These Things We Note

By ED PIEL

The only good in pretending is the fun we get out of fooling ourselves that we fool somebody.

Received a letter this morning from a local resident along with the opinion form which appears elsewhere in this paper.

In citing the reasons for marking the questionnaire the way it was, several good points were brought out. Evidently the writer was of other than the white race and also apparently was not presently employed.

One line in the letter stands out above the rest . . . "Some of us come from people who were too proud to ask for hand-me-downs. But everybody suffers too much. Pride don't get you well when you are sick and doesn't fill your stomach when it is empty."

The writer goes on to say that they sometimes feel that Stanton is "the dead end of the world" and asks for help for the poor who don't have skills and diplomas but have the same rights to eat and smile with the little they have. "We too have dreams that we can't fulfill," the letter states.

Unfortunately we cannot print the entire letter for it was unsigned. We have a policy here at the Reporter, as do most newspapers, that no letter to the editor will be printed without the author's signature. We will withhold publication of the writer's name at their request but must have their signature on the letter.

If the writer of this letter will come in to the Reporter office and sign it we would be glad to publish it in next week's edition. We think it deserves to be read by all of us.

Effective with next week's edition of the Reporter (May 12th), we will no longer publish club or sorority news that is more than 10 days old. Several times in the past few months news of meetings has come in that have been two to three weeks old, and we feel that this is just too old to justify using.

Now don't get us wrong . . . we want the club news as well as any other news of local interest . . . we just don't want it a month after it has happened.

We have at the Reporter a reporter's worksheet which have been mailed out to most club secretaries. These handy forms make it easy for the person charged with getting the information to us to report on the activities of their club or organization. If you haven't received any of these forms . . . give us a call and we'll send them right to you. Again . . . we do want your organization's news and as soon as you can get it to us.

Well . . . it won't be long till the class of 1971 is history . . . watch for The Reporter's special graduation section coming up this month.

Governor Smith has proclaimed the week of May 10-16 as Friendly Texan Week. He would like to remind all Texans of the importance of practicing the state motto of Friendship. The state should get ready for the anticipated 24 million visitors who will be coming to Texas this year the Governor said. Last year visitors to the state spent one and one-half billion dollars which needless to say is a big financial shot in the arm.

It's probably a good idea . . . being friendly . . . but we ought to be that way all the time and not just to tourists who are passing through.

City Fathers Discuss Parking Time

Stanton's city commissioners in their Tuesday night meeting discussed the possibility of establishing a two-hour parking time limit for the downtown area. The subject came up for discussion after several of the commissioners said they have received complaints on the lack of parking space on St. Peter St. Many of the parking spaces are being used by employees of downtown business firms and it was felt that if these persons would park their cars elsewhere it would make parking more available to persons coming downtown to shop or transact business.

The area under discussion is the two blocks from Hiway 80 to Broadway and one-half block off St. Peter either way. If a parking limit were to be imposed tickets would be given to violators. No action was taken on the subject of the meeting, but it will be further discussed at the commissions June meeting.

In other action the commission approved the payment of routine bills, agreed to have an ordinance drawn increasing the amount of water required for water service from the present $10.00 to $15.00. This would affect new homes only and not those presently on the cities water service. It was felt this increase might help in offsetting the amount of uncollectible water debts.

The commission also authorized the purchase of a chlorinator to be used at the water treatment plant. It was agreed to purchase two scales to weight the amount of chemicals.

Next Meeting In Stanton Yater, Davenport Basin Region Officers

Two Martin County men were named as officials of the newly formed Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission at the commissions meeting held Monday in Rankin.

Martin County Judge Carol Yater was elected to the board of directors and City Councilman Bob Deavenport was named to the by-laws committee.

Stanton was chosen as the site of the next commission meeting, which will be held on June 15th at the Caprock Coop building.

Judge Leslie Pratt of Dawson County was elected to head the group with Judge Chester Taggart of Ward County as vice-chairman. Judge Buck Luttrell of Pecos County will serve as secretary, treasurer and chairman of the finance committee.

Other directors include Judge Moore of Upton County, Judge Cluver of Midland County, Judge Earnley of Ector County, Judge Toombs of Borden County and Judge Bennett of Andrews County.

Appointed to the by-laws committee along with Deavenport were Judge Toombs, chairman, Wilbert Meitner, Midland, Pat Baskin, Odessa, Gordon Wiseman, Fort Stockton, Judge Bennett, Tommy Workman Upton County, Joe Dominey Midland and Frank Faulk of the Pecos Soil and Water District.

