Storms' damage severe

by The Associated Press

The aftermath of a deadly storm that unleashed twisters and flooding, resulting in at least four deaths, continued today to threaten some urban areas with high water that inundated homes and caused evacuations.

Dallas firefighters evacuated an undetermined number of residents from low-lying homes along the Trinity River flood plain in South Dallas as runoff continued to raise the waterway's level along levees.

In a four-square-block area near South Central Expressway, firefighters evacuated more than 10 homes, with at least five more leaving voluntarily and others considering whether to flee.

"Well, I'm thinking should I get out or should I stay," said one resident, Betty Rogers. "It's been a long time since the water's been up this high, maybe 15 years or so."

Although the severity of the storms lessened this morning, flash flood watches and warnings and tornado watches were posted throughout the state, especially in southeast Texas. Forecasts called for more thunderstorms today.

The American Red Cross in Dallas opened six emergency shelters Wednesday. By this morning, only two remained opened, said spokeswoman Sandra Pomeroy. She said a shelter in suburban Grand Prairie had most people of the six with 50. She did not immediately know the total number of people who stayed in the shelters.

"We served 150 breakfasts today. We served 200 dinners last night and yesterday we served 300 lunches," Ms. Pomeroy said.

Harris County flood control authorities were keeping a close watch on three bayous which traditionally flood during heavy rains — Cypress Creek, Greens Bayou and White Oak Bayou, all in northern Harris County.

Some voluntary evacuations were recommended in a subdivision which borders Cypress Creek.

Meanwhile, a tornado Wednesday afternoon cut a quarter-mile-wide swath for as much as 30 miles through East Texas, destroying homes and injuring at least nine people. Another twister that touched down near Houston injured eight Prairie View residents, authorities said.

North of Austin, a mobile home "practically exploded" in a tornado and a Jarrell woman died of a broken neck. Rain-swollen creeks around Dallas and Fort Worth and another in Cleburne swept away and killed three people.

One twister touched down about 6 miles northwest of Lufkin, destroying at least eight homes in the unincorporated community of Allentown, said Angelina County sheriff's officers. At least nine people were injured, they said.

The tornado destroyed at least eight homes.

Retiring to travel is planned

Stanfield Elementary School physical education teacher Troy Scott has been in Snyder since 1959, but he is at heart a traveling man who plans to visit Australia, New Zealand and Europe after retiring this spring.

Scott, 58, is a Hattiesburg, Miss., native who earned a bachelor's degree in P.E. from the University of North Texas in Denton and a master's degree in education at East Texas State University at Commerce.

He and his wife, Mary Lou, a teacher at West Elementary School, are both retiring this year with the intention of indulging

Prison bid plans profiled for BCD

The leader of the group that is seeking to have the Price Daniel Unit doubled in size to a 2,000-man prison said Wednesday that Snyder is in competition with about 160 towns and cities and will submit a new proposal to the TDC by June 30.

"We don't have to do as much as we did last time, but I don't think we can afford to do nothing," said retired Exxon Corp. executive Roy Baze, who led the effort to bring the Daniel Unit here.

Addressing a noon meeting of the Board of County Development at Snyder Country Club, Baze said the incentives that will be offered in the expansion proposal must be kept secret because "this is a competitive business."

The proposal must be submitted to the TDC by June 30.

The state agency is scheduled to choose sites for two 2,250-man maximum-security units, three 1,000-bed units and two 500-inmate psychiatric units.

BCD board member Bill

Parker noted that along with the board's Wednesday resolution asking the TDC to expand the Daniel Unit, similar resolutions are expected to be forwarded from Western Texas College, the school board, Cogdell Memorial Hospital, the Vietnam Veterans Association, the Snyder Soccer Association, the Little League and other groups, to demonstrate anew the broad support that the TDC has here.

Baze said Snyder needs "any incentive we can think of to raise us above this pack" of competing towns and cities, adding that his group has meetings scheduled in the near future to begin developing a proposal.

Other business in the hour-long meeting included a discussion of the July 21 and 22 barbecue and open house to celebrate the opening of the Daniel Unit.

The barbecue and "get-together" for TDC officials and guests will be held on the first day of the celebration, and a throng of visitors is expected for the open house on the next day, a

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If you lie to people to get their money, that's fraud. If you lie to get their vote, that's politics."

Delbert Downing was in the post office again Saturday morning and wanted to correct last week's article concerning the naming of sandstorms over in Midland in the 1950s.

Downing, who was then manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, said the promotion came at a time when community spirits were awfully low.

The idea was to bring some fun to an otherwise dismal spring that saw far too many dusts. Downing said he carried the idea to Bill Collins, then editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, and Collins jumped at the idea.

Downing added that all storms were named after prominent Midland residents. The promotion was so popular that folks actually tried to "bribe" chamber officials to get their name on a spring sandstorm.

Speaking of dust storms, in 1935 a dust storm swirled in Washington while testimony was being heard in congress for a soil erosion bill.

Dust storms had covered Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado the previous two years, but the 1935 storm had national focus. Skies darkened to night in the middle of the day, and schools and businesses were closed as the sand and winds blanketed wide areas of the nation.

The Soil Conservation Act of 1935, signed by Franklin Roosevelt, created a Soil Conservation Service. The program emphasized contour plowing, crop rotations, fertilization and sectional plantings.

