

Decision favors dial-a-porn industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to let Congress outlaw the billion dollar "dial-a-porn" industry, rejecting arguments that such a ban is needed to protect the nation's children.

The justices unanimously said Congress was not justified when it passed a law last year banning all sexually explicit telephone dial-a-porn message services.

The ban violates free-speech rights when applied to merely "indecent" messages, the court ruled.

The 1988 law made it a crime to use a telephone to make any "obscene or indecent" communication for commercial purposes. But its total ban was never imposed because U.S. District Judge A. Wallace Tashima in Los Angeles ruled it could be applied only to obscene — not merely indecent — phone messages.

The judge said that outlawing non-obscene messages, even though they may be inappropriate for minors, violates the free-speech protections of the Constitution's First Amendment.

Today, the nation's highest court said the law could be applied to obscene messages, but not to indecent ones.

"Sexual expression which is indecent but not obscene is protected by the (Constitution's

First Amendment," Justice Byron R. White wrote for the court.

In an argument session before the justices last April, the Bush administration urged that the total ban be reinstated.

Justice Department lawyer Richard Taranto said then that the ban is needed to "protect children from hearing patently offensive speech."

But Laurance Tribe, a Harvard law professor representing a dial-a-porn company, said technological safeguards blocking children's access to the racy messages make a total ban unnecessary and unconstitutional.

In today's decision, White said, "It may well be that there is no fail-safe method of guaranteeing that never will a minor be able to access the dial-a-porn system."

TDC-Cogdell pact undergoes changes

The proposed contract submitted by Cogdell Memorial Hospital to provide local care for Texas Department of Corrections inmates has undergone some changes from TDC, hospital board members were told Thursday.

Administrator Tom Hochwalt said he felt all of the changes were acceptable to Cogdell, but that he wanted the board to be aware of them.

The basic element of the contract, a "capitated payment" to Cogdell equaling $1,224 per inmate housed, is not affected. This amount is to be paid on a monthly basis.

Cogdell had asked that this payment be based on an "average" number of prisoners of 950. In a contract change, however, TDC has indicated it will be required by state law to pay for the exact number of prisoners housed rather than an average.

"There is a law that the state cannot pay for services not rendered," Hochwalt explained. As a result, the payment must be based on actual figures rather than an estimate since it is possible the number of prisoners might fall below 950.

In another change, TDC will not make the first capitated payment effective July 1 since the prison will not actually be open on that date. The rule was cited again related to payment for only services actually received.

The state agency is considering a reimbursement to Cogdell for direct costs related to the prison care startup, however, effective See TDC, page 9

Doc searches said highly competitive

How to be competitive in the field of physician recruitment was profiled for the Cogdell Memorial Hospital board Thursday by a staffer with the Atlanta-based firm of Tyler and Company.

In a word, the competition is "stiff," noted Don Gustavson, who said it is now estimated that 60 percent of all U.S. hospitals are "looking to recruit physicians."

Gustavson's company was recently employed by Cogdell to recruit a family practitioner and an obstetrics-gynecologist for the local staff.

Given the current demand for doctors, he told the board Thursday that a "search" by his company takes on the average some eight months before the physician reports to the facility.

Regarding the possibility of ultimately relocating a medical doctor, he quoted the chances at 80 percent.

Gustavson's appearance before the board was part of a visit locally to acquaint himself with the medical facility and local physicians.

One of the strong points regarding Cogdell's chances for securing any new doctors, he said, is the cooperation being shown by the medical staff.

A new physician coming in would "look for backup," he said. "All things being equal, they re going to go to a community which shows the most interest."

Gustavson's report came during the regular June meeting of the board.

During the monthly financial report by Administrator Tom Hochwalt, he noted the start of summer has created an expected lull in admissions and, as a result, the facility experienced a net loss for the month of $100,946.

WTC museum to plan 15th year observance

The Scurry County Museum will be observing its 15th anniversary in August and would like to borrow photographs and other items relating to the history of the museum for a special exhibit.

"We would like to have these items as quickly as possible so we can plan the exhibit," Shirley Leftwich, museum director, said. Items from the museum collection will also be used.

Information about the anniversary observance and the special exhibit can be obtained by calling the museum at 573-6107.

Persons who would like to loan items for the exhibit may take them to the museum on weekdays. Under a new summer schedule, the museum will be closed on Friday afternoons.

Museum hours will now be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Fridays and 1-4 p.m. on Sundays.

The museum is currently featuring watercolors by Phoebe Whatley Tyson of Austin and photographs by Ashton Thornhill of Lubbock. This exhibit will remain in place through July 4.

Information about the museum can be obtained by calling the office at 573-6107.

Tanker spill

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) — Next stop is San Diego for the crippled tanker Exxon Valdez, three months after being impaled on a reef, shredding its hull and causing the nation's worst oil spill.

Exxon spokesman Henry Beathard said the tanker lifted anchor early this morning and got under way. But the vessel, which is empty of oil, progressed only about two miles in the first two hours "because of some turns it had to make to get out in the channel," he said.

Seas were calm, but there was fog and a low cloud ceiling that prevented officials to keep an eye on the ship's departure from the air, he said.

The Coast Guard expects the vessel will have a safe journey and cause no further environmental damage as it moves 2,500 miles down the Pacific Ocean to a dry dock at San Diego.

Rejoins clubs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has rejoined three clubs he quit last summer after being picked as the Democratic vice presidential nominee, his spokesman said today, contending that the clubs have no membership restrictions.

Bentsen has rejoined River Oaks Country Club, the Middleburg Tennis Club in Middleburg, Va., and the Ramada Club of Houston, spokesman Jack DeVore said. The Houston Post, which first reported the senator's decision in today's editions, said officials at two of the three say their groups have no black members.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT Can you discuss positional vertigo?

DEAR READER Each of us has a gyroscope in each ear called the semicircular canals. These small but complex organs relay messages to the brain, telling us the positions of our heads. Head movement causes stimulation of the semicircular canals, and we perceive motion. Violent, repetitive movement causes overstimulation of the canals with resulting dizziness, nausea and feeling unwell — the syndrome of motion sickness.

