

Leaders point to economic impact from TDC project

While efforts are underway to formulate Snyder's request for expansion of prison facilities here, members of the Economic Development Committee are encouraged by the economic impact already being felt.

The Price Daniel unit, a 1,000-bed facility, is due to open on July 22 following an open house, but already favorable economic trends are being observed by community leaders.

"A number of new TDC employees have already been in to make water account deposits," according to Snyder city manager John Gayle. "And we've had several calls from newcomers for a variety of information."

"The real estate market has begun to pick up," said Joyce Barnes, a representative for Stevenson Real Estate. "I feel very good about the community's prospects in the coming months."

Bill Parker, president of West Texas State Bank, said he has seen a number of new bank customers directly related to the prison. "We're very pleased to see these early signs of the TDC's presence."

While the prison's management staff is expected to report for work the latter part of June, the full impact will start to be felt in July when the staff will quickly reach its capacity of about 325 employees.

Meanwhile, Western Texas College has benefited from the early relationship with the TDC. WTC currently is conducting its third correctional officer training class with 26 candidates enrolled.

"We've already had 63 graduates from the program, and 63 have been offered jobs," said Mike Thorton, director of adult education. The majority are working in various TDC units with the expectation of College assured record

Western Texas College, aided by a new rule which sees many college-bound students attending school "early" to avoid a state-mandated test, will set an all-time record for summer enrollment this year.

By noon Friday, the numbers were already well past the 1,000 mark with registration to officially end at noon Monday.

The previous record for a summer enrollment was set in 1986, when 954 students attended WTC.

One reason cited for the high figure is the state's TASP test, an acronym for Texas Academic Skills Program.

Under new state directives, students entering college this fall must pass the TASP test before they can acquire more than 60 college credit hours. Sixty hours is traditionally when a student achieves junior-level status.

Under a grandfather clause in the law, however, any student

In Brief

Ants attack

AUSTIN AP) — An 81-year-old man was in critical condition early Saturday after he collapsed from a stroke and was attacked by fire ants on the floor of his home, authorities said.

Domingo Mendoza was admitted to Brackenridge Hospital about 1:30 p.m. Friday after a relative found him lying unconscious on the floor of his home covered with ants, said Dan Lee, of the Southeast Travis County Volunteer Fire Department.

Mendoza's home is on the Bastrop-Travis county line. He was found lying between a bedroom and hallway.

"Thousands (ants) is too small a number," said Ann Beran, a volunteer firefighter and emergency medical technician, who was the first to arrive. "They already had mounds building on his body when I got there."

Break-in prompts reward

The Crime Stoppers program for Scurry County is now offering a reward for information related to the Memorial Day weekend burglary of a rural residence.

The home of Jay and Donna Roemisch, located five miles south of Snyder near the China Grove Rd.-U.S. 84 intersection, was broken into and ransacked by burglars.

Law enforcement officials believe the crime occurred prior to 11 a.m. on May 27.

Items taken included guns, televisions, a VCR, a washing machine, microwave, linens and food.

Evidence indicates a pickup truck was used to transport the items from the home.

Scurry County Crime Stoppers will pay up to $1,000 for information leading to the indictment of persons responsible for the crime.

Callers will remain anonymous with no names appearing in any reports or disclosed to any individuals. The Crime Stoppers telephone number is 573-6700.

Individuals may also contact either Deputy Charlie Reynolds at the Scurry County sheriff's office or Texas Ranger John Billings. Both may be reached at (915) 573-3551.

Teacher salary raise not all it seems

As public school financing was adopted at the close of the state legislature's regular session, the word from Austin was that an $1,800 pay raise was in the offing for each teacher pay level.

This past week, Snyder administrators learned "it ain't necessarily so."

The state legislature did approve an $1,800 pay raise for each teaching level "step." However, the same legislation "froze" all Texas teachers at the same step level for next school year.

This has the net effect of reducing the $1,800 pay raise to $660 for all but beginning teachers and those at the top end of the scale.

In Texas, teachers automatically receive an annual "step" pay raise of $1,140 until they reach Step 10. Since teachers are now frozen for one year, this $1,140 automatic pay raise can be deducted from the $1,800 mandated raise in most cases.

In Texas, school districts must pay state base salary and have the option to pay above state base, which is the case in Snyder ISD.

Since local teachers already receive more than the mandated amounts, the increase in base pay will have a varied effect here.

This spring, Snyder school board members indicated a commitment to pay a minimum of $1,000 above state base next year.

This is not necessarily a pay raise for all, however, since many teachers already receive $1,000 or more above state base. The $660 which will be added on to this will have some affect.

Also regarding the state mandated increases in the base pay, Snyder school officials have not yet been notified where these funds will come from.

Because of this, they are now unclear if the increase will come from state dollars or if districts will be required to provide the money through local tax collections.

Snyder school officials say they are also uncertain at this point

Reading incentive offered by library

Children who have completed grades K-6 may participate in Scurry County Library's Summer Reading Club which begins Monday and will continue through Aug. 11.

This year's theme of the reading club is "Creature Features."

Prizes provided by McDonald's restaurant, sponsor of the club, will be awarded to the children according to the number of books they read. Every 15 books read will allow the child to enter the grand prize drawing for a 10-speed bicycle.

Prizes which will be offered include:

—Five books read, a T-shirt transfer.

—10 books read, an ice cream cone and pencil from McDonald's and Texas Reading Club Certificate.

—15 books read, fries and an eraser from McDonald's, plus a chance to enter the grand prize drawing for the bike.

—20 books read, a sundae from McDonald's.

—30 books read, a hamburger and fries from McDonald's plus another chance to enter the grand prize drawing.

Children must read on their reading level based on the grade they have completed in school. The librarian will be the final judge on whether books may be counted.

Pre-schoolers will receive a certificate if 10 books are read to them this summer, but they are not eligible for the prizes.

As part of the program, each Friday this summer from 10-10:30 a.m., the library will present a story time for children 3, 4 and 5 years old.

Other summer programs will include storytelling on June 8, June 22 and June 27 at 10 a.m.

Of all God's creations, people are the most interesting. Those who deal with the general public on a daily basis can tell some interesting experiences.

Art Linkletter made famous the "darnedest sayings" of kids, but adults, when put in the role of a child, can come up with some pretty odd things.

Take for instance the man who complained that he kept hearing voices in his new car. He returned it to the dealership several times, but nothing unusual was found. The case was brought to arbitration, at which time the manufacturer's representative, the owner and witnesses listened for the voices—which they heard. But they heard them even better after the radio was turned up.

One guy came to a city police station and inquired when the department would auction off drugs the police had confiscated.

A woman demanded a refund from a maid service, claiming inadequate work. The company responded that bathing the family's pet boa constrictor for 30 minutes after every meal to prevent constipation was above and beyond the call of domestic duty.

A woman in South Texas complained about her new wig, labeled 100 percent human hair. It had turned into a cotton wad when she washed it. The store asked what she expected for $4.

You just can't please some people. A Dallas resident was irate because he had lost his wallet in downtown Dallas and the police had not yet found it and returned it.

Another guy complained about Sister X who advertised that she could help with any problem. He was instructed to put money in a shoebox under his bed and sleep over the money. Then she told him to send the money to her to be cleansed. It was the guy who got cleaned out.

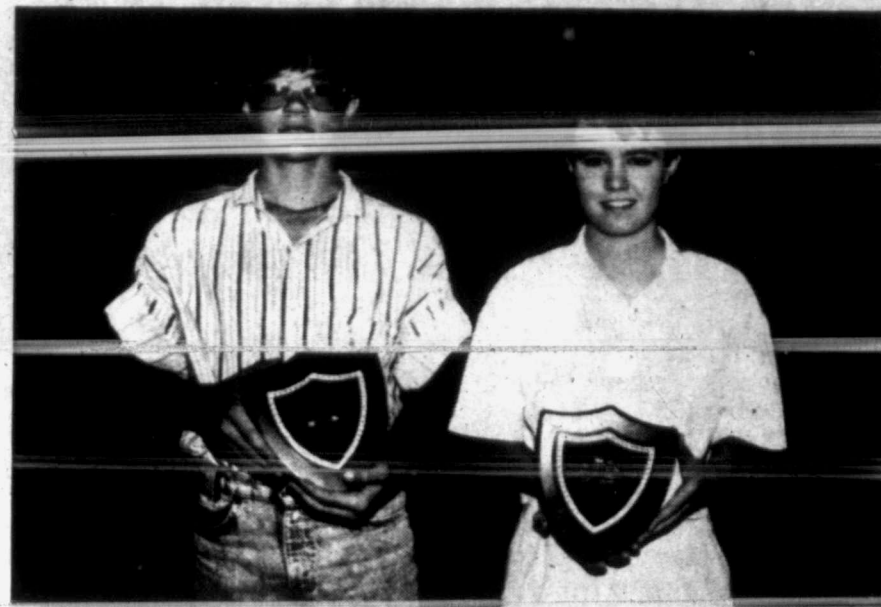

We humans are strange. We know one who sent off for a 99-cent diamond. You might suspect the complaint: it wasn't big enough.

Federal drug agent linked to cult

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Authorities say the corrupting power of drugs and a belief in witchcraft led to the downfall of a federal narcotics agent involved with a cult of ritual killers.

Salvador Vidal Garcia Alarcon, 39, was indicted Friday on drug trafficking charges. The nine-year veteran of the federal judicial police pleaded innocent.

In a lengthy statement given earlier to police, Vidal Garcia had said his contact with the sect was limited to religious matters.

He explained he had been possessed by spirits all his life and sought relief from their disrupting powers from the leader of the cult, Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo.

Vidal Garcia described the spirits as useful in helping the victims of black magic, but said they were also potent and troublesome. He said he could only get relief from someone with magical powers greater than his own.

He said Constanzo would perform spiritual "cleansings" involving animal sacrifice.

Constanzo had a lucrative practice as a clairvoyant and "cleanser" in Mexico City. "Cleansing" is designed to remove a hex or evil spell and is widely practiced in Mexico.

Vidal Garcia also said he attended black masses and cult initiations.

Deputy Federal Attorney General Javier Coello Trejo said Vidal Garcia, a member of the federal drug task force, had been an "excellent" officer who was wounded several times in the line of duty.

His belief in witchcraft and the corrupting influence of drug money brought about his downfall, Coello said.

"We don't believe he was responsible for any of the homicides," Coello said.

One cult member told authorities Vidal Garcia knew that Constanzo followers had murdered and dismembered a transvestite in Mexico City in 1988.

Another, Sara Aldrete Villareal, the sect's alleged high priestess, said Constanzo told her he killed two men as a favor to Vidal Garcia. Their bodies were among the 15 discovered in Matamoros in April.

Vidal Garcia, who was arrested earlier this week, is being held in the Eastern Penitentiary in Mexico City. He was arraigned there in the 7th Federal Criminal Court. Conviction can bring a penalty of seven to 25 years in prison.

He was not charged in connection with the murders in Matamoros or Mexico City or with other crimes alleged against the sect. Authorities would not say if he will remain on the federal police force until his case is resolved.

The indictment accuses Vidal Garcia of stealing 4.4 pounds of cocaine from a dentist in the western city of Guadalajara last year along with Constanzo and Constanzo's right-hand man, who posed as U.S. drug agents.

Constanzo, a 26-year-old Cuban-American, and his lieutenant died May 6 in a shootout when police raided their hideout in Mexico City.

Cult members told police that Vidal Garcia used his position as a federal agent to protect the smugglers. He was one of several police officers mentioned by the suspects but Coello insisted Vidal Garcia is the only federal agent linked to the cult.

He refused to discuss Aldrete's assertion that the late Mexican head of Interpol, the international police agency, was a cult initiate.

In his statement to federal agents after the gang's arrest, Vidal Garcia said he knew Constanzo and other cult members but their relationships were limited to witchcraft.

He specifically denied allegations he took payoffs linked to drug trafficking or any knowledge of murders committed by the gang.

Among the cult's victims was Mark Kilroy, a 21-year-old University of Texas pre-med student. He was kidnapped, tortured and mutilated in what sect members say was a ceremony to invoke magical protection for the narcotics business.

At least four of the mutilated bodies found in Matamoros were the victims of such rituals. Authorities also suspect Constanzo or his Mexico City associates of being a series of earlier cult slayings as well as the transvestite's 1988 murder.

First Coke wall sign to be restored

ATLANTA (AP) — The salesman-artist who painted the first Coca-Cola wall sign was no Rembrandt, but 95 years later his work is getting about as much attention from restorers as any masterpiece.

Preservationists Alison Free and Aggie Ferguson have put in a month of painstaking work on the side of Young Brothers Pharmacy in Cartersville, about 30 miles northwest of Atlanta, to bring to light what Atlanta-based Coca-Cola executives agree is the first of its kind.

