LIONS HOLD DINNER FOR STUDENT TEACHERS

The Stanton Lions Club hosted the faculty and administration of the Stanton public schools in an Appreciation Banquet here Monday night. The annual event was held in the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative auditorium. The meal was served by the Belvue Restaurant.

R. A. (Lip) Lipscomb

Lion James Elland introduced the superintendent of schools, Mr. Russell McMeans, as being an outstanding citizen of Stanton. "Mr. McMeans came to Stanton in 1968, and since that time he has made marked improvements in the school system. He has added vocational training in both the junior and high schools. Two special education classes have been added. The physical plant for the athletic department has gone from the worst to the best in the area. The school is in better financial condition than it has been in several years. Stanton schools have the best faculty that they have ever had. All in all, we have a smooth-running school system, due to the efforts of Mr. Russell McMeans. Russell is also a past-president of the Stanton Lions Club."

Mr. McMeans responded, "Everything is going real good at the 'school house.' We ran out of teachers, then we ran out of classrooms. But we've taken care of the matter. One class is meeting in a church house and the other in a barn!"

"I don't have the time to tell what the Lions Club does for our school and our community. The Club has recently organized the Little League football program. This is something that is going to help our athletic program a great deal. This is something we can all be proud of." Mr. McMeans closed by introducing the principals of the three schools and they in turn introducing the members of the faculty.

Lion Cecil Bridges introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. R. A. (Lip) Lipscomb, who spent 28 years as an educator. He defended today's youth in his talk. He said only about 5 per cent of our youth is bad. "That's no worse than when I was in school," he commented. He said the youths are entitled to their own ideas. "But they're not all bad. The best way in the world to have a friend, is to be a friend. You have to win their respect."

Groom Has Proof Persistence Pays

By TOM BOONE

A. L. Engles is a persistent man with a long memory. And he is a man with a new bride to prove that persistency and a long memory can pay off.

Fifty years ago, in Edgemont, Ark., he had a crush on a pretty, young schoolmate named Rae Collins. Unfortunately at the time, Engles said, "there was a better looking man there."

So while Engles kept his one-sided romance a secret, Rae Collins, at the age of 18, married and moved with her husband to a farm in Texas.

In 1932, Engles moved to Edmond, and he too got married. He and his wife raised three children, two boys and a girl, and became grandparents eight times. Then, just over three years ago, Engles' wife died.

A year or so later, he said, he started thinking about his old flame in Arkansas. "All I knew was that she was in Texas somewhere," he said. He started looking for her.

"It took me over two years to find her," he said. Two months ago, through a mutual friend, he found out she was living on a farm near Stanton, in west Texas. He got her phone number and gave her a call.

She was Mrs. Ray Davis now, and her husband had died more than seven years before. She didn't recognize the voice on the phone. Not only that, Engles said, she didn't remember him after he told her who he was.

Engles did not relent. He convinced her to allow him to pay her a visit in Stanton, which he did. From that moment, the courtship was fast and furious.

Wednesday morning, in a small Baptist church northeast of Oklahoma City, they were married.

Engles is a retired painting contractor who has worked mostly in Edmond and Oklahoma City. Mrs. Engles has no children and has been living alone on her farm since her first husband died.

Recalling his romantic emotions of 50 years ago, Engles said, "I thought I'd never get her." But in the past two years his attitude changed. He developed confidence and more than a little tenacity.

Ah, yes, about their ages. How old are you? they were asked. "Oh," said Mrs. Engles, "we can leave some things out of the paper, can't we?" Of course.

The U.S. Is Hard Up, Says Old Philosopher

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his crab grass farm on Mustang Draw comes up with a new proposal this week.

Dear editor:

It is now pretty well established, at least in the minds of newspaper and magazine columnists I've been reading, that the United States has lost a lot of its prestige around the world, so much so for example that Paris airlines last week began refusing to take U.S. dollars for plane tickets.

This has a lot of people worried, excusing me, as I don't ever remember waking up and wondering what my prestige was that day in the capitals of the world although I have a pretty good notion what it is across my neighbor's fence. I'll return his hoe just as soon as I find out which patch of weeds it is that has grown up around it.