Occasionally normal people will experience a sensation of spinning in the absence of motion. This is called vertigo and is due to a poorly understood irritation of the semicircular canals. Vertigo may occur only when the head is in certain positions and not in others, hence, positional vertigo. This indicates that part of the balance mechanism, but not all of it, is malfunctioning.

These unpleasant sensations may be secondary to virus infection or diminished circulation to the semicircular canals. The vertigo is usually benign, lasting for a few hours or days and then disappears as quickly as it came. Treatment with medicine helps the condition, but most people simply avoid head positions that cause symptoms.

Administrator: Williams did vote in 1986 elections

MIDLAND — Republican gubernatorial hopeful Clayton Williams apparently did vote in the last race for governor, says Midland County election administrator Betty Calvert.

On Wednesday, she told a newspaper the prominent local oilman didn't vote in 1986, but a deeper check of records Thursday found that he did.

"I made an error," Mrs. Calvert said. "I wish the mistake hadn't been made."

Mrs. Calvert explained she based her discussion with The Dallas Morning News on a check of poll lists, which voters must sign before they receive a ballot.

As she fielded other calls from reporters Thursday, she noticed an "R" designation on the poll list with the names of Williams and his wife, Modesta, from the May 1986 Republican primary.

"An 'R' indicates a returned (registration) certificate. A thought passed my mind that they had come to vote without the Benign positional vertigo is a common disorder. DEAR DR. GOTT I'm tired of the urge to have intercourse. What would be the results if I were castrated?

DEAR READER By removing the major source of male-hormone production, castration causes a loss of sex drive and sexual performance.

This seems to be a pretty radical and permanent approach to your problem. Why not talk to your doctor about other options? For example, if you are bothered by sexual urges, counseling (with or without the use of medicine) could help you better to deal with the situation.

Rather than considering surgery for your problem, I think you would be better off seeking a less drastic approach. Undergoing castration for the reason you mention is somewhat like having your stomach removed to prevent hunger. I believe your doctor could refer you for more appropriate therapy.

Billion-dollar project still on

MIDLAND, Texas (AP)—The president of a pipeline company has told its shareholders a billion dollar project in on sure footing, although its property has been foreclosed on and its permits revoked, a newspaper reported.

Cecil Owens, president of Pacific & Texas Pipeline & Transportation Co., wrote to shareholders recently that his plans to complete his billion-dollar dream of a transcontinental oil pipeline from the Port of Los Angeles to Midland were alive and well, the Odessa American reported in a copyright story.

"To the disappointment of some we are still in business and planning for the future," Owens wrote in a letter dated May 25.

However, the project's future looks cloudy after the last Texas remnant of the company's $1.6 billion project — a proposed tank farm in Midland — was auctioned on the courthouse steps last month.

Construction did not begin on the proposed 1,032-mile project as planned March 1, and financial and regulatory problems plaguing Pacific Texas surfaced throughout the transcontinental route.

Owens assured stockholders that Pacific Texas has secured the necessary permits, but right of way grants terminated in January by the Bureau of Land Management have not been reinstated, according to BLM officials.

Owens apparently still plans to keep Midland as the pipeline's termination point, even though the California-based company announced in April that it was moving the eastern end of the project to Jai, N.M.

The southeastern New Mexico town will be used only as an additional terminal on the pipeline route giving the company "access to all the existing lines that we need for the transfer of our crude to other systems at Midland, Texas, as we have always planned," the letter states.

"We are NOT changing the project terminus only adding a terminal," the letter states.

Pacific Texas vice president Mike Owens also claimed in April that the state of New Mexico offered economic incentives to the company, but Lanelda Rolly, public information officer for the New Mexico Economic Development and Tourism office, said Tuesday that no incentive package had been granted to the company.

Jai mayor Jim Pierson told the American that he has not been contacted by the company since it initially announced the move.

Cecil and Mike Owens did not return phone calls to their homes in Scottsdale, Ariz., and Long Beach, Calif.

Pacific Texas, evicted from two offices in Midland for failure to pay rent, also was barred from its San Pedro, Calif., office for the same reason.

But in the letter, Cecil Owens said Pacific Texas closed its Midland office to consolidate it with an office in Phoenix. The company also will maintain an office in the Los Angeles Harbor area, the letter stated.

"These are cost saving measures, but also positive moves for the betterment and compliance with the requirements of our project," the letter states.

Cecil Owens also is facing a hearing on three criminal charges in California alleging he paid an employee $2,110 in wages with insufficient checks.

Carolyn Castro, a California Division of Labor Standards spokeswoman, said restitution was made, but the judicial authority still needs to decide whether sanctions will be assessed.

Those possible sanctions include six months in prison, a $500 fine or both, Ms. Castro said.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't make changes today merely for change's sake, because this could prove to be self-defeating. Be sure there are valid reasons behind any alterations you implement.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It will be necessary for you to set the proper example first in order to encourage others to be cooperative with you today. Your wait isn't apt to be fruitful if you hope they'll make the initial move.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you didn't do what was expected of you the last couple of days when conditions were more favorable, you might have to answer for your lack of action today. Don't get further behind the 8-ball.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conditions in general are rather favorable for you today, but there is a chance something unpleasant might develop in your social area. Don't make it a big deal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might have to contend with someone today who believes to be superior to others. Don't let this egotist make you feel inferior.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you have to do complicated mental work today, be sure to have someone bright and dependable go behind you to check all of your facts and figures.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Financial conditions appear to be mixed for you at this time. This is a period where your gains and losses might cancel one another out.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your wisest course of action today is not to count your chickens before they hatch. Conditions are a trifle uncertain and they might not adhere to your game plan.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A lot more responsibilities than you're anticipating might be dumped in your lap today by others. Getting uptight or ranting and raving won't lessen the load.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Things should go reasonably smooth with your friends today, but don't expect optimum behavior on their behalf. After all, they are as imperfect as you are.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're going to have to push yourself a bit harder than usual if you hope to achieve your ambitious objectives today. You can do it, so don't let minor setbacks discourage you.