The agency has grown over the years and now also includes wetlands management. In 1936, the department's annual budget was $665,408 compared to $704.6 million this year.

Q. — Since the legislature has changed the beginning school date to the first Monday of the week of Sept. 1, will Snyder redo their school calendar?

A. — No. The change is not a mandate, but only allows school districts to start at this earlier date if they choose. Snyder school officials said they checked with others in the district, and those checked had opted to stick with the calendar they had already set. Snyder schools will start next school year on Sept. 5.

In Brief

Reprisals told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jack Brooks says a study indicates senior management at the Immigration Naturalization Service may have retaliated against eight Houston agents who wrote members of Congress about possible wrongdoing at the agency.

"This is one more example where agency management went after the whistleblowers, rather than the wrongdoers," the Texas Democrat said Wednesday in releasing the General Accounting Office study.

CHICAGO (AP) — The federal government has toughened fuel economy standards for 1990 cars, a move praised by a consumer advocate as a "clear break" from the Reagan administration.

An analyst, however, said the plan will have a minimal effect on U.S. gasoline consumption, and General Motors Corp. said it could result in job cuts.

Manufacturers must improve overall fuel economy by 1 mph over 1989 models, to 27.5 mph. Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner announced Wednesday.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just came across something I cut out of your column in the Citizen-Advertiser in Auburn, N.Y., in 1975.

I believe the message of 14 years ago needs to be heard again. I hope you agree.

RUTH COMSTOCK, LA JOLLA, CALIF.

DEAR RUTH: It does. Thank you for sending it, and here it is:

DEAR ABBY: You were much too easy on "Proud Mother," who was proud of the fact that "God" had given her 13 children. (Why blame God alone? Surely she had a husband.)

"Proud Mother" resented being criticized for the size of her family, saying she didn't ask anyone else to raise or feed them. If she is so proud of 13, perhaps she would be twice as proud with 26. Even if she quit with 13, consider the possibilities (and you will need a calculator) if each of her children multiplies at the same rate. In two generations she will have been responsible for 182 people! This number becomes significant when one considers the amount of food and gasoline they will consume in their lifetimes.

While the good lady has been busy making use of God's gift of procreation, she's ignored God's additional gifts of reason based on accumulated knowledge.

Overpopulation and the exhausting of unrenovable natural resources are everybody's business.

CONCERNED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR CONCERNED: You are not the only one who expressed concern over "Proud Mother's" attitude.

Briefly, since the world's resources are limited, we can't continue to provide for a population that daily produces 185,000 new mouths to feed. Obviously, we must either decrease our birth rate or increase our death rate. The choice is up to us.

DEAR ABBY: I am an undergraduate student, preparing myself for a career as a divorce lawyer. In a recent column, to stress the importance of a prenuptial agreement, you stated that half the marriages end in divorce. Not true.

The September '88 issue of Psychology Today discussed the miscalculation of the divorce rate during the past decade. You see, analysts have for a long time divided the divorce rate by the marriage rate. They tell us that in '81 some 2.4 million couples married, and 1.2 million couples divorced. Their statistics concluded that 50 percent of all marriages during '81 ended in divorce. However, this conclusion is a fallacy because they failed to consider the fact that 50 million other marriages existed in that same year. Therefore, during '81 only about 1 in 50 marriages ended in divorce.

The current trend indicates that couples are trending to remain married, and the divorce rate continues to decline. This is wonderful news for married couples, but perhaps a little disheartening for aspiring divorce lawyers.

TEDD A. BRANSTETTER, SEATTLE

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "Dorthea Redwine," whose husband is a banker in Fayetteville, Ga. He told her that folded and creased checks play havoc with the high-speed equipment used in processing checks.

This has been discussed in our office frequently. We aren't supposed to fold checks, but what should we do when businesses send bills accompanied by addressed return envelopes that are too short for a regular company check?

Thanks for letting me have my say. And tell Mrs. Redwine I love her last name!

Bush vows 'instant' veto in minimum-wage showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush promises to veto "faster than the eye can see" a raise in the minimum wage and Republican lawmakers are confident Bush will win his first domestic-policy clash with Capitol Hill's majority Democrats.

"There are enough votes in the Senate to support a presidential veto," Senate Republican leader Bob Dole said Wednesday before the Senate gave 63-37 approval to legislation increasing the minimum wage for the first time in eight years.

Dole's prediction was borne out by the fact that the final vote was four votes short of the margin that would be required to enact the bill over a Bush veto.

Democrats pushing the measure vowed nonetheless to press their case with the president and, while refusing in advance to concede defeat, said they would advance another bill if Bush's first veto is sustained.

"We want to make it very clear this fight is not going to go away and we are going to continue the battle until we get a fair and justified increase in the minimum wage," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said after the vote.

Moments later, Bush, who before the vote had said a veto was "going to be inevitable," made clear he meant it.

When the bill reaches the White House, Bush will veto it "instantly faster than the eye can see," presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said.

The president apparently won't get that chance until after Congress returns from a 10-day recess that begins Friday.

The Democratic leadership does not want to send the bill to the White House immediately, which would allow Bush to veto it while most members of Congress are away from Washington. The delay also will allow time for what the Democrats hope will emerge — widespread public opposition to Bush's position.