Restoring the sign, which says "Drink Coca-Cola," was the idea of the pharmacy's owner, Dean Cox, who said townspeople had told him he had a historic treasure under layers of paint on the store's wall.

"I'd heard the rumor for years," Cox said, "and then I finally got confirmation from Coca-Cola that this was the first painted wall sign."

Coca-Cola representative Randy Donaldson said the original sign was painted in 1894 by salesman James Couden, who set the precedent for what later became a standard offer: Sell Coca-Cola in your shop and the company would paint your wall for free.

Woman rescued after two days on overturned boat

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A 56-year-old woman whose husband died while the two drifted for two days on their overturned boat in the Gulf of Mexico says her urge to survive was fueled by the need for somebody to tell her kids what happened.

"I decided I was going to live because I couldn't stand having my kids without any parents, someone had to tell them what happened," Minnie Chaisson said Friday from her hospital bed.

The Coast Guard rescued Mrs. Chaisson, 56, Thursday evening after boaters spotted the capsized craft and radioed authorities.

Mrs. Chaisson was listed in stable condition early Saturday with exposure-related ailments at Valley Regional Medical Center in Brownsville, hospital administrator Joe Lacher said.

The Coast Guard has been unable to find the body of her husband, 58-year-old Albert Chaisson, a longtime shrimper.

The couple started out on a fishing expedition in the Gulf of Mexico Tuesday, their first extended trip on their new 28-foot boat, "Super Coon."

"We were trying to see if the boat was seaworthy," Mrs. Chaisson said from her hospital bed, her body swollen, sunburned and covered with fish bites.

Mrs. Chaisson said they ran into trouble about 6 p.m. Tuesday when they dropped anchor and had engine trouble.

The boat began taking in water, apparently from a leaky patch on the hull and the couple discovered the bilge pump was broken and the engine wouldn't restart.

She said her husband offered her a piece of cantaloupe and said, "Eat this. You're going to need it." The boat flipped a short time later and they spend the night rowing with a broken pole line.

By the next night, Chaisson told his wife he was exhausted from bailing water and had chest pains.

"Then he took in a lot of water," she said. "He didn't come back alive."

At 11:30 Thursday morning, the crew of the "Jenny Lee" spotted the capsized boat 22 miles north of South Padre Island.

Jewish settlers attack Israel and food convoy to Gaza

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jewish settlers on Friday attacked and beat Israeli peace activists trying to deliver food and medicine to Palestinian children in Gaza Strip refugee camps. In the West Bank, soldiers reportedly shot and killed a Palestinian teenager.

Also Friday, Israeli media reported the army plans to restrict the movement of settlers in the West Bank suspected of taking part in vigilante raids on Palestinian communities.

The developments followed a raid Monday by Jewish settlers on a Palestinian refugee camp. A 13-year-old girl was shot to death in the rampage.

An Israeli court in Kfar Saba, near Tel Aviv, on Friday ordered five Jewish seminary students suspected in the rampage jailed pending further investigation.

The seminary's spiritual leader, Rabbi Yitzhak Ginsburg, justified the slaying and said the blood of Jews and non-Jews cannot be equated.

"We have to recognize that Jewish blood and the blood of a goy are not the same thing," he told Israel radio. "Every law that is based on equating goys and Jews is completely unacceptable."

Zevulun Hammer, the minister of religious affairs, condemned Ginsburg's statement. He said Jewish commandments forbid the spilling of innocent blood, regardless of a person's religion.

At least 70,000 Jewish settlers live in 130 enclaves in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, which Israel seized from Jordan and Egypt in 1967. About 1.7 million Palestinians live in the territories.

The peace activists, mostly from the coastal city of Haifa, were met at the army-controlled Erez Junction checkpoint entrance to the Gaza Strip by about 100 Jewish settlers carrying Israeli flags.

The settlers tried to stop the activists from unloading their gifts of powdered milk and rice, and several fistfights ensued.

One activist was seen with blood running down his face. The roadside was littered with ruptured sacks of rice and broken boxes of milk after the confrontation.

Anti-litter efforts touted

AUSTIN (AP) — Nine cities in various population categories are winners of the 1989 Governor's Community Achievement Awards for efforts to reduce litter.

The nine cities, which prevailed in competition with 71 others, will receive a total of $700,000 worth of highway right-of-way landscape awards from the state highway department, according to Henry Thomason, deputy director of field operations.

The winning cities, with estimated populations supplied by Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc., and including landscape awards, include:

Bluff Dale, 300, $10,000; Surfside Beach, 604, $20,000; Electra, 3,000, $25,000; Yoakum, 6,400, $30,000; Pearland, 22,000, $50,000; Haltom City, 32,900, $60,000; Midland, 99,200, $100,000; Beaumont, 120,000, $125,000; Austin, 495,000, $280,000.

Midland and Pearland, for example, reported 95 percent and 85 percent litter reductions, respectively.

"Our approach focuses primarily on the sources of litter and changing attitudes that lead to littering behavior — rather than on 'cleanup' alone, the traditional 'quick fix' approach of the past, as the solution to litter problems," said Ed Davis, president of Keep Texas Beautiful.

Four teenagers killed in mishap

LANCASTER, Texas (AP) — Four high school students celebrating the end of classes were killed Friday when their car skidded into a concrete wall on a notorious hairpin turn on a country road just south of this Dallas suburb.

Among the victims was a senior who was to have graduated Saturday, a tennis star and two freshmen cheerleaders. All attended Lancaster High School.

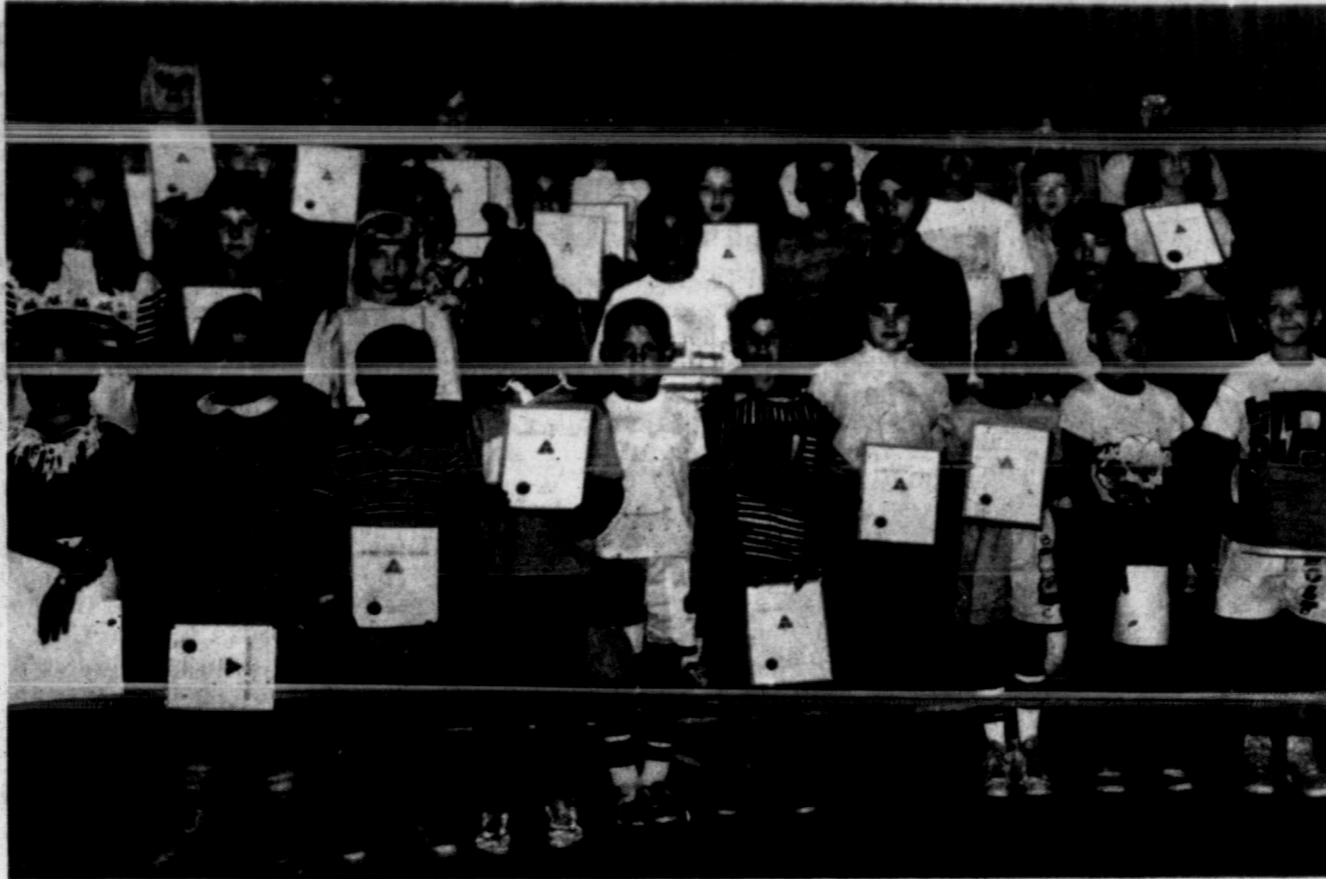

The deaths cast a pall on the eve of graduation as classmates mourned the four, including Mark McClellan, 18, the driver of the 1989 Mustang GT, which friends said he'd received a couple of months ago as a graduation present.

Also killed in the accident were Clint Lynch, 17, a junior district champion tennis player, and freshman cheerleaders Roxanna K. McBride and Andrea D. McBrannon, both 15.

McClellan and Lynch, who was riding in the front seat, were dead at the scene about 3:30 p.m. Miss McBride died at 4:25 p.m. at Methodist Medical Center in Dallas, and Miss McBrannon died at 5:30 p.m. at Midway Park Hospital in Lancaster.

Dallas County sheriff's deputy David Loftis said the driver was "definitely doing more than 30, which is the speed limit here."

The car smashed into an ivy-covered 4-foot concrete wall in front of a house along the winding, hilly two-lane Nokomis Road.

'Church within church' formed

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — With the adoption of a constitution, conservative Episcopalians created a "church within a church" to bring their denomination back to biblical faith, historic traditions and an all-male clergy.

Nearly 1,200 delegates attended the founding meeting of the Episcopal Synod of America, saying the Episcopal Church is suffering from an onslaught of liberalism.

The delegates adopted the constitution Friday and planned to end their meeting Saturday. Brought together by Fort Worth-based Evangelical and Catholic Mission, the dissident church members said they were displeased with loosening strictures on marriage, tolerance of homosexuality, feminist theology, non-sexist liturgical language and slacking standards of personal morality in the larger church.

"If we remain a church within the church, our goal isn't to be a small cell, but to be a witness to hopefully transform our religion," said the Rt. Rev. David Schofield, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of San Joaquin in Fresno, Calif.

But members of the new church say they don't intend to break with the 2.4-million member Episcopal Church in the United States, which is one of 27 communions in the 70 million-member Anglican Church worldwide.

The Rt. Rev. Clarence Pope of Fort Worth was elected president of the new church.

$1.6 trillion in pension funds may be at risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government watchdog says $1.6 trillion in private pension funds are subject to potential fraud and abuse because of loose regulations and lax enforcement of federal pension laws.

Labor Department Inspector General J. Brian Hyland said in a report to Congress on Friday that the problems that leave the pension system open to abuse are much like those that triggered the savings and loan crisis.

Unless Congress acts quickly to strengthen the laws and require the government to improve oversight of pension funds the potential exists for a "nightmare" that would dwarf the S&L crisis, Hyland said in the report.

"As, unfortunately, has been demonstrated by the recent savings and loan crisis, government regulation of an industry does not ensure that invested assets are protected," he said.

The report drew immediate criticism, however, from a research group that follows employee benefit programs and from the Labor Department itself, which said the pension laws have been strengthened in recent years and are under constant review.

"I think he is very dramatically overstating any problems," said Dallas L. Salisbury, president of the Employee Benefit Research Institute. He said that as a result of the 1974 law governing pensions, "the funded status of the private pension system has improved dramatically in each of the last 15 years."

The department, Hyland said, has just 300 people to monitor and enforce the nation's central pension law.

Summer heat and humidity make it extremely difficult for people to relax. Discomfort causes problems to become aggravated and nerves to get so tense it seems as if you're going to explode.

LENNOX central air conditioning, properly designed, sized and installed can bring relief from heat and humidity...can help you enjoy a feeling of cool comfort. Without the aggravation of bodily discomfort, taunt nerves seem to ease up, and you get a delightful sense of well-being. You're able to think - and work.

But air conditioning itself can't do the job, without expert craftsmen to install it. Even LENNOX can increase your tension, unless it's designed, sized and installed properly. It increases your tension because it doesn't deliver what you expect. Improperly designed, sized and installed air conditioning results in poor dehumidification, blasts of cool air followed by a warm, clammy feeling; some rooms too cold, some too hot; high operating costs - and complete aggravation! So, instead of relaxing nervous tension - poorly installed air conditioning causes dissatisfaction - and even anger!