Confessed murderer executed in Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—A confessed murderer was put to death today by lethal injection for the slayings of two men he thought were homosexuals.

Sean Patrick Flanagan, 28, had refused to seek appeals of his death penalty for the 1987 killings in Las Vegas. One of his victims was dismembered.

After he was strapped to the gurney at the Nevada State Prison, Flanagan lifted his head and told the man who prosecuted him, "I love you." He was declared dead at 2:09 a.m.

Flanagan was the fourth person put to death in Nevada and the 114th nationally since the 1976 U.S. Supreme Court ruling allowing states to resume use of the death penalty. He was the second person executed this week in Nevada.

A last-minute bid by the American Civil Liberties Union of Nevada to intervene in his behalf was rejected late Thursday by Gov. Robert Miller.

"I'm paying my debt to society," Flanagan said in an interview Wednesday. "If I had to live, I'd live. I do not have that choice."

"Every man who has committed a crime of murder knows deep down inside he should die for taking another man's life," he said. "These men have no right to life."

Flanagan apologized to the families of his victims for "the horrible burdens I've put in their lives. I hope they'll understand my execution is proper and just."

Flanagan said he became involved in homosexual activity while in the Marines.

"I'm just as wicked and nasty as Ted Bundy. I believe if I had not been arrested, I would have ended up being another Ted Bundy against homosexuals," said Flanagan.

Bundy was executed earlier this year in Florida after admitting to the serial killings of women throughout the country.

But Flanagan said he is no longer violence-prone. "After giving my life to Jesus, I couldn't hurt anybody again," he said.

Flanagan provided a rambling seven-page statement in which he said he hated his homosexuality. He said it was difficult for him to determine what made him kill homosexual men, but "the thought that I would be doing some good for our society crossed my mind."

Flanagan spent Thursday with family members and a minister, said Warden Pete Demosthenes.

The first of his victims befriended him, bought him some clothes and got him a room, Flanagan said. James Lewandowski, a 45-year-old chef, was strangled and dismembered. The body parts were put in plastic bags and tossed into a trash bin near the motel. The remains were never recovered.

Cleaner water will cost Americans more

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of households are expected to face higher water bills because of new federal rules that are designed to make water safer to drink, says the Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA announced new regulations Thursday which will require local water authorities serving an estimated 150 million people to rid drinking water of a variety of germs that are annually blamed for 90,000 illnesses, including diarrhea, nausea and upset stomachs.

About a third of the nearly 10,000 water systems subject to the new requirements will have to install new filtration equipment or make other expensive adjustments over the next four years to comply with the federal requirements.

In many cases local authorities will be given up to four years to install the equipment required by the new federal water standards, said EPA spokesman Dave Ryan.

The communities that already use filtration as a way of decontaminating their drinking water may have to make other, less costly, adjustments such as improving their chemical treatment procedures, the agency said.

The EPA estimated the new requirements will cost $3 billion overall for initial equipment and add about $500 million a year to operating costs. These costs are expected to be passed on to water customers.

The increases in household water bills are likely to vary widely depending on the size of the public water system and whether the system already has some filtration equipment. In some cases compliance to the regulations will require modest adjustments, while others will need entirely new filtration systems.

In communities where water systems serve fewer than 500 customers and where no filtration is now used, household water bills could increase as much as $30 to $50 a month, the EPA estimated. The increases in urban areas where the cost may be more widely distributed are likely to be about $6 a month or less if some filtration equipment already is being used, the EPA said.

"These rules are a major step forward in providing maximum protection for our nation's drinking-water supplies," said EPA Administrator William K. Reilly. He called the more stringent requirements "a major step forward in providing maximum protection for our nation's drinking water supplies."

The regulations, which apply only to communities where drinking water comes from surface sources such as rivers and streams, are aimed at reducing the risk of illness from microscopic living organisms such as viruses, bacteria and protozoa.

The EPA estimated Americans are subjected to tens of thousands of illnesses annually from such waterborne germs and that those estimates might be low because such illnesses often go unreported or are not linked to water contamination.

The agency said estimated 90,000 such illnesses could be avoided each year because of the improvements.

Local doctor's achievements reported here

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Dr. Paul A. Thompson of Snyder has completed continuing medical education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP), the national association of family doctors.

The requirements call for the members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. The Academy, the country's largest medical association with more than 60,000 members, was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969.

Best-adapted survivors of Holocaust suppress memory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jewish holocaust survivors who adjusted best to life after World War II were able to seal away their traumas so successfully that they protect even their present-day dreams, according to an Israeli study.

The findings suggest that modern techniques of treating post-traumatic stress syndrome, such as that suffered by Vietnam war veterans, may actually be aggravating the disorder instead of curing it, said Peretz Lavie, a psychology professor at Technion-Israel Institute of Technology in Haifa where the study was conducted.

In a paper prepared for presentation today at the annual meeting of the Association of Professional Sleep Societies, Lavie said a study of a group of survivors of the Holocaust found those who were the most healthy mentally had learned to suppress recall of virtually all dreams.

This group, he said, also "had no sleep disturbances whatsoever," enjoying peaceful and untroubled sleep before and after the awakenings.

The poorly-adjusted Holocaust survivors, however, had a 60 percent dream recall, and "showed all the signs of post-traumatic stress disorders" in their sleeping pattern, said Lavie.

Lavie said the few dreams recalled by the well-adjusted were short, simple and devoid of emotions.

"The dreams of the poorly-adjusted included anxiety, regression — inwardly directed. It was mostly all anxiety," he said.

When slumber reached a point called rapid eye movement, or REM, sleep, they were awakened and asked to recount their dreams.

Previous studies have shown that most people awakened during REM sleep can recall dreams about 80 percent of the time.

"The well-adjusted had only 30 percent dream recall," said Lavie. "When we woke them up they denied dreaming. They were disappointed that they couldn't remember any dreams because they truly wanted to help our study."

cesses, such as heart beat, respiration and brain activity, were monitored.