None the less, a lot of leaders are saying we've got to do something about our world standing, we've got to restore our image as the world's most prosperous nation.

They couldn't be wrong. The thing for us to do is to go all out encouraging the notion we're hard up. Paint the picture bleak and bleak. Why, just last night I read that the Chancellor of Austria, reviewing the balance of payment difficulties the United States is having, said "the time has come for European nations to remember the generous help given them by the U.S. after World War II and repay part of their debt."

I've forgotten how many billions of dollars we loaned them, but if we've now convinced them we're in such bad shape they ought to start repaying at least part of it, we're on the right track. Let's fan that fire from all directions. Tell our diplomats abroad to start wearing rumpled suits and carrying their lunches in paper sacks. Have their wives dress in last year's clothes and run ads offering to do baby sitting. Have foreign visitors come by here to see the loose boards on my front porch and go on to Washington to examine the national debt. Get the power company to turn off the electricity in the U.S. Capitol and put out the word it was for failure to pay the bill. Then hit Europe up for a loan to get us back on our feet.

This is an opportunity too good to miss.

Speaking of balance of payments, I don't quite understand it on the world level but I know what it is on the local level. It means fourteen more payments and that television set is yours.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The National Cotton Advisory Committee meeting in Washington September 15 and 16 is to discuss three major aspects of the 1972 cotton program, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., a recently appointed member of the Advisory Committee. The principal topics under discussion Johnson said are (1) the level of the 1972 cotton loan, (2) the size of the 1972 base acreage allotment and (3) set-aside provisions, including both the amount of acreage required to be set aside and the permissible uses of such acreage.

Johnson was appointed to the Cotton Advisory Committee by Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin on September 3, along with W. A. Fulford of Brownfield and six others in the Texas cotton industry. The committee has no decision-making powers, but is called in "to advise the Secretary and other officials on matters such as domestic and export requirements, and production adjustment and stabilization programs." Appointments are for the period ending April 28, 1973.

Under the terms of the Agriculture Act of 1970 the loan for 1972 is to be set at 90 per cent of the previous two-year average world market price, except that the Secretary may deem necessary to "keep U.S. adjust the loan level as he cotton competitive and to retain an adequate share of the world market for such cotton."

World cotton prices for the past two years have been such that, if the Secretary uses the same formula he used in 1971, the loan for 1972 would come to about 21 cents per pound, basis middling-inch, 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire, net weight. Whether this same formula is to be used, or whether the Secretary is to exercise his option to "adjust" the loan level, will be thoroughly discussed in the Advisory Committee. The 1972 loan must be announced on or before November 1 of this year.

There is a widely held belief in the U.S. cotton industry that additional cotton production will be needed in 1972, and some are urging USDA to raise the 1972 base allotment next year as an inducement to increased acreage. "This, too, will be discussed," Johnson said, "but in preliminary talks USDA officials indicate they may not be so inclined."

Under the "open-end" planting provisions of current law, USDA feels an increase in the paying base acreage would secure increased plantings only on the less efficient farm which in 1971 planted only the minimum acreage required to qualify for full price payments. Farmers who overplanted allotments in 1971, USDA reasons, would probably plant about the same acreage in 1972 whether the paying base is raised or not. Thus increased plantings would not be in proportion to increased cost of the program. Whether this view will hold remains to be seen, Johnson noted.

Set-aside requirements is another problem. Current projections say there will be an oversupply of feed grains and wheat at the end of this year, which brings about a need for reduced acreage of these crops in 1972. And how to assure such a reduction is no less puzzling than how to increase cotton acreage. The set-aside approach embodied in the present farm program makes production control a far less exact science than was the case under previous programs when there were stiff penalties for planting above assigned allotments.

USDA fears that if, for example, they raise the percentage of base allotments required as set-aside for feed grains, too many producers would drop out of the program, bringing about increased feed grain plantings instead of the reverse. This could be overcome in two ways. Price support payments to cooperating growers could be increased to discourage "drop-outs," or a mandatory set-aside could be set at a lower level with producers given the opportunity for additional voluntary set-aside, with appropriate compensation. At the moment, the first solution appears most likely.