The showdown over the minimum wage has been looming since Congress convened in January and has taken on symbolic significance as the determinant in whether congressional Democrats or Bush will hold the upper hand in setting domestic policy.

Quick action rescues girl from sewer

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A 13-year-old girl whose afternoon of playing in the rain with a friend almost ended in tragedy was saved through fast action by her father and Tyler police officers and firemen.

Julie Gibbons was playing with a friend along a concrete drainage ditch behind Arbor Woods Apartments Wednesday afternoon when she lost her footing and fell into the storm-fed current.

She was carried about 20 yards into the open storm sewer before her father, Nick Gibbons and Tyler Police and firemen rescued her. She suffered only minor scrapes and bruises and a bad scare.

"I was just standing near the ditch talking to my friend, and the next thing I know, I am in the water moving toward the hole," Julie said. "I grabbed at my friend, but I was moving too fast."

"I was screaming the whole time. Then I got sucked in the pipe," she said. "I got caught on something and stopped, but I kept screaming."

"It was so dark, and there was water everywhere, all I could think was that I was never going to see the outside again," she said. "I thought I was going to die."

Gibbons said someone came to his door and told him of his daughter's plight.

"Someone came to the door and said, 'Your kid just washed down that hole,'" Gibbons said.

"I rushed out there and heard her screaming, but the screams were getting fainter because she was going farther down the drainage pipe," he said. "Someone handed me a rope, and I went into the tunnel, but the rope was way shorter than I thought it was, and I lost my grip," Gibbons said. "The water was pulling me toward Julie."

Gibbons said he was able to use his body to stop most of the flow of the water and allow his daughter to make her way to where he stood.

Lotus planned in WTC class

Lotus 1-2-3 will be emphasized in CS 238, computer applications, at Western Texas College this summer.

This course is designed for those who have little or no experience with this commonly used spreadsheet, according to the instructor, Britt Canada. Students will receive hands-on experience.

Classes are to meet from 6-10 p.m. on Wednesday from May 31-July 26. Lab time will be arranged with the instructor.

Students are to register by May 30.

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Our niece, who is in her 20s, is brain dead. Can you explain this term?

DEAR READER: Traditionally, people were considered dead when their hearts stopped beating. However, with the advent of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (maintaining a person's pulse by external compression), cardiac pacemakers and cardiac surgery (during which the heart's beating is suspended), doctors have had to revise their outdated definition of death.

Now a person is judged to have died when brain function ceases, even though the patient's other organs are kept alive by artificial means, such as respirators, dialysis (artificial kidneys) and electronic pacemakers for the heart.

Thus, a person can be legally pronounced dead if the brain is dead. Obviously, this is not simply unconsciousness. Brain death is diagnosed by a series of electroencephalographic (brain wave) tests.

Such a distinction is important and has provided extensive work for the legal profession, starting in earnest with the Karen Ann Quinlan case some years ago. Quinlan was kept alive artificially with machines for several months before her family petitioned a New Jersey court to declare her brain-dead and allow hospital authorities to disconnect her life-support system.

Evidently, your niece suffered a terrible catastrophe that resulted in legal death (non-functioning brain), although her other vital body functions are being maintained by machines. Now someone is going to have to decide whether she should be kept "alive" or allowed to die.

This issue affects us all. Many healthy adults are concerned that, after an unforeseen calamity such as a stroke or serious injury, they will be kept alive in a so-called vegetative state with no hope of recovery. This fear has led to a renewed interest in living wills, documents that express a legally competent person's wishes about whether he or she should be kept alive artificially if there is no chance of recovery. Indeed, here is one area where medical technology has outstripped traditional, ethical guidelines.

Several studies have shown that most people, if given the option, would choose a painless, humane death, in contrast to a prolonged, comatose, shadowy existence, hooked up to life support systems.

The concept of brain death makes these decisions easier because, once it has occurred, the patient is legally dead. Turning off the machines is not a cause of death, then; this act becomes — if you will — a way of discontinuing interference in a normal, terminal process.

For those interested in obtaining more information on living wills, I suggest you contact the Concern for Dying at 250 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10107.

In 1987, the net external capital inflow into Latin America reached $9.8 billion, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. The figure is a slight improvement in this category, from an average of $7.3 billion from 1983-86, although it is still only a fraction of the average of $38 billion reached during 1980-82.

"Could you tell us how to get to 'The Gravy Train' and 'The Pork Barrel'?"

Astro-Graph By Bernice Bede Osol

May 19, 1989

There are indications that you may enter into several important partnership arrangements in the year ahead. Each will be for its own specific purpose.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It may be your lot in life to make a rather difficult decision today. CANCER (June 21-July 22) A light and lively, just for fun gathering might produce some unique business benefits for you today. Don't be reluctant to talk shop.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Several little, but important matters you have left hanging can be tidied up today and put in the completion file. In fact, if you get an early start they can be concluded rather quickly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your leadership techniques should be very effective today, especially when others see the demands you make on yourself are far greater than the demands you make on them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your hunches regarding things of a material nature should be a positive factor in your commercial dealings today. You'll innately tune in to the motives of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Take advantage of anything that you can do today that will serve to reinforce bonds with an old and valued friend. This person will become even more important as time goes by.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should do rather well in competitive situations today if you allow your imagination to project you as a winner. Don't let go of your visions of victory.

