Court agrees to hear case

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today agreed to consider the lawsuit brought against the state by poor school districts claiming the state's method of funding public education is unconstitutional.

The high civil appeals court scheduled oral arguments July 5 in the landmark Edgewood vs. Kirby case.

Poor school districts have challenged the state system, saying they cannot raise enough property taxes to enrich education funding with local dollars to the same extent that wealthy districts can.

Public school education in Texas is funded through a mixture of state and local funds.

In 1987, poor school districts won a round in the battle when a state district judge held that education is a fundamental right and that equal access to funds was lacking in the state's financing method.

But the 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin later overturned that decision. Plaintiffs in the suit appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Gov. Bill Clements recently signed into law a $450 million school finance bill designed to help close the gap between poor and wealthy schools, but representatives of poor school districts said that is not enough.

Sid Pruitt, president of the Equity Center, said about $1.2 billion was needed for the two-year budget period to make a "good down payment" on the issue of equity funding.

Jimmy Vasquez of the Edgewood school district, the San Antonio system that is the lead plaintiff in the lawsuit, said in a news conference Monday, "The time is now to move swiftly to remedy the situation through our Supreme Court."

C02 injection line rupture prompts 1-hour evacuation

A number of Scurry County residents were evacuated from their homes for about an hour Tuesday night after a C02 injection line failure caused the release of a large amount of carbon dioxide gas north of Snyder.

The evacuation was prompted by the fear of a possible dangerous level of hydrogen sulfide, but was declared safe after a check by Chevron U.S.A. personnel.

One resident of the area was hospitalized. She was listed in stable condition Wednesday.

Gracie Degrate, 47, of the Old Post Rd. was taken by ambulance to Cogdell Memorial Hospital and treated for gas inhalation and chest pains.

The first word of an explosion reached local authorities at 8:52 p.m., and "less than 50" residents were asked to evacuate their homes from about 9 to 10 p.m., said Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell.

McDowell, who doubles as the local Civil Defense coordinator, said firemen, state highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and other emergency personnel blocked off a triangular area from east of the well site, three-quarters of a mile northeast of the Sun Gas Plant, to U.S. 84 and along 84 north to Halliburton Services.

"There wasn't that much to it," McDowell said. "It was exciting for a few minutes, and that was about it."

SACROC superintendent H.J. Payne said Wednesday that a 12-inch C02 injection line failed near an injection well and that a water injection line then also failed, causing the release of "a thou-

Options discussed to 'close' campus for SHS next year

The possibility of "closing" the Snyder High School campus—which would require students to stay at school through the noon lunch hour—was discussed Tuesday by school board members and high school administrators.

Arguments both pro and con were presented, with principal Ray Courtney and assistant principal Ned Underwood noting problems with scheduling, enforcement and staffing.

Trustees who proposed the plan cited such factors as safety for the students, better supervision of their activity throughout the school day and the "economic" break for parents since school lunch costs or the alternate "brown bagging" are less expensive than "eating out."

At the end of the discussion, no consensus was reached, but board members indicated they are still considering the change.

Of the approximate 800 students at the high school, Courtney estimated as many as 650 leave the campus for the 45 minute period allocated for lunch.

If the campus is closed, he said the lunch room period would have to be expanded into a minimum of two shifts, a change which would result in increased staffing demands for high school instructors. Additional teachers would be required also to enforce the closed campus requirement, he noted.

When coupled with state mandates that all teachers have a 30-minute free lunch period, Courtney pointed to possible shortages of staff.

"I really haven't looked at that, so I can't say for sure," he noted. A study of what his projected staff needs would be asked by the board.

In proposing the plan, trustees noted frequently the traffic situation created around the school campus when the mass of students leave for the noon break.

In addition to this safety factor, other areas discussed included the potential for alcohol or drug use by students while on "break" during the school day.

Underwood commented, "we have very little of that during the school day," noting this is more a factor for students on week nights and weekends.

Trustees commented also on the "break" for parents, who may find themselves spending $3 to $4 daily for their child's lunch.

Following the discussion, trustees indicated any final decision would be pending the staffing study requested of high school administrators.

School will change depository contract

Snyder ISD will change its bank depository contract for the next two years following a decision Tuesday by trustees.

The depository bid was awarded to West Texas State Bank based on a higher interest rate quoted for district deposits. The board considered primarily deposits in excess of $100,000 left on deposit for a maximum of 180 days.

The current depositor for school funds is Snyder National Bank, which bid Tuesday along with American State Bank.

WTSB indicated its bid would be "equal" to the most current Treasury Bill (T-Bill) discount rate for all monies in excess of $100,000 left on deposit a minimum of 30 days.

With this bid, a T-Bill rate of 8.5 percent was quoted by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas as of June 1. School officials said Wednesday morning the rate had fallen to 8.1 percent since that time.

To compare the SNB bid, again based on a fluctuating rate scale, the interest rate quoted was from 6.5 percent for deposits in the 30 day category and 7 percent in the 180 day category.

For similar time periods, ASB bid rates from 7.2 to 7.4 percent.

The depository decision was made during a called meeting of See SCHOOL, page 11

Principals asking for raise with 1989-90 school budget

The 11 principals and assistant principals for Snyder ISD submitted a request Tuesday to be considered for a pay raise next school year.

Noting that salary levels have been frozen for a period of from three to five years, spokesman Charles Anderson, junior high principal, commented "We feel like ours have not kept pace."

During this same period, he pointed out, teachers both here and across Texas have received career ladder supplements and some step raises.

This fall, a large group of Snyder teachers will also become eligible for Level III of career ladder, which will involve a supplement of $3,000 annually. While noting that the group felt the teacher pay supplements were deserved, Anderson said, "We would ask you to look at our salaries in view of our responsibilities."

One of these responsibilities is the evaluation of teachers ultimately selected for career ladder monies.

Anderson was accompanied by See RAISE, page 11

he feller on Deep Creek says, "Temptations, unlike opportunities, always give plenty of second chances."

Psychologists say that every person enjoys about 15 minutes of fame in a lifetime. If you think that's not true, just try to recall the last five running mates of the unsuccessful candidates for president.

It's also possible to forget even the presidential candidate. A national news magazine reports that fame is fleeting for Michael Dukakis. The Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum in London removed Dukakis' statue in December after having it placed on display for the first time on Oct. 31.

It was the "shortest" showing in the museum's 218-year history.

Partisan politics is the rule rather than the exception in Washington. Rep. Jack Brooks of Texas was quoted as saying, "I don't think you can do enough to your enemies, no way." Asked if his motto was "Don't get mad, get even," Brooks replied, "I don't think that's good enough."

Some politicians, however, have a sense of humor. At a recent gathering of Republicans, Ronald Reagan was presented a gift by Bob Dole, a "weed wacker" to be used in retirement on Reagan's California ranch.