On cotton, if this year's 20 per cent set-aside requirement is lowered to encourage additional cotton production, farmers might well plant the newly available acreage to feed grains or wheat instead of cotton. Another possibility that will be talked, if USDA in fact does feel the need for measures to encourage additional 1972 cotton production, would be to increase the cotton set-aside requirement to the 28 per cent legal maximum, then permit planting of cotton and cotton only on the affected acreage.

Following the National Cotton Advisory Committee meetings it is understood USDA will call a meeting of meetings of State ASCS Committee Chairmen before finalizing decisions.

People often ask what good is terracing? A certain field in Hubbell, Neb., may have the answer. The interesting thing about the certain field is the 9-inch depth of its topsoil.

Other fields in the area with the same slope and the same soil type have lost so much soil that what remains can no longer be identified truly as topsoil.

The Conklin field was terraced in 1933 in a demonstration that attracted 400 landowners.

Francis Wiedel of the Soil Conservation Service and a contractor noticed the difference in topsoil depth when the contractor moved into the field to begin a reterracing job.

The old terrace system had 12-foot channels and 8-foot side slopes. A steel-wheeled tractor and a pull grader were used. Wiedel observed that the soil, with its better teeth and moisture holding capacity, worked more easily. Fertility was intact, proof enough of the value of terracing as a conservation measure to protect the soil resource, he reported.

Terracing has changed a great deal since this field was terraced 37 years ago. Today practically all terraces are being built parallel and offer much more toward soil and water conservation. Parallel terraces are built from the back side only, and does not remove the top soil from the land. They are built parallel to each other and this eliminates most of the point rows.

These terraces are engineered to fit modern six and eight row equipment. Parallel terraces are designed to spread the water evenly over the land and hold it instead of channeling it out of the field. This type of terracing is a combination of terracing and land leveling. The Soil Conservation Service through the Great Plains Conservation Program, can cost-share 70 per cent of the cost of parallel terraces. This conservation practice would be a great asset on any farm in Martin County.

Comfort is...

Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling... down-to-earth dependability... easy-on-the-budget operating costs. Comfort is gas heating. There's no heat more comfortable. And there's no heat cleaner than gas. Gas burns clean. It's one energy source that doesn't dirty the air.

Air-circulating gas heating systems also give you the first-half of a built-in gas air conditioning system. Adequate heat ducts can carry cool air to your whole house too - so you can add-on gas cooling right away or later if you prefer. Together, gas heating and gas cooling are an unbeatable combination for year 'round total comfort.

If you're building a home or planning to replace an out-dated heating system, choose thrifty gas heat. Check with your heating contractor.

Rotan Power Too Much For Buffs, 14-6

By Buddy Norville

The Rotan Yellowhammers hammered the Stanton Buffaloes into their own goal posts here Friday night. Rotan beat Stanton in every statistic but passing, and who needed to pass.

William Duke, a 190-pound Calvin Hill-type runner, ran through the Stanton line for 144 yards and two touchdowns. Duke's line continuously opened holes large enough for the proverbial "truck" to pass through. The Rotan line caught the Buffs "hunting ducks" the entire game. The inexperience in the Stanton defensive line cost the Buffs 254 yards, 239 of them rushing. Rotan received the opening kickoff with Paul Wylie taking it on the 10 and running it out to the 34. Neal Summers dashed 15 yards before the Stanton defense knew what hit them. Duke crossed with 7. A penalty set the Yellowhammers back to a third and 20 situation, an incomplete pass prompted them to kick.

The Buffs got the ball on their own 26. Jackie Swanson missed a Rick Wilson pass on first down. The pass was right on target, Swanson couldn't hold it. Armondo Rios made 12 on second down. Rick Wilson lost 3 on first down. Dwayne McMeans fumbled a bad hand-off on second down and a Rotan defender recovered.

