County may settle DPT shot lawsuit filed in November

Scurry County commissioners Monday will discuss reaching a settlement in a lawsuit filed last November by a Hermitage couple who alleged their daughter suffered brain damage from a 1984 DPT injection at the Snyder-Scurry Health Unit. Joe Don and Tracey Williamson claimed that they were not sufficiently warned about the possible side-effects and hazards of the Nov. 20, 1984 shot received by their then 2-month-old daughter. They filed suit in 132nd District Court for $5 million against the county and $20 million against Wyeth Laboratories and Wyeth-Ayerst Laboratories of Harrisburg, Pa. The attorney who filed the suit, Thomas S. Brandon of Fort Worth, noted, however, that the Texas Tort Claim Act limits such awards to $100,000 from county governments. DPT injections are given to protect against Diphtheria, Pertussis and Tetanus. The Williamsons claimed that the baby went into seizures and convulsions within two hours after the injection and now suffers from brain damage and "dysfunction" in See COUNTY, page 13A.

Ask Us

Q — I read an article about the Miss Texas winner but I haven't seen any mention about how Miss Snyder did. What gives?
A — The Miss Texas USA title was bestowed June 26 and Miss Snyder, Rhonda Jo Horn, is entered in the Miss Texas Scholarship Pageant.

In Brief

No mistrial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has cleared the way for Oliver North to be sentenced Wednesday in the Iran-Contra scandal. North, facing up to 10 years in prison and $750,000 in fines, lost a bid for a mistrial Friday. U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell said no evidence existed that a juror who gave the court inaccurate information was biased against the former White House aide. Juror Tara Leigh King responded "no" on Feb. 1 when asked whether she or relatives had been involved in court proceedings or an investigation.

Drama plans

The adult education office at Western Texas College is now seeking individuals interested in performing in an "old fashion melodrama" which will welcome Texas Department of Corrections employees and their families at a barbecue to be staged at WTC. A $15 fee will be asked of those participating. The rehearsal times will be arranged between July 6-21 and the first meeting will be July 6. Jan McCather will be directing the play and casting will be completed after the first meeting. Those interested should call the WTC department at 573-8511, ext 240 or 390.

An organizational meeting of the 2020 Committee, appointed to study long-range needs for Snyder and Scurry County, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Snyder City Hall. The committee was appointed by Mayor Troy Williamson and Dr. Jim Palmer, economics professor at Western Texas College, is chairman of the committee. Other committee members are Jack Denman, Wilma Dillard, C.D. Gray Jr., Lee McNair, Elizabeth Potts, Henry Ramos and Rod Waller. Williamson said the committee will begin on a small scale and will expand as ideas develop.

July 4 will pop locally

Independence Day isn't until Tuesday, but activities related to the 26th annual celebration here began during the weekend and are expected to come to an "explosive" finish at dusk the day of July 4th. As in year's past, the observance is planned by the July 4th Celebration committee, a division of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. On Saturday, the Jaycee-sponsored volleyball tournament began in the park. Other events due an early start were the annual racketball tournament, to be staged Saturday at Western Texas College, and a tennis tournament, which will begin Monday at 9 a.m. at the Snyder Junior High tennis courts. The tournament will last through Wednesday. Monday from 1 until 7 p.m., the art show sponsored by the Palette Club will open in the Toile Park Barn. Entries for the show were to be accepted Saturday.

Miss Snyder heads to statewide event

Miss Snyder, Rhonda Jo Horn, left Saturday for Fort Worth to compete in week-long events which will culminate next Saturday with the selection of this year's winner in the Miss Texas Scholarship Pageant. She is among 69 entrants from throughout Texas. They will be judged on their poise, knowledge and accomplishments during interviews with five out-of-state judges. Other competition areas will showcase their talent as well as the traditional evening gown and swimsuit events. Actual competition nights are Wednesday, when the talent contest will be held; Thursday, reserved for the swimsuit event and personal interviews; and Friday, when the evening gown competition is slated. The event will draw national television coverage Saturday beginning at 8 p.m. when the contest's Top 10 will be chosen and the final winner announced. The finals will be broadcast live from the Fort Worth Tarrant County Convention Center on a 19-station network. Theme for the pageant, one of the oldest in the nation, is "The Golden Years of the Silver Screen." Contestants will offer a salute to the 50th anniversary of "Gone With the Wind" during the show. The Miss Texas Scholarship Pageant is the largest state pageant affiliated with the Miss America Scholarship Pageant. It also is one of the richest in terms of scholarships awarded. More than $600,000 in scholarships are awarded every year, with each contestant in the competition receiving at least one scholarship offer. Miss Texas Scholarship Pageant contestants for 1989 are Jana McCoy, Abilene; Michele Young, Angelina County; Donna Higginbotham, Arlington; Tina Halcomb, Beaumont-Jefferson County; Diane Garcia, Bellaire; Lisa Adkins, Burtleson; Leslie Strand, Cedar Creek; Kimberly Mace, Commerce; Amy Cox, Crowley; and Leslie Chambers, Dallas. Also representing their areas will be Luisa Diaz, Dallas County; Johanna Ogden, Dennison; Paris North, DeSoto; Susan Mac-