Acquisition of idle steel plant completed

HOUSTON (AP) — Northwestern Steel and Wire Co. completed its $90 million acquisition of the idle Armco Inc. steel mill in the Houston Ship Channel, officials said.

The Sterling, Ill.-based company has been eyeing the Houston plant for three years, and the planned acquisition of the Houston mill was announced more than two years ago. It has been delayed by the sale of Northwestern through a leveraged buyout, whereby 51 percent of the company now is owned by employees. The buyout was completed last August.

At its Illinois facility, he said. The new plant initially plans to employ about 80 people and is expected to create 200 jobs by the time it opens in 1990. The total employment figure is half of the new jobs originally expected.

The Armco facility employed 4,500 workers at its peak, but the New Jersey firm began massive layoffs in 1983. Blaming steel imports, the company closed the plant a year later.

Three B Oil in Midland buys refinery

Three B Oil Co. of Midland has recently purchased a refinery in Wickett valued at $20 million with plans of renovation.

Bill Watson, an Ira graduate, and his three children, Barry, Brad, and Bambi Watson Harvey, are partners in Three B which was established in 1965 and operates oil and gas wells in Pecos, Ward, Reeves, Ector and Crockett Counties. The company has offices in Midland, Monahans and San Angelo.

The new refinery, 70 miles southwest of Midland, was purchased from Adobe Resources for an undisclosed price. The refinery will produce naphtha, kerosene, diesel, gas, oil and asphalt.

The company plans to have the facility ready to produce by Oct. 1. It will process 8,000 barrels of crude oil a day from California and West Texas. About 20 workers will run the facility.

Bill Watson is the founder of the local business, Watson Packers. He is the son of Mrs. Joe LaPour of Snyder.

Use cold logic for a cold game

By James Jacoby

A good declarer has to be ready with cold logic when proper card play gives him important information about the distribution of a key suit in the defenders' hands. South had enough values to rebid two no-trump after North responded with two clubs. But maybe North should now have passed. He knew that South had less than 15 points (their agreed range for a one-no-trump opening), but carried on to the game hoping that the club suit and the entry to his hand via the spade ace would pick up the slack.

But the entry to dummy disappeared at the second trick. When declarer played a low spade from dummy on the opening lead, East won the king and returned the suit. Declarer led a club from dummy and East went up with the ace. South followed low, without thought. The subsequent play is unimportant. Declarer overtook the club jack in an attempt to run the suit, but was set because of West's club length.

What logic should have saved South? No defender able to sort his cards would think of going up with the club ace on the first lead of that suit unless he had no choice. If declarer realizes that the ace must be singleton, he will unblock the club jack. He can then later lead to the K-Q-9 and put in the nine to run five club tricks, which will be enough for him to make the contract.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books. © 1989, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Evidence against Pete Rose extensive, says investigator

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose could be banned from baseball for life if Commissioner A. Bartlett Giamatti believes evidence in a damaging report on the Cincinnati Reds' manager.

Whether Giamatti gets to make that determination soon is up to a state judge who was told Thursday that baseball's investigators have solid evidence that Rose bet on his own team.

Baseball investigator John M. Dowd outlined the evidence, saying his investigators had telephone records, taped conversations, checks signed by Rose, and "betting sheets" that have been verified as bearing Rose's handwriting.

The evidence is substantial, with nine witnesses giving information about Rose betting on baseball games or the Reds, according to Dowd.

While defending his report Thursday against attacks by Rose's lawyers, Dowd said he's taken no enjoyment from presenting the case against baseball's all-time hits leader.

"Do I like it? No," Dowd said. "There isn't a day I haven't felt enormous sadness about this matter."

Baseball's special investigator unveiled the case against Rose during a hearing related to Rose's lawsuit against Giamatti. Rose sued him earlier this week, asserting the commissioner is biased and has already decided against him.

The hearing Thursday was on Rose's request for a temporary restraining order that would block his meeting scheduled Monday with Giamatti in New York — the final step before the commissioner decides the case. Dowd was to be cross-examined today by Rose's lawyers to complete the hearing, and Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Norbert A. Nadel was expected to make a decision soon thereafter.

Baseball attorney Louis L. Hoynes Jr. told Nadel that it's important to let the commissioner use his full authority in deciding Rose's case.

"What's at stake here is the integrity of the game of major-league baseball," Hoynes said.

Tennis tourney is slated here

The annual Snyder Fourth of July Open, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, will be held July 3-5 at the junior high tennis courts.

Events include boys and girls 12, 14, 16 and 18 singles and doubles; mens and womens singles and doubles; mens B singles and doubles; mens 35 singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

Trophies will be awarded for first and second place in all events. Players may play three events in two age divisions plus mixed doubles. Entry fee is $9 per person, per event. Entry deadline is Saturday, July 1.

The tournament will start Monday, July 3 at 9 a.m. Doubles will not begin until Tuesday, July 4, at 5 p.m.

For more information, contact Charlie Chrane at (915) 573-8602. Entries may be mailed to 4106 Jacksboro, Snyder, Texas, 79549.

Evans also wanted in Duncanville

DUNCANVILLE, Texas (AP) — Police in this Dallas suburb have issued an arrest warrant for a former Dallas Carter High School football player on a charge of armed robbery in the holdup of a dry cleaning establishment, authorities say.

Derric Evans, the 18-year-old All-America defensive back who was charged along with a teammate Wednesday in connection with two armed robberies of South Oak Cliff video stores, was named Thursday in an arrest warrant in the June 7 robbery of Bell Cleaners.

Duncanville Police Lt. Ernest Hughes said Evans was linked to the robbery by a right-hand palm print left by one of two men who brandished a revolver and demanded money at the cleaning establishment.

Royce West, an attorney representing Evans, said Evans would surrender to Duncanville authorities.

Bond has been set at $25,000 on the Duncanville charge.

Hoynes and Dowd then made it clear that Rose's future standing in the game also is at stake.

"There is evidence, substantial and heavily corroborated evidence, that Mr. Rose bet large sums of money on major-league baseball games and on games of the Cincinnati Reds," Hoynes said.