Joked Dole, "It's a high-tech, top-secret device that can be used to clear out weeds, brush, trees, rattlesnakes, desperadoes and Democrats."

Everything in politics is not cut-throat. Robert Farmer, Dukakis' campaign fundraiser, and Craig Fuller, Bush's vice presidential chief of staff, have considered going into consulting business together in Washington.

That's what we'd call a marriage of convenience.

A — Figures provided by the state indicate 177,000 cases were handled last year and about 500 of these went to a jury trial.

In Brief

Players arrest

DALLAS (AP) — The former Dallas Carter cornerback whose eligibility to play in the state high school football championships sparked a legal fight over Texas' no-pass, no-play law is being held by police on investigation of armed robbery.

Police said they arrested former star cornerback Gary Edwards and a second Carter football star, All-America defensive back Derric Evans, shortly after 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The two 17-year-olds matched the description of a pair of men who robbed two video stores at gunpoint, police said.

Evans and Edwards were starting seniors on the Carter team, which last season became the first Dallas Independent School District team to win a state football championship since 1950.

During the playoffs, Carter's eligibility was threatened by a controversy surrounding Edwards' algebra grades.

Rules okayed

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas lawyers approved new regulations governing their professional conduct, marking the first change in such rules since 1971, the Texas Bar Association said.

The old Code of Professional Responsibility "was viewed by many as being ambiguous, contradictory and irrelevant," said a news release from the bar Tuesday.

Pleads guilty

NEWTON, Texas (AP) — After sentencing a 15-year-old boy to 24 years in incarceration in connection with the shooting death of his mother, a judge offered to pray for the youth.

Brian Kevin Bailey pleaded guilty to delinquent conduct Tuesday after his 12-year-old brother and 10-year-old cousin testified that he held them at gunpoint and threatened to shoot them after the shooting of Bailey's mother.

By accepting the plea bargain, Bailey waived his rights to a jury trial and his right to appeal.

GOP strategist says...

Politics helped HUD to gain money

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican political strategist says his political pull helped get the federal government to pump millions of dollars into a New Jersey housing project that local officials say was a waste of money.

"You could characterize this as influence peddling," Paul Manafort told a congressional panel investigating the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Manafort, who had advised the presidential campaigns of Ronald Reagan and George Bush, was making money off the New Jersey deal two ways — as a part owner of the company developing the property, and as the consultant who served as a go-between to get money for that company from the government.

As a consultant, Manafort's lobbying firm, Black Manafort, Stone & Kelly — which once counted GOP National Committee Chairman Lee Atwater among its partners — was paid $326,000 to help win HUD funding for the Seabrook apartment project in southern New Jersey. Manafort said he charged the developers $1,000 per apartment.

The housing project was denounced as wasteful by Democratic and Republican members of Congress and by local officials from the 7,000-person township where it is located, Upper Deerfield.

"I think it is a horrible waste of taxpayers' money," said Bruce

T. Peterson, the township's mayor, after learning that with tax credits, rent subsidies and repair grants the 326-apartment project was costing the federal government about $43 million.

Peterson said local officials were told nothing about the project until well after the developers and their paid consultants started going after the federal money.

Rep. Christopher Shays, R-Conn., later said he believed that the project was not worthy of federal funds in the first place.

HUD has been rocked by allegations that its money to rehabilitate run-down housing for the poor and elderly was handed out to developers who hired high-priced political consultants with ties to the Republican Party or the Reagan administration.

Other Republicans who benefited by access to HUD money included former Interior Secretary James Watt, former Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts and the late John Mitchell, attorney general during the Nixon administration. All made thousands of dollars by helping others get money from the department.

The New Jersey housing project was built in the 1940s and had become dilapidated over the years.

In April 1987, CFM Development Corp., of which Manafort is one of three principal owners, bought the project for $4.4 million — at least $1 million more than township officials said the land and buildings were worth at the time.

But about a month later, the state housing authority ran an advertisement announcing the availability of government funds to fix up such projects. About two weeks later, Manafort's group, the only one to apply, was awarded the money.

In his testimony Tuesday before the housing and employment subcommittee of the Government Operations Committee, Manafort repeatedly said the development company took a risk because there was no guarantee that it would get the money from HUD.

As proof, he cited an advertisement that ran just once in a single newspaper, soliciting applications from developers.

"Nobody in this world believes that you had any doubt" the money would come through, said Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass.

Former congressman guilty on all counts

ATLANTA (AP) — Pat Swindall, eight months ago a congressman and one day ago a Senate hopeful, now stands convicted of lying to a grand jury investigating a drug-related money laundering sting.

"Obviously, I'm very disappointed," said the 38-year-old conservative Republican, who lost re-election in November following his perjury indictment.

He was convicted Tuesday of all nine counts and faces a possible 10 months to five years in prison and $250,000 fine on each count. Sentencing was scheduled for Aug. 25.

Probation is not an option under new federal sentencing guidelines, which Swindall supported as a congressman.

Swindall, who spent two terms representing Atlanta's eastern suburbs, had hoped for an acquittal and a 1990 race against Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga. Now, barring a victory on appeal, he will go to prison after his Aug. 25 sentencing.

Swindall sat impassively in the federal courtroom as the jury announced its verdict on the 22nd day of his trial. His wife, Kim, rested her hand on his back.

Later, he told reporters he would appeal.

"This process is not over," he said. "We'll be trying this case again, and, I hope, not in Atlanta."

Swindall's attorneys asked before and during the trial for his case to be moved because of pretrial publicity.

He said he "had gotten involved in something I never should have gotten involved in, but I've said I had been 100 percent truthful before the grand jury. That hasn't changed."

Swindall, who went to Congress in 1984, was defeated in November by Democrat Ben Jones, a former TV actor in "The Dukes of Hazzard," while under the cloud of the perjury indictment.

Swindall was accused of lying to a federal grand jury in his Feb. 2, 1988, testimony concerning his month-long 1987 negotiations with an undercover Internal Revenue Service agent and with a Swindall supporter later convicted of money laundering. The IRS agent was posing as a drug-money launderer.

The government said Swindall was seeking $850,000 to complete construction on his luxurious suburban home; the money was to be funneled to Swindall through a mortgage company created by his friend and political supporter, Charles LeChasney, authorities said.

Teen Earning His Own Money Should Control How It's Spent

By Abigail Van Buren

Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I was very disappointed in your answer to "Broke in Brooklyn," the 16-year-old boy who complained because his father insisted on taking over the money he had earned and doling out whatever he asked for — to be sure he wasn't misusing his earnings.

Abby, teen-agers can gain valuable experience by keeping their own bank accounts balanced and budgeting their own money. They learn by making their own mistakes while they are still at home, where they can be counseled by their parents. They also learn by suffering the consequences of their own poor judgment.

It is highly unlikely that a 16-year-old boy who can hold a steady job and keep up with his school and social demands will be using his money for drugs, booze or handouts. A pox on your answer!