Jobless estimate declines

Unemployment estimates for Scurry County during May dropped to 5.8 percent, down a full percentage point from April. The decrease was prompted by both an increase in the number of persons employed and a corresponding drop in the number actively seeking jobs through the Texas Employment Commission. It marked also the lowest level of unemployment for the year-to-date. According to figures released by TEC, 538 persons were actively seeking employment in Scurry County in May. This compared to the 8,569 individuals who were employed. In April, the number seeking employment was 617 and the total with jobs was 8,452. The TEC calculates the county's civilian labor force by combining the two categories. For May, Scurry County's labor force totaled 9,099 compared to 9,069 for April. By month, the unemployment estimate here for the first five months of 1989 includes: 8.9 percent in January; 6.1 percent in See JOBLESS, page 13A.

Tickets now on sale for Prayer Breakfast

Tickets will be on sale Monday for the 2nd annual Prayer Breakfast planned as part of the July 4th celebration here Tuesday. Tickets are $5 and are available at local banks and savings and loans, the chamber of commerce, Senior Citizens Center, McDonald's, city hall and Everybody's Thriftway. These will be offered also at the door. The prayer breakfast, which will see youth and adult leaders from local churches honored, will begin at 8 a.m. in the county coliseum. State Rep. David Counts of Knox City, a leader in prayer breakfasts at the state legislature, will be the featured speaker. Following a buffet breakfast served by McDonald's, master of ceremonies Max von Roeder will introduce the Rev. Glen Butler of Hermitage, who will give the invocation. Western Texas College music instructor Jane Womack will sing the National Anthem, and area Silver-Haired Legislature Rep. Delbert Downing of Snyder will lead the Pledge of Allegiance. After von Roeder's introduction of guests, Linda Shatney, a local nurse and member of Calvary Baptist Church, will perform three songs. See BREAKFAST, page 13A.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Some folks don't have to worry about having all their possessions stolen while on vacation—the wife packs 'em all." Blame it on the heat.... Thanks to Batman, Jerry Jones and Barry Switzer—most Texans are no longer fretting over low oil prices or other troublesome economic indicators. In fact, Texans helped set a new record last weekend. Movie fans spent a nifty $42.7 million to see the new release of the Caped Crusader. In three days, Batman grossed more money than most movies generate in a lifetime. In all, movie fans spent $95 million last weekend, with almost half going for Batman. Jerry Jones, the egotistical owner of the Dallas Cowboys, was also making headlines with his proposal to change the "clean-cut image" of the Dallas Cowboy cheerleaders.

Fourteen high-steppers resigned among reports that Jones wanted to change not only the uniform, but change the rules to allow the girls to mix and mingle with the players. The explosion of negative reaction from Cowboy fans served to enlighten us. Without such help, we would have never realized the admirable effort to maintain a uniform that conforms to any Texan's definition of "modest apparel." One Dallas writer called it a "modified nun's habit." The cheerleaders would have a good court case—they could claim interference with their swivel rights. Jerry Jones should be nominated for Texan of the Year. At least in the sports world he'll be the most refreshing personality since Howard Cosell—the guy everyone loves to hate. And poor old Barry Switzer resigned under a cloud at OU. We're told the Sooners are working on a new media contract—to have their games broadcast on the police scanner.

Order said refused

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County Sheriff Johnny Klevenhagen says there's no way Joe Santos Villela is going to walk out of his jail on the Fourth of July — even if he leaves his fretting bride standing at the altar.

Villela was granted a 13-hour furlough on Friday by state District Judge Cari Walker Jr., who had sentenced him a 15-year prison term for forgery a few months ago.