On the other hand, LENNOX, installed by Snyder Heating & Air Conditioning experts, serves as a cooling, refreshing, relaxing "tranquilizer" - makes you cool, comfortable - and ready to enjoy life to its fullest. That's why Snyder Heating & Air Conditioning's experts survey your

Pistons earn rematch against LA Lakers

CHICAGO (AP) - It's two down and one to go for the Detroit Pistons and Isiah Thomas.

"Our goals were to have the best record in the NBA, to get to the finals, and to win," Thomas said Friday night after scoring 33 points to lead the Pistons to a series-clinching 103-94 victory over the Chicago Bulls.

"We've done two of the three," said Thomas, who will now lead the Pistons against the two-time champion Los Angeles Lakers in the final best-of-7 series that opens in Detroit on Tuesday night.

Thomas scored 17 of Detroit's last 24 points as the Pistons eliminated the pesky Bulls and the great Michael Jordan in six games. Jordan led the Bulls with 32 points, but it wasn't enough. The Bulls suffered a serious setback early. A little more than a minute into the game, Scottie Pippen caught an accidental elbow from Bill Laimbeer and was knocked out.

Pippen did not return and was taken to Northwestern Hospital for observation although it was announced he was not seriously injured.

Brad Sellers replaced Pippen and, along with Jordan, helped the Bulls build an early 26-14 lead. Then it was downhill for Chicago.

The Pistons scored the last 10 points of the quarter, took a 49-47 lead at the half, upped it to 77-69 after three quarters and then saw Thomas take over in the final quarter to clinch the victory after the Bulls had pulled within 81-79.

"I didn't necessarily take over," said Thomas, shifted from point guard to No. 2 guard by Coach Chuck Daly. "Chuck put me in the two position to set me up for the open shots. Our guys were doing a good job setting screens and I put the ball in the hole."

Daly said shifting Thomas wasn't new.

"I've done it periodically," he said.

Daly said it was unfortunate for the Bulls that "A key player (Pippen) got hurt. They did a great job. They made it difficult for us." But the big question was how the Pistons would do this time against the Lakers, to whom they lost in seven games in the finals last year.

"We're pretty much the same team as last year," Daly said. "We know a little more about our opponents and what the NBA finals are really all about."

Laimbeer said the fact that the Bulls made the Pistons work harder than expected would make Detroit a better team for the finals. Detroit swept its series against Boston and Milwaukee.

"I believe it was good," Laimbeer said. "Against Boston and Detroit we weren't tested, not to the point where it could go either way. Against Chicago, we were put in the position that if we wanted it, we had to go out and get it. And we did."

"The Lakers are smart, don't make mistakes, have quality players and an outstanding defense," Laimbeer said. "Their defense doesn't get much credit, but I think we can beat them."

Astros make it 8 straight wins

HOUSTON (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers gave Houston little margin for error Friday night so the Astros were glad they had Mike Scott on the mound.

MacLeod to stay in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Mavericks Coach John MacLeod turned down a chance on Friday to become head coach of the New York Knicks, calling it "the hardest decision I've ever made."

MacLeod had been the front-runner to replace Rick Pitino, who left the Knicks Tuesday to take over as coach at the University of Kentucky.

Saying he wanted to stay in Dallas because of his family and to try to rebuild the Mavs, MacLeod turned down a chance to work with his friend Al Bianchi, the Knicks general manager. Bianchi was an assistant under MacLeod for 12 years at Phoenix.

"Al and I had some very serious discussions," MacLeod said. "He's a good friend of mine and a keen judge of NBA talent. It would have been great. But my gut instinct was to stay with the Mavs. I think we can turn this thing around."

leading fifth complete game, a four-hitter, as the Astros beat the Dodgers 1-0 for their eighth victory in a row.

"He's the best bet we've got to shut out somebody," Astros second baseman Bill Doran said. "If we don't shut them out, we lose."

Scott didn't allow a runner to reach third base, striking out three and walking two for his second shutout of the season.

"I go out every game and throw as hard as I can as long as I can and go until I run out of gas," Scott said. "Then you don't have to tell them, they know."

Dodger catcher Mike Scioscia thought Scott had help with his shutout.

"It was scuffed, every inning it was like that," Scioscia said. "It was obvious but the ump's aren't going to do anything about it so what's the use talking about it."

Home plate umpire Dutch Renner checked the ball twice when Scott was on the mound.

The Astros scratched out six hits, five of them off starter Fernando Valenzuela, whose seventh-inning field error allowed Glenn Davis to score the game's only run.

But Valenzuela, 0-5, got praise for his fielding and pitching performance.

Athletic physicals

Snyder High School athletic department announced a change in the method for obtaining physical examinations before the start of the next school year.

In the past, physicals were given on specific dates. This year, however, athletes needing a physical should make an appointment with one of the local designated doctors.

The school will pay for all physicals given prior to Aug. 15. Steve Krueger, SHS trainer, urged students to schedule physical appointments as early as possible.

Those requiring physicals are all incoming 7th grade students who plan to participate in athletics. Also required to have physical exams are all incoming 9th grade athletes or all athletes new to the Snyder school system. Others required to have physicals are students who have not participated in athletics, but plan to do so.

Forms are available at the athletic director's office or at the field house. Appointments may be made with any of the following doctors: Nelson Brice, Jim Burleson, Bid Cooper, Carl Dillaha, Bill Pierce or Paul Thompson.

Governor signs bills on ag department, bingo & others

AUSTIN (AP) — The Department of Agriculture will continue to exist, with a new board to regulate pesticides, and stricter regulations will be imposed on bingo under bills signed into law by Gov. Bill Clements on Friday.

"I feel a bit like the fellow in the country song who sang, 'It felt so good when it stopped hurting,'" said Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, whose agency was threatened with extinction before compromise legislation to continue it was worked out.

Clements also signed measures to prevent small cities from using speed traps as a primary source of revenue and to require the Department of Public Safety to test 1 million commercial drivers by April 1992.

The speed-trap measure allows a city under 5,000 to retain all traffic fines in a fiscal year until the total exceeds 30 percent of its revenue during the previous year. After that, the city must send all but $1 of each fine to the state.

The new law replaces a current law that requires small cities to give the state any portion of fines assessed for speeding on highways that exceeds $2 per mile over posted limits.

The commercial drivers law complies with 1986 federal legislation that imposes strict standards on commercial carriers. Failure to meet the standards, including retesting for commercial driver's licenses, would result in a reduction in federal highway grants.

Under the agriculture sunset law, Hightower's pesticide regulation authority will be turned over to a new, nine-member board that he will head. The board will set all policies and regulations on pesticide use in Texas, and coordinate efforts of all state agencies that rule on pesticide use.

Controversy over Hightower spilled into lawmakers' consideration of sunset legislation for the Agriculture Department. Such legislation must be approved every 12 years to keep state agencies in place.

Hightower, a Democrat, has met with opposition from some chemical interests because of tough pesticide regulations. Also, the Farm Bureau urged replacing Hightower's post with an appointed board after he worked to sell hormone-free beef to Europe.

Clements, a Republican, agreed to the compromise worked out after months of legislative battling. A veto of the bill would not have abolished Hightower's post, but it would have left him without an agency to run.

"While I disagree with Governor Clements that government-by-board is either efficient or effective, I'm sure that the members of the pesticide board that he created will try to do their best under the very difficult circumstances established for them," Hightower said in a statement.

"It's now a public board, and the public itself will have to judge whether they are getting more protection as a result of the governor's action, or less," he said.

Rep. Rick Perry, D-Haskell, backed the creation of the panel.

He has said it would "take the politics out of" pesticide regulation.

The bingo reform bill would put into state law an existing rule that charities sponsoring bingo games must receive 35 percent of the proceeds.

In Congress...

Foley will try to repair broken bonds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The parties are tired of partisan mudslinging and is pledging to use his ties to Democrats and Republicans to improve the atmosphere in Congress.

Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., spoke critically Friday of the ethics war sweeping Congress in recent months. But Foley, known as a consensus builder, also praised the work of the House Ethics Committee, which comprises six Democrats and six Republicans.

"The committee has won a broad degree of public respect in the manner in which it's handled the difficult issues before it," Foley said. "What we are talking about is the use of ethics issues as a tool or instrument of recrimination, partisanship.

"It's not the ethics committee, it's the members on either side who are trying to come up with some concept of abusive charges."

Leased school fund land is exempt

AUSTIN (AP) — The state does not have to pay property taxes on land that belongs to the Permanent School Fund even when the land is leased to a private business, said Attorney General Jim Mattox.

However, such a business must pay the property taxes during the time it has the lease, according to the opinion released Friday in response to a question from Land Commissioner Garry Mauro.

The state acquired title to two tracts of land in Tarrant County in 1986 for the state public school trust fund. Mauro leased both tracts to a Texas corporation, and a commercial strip shopping center is on one tract.

In 1987, Tarrant County and a school district sent tax statements to the General Land Office imposing ad valorem taxes on the real property.

"We conclude that the state's interest in land that is part of the Permanent School Fund is exempt from ad valorem taxation, even if the state has leased the land to a private concern to be used for a private purpose," Mattox said in the opinion.

Financial Focus

Two reasons many investors choose mutual funds is diversification and diversification. No, you're not seeing double. It simply means that spreading risk is often the most important factor in an investment program.

For this reason, many investors choose mutual funds that can offer a diversified portfolio of a hundred or more individual securities. This often satisfies the diversification requirement.

Unfortunately, even by spreading risk it is still possible to lose principal. While many mutual funds offer a meaningful history of consistently positive results, none guarantee future performance. Diversification among mutual funds, however, can increase the safety factor.

To illustrate, all you need is a current Standard and Poor's Stock Guide, which is available at most New York Stock Exchange Member Firms. In the back of this book is a mutual-fund summary with a wealth of statistical information. One fund column shows what $10,000 invested as of a particular date, usually five or more years, is worth today. That's all that's needed for the diversification game.

Before beginning any multi-fund diversification program, however, two points should be understood. First, plan on leaving your money invested for at least five years. Second, diversify into at least five different mutual funds.

Using these guidelines, we hypothetically placed $10,000 in each of our five favorite mutual funds. All are managed by the same family of funds. Although this is not necessary, it does offer the benefit of discounted charges and swapping privileges. It also prevented us from using 20/20 hindsight to select only the best-performing funds. For illustration purposes we chose only middle-of-the-road growth-and-income funds.

A $10,000 investment made in each of five selected mutual funds on Dec. 31, 1982, grew to $117,580. Even if you had selected five of the worst-performing funds, your investments would have grown to $61,034, a gain of $11,034.

By doing your homework, a careful selection of diversified funds dedicated to your goals and risk tolerance can not only increase your safety factor but can also offer the opportunity of reasonable financial rewards.

Elections pose risk in Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Eastern Europe's first somewhat democratic elections in more than 40 years pit Solidarity, reborn and invigorated, against a Communist Party struggling to keep itself and the economy afloat.

About 80 percent of Poland's 27 million eligible voters are expected to enter curtained booths Sunday and choose from long lists of candidates for seats in the Sejm, the existing unicameral parliament, and a new Senate.

Campaigning went down to the wire Friday, with Solidarity leader Lech Walesa taping a television message and Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, the Polish leader, delivering a rare television address.

Walesa urged restraint on both sides and said many people in the government were worried about the election's outcome.

"We are running very aggressively and proposing clear solutions," he said. "A lot of people with other political concepts have not seen such a thing before, and they are scared. A lot of people are scared."

He said Solidarity and the Communist Party face "hard work" in finding solutions to Poland's economic and social problems.

"We are all learning on both sides," Walesa said. "We shouldn't give way to emotions ... because emotion could destroy us."

Jaruzelski made a similar appeal.

"This is first of all a dispute about Poland, about what she will be like tomorrow, a year from now," he said.

Way of life kept alive by poets

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Vess Quinlan grew up on a ranch, wears a cowboy hat and boots and writes cowboy poetry. But until recently he feared his fellow poets would never take him seriously.

"I kept quiet so no one ever guessed I had never written a bullriding poem," said the sheep rancher from Alamosa, Colo. "I had to do something because I knew I would never be accepted as a genuine cowboy poet without a first-class bullriding poem."

So now his collection contains a poem about an early childhood bullriding experience, a slight variation from the more common theme of the bull no one could ride, rope or brand.

The 16 cowboy poets participating in Friday's National Cowboy Symposium and Celebration write verses not only about bullriding, but about the cowboy's changing way of life and the barren land they try to tame.

But lest things get too melancholy, they toss in plenty of humor and whimsy, such as John Underwood's verse about a dream of a scientifically enhanced steer with "eyes a big a truck headlights, each horn weighed a thousand pounds."