The Buffs contained the yardage-hungry Yellowhammers on their next series. Frankie Barnhill, Rios, Bubba Standerfer, and Chipper Coggin were on their toes on defense. On fourth and 26 a Kennedy pass attempt was broken up by Paul McCallister. The Buffs got the ball on their own 24 and were forced to punt on fourth down. Flores, Duke, Smith and Powell gave only 5 yards in 3 downs.

Rotan drove from the Stanton 41 in 10 plays to score. Duke accounted for 17 yards, Kennedy for 13. Duke scored from the 3. Neal Summers failed to run the PAT across. Rios took the kick on his 20 and returned it to the 40.

Duke, David Springer and Henry Soliz held the Buffs without a first down.

Rotan came back on first down with a pass attempt to Harold Gruben. But Stanton's own Charley Waters swiped it on the 35—Dwayne McMeans ran it back to the 44.

Then the lifeless Buff offense took over and bogged down on their own 33 and were forced to punt again.

The Buffs held the Yellowhammers on the next series to two first downs and 26 yards. Coggin and Swanson had three tackles each in stopping Rotan. Rick Wilson hit McMeans for 15 yards on third and 8. A screen pass to Barnhill netted zero on first and 10. The screen was set up, but one defender held back, and got tended for Gary Posey. But passes of 17 and 32 yards to Coggin and Atchison wouldn't be moved.

Rotan reversed the trick, however, and gave no ground. They began to march and moved the ball down to the Stanton 24 before they ran out of steam. Again it was Coggin, who was moved to tackle from the backfield for Friday's game, Howard and Standerfer stopping the Hammers.

The fourth quarter opened with Stanton in possession on their own 48. Swanson made off of the second half. Paul McCallister fumbled the kick and David Markham recovered on the Stanton 29. It was Duke for 5, Summers for 5, and Duke again for 18 yards and paydirt. Duke ran for 2 points. Rotan 14, Stanton 0. The Buffs had the ball again for two plays. Harold Gruben intercepted a pass in-Barnhill. The Buffs punted with a fourth and 25 situation. The first half ended with Rotan eating up yardage.

Stanton received the kickoff of the second half. Paul McCallister fumbled the kick and David Markham recovered on the Stanton 29. It was Duke for 5, Summers for 5, and Duke again for 18 yards and paydirt. Duke ran for 2 points. Rotan 14, Stanton 0. The Buffs had the ball again for two plays. Stanton 'B' Team Wins Over Wink Team, 14-0

The Stanton "B" team brought a victory to Stanton Saturday night, winning over the Wink "B" team. Stanton won by the score of 14-0.

Stanton scored first in the opening period on a 15-yard dash by Mitchell Irving. Vernon Brown ran the PAT. After a scoreless second and third quarter, Mitchell Irving broke loose and scored from 25-yards out.

Stanton had 18 first downs to Wink's 4. Stanton attempted 3 passes and completed none. Wink put 5 up and completed 2 for 20 yards. Stanton moved the ball on the ground for 300 yards. Wink garnered only 50.

Offensive standouts in the game were: Mitchell Irving, Ray Conner, Ronnie Dickenson and Rodger Gutierrez. Defensive men making a showing were: H. A. Schulke, David Standerfer, Mitchell Irving, Steve Church, Ronnie Dickenson, and Randy Lambert.

The coaches were particularly pleased with the team's blocking and tackling. The experience these boys are getting on the "B" team will be invaluable when they move up to the varsity.

7th Grade Posts Win Over Coahoma Eleven, 14-0

The Stanton Seventh grade team opened their season with a victory over Coahoma Thursday afternoon.

Stanton took the opening kickoff and marched on down the field to score. Roger Owens ran the TD over from 6 yards out. The right side of his line opened up a big hole and led him in to score. Fullback Tim Glynn ran the 2-point conversion on a fullback dive.

Minutes later they drove again to score. However, a penalty against the Buffs nullified the score.

The Buffs were particularly impressive in that they did-not fumble the ball a single time. There were no busted assignments and no interceptions.

Good defensive efforts were turned in by Scott Creech, Nicky Irving, Roger Owens, Tim Glynn, and Randy Doshier.

Those shining on offense were: quarterback, Terry Smith, Bimbo Allred, Joe Dean, David Louder, Raymond Villa.