LAKEWOOD (CALIF.) FATHER OF THREE

DEAR FATHER: A single pox is hardly enough for that answer. Several hundred readers wrote to tell me I was wrong, wrong, wrong! And they were right. Let's hear it from the mother of two teen-agers:

DEAR ABBY: You blew it! I refer to your response to "Broke in Brooklyn," the 16-year-old boy who objected to his father's insisting that he turn over his entire paycheck — then making it necessary for him to ask his father for money whenever he needed it.

Instead of congratulating the boy for earning money while going to school, you gave him a lecture, telling him to "count his blessings" — he was lucky to have a father who cares about him, and blah, blah, blah ...

Well, I think the teen-ager should be able to keep the money he earned. Of course, if there is a tough financial situation at home, the boy may need to contribute a part of his earnings to the household. If not, I think it's the father — not the 16-year-old — who needs the lecture. Parents aren't always right.

DEBORAH R. ISHIDA, M.D.,
BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding "Broke in Brooklyn": My mother always used to say that when it came to money, Dad had no sense of "the bottom of the barrel" because when he was a boy, he had to turn over his entire paycheck to his mother, and when he needed money he'd just ask for some without even knowing how much was left in the sugar bowl.

Consequently, as a parent with family obligations, Dad always spent the last nickel in his pocket without knowing how much (if anything) was left.

My mother had a hard time dealing with this, and told us that if we were going to make mistakes or run out of money, to do it while we were young enough to learn, and didn't have any family obligations.

NEVER BROKE

DEAR ABBY: Abby, ol' girl, that was bum advice you gave "Broke in Brooklyn."

Just when is the kid going to learn how to handle money? Will Daddy always be around to tell Junior how to spend and how to save? Give him a break, Abby. If he's mature enough to hold down a job, he should be mature enough to selectively save and spend his earnings.

I suspect that Dad is on a power trip and isn't ready to give up the control he has always had on his son.

A GLORIOUS DEFEAT OF COUNTER-REVOLUTIONARIES

'Friend to friend' kidney transplant is performed

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Richard Dickerman says there's no reason why there can't be more kidney transplants like the one he performed in which the donor and recipient were friends and not family.

A 26-year-old man donated his kidney to his wife's childhood friend Tuesday in the first "friend-to-friend" kidney transplant in the South.

Kidney transplants between two living, non-related, non-family members are uncommon because of the public's misconception that such transplants must be between family members, said Dr. Richard Dickerman, director of organ transplantation at Methodist Medical Center in Dallas.

The friend-to-friend operation is believed to have been performed fewer than five times worldwide, Dickerman said.

Kathleen Gray, 40, of Arlington, Texas, and donor Patrick Haller, 26, of Loves Park, Ill., were listed in stable condition late Tuesday, 12 hours after the procedure, hospital spokeswoman Carol Edgar said.

Haller's wife, Kay, and Ms. Gray have been best friends since they met in junior high school in Rockford, Ill., during the 1960s, Kay Haller said.

Ms. Gray was scheduled to be in the Hallers' wedding in 1987, but became ill and was unable to attend due to kidney failure, Kay Haller said.

"Kathleen told us she was blood type-O, and Pat said, 'Hey, I'm type-O,'" Kay Haller recalled. "Then he offered to donate the kidney should tests show a perfect match. And, praise the Lord, it was a perfect match."

"I'm so filled with joy for both of them," she said. "I'm just very anxious to see them both."

The kidney transplant was the 867th performed at Methodist since 1981, but the first friend-to-friend transplant ever conducted in the South, hospital spokesman Barry Pound said.

Dickerman said he knew of similar transplants in Madison, Wis., and in San Francisco.

Henry David Thoreau published "Walden" in 1854. The book described his experiences while living in a small cabin near Walden Pond in Massachusetts.

Drexell-SEC proposal ok'd by federal judge

NEW YORK (AP) — Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. moved toward resolving securities fraud charges against it when a judge approved an unprecedented civil settlement between the Wall Street firm and the government.

The pact with the Securities and Exchange Commission places the nation's fifth-largest securities firm under strict supervision and requires Drexel to sever ties with its former junk bond chief, Michael Milken.

Approval of the settlement Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Milton Pollack cleared the way for Drexel to plead guilty to six felonies and pay a record $650 million in fines and restitution to settle separate criminal charges with the Justice Department.

"This settlement will bring to a close 2½ difficult years for Drexel, its employees and its clients," Drexel lawyer Thomas Curnin said in court.

The firm now can "go forward and devote its time and energies to the service of its clients," he said.

Judge Kimba Wood now is expected to begin considering the criminal plea bargain reached with the U.S. attorney's office in December.

The civil settlement was reached in April but was held up by legal challenges by Milken's attorneys.

Milken said Pollack should have been removed from the case because of an alleged conflict of interest — the judge's wife stood to profit from a leveraged buyout Drexel helped finance. The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Pollack when he refused to step down, and the Supreme Court refused to consider the case earlier this month.

During Tuesday's hearing, Pollack said that after careful study he granted the joint request by Drexel and the SEC to approve the settlement.

The SEC charged Drexel last fall with insider trading and other securities frauds involving more than 20 takeovers and other investment deals between 1984 and 1986.

As part of the settlement, Drexel neither admitted nor denied guilt.

The settlement does not include separate civil charges by the SEC against Milken, who resigned from the firm last week. Milken also has been indicted on criminal fraud and racketeering charges stemming from his activities at Drexel. His brother, Lowell, another former Drexel employee, also faces civil and criminal charges.

Thomas Newkirk, the SEC's chief litigation counsel in the case, said he urged the settlement so Drexel could continue cooperating with the government in other fraud investigations, including, presumably, the Milken case.

"This cooperation is essential not only to the commission's ongoing investigations but to investigations being conducted by the United States attorney," Newkirk said.

The settlement requires Drexel to overhaul its securities law compliance operations, its top management and some trading departments, and to submit to three years of close SEC scrutiny. It does not take effect until the criminal plea bargain with the Justice Department is approved.

The pact also requires Drexel to bar its employees from ever doing business with Milken or any clients he advises.

The settlement marks another milestone in the government's three-year investigation of corruption on Wall Street that began with former Drexel executive Dennis Levine and led to arbitrator Ivan Boesky, who paid $100 million to settle civil insider trading charges with the SEC in late 1986.

Boesky's confessions led to Drexel, which agreed to settle in part because of the possibility of a broad racketeering indictment that could have put it out of business.

Milken is challenging the criminal settlement between Drexel and the U.S. attorney's office on the grounds it unfairly requires Drexel to withhold his 1988 compensation of more than $100 million.

The Milken was charged in a March 98-count fraud and racketeering indictment that seeks more than $3.7 billion in forfeitures.

Spill-response teams...