"Cowboy poetry is looking at our flaws and foible and laughing at ourselves," said Baxter Black, who quit his work as a cattleman and veterinarian in the early 1980s to become a full-time cowboy poet. "I try to nudge that fine line between good taste and throwing up in your hat."

Missouri became the 24th state in 1821.

Friday's feature is a Sing-Along featuring favorite songs. There will also be a drawing for giveaways from the Golden Comb and the WTC cosmetology department.

Several local businesses offer discounts to senior citizens and a complete list of those firms is available in the center. ID cards for senior citizens who wish to take advantage of the discounts are available in the center at no cost.

We take this means to express our sincere thanks to our many friends who were so kind to us in our darkest hour of sorrow (when our loved one was called away). We deeply appreciate the kind words and beautiful flowers that were sent; also, the food that was prepared. May you have just such friends if such sorrow ever visits your home. May Heaven's richest blessing fall on each of you.

Socialists hold crucial meeting

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — A divided Swiss Socialist Party gathered today to discuss an extraordinary proposal: disbanding this neutral nation's 625,000-member army.

About 1,000 delegates were to decide the party's official stand in a Nov. 26 national referendum on dismantling the army. The proposal for unilateral disarmament is given no chance at the polls, but the Socialists' position on it could have an impact on the country's 30-year-old coalition government.

The proposal has drawn fierce reactions from the Socialists' three center-right partners in a governing alliance often cited as a prime factor in Switzerland's political stability.

A leader of the conservative Swiss People's Party, Christoph Blocher, has said an anti-army decision by the Socialist Party congress should spell the end of the government coalition.

Switzerland's army has not fought a foreign war for five centuries but Western military experts have rated it as one of the world's best trained forces.

Witnesses said riot troops beat at least 30 people east of Tiananmen Square. But hundreds of thousands of citizens defied martial law and took to the streets to protect the students, with some protesters sitting down in front of People's Liberation Army troops to impede their advance.

A detachment of 5,000 troops, surrounded by taunting crowds one block off the square, began hitting people with belts. People began throwing soda and beer bottles, stones, shoes and branches, and soldiers threw the objects back.

During the short fracas, people burst into tears and the crowd shouted "You can't hit the people!"

At 8:30 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EDT), the army troops had withdrawn into the Great Hall of the People, ending the visible military presence near Tiananmen until the later reports of shooting by troops.

About four miles northeast of the square, thousands of people blocked two convoys of 17

Troops fire on demonstrators

BELJING (AP) — Chinese troops opened fire on crowds today as tens of thousands of people swarmed into Beijing streets to block their advance.

At least four people were hit and injured by the shots. Reports that people had been killed by the shooting could not be immediately confirmed.

It was unclear if the shootings were isolated or indicative of a wider, more violent push against the pro-democracy protesters.

The reports of the shooting, the first since the protests began, came after the most violent attempt to quell the protests failed earlier in the day. Hundreds of police had fired tear gas on crowds for the first time in seven weeks of pro-democracy protests.

Witnesses said riot troops beat at least 30 people east of Tiananmen Square. But hundreds of thousands of citizens defied martial law and took to the streets to protect the students, with some protesters sitting down in front of People's Liberation Army troops to impede their advance.

A detachment of 5,000 troops, surrounded by taunting crowds one block off the square, began hitting people with belts. People began throwing soda and beer bottles, stones, shoes and branches, and soldiers threw the objects back.

During the short fracas, people burst into tears and the crowd shouted "You can't hit the people!"

At 8:30 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EDT), the army troops had withdrawn into the Great Hall of the People, ending the visible military presence near Tiananmen until the later reports of shooting by troops.

About four miles northeast of the square, thousands of people blocked two convoys of 17 military personnel trucks. At one site, 15 city buses were being used to encircle the troops, with hundreds of citizens standing on top of the buses to watch the standoff.

Despite the government orders announced on television to stay off the streets, thousands of people bicycled and walked toward the square to show support for the students. Tens of thousands of people were in the vast plaza.

Security forces made pre-dawn and afternoon advances on the square but failed to dislodge the students, who have occupied the 100-acre plaza since May 13 to demand democratic reforms and an end to official corruption.

Riot police also beat students and others with nightsticks in afternoon attacks both to the east and west of the square, the symbolic center of power in China. Some protesters tossed rocks at the police.

At least 13 people were seen with bloodied heads and bodies. Witnesses said two truckloads of riot police with shields and sticks began beating people outside the Beijing Hotel east of the square, injuring 30 people.

The renewed confrontations came hours after troops staged a midnight raid on the capital but were driven back by the huge crowds, defiantly blocking roads in support of the students.

At midnight, tens of thousands of troops moved toward the square from at least three directions, reaching the Beijing Hotel before being repulsed. There was some scuffling but no major incidents in the early morning confrontations.

"The people are victorious!" some citizens shouted.

Opposition to the military actions revived the dwindling student movement and showed the government, which imposed martial law May 20 on Beijing, the depth of the students' support. The protests and occupation of Tiananmen Square has prompted a power struggle among China's leadership.

TDC results are profiled transferring to Snyder when the Daniel unit opens. Western Texas College is one of only five colleges presently certified to offer correctional officer training, Thornton added.

Interviews are underway for a variety of teacher, counselor, administrative and clerical positions for the inmate education system. Thornton said he is optimistic that many of the positions will be filled by Snyder-area residents.

Also benefiting from the TDC relationship will be Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Tom Hochwalt, hospital administrator, said the staff will grow by 24 positions, or 17 percent, as a result of the hospital's agreement with TDC.

The hospital has designated a wing for exclusive use of TDC inmates, and the emergency room also will be utilized. In addition, TDC has contracted with Cogdell Hospital to staff and operate the prison clinic.

Hochwalt predicted that the prison will help attract health care specialists not presently serving the Snyder area.

Leaders in the effort to bring the prison facility to Snyder say they are delighted with the progress they have observed. Roy Baze, chairman of the economic development committee said, "Our community needed a shot in the arm, and the prison development has provided it."

"Since 1982, Scurry County's tax base has declined about 70 percent from $2.7 billion to $800 million. We can't hope to restore that loss, but the prison will help us to begin rebuilding."

Baze said the new job opportunities will be stable positions and will provide purchasing power which will in turn create even more job opportunities throughout Snyder.

"We're going to see our economy become more stable, more immune to the whims of petroleum and agriculture markets. All of our citizens will benefit," Baze added.

Snyder was selected as a site for a 1,000-bed medium-security prison on Nov. 9, 1987 following more than two years of work.

In 1987, a section of land was donated to the TDC for a construction site. It was the larger of two sites identified as meeting land requirements, and the larger tract was given to insure sufficient space for future growth.

The Economic Development Committee currently is preparing a proposal due for submission by noon on July 31.

"We are hopeful about being selected because of the additional benefits to our community, and the TDC seems very impressed with the resourcefulness and commitment show by the people of Snyder," Baze said.

The competition for additional beds is expected to be intense. TDC has indicated as many as 160 Texas communities will submit applications for projects being planned by TDC.

"The competition will be sharper and tougher this time because so many communities have learned of the economic benefit a prison can bring," Baze said. "Our efforts must be dedicated and diligent if we are to be successful."

Leaders believe that Snyder should be in the running given several clear advantages:

The TDC already has suitable land here, and the utilities are in place. In addition, a successful correctional officer training program is up and running, and superior medical facilities are poised to be integrated into the TDC system.

In addition, a wide cross-section of Snyder residents have demonstrated their support of TDC's decision to come to Snyder. Various TDC officials have commented on Snyder's "can-do" and progressive attitude over the past three years. (Information for this article was compiled by the public information subcommittee of the Snyder chamber's economic development committee.)

College to gain summer record

who has completed at least three college credit hours prior to the fall term will not be required to take the TASP test.

Regarding this, WTC Registrar Dan Dever commented Friday, "There's no doubt in my mind it's affecting our numbers. The high school counselors are really working on this thing."

Dever noted the largest enrollment figures at WTC involve government and history classes, courses which "pretty much fit into any degree plan."

The record enrollment has also prompted college officials to expand on the number of classes offered.

This will result in some summer school classes ending at 1 p.m. when traditionally all were concluded at noon.

On Monday, students may still enroll through the noon hour. The sign-up should be completed in the administration building.

Day classes will meet for six weeks, with the session ending July 7. Evening classes are scheduled for nine weeks and will end on July 28.

There will be no classes on Fridays through the summer but classes will meet on July 4.

The King of Morocco claims he is being overtaxed

PASO ROBLES, Calif. (AP) — The King of Morocco claims he's overtaxed. King Hassan II is appealing a recent property tax assessment on his sprawling central California ranch 175 miles northwest of Los Angeles. The monarch owns more than 16,000 acres of ranchland with an assessed value of nearly $3.7 million. But the king's lawyer said Thursday the property was only worth about half that much.

In eight days, James Garvin has aspirations of becoming the state's top grocery bagger.

Garvin, who has worked as a stocker and sacker at Lawrence IGA for the past two years, will represent his store in the state bagging contest to be held June 12 in Dallas. The upcoming competition is being sponsored by the Texas Retail Grocers Association and will be held in conjunction with its annual convention and trade show.

To qualify for state competition, Garvin had to beat out fellow employees from the Snyder store and staffers from the Sweetwater IGA market. Both are owned by Jack Lawrence.

On April 25, some 25 employees of the Snyder store competed in the in-store contest. All store personnel were eligible for this contest, including baggers, checkers and management. Five winners were picked and the top three participated in the bagging contest against three people from the Sweetwater store. That contest was held last month.

Garvin won that contest. Four judges observed each participant and the contest was held during regular working hours. The Snyder people held two practice sessions prior to the May contest.

Two registers were set up with the same groceries positioned in the same place and contestants were judged according to speed, weight (bags have to be under 16 pounds), how groceries were balanced in the bags, how perishables and glass items were packed and whether crushables were stacked on top of each bag of groceries; style, attitude and appearance.

Prior to beginning, Garvin said, he always asks the judge who is timing him to give him a five second warning. After that he takes a deep breath and begins.

"It's more of a mind game than anything else," he explained. "But skill is still involved."

To prepare for the big day on June 12, Garvin said he has been working with C.R. Perez, assistant manager, who serves as his coach.

Since Garvin will be competing against the finest baggers in the state, he said he will be happy to just place. A trip to the national contest to be held later this year will earn someone a first place trophy and a check for $1,000.

The contest is open to everyone, including women, and last year's national winner was a girl, Garvin said.

Garvin said he entered "partly from curiosity" and because "he wanted to try something new. "I chose to do this for the betterment of the Snyder store and Sammy Hancock, manager."

Garvin, who graduated Tuesday night from Snyder High School, was a DECA and DE student who was in school some 15½ hours each week while working some 30-35 hours each week at the store.

Once the competition is behind him—regardless of the results—he said he would like to continue working at IGA. He said he also will consider taking some kind of an auto body or auto mechanics class some day.

Garvin is the son of Glenn and Flossie Garvin. He lettered in basketball in his sophomore year and played two years of football, three years of basketball and two years of track.

ON TO STATE — James Garvin, who has worked at Lawrence IGA for the past two years, will compete in a state bagging contest June 12 in Dallas. The event is being sponsored by the Texas Retail Grocers Association. Garvin won the right to the Dallas trip by winning both the local in-store competition and the competition between the local store and the Sweetwater IGA. Contestants are judged according to speed, proper bagging technique, number of bags used, distribution of weight between bags, style, attitude and appearance. (SDN Staff Photo)

Whimsy makes a bright brunch

NEW YORK (AP) — Martha Stewart, author and authority on entertaining in the home, advocates using collectible china to create an inviting table.

For a brunch, which she describes as "a perfect way to entertain informally," she suggests a table of unusual china or pottery, one-of-a-kind glassware, mix-and-match flatware. "Different styles, patterns and shapes play off each other well if color and size coordinate," she says.

Stewart, a member of the Great Entertainers Council formed by Champagne Perrier-Jouet four years ago as a source of information on entertaining styles and trends, also offers these suggestions:

— Fresh flowers, whether a single perfect bloom, a spray of daisies or a potted plant from the garden, are a must.

— Amusing salt and pepper shakers, or a trio of dainty pottery pitchers accent a brunch table wonderfully.

— Yellow, blue and green look especially good on a breakfast or luncheon table. Use brightly-hued cloth napkins or pretty dish towels; if buffet style, roll each guest's utensils in a napkin and tie with ribbon.

— Butter molds in interesting shapes add a special touch to the table and are a cinch to do ahead. Maple sugar butter is delicious on French toast.

— Make one or two special breads ahead of time and freeze them until the night before the party. Easier still, buy wonderful breads to freeze.