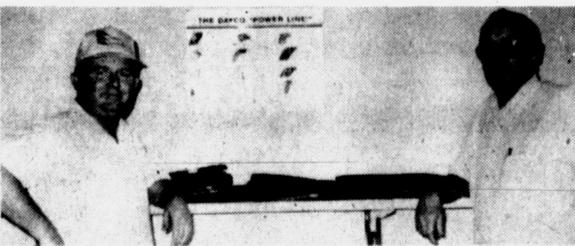

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You are presently in a rather hopeful cycle, provided your expectations are predicated upon reality and not fiction. Be an optimistic realist.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be discouraged if the progress or profits from a venture in which you are associated are rather sparse at this time. Your long-range projections look promising.

Garden Club holds officer installation

Snyder Garden Club members gathered for their last luncheon meeting of the club year and honored outgoing leaders as new officers were installed.

During committee reports, JoAnn Nunley told the group about a pilgrimage to the Nature Center and Gone Native Nursery in Midland held in April. Nine members of the club made the trip with Burr Williams, nursery owner, as tour guide.

The late June Boren, very active in the club, announced state awards received by the local chapter including scholarship fund contribution, 100 percent president's book, and club rating. She said SGC has been upgraded from a bronze rating to gold.

Members agreed to host a District VIII Judges Council meeting next year with the date pending.

Gertrude League, who has served as president for the council for two years, gave a report on the meeting held in San Angelo in April.

A flower show is also scheduled in Snyder in October.

Jo Erwin, Martha Ann Woman's Club representative, reminded members to support clubhouse activities which include a barbecue dinner to be served from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday evening at Martha Ann's.

Polly Autry, Scurry County Fair Flower Show Chairman, discussed plans for the event set at the coliseum Sept. 21-23. Members voted to make a contribution to the fair fund.

Hostesses for the meeting were LaVerne Hood, Barbara Williamson and Billie Jean Sterling.

my's nine, East's queen and declarer's ace. Trick two was club seven, king from West, jack, two. West switched to the eight of hearts, declarer winning the king. Declarer ruffed a club in dummy, but Bramley sitting East overruffed with the seven. That was two tricks for the defense, but how were they to get four more tricks to set two spades? Bramley worked out that South could not hold the diamond ace, having already shown with prime cards in clubs and hearts. He therefore reasoned that the defense should capitalize on declarer's moderate weakness in the trump suit. He played king of diamonds, then a diamond to his partner's ace. West now played back still another club and East uppecut with the queen of spades. Declarer overruffed with the ace, but West won two more tricks with the K-10 to set the contract.

Note that it is crucial for the defense to cash two diamond tricks ending in the West hand before the uppecut in clubs. Otherwise, when East trumps with the spade queen, declarer can simply discard a losing diamond. — James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. High drama at a low level

Although the high drama in bridge seems to center on games and slams, part-scores are certainly important. Experts do quite well on the dramatic hands but can also defend against part-score contracts with cutting precision. Observe 1989 Vanderbilt Team champion Bart Bramley as East in today's mundane two-spade contract.

Unique man in history

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only one man in history was both the son and father of an American president.

John Scott Harrison (1804-78), born in Vincennes, Ind., was the son of William Henry Harrison, who became the ninth president of the United States in 1841, but served only 31 days before he died of pneumonia.

John's son, born at his father's farm in North Bend, Ohio, in 1889, was Benjamin Harrison. Benjamin served as the 23rd president from 1889 to 1893. Six states were admitted to the union during his administration.

Law cracks down on anyone inducing recruits with gifts

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A bill making it a crime to recruit college athletes with money or gifts has been signed into law by Texas Gov. Bill Clements, who in 1987 apologized for his role in the pay-for-play scandal that wracked Southern Methodist University's football program.

The legislation Clements signed Wednesday makes giving improper payments to a student-athlete a third-degree felony, punishable by two to 10 years in prison and a fine of up to $5,000.

A student who solicits or accepts money or gifts in exchange for attending a college and playing intercollegiate sports for it would face misdemeanor charges.

The bill was a response to sanctions by the National Collegiate Athletic Association against Southwest Conference schools, said Sen. Bob Glasgow, the Senate sponsor. The House sponsor was Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center.

"Texas has been at the forefront of athletic recruiting scandals in this nation - and we must put a stop to it," Glasgow, D-Stephenville, said when the Senate approved the bill.

Seven of the nine Southwest Conference universities have been the subject of NCAA sanctions in the 1980s.

Officials with the NCAA, which regulates college sports, have expressed reservations about the law, saying criminal penalties may make their job more difficult because they rely on voluntary testimony when investigating allegations of recruiting violations.

Clements is a former chairman of the SMU Board of Governors.

In 1987, he admitted to being one of those associated with the school who knew about under-the-table cash payments to Mustangs football players.

The payments continued after the NCAA placed SMU's football program on probation in 1985. That led to the NCAA giving SMU the first-ever football "death penalty," banning the school from football in 1987 and part of 1988. The school dropped the remainder of its 1988 schedule but will return to the field this fall.

Western's Allen inks with Buc-kette squad

Nickey Allen, Kodak and NJCAA All-American at Western Texas College this past season, has signed with the University of New Orleans.