Industry to set up nationwide network

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exxon Corp. and other big oil companies say they'll spend $250 million over five years to sharpen their ability to combat massive oil spills, and the Bush administration is stepping up surveillance of the Alaska oil system.

The plan is voluntary, which environmental groups and some members of Congress said minimizes its importance and underscores the need for federal legislation to require better response capabilities.

"When it comes to the protection of our fragile environment, 'good faith' simply is not good enough," said Sen. Joseph I. Lieberman, D-Conn. He said he will introduce legislation Thursday to increase oil companies' financial liability for oil spills.

Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner, meanwhile, said the government will begin a comprehensive safety inspection of the 800-mile Alaska pipeline later this month, two years earlier than scheduled, as a precautionary measure.

"The Exxon Valdez oil spill has taught us a valuable lesson: the need to avoid complacency when it comes to protecting our environment," Skinner said.

On Capitol Hill on Tuesday, a Senate committee approved a bill providing a range of spill-prevention actions, including random alcohol testing of oil tanker crews.

The bill, backed by Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, would open highway driving records of merchant mariners to the Coast Guard, provide for alcohol testing of people in safety-sensitive jobs on tankers and improve radar systems to aid in tracking ships through potentially hazardous areas.

Richard M. Morrow, chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, which sponsored development of the industry's new spill-response plan, said it is not designed to head off legislation to force more responsibility on the companies.

"We want to move forward regardless of what Congress does," he told a news conference.

The industry plan includes measures aimed at preventing future disasters and establishing clearer lines of government authority for reacting to tanker accidents.

Allen E. Murray, chairman of Mobil Corp. and head of a special task force that produced the plans after two months of study, said the industry hopes to have the new system in full operation within a year.

Environmental groups generally welcomed the program but said they want to see it implemented before assessing its long-term importance.

"It's a good step," said Gaylord Nelson, counsel to the Wilderness Society, a Washington-based environmental group. "They're finally recognizing that the country is aroused and outraged, and they're responding because they have to."

A key to success of the new system, Murray said, is giving the Coast Guard full responsibility for deciding when industry cleanup crews will be called into action. Current lines of authority between state and federal agencies are unclear, he said.

"Somebody has to be able to be in charge and not have to make a conference call, and we think that should be the Coast Guard," Murray said.

The Coast Guard said Tuesday it needs time to study the plan before commenting.

Assume it's how you need it to be

By James Jacoby

Yes, it's ridiculous that North-South got to four spades after South's weak two-bid, which showed a six-card suit and 6-11 high-card points. North did have prime cards and so was encouraged to shoot out a game when South showed a club feature as well as a maximum hand over two no-trump. You and I might view South's hand as less than maximum since it has a broken suit and a possibly worthless queen of hearts, but declarer justified his overbidding in the play of the hand.

East won the ace of hearts and returned the diamond jack. West took the ace and led the diamond queen. Dummy's king was ruffed, and East led back a heart. Declarer ruffed, played a spade to dummy's ace and then took a finesse against the spade queen in the East hand. He then picked up trumps. Because the clubs split 3-3, he was able to discard his losing diamond on the long club to make his contract. How did South know to take a finesse in the trump suit, playing for the defenders' original distribution to be 4-1?

In fact he did not know that such was the case, but he did know that West had started with six diamonds and three or more hearts. He also knew that even after he had picked up the trumps, he would need each defender to hold only three clubs so that dummy's long club would be a parking place for his losing diamond. So he had to assume that West held exactly three clubs, leaving room for only the singleton 10 of spades.

Police arrest triggerman in Mexican journalist's murder

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Federal Judiciary Police arrested Tuesday a former national security agent and one time movie actor suspected of being the triggerman in the 1984 murder of a leading newspaper columnist.

The Mexico City Attorney General's Office identified the suspect as Juan Rafael Mora Avila, 35, a member of a prominent family of politicians from the neighboring state of Puebla.

Jose Antonio Zorrilla Perez, director of the now-dissolved Federal Security Administration, was arrested June 13 in Mexico City for allegedly masterminding the murder and is now awaiting trial on charges of homicide.

Shooting death is investigated

NEW BOSTON, Texas (AP) — Sheriff's officials used fingerprints to identify a man found shot in the head in a brushy area.

Authorities Tuesday issued an all points bulletin for a car security agent and one time of Atlanta, said Bowie County Sheriff Mary Choate.

Leps was found Monday dying of two bullet wounds to the head in woods near this town 20 miles west of Texarkana in the northeast corner of Texas, said Bowie County Sheriff Mary Choate. New Boston is a town of approximately 4,000 people.

Two girls spotted a bloody sheet Monday that led neighbors to the area. Authorities said Leps was carrying $2,500 in cash.

Leps was shot twice in the head with a small-caliber handgun.

He was flown to Wadley Regional Medical Center in Texarkana, where he died about 11 hours later Monday evening.

page column in the newspaper Excelsior exposed wrongdoing in high places, was shot dead May 30, 1984, at the entrance of a parking garage minutes after he had left his office in the Pink Zone.

The Attorney General's Office called Zorrilla, 47, the "intellectual author" of the crime.

It said it was presenting evidence to prove that Zorrilla ordered Buendia, his friend of 15 years, shot dead when he learned the columnist planned to expose his links to prominent drug traffickers.

In a news release Tuesday, the Attorney General's Office said Mora was booked "on suspicion of being one of the material authors" in the slaying of Buendia. But a police source, who insisted on anonymity, said authorities have evidence indicating that Mora was the "triggerman."

The government news agency Notimex identified Mora as the grandson of former Puebla Gov. Maximino Avila Camacho, a longtime Secretary of Communications and Transportation.

Notimex said Mora was also a grandnephew of Manuel Avila Camacho, who was president of Mexico from 1940 to 1946.

A 1973 graduate from the Judiciary Police Technical School, Mora served in various police forces and law enforcement agencies until he joined the Federal Security Administration in 1982 as a member of an "elite" group of 20 special agents, the news release said.

Mora was also a motorcycle fan, had a pilot's license, was a member of a rock music group, and played bit parts as an actor in at least four horror and crime movies.

He is still a member ANDA, the National Actors' Association.

Zorrilla was director of the Federal Security Administration, which was similar to the FBI, from 1982 until the government dissolved it in 1985 for widespread corruption.

Author Ernest Hemingway shot himself to death in 1961 at his home in Ketchum, Idaho.

Gibbs new OU coach

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) - Gary Gibbs, who has spent his entire collegiate football career under the winningest coach in Oklahoma history, takes over as head coach undaunted by Barry Switzer's three national championships and 12 Big Eight Conference titles.

"I'm Gary Gibbs. I know what I can do," said the defensive coordinator, who becomes the 18th coach at Oklahoma but only the third alumnus to take over the reins.

Athletic director Donnie Duncan and interim president David Swank recommended Gibbs as the next head coach over two other assistants, Merv Johnson and Jim Donnan.