— Make the presentation beautiful; small details bring style to even the simplest fare. Carefully peel 4-minute eggs and place on wedges of toast; garnish French toast with a twist of sliced orange; serve creamy cafe au lait for a special treat.

Stewart, whose most recent book is "Quick Cook Menus," espouses entertaining at brunch because "you can have fun with a variety of dishes, you can do most of the preparation in advance and, best of all, it's less stressful than trying to entertain mid-week."

Home, sweet home

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Women have traditionally been keepers of the home — a position usually thought of as powerless.

However, at a recent conference on "Power" at the University of Rochester, a political scientist argued that the home can function as a center for economic activity, as a place of healing in times of sickness and as the place where procreation occurs.

"All of these things are central to human life and can therefore be seen as powerful," said Jean Elstain of Vanderbilt University. "It is only our society's values that have interpreted the home and women's role in it as a powerless position."

Former resident says vows

RICHARDSON — Denise Clark of Richardson, formerly of Snyder, became the bride of John Stufflebeam of Plano in double-ring ceremonies at 1:30 p.m. April 29 in The Castle at Canyon Creek. The Rev. Morris Sheats, pastor of Hillcrest Church of Dallas, officiated the vows.

Parents of the couple are Lindy and Carla Clark of Richardson, former Snyder residents, and Mrs. Ray Stufflebeam of Arkansas City, Kan.

The altar was decorated with arched, ivy-covered candelabra and matching prayer bench against a back-drop of off-white Austrian curtains. A lace-covered table held the unity candle and communion pieces. Pots of white azaleas and white jonquil on antique plant stands enhanced the altar area.

Jared Stufflebeam of Celina, nephew of the groom, and Gretchen Harper of Arkansas City, Kan., his niece, lit the candles.

Charles Swick on the piano and Vonda Piehl on the organ accompanied the ceremony and vocalists. "Holy Ground" was sung by Kerri Stufflebeam, the groom's niece. Glen Rich and Tamera Krause sang duets, "Our Love" and "Household of Faith." Rich also sang "Flesh of My Flesh."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of lace and organza with a sweetheart neckline accented by ruffled organza. Lace petals highlighted with pearls embellished the bodice and fitted lace sleeves ended in a point at the wrist accented by ruffled organza.

A flowing train cascaded from a dropped waist and was enhanced by lace petals and triple ruffles. The bride's veil was a double layer of fingertip lace and net styled with scalloped edges accented with lace petals. Her headpiece was of lace, Austrian crystal and loops of pearls.

A cascading bridal bouquet of multiple types of white orchids was accented with white Caribbean orchids, teal day lilies, aqua and white freesia, teal chrysanthemums, white stephanotis and baby's-breath. Streamers of teal and white lace and satin ribbons tied in love knots completed the bridal bouquet.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN STUFFLEBEAM

An antique English coin borrowed from Barbara Bigham of Snyder was worn in the bride's shoe.

Teresa Clark of Snyder, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Marie Clark of Snyder, sister-in-law of the bride, and Christy Stufflebeam of Plano, the groom's daughter.

Each attendant wore a tea-length gown of aqua, lace-covered satin with Basque waist. The bodice was designed with sweetheart neckline and puff sleeves. Aqua, lace-covered shoes completed the attire.

The attendants carried white lace fans adorned with aqua and teal lilies, freesia, chrysanthemums, and baby's-breath accented by teal and white lace and satin ribbons.

Stormy Clark of Snyder, the bride's niece, was flower girl. Ring bearer was Nickolas Clark of Snyder, the bride's nephew.

Delbert Stufflebeam of Celina, the groom's brother, was best man. Groomsmen were Stanley Clark of Snyder, the bride's brother, and Brad Stufflebeam of Plano, the groom's son.

Ushers were Carley Clark of Plano, the bride's nephew; Roburt Couch of Arkansas City, Kan., the groom's nephew; and Byron Stufflebeam of Plano, the groom's nephew.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with tails and white cummerbund and bow tie. Male members of the wedding party wore regular cut white tuxedos with turquoise cummerbunds and bow ties. Boutonnieres were aqua orchids accented with freesia.

Kelly Johnston of Colorado Springs, Colo., registered guests at an antique hutch decorated with the bride's toss bouquet and a framed copy of "Marriage Prayer."

A reception followed the ceremony with the bride's table covered in white lace. The wedding cake centered the table which also held the attendants' fans and a small, mother-of-pearl Bible from Jerusalem given to the bride by her grandmother, the late Opal von Roeder Williams. The table stood in front of a mirror surrounded by off-white valance and drapes.

A white-draped serpentine table held large platters of fruits, meats and cheeses with chocolate fondue. A shrimp dip was sculptured in the couple's monogram and was surrounded by crackers.

Large, round guest tables were draped in off-white with centerpieces of white azaleas and white jonquil.

Carolyn Stufflebeam of Celina, sister-in-law of the groom, and Steffany Couch of Arkansas City, Kan., his niece, served.

Piano music of love songs and worship choruses were provided during the reception by Sam Germany of Duncanville.

Following a trip to Florida and a Caribbean cruise, the couple is at home in Plano.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and Texas Tech University. She is currently employed as a travel agent at Allied Travel in Richardson.

The groom is a graduate of the University of Texas at Dallas and is employed with Texas Instruments.

BETTER SUNSCREENS
Sunscreen lotions that protect the skin from excessive ultra violet radiation are rated with an SPF (sun protection factor) number. Recently SPF 22 was the strongest available. However, to protect those exceptionally fair-skinned or intolerant of the sun, SPF values up to 35 are offered. Some super sunscreens are "waterproof" as well, and retain their SPF value for 80 minutes in water.

CONTROL BAGWORMS NOW

Bagworms are one of the major pests of junipers and other trees and shrubs in Texas. Spring hatch began in early May on the South Plains this year. Hatching is usually completed in about three weeks. Insecticide control is most effective in late May and early June when the bagworms are small.

In the spring, bagworm larvae emerge from hatching eggs inside last year's bags and begin feeding on leaves. They soon begin to construct their own protective bag of silk, twigs and leaves, making them camouflaged and hard to see. As the larvae and their bags continue to grow, control becomes more difficult.

Bagworms feed throughout the summer months, building their bags until the bags are about 1 1/2 inches long. In the fall, the bagworms become adults, mate and the females lay eggs inside their bags. They then overwinter in these bags in trees and shrubs. Each overwintering female bag on a tree contains from 500 to 1500 eggs.

Since the bagworm only completes one generation a year and spreads very slowly from plant to plant, picking the bags off infested plants in the winter will help a lot toward controlling this pest. But if bagworms were present on the plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good that an insecticide will be needed this spring.

Insecticides which can be used to control bagworms include Sevin, Dursban, Diazinon, Malathion, Dyllox and Orthene. The biological insecticide Bacillus Thuringiensis can also be used. To obtain effective control, thorough coverage of the foliage is important. The addition of a small amount of liquid soap or surfactant to the spray solution will improve control because it helps adhere the insecticide to the treated trees and shrubs. Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides.

FEATURED THIS WEEK GAMES CRIMINALS PLAY. By Bud Allen.

This practical volume describes a series of steps used by criminals to manipulate citizens out of their savings, by prisoners to manipulate prison staff, causing police and correctional officers to break the law. It is a process so subtle that victims rarely realize what is happening until it is too late. In the free society, set-ups have reached pandemic proportions. Everyone should be aware of how easily one can prevent his or her own victimization and the victimization of others. When this is accomplished, the danger will vanish, and so will the "Games Criminals Play."

With the end of school, we can unofficially declare that it is summer. This is the time of year we look forward to having our Summer Reading Program. It is being sponsored by McDonald's this year, and we are anticipating a wonderful response.

Any school age child may sign up for the program if they have completed any of the grades K-6. Children need to come to the Scurry County Library to join the reading program. Sign-ups begin Monday and will continue throughout the summer.

The program will be different in some aspects this year, but we know that the children will enjoy coming on Thursdays for the activities. During the course of the program, we are fortunate to have some WTC drama students aid in storytelling. There will be a pet show this year, as well as puppet shows. Watch the Snyder Daily News for information on each week's activities.

There will be incentives given for children reading a certain number of books, culminating in a grand prize drawing made up of all the children who have read at least 15 books. McDonald's is donating a bicycle for the lucky winner of the grand prize drawing.

Parents, we look forward to working with your children this summer, and encourage you to bring them to the library during the long, hot, boring days of summer.

Couple joined in matrimony

HERMLEIGH Terri Lee

Dever and Ricky Dale Williams were united in matrimony at 6:30 p.m. April 1 in the First Baptist Church of Hermleigh. Roscie Williams Jr., father of the groom, officiated the double-ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Dever Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Roscie Williams Jr.

A western motif was carried throughout the wedding with vows repeated before a brass arch decorated with greenery and tiny, red roses. Wide, red-checked gingham ribbon and bows ran through the metal work and ended in a big bow over red straw ribbon at the top. Heart-shaped candelabra trimmed in greenery and red roses flanked the altar. Red straw ribbon bows centered the hearts. Bales of hay against the wall held boots and a cowboy hat. Red carpet complemented the decor.

Candlelighters were Dwayne Riggs of Colorado City, nephew of the groom, and Jenny Bowlin of Snyder, niece of the bride.

Vocalists for the occasion were Kathy Riggs of Colorado City, Nelson Eckert of Hermleigh, Ricky Jo Martain of Snyder, Julie Culp of Abilene, and the church choir. Bobbie Culp provided piano accompaniment.

Pieces chosen were "In His Time," "The Lord's Prayer," "Surround Me with Love," "Forever Love," and "Tell the World that I'm a Christian."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in white satin trimmed in white lace. The fitted bodice came to a dropped point in front and was trimmed in lace and pearls. The full skirt swept to a lace-trimmed train and featured satin bows around the skirt.

The bride's double-layer veil of net fastened to a crown of white pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of white silk flowers sprinkled with tiny, red silk flowers and finished with white ribbon streamers.

The bride wore birth year pennies in her shoes and her gown was new. For something borrowed, she carried a lace Bible belonging to Kathy Reynolds. For something old, she wore her mother's pearl earrings which matched a pearl necklace given by her parents. A blue garter completed tradition.

Matron of honor was Sharon Bowlin of Snyder, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Kathy Kelley of Roscoe, also her sister; and sisters-in-law Geanene Dever of San Angelo and Martha Dever of Snyder. They wore red satin tea-length dresses and each carried a red rose.

Twin sisters, Janet and Lori Eckert, nieces of the groom, were flowers girls. They also wore red satin dresses.

Twin brothers, Justin and Dustin Dever, nephews of the bride, were ring bearers. They wore grey Wranglers with white shirt and red ties.

All the nieces and nephews of the couple followed the double ring bearers and double flower girls in the procession. As they reached the front, they divided into girls and boys on the bride's and groom's sides and sat on hay bales for the ceremony.

F.R. "Bear" Williams served as best man. Groomsmen were Terry Williams, Danny Williams, and Randy Williams. Ushers for the event were Henry Dever, brother of the bride; Jerry "Bo"

Dever of San Angelo, her brother; Bill Kelley of Roscoe, her brother-in-law; and Dwayne Riggs of Colorado City, brother-in-law of the groom.

The male attendants were attired in grey Wranglers, white shirts, and red ties.

Julie Williams, cousin of the groom, registered guests at a white table trimmed in red bandanas and centered with a red rose.

A reception in the Hermleigh Community Center followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered in blue denim trimmed with red bandanas. A white boot filled with red and white roses centered the table and punch was served from a bowl belonging to Ora Whithurst, the bride's grandmother. A three-tiered white cake was decorated in red roses and topped with a western bride and groom figurine.

Rexanne and Katrina Reynolds of Hermleigh served.

The groom's table was trimmed in red bandanas and featured a horseshoe-shaped chocolate cake. Tractors and miniature hay bales decorated the table. Carlene Lee and Darlene Eckert, sisters of the groom, served.

Following a honeymoon trip to Copper Mountain Resort, Colo., the couple is at home in Hermleigh where the groom is involved in farming.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and Western Texas College. She is employed with Eckerl Drug in Snyder.

The groom is also a SHS graduate and attended Western Texas College. He is presently attending West Texas Baptist Institute.

MONEY AND SECOND MARRIAGES

Conflicts of financial interest almost always occur in a second marriage when former spouses and children are involved. The impact is usually felt when children have special needs not provided by the usual child support monies, such as braces, glasses or winter clothing.

Conflict over money in step-families can be explosive and threatening unless obligations are understood and accepted from the outset. Two emotional pitfalls can lead to financial tension in a second marriage: resentment of monthly obligations to make child support payments, and resentment of the high cost of rearing children from birth to 18 years. Whether the children are yours or not, providing for them is part of the responsibility and reality of a second marriage.