Under the order, two deputies were to accompany Villela to a northwest Houston church at 10 a.m. next Tuesday for his scheduled wedding and then take him to a reception in Richmond afterward.

The order also noted that Villela was to be allowed "only one champagne cocktail" to celebrate the occasion.

He was to be back in the Harris County jail, where he is awaiting transfer to the Texas Department of Corrections, by 11 p.m.

But Klevenhagen says the judge has no authority to grant such a furlough.

"He's not getting out of my jail," Klevenhagen told the Houston Chronicle. "I refused the order."

"I told the judge he has no authority to order furlough releases and that I couldn't do it because it was illegal."

Klevenhagen said a state attorney general's ruling years ago established that furloughs were illegal. He also noted that his department has no authority to accompany prisoners outside of Harris County anyway.

When confronted with the order, Klevenhagen said, the judge admitted that he didn't have any authority for granting releases.

"He said: 'I knew it wasn't legal, but I thought it would slip through,'" Klevenhagen said.

Walker could not be reached for comment Friday.

To return money

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has ruled drug enforcement officials must give back $230,000 that they seized from a California tuna boat skipper.

U.S. District Judge Norman W. Black ruled that police and agents from the U.S. Customs Service and Drug Enforcement Administration had seriously erred in detaining Frank R. Ferriera at Houston Intercontinental Airport for eight hours and taking the money he was carrying.

The seizure occurred on March 1 when Ferriera and his son, Francisco, prepared to board a Delta Airlines flight to San Diego. The two men were carrying a large amount of cash, mostly in $20 bills, following the sale of a shrimp boat.

Black called said the detention of Ferriera was a "callous disregard of his due process rights."

Ferriera's attorney, Steven A. Shaw, blamed the incident on the "overzealous" enforcement of drug laws. Shaw said agents automatically assumed that Ferriera, who is Portuguese, must have been a Colombian drug dealer carrying drug profits.

Parental consent law overturned by judge

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — State attorneys say they will fight a judge's decision to overturn a law requiring parental consent for abortions performed on minors in a case that could be affected by a long-awaited Supreme Court ruling.

The parental consent law, passed by the General Assembly in 1988, was to have taken effect today, two days before the U.S. Supreme Court was expected to announce action on a Missouri law seeking to limit legalized abortion.

"The statute's vagueness can be expected to have a substantial chilling effect upon a minor's right to obtain an abortion," U.S. District Judge John T. Nixon said Friday in a ruling made after about an hour of oral arguments.

The national Planned Parenthood Federation and the American Civil Liberties Union of Tennessee challenged the law, seeking a preliminary injunction blocking its enforcement if the issue had not been decided Friday.

Deputy Attorney General Michael Catalano said the state will consider an appeal to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court after reviewing Nixon's opinion.

"It's our contention that the statute is constitutional," he said. "We intend to pursue the case to that end."

Nuclear weapons lawsuit settled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Energy Department has tentatively agreed to pay at least $73 million to Ohio residents who claimed damage by radioactive contamination from a government-owned plant near Fernald that produces nuclear weapons materials.

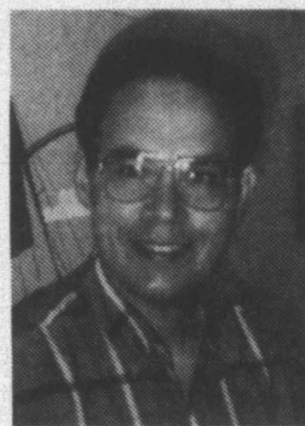

A lawsuit filed by five residents as a class action had sought $300 million.

The settlement underscores the government's intensified effort to regain public confidence in its nuclear weapons program, which is run from 17 major plants in 12 states. Many of the sites are badly polluted from four decades of bomb making.

Group says INS roundups are abusive

Jeff Feagles of the New England Patriots made the longest punt of the 1988 NFL season. It carried 74 yards in a game against Indianapolis.

MIAMI (AP) — A Quaker group has issued a report listing 377 cases of alleged rights violations in immigration sweeps across the country, but officials responsible for stopping the entry of illegal aliens defended their record Friday. The American Friends Service Committee project targeted five areas across the country and found the San Diego district the most violent, with eight deaths due to high-speed chases or gunfire. The project's director, Maria Jimenez, said from her Houston office that the most alarming trend was joint action by Border Patrol and local police in sweeps that violated basic constitutional rights.