Gibbs' appointment lacks formal approval from the university's regents, who meet today.

The regents also were scheduled to discuss a settlement package for Switzer, whose resignation followed six months of turmoil and pressure to step down from a national power wounded by a three-year NCAA probation and five players charged in incidents involving guns, drugs and sexual assault.

Swank would only say the settlement is a mutual agreement between Switzer and the university. Swank denied that a settlement was in order because Switzer, who had four years left on his rollover contract, was forced to resign.

Switzer had recommended his replacement come from his staff. Gibbs, 36, was confident Tuesday about moving in, and promised that the cloud hanging over the university would dissipate.

"We've got to remove that cloud, that uncertainty of 'What's going on down there? Who's in control?'" Gibbs said. "We're a bunch of good guys. All we've got to do is the right thing."

Local catches big bass here

Stan Aoki of Snyder reportedly hooked a bass estimated at weighing seven pounds Saturday evening at Towle Park.

The lunker was caught on an artificial worm and was released back into the pond.

When asked how he would handle disciplining his players, Gibbs said, "That's really an easy question. You do what's right. You don't do what's wrong."

Gibbs, who also received his master's in business administration from Oklahoma, said any other job but head coach at Oklahoma would be a step down.

"This is my school," Gibbs said. "I came to Oklahoma because of people. Now I have the opportunity to pay something back to those people."

In announcing sanctions against the Sooners, the NCAA had criticized Switzer for not having enough control over the program. Gibbs promised that would not happen under his regime.

But he quickly added that "I'm not going to stand here and say we're not going to have a problem."

Switzer became head coach while Oklahoma was serving a two-year NCAA probation. He leaves the program in the first year of a three-year probation.

First Soviet in NBA may be Marchulenis

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) - Sharunas Marchulenis, considered the second-best player in the Soviet Union, says he is about to become the first Soviet in the NBA.

The 6-foot-5½ guard said Tuesday that he has the approval of his country's sports authorities to play in the NBA next season and expects to be with the Golden State Warriors. Marchulenis has not been drafted by any NBA team and is a free agent.

"I don't see any difficulties. I got permission and I'm going to the United States. That's nothing uncertain about that," Marchulenis said during the European Basketball Championships. "Everything is settled with the Soviet sports authorities and I'm continuing my basketball career in the NBA."

Rimas Kurtinaitis and Alexander Volkov, two other Soviet players, are awaiting permission to play outside the country.

UT assistant turns in bat

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Bill Bethea, who served 21 years as an assistant coach to Cliff Gustafson's University of Texas baseball team, announced his resignation Tuesday.

Bethea's departure becomes effective at the end of summer. Bethea said he wanted to "pursue other career opportunities," but didn't elaborate, except to say he had no specific plans.

During Bethea's tenure with Gustafson, the Longhorns won 18 Southwest Conference championships and made 14 trips to the College World Series. Texas won NCAA titles in 1975 and 1983, and finished second three times, including this season.

Bethea, 57, was an All American selection in 1963 when he was a shortstop for the Longhorns. He played minor league baseball for several years and made it to the majors in 1964, when he appeared in 10 games for the Minnesota Twins.

Ryan gets no relief as Rangers fall, 6-3

BOSTON (AP) - Nolan Ryan shut out the Red Sox on four hits for seven innings Tuesday night, but the effort was wasted.

The Red Sox jumped on Texas relievers Kenny Rogers and Jeff Russell for six runs in the eighth inning for a 6-3 victory over the Rangers.

"He was gassed," Texas manager Bobby Valentine said in explaining his removal of Ryan after the seventh. "He did a great job, but he said he had had enough."

"I told him that if I got into a jam in the eighth I might not be able to get out of it," said Ryan, who threw 115 pitches while striking out six and walking three.

Ryan, 8-3 this year, appeared en route to his 282nd career victory and his 56th shutout.

Even the Red Sox were surprised when he didn't come out for the eighth.

"When (Geno) Petralli hit that two-out homer for a 3-0 lead in the eighth, I thought, 'Oh, oh, that's icing on the evening,'" Boston manager Joe Morgan said.

However, the Red Sox were given a new life when Rogers replaced Ryan. He walked the first batter, retired the next and then gave up a double off the wall in left-center to Wade Boggs.

Russell, 3-2, replaced Rogers in a bid for his 17th save. However, Mike Greenwell lined a two-run double to left-center and, after a walk to Dwight Evans, Nick Esasky tripled to right. Esasky drove in Greenwell and Evans, then scored on Julio Franco's wild relay throw to third. Another run scored on an error.

"Nolan was throwing real well and we didn't know why he came out, but we got ourselves rolling and kept going," said Esasky, who struck out twice against Ryan. "It was exciting baseball, a good one for us to win."

Boston's Mike Boddicker, 4-6, was the beneficiary of the big rally, earning just his second victory in eight starts since May 3. Boddicker allowed nine hits, struck out six and walked one in eight innings before giving way to Lee Smith, who retired the Rangers in order in the ninth for his eighth save.

The Red Sox, 4-0 at home against Texas this year, send ace Roger Clemens, 8-4, to the mound tonight against the Rangers' Bobby Witt, 5-7.

Bruce Springsteen donates money to hospital

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Rocker Bruce Springsteen donated $15,000 to a financially strapped hospital where a relative was treated last year.

The donation by the "Boss" amounts to roughly half of the $30,000 raised by employees at Choche Community Hospital.

Juror accused of lying...

North's sentencing postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oliver L. North's sentencing is postponed while the judge considers defense charges that one of the Iran-Contra jurors who convicted the former White House aide deliberately lied during jury selection.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell postponed Friday's scheduled sentencing after North's lawyers produced evidence that juror Tara King failed to disclose that a brother had been convicted of armed robbery and that two others had arrest records.

The defense also alleged that Ms. King's statements to reporters after the verdict that she used marijuana and cocaine before the trial suggests she was under the influence of drugs during the trial.

Ms. King told interviewers that she did not use drugs during her jury service.

The judge on Tuesday postponed sentencing until July 5 and scheduled a June 28 hearing on defense allegations that Ms. King intentionally withheld the information when she filled out a questionnaire given to prospective jurors.

The questionnaire asked if any member of her family had ever been a party or witness to a civil or criminal court proceeding or had been under investigation by law enforcement authorities.

The 35-year-old office worker answered the question in the negative.

"This apparently intentional misstatement raises serious questions as to juror bias and impartiality," North's lawyers said in pleadings that were unsealed Tuesday by the judge.

Gesell might be forced to grant a mistrial if the defense can prove that it learned after the verdict that Ms. King deliberately withheld information to get on the jury.

Independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh, in other pleadings ordered unsealed, said North and his lawyers must prove that they learned about Ms. King's misstatements after the verdict.

