denton.

Mrs. Mike Bergman of Stephenville, was matron of honor. Judy Gromatsky of Arlington, was bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's brother, Carl Holloway of Fort Worth, was best man. Groomsman was the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Roger Kirkpatrick of Dallas.

Ushers were Mike Bergman of Stephenville, and Tony Harris of Comanche.

Candlelighters were Tuestia Dudley and Rick Dudley of Comanche, nephews of the bride.

The bride was escorted by her brother-in-law, Charles Dudley. She wore an A-line gown of peau de soie. Pearls trimmed the Chantilly lace bodice with Victorian lace co-lliar. The train of matching lace was caught to a peau de soie bow at the Empire waistline. The sleeves were of Chantilly lace also.

A Camelot cap edged in lace and seed pearls held her veil, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath on a white Bible brought to her from Jerusalem.

Her attendants wore identical A-line dresses with Empire bodices of sky blue brushed polyester. Three rose buds of matching material held their veils. They carried nosegays of blue carnations and baby's breath.

The reception was held in the church parlor. The refreshment table was laid with white linen with a centerpiece of blue carnations and white gladiolus. The three-tiered white cake was topped with blue confection roses. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The bride is a graduate of Stanton High School, and attended North Texas State University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wilson High School, and attended Murray State College in Oklahoma. He is presently employed by General Telephone in Denton.

After a trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will live in Denton.

Veterans Administration

Veterans who attended classes during the spring and summer sessions under the GI Bill should make sure their Certification of Attendance cards are returned to the Veterans Administration immediately. Jack Coker, Director, VA Regional Office, Waco, said today.

Coker explained that unless the cards are returned, veterans cannot be paid the educational money for their last month of training. Neither can they be paid for their first month of training they then return to school this fall.

A veteran attending college should fill out and sign the card he received with his next to final check, and mail it to his regional VA office, Coker explained.

A veteran training below college level should fill out and sign the card he receives with his monthly check, and return it each month to his regional VA office. The card also must be signed by a school official.

The veteran who has lost his attendance certification card should request another from his nearest VA office. He should then return the completed card to his regional VA office, Coker advised.

Veterans intending to go to school this fall who do not have a VA Certificate of Eligibility are urged to contact their nearest VA office immediately.

Beta Sigma Phi News

Rho Xi Chapter members and their families were hosts to an ice cream social held at the city park Thursday. The event was enjoyed by all who attended.

High School News

By Kay Lynn Hankins
The doors opened and school officially started for Stanton High School on August 24. For some this was the first of school since last May, but for many others school had started weeks before.

Pre-season football practice started a week early with a morning and night workout. The boys are still working and planning to be a top ranking team in the district.

Led by Doyle Doggett, the Buffalo marching band also began practice a week early. Learning new songs and half-time drills, the 63 member band will represent our school well. Officers for the 1970-71 year are: Bill Pardue as president, David Brown as vice president, Judy Costlow as secretary, Cindy Avery as reporter, and Tommy Pinkerton as parliamentarian.

Other pre-school trainees included the Stanton annual staff, and the varsity cheerleaders. Both groups attended a clinic at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Representing the annual staff were Susan Vest, Gayle Haggard, Lyn Herzog, Walt Haislip, and Curtis Flanagan.

Being back in school we find several new faces as well as the old faces from the year before. We also find new activities as well as the old. One of the most recent additions to school is the new Co-operative Agriculture Program instructed by Nolan Parker. This program enables the boys participating to work for some of the local farms around town. Working for Irvin Welding Shop is Wesley Henson, David Brown is working for Stanton Chemical and Seed Co., Larry Pinkson for Farmers Co-op Gin, Curtis Flanagan for the Martin County Country Club, and Danny Wilson for Stanton Supply Company.

Help back the Buffaloes, by attending the A and B team scrimmage this week against Roscoe.

Major Crime Rate Rises In Texas

The rate of so-called "major crimes" in Texas was up 19.9 per cent at the end of June over the same date last year, the Department of Public Safety said recently.

The DPS gets its information from sheriffs and police chiefs.

According to the state police agency, crime rose 20.9 per cent in major cities and 10.5 per cent in urban cities, and 15.0 per cent in rural areas.