Randy Eggleston proved himself a good punter, getting off two good kicks.

The Buffs will take on McCamey here today. Come out and help them stay undefeated.

EIGHTH GRADE STARTERS — Starting for the eighth grade against McCamey will be: RE—Adam Saenz, RT—Ruben Sanchez, RG—John Yater, C—Sammy Barnhill, LG—Salvador Olivias, LT—Mark Cook, LE—Oscar Rodriguez.

Eighth Grade Loses Opener

The Stanton eighth grade team took a bitter defeat at the hands of the Coahoma eighth grade team last Thursday. Following a good showing in the first half, Stanton came back in the second-half to lose, 48-0.

The performance was disappointing. After holding the Coahoma rivals to only 16 points in the first half, the Stanton Buffs could not keep up with Coahoma.

"We got beat by a very fine team," coach Richard Granada said, "we're looking forward to our next game against McCamey."

STARTING BACKFIELD — Starting in the backfield against McCamey will be: QB—Randal Conner, HB—Keny Allred, HB—Elvin Brown, FB—Terry Kelly.

7th GRADE STARTERS — Starting against the McCamey 7th grade today will be, 1 to r., LE—Scott Creech, LT—Randy Doshier, LG—David Louder, C—Russell Conner, RG—Raymond Villa, RT—Felix Aguire, RE—Nicky Irvin, LH—Roger Owens, QB—Terry Smith, FB—Tim Glynn, RH—Joe Dean.

A typical year, and an important 15 per cent of our livestock products," said Carroll G. Brunthaver, associate administrator of the agency which administers farm action programs throughout the United States.
That agency, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), has an office in Stanton, with administration of cotton, wheat and feed grain set-aside programs and the farm storage facility loan program for Martin County as its major duties. ASCS programs are administered locally by a farmer-elected three-member committee. Currently serving are Bob Hill, Marvin Standefer and J. M. Payne. The County ASC Committee employs George T. Glynn as county executive director.
Glynn said that right now the local ASCS office is doing double duty, as an official information center for all Martin County residents on all aspects of the President's sta-

...ization order, and also continuing its normal service to farmers.
Glynn pointed out that SCSS Associate Administrator Brunthaver's recent comments were focused on what the new economic package and farmers should be among the leading beneficiaries of the President's program because they have been among the primary victims of inflation. As inflation is controlled, the pressure of rising farm costs should ease.
The floating dollar, he said, should improve the competitive position of American farm products in world markets.
He pointed out that exports are the fastest-growing segment of American farm markets, with export opportunities expanding much faster overseas than in the U.S. Brunthaver said, "As American farm costs rose, and the overseas competition got rougher, it became harder and harder for farmers to believe that a little inflation was a good thing."
"The problems of inflation assume crucial importance when we recognize that American farmers today are balanced on the thin edge of economic survival. About three-fourths of our food and fiber production today is coming from a relative handful of farms—the less-than-600,000 farms that sell more than $20,000 worth of farm products a year.
"These commercial farms are the most productive and efficient in the world. They are run by highly trained, hard-working farmers who use the best of modern technology. But they are also operating on extremely thin margins. They are highly capitalized. Many of them have to carry a heavy debt load. Anything which cuts into their net returns threatens their economic survival. And inflation has certainly been doing that."
The ASCS official said that public policies must be designed to provide a climate in which American commercial farms can continue to feed the nation efficiently and continue winning export markets. These factors, he said, "were in the President's mind when he made the decisions on his comprehensive plan to bring inflation under control."