Dealing with your spouse's or your own "past life" in a new marriage can be difficult at times. The less you dwell on and resist the expenses stemming from a previous marriage, the better off you'll be.

If you find it hard to put the past in its place, consider joining a self-help group or support group where members are experiencing similar feelings and situations.

The Stepfamily Association of America in Baltimore is one such organization. Many communities have local affiliates of this group.

Because parenting is a lifelong obligation no matter who lives under whose roof, children need money and care. You will want to provide day-to-day care, but don't forget to provide for your children and current spouse in an up-to-date will and adequate insurance. The more complicated the family situation is, the more likely money matters will be complicated, too. Families may deal us a measure of pain, but they also provide a bounty of pleasure and pride.

New frozen yogurt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Honey Hill Farms Premium Frozen Yogurt, now being introduced in 12 Western states, is a low-fat yogurt that is designed to rival premium ice cream in flavor and texture.

The seven introductory flavors are Chocolate Thunder, Peach Orchard, Vanilla Velvet, White Almond Chocolate, Cookie Jar, Strawberry Avalanche and Vanilla Chocolate Hunk. Company officials say the product contains two-thirds less fat and one-third less calories than premium ice cream.

"This is a breakthrough in both flavor and texture for frozen yogurt," says Fred DiCosola, president and founder of Honey Hill Farms in Concord, Calif. "We intend to revolutionize the public's notion of frozen yogurt."

The product is being introduced in Ariz., Calif., Colo., Idaho, Mont., Nev., N.M., Ore., Utah, Wash. and Wyo.

Hold-up damages

By James Jacoby

A little learning is a dangerous thing, we've been told. This certainly proved to be true for South in today's deal. When North-South stopped in two no-trump, West had three choices for his opening lead. Finally, although it was right into the suit bid by South, he decided on what seemed to be a safe queen of diamonds. When East signaled encouragement with the nine of diamonds, declarer South showed that he had been reading some bridge books — he allowed West to hold the trick. Now I will not argue with the fact that when a defender's opening lead against no-trump is from an honor sequence, and his partner plays an encouraging card, invariably that suit is continued if declarer holds up winning the trick. In this instance, however, West exhibited his contrary tendencies by switching to the king of hearts.

That lead was even more delightful to East, who happily flagged the eight of hearts. South ducked, and the queen of hearts was continued. Declarer won the trick and played clubs. East took the ace and cashed four more heart tricks to set the contract two tricks.

It was a simple little deal, but it demonstrated an important lesson for declarer: Do not hold up winning a trick when a switch by the defenders to another suit will be disastrous for you. Another rule would also work — think before playing, not vice versa.

Black makes comeback in neutral decorating

By BARBARA MAYER AP Newsfeatures

All good things come back around, and what's back is black.

A home furnishings trade newspaper reports that black has become a best seller for lifestyle furniture makers. At least four furniture companies have recently added black pieces to their lines.

Bedroom ensembles, sheets and towels in black alone or with white, cream and other colors were dominant at the recent domestic market in New York. Among companies showing new patterns were J.P. Stevens and Wamsutta.

Jack Toolan, vice president of merchandising for sheets and bedroom products for Stevens, says that black as a primary and an accent color has never been stronger.

After a slow start several years ago, several domestic patterns emphasizing black have emerged as best sellers. Toolan adds that the look is available in various styles and price ranges.

Though it started several years ago as a pricey contemporary style, new this season is a traditional French toile pattern in black and white, which the company is selling to discount stores.

Designers offer several reasons for the renewed vigor of black. They include its versatility in both traditional and contemporary design. Like white, the neutral coordinates very well with any color, yet it's more stylish than white.

"It's a sophisticated look. Its other main advantage is that virtually any color looks great with it. Red is smashing; so is green and yellow," says Bob Cappel, director of styling for Walltex wallcoverings.

"A black and white floor or wall treatment has a way of lending its impact to whatever else you put in the room," says Sandy Ceppos, a decorator in New York and Connecticut. Furthermore, Ceppos says, it is strong enough to work well with bold colors that might otherwise overpower a room.

New York designer Stanley Hura says that black as an accent color has a good effect in traditional rooms, even though it is more likely to be associated with modern decor.

Gordon Micunis, a Stamford, Conn., decorator, says black and white is a classic art deco color scheme, and art deco has been enjoying a higher profile lately. The scheme was also an important look in the 1950s, and this period is yet another decorating vein being mined these days.

Where should you use black and white to good advantage? Cappel says that black and white wallcoverings are most popular in bathrooms. "It is neutral but still strong and vibrant," he says, "and you can change the look inexpensively by varying the towels, bathmats and accessories."

Hura suggests a black and white checkerboard floor as an accent in a room with American Shaker furniture. For a kitchen, the same floor with black wrought iron accessories and black-fronted major appliances is crisp and distinctive. Though expensive, black granite kitchen counters are very stylish.

As an accent in the bathroom, black towels and a shower curtain shine. In a neoclassical living room or dining room, black upholstery or black and white striped fabrics and black marble table tops are outstanding. With bleached and pickled woods and light pine, black looks good.

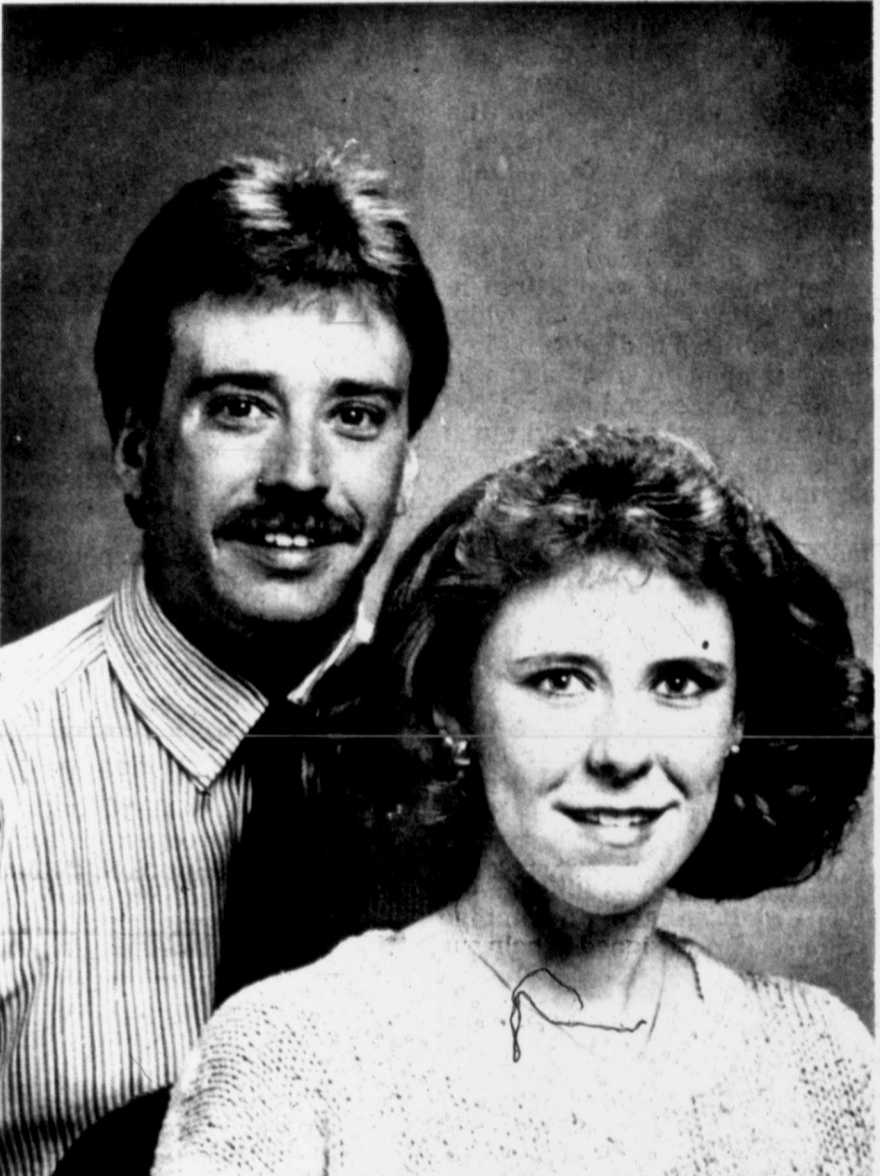

Micunis uses black or black and white schemes in kitchens, entryways and home offices. He also likes black and white bathrooms. With a warm pink light, it flatters the skin tone.

When using black and white, be sure to bring in at least one other color element — gray or a shiny surface like chrome or brass, a warm color like pink or red.

Any pitfalls to beware? Yes, especially if you have black lacquer furniture. A shiny surface will show every fingerprint plus smudges and dust. Low-luster surfaces minimize these drawbacks.

Which cheese freezes best? Generally, the semi-firm to firm cheeses such as Edam, Gouda, Cheddar, Swiss, Brick, Provolone, Gruyere, Romano or Parmesan. Cut in pieces weighing less than 1 pound and at least 1-inch thick. Wrap in plastic wrap, then freezer paper. When thawing, keep cheese in wrapper to prevent loss of flavor and moisture. Thaw slowly in the refrigerator.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jessica Anne, to Stephen Franklin Raatz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Raatz of Waco. Vows are planned at 7 p.m. Aug. 12 in the First United Methodist Church. (Private Photo)

Universal code for mate selections

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Sex differences in human mate selection are virtually universal and probably rooted in human evolutionary history, according to a worldwide study.

"Men worldwide place greater value on mates who are young and physically attractive. Women prefer mates who are somewhat older, have good financial prospects and are ambitious and industrious," says David M. Buss. "These basic differences were found in samples ranging from coast-dwelling Australians to urban Brazilians to rural Zulus in South Africa."

Buss is associate professor of psychology at the University of Michigan and director of the International Mate Selection Project, an international consortium of 50 scientists who carried out parallel studies.

Why the pervasiveness? It all has to do with reproduction, says Buss. A woman must have access to food and shelter for her offspring which "enhance the possibility that her children will survive." To reproduce, men must have access to fertile females, and, says Buss, youth and physical appearance provide the most apparent indicators of fertility.

A self-centered generation drives on

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

In many respects, the 1980s have been likened to the 1920s: another era of astonishingly conspicuous prosperity, with the "Me Generation" equally as self-centered as the "Last Generation." The new heroes are the yuppie investment bankers every bit as superficial and materialistic as any F. Scott Fitzgerald character.

I was surprised to learn the extent to which this yearning for opulence has affected the automobile industry. Many auto company executives now believe that any car costing less than $40,000 is merely "near luxury." True luxury cars are in the range of $100,000. "Real luxury" automobiles are targeted to cost above $200,000, and exotic sports cars now command prices of $300,000 and up. At least three companies are developing "super-exotic" two-seaters with a price tag of nearly half a million dollars apiece.

It seems that today's discriminating buyer is purchasing far more than a simple and reliable means of traveling from point A to point B. Fancy cars mean wealth. This translates into power and prestige. Hence, as unbelievable as it seems to normal people, eager buyers are signing up on waiting lists for exotic cars. Ferrari, for example, is building only a few hundred of its new F40s (at $270,000); yet, the company has more than 1,000 orders. To a degree, we may be defined by what we drive.

The automobiles of the 1990s will probably offer glass roofs that darken in the sunlight, four-wheel drive, four-wheel steering, on-board navigation systems (so you will never get lost) and foam rubber tires (to prevent flats).

Of course, all this lavish consumption reflects the nation's value system, in which power and influence are paramount and making people do what you want is an obsession. We are titillated by and attracted to the comings and goings of the rich and famous; all the more so because with leveraged buyouts, wheeling and dealing on a vast scale and state lotteries, each of us is just this far from hitting it big. For those individuals who choose other methods, crime and drug trafficking allow fulfillment of the new American dream: He who dies with the most toys wins.

Not since the '20s has the public been caught up in such a money-making mania, the belief that we can make more with less. The avowed goal of many young people is to be rich, not simply comfortably off.

Unfortunately, doctors are not immune to this profanity. Like an infectious disease, it is catching.

We hear a lot these days about doctors' general perception that medical practice is no longer fun. Part of the reason, I suspect, is that generating income has become more important than generating health. The physicians I know who are happy with their profession — and, it seems, there are fewer and fewer of them — take delight in the challenges of medicine and in doing good. To them, the real rewards are not material.

However, society seems increasingly intent on corrupting and sabotaging this principle. Patients are more demanding and disgruntled. Regulations are becoming more arbitrary and intrusive. Good clinical judgment is falling on hard times, weakened by malpractice threats and fear of professional ruin.

I think that a medical renaissance is in order. However, such a rebirth is possible only if society is willing to reaffirm the intangible assets that historically drew men and women to the medical profession. Alas, decency and compassion are out of fashion; the concept of service is passe. The kind and caring family doctor is becoming an anachronism, superseded by the modern pragmatist whose success is measured by greenbacks, rather than by gratitude.