In signing with the Buc-kettes, Allen follows the path taken by former WTC Lady Dusters players Pam Cox and Angela Jeans.

Allen averaged 16.9 points, 9.1 rebounds and 2.8 steals a game for Coach Kelly Chadwick's 1988-89 Region V champion Lady Dusters.

A 5-11 sophomore from Amarillo, Allen was named Kodak and NJCAA First-Team All-American. She was All-Western Junior College Athletic Conference, the WJCAC Most Valuable Player, All-Region V, the Region V Tournament Most Valuable Player and All-Tournament at the NJCAA National Tournament.

Allen had been courted by a number of colleges, including the University of Texas, Texas A&M and Stephen F. Austin.

New Orleans fashioned a 15-13 record last season - its ninth consecutive winning season under coach Joey Favaloro. The Buc-kettes finished second in the American South Conference to Louisiana Tech.

UNO put together back-to-back 25-7 records the previous two years, including 1987-88 when former Lady Dusters Cox and Jeans earned second-team all-conference honors while guiding the Buc-kettes to a third place finish in the National Invitation Tournament.

Preakness shapes up as a 'two-horse race'

BALTIMORE (AP) - The Preakness looks "pretty much like a two-horse race" to trainer Charlie Whittingham, and he's got his half of that field healthy again.

Sunday Silence, the Kentucky Derby winner, is fully recovered from a sore right forefoot that cost him two days of training earlier this week, and he's ready to renew his duel with 2-year-old champion and Derby runner-up Easy Goer on Saturday.

"We've got pretty much the same horses that were in the Derby, only about half as many," Whittingham said. "I think the smaller field will help us.

"Of course, there are a few horses you can't rule out entirely, and racing luck has a lot to do with it, too."

Eight or nine are expected to be entered today for the $350,000-added Preakness over 1 1/4 miles at Pimlico. The probable entries include seven of the 16 3-year-olds that were in the Derby - Sunday Silence, Easy Goer, Dan-sil, Hawkester, Houston, Northern Wolf and Awe Inspiring. The other two possible starters are Pulverizing and Rock Point.

Whittingham sent Sunday Silence out for a 1 1/2-mile gallop on Wednesday, postponing a half-mile workout one day because rain made the track sloppy.

"This kind of track isn't perfect for a work," Whittingham said. "We only lost two days, but you can see that after galloping 1 1/2 miles, he's not even breathing hard. It won't affect this horse."

Whittingham said the injury probably was caused by a shoe nail too close to the tender part of his foot, but it also could have been a bruise caused by a stone. The foot was soaked in Epsom salts, and Sunday Silence galloped on Wednesday wearing bar shoes, which have a protective piece of metal across the open end.

"He's 100 percent right now if nothing else happens," Whittingham said.

NY Knicks try to rebound from 3-1 deficit in playoffs

CHICAGO (AP) - The New York Knicks are still fighting for survival. If successful, they would succeed in pulling off a rarity in the NBA playoffs.

Only four times in history have teams come back from a 3-1 deficit in the playoffs. The Knicks took a step in that direction when they defeated the Chicago Bulls 121-114 to cut the Bulls' advantage to 3-2.

The Boston Celtics twice came back from 3-1 deficits to win playoffs, against Philadelphia in 1968 and again in 1981. Los Angeles did it against Phoenix in 1970 and Washington did it against San Antonio in 1979.

After the Bulls won consecutive games in Chicago last weekend to take their 3-1 lead, Patrick Ewing said: "We're not dead yet. We have a good basketball team. We'll put this behind us and start again."

Ewing, the 7-foot center, and Charles Oakley keyed Tuesday night's victory. Ewing scored 32 points and had 11 rebounds. Oakley scored 18 points and had 13 rebounds.

All of which helped offset the 38 points scored by Chicago's Michael Jordan.

Now the Knicks must win Game 6 in Chicago Stadium Friday night to force a seventh and final game in New York on Sunday.

"The pressure is still on them," Jordan said.

The Bulls returned home Wednesday morning for a welcome day of rest before resuming regular practice sessions today.

"They need the rest," Bulls coach Doug Collins said. "They're up against a good team and they've been playing their butts off. It was a tough loss (Tuesday night). But I am very pleased with our effort."

Collins said it would have been "so easy for the guys to pack it in" when the Knicks opened up a 19-point lead early in the fourth quarter.

"But they kept their poise and battled back," he said, referring to his team's comeback that cut

Orioles 8, Rangers 2

Baltimore had 14 hits, including Mickey Tettleton's 429-foot homer, the longest at Arlington Stadium this season.

Former Ranger Dave Schmidt allowed five hits in seven innings and retired nine straight Rangers from the fifth through the seventh innings before getting relief help from Mark Williamson.

Elsewhere, California beat Boston 5-0 as rookie Jim Abbott pitched a four-hitter for his first major league shutout. Also, it was Minnesota 4, Kansas City 3 in 10 innings; Chicago 10, Detroit 7; Cleveland 6, Toronto 3; Oakland 8, New York 3; and Milwaukee 9, Seattle 6.

the deficit to three points with 40 seconds left. "We had real chances to win the game. You have to feel good about that."

Jordan put on another dazzling performance in New York, but in the end it was Ewing, who had been outplayed by former teammate Bill Cartwright in the first four games, who took charge.