Statewide, robbery was up 40.2 per cent, rape 28.7 per cent, murder 28.1 per cent, auto theft 16.5 per cent, and aggravated assault 10 per cent. Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, said 233,559 "major crimes" occurred during the first half of 1970, for an annual rate of 4,404 per 100,000 population.

Crimes cleared by arrest declined from 27 per cent in the first half of 1969 to 26 per cent for January-June 1970, the DPS said.

The clearance rate for murder and homicide increased from 84 to 96 per cent, and that for robbery rose from 39 to 42 per cent. Clearance rates for other crimes include rape 62 per cent, burglary 25 per cent, aggravated assault 72 per cent, theft 21 per cent, and auto theft 26 per cent.

PAUL PETERS — Paul (Pulley) Peters, a real old-time cowboy, and native of Martin County, was in town recently visiting relatives and friends. Peters and his wife, Ruth, are currently living in Comanche County. Paul is a descendant of the family credited with founding Stanton. Paul also visited with Ellison Tom in Andrews before arriving here. Peters enjoys talking about his early experiences with Tom and others around Martin County. He recalls driving the chuck wagon and cooking for Tom. Pulley also shares many memories with Bud Flanagan with whom he also worked in his cowboy days. While working on many of the outstanding ranches in this area, Paul built fences, served as a good "bronc buster," was a member of a branding crew. He worked on the C. C. Slaughter Lazy S spread, the old A Bar spread, and spent many months cowboying in New Mexico. Peters owned an interest in three different ranches in the early days.

CORPUS CHRISTI, TEXAS—Scenes such as this are being re-enacted daily in the Hurricane Colia-stricken coastal bend area of Texas as American Red Cross relief workers bring aid to the more than 65,000 families whose homes were damaged by the worst hurricane ever to hit the Texas coast. The Red Cross is seeking generous contributions from the American people to help meet the emergency and long-range needs of Celia's victims. Contributions should be sent to your local Red Cross chapter.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

A phenomenon of the younger generation has been its passion for loud music and the outgrowth of the rock festival.

The intensity of the music has proved damaging to the ears of the avid listeners. And the rock music festivals can be dangerous to the health of the participants, says the Texas State Department of Health.

There's evidence to support the belief that rock festivals are on their way out, and a Texas festival at Bastop during the Labor Day week-end may be one of the victims of this trend. But what about the danger to the health of participants?

In addition to massive traffic jams and incidences of drug use which all too often accompany a rock festival, the lack of adequate sanitation facilities presents primary health problem. Due to the overwhelming crush of young people attending a festival, it has been impossible to provide sufficient facilities for food, water, toilets, shelter, and refuse or sewage disposal.

At a festival just outside Livermore, California, most of the chemical toilets were filled to overflowing by 10 a.m. on the first day of a three-day festival.

At last summer's Woodstock Festival at Bethel, N. Y., an apparently good plan went up in smoke when upwards of 400,000 people clogged access roads and overflowed into areas with sanitation of food or water supplies. Hundreds of acres were turned into a muddy sea of hungry, thirsty humanity.

Most people who attend rock festivals bring their own food, but numerous commercial food vending operations normally are located throughout a festival area. In many instances there are no hand-washing facilities provided for use by food handlers after using toilets. Improperly stored or handled foods are the rule. Food is dispensed from vans and pickup trucks, displayed on blankets on the ground and distributed in virtually every conceivable way.

Deaths due to stabbings, automobile accidents, drownings, tractor accidents, and drug abuse have been reported at rock festivals. Injuries while high on drugs have been frequent.

Planning for health aspects of rock festivals hasn't been good. If the festivals are to continue, better planning should be one of the first considerations.

PLASTIC BATTERIES BETTER TO START WITH

This 1916 automobile runs around like it just came off the Detroit assembly line with this new Gould POWER BREED battery. Made of Enjay polypropylene resin, this new battery is lighter and stronger—yet delivers more starting power than conventional batteries.

Backed by Gould's more than 50 years of battery research, this high powered polypropylene battery provides the extra power reserve needed by today's high compression engines delivering more horsepower from higher cubic inch displacement. Gould Inc. is a company based on the integrated technologies of electrochemistry, electronics, electromechanics and metallurgy. In addition to batteries, its product lines include electronic instruments and systems plus a wide range of components for power systems.