The evidence is contained in a 225-page report by Dowd and seven volumes of exhibits that were wheeled into the courtroom Thursday. Nadel has decided to keep the report confidential, against the wishes of Hoynes.

Dowd explained that the report involves testimony and evidence from more than 80 witnesses and is broken into segments.

Dowd's testimony revealed the following evidence:

— A handwriting expert employed by baseball concluded that Rose's handwriting is on "betting sheets" that contain bets on professional sports, including baseball. Paul Janszen,

Locals ladies are academic all-state picks

Melody Pickering and Holly Fuller have been named to the Class 4A All-State Academic Team, Snyder High School girl's basketball coach Ken Housden noted this week.

"This is a great honor," said Coach Housden. "You have to be a starter on your team and ranked very high in your class. I think there were only 20 chosen in Class 4A."

Pickering, a four-year letterman in basketball, had a 5.08 grade point average and was ranked third in her class. She also participated in volleyball. She was all-district in volleyball and honorable mention in basketball.

Pickering, a post player, was the Tigers' second leading rebounder.

Fuller was a three-year letterman who competed in basketball, volleyball and track. She played point-guard for the Lady Tiger basketball team and led the team in assists.

Fuller was ranked fourth in her class and had a 4.96 gpa.

"We're real proud of both of these girls," said Housden.

Big Spring's Tami Wise also represented District 4-4A on the academic all-state squad.

Snyder A's advance to championship tilt

HAMLIN — Snyder's Athletics edged Robert Lee 7-5 here Thursday to advance to the championship game of an area Little League Tournament.

The A's are scheduled against Merkel at 7:30 p.m. today.

Reagan Key worked the mound for Snyder on Thursday, striking out 13 batters and allowing just two hits. The left hander got wild in the fourth inning when Robert Lee came up with four runs on walks.

Lee Idom led the Snyder offense with a three-run homer in the third inning. Lionel Aviles

Evans, a high school All-American defensive back on the Class 5A state championship team, and Gary Bernard Edwards, 17, were free on $10,000 bonds in the video store robberies.

University of Tennessee coach Johnny Majors said Evans, considered the best of the 1989 recruiting class at the school, will not be allowed to play for the Volunteers.

"Because of the serious charges involving Derric Evans, I have decided that he will not be allowed to participate in football at the University of Tennessee," Majors said. "In no way am I making judgment of the facts concerning Derric's case."

Majors said he would release who claims he ran Rose's bets, took the sheets from Rose's house.

— The FBI has the original copies of those "betting sheets" and has tested them for fingerprints. Baseball wants to get the results of the fingerprint analysis, but Rose's lawyers are reluctant to join in a request.

Brown pitches the distance as Texas wins two of three

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Bob by Valentine says his Texas Rangers are facing a tough stretch and "it's time for us to fasten our seat belts and go hard."

And, from veteran slugger Gene Petralli to rookie Kevin Brown, the Rangers appear ready to do just that after taking two of three games from Boston.

With Petralli going 2-3 for a 10-12 series, Brown became just the second right-hander to go the distance against Boston this season on Thursday night.

also accounted for three RBI with a trio of singles. Chris Roemisch and Key also turned in a single and an RBI each.

Snyder broke a 5-5 tie in the sixth when Chad Carter walked, moved to second on a walk issued to Roemisch, took third on a sacrifice fly from Peter Cisneros and scored on a fielder's choice hit by Orlando Martinez. Aviles later singled home Roemisch to provide insurance.

Idom, author of Monday's 8-0 win over Colorado City, will likely get the start for Snyder tonight against Merkel.

Evans from his national letter of intent if the teen-ager asks. That would allow him to accept a scholarship at another school, but he would have to sit out a year and would lose a year of eligibility.

State Farm slapped with discrimination suit

HOUSTON (AP) — A $100 million lawsuit accusing State Farm Insurance Co. of discriminating against women and minorities when hiring is similar to a lawsuit filed against the company last year, an attorney said.

Seven Texas women, in the class action suit filed Thursday, accuse State Farm, one of the nation's largest insurance firms, of discriminating against minorities who wanted to become sales agents, claims adjusters, and underwriters and reserving those jobs for white males.

"This case is like that case," said Guy Saperstein, an Oakland, Calif., attorney who won a similar suit against State Farm in that state last year. "It's brought on behalf of all women. And we think it's representative of what happened to women in Texas. There were a lot of tactics used to discourage women."

He alleged women were told they would need a large investment in order to become an agent, that the nighttime work could be dangerous and that the long hours could disrupt their family life.

"None of those statements is true," he said. "What's amazing about the Texas case is meeting these women and how it took me back to California. Their stories are almost identical to what I heard in California."

The Texas case, which stems from complaints filed by the women in 1980 with the U.S.

Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, was assigned to U.S. District Judge David Hittner. Saperstein said he expected it to go to trial within two years.

Working with Saperstein in the case is Houston attorney Steve Susman, who recently represented former House Speaker Jim Wright in proceedings before the House Ethics Committee.

Jim Stahly, a spokesman for Bloomington, Ill.-based State Farm, said he knew little of the suit, but insisted the company had been cooperating with the EEOC.

"In fact, all along the way we've asked the EEOC to identify those individuals who believed they had been discriminated against to correct any injustices there may have been, but the EEOC has not provided us with the names," he said.

"We have a good record in Texas," he added, noting that the company's Texas region included 895 agents — 126 female and 125 minorities.

State Farm also has 2,337 employees in the region, 1,540 of whom are female and 929 minorities, he said.

Of 61 agents in training over the last two years, 40 are either female and/or minorities, Stahly said.

Named as plaintiffs in the suit are: Yolanda M. Estrada of El Paso; Judith G. Grube of Austin; Stephanie Hawley of Austin; Carolyn L. Hutton of San Antonio; Mirna Lynch of Dallas; Vel Yvette Payad of Dallas; and Suzanne Petersen of Irving.