While Jordan was leading the Bulls' fourth-quarter comeback, Ewing scored nine of his team's last 11 points. He also blocked a 3-point attempt by Jordan with 39 seconds remaining and turned it into a layup after the Bulls had cut the lead to three points.

"I was real hungry," said Ewing. "I wanted the ball and my teammates got it to me in good position. I hadn't been playing well and I wanted to play well."

The winner of the series advances to the Eastern Conference finals against the Detroit Pistons, who swept the Milwaukee Bucks in four games to win their conference semifinals.

Survivors tell of fatal twister, shelters set up

JARRELL, Texas (AP) — Harold Thomas lay sleeping beside his wife when a pre-dawn tornado crashed through their mobile home in this tiny burg 40 miles north of Austin.

The next thing he knew, he was outside and his wife, Joyce Sharon Thomas, 42, was missing, said Thomas' brother, Garold Thomas.

Mrs. Thomas' body was found under debris that had been their home. Authorities said she died of a broken neck.

"He lost everything he had," Garold Thomas said as he walked through the leveled lot where his brother's home stood before the twister hit about 4 a.m. Wednesday.

Harold Thomas, who escaped injury, told his brother "it was over in less than 5 seconds."

The tornado roared through the town of 1,000 just off Interstate 35, demolishing 33 houses, 12 mobile homes and 16 businesses, said David Barham of the state's emergency management office.

Thirty-nine homes were damaged, along with the school gym roof.

The cyclone sheared utility poles, pulled down power lines, uprooted trees, overturned several cars and trucks, including six semi-rigs on the interstate and spread debris along a seven-mile path, authorities said.

About two dozen people were injured and treated at Georgetown and Temple hospitals.

Damage was not estimated by late Wednesday, but Williamson County Sheriff Jim Boutwell said it would be "at least $2 million."

Barham estimated $35,000 damage for each house destroyed, and $75,000 to $100,000 for each business. He said it would be several days before a damage total was reached.

"All we have left is our lives," said W.G. Schurhammer, whose apartment house was destroyed by the storm, which he said hit between 3:30 a.m. and 4 a.m.

"It was like hell, that's what it was like," said Jerry Waters, a neighbor in the same apartment house.

"I heard a bolt of lightning and it wasn't more than five minutes before all hell broke loose," Schurhammer said. "By the time I heard it, I dove for the corner and the windows broke."

The twister picked up a nearby mobile home and set it on the five-unit apartment house roof.

Afterward, Schurhammer walked around the lot looking at mattresses, clothing, mangled stereo equipment and other items strewn about, which he said would be easy pickings for looters.

"That's why I've got this," Schurhammer said, fingering a handgun in his front pants pocket.

Down the road, Kelly Reichenbach said he and his wife, Earline, and their 1-year-old son, Kyle, dove for cover in the hallway of their home when they heard the wind roaring outside about 3:45 a.m.

The only part of their house left was where they had been crouching, covered with blankets, Reichenbach said.

"Your main concern was trying to find out what was landing on top of you," he said. Reichenbach needed stitches in his leg, which was cut by falling debris.

The Red Cross set up an emergency shelter in the Jarrell First Baptist Church and worked to find overnight lodging for storm victims. The Salvation Army opened a canteen and also provided aid.

Telephone and utilities workers labored to restore widespread outages.

State Rep. Parker McCullough, D-Georgetown, who toured the damaged area, said, "I've been in contact with the governor's office. We'll be doing everything ... that we can to provide emergency monies" to victims.

McCullough said Gov. Bill Clements was awaiting damage reports before issuing a disaster declaration.

Dr. Max Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said, "There's a lot to be sad about in that we're destroyed, but there's a lot to be grateful for in that we're alive to rebuild."

House tentatively okays TEAMS test changes

AUSTIN (AP) — The House tentatively approved legislation that would eliminate the student basic skills test for first-grade students and broaden the exam for other grades.

In other action Wednesday, the House tentatively approved a bill that would prohibit driver's licenses for dropouts under age 18.

Under the TEAMS bill, the test would be broadened to include social studies and science.

Current law requires the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills to be given in grades 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and before graduation. The test includes reading, writing and mathematics.

The Senate has approved a bill eliminating the first-grade TEAMS requirement, which backers of the measure said is too stressful for young children.

Before giving preliminary approval to the Senate bill, the House passed an amendment that would expand the test to include social studies and science and add a writing competency exam to the exit-level test.

The provision would put norm-referenced questions in the test, which would determine the grade level at which students taking it perform in certain subjects.

"It's much more useful as a teaching tool," Hammond said. He said most districts already give such a test in addition to the TEAMS.

If the measure passes another vote and the Senate concurs in House amendments, districts would not have to give those other tests, and would save money, he said.

"The other big advantage is that it should eliminate a lot of the teaching to the test," because the exam would be broader and teachers would not know what specific elements would be tested, he said.

It would cost $1.4 million the first year to develop the test, Hammond said.

The dropout bill would prohibit anyone under age 18 from getting a driver's license without proof of high school graduation or current enrollment in school or in a program to get a high-school equivalency diploma.

The measure also would apply to a motorcycle operator's license or an instruction permit. It requires another vote before being sent to the Senate.