Otherwise, his motion "constitutes an impermissible attempt to sandbag the judicial process," Walsh said, quoting from a 1982 appellate court decision.

Gesell gave North's lawyers until Friday to state "the precise date and time when counsel first learned each fact."

Walsh also argued that Ms. King may have inadvertently answered the question incorrectly, noting that she is nearly 17 years younger than the brother convicted of armed robbery in 1987.

Walsh said it was possible that "any knowledge she did have simply did not come to mind at the time she completed the jury questionnaire," particularly since Ms. King has 14 brothers and sisters.

During the trial, the defense did not seek to replace two jurors with alternates following media reports that they had failed to disclose involvements in lawsuits arising from traffic accidents.

Walsh also contended there was no evidence that Ms. King was biased against North. "If King developed any prejudice" from her brothers' trouble with law enforcement, "it would likely be directed against the prosecution, not defendants," Walsh said.

North, 45, a retired Marine lieutenant colonel, faces a possible 10-year sentence.

The jury convicted North of aiding and abetting the obstruction of a congressional inquiry into the Iran-Contra affair, destroying or altering official documents and accepting an illegal gratuity—the installation of a security fence outside his home by arms dealer Richard V. Seord.

North was acquitted of nine other charges.

Wright leaves door open for him to make comeback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Speaker Jim Wright has yet to resign from the House but already is toying with the idea of a comeback, saying he would consider accepting "an absolutely genuine draft of a bipartisan nature."

"I am not sure that I should consider it even then, but I do very earnestly appreciate it," the Texas Democrat said Tuesday in a statement.

Wright, who stepped down as speaker amid an ethics investigation, has said he will resign from the House this month but has not said precisely when. He was replaced as speaker on May 31 by Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash.

Over the weekend, Wright reportedly met in his hometown of Fort Worth with supporters who urged him to run for reelection to the seat in a move to gain political vindication.

"Naturally, I am touched by the warm and gracious spirit of the request, coming as it apparently does from a variety of different sources," Wright said. "I have not encouraged it. The only way that I could even consider it at all would be if it were an absolutely genuine draft of a bipartisan nature."

It is impossible to forecast what the ethics committee might do if Wright resigned and then won reelection to the House, panel attorney Mark Davis said Tuesday night.

Wright was investigated over alleged improprieties in a book deal and other matters touching on his personal finances.

To outlaw desecration of flag...

High court limits power of states

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today limited the power of states to outlaw the desecration or destruction of the American flag.

The justices, voting 5-4, threw out the conviction of a protester sentenced to a year in jail and fined $2,000 for burning the flag in Texas.

The court said a flag-burning at a demonstration in Dallas during the 1984 Republican National Convention was a form of expression protected by the Constitution's guarantee of freedom of speech.

Justice William J. Brennan, writing for the court, said, "If there is a bedrock principle underlying the 1st Amendment, it is that the government may not prohibit the expression of an idea simply because society finds the idea itself offensive or disagreeable."

"We do not consecrate the flag by punishing its desecration, for in doing so we dilute the freedom that this cherished emblem represents."

Joining Brennan were Justices Thurgood Marshall, Harry A. Blackmun, Antonin Scalia and Anthony M. Kennedy.

The dissenters were Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justices Byron R. White, Sandra Day O'Connor and John Paul Stevens.

Rehnquist, in an opinion joined by White and O'Connor, said the flag is a unique national symbol and deserves unique protection.

"The government may conscript men into the armed forces where they must fight and perhaps die for the flag," Rehnquist said. "But (because of today's ruling) the government may not prohibit the public burning of the banner under which they fight."

Today's ruling might permit states to outlaw flag burning in some cases. For example, a flag burning that led to a riot could still be illegal. Brennan said Texas already has a law banning conduct that leads to breaches of the peace, and that is not affected by today's ruling.

But Brennan said it violates constitutional free-speech guarantees to ban flag burning at political rallies or protests merely because the destruction of the flag offends some people or because the state wishes to preserve the flag as a symbol of national unity.

During the height of U.S. involvement in the fighting in Vietnam, draft-card burning and flag-burning were common forms of protest.

In a separate dissenting opinion, Stevens said, "sanctioning the public desecration of the flag will tarnish its value — both for those who cherish the ideas for which it waves and for those who desire to don the robes of martyrdom by burning it."

In an unusual move, both Stevens and Brennan read extensively from their opinions in the crowded courtroom today. Normally, justices only give brief summations of opinions at most when the rulings are announced.

At the center of today's case is Gregory "Joey" Johnson of New York City, a member of the Revolutionary Communist Youth Brigade.

He was arrested in Dallas in 1984 following a protest that ended in front of city hall with demonstrators pouring lighter fluid on and igniting an American flag authorities said was taken from a pole outside a bank building. The protesters chanted, "America, the red, white and blue, we spit on you."

Police said the demonstrators also overturned potted plants and spray-painted buildings during a destructive march through the city.

But the only criminal charge was against Johnson for violating a state law that forbids "the desecration of a venerated object" if that is likely to cause "serious offense."

Police officers who arrested Johnson said they were seriously offended by the flag burning. Also, an employee of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said he was so upset that he collected the charred fragments of the flag and later buried them in his backyard.

Helicopter rescues Fonda

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda was unharmed after becoming separated from companions in Sequoia National Park and spending the night alone on a mountain, her spokesman said.

Fonda didn't panic when she realized she was lost Sunday, said her publicist, Steve Rivers. She wrapped herself in an insulated blanket and ate a sandwich while she awaited help, he said.

Fonda hiked ahead of her six companions and apparently took a wrong turn, said Bill Tweed, a spokesman for the park 40 miles east of Fresno.

Her companions notified park officials when she failed to show up at Moose Lake, their destination, or at their Pear Lake base camp, Tweed said.

A helicopter crew found Fonda on top of a mountain early Monday and reunited her with her friends at the base camp.

School board meets Tuesday

the board. The vote was unanimous among trustees attending to include Mike Jordan, Terry Martin, Billy Bob McMullan, Ygnacio Benitez, Sam Robertson and Ann Walton. Luann Burleson was absent.

In other school business, the board:

—Approved 15 teachers for Level II career ladder status which involves a supplement of $1,500. The group qualified for the school year just completed and will receive a "lump sum" payment this summer. Those chosen were Karen Ensor and Kristina Reneau at East; Sandra Baker and Willita Farmer at Northeast; Meloney Early, Cindy Lickey and Sherry Patterson at West; Jo Ann Ham and Paula Howard at North; and Geneva Alvis, Diane Arnold, Milton Ham, Troy Lilly, Melinda Owens and Marshall Parham at the high school.

—Authorized administrators to seek bids to re-roof East Elementary and the cafeteria area at Northeast Elementary. Staffers were directed to seek bids for two options, laying the new roof over the existing tiles or stripping the old roof back to the decking before applying the new roof.