"It cost me two years because I had to start all over again," said Mrs. Grube, who works for Farmers Insurance Co. and described herself as an award-winning agent who has generated more business than any other female agent in the company.

She said she applied for a State Farm job in 1982 after working as a secretary for a State Farm agent but was told she did not have a college degree and did not fulfill a minimum net worth requirement.

"I'm not really bitter," she said. "Maybe angry, hurt. It's very difficult to be told you're not good enough when you are and show you could do it." "I want other people who come in to get opportunities that were ripped away from us," added Mrs. Payad.

Mrs. Payad said she was offered a job as State Farm agent in 1980 and accepted it only to be told a few days later that she was rejected. She applied again in 1988 and was rejected. She now works for another insurance company in Dallas.

In the California case, State Farm agreed to name women to half of its sales agents jobs and pay millions of dollars to women who contended they were discriminated against from 1974 to 1987.

Protest new owner's rules...

Fourteen Dallas Cowboy cheerleaders quit

DALLAS (AP) — Fourteen veteran members of the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders have quit the team because new owner Jerry Jones wants them to wear skimpier uniforms, fraternize with the players and appear in beer commercials.

"When Roger Staubach went out, he went out on top. They have retired. I'm resigning," said Debbie Bond, 36, director of Cowboys Cheerleaders.

Ms. Bond, who has been with the organization for 10 years, said she talked with Jones on Thursday after hearing that the Arkansas oilman who purchased the team earlier this year had told the players there would be fraternization between the players and cheerleaders.

"He said, 'You can either accept it or move on,'" Ms. Bond said. "Mr. Jones does not believe in rules."

Ms. Bond resigned this morning, a Cowboys spokeswoman said.

"I was not aware of the concern, nor was I certainly aware that any of those cheerleaders were having those kinds of feelings," Jones told KRLD radio this morning.

"I'm going to be in the future visiting with them. I've never met them, at all. I've only visited with Debbie Bond three times," Jones said.

Jones declined further comment, pending an afternoon news conference.

Neither Jones nor his spokesman could be reached for comment today.

"Last night, we were told about the changes — being able to fraternize with all of the players and in the executive offices and playing hostesses at parties," said Twigg Isip, 21, a two-year squad veteran, who also said she would be leaving. "Suggestions were being made that the uniforms be changed to biker shorts and a halter top."

"These changes are not good changes," Ms. Isip said. "All the things that the Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders have worked to become would be gone. If these changes were to be made, we would be like any other NFL cheerleaders. We're more than that."

All 14 veterans have said they will leave the team. The other 23 rookie members have until Monday to decide if they will stay with the team. The squad has been training in summer camp since May 6.

The squad that has cheered on what was once America's Team set the standards for NFL cheerleaders beginning with Super Bowl X in 1976 when a cheerleader winked into a camera and captured the attention of the nation, Ms. Bond said.

They had their first open auditions in the spring of 1976, with cheerleaders now working for a salary of $15 a game — $13.94 after taxes, said Suzanne Mitchell, who founded the new squad at former president and general manager Tex Schramm's suggestion.

Ms. Mitchell resigned after 15 years with the Cowboys when Jones bought the team in February. She has joined Schramm at the Worldwide League of American Football.

"I'm the one who established all those rules in the first place," Ms. Mitchell said today. "It separated the Cowboys Cheerleaders from everybody else."

Ms. Mitchell said the line between the players and the cheerleaders was important to maintain respect for the performers.

"I think it's important that they separate the two entities," she said.

Ms. Mitchell said the squad did more than dance routines and shake pompons, including making 18 Department of Defense tours, visiting nursing homes and children's hospitals, and performing on telethons to raise

Three wrecks all said minor

Police investigated three minor traffic accidents Thursday, the first requiring a vehicle to be towed.

At 6:42 a.m. in the 200 Block of 20th St., a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Roy G. Jasso of 324 1/2 29th St. was in collision with a 1976 Oldsmobile driven by Jesus V. Medrano of 1202 20th. The Jasso car had to be towed.

A 1986 Ford driven by Jennifer M. Beck of Rt. 3 was in collision with a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Billy D. Jones of 302 23rd St. at 11:32 a.m. in the 1500 Block of 11th St.

A 1982 Chevrolet pickup driven by Marcus S. Parham of 1704 Ave. R was in collision with a 1986 Honda Accord driven by Patricia L. Sharp of 2100 42nd St. at 7:01 p.m. in the Sonic Drive In parking lot at 4100 College Ave.

Law prompts arrest

A 29-year-old man was arrested for failure to have liability insurance or a driver's license and driving on the wrong side of the road at 7:45 a.m. Thursday at 28th St. and Ave. D.

A 20-year-old man was taken into custody for public intoxication and evading arrest at 12:01 a.m. Friday in the 3000 Block of Ave. M, and a 30-year-old man was arrested for PI and unlawfully carrying weapons, two metal pipes, at 1:01 a.m. Friday in the 800 Block of 29th St.

Radio missing from vehicle

Police are investigating three theft cases that were reported Thursday, one involving the theft of a radio from a 1970 Pontiac belonging to Salvador Aguirre of 911 28th St.

Aguirre reported that the radio was missing at 1:15 p.m. Thursday.

Billy Ward of 2512 26th St. told officers at 7:45 p.m. Thursday that an edger had been stolen at his residence.

Dan Howell at Mason's Automotive Service at 1907 43rd St. reported at 12:55 p.m. Thursday that a tire had been stolen from a vehicle.

The losses are still an improvement over last year, however, with a minus $146,032 counted to date compared to a minus $235,094 last year at this time.

Two capital equipment requests were approved by the board also involving a blood gas machine, estimated to cost $24,251; and two monitor defibrillators, estimated to cost $11,082.

Under information items, it was noted:

—The hospital will be changing its third party administrator for its self-insurance plan from the firm of Boon-Chapman of Austin to the firm of Alta Health Strategies Inc.

—In the weeks ahead, Hochwalt will be meeting local entities asking them to adopt resolutions in support of Cogdell's doctor recruitment effort. Meetings are planned with the commissioners court, Board of County Development, Western Texas College, City of Snyder and Snyder ISD. The purpose, he said, would be to "educate the community" regarding these plans.