HOW TO BE AN International Chef
ITALIAN COOKING
It can truly be said that the variety of Italian cooking... is the spice of Italian life!
And, that's because each region—Venice, Genoa, Milan, Florence, Naples, Sicily—boasts local culinary specialties to tempt the palate, and boggle the food lover's imagination.
Despite all these regionally flavored variations, however, there are two common threads:
PIZZA ALLA CASALINGA
1 1/2 packages (9 1/2-ounce size) piecrust mix
8 large ripe tomatoes (4 pounds)
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
4 cups thinly sliced onion
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 cans (2-ounce size) anchovy filets, drained
1/2 cup pitted ripe olives, sliced
Prepare piecrust mix as package label directs. Shape into a ball; divide in half. On lightly floured surface, roll out half to a 13-inch circle. Use to line a 12-inch pizza pan. Prick well with fork. Refrigerate until ready to use. Repeat with other half. Peel the tomatoes; cut each into thick slices and remove seeds. Set aside. In 3 tablespoons butter in large skillet, sauté garlic until golden. Add tomato, salt, and oregano, crushing tomato with potato masher; bring to boiling. Reduce heat, and simmer, stirring occasionally, 45 minutes, or until mixture is thick. Preheat oven to 450°F. Bake crusts 10 minutes. Meanwhile, in 3 tablespoons hot butter in large skillet, sauté onion until golden and tender—about 10 minutes. Sprinkle cheese over crusts; top with onion, then with tomato mixture. Bake 25 to 30 minutes, or until bubbly and heated through. Makes 16 servings.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, The Stanton Reporter, Stanton, Texas 79782

(Editor's Note: We do not intend to embarrass Mrs. Perine in any way. But we feel there are two sides to any issue, and both sides should have equal opportunity to express themselves. Certainly both have as much right as the other to express their opinions.

Dear Sir:

This letter is being sent to you regarding an article in THE STANTON REPORTER of Sept. 9, the article being: "Dallas Is a Nice Place to Visit—Not to Live."

Certainly everyone is entitled to their own opinion, but I feel that the author of said article should have been more well informed before writing such a critical item. For instance, Miss or Mrs. Perine states that Oak Cliff is "the richest part of Dallas." This is not so and has not been so for at least 15 years. The "richest" area is probably north or northeast Dallas. Also, many of her "about town" examples could be classified as highly exaggerated or unjustified.

Of course, Dallas has a lot of flaws, but a lot of things about it are great! All this goes along with progress. So, I feel that perhaps the readers of the afore mentioned article should not pass judgement on Big D until they have been there long enough to find out what it is REALLY like. In other words, visiting Dallas is one thing, living there, quite another.

Thank you for your kind attention.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Wayne (Martha) Bradshaw.

3918 Junius "A"

P.S.: May I also remind Miss Perine that Dallas was named an "All-American City."

The meeting was then adjourned. Those members present were Edith Chenault, Allie Anderson, Obara Angel, June Reid, Sammie Laws, Helen Ruth Louder, Mary Sale, Mary Deitiker, Maxine Kelly, Polly Atchison, Glenna Mims, Day Simpson, and Ruth Holcombe.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in shells and dishes from Hawaii, with food typical of that state. A mirror, behind the dining table, was draped in colored nets. Pauline Wood, program chairman, introduced Jendo Turner, who presented a program entitled "Our Newest State." She discussed what one should see on a visit to the islands and showed colored pictures made there. Signs and motions of the dance were explained and the members took part in demonstrating them. A door prize, a book on "Hawaiian Dinner Party," was won by Pauline Wood.

HD Agents Report

Be sure to read the product guarantee before purchasing a new appliance, reminds Mrs. Mildred Elland, county home demonstration agent.

Certain performance and quality characteristics, things the consumer can expect from the product, are stated in the guarantee, she explains. And, it will specify remedial action to take if the product fails to live up to promised performance or quality.

Mrs. Elland recommends consideration of four important points about the guarantee before making a final decision.

First, does it cover the entire product or only certain parts? If only particular parts are guaranteed, decide if these are the important parts.

The guarantee should state who is responsible for appliance repair—the manufacturer, the dealer or a service agency. Check to see that the address of the seller or manufacturer responsible for repair is given. Also determine if it is physically and economically practical to return the product for service or repair under the guarantee.

Who is expected to pay for repairs? Some guarantees cover costs of parts only while others include both parts and labor costs, she says. Or, they may cover parts and labor for a specified period, then only parts for an additional time period.

Finally, read to see how long the guarantee is effective. If it carries a "lifetime" guarantee, find out whose lifetime is referred to—that of the purchaser or some mechanism in the product. According to the agent, the term "lifetime" should be defined.