"They're going through apartment complexes in Homestead, sweeping neighborhoods and hotels in the Rio Grande Valley, making room-by-room searches, and the majority of people are legal residents," Ms. Martinez said. "When you stop and think about it, it's a police-state mentality."

The incident in Homestead, south of Miami, occurred in February, the report said. U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service agents allegedly walked into apartments behind city building department officials who told tenants they were checking for code violations.

One legal U.S. resident was arrested and held in the city jail for several hours, said the report issued by the Quakers' Immigration Law Enforcement Monitoring Project, which covered the period May 5, 1988 through May 4, 1989.

In Houston, Ms. Martinez said, INS agents recently cordoned off a section of the city and questioned 500 people, arresting 62.

Along with shootings and fatal car chases in the San Diego area, violations alleged in the report ranged from physical abuse, such as two agents standing on top of a prone alien, to failure of INS and Border Patrol agents to advise detainees of their rights.

INS Washington spokesman Duke Austin dismissed the report as "just a large harangue about everything we do."

He said every alleged violation submitted to the INS is examined, and pointed out that none have resulted in successful legal action against the agency. The INS and local agencies were cleared in all the San Diego deaths, Austin said.

"The INS apprehends a million people a year, and we will take our record and compare it to any law agency in the world," compare the percentage of arrests that are validated," Austin said.

In the Homestead case, said Miami's INS enforcement head Eileen Convy, the agents identified themselves before entering the apartments. And the man arrested was not carrying legally required identification showing he was applying for residency, she said.

Black woman said nominated

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A black woman has been nominated as a candidate for president of the 1.7-million-member United Church of Christ.

Delegates at the annual meeting in Fort Worth will decide Monday whether to choose the Rev. Yvonne V. Delt to succeed the Rev. Avery D. Post as the denomination's president.

If she wins, Ms. Delt would be the first black and the first woman to be elected to head the denomination, according to The Dallas Morning News. She currently serves as executive director for the Office for Church in Society.

The Rev. Paul H. Sherry of Chicago also was nominated Friday by the 17th General Synod's nominating committee. Sherry serves as executive director of the church's Community Renewal Society.

Post has headed the United Church of Christ for 12 years and is stepping down in October.

Another black, the Rev. Joseph Evans, briefly served as president in 1977, but he was appointed to fill an interim term and was not elected.

The annual meeting continues through Tuesday.

10-year term follows plea

A 31-year-old Hermleigh man was sentenced to 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections last week in 132nd District Court after pleading guilty to an aggravated assault charge.

Robert L. Baker was accused of attacking two men with a knife in an April 29 altercation outside a Hermleigh convenience store.

In a "nunc pro tunc," or reconsideration of sentence proceeding, the revocation of the two-year probated sentence of Rudolfo A. Perez, 29, of 2011 Ave. K was reaffirmed, but instead of being ordered to serve two years in the TDC, as he had been earlier in June, Perez was directed to serve 180 days in the county jail.

Perez' probation for a July 31, 1987, felony DWI offense was revoked, Judge Gene Dulaney said, because he had appeared in public in a state of intoxication several times in recent months.

Air-conditioner listed as stolen

An air-conditioner was reported stolen from a home at 2706 Ave. W Friday afternoon. Owner Mike Graves reported the incident at 12:24 p.m.

Correction...

On June 11, it was reported that Daniel J. McVey, 18, of 311 35th St. would begin serving time in the Texas Department of Corrections after pleading guilty to burglary in connection with a May 3 break-in at Ira Baptist Church.

In exchange for his guilty plea, McVey received an eight-year probated sentence in connection with the incident.

Financial Focus

Nothing dampens enthusiasm quicker than a setback. After enjoying an unprecedented five-year bull market, investors were reminded that trees don't grow to the sky when, on Oct. 19, 1987, the market fell more than 500 points in one day.

Many mutual-fund owners thought the world was coming to an end because their fund shares had dropped in value. Of course, mutual-fund shares dropped! Because mutual funds invest in common stocks, they don't have protection against a major market drop.

Just days after the market crash, the Wall Street Journal released a study on how the nation's biggest and best-known stock funds were faring. Before the crash, the nine largest funds managed combined assets of nearly $30 billion. All had more than $1 billion in assets with the average at $3.3 billion.