—Granted a request from representatives of the Snyder Soccer Association, who sought permission to install a larger building at the soccer playing fields which may be used as a combination concession stand and storage facility. Glen McGuire and Gerald Corkran asked also to install some type of soccer marker at the fields.

—Granted a request from chamber officials, who asked to use 10 district school buses as part of activities planned here for the July 22 "open house" which will mark the completion of the Price Daniel Unit.

—Accepted the resignations of three district staffers to include Richard Morley, director of special programs for the district. His wife, Joan, a science teacher at junior high, resigned also. Also resigning was Joe Nell Smylie, a fourth grade teacher at Stanfield.

—Approved a budget amendment related to the purchase of cafeteria equipment for next school year.

—Approved the district's application for federal funds. These will include some $196,000 in Chapter I funds, which involve the district's Computer Assisted Instruction (CAI) program; some $21,000 in Chapter II funds, used for such projects as the Homework Hotline; and some $18,000 to be used to help identify migrant students.

Raise sought by principals

West Elementary principal Gerri Parker, who commented, "We're not against our teachers moving up. But, we know we must depend on (the school board) for any raises, and we're asking you to take a look at us."

While state education agencies mandate basic levels for teacher pay, there is no state "schedule" for administrators, it was pointed out.

A formal request submitted to the board included signatures from each of the six elementary school principals here as well as the principal and assistant at the junior high and the two assistants and principal at the high school.

Trustees are now in the process of budget considerations for next year.

No action regarding the request was taken Tuesday during a budget workshop conducted by the board.

Truck flees as signs, poles hit

A fleeing tractor-trailer rig hit signs and poles belonging to the city, the state highway department and TU Electric at 4:12 p.m. Tuesday at 25th St. and Ave. J.

Police said the rig damaged a stop sign, a metal pole belonging to the highway department and a wooden utility pole of TU Electric's and then fled the scene without stopping.

Items missing out of vehicle

Police are investigating a motor vehicle burglary that was reported at 10:47 a.m. Tuesday in the 2200 Block of 25th St.

Jon Don Grimmer told officers that some parts had been taken off his vehicle and a stereo had been stolen from it.

Hospital Notes

ADMISSIONS: Frances Doty, 2006 37th #13; Myra Siller, 2609 Ave. Z; Gracie Degrate, Clairemont Rt.; Simon Mireles, Hermleigh.

DISMISSALS: Carolina Martinez.

News rack theft prompts arrests

A 19-year-old Snyder man and a 16-year-old boy were arrested for burglary of a coin-operated machine Tuesday in connection with a June 10 newspaper stand theft.

The two were taken into custody on the misdemeanor charge, with the juvenile later being released to a relative, in connection with the June 10 theft of a Snyder Daily News machine from outside G&G Grocery at Huffman Ave. and the Clairemont Hwy. in northern Snyder.

A detective said the machine had been pried open with a tire tool.

Other arrests included a 21-year-old man who was taken into custody for driving with his license suspended at 12:43 a.m. Wednesday in the 3400 Block of Ave. M.

A 63-year-old man was arrested for DWI at 1:45 a.m. Wednesday in the 1800 Block of 25th St. by city police and then released after passing an Intoxilizer breath alcohol content test at the sheriff's office.

June 22, 1989

Important changes could be in the offing in the year ahead where your work or career is concerned. How you respond to these shifting conditions will determine your degree of success in your chosen field of endeavor.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It could prove wise on your behalf to avoid speculative situations at this time. Lady Luck may be taking the day off and she won't be available in case you need her for back-up. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Disagreements between you and your mate should be resolved privately today. If either party brings in an outside party, things could really get complicated.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your chances for getting qualified help does not look too nifty today. If there is something you cannot do unaided, it's best to wait until another day when proper assistance is available.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today if you are trying to reciprocate where a social obligation is concerned, don't feel obliged to spend more on the recipient than was spent on you. It's the intention that counts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Situations over which you'll have little or no control may severely restrict your mobility today. Instead of getting frustrated, bite the bullet and flow with events.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Usually you're a rather optimistic person, but today you might evaluate people and things from a negative perspective. Instead of seeing opportunities, you may see only roadblocks.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be intimidated by your peers today and feel you must go along with something you really can't afford. It's different, of course, if they plan to foot the bill.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you hope to be successful and effective today, you will have to be decisive. You won't have much to show for your efforts if you can't make decisions and lack the courage of your convictions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Privileged information that comes your way today may be of little or no value. Before you act upon it, it might be wise to check out the facts with a second source.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) People you know little about should be dealt with in a cautious fashion today or else you might end up holding the short end of the stick. Be guarded regarding where you place your trust.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In a partnership arrangement today have a clear-cut understanding as to who is responsible for what. If ground rules are not established in advance, a serious misunderstanding is possible.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Guard against tendencies today to criticize others for the very same shortcomings you find intolerable in yourself. It's time to start forgiving everyone's human frailties, including your own.

Motel burns

IRVING, Texas (AP) — A three-alarm fire at a motel near the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport forced the evacuation of 20 guests but caused no injuries, fire officials said.

In 5 Texas cities...

Hispanics have majority population

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas has five of the six U.S. cities that are mostly Hispanic, Census Bureau figures show, with Laredo being the most Hispanic city in the nation.

Census bureau figures from 1985 show Laredo's population is 97.9 percent Hispanic.

The other Texas cities with Hispanics accounting for more than half the population are McAllen, 82.9 percent; Brownsville, 81 percent; El Paso, 67.5 percent and Corpus Christi, 50.5 percent, according to Census Bureau estimates. Las Cruces, N.M., is 56.5 percent, the Census reported Tuesday.

In its first detailed estimates of minorities by state since the Census Bureau conducted its 1980 head count, the agency said

Texas had 3.7 million Hispanic residents in 1985, second only to California's nearly 5.9 million.

Hispanics accounted for 22.8 percent of Texas' population in 1985, up from 21.1 percent in 1980, the Census Bureau said.

Texas also had 1.9 million black residents in 1985, who accounted for 11.8 percent of the population. In 1980, Texas has 1.7 million blacks who accounted for 12 percent of the state's population.

Laredo, which describes itself as "a little bit of Mexico," July 1, 1985, 1 19.4 percent increase in the Hispanic population from the 1980 total of 92,200.

Miguel Conchas, director of the Laredo and Webb County convention and visitor's bureau, said the Census Bureau figure seems "a little high." He said he would have estimated that Hispanic residents account for between 90 percent and 95 percent of the Rio Grande city's population.

Conchas said the Anglo population has increased slightly in the last two years, a period not reflected by the Census figures, due to the growth of the maquiladora industry in Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

Nuevo Laredo's 61 twin-plants have brought in mid- and top-management personnel from outside the state, many of whom are Anglo, Conchas said.