—An open house has been set for July 16, a Sunday, from 1 until 3 p.m. for the renovated hospital wing which will be used for TDC prisoners.

Members attending Thursday's meeting included Dan Cotton, who presided, G.A. Parks, Jackie Smith, Janet Hall and ex-officio member Bobby Goodwin. Absent were Roy McQueen and Jim Palmer.

July 1. Hochwalt said this might total from $40,000 to $50,000.

In another change, TDC has specified it wanted the contract's re-negotiation option to first go into effect one year after the agreement was implemented rather than at the completion of the first six months.

This option is viewed as an opportunity for both parties, Cogdell and TDC, to have the chance to review actual costs and to make adjustments if it is felt necessary.

the district's "fund balance," the reserve account which is not budgeted for specific items and generates a significant amount of interest income annually.

The district now estimates its reserve account at $3.8 million, approximately the amount it would cost to operate the school system for just over three months.

Assuming the tax rate was increased to $1.02, the Snyder ISD tax bill for property valued at $50,000 would be $510. Under the current rate, this property generated a tax bill of $495.

If the rate went to $1.06, the tax bill for this property would be $530.

U.S. relief worker released 30 hours after kidnapping

JERUSALEM (AP) — An American relief worker kidnapped by suspected Palestinian extremists in the Gaza Strip was freed today, about 30 hours after he was taken hostage, Arab reporters said.

One reporter said the man, Chris George, walked into the Marne House hotel in Gaza City this afternoon and shook hands with hotel workers and journalists.

"He looks a bit shaken but OK," said the reporter, who insisted on anonymity.

CBS reported that George's mother-in-law, Elizabeth Webb, of West Hartford, Conn., said she had been notified that George, 35, was freed.

George, of Montclair N.J., a relief worker for the U.S.-based Save the Children Federation, disappeared Thursday afternoon in Gaza City. The Israeli army said his abductors were "Palestinian terrorists linked to the PLO."

Palestinian accounts said the abductors demanded freedom for jailed Palestinians.

George was the first foreigner to be kidnapped in the occupied lands, said Foreign Ministry spokesman Alon Liel.

The army had set up checkpoints and stopped cars driven by Palestinians in Gaza City, a city of 150,000. Soldiers conducted searches and declared the 140-square-mile Gaza Strip a closed military area, barring journalists from entering.

The Palestine Liberation Organization denounced the kidnapping and said it was making the "greatest effort" to obtain George's release.

During the 18-month uprising against Israeli occupation, the PLO-backed underground in the occupied lands has maintained a policy opposing the use of arms and exempting foreigners from attacks. The kidnapping would mark a change of strategy if it was sanctioned by the leadership.

The U.N. Relief and Works Agency, which oversees aid programs for Palestinian refugees, told foreign nationals in Gaza to stay in their offices or in the U.N. hostel near Gaza City, said U.N. spokesman Rulf Van Uye.

He said there are 15 to 20 foreign UNRWA workers in Gaza, including one American.

Donald Cofman, a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv, said the embassy was advising U.S. nationals to stay home and to use "extreme caution" if they had to go out.

Fewer than 100 U.S. citizens live in the Gaza Strip, home to 700,000 Palestinians.

George worked in Oman with the Peace Corps and in a Palestinian refugee camp in Lebanon with Save the Children before moving to Israel. He is fluent in Arabic.

He left Lebanon after kidnappings by Moslem radicals there made it dangerous for Westerners.

Workers comp progress noted

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Senate today was scheduled to take up a proposed overhaul of the workers' compensation system, as lawmakers said they were making progress on the controversial issue that has tied them up since the beginning of the year.

"My impression is we will have a bill and it will be a done deal by this time next week," Gov. Bill Clements said Thursday.

Sen. John Montford, one of several senators crafting a workers' comp bill, agreed. "I think we can have a bill in about a week, if we roll up our sleeves and hash it out," Montford, D-

Lubbock, said. The Senate State Affairs Committee approved a workers' comp bill 8-2 and set the stage for the full Senate to consider it.

Clements called lawmakers into a special session after the Legislature failed to reach a compromise on reforming the method of compensating workers injured in on-the-job accidents during the 140-day regular session.

The controversy has pitted business groups against organized labor and trial lawyers, who represent injured workers in court.

Bush taking a long look at Iran's ties with Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is moving swiftly to repair its relations with Iran after the death of the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini even as the Bush administration takes a long, slow look at developments in Tehran.

Both the Soviets and the United States were targets of the cleric's wrath. With Khomeini's passing, Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev is working overtime to reverse a decade of bad feelings and make inroads with his successors.

But President Bush is standing firm on at least two U.S. preconditions for a resumption of the relations severed by the United States in 1980 five months after militants took over the American embassy in Tehran and held the diplomats and Marine guards hostage.

Bush is insisting on renunciation of terrorism and help from Iran to gain the release of the nine Americans held hostage in Lebanon by pro-Iranian forces.

It is a waiting game with an element of risk. An opportunity could be lost. But Secretary of State James A. Baker III and officials in the State Department who keep close tabs on Iran apparently do not think so.

The post-Khomeini situation is still cloudy. Two viewpoints are still vying for control. One is the suspicious and fundamentalist stance represented by the ayatollah. Its proponents are as wary as Khomeini was of the United States and the Soviet Union. The second is less uptight, but not any less inclined to fall under U.S. or Soviet influence.

The era of the late Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, who sought with billions of dollars of U.S. weapons to be the kingpin of the Persian Gulf, is past. "It is in Iran's interest to play the Third World game of balancing one superpower off against the other," a U.S. official explained Thursday. This suggests Gorbachev's drive for better ties with Tehran is unlikely to produce a pro-Soviet policy in Iran.

Besides, said the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity: "Where is the urgency? Where is the fire?"

The Soviets have been negotiating with Iran for three years to purchase Iranian natural gas. The deal isn't struck yet. And it remains the key to improved economic ties between Moscow and Tehran.