"It's an attempt to curb the alarming dropout rate that we have," said Rep. Bill Hammond, R-Dallas. A dropout could still try to get a hardship license.

The bill "sends a message to the students in this state that this privilege will not be there if they drop out of school," added Rep.

Eddie Lucio, D-Brownsville.

Rep. Sylvester Turner, D-Houston, unsuccessfully tried to add an amendment to the measure that would allow an employed dropout to get a license.

"There are a number of socioeconomic reasons (for dropping out) that are not addressed at all by this bill," Turner said.

Someone who drops out and is unemployed is in "a doubly bad situation," he said.

Radio helicopter pilot rescues stranded family

CLEBURNE, Texas (AP) — Seconds before a car vanished in a rain-swollen creek, a helicopter pilot lowered his craft and, extending one hand while maneuvering with the other, grabbed a woman and her daughters from the vehicle's roof.

Sue Laird and her daughters, 9-year-old Kelly and Brady, 7, were rescued Wednesday by Dick Siegel, morning and afternoon traffic reporter for WBAP radio in Fort Worth. The woman's car had stalled on a bridge east of Cleburne.

Siegel lowered his helicopter between trees and hovered over the car's trunk to reach the woman and children. Meanwhile, KPLX-KLIF helicopter pilot Ken Arnold and traffic reporter Chuck Schechner guided him from their aircraft.

"It was teetering over the bridge. We hovered to the back window," said Siegel.

The pilot got his helicopter over the car, close enough to reach the youngest girl, said WBAP news director Joe Halstead.

Siegel "grabbed the little girl and pulled her in. I told her to help the little sister. She reached out and helped get her sister," said the pilot. "The lady then climbed on top of the car and climbed into the copter."

The pilot said he could not set his helicopter skids onto the car for fear the weight of the aircraft would topple the teetering car before he rescued the woman and children.

Halstead said the woman was driving down County Road 700 shortly after 7 a.m. when she drove into high water that flooded a creek bridge.

He said that, after the car stalled, the woman and children climbed onto its roof "waiting for somebody to come by and help."

When Arnold of KPLX-KLIF spotted the stranded motorists, he and Schechner guided Siegel in to make the rescue.

"We hovered right behind him with our skids right over the water," said Schechner. "We were kind of keeping him straight ... We stayed behind him and talked with him."

"He did a nice flying job," said Schechner, adding that the rescue took about three minutes.

"There isn't a pilot in the world that couldn't do it," said Siegel, a pilot for 25 years.

"It's not a hero's story. We were at the right place at the right time," he added.

There was no telephone listing for Ms. Laird when The Associated Press attempted to contact her about the rescue.

Shortly afterward, Siegel pulled Venus rancher Johnny Betts off a small island, officials said. Betts had become stranded by waters from a flooding creek as he retrieved horses about 3 a.m., said Halstead.

"He got them across the rushing water, but by the time he was coming back, the hill was split by flooding water and it surrounded him," he said. "He was out there three or four hours."

Disruptive music with extreme swings in cadence can throw off movement during aerobic dance class and make bodies tense. Raul Espinosa of Music in Motion reports on one study that found an anapestic beat (short, short, long) common in some heavy-metal music, actually hampered a workout.

Proposed lottery referendum nixed

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans are going to be angry they won't have the opportunity to vote on the state lottery issue, the sponsor of a defeated bill says.

"The people out in the hinterlands, the silent majority, want a lottery, and they're going to be looking at this vote ... and they're going to be hacked off," Rep. Ron Wilson told reporters after his bill went down Wednesday on a 58-83 House vote.

In urging lawmakers to support his bill to put a non-binding referendum on the November ballot, Wilson said, "What it does is an opportunity to voice their opinion."

House Speaker Gib Lewis estimated that if the proposal was on the ballot, "It would pass by 85 percent."

But Rep. David Hudson, D-Tyler, said Texans decide on such issues by casting votes for their legislators.

"The people elected 150 members of the House and 31 senators to make laws and to make these decisions for them, and that's what we've done here today," he said.

Bush speaks out on education

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — President Bush, stumping for his education proposals with a visit to an urban magnet school, vowed today to spur U.S. businesses to "help education help America."

Bush, stopping here on his way to a long weekend in Kennebunkport, Maine, where he was to meet with French President Francois Mitterrand, sought to focus attention on his $441 million legislative package for education.

"The fact is that unless we act, our children will be ill-equipped to read, write or understand new technologies," he said in prepared remarks.

The president spoke during a tour of an Eastman Kodak photographic plant after visiting the Wilson Magnet High School, which offers special courses in computer science, robotics, photo-optics and Japanese language studies.

He praised Kodak for putting up some of the funds that he said helped the city school overcome a high dropout rate and a poor academic showing several years ago to become one of the top-rated schools in New York state.

Lightning strikes Texarkana woman

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — Alma Seward didn't know what hit her. The woman thought she had been in a car wreck, but it turns out she was struck by lightning as she sat in her living room.

Mrs. Seward, 76, and her husband, Thurman, were in the living room during a severe thunderstorm Wednesday when a bolt of lightning struck the side of the house, shot across the room and hit Mrs. Seward in the chest.

The lightning strike, which came as severe thunderstorms roared across Northeast Texas, left burn marks on the Seward home, but Mrs. Seward was not seriously injured.