One week after the crash, these giant funds had lost an average of 27.7 percent in assets. This compares favorably with the 29.1 percent loss in Standard & Poor's 500 Index. Of the nine funds, four were growth funds, four were growth-and-income funds and one was a global fund. Funds that favored growth over income were hardest hit.

An interesting point is that for the first 10 months of the year, Jan. 1, 1987 through Oct. 26, 1987, the funds were down only an average of 4.9 percent with two of the group showing fractional gains. During that period, the largest loss in any one fund category was 10.5 percent.

Johnson's Charts, an independent research firm that follows nearly 1,300 different mutual funds, reported that for the period ending December 31, 1987, the average of their fund categories showed minor gains in total return. This included reinvestment of income and capital gains. The chart also shows that for the period ending Dec. 31, 1988, one year after the market crash, the average of all fund categories posted significant gains.

What does all this mean? It means those investors who did their homework and put confidence in the proven management of mutual funds that met their needs and risk tolerance emerged from the market crash with few scars. Those who abandoned long-term goals or were sold on short-term stardom generally suffered most.

Sweeping generalities seldom offer much guidance for charting a financial future, but it's fair to say that carefully selected, long-term investments have a history of paying off.

Scurry County Folks...

By Shirley A. Gorman

Rhonda Jo Horn, a native of Seymour, admits she isn't a permanent resident of either Snyder or Scurry County, but she says she now lays claim to both and hopes to represent them well.

The 20-year-old beauty was crowned Miss Snyder in March of this year.

Horn's winning marked the first time someone had earned the crown in 26 years. Besides fulfilling her duties as Miss Snyder—which includes local personal appearances—Horn has also been diligently preparing for the Miss Texas competition slated to begin Monday in Fort Worth.

Actual competition nights are talent on Wednesday, swimsuit and personal interview on Thursday and evening gown on Friday. The Top 10 finalists will be chosen next Saturday, July 8.

As Miss Snyder, Horn appeared at the chamber of commerce banquet held in March exactly one week after her coronation. For the Senior Citizens May Day, Horn sang about 12 songs and she recently made her third appearance before the local Rotary Club. Upcoming appearance will include the AJRA National Finals Rodeo and White Buffalo Days.

Since winning the pageant, Horn has visited Snyder some three times in all and she is planning to be here the week before the Miss Texas Pageant will get underway.

Horn will continue to reign as Miss Snyder until November of this year when another Miss Snyder Pageant is planned. Normally, the winner would reign for a full year, but chamber officials say next year's recipient will need more time to get ready for the Miss Texas competition.

From the day when Horn was crowned Miss Snyder, she had exactly three weeks in which to complete all the entry requirements for the Miss Texas contest.

Horn, who has spent the first half of the summer preparing for Miss Texas, says that getting ready for a pageant is a full time job.

"I am constantly preparing mentally for the most grueling week of my life," she said.

During the past few weeks and months, Horn has been diligently working with a battery of coaches.

She consults with a voice coach in Fort Worth and she has performed on Johnnie High's Country Music Review, held at the Will Roger's Memorial Auditorium in Fort Worth. She was also to appear July 1 as a preview of some 20-25 Miss Texas contestants who have sung on the program was to take place.

At the Miss Texas Pageant, the talent competition will comprise 40 percent of a contestant's score.

For her talent, Miss Snyder will sing "Your Cheatin' Heart," the same song she performed for the Miss Snyder Pageant.

Horn has been singing since she was "knee high" and she often sang in church choirs, weddings and folk choirs. Until the Miss Snyder Pageant, she said she had never performed professionally before.

She said she must "warm up" before stepping out onto the stage and that she follows breathing exercises which are designed to relax her.

Horn said she is also working with an interview coach in order to prepare for the interview competition of the pageant. It counts 30 percent of the total grade and the five judges can ask a contestant about any conceivable topic—state, national or worldwide.

To best prepare for this part of the pageant, Horn said she reads newspapers and news magazines and watches CNN, the cable news channel.

In addition, her coach tries to give her examples of what type of questions will be asked. She said her answers have to reflect Snyder's viewpoint and that judges can really "nail you" with any question they choose concerning state or national or world issues.

Contestants cannot be "opinionated" or "middle of the road" she said and if someone doesn't know an answer it is better to say so than to "try and bluff it out."

She explained that if a judge likes a contestant's response then it is possible for that favorable impression to be carried through the rest of the pageant.