If you are alarmed about the changes you see in doctors' attitudes, remember that today's practitioners are members in good standing of the self-centered generation. No one ever said doctors weren't adaptable. Maybe that's the problem.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there any possible way to reverse a tubal ligation?

DEAR READER: Using a technique called microsurgery (a delicate operation under a microscope), a qualified gynecologist may be able to reverse a tubal ligation. Regardless of the length of time the tube has been tied, it is astonishing how skillful surgeons are at correcting this method of sterilization. Microsurgery has also been successful in reversing male tubal ligation (vasectomy). Despite the successes in reversing it, remember that tubal ligation is something that should be undertaken only if you are sure you want to be sterilized. To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach To Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My doctors say I might have had a TIA. Would you please explain what this is and what can be done to prevent it from happening again?

DEAR READER: When parts of the brain are deprived of oxygen, certain neurological disorders appear, depending on which portions of the brain are involved. The oxygen deprivation often occurs because a small blood clot breaks away from the lining of an artery and is carried to the head, causing an interruption of blood flow and malfunction of brain tissue. If this malfunction is more or less permanent, doctors diagnose a stroke. If the disorder lasts less than a day or two, it is called a transient ischemic attack, or TIA, meaning that a temporary stroke-like affliction developed and then cleared.

In both cases, the presumed culprit is a blood clot. No one knows with certainty why, in one instance, the damage is irreparable and, in the other instance, it is transient. Experts do know that when a blood clot forms inappropriately in the body, a complex chemical reaction is activated, resulting in the release of naturally occurring anti-coagulants to break down the clot. Presumably, with stroke, the anti-coagulants are insufficient to dissolve the clot, whereas in TIA, the clot is dissolved and normal brain function returns.

Both strokes and TIAs produce a wide array of nerve disorders; these range from minor weakness, difficulty speaking and numbness of a body part to massive injury, including stroke-induced coma and death.

Because strokes are very serious, patients usually require extensive rehabilitation in order to regain independence. Medicine (to control high blood pressure and assist circulation) or surgery (to prevent further clots from breaking off and causing damage) may be necessary.

On the other hand, TIAs are usually viewed as "warnings"; they herald the future development of a stroke. Therefore, treatment frequently involves the use of anti-coagulant drugs, such as aspirin or Coumadin, to prevent the formation of new clots.

The general treatment of TIAs includes scrupulous control of underlying diseases (such as hypertension and diabetes), aspirin therapy and close medical monitoring. When multiple TIAs occur, doctors may consider performing tests, such as arteriography, in an attempt to define where the clots are originating and whether the situation can be corrected before a stroke occurs.

Crackdown on loan defaults are praised

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Education Department crackdown on schools with soaring loan default rates is drawing praise from lawmakers and passing marks even from the trade schools that will be most affected by the more stringent policies.

Schools turning out extremely high percentages of delinquent borrowers will face an escalating series of corrective and punitive actions under new regulations announced Thursday by Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos.

Cavazos also said his department will take administrative steps and submit a package of legislative proposals to Congress as part of a strategy to ease the default problem, which is expected to cost taxpayers $1.8 billion this fiscal year.

"There are some unscrupulous and uncaring institutions out there who are taking advantage of a program designed to help our students, not financially shackle them," Cavazos said. He said such schools "promise to educate but deliver only a debt."

The prime targets of the crackdown are for-profit vocational schools which have an average default rate of 40 percent, compared to 20 percent for community colleges.

"Alright, where did you hide my damn hairbrush?"
 "Any time something's out of place, you think I did it."
 "That's because I know who's the logical one in the family. I always put the hairbrush back in the same place. That way, early in the morning, when I'm zooming around to get ready, late for work as usual, I'll know exactly where it is. Now, where did you put it?"
 "I haven't touched it. I have no idea where it is and I have to get ready myself. Leave me alone."
 "Women."
 "What's THAT supposed to mean?"
 "That means that as a group, you never seem to accept responsibility for your actions. You refuse to admit guilt, so you choose to avoid the issue."
 "Look. I haven't seen your stupid hairbrush. And I might add, MEN. You've all got yourself so puffed up thinking you're the head of the household that you can't believe you actually make mistakes."
 "What does being head of the household have to do with a hairbrush?"
 "You see, you just said it."

SDN Opinion Page

Columns-Cartoons-Look Back-Letters-Quotables

"Said what?"
 "That you're head of the household."
 "I am head of the household."
 "What makes you think that? Has it occurred to you that you may just be a part of the household?"
 "Look, I'm the tallest, I'm the oldest and I've got the deepest voice. That makes me officially ranked as the head guy around these parts."
 "And you're always right?"
 "No, I'm not always right. But some things I try to get right, and the bathroom in the morning is one of them."
 "Great. You get 'A' marks in bathroom."
 "I'm talking about having things right in the morning. The hairbrush is the obvious example. Next, you need to have your toothbrush in the holder right there; your shaver, pre-shave and after-shave in the middle right drawer here; and the toothpaste tube in the wide center drawer here. About the toothpaste tube, you need to have it rolled up from the bottom and not squeezed in the middle, another thing that drives me crazy about women."

"What good is all of that doing you?"
 "I can't believe you can ask that. Because the first few minutes of the day set the pace. When you've got to be organized all day long, how can you start out in a sweat looking for your dadgum hairbrush? It makes the rest of the day seem like chaos."
 "My days go fine."
 "Sure, you say. But it's attention to detail that greases the wheel. I think it's the basic difference between men and women. Dotting the i's and crossing the t's. Organization."
 "That's your side. Who cares about your facts and your details? I only care if it works. You squeeze the toothpaste tube, toothpaste comes out. Middle, end or top."
 "Humprff."
 "I'm also not through. Do you know why we 'women,' as you call us, wind up squeezing that toothpaste tube in the middle? We're holding it in our hand when you 'men' walk in with another question like 'what have you done with my hairbrush,' and our hand involuntarily clutches the thing in the middle."
 "You waste a lot of toothpaste when you do that, you know."

Country Life By Deanie Francis Mills

When we first bought this place 10 years ago, young marrieds with one baby and one on the way, funds were understandably short. One of the ways I decorated the living room was to take a poster which was made with yellowed parchment-look paper, burn the edges of it and thumbtack it to the paneled wall. The poster carried a written message. Later, I took a small slice of mesquite wood, sanded, varnished it and glued to it a hawk feather; a rattle snake rattle; a strand of antique, rusted barbed wire; and a cotton boll. I hung this arrangement in the center of the poster. A swag lamp highlights the poster with a soft amber glow.

Time passed. Children grew. Our finances improved somewhat. We were able to buy a painting, and our dear friend Mike Thornton made us a gift of another. My mother did us a beautiful needlepoint American-Indian design of a longhorn, two buffalo and colorful geometric patterns and had it handsomely framed. So our walls became decorated with lovely things, but the poster has remained.

People have visited our home more than once and commented on the things in it, but in all those years, only one person has ever taken the time to read the message on that poster: Ken Henderson of Amarillo, a white-water raftsman and desert-lover. Only he understood.

And sometime within the past decade, astronauts aboard the space shuttle took pictures from space of the burning of the great rain forests of South America. Filthy medical wastes washed ashore on Northeast American beaches. A barge overloaded with one city's garbage wandered from port to port across an ocean and back, looking for room to unload its cargo. An entire community was moved out of an area known as "Love Canal" so that toxic poisons could be cleaned up from those people's back yards and basements.

And still nobody bothers to read the message:

"The Great Chief in Washington sends word that he wishes to buy our land. How can you buy or sell the sky—the warmth of the land? The idea is strange to us. Yet we do not own the freshness of the air of the sparkle of the water. How can you buy them from us? Every part of the earth is sacred to my people.

"We know that white man does not understand our ways. One portion of the land is the same to him as the next, for he is a stranger who comes in the night and takes from the land whatever he needs. The earth is not his brother but his enemy, and when he has conquered it, he moves on. He leaves his father's graves and his children's birthright is forgotten.

"There is no quiet place in the white man's cities. No place to hear the leaves of spring, or the rustle of insect wings. But perhaps because I am a savage and do not understand—the clatter only seems to insult the years. And what is there to life if a man cannot hear the lovely cry of the whippoorwill or the arguments of the frog around the pond at night?"

"The whites too, shall pass—perhaps sooner than other tribes. Continue to contaminate your bed and you will one night suffocate in your own waste. When the buffalo are all slaughtered, the wild horses all tamed, the secret corners of the forest heavy with the scent of many men and the view of the ripe hills blotted by talking wires...Where is the thicket? Gone. Where is the eagle? Gone. And what is it to say goodbye to the swift and the hunt, the end of living and the beginning of survival."

—Chief Seattle to President Franklin Pierce, 1855.

SDN Week in Review

SUNDAY May 28

The up and down cycle for unemployment in Scurry County this year went "up" during April, according to figures reported Sunday by the Texas Employment Commission.

The TEC listed the county's unemployment at 6.7 percent, up from March's figure of 5.9 percent.

The employment figure was 8,483 persons with jobs, compared to 8,504 the previous month.

The repaving of the Towle Park Road, a project now underway and expected to be completed in approximately two weeks, is an historic "first" of sorts as it marks the first time the roadway's base has been reworked since its construction, it was reported Sunday.

The park was opened in 1952, making the Towle Park Road approximately 37 years old.

County crews began the project Monday and had laid down a caliche surface by Friday to allow traffic in the park during the Memorial Day weekend.

Three state penitentiary inmates and a Texas Department of Corrections supervisor from Huntsville are cleaning up and otherwise preparing the Industrial Building in northern Snyder for TDC officials who plan to begin occupying it in mid-June, it was reported Sunday.

MONDAY May 29

For the second Memorial Day weekend in a row, Lake J.B. Thomas has recorded a drowning victim, it was reported Monday.

The body of 19-year-old Eddie James Young of Ira was recovered by lake officials around 10 p.m. Sunday. Dragging operations had begun shortly after 8:15 p.m. and the time of death is now guessed at 7:45 p.m., according to Lake Superintendent Richard Halfmann.

Young drowned as he attempted to swim to safety after an inflatable raft approximately 60 to 70 yards off shore was blown away in high winds.

A Scurry County family that had been in Lubbock to attend a soccer tournament returned home Sunday to find their China Grove Rd. home had been ransacked by burglars, it was reported Monday.

A sheriff's deputy said the home of Jay and Donna Roemisch, five miles south of Snyder near the China Grove Rd.-U.S. 84 intersection, was entered when a utility room door was forced open.

TUESDAY May 30

Snyder school board members Tuesday directed school officials to consider combining two administrative-level positions—the district's testing coordinator and curriculum specialist—into one next school year, a switch which would require Snyder ISD to contract with an outside source for its "second appraisal" of teachers.

Currently, these second appraisals, which apply toward career ladder selection, are part of the responsibilities of both the district's testing coordinator, a post held by Bobbie Box, who will retire this year, and the curriculum specialist, held by Janet Brown.

One year after his employment and a promise to "make Snyder competitive" once again in all athletic events, David Baugh, head coach and athletic director, profiled areas he feels the district needs to change in order to achieve this goal.

Baugh offered his comments and requests to the school board during a Tuesday afternoon work session. His suggestions ranged from track to tennis and ended with the sport Baugh was employed to coach, football.

Some 54 Snyder High School seniors, which represents almost one-third of the entire graduating class, were announced as scholarship recipients Tuesday at commencement-baccalaureate exercises in Scurry County Coliseum.

Speaker at the event was Dr. Wylie E. (Buff) Hearn, minister of First United Methodist Church here.

WEDNESDAY May 31

Service pins were presented to 31 Snyder ISD staffers Wednesday on the final in-service day of the 1988-89 school year.

Three individuals were rewarded for 35-years service, to include retiring high school teacher Martha Schiebel. Also receiving 35-year pins were Dora Blakey, sixth grade instructor at East; and Vestal Maner, first grade teacher at Stanfield.

In addition, seven staffers received 30-year pins; two earned 25-year pins; five were awarded 20-year pins; and 14 were given 10-year pins.

THURSDAY June 1

A storm system pounded the Fluvanna area just after 6 p.m. Thursday, but apparently dissipated in intensity as it traveled southward across Scurry County.

Rainfall amounts ranged from a reported 4.8 inches near Fluvanna to .25 of an inch at Ira. Snyder's official rain tally was .76 of an inch.

From the Thursday evening storm, hail classified as golf-ball size and larger was reported in and around Fluvanna.

FRIDAY June 2

Western Texas College officials say they expect the institution's state funding to increase over the next two-year funding cycle, but that the additional monies will not be of a significant amount, it was reported Friday.

In net figures, WTC is expected to receive approximately $46,000 more each year of the two-year cycle.