"The lights went out. The whole house just lit up," Thurman Seward said. "Then that racket. It was a terrible light and a sudden darkness," he recalled.

"My wife said 'I'm hit!'" he said. "She put her hand up to her breast. She just began to shake and slipped out of the chair."

"She thinks she's had a car wreck," he said. "She keeps on wanting to know if I'm OK."

Faculty salary increases debated

AUSTIN (AP) — House and Senate budget leaders said they are nearing completion of writing a state budget for the next two years although they are still at odds over state salary increases.

Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, the chief of the Senate budget conferees, said Tuesday the conference committee will complete its business tonight. "We will work as long as necessary. So pack your clothes," Caperton said.

The House-Senate committee is considering a proposed budget of approximately $46.5 billion for 1990-91.

House Speaker Gib Lewis opposes a Senate proposal to increase higher education faculty salaries by 7.1 percent for each year of the biennium, saying the increase would rob funds from public education and other state employees salaries.

But after meeting with Gov. Bill Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said, "I feel pretty comfortable we'll come to some sort of compromise."

Lewis also said the $450 million that budget conferees approved to address the problem of unequal funding between wealthy and poor schools was inadequate.

Gorbachev leaves China today

BEIJING (AP) — Mikhail S. Gorbachev today ended a summit that broke down the barriers of 30 years of hostility between the world's two most populous Communist nations and was made more dramatic by massive pro-democracy protests.

The Soviet leader and his wife Raisa departed Shanghai to end what he called a visit of "epoch-making significance." The Soviet news agency Tass quoted Gorbachev as calling the summit "a watershed event."

A joint communique said "neither side would seek hegemony of any form" in any part of the world. China has long accused Moscow of "hegemony," or trying to dominate weaker nations.

The communique, issued after Gorbachev left, said normalization of relations "contributes to the maintenance of world peace and stability."

It also contained a lengthy section on Cambodia, with the two sides expressing different opinions on the conflict that has been the main obstacle to improved Sino-Soviet ties.

China repeated its support for a provisional government led by resistance leader Prince Norodom Sihanouk and including both the three-party resistance and the Vietnam-backed Hun Sen faction.

Consumer price increase reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — An all-time record increase in gasoline prices fueled a large, 0.7 percent jump in consumer inflation in April, the government said today.

Last month's climb in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index followed advances of 0.5 percent in March and 0.4 percent in February. It was the steepest one-month increase since an identical 0.7 percent rise in January 1987.

For the first four months of the year, inflation at the retail level ran at a 6.6 percent annual rate, sharply higher than the 4.4 percent annual increases in both 1988 and 1987.

However, analysts said most of the momentum this year is coming from a 30 percent rise in crude oil prices. Once that works its way through the economy, analysts expect inflation to fall back to a 5 percent annual rate.

In April, energy accounted for about 60 percent of the increase. The Labor Department said the 11.4 percent rise in gasoline prices was the largest one-month gain since the agency began keeping track of prices in the 1930s. The previous record was 7.4 percent, hit in January 1987 and in March 1974.

The 5.1 percent advance for all energy costs also set a record.

House GOP smiling at Wright troubles

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans, after years of fighting the ruling Democrats with noisy protests and parliamentary warfare, are sitting back and smiling as they watch the storm encircling House Speaker Jim Wright.

The Texas Democrat is facing charges before the House ethics committee and is the topic of nearly daily reports in the national news media.

In addition, press reports have forced Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., Wright's chief vote-counter, to revise and defend his own financial disclosure statements.

But most House Republicans aren't putting out press releases, making speeches about it, or even attacking the speaker in conversations with reporters.

Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., the No. 2 House Republican who launched the probe against Wright, continues to comment when asked, but he's avoiding television interviews on the topic. Asked what he was thinking about a story involving Coelho's financial dealings, he answered: "I don't."

Rep. Jerry Lewis of California, chairman of the House Republican Conference, says he has urged his colleagues to remain quiet in deference to the ethics process, which eventually could require all members to pass judgment on the speaker. Lewis and Rep. Robert Michel of Illinois, the Republican leader, made clear they're happy to have the news media take on the speaker without them.

"Far be it from this member to put any kind of cloud over a free press," Michel said at a session with reporters following President Bush's visit with House Republicans on Wednesday.

"Far be it," seconded Lewis, with a broad smile.

A rank-and-file GOP member, speaking on condition his name not be used, said the Republicans are in the catbird seat. "For once, good politics is also good policy," he said.

While not directly attacking the Democrats on ethics, the Republicans are needing the Democrats for the slow pace of legislation and blaming it on "disarray" in Wright's leadership team.

The meeting was attended by BCD president Jack Denman and board members Bill Parker, Eddie Johnson and Max von Roeder. Jack Smartt was absent. BCD economic development committee member Roy McQueen also attended, as did former BCD board member Red Faver.

All-white breast meat!

COUNTRY STYLE McCHICKEN SANDWICH

We start with all-white breast meat and cook it up country style: tender and juicy on the inside, with a perfectly seasoned, crispy crust on the outside.

In fact, our new McChicken party is so delicious you'd be tempted to eat it by itself. But wait 'til you try it as a complete sandwich—topped with mayo and lettuce, on a toasted sesame seed bun.