While seven flags have flown over the palm-tree lined city of conquistadores and cowboys — from Spain, France, Mexico, Texas, the Republic of the Rio Grande, the United States, and the Confederacy — Conchas estimates that if 97.9 percent of Laredo's residents are Hispanic, at least 95 percent are of Mexican descent.

The largest influx of Mexicans into Laredo was around the time of the Mexican revolution, Conchas said.

Nationally, the number of Hispanics increased from 14.3 million in 1980 to an estimated 17.5 million by July 1, 1985, for a five-year growth rate of 22.9 percent. The growth rate in Texas was 23.1 percent.

Cities with the greatest concentrations of Hispanics, after Los Angeles, are New York, 2.3 million, Miami, with 815,000 in 1985, San Francisco, 775,000, and Chicago, 757,000.

The Houston metropolitan area, with 595,000 Hispanics, ranked sixth nationally, followed by the metropolitan areas of San Antonio, 568,000; El Paso, 360,000; San Diego, 358,000; Dallas, 346,000; and McAllen, 281,000.

San Antonio's population was about 46 percent Hispanic in 1985, according to the census. The Houston area was nearly 17 percent and Dallas-Fort Worth area approximately 10 percent, the census found.

About 90 percent of the Hispanic population lives in metropolitan areas.

In the Southwest, 37 metropolitan areas had populations of more than 10 percent Hispanic. Outside the Southwest, only three cities — Miami, 28.3 percent, New York, 13.2 percent, and Yakima, Wash., with 17.3 percent, had populations of more than 10 percent.

Officials have suspect in tree case

AUSTIN (AP) — Police, who have a suspect in the poisoning of the centuries-old Treaty Oak, hope to solve the case soon, says an officer involved in the investigation.

Sgt. John Jones, who declined to give details Tuesday about the suspect, said people have been calling with tips about the poisoning of the historic live oak. The suspect had not been taken into custody, he said.

The tree was poisoned when Velpar, a Du Pont-made herbicide, was poured around its base several months ago.

John Giedraitis, city forester, said the tree is continuing to deteriorate, but officials hope it can recover. Another treatment to attack the chemical remaining in the soil was planned Wednesday.

One rumor was that a disgruntled city of Austin worker had poisoned the tree, but that tale likely is untrue, Jones said.

"The city never has bought any of that stuff and doesn't have it in stock," Jones said. The chemical costs $80 to $100 a gallon, he said.

Du Pont has offered a $10,000 reward for information leading to the conviction of the poisoner, and the Texas Forestry Association this week offered an additional $1,000 reward.

Value of the tree has been established at about $47,000 by using a "legally accepted formula," Jones said, and the case is being investigated as second-degree felony criminal mischief.

Giedraitis has said the formula includes such items as size and type of tree. It does not take into account the oak's historical value.

Investigating side effects of Vasotec

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 70-year-old woman with high blood pressure. My doctor had me on Inderal and recently changed me to Vasotec. Now I've begun having gallbladder pain. Could the new medicine be causing the trouble?

DEAR READER: Vasotec (enalapril) is a member of a class of drugs called ACE inhibitors that chemically block angiotensin-converting enzyme, a cause of hypertension. Among other side effects, it can cause abdominal pain in a small number of patients. The manufacturer does not list gallbladder problems as a consequence of Vasotec therapy. Ask your doctor to investigate the cause of your symptoms. Perhaps your gallbladder is acting up, an event unrelated to Vasotec therapy.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I was constantly bothered by yeast infections until my doctor suggested I take one or two Acidophilus pills per day (found at a local health-food store). I haven't had a single infection since. Perhaps this will help some of your readers.

DEAR READER: Acidophilus pills contain the harmless bacteria lactobacillus acidophilus. In some patients with a deficiency of normal intestinal bacteria (as can happen during and after antibiotic therapy), yeasts can grow and cause infection. By replacing intestinal bacteria with acidophilus, such patients may prevent overgrowth of yeast. Although this method doesn't work for everyone, it is sometimes successful. Because acidophilus therapy is harmless, it is entirely safe to use on a trial basis. Thank you for writing.

To give you additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Vaginal Infections and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 5-year-old son has been tested several times and has a trace of blood in his urine. How serious is this problem?

DEAR READER: Blood in the urine is always abnormal. It can reflect kidney disease, infection or growths in the urinary tract. Although a trace of blood in the urine may not be serious in all cases, the burden of proof is on the doctor to find the reason for the hematuria (blood in the urine).

In my opinion, your son should be examined by a pediatric urologist, who will probably arrange for specific testing of the urinary tract. This may include a CT scan or an intravenous pyelogram (IVP), X-ray tests of the kidneys and bladder. In addition, the doctor will wish to order a urine culture to rule out infection. Some children with hematuria need cystoscopy, during which the urologist examines the urinary tract with a lighted instrument.

Blood in the urine is a condition that should not be ignored. To give you additional information, I am sending you copies of my Health Reports "Kidney Disorders" and "Bladder." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 for each report to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Distortions denounced by Hatch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators sponsoring a major child care package say they are open to compromise with the White House but one of them, a Republican, says the GOP and conservative groups must first stop lying about the plan.

"I'm ashamed when I hear some of the arguments that I've heard on this floor," Sen. Orrin Hatch of Utah said Tuesday, criticizing Republican colleagues for spreading "misinformation and disinformation and distortions" about the child care proposal.

"I have no respect for people who distort the facts," Hatch said. "We have an obligation to tell the truth and let the chips fall as they may."

Hatch, who has been critical of the Bush administration's competing child care proposal, said he believed provisions of the president's tax-credit package could be merged with the revised Act for Better Child Care sponsored by Hatch and Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn.

"This should not be a partisan political issue," Hatch said. "We're willing to do what it takes to get a child care bill and we don't care who gets the credit for it."

Republican leader Bob Dole had planned to offer a White House-backed alternative to the ABC plan on Tuesday but held off as the GOP leadership sought support from Southern Democrats.

Sisters teach people about styling dogs

MILWAUKIE, Ore. (AP) — The phrase "doggie do" has a different meaning for two sisters who make it their livelihood.

Diane Fenger and Arlene Steinle train canine coiffeurs to handle everything from American Kennel Club show styles to the occasional doggie dye job.

The words "dog groomer" are taboo at their Tara Lara Academy of K-9 Hair Design because the sisters believe that's like saying the Cordon Bleu turns out cooks.

"We aren't teaching basic dog grooming," said Fenger, who founded the school 20 years ago with her sister. "We are teaching all-breed styling, including show work."

Fenger, a former hair-dresser, traded permanents for poodles in 1968. The academy, highlighted in the sisters' book, "The Standard Book of Dog Grooming," draws students from around the country. The school isn't cheap: $795 for a four-week groomer's assistant course, up to $2,995 for a 16-week master course.

Students scrub dogs in tubs, cut their hair and dry it with a blow dryer or a heated cage dryer. The finishing touch includes ribbons, scarves or bells.