Also, Gorbachev also could be running a risk. The Soviets are the main weapons supplier to Iraq, the Iranians' bitterest enemy. If Gorbachev gets too close to Iran he might lose influence in Baghdad and with a number of other Arab countries traditionally hostile to the Moslem but non-Arab Iranians.

Dear Abby

Invalid's Church Visitor May Be Planning for This World

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our church has a policy of sending laypeople out to the elderly and infirm who cannot get to church to provide Holy Communion and spiritual companionship. I have a dear friend (I'll call her Dora) who has benefited from this service for the last few years, but recently she told me something that horrifies me.

This church visitor has become actively involved in Dora's life to the point of handling all of her finances. While I am delighted that Dora, who has been confined to her home for many years, has found such a companion, I have begun having second thoughts since hearing that my friend has rewritten her will, leaving everything to this woman and this woman's children.

Abby, I don't know what, if anything, to do about this. I realize it is Dora's estate and she can do anything she wants with her money, but it appears that she has been totally brainwashed by this woman. I feel an obligation to inform our priest about this situation. Am I being a busybody? Should I just mind my own business, or talk to the priest about this?

IN A DILEMMA IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR IN A DILEMMA: It is so easy for an elderly, isolated person to be influenced by someone who regularly visits to provide constant attention and companionship.

By all means, tell the priest. He would appreciate knowing that this church representative is "administering" to more than your friend's spiritual needs.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting tired of hearing how much in debt our government is because of all the social programs we are paying for. The solution is so obvious, I am surprised that nobody thought about it.

The government should stop paying Social Security benefits to people who are rich and don't need the money. Billions of dollars could be saved, and nobody would be hurt by it.

ABBY FAN
IN BAKERSFIELD, CALIF.

DEAR FAN: Hold it! Social Security is not — and never was — a "social program." It is an earned right — not a "gift" based on need. Those who have worked long enough under Social Security are entitled to monthly benefits when they are eligible.

Ex-mental patient pleads guilty to shooting deputy

DALLAS (AP) — A former mental patient received two consecutive life terms and an additional 20-year sentence for the slaying of a Dallas County Sheriff's deputy.

As part of plea agreement in the Jan. 4 jail shooting of Deputy Suzanne Kays, Alfonso Seward could be eligible for parole after serving 35 years.

"I'm guilty, but I had a reason," said Seward, 38, in a 30-minute hearing before state District Judge Thomas B. Thorpe Thursday. There was no further elaboration.

regardless of whether they are rich or poor.

The government is simply paying back the money the workers have put into the system since they were old enough to draw a salary. If "rich" people want to give their Social Security money away, that's their business. But they should not be denied what is rightly theirs because they don't "need" the money.

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife invited me to their golden wedding anniversary celebration, which will take place in a distant city.

Since they have no room for me to stay with them at their home, they informed me that they made reservations for me at a nearby motel — at my own expense.

I contend that they should pay my motel bill (three days), as I am an invited guest and I am paying for my own transportation to this distant city. Other family members disagree. What do you think?

INVITED GUEST

DEAR GUEST: I agree with "other family members" who disagree with your contention. Unless an invitation expressly states that the host will pay for the lodging, the guest should plan on paying for it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HATING HIM IN TORONTO": Hating him as you do will hurt you more than it will hurt him. Please consider these wise words of Dale Carnegie in his book "How to Stop Worrying and Start Living" (1948):

"When we hate our enemies, we give them power over us — power over our sleep, our appetites and our happiness. They would dance with joy if they knew how much they were upsetting us. Our hate is not hurting them at all, but it is turning our own days and nights into a hellish turmoil."

"How to Be Popular" is for everyone who feels left out and wants an improved social life. It's an excellent guide to becoming a better conversationalist and a more attractive person. WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans lost the fight for control of a Senate child-care bill but are hoping to put their stamp on the plan through a long list of amendments that is delaying passage of the package and threatening to delay a Senate recess as well.

Democrats by early Thursday afternoon won the right to make their package of subsidies and tax credits the centerpiece of the bill. But the debate on the overall plan continued until nearly midnight as the Senate considered dozens of proposed amendments, most of them from Republicans.

Debate was to resume today on many of the most controversial amendments, with Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell of Maine warning that a two-week recess scheduled to begin today would be put on hold unless work on the child-care plan is finished.

Many of the GOP amendments made no major changes and were accepted by the sponsors of the legislation.

Also winning approval were two amendments dealing with the earnings limit faced by certain Social Security recipients. One exempted all child-care related earnings from the cap; the other raised the cap by $1,200 a year.

With House action on child care just beginning, Senate Democrats say their proposal will now likely serve as the framework for the plan that ultimately clears Congress.

Republicans said that with action still on hold in the House, the Bush administration still has time to seek further compromise.

GOP lawmakers failed 56-44 in their attempt to kill the Democratic plan in favor of a White House-backed approach keyed to tax credits. The Senate then voted 63-37 to accept the broader Democratic plan in principle, leaving the final vote until later.

Republicans argued the Democrats' version would create new bureaucracies and limit parental choice because the legislation recommends that states adopt minimum standards for child care.

"Child care is a family issue," Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas said. "It's a family issue, not a government issue."

But the principal author of the measure, Senator Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., said some state regulations of child care is necessary.

If your car and your pets are given certain protections by state licensing agencies, we think your children deserve no less," Dodd said. He also disputed the GOP assertions about parental choice, noting that 70 percent of the $1.75 billion in subsidies authorized for fiscal 1990 would have to be paid to parents.

In addition to the $1.75 billion subsidy authorization, the Democrats' plan creates a new tax credit of up to $500 to help low-income parents buy health insurance for their children. It also would make refundable in advance the existing dependent care tax credit, a step designed to provide cash to low-income parents who otherwise cannot take advantage of the credit. Combined, those credits cost the government about $10.5 billion over five years.

Among the amendments Republicans were pressing before a final vote was one to substitute their EITC expansion for the health-insurance credit in the Democratic plan.