The increase is not considered substantial since each penny on the local property tax rate at the college generates in excess of $990,000.

Something you've always wanted but felt you could never afford might be within your reach in the year ahead. Ironically, the ways and means may be made available in a rather easy fashion. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your assertiveness will be tuned to a higher level today, but you'll know how to mask your initiatives with charm and consideration. Those with whom you'll be involved won't be offended. Gemini, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your good deeds will be more effective and meaningful today if you help where you can without calling attention to what you are doing. Sooner or later others will learn of what you did.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Friends will react warmly toward you today, especially members of the opposite gender, even though you are likely to be equally popular with both sexes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions might be a bit unusual and that which appears to be the greatest challenge or the most difficult to achieve could, in actuality, turn out to be the easiest for you to accomplish.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you can profit from studying the experiences of a person you admire. What works for this person will also work for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) More benefits are likely to be derived today from situations that have been inaugurated by others rather than from your own spade work. Cash in on this unique trend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Finding compatible companions to pal around with should be easy for you today, because your strong suit is your ability to get along with people from all walks of life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Tasks that challenge your imagination and creativity are likely to be the ones you'll enjoy the most today. Equally important among these will also be ones you'll do the best.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Any flirtations on your part could be taken to heart by the object of your intentions today, so be careful not to fire loving glances at a broad array of targets.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be dismayed if everything doesn't go to your liking early in the day, because there could be a major shift in conditions when afternoon ushers in the good times.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be reluctant to use terms of endearment in your most meaningful relationships today. People who already care for you will be further inspired by your comments.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The ways and means to acquire something a trifle luxurious that you've been wanting looks like it can be worked out at this time. Hold good thoughts.

In the year ahead it looks like you will have a number of important involvements, but the achievement of one goal will overshadow the rest. It will be a very ambitious undertaking.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your sales resistance could be at a rather low ebb today, so stay away from stores that have enticing, expensive merchandise presented by hard-to-resist salespeople. Major changes are ahead for Gemini in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In your dealings with your mate today, it's going to be up to you to try to keep everything on the lighter side. Your mate might be much more serious minded than usual.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There are indications you might neglect some duties or responsibilities today just because they are tough. What you leave undone could be even harder to do later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Give someone you know only casually a chance for redemption in your eyes instead of judging this person on one unpleasant incident. Everybody occasionally has a bad day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you are in a position of authority, be very careful how you treat subordinates today. If your methods are too harsh or demanding, they could incite rebellion in the ranks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your attitude might be a trifle too negative early in the day and this could make things more difficult on you than need be. Fortunately, your outlook should brighten by late afternoon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be disappointed if you expect others to take care of your obligations today, be they financial or social. That which is of your own making may have to be attended to by you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Once you make a decision today, stick to it and try to do the very best that you can. If you are indecisive, you'll just sway back and forth and never get anything done.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you might feel you are being put upon by others. This may be true, but chances are the people you'll be helping will be those who helped you previously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You might get involved with someone today who is a friend of an individual whose assistance you presently require. Even though you might not like this person, try to be friendly and charming.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might be subjected to more domestic responsibilities than usual today. Family members with problems will be looking to you to sort things out.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to associate with people your age or younger today, because this is one of those times when things might not go too well for you in the company of elders.

STANFIELD PLAY—Stanfield second graders in JoAnn Littlepage's class performed a program of poems and songs during the last week of school. Former convict receives life term

HOUSTON (AP) — A judge sentenced an ex-convict to return to prison for life for beating and sexually assaulting a 4-year-old boy and forcing him to drink whiskey.

State District Judge Carl Walker Jr. also imposed a $10,000 fine Thursday on Jack Earnest McKinney, 26, for an attack on the son of McKinney's live-in girlfriend.

Despite the life term, McKinney may become eligible for parole in less than 10 years.

The beating occurred July 22 at an apartment in Kingwood where McKinney lived with the mother and her children. The mother was running errands when her son was attacked, testimony showed.

Emergency room workers at Northeast Medical Center said the boy was near death when he arrived there early July 23.

Defense attorney Danny Easterling, who filed notice of appeal, argued in McKinney's favor that the boy has recovered physically and is improving psychologically.

TERESA TIPPING

Tipping attends gym competition

Teresa Tipping, a Berkner High School senior in Richardson and one of four girls representing Texas on the national team, attended the National High School Gymnastic Championships in Chicago Memorial Day weekend.

Teresa is the granddaughter of Mr. L.D. Rutledge of Snyder. Her parents, Eldon and Sharon Tipping, are both graduates of Snyder High School.

Ranked in the top five percent of her senior class, Teresa has accepted a four year scholarship to Oklahoma University where she will train and compete in Becky Bewick's gymnastics program.

She was one of three entering freshmen nationwide to receive the honor.

In high school, Teresa was selected Most Valuable Player in gymnastics her junior and senior years. She also competed for Beckner's diving team.

Her future plans include coaching gymnastics.

Actor returns for celebration

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Actor Barry Corbin is returning to his native West Texas to participate in this weekend's National Cowboy Symposium and Celebration.

"I have a strong interest in all of this," he said. "I love to listen to the cowboy poetry. Anybody that grew up here — especially those that leave — tends to enjoy this type of poetry and songs. Those that stay here tend to forget its importance."

Although cowboy poetry only recently is coming to the attention of the general public, Corbin said he doesn't think the poetry and the music of the cowboy has ever diminished. "Its popularity slows down a bit, and then, about every five years, we have a revival," he said.

"People like Waddie Mitchell are getting some national play on the Johnny Carson show, and other people are beginning to know of it. Still, it's not as well known as it could be."

More than 100 poets, musicians, singers, storytellers, panel members and presenters of scholarly papers are scheduled to take part in the event at Texas Tech University today through Sunday.

The symposium also will include exhibits and activities such as a book fair, arts and crafts, music, and cutting and roping.

The cowboy poetry and songs recount area history, Corbin said. "Whenever I tell people that I'm going to Lubbock, the first thing they think of is Buddy Holly. The second thing is cowboys," said Corbin.

Corbin's interest in the West is reflected in characters he has played, including Roscoe in "Lonesome Dove," Uncle Bob in "Urban Cowboy," a Texas high roller in "Any Which Way You Can," and a councilman in "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas."

"I'm hoping Western movies will make a comeback, but I'm not sure one project will bring them back. However, Lonesome Dove was the highest-rated miniseries in five years," he said. Hollywood has a mix of real cowboys and want-to-be cowboys, the actor said. "Some Hollywood cowboys are pretty close to the real thing. A lot of the wranglers and stuntmen have a ranch background," Corbin said.

"Most of the actors want to be cowboys, making the wranglers' job harder because they have to keep the actors from killing themselves."

Through the years, Hollywood has been interested in the myth of the cowboy, the Sherman Oaks, Calif., resident said. "If they made a movie about the real life of a cowboy, it would be a 12-hour movie and nothing would happen, which is why we have cowboy poetry," he said.

Corbin's two sons, James, 10, and Chris, 6, enjoy watching Western movies "once in a while," he said, but they were not allowed to watch their father in "Lonesome Dove."

"My wife, Susan, didn't want them to see me get stabbed with that great big knife," Corbin said.

Although gravity was the first discovered of the four known natural forces that govern events in nature, it is the least understood and the only force that humans cannot control, says National Geographic.

About 1,000 mourners, including the Rev. Jesse Jackson and Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, filled Greenfield United Methodist Church on Thursday.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

Words From the Heart Help Cope With Loss of a Breast

DEAR ABBY: Shortly after I had my mastectomy about nine years ago, I read something in your column that helped me handle it, and I'm sure it helped many other women who read it.

Please print it so that more women will have the opportunity to reflect on it and find the comfort that I found.

A.G.T., TAMPA

DEAR ABBY: Last spring, my best friend and my lover, my wife of 22 years, had a mastectomy. I enclose the poem she wrote while she was still in the hospital. It is too beautiful not to share with others who may find it inspirational. Sign me...

HER HUSBAND, RICHARD,
OR IN LOVE IN VIRGINIA

"The room smells of roses and Russell Stovers.

"Some foreign arm has been taped to my shoulder.

"The nurses make no sound. (Polyester doesn't rustle.)

"The Metropolitan Opera did 'Faust' for me today on radio. Demerol did the staging. I wish you could have seen it!

"When I open my indolent eyes, the people who love me are searching my face to see how they should feel.

"All the words I can say are so old, so used, so familiar. How I would love to be brilliant!

"As soon as I know anything, I know that I am fine. This is not a catastrophe — it's only an inconvenience.

"If this is a master plan to make me realize how many people love me, I do.

"If this is a grand design to elicit promises of preserving my health, I will.

"If there is no plan to this at all, I'm making it so.

"I'm planning to work and play better.

"I'm planning to appreciate the people who make me feel good about myself.

"I'm planning to savor splendid moments, and put hurt in the far corners of my mind.

"Inhale your acrimonious tears;

"I'm planning not to need them."
SALLY W. COOK,
RICHMOND, VA.

DEAR RICHARD AND SALLY:
Thank you for a real "upper."

DEAR ABBY: You had a valuable piece of information in your column recently. I hope brides-to-be saw it and heeded your advice. You suggested that brides "break in" their wedding shoes before their wedding day. How I wish I had!

I put on my white satin wedding shoes about two hours before the ceremony. It was a hot summer day, and my feet swelled. At first they felt "uncomfortable," but as the day wore on, I became more miserable and was in agony all during the ceremony!

Afterward, at the bridal dinner, I couldn't stand it any longer, so I took my shoes off — and danced in my stocking feet.

Please print this, Abby. You will be blessed from coast to coast!

HELEN IN HOUSTON

DEAR HELEN: Thanks for writing. The same message (break in your shoes before your big day) goes for everyone in the bridal party. Bridesmaids will be wearing dyed slippers, which usually "shrink" anywhere from half a size to a full size after dyeing. So buy 'em larger, and dye 'em, and then try 'em.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, you ran a letter signed "Daddy's Girl," who said her mother had to work two jobs because her father failed to pay child support. She also complained because she saw so little of her mother.

Well, that letter really hit home with me. I am also a single parent. I have three children who live with me. I also work two jobs and am unable to spend as much time with my kids as I would like to.

I am their father, and I do not get one dime from their mother to help support these children. Please be fair and print this.

MR. MOM FROM MANOR, TEXAS

DEAR READERS: I read the following item in ASH, a publication printed and distributed by Action on Smoking and Health, a national non-profit organization concerned with the problems of smoking and the rights of non-smokers:

"Condom vending machines will replace cigarette vending machines at the University of Virginia, thanks to Dr. Richard Keeling, the university's student health director."

I telephoned Dr. Keeling in Charlottesville to ask when the replacement is scheduled to begin.

"It's already begun," he replied.

I asked what prompted the switch.

"I had a very important double message to deliver by replacing a product that is known to be damaging to one's health with a product that will protect the health — and possibly the lives — of sexually active adults," Dr. Keeling stated matter-of-factly.

"Congratulations, Doctor," I said. "That was very courageous — particularly coming from a Virginian in tobacco country. May I quote you in my column?"

"I hope you do," was his reply. Integrity lives! End of item.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old virgin. I've been going with this one guy for two and a half years, and he's always trying to push me into having sex.

The problem is, I'm not ready for that yet. He keeps saying that if I don't have sex with him, there are plenty of other fish in the sea.

I really like him, and I enjoy hugging, kissing and holding hands. I'm not a tease. I want to wait until I get married to have that special night. And since it can happen only once

(the first night), I want it to be special.

He doesn't want to wait. What should I do?

HURTING IN SUNNYSIDE, WASH.

DEAR HURTING: I wish all the letters were as easy to answer as this one. The tide flows both ways. There are plenty of other fish in the sea. Dump him.

DEAR ABBY: My 27-year-old stepdaughter, "Julia," is having a large, lavish wedding, which my husband, Julia's father, is hosting and paying for. Although I have been married to "James" for 12 years, Julia still feels a great deal of resentment and bitterness toward me because I was the "other woman" in her father's life while she was growing up, which caused her mother much pain and unhappiness. (Her mother died a few years ago; otherwise, obviously, she would be co-hosting the wedding with James.)

I was not mentioned on the invitations (i.e., "Mr. and Mrs. — request," etc.), nor am I to stand in the receiving line following the ceremony. Julia is in charge of all the plans, and James says it's her day and whatever she says goes. I feel that out of loyalty to me, James should insist that we be treated as a couple, but he is bowing to all of her demands.

It has occurred to me to skip the wedding, but James thinks I should be bigger than that, and "rise above it all."

I do not want to spoil a joyous occasion by making demands, but I am finding these put-downs very hard to handle. What should I do?

JAMES' WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Since Julia still feels a great deal of resentment and bitterness toward you, an appropriate wedding gift for you to give the bride would be your absence. This would be a good time to leave town.