Election of officers was the final step toward forming the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission. The organization—designed to foster cooperation between governmental units in the area—currently boasts a membership of nine counties, eight cities, three soil and water conservation districts, three independent school districts and one hospital district.

In Monday's meeting at Rankin, official representatives of the governments signed articles of agreement which will be placed on file in the office of Gov. Preston Smith.

At the same time, members voted to accept any governmental unit in the 17-county Permian Basin area including cities and other units in counties which have not joined.

State law provides that a county must join a regional planning commission before other units in the county may join.

On motion of Baskin, the group adopted a resolution saying any government is invited to participate regardless of the status of the county.

The move, Baskin said, is designed to encourage all governments in the area to participate.

Under rules adopted Monday, county judges or their designates in the nine counties currently participating, will serve on the board of directors with the judges of any three counties which are next to join automatically becoming board members.

After a 12-member board is selected, by-laws will have to be amended before new board members can be named.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reid are their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Baker and granddaughter, Amy from Somerville, New Jersey.

Stanton's Future Farmers of America range and pasture judging team — Jackie Rudd, Gary Posey, Brad Hull and Lynn Romine — captured the division championship of the National Range and Pasture Contest held in Oklahoma City, Okla., last Thursday and Friday.

The Stanton team won the trophy presented annually to the team from outside Oklahoma which places highest in the contest. Indiana was the 1970 champion. Stanton was sixth last year.

Sixty-eight teams from 28 states participated in the national contest for FFA and I-H members. There were approximately 750 entrants.

Rudd of Stanton was the sixth highest individual in judging. He had a score of 284 points out of a possible 350.

"Our land judging team scored well," Knowland Parker, Stanton FFA director, said, "but they did not place in the top seven."

Members of the land judging team were Roy Kelly, Ricky Mims, Mark Hursh, Dennis Jones. They scored 672 points of a possible 850.

The Stanton FFA qualified for the trip last week by winning the Texas state land judging contest at Tarleton State College.

The Stanton range and pasture judging team placed third in the state of Texas to qualify.

"It has been a great year for our boys," Parker said after receiving the national trophy. "We have won 41 trophies, more than one half of them firsts, this year." Stanton captured the championships of every major land judging contest this year.

"We have been undefeated," Parker said. "The boys won the Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Angelo, El Paso, Waco and Texas Tech University contest."

Parker said entrants were judged on their knowledge of range utilization on planting site judgement, plant identifications, and on knowledge of plants and soil.

Location is 1,320 feet from south and east lines of section 33, block 36, T-2-N, T&P survey.

Two outposts have been planned in the Martin County part of the Spraberry Trend Area.

Tamarack Petroleum Co., Inc. of Midland staked No. 1 Womack, one mile east of the nearest producer, 1,320 feet from south and west lines of section 16, block 36, T-2-N, T&P survey, four miles northwest of Lenorah. Contract depth is 9,500 feet.

Grisham & Delaware Basin Properties, Inc. of Abilene, slated No. 1 Jos. Grisham and Joe. M. Greeman, two miles northwest and 2 3/8-miles southeast of the nearest completed producer.

The 9,200-foot project spots 1,320 feet from south and 1,470 feet from west lines of section 33, block 36, T-1-N, T&P survey, five miles northwest of Stanton.

Note: The following was received from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the Department of Commerce to pass on to our readers.

A tornado watch means tornadoes are expected to develop. Keep a battery-operated radio or television set nearby, and listen for weather advisories—even if the sky is blue.

A tornado warning means a tornado has actually been sighted or indicated by weather radar. Seek inside shelter (in a storm cellar or reinforced building) and stay away from windows. Curl up so that your head and eyes are protected. Keep a battery-operated radio or television nearby, and listen for further advisories.

In office buildings, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor, or to the designated shelter area.

In homes, the basement offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under sturdy furniture if possible. In homes without basements, take cover in the center part of the house, on the lowest floor, in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture. Keep some windows open but stay away from them.

In shopping centers, go to a designated shelter area (not to your parked car).

In schools follow the advance plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. If the building is not of reinforced construction, go to a nearby one that is, or take cover outside on low, protected ground.

Stay out of auditoriums, gymnasiums, and other structures with wide, free-span roofs.

In open country, move away from the tornado's path at right angles. If there is not time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine.

Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds and should be evacuated when strong winds are forecast. Damage can be minimized by securing trailers with cables in concrete footing. Trailer parks should have a community storm shelter and a warden to monitor broadcasts throughout the severe storm emergency.

If there is no shelter nearby leave the trailer park and take cover on low, protected ground.

Seventy-Five Attend Mother-Daughter Tea

Xi Epsilon Delta Beta Sigma Sorority hosted a Mother-Daughter Tea last Sunday, May 2 at the home of Mrs. Edith Chenault. Seventy-five members and guests attended. The highlight of the event was a tour of the Chenault Home.

The Chenault home, designed and built by Mr. & Mrs. Chenault, has fourteen rooms which cover approximately 4,500 square feet of living area. The house contains a living room, a huge den, a T. V. Room, study, the dining room, kitchen and dining area, four bedrooms and three baths.

The house was designed to accommodate certain items collected by the Chenaults over a number of years. For example, the den is highlighted by two massive back-bars which were originally used in drug stores in Pennsylvania and by stained-glass windows from a northern church. The kitchen cabinets and bath room dressing tables were originally used as display fixtures in Presley's Jewelry Store in Abilene, Texas.

Among the home's featured items are a Louis XIV wine cabinet approximately 350 years old, a Columbus ball-room mirror which depicts Columbus' voyage and discovery of the new world, a walnut Victorian bedroom suite which dates to 1776, and a 16 piece French bedroom suite antiques in a lavender hue, highlighted by garlands of roses.

Numerous bronze, brass and French metal clocks and statues adorn the interior of the home, along with many cut glass light fixtures, bisque figures and carved wooden pieces collected by both Mr. & Mrs. Chenault.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

A common question of Internal Revenue employees is "What do you do after you get all the tax returns filed?" Of course, the inquirer visualizes the IRS job as being a big one every April 15. A good answer would be — "We go ahead working on the tax returns that came in last year and the year before, and in some cases, 10 years ago. We have dozens of filing periods and a lot of other deadlines besides the income tax deadline..."

When you have 79 or 80 million individual tax returns from about 115 million taxpayers (including joint returns) and you have to work with them on how much each individual owes out of the total of $200 billion, you don't run out of problems right after April 15. If IRS solves all of the income tax problems they can work on the problems that are created by the many other federal taxes. Let's hope they stay busy checking on the other guys who didn't get his tax returns correct like we did.

I Am A Sick American

There are those that claim ours is a "sick" society; that our country is sick; our government is sick; that we are sick. Well, maybe they're right. I submit that I'm sick . . . and maybe you are, too. I am sick of having policemen ridiculed and called "pigs" while cop killers are hailed as some kind of folk hero.

I am sick of being told that religion is the opiate of the people, but marijuana should be legalized.

I am sick of commentators and columnists canonizing anarchists, revolutionaries and criminal rapists, but condemning law enforcement when such criminals are brought to justice.

I am sick of being told that pornography is the right of a free press, but freedom of the press does not include being able to read the Bible on school grounds.

I am sick of paying more and more taxes to build schools while I see some faculty members encouraging students either to tear them down or burn them.

I am sick of Supreme Court decisions which turn criminals loose on society — while other decisions try to take away my means of protecting my home and family.

I am sick of pot-smoking entertainers deluging me with their condemnation of my moral standards on late-night television.

I am sick of being told that policemen are mad dogs who should not have guns — but that criminals who use guns to rob, maim and murder should be understood and helped back to society.

I am sick of being told it is wrong to use napalm to end a war overseas — but if it's a molotov cocktail or a bomb at home, I must understand the provocations.

I am sick of not being able to take family to a movie unless I want to have them exposed to nudity, homosexuality and the glorification of narcotics.

I am sick of riots, marches, protests, demonstrations, confrontations, and the other mob temper tantrums of people intellectually incapable of working within the system.

I am sick of hearing the same phrases, the same slick slogans, the cries of people who must chant the same thing like zombies because they haven't the capacity for verbalizing thought.

I am sick of those who say I owe them this or that because of the sins of my forefathers — when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

I am sick of cynical attitudes toward patriotism. I am sick of politicians with no backbone.

I am sick of permissiveness.

I am sick of the dirty, the foul-mouthed, the unwashed.

I am sick of the decline of personal honesty, personal integrity and human sincerity.