Highlights And Sidelights From Your State Capital

AUSTIN—A big push is on from the top to bring about drastic revision in the state's auto insurance system which is the subject of increasing criticism as rates go up nearly every year.

Governor Smith as the recent national governors' conference in San Juan, Puerto Rico, once more reaffirmed his support of competitive rates and "no-fault" insurance.

State Insurance Board member Larry Teaver at the same conference announced a wide-ranging survey will get under way with a view to switching to competitive rates and "no fault."

The survey will be financed with a $175,000 appropriation to the Insurance Board for research purposes. Teaver said out-of-state specialists with no insurance industry connections will be called on to advise the Board.

"I want the study approached from a consumer standpoint and not for the companies' benefit," Smith announced.

Under no-fault insurance, insured accident victims are compensated regardless of who was at fault. Instead of buying liability insurance to cover losses of others, a driver under the no-fault system buys coverage that pays for his loss in spite of who was at fault.

Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner Herbert S. Denenberg told the nation's governors in their recent conference that the federal government will move to set up a national no-fault system if states don't act to create a reasonably uniform and adequate network of laws.

Baylor Gridders Preachers, Too

WACO — At a time when college life in general and athletes in particular are under careful public scrutiny, four young Baylor University football players have returned to fall training camp enthused after spending the summer as evangelists working with youth groups around the Southwest.

The four are the Rev. Mike Riley, 6-0, 169-pound split receiver from Oklahoma City; Cruck Gossett, 6-2, 185 pound quarterback from Houston; Paul Savage, 6-1, 215-pound former JC All-American from Wichita, Kansas; and Sam Porter, 6-0, 195-pound guard from Marietta, Okla.

Riley and Savage teamed up for several revivals during the summer and agreed that seeing young people turn to Christ was an experience they will never forget.

"Seeing people turn to Christ, homes reunited, kids seeing the other side of their parents and parents seeing the other side of their kids was the high point of my life," Riley said.

Riley points with pride at the conversion of a 20-year-old narcotic addict at Silver City, N.M., during the summer. "She gave her life to Christ and was put in a hospital for rehabilitation. That has been almost six months ago and she hasn't gone back to drugs."

Asked about conversion, Riley answers, "The Lord has always been good to us. At De Leon, Texas, this summer where Paul and I held a meeting on the last Sunday night about 80 people came down and gave their life to Christ. It was a great meeting and a great experience."

Gossett, whose father is the Kingspoint Baptist Church in Houston, was youth director at the Bethel Baptist Church in Houston where he supervised some 120 youngsters ranging from junior high age to college age. In addition the church sponsored two camps and a mission trip to Silverton, Colo., which ended up with 52 decisions during the week.

"Seeing kids grow in Christian life was the most rewarding thing for me," Gossett said. "And my being an athlete helped be to do a better other three, is a Methodist, job."

Savage, who unlike the said the high point of his summer was feeling the call to preach. He called the De Leon revival a "great experience," and recalls that at the Fellowship of Christian Athletes meeting at Fort Collins, Colo., this summer he was in charge of one "huddle" group from which five rededicated their life to Christ following an "old fashioned" revival. Porter did evangelistic work in Colorado, Oklahoma, and Texas and was a counselor at the world's largest Baptist encampment at Falls Creek, Okla.

"The greatest thing was young people seeing the need for Christ in their lives and to Him," Porter said. "Not then turning their lives over only were there those who had not come to Him before, but large numbers of those who needed more power in their lives and rededicated themselves to His service."

At Falls Creek Porter said there were some 3,000 decisions during the two weeks. "This was particularly a high point to me since that was where God had called me to preach when I was 14 years old."

Porter said the revival he shared with Oklahoma University star Joe Wiley at his home town of Marietta, Okla., was the high point of his summer.

"After we got back from Falls Creek they let the young people take charge of the Sunday evening at our church. After we gave our testimony from 30 to 50 of the leaders in the church and community rededicated their lives. We turned Marietta upside down for Christ."

For these four athletes football is a way of life... but as big as it is... it will always rank second to their first love... that of telling the world about Christ.