In addition, Horn also works out and follows a strict nutrition program. Since April she has been eating a low fat, high protein diet. High complex carbohydrates have replaced red meat. She also stays away from sugar.

At first, she was consuming only 1,200 calories a day but when she started to lose weight her calories were increased to 1,500 a day.

"This food plan makes me feel so good that I intend to keep it up even after the Miss Texas Pageant is over," Horn said.

The remaining 30 percent of each contestant's grade is divided between the swimsuit and evening wear events with each counting 15 percent of the total score.

Horn explained that the basic purpose of the swimsuit competition is for judges to be able to tell how healthy the contestant is and how well she takes care of herself.

In the past, Horn said she has been referred to as the "skinny girl" and that in the beginning she felt that the swimsuit competition might be her "weakest" point. However, she recently said that she feels that she has made progress in this area and now "feels better about it" than she did in April.

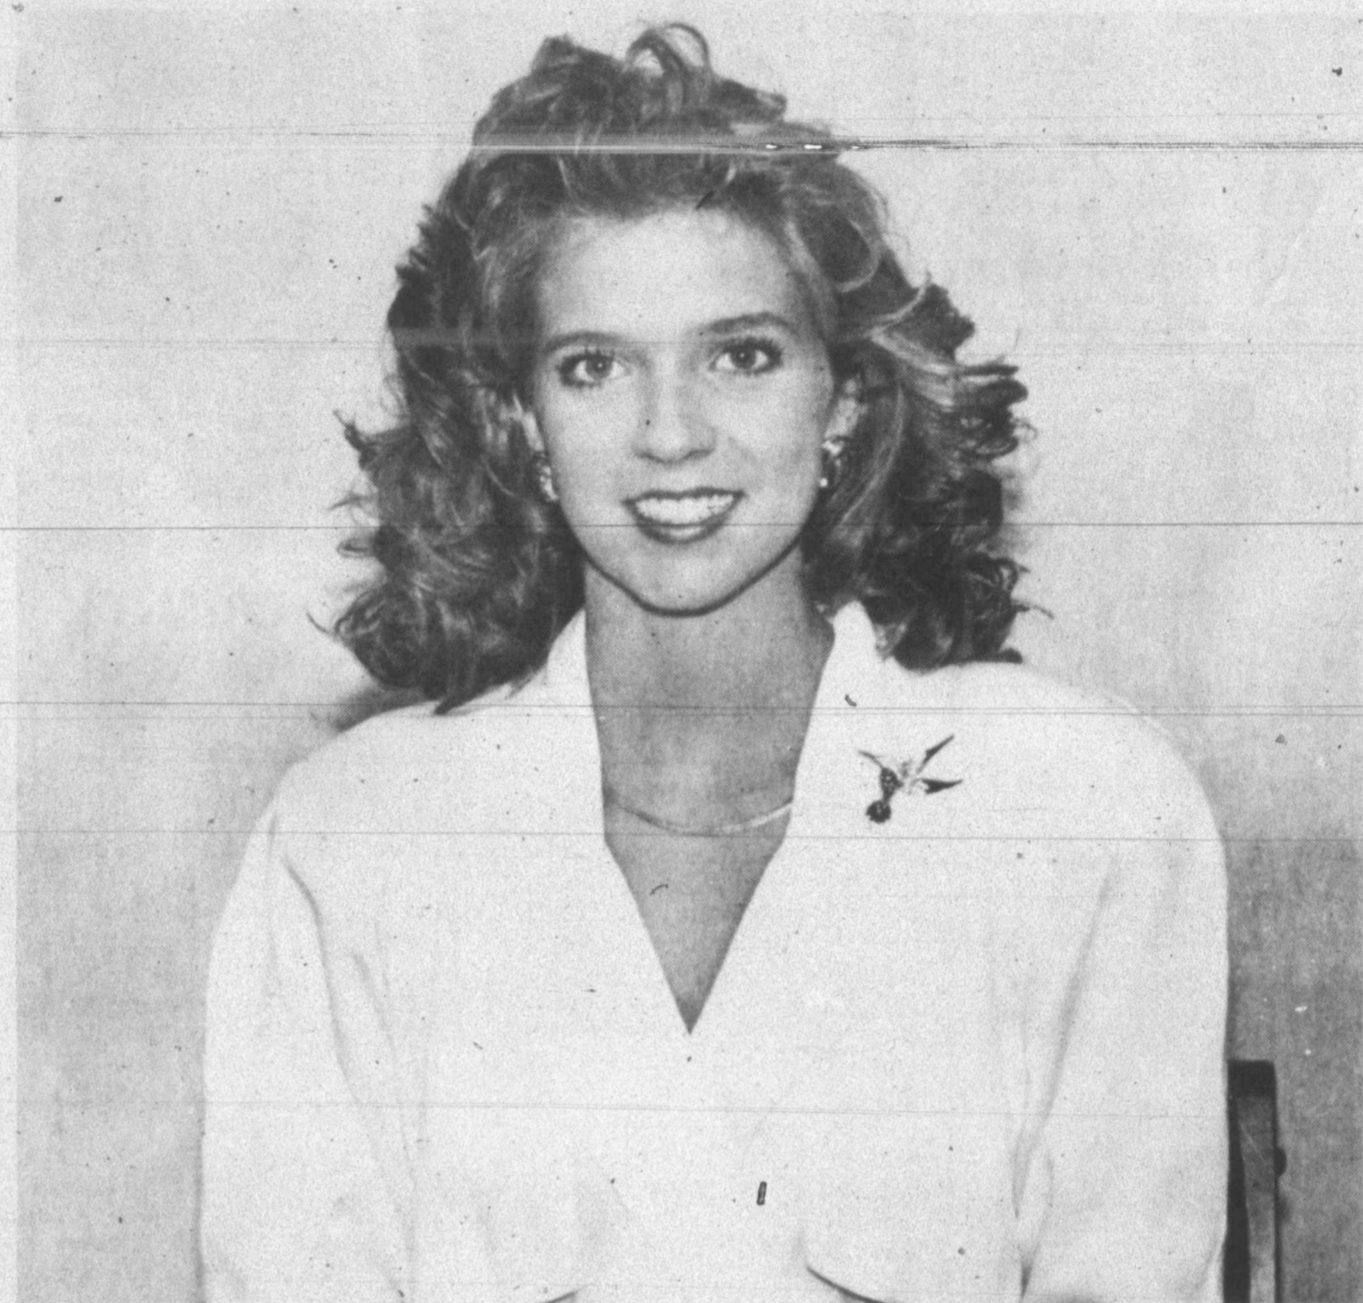

For the evening wear competition, Horn will be wearing a gown especially tailored for her. All other clothing and accessories for the other competitions can be bought in any store, she said.

Horn said her family was "excited and supportive" of her and that they have "taken good care of her."

She described herself as the "arty one" in the family, adding that her sister is an accountant and her brother is an economics major.

Earlier this year, she was the first runner-up in the Miss Texas A&M Scholarship Pageant. She said the scholarships offered by these pageants were her incentive to participate.