Most of all, though, I am sick of being told I'm sick. I'm sick of being told my country is sick — when we have the greatest nation that man has ever brought forth on the face of the earth. Fully fifty per cent of the people on earth would willingly trade places with the most deprived, the most underprivileged among us.

Yes, I may be sick, but if I am only sick, I can get well. I can also help my society get well — and help my country get well.

Take note, all of you . . . you will not find me throwing a rock or a bomb; you will not find me under a placard; you will not see me take to the streets; you will not find me ranting to wild-eyed mobs.

But you will find me at work, paying taxes, serving in the community where I live. You will also find me expressing my anger and indignation to elected officials.

You will find me speaking out in support of these officials, institutions and personalities who contribute to the elevation of society and not its destruction. You will find me contributing my time, money and personal influence to helping churches, hospitals, charities and other establishments which have shown the true spirit of this Country's determination to ease pain, suffering, eliminate hunger and generate brotherhood.

But, most of all, you'll find me at the polling place. There — if you listen — you can hear the thunder of the common man. There, all of us can cast our vote — for an America where people can walk the streets without fear.

THE STANTON REPORTER

Tear this out—send it to a friend in another city—ask them if they will run this in their newspaper.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,
I am sorry to hear that fish and baked potatoes are not your idea of what should be served at a banquet. May I ask what should be served? Do you suggest T-bone steaks? If you would like to buy 132 steaks I am sure we will all be happy to accept them next year.
As for baked potatoes, they are the easiest form of potatoes to serve at a banquet. How does one keep enough mashed potatoes cut for 132 people warm? I'm sure that since you are such an authority you know that fried potatoes must be served immediately or they will be cold, greasy strings.

I will admit that a Junior-Senior prom might be fun. I don't know why they have been outlawed, but have you ever tried to do the modern dances in 3-inch heels and floor-length formals?
I know that you can't please everybody, but we tried our best. Maybe you should finance and plan a banquet yourself before you criticize us.
Judy Costlow

Dear Sir:
I have read dozens of newspaper stories and "letters to the Editor" and not one have

I seen which discussed Amendment One fairly or even objectively.
Amendment One was prepared by a group of citizens throughout the state even before our present legislature was elected. The Ethics Commission which would be so created would be appointed by the Judiciary over which the legislators have absolutely no control.
The big lie which has been carried by all state papers in its "letters to the editor" reflect this is a subterfuge for legislators to get a pay raise. The facts are salaries will be left as they are or adjusted only by the Ethics Commission. The legislature has only the power to accept or reject any change.
The truth of the matter is this plan has worked well in many states in giving a fine balance of representation in the legislature.

Finally, why have Texans resisted all efforts to raise legislators' salaries? The answer is simple. Obviously any effort on the part of us, as legislators, to campaign for a raise would be resented. As a result those who fall for the communist line "that all elected officials are bad", have their heyday.

Editor's note: The following letter was received by Russell McMeans, Stanton Public School Superintendent.
May 3, 1971
Mr. Russell McMeans, Supt. Stanton Independent School District
Stanton, Texas
Dear Sir:
Before this school year ends I would like to say thank you for the fine workers in our school, especially our bus drivers.
I have been on both sides in taking children to school with the mad rush to get younger children up and ready. Now that Jennifer rides the bus, I especially appreciate Mr. Clyde White. He is so punctual and prompt that we can almost set our clocks by his arrival.

Since he is always here at the same time, I feel it our job to have our children ready for him to pick up. This job is much easier since we can depend on him.
I would like to say a public thank you to Mr. White and hope that other drivers do as excellent job as he.
Sincerely,
Mrs. John Calvin Jones
Dear Friend:
For use in a serious research of Texas weather, I need to contact as many people as possible who have first-hand knowledge of storms, drought, floods, and so on.
Especially desired is information pertaining to the drought and depression of the 1930's. Do you suppose there are those around who recall the great government cattle shooting episode during the summer of 1934? Oral accounts and photographs of this would be most welcome.
Any help you can give will be greatly appreciated.
Sincerely yours,

Those figures will provide the organization with operating funds for the rest of the year. Next year, each city and county will pay five cents per person with other governmental units paying $100 for membership.

"The current cotton program has obvious and serious defects in its lack of immediate provision for adequate producer income and supplies to meet market demands, but there is evidence that some features of the program are producing the desired results." This is the opinion of Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. after reviewing the U. S. Department of Agriculture's "preliminary final" report on the cotton sign-up under the 1971 program. The report shows 295,619 cotton farms signed up to participate in the program during the March 1-April 9 enrollment period. This figure is only about 62 per cent of the 476,887 farms that signed up for the 1970 cotton program, which, according to Johnson, is largely the result of two PCG-supported provisions of the 1971 cotton program.

First, under the 1970 program (Act of 1965), small farmers could sign up for the program and receive full price support payments without planting any part of their cotton allotments. And the record shows that 140,883 small farmers did receive payments without planting. Under the 1971 law, unless prevented from doing so by weather conditions, no producer can receive price support payments without planting at least 90 per cent of his allotment.

"Consequently," Johnson says, "many of these small farmers this year elected to either lease, sell or release their cotton allotments. And this feature tends to put both cotton allotments and cotton payments where they belong — into the hands of farmers interested in producing cotton.

"These small farmers may well be in need of government assistance," he continued, "but they should not be given that assistance at the expense of a cotton program designed to preserve a vital industry."

Also helping to move cotton allotments this year into areas with the desire and the capability to produce cotton has been the relaxed regulations which govern sale and lease of allotments. In 1970 cotton could not be transferred out of a county, while in 1971 of a county without a grower county Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Service Committee had authority to permit out-of-county transfers. Growers in 1970 could not buy or lease more than 100 acres of allotment but no such restriction applied in 1971. And last year all transfers of allotments had to be completed prior to January 1, as opposed to the later dates set as deadlines in the various cotton growing areas this year.

"These features of the new program," Johnson said, "have taken over 180,000 so-called cotton farms out of the cotton program. But virtually all of these were farms on which there was either no intention to plant cotton or else they were farms without the capability to produce cotton efficiently. And it seems obvious," he concluded, "that the industry and the nation are better off with cotton program payments going to cotton producers, and with cotton acreage going to the areas of most efficient production."

At county ASCS offices where signups took place, a special register was set up for

- SOIL CONSERVATION - DISTRICT NEWS

Fishponds are accepted more and more as profitable and delightful features of farms and ranches. They make good use and safe use of the land-baise steps in the conservation of soil and water. Good fishponds furnish food to both rural and urban people. They can also furnish water for livestock and provide recreation.

Many farms and ranches have a suitable site for a fish pond. All ponds will produce more if they are built right and managed right. They should be free of waterweeds and useless fish. The watershed above the pond should be protected with soil conservation measures that control erosion and runoff. A high yielding fishpond is a combination of the waters natural productive, added fertility and mans management.

Fertilizing should be done during the growing season of the microscopic algae. This is from early spring well into the fall. You need to build up the ponds fertility quickly as early as can in the spring. Otherwise you fail to benefit from the algae growing in the spring. 16-20-0 is a good fertilizer to use in farm ponds for this part of the country. The average pond requires from 800 to 1200 pounds of fertilizer per acre each year. No one can tell exactly how much fertilizer a pond will require. As the fertilizer is added, the water will change colors to a greenish brown, this color is often called the "bloom." A properly fertilized pond will have enough "bloom" to shade out a light colored object at about 18 inches deep. The bloom should appear about 7 to 10 days after the fertilizer is added. The fertilizer can be broadcast by hand around the bank of small ponds. It is best not to apply fertilizer in water over five feet deep. The wave action and under-surface currents will mix the fertilizer throughout the pond. The fertilizer added to a farm pond is not harmful to livestock. Fertilizer not only provides food for fish, but is very beneficial in controlling weeds and moss by shading out the sunlight. Anyone who would like more information on pond management should contact the Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Martin-Howard-Midland Soil and Water Conservation District.

The 295,619 signed farms had 9,931,397 acres in cotton allotments, or 92 per cent of the 10,743,489 allotted acres eligible for the program in 1971. The remaining acreage in the 11.5 million acre national allotment for the most part is acreage under the Cropland Adjustment or other conservation programs.

By states, the acreage signed up, expressed as a percentage of the total acreage eligible for the program is Alabama 95, Arizona 95, Arkansas 95, California 90, Florida 93, Georgia 82, Illinois 92, Kansas 100 (1 allotment of 3 acres), Kentucky 96, Mississippi 97, Missouri 99, Nevada 94, New Mexico 85, North Carolina 64, Oklahoma 92, South Carolina 91, Tennessee 90, Texas 93, and Virginia 47.

Total acreage committed for "set-aside" on the signed farms was 1,986,002.