Miss Texas will receive a $10,000 scholarship and will represent the state for one year. Some $5 million in scholarships are being offered through the See Rhonda, Page 3B

TO COMPETE—Rhonda Jo Horn, the current reigning Miss Snyder, is currently in Fort Worth talent, she will sing "Your Cheatin' Heart." (SDN Staff Photo) for the Miss Texas Scholarship Pageant. For her

BEAN SPROUTS FOR HEALTHIER DIETS
 Consumers focusing on a more healthful diet will want to add bean sprouts to the menu.
 Bean sprouts are packed with thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and ascorbic acid, are low in fat, and have no cholesterol. And it's a good bet that some of them were grown in Texas.
 Bean sprouts, thick and white and about 2 inches long, are produced from mungbean seeds that contain up to 29 percent protein. They fit right in with today's popularity of salad bars and stir-fry cookery.
 Today's health-conscious consumer and the influx of Oriental people into the United States have brought on an increased demand for bean sprouts.
 Uses are many. Bean sprouts can be used in a variety of ways in the home kitchen. They are excellent for various types of salads. Also, they are used in egg rolls, with Oriental stir-fry vegetables or stir-fried by themselves, and with fried rice. In addition, bean sprouts are excellent for use in potato cakes, chop suey, omelettes and egg foo yung. The possibilities are unlimited.

 Bean sprouts are a cheap, healthful and pleasing addition to our common green vegetables. They are excellent for use (either raw or cooked) in salads as well as in soups, stews and many other dishes.
 If cooking bean sprouts, do so only briefly to avoid destroying their vitamin value. Two minutes of boiling is sufficient. If they are to be served in stews and soups, it's best to add them shortly before cooking is complete. Bean sprouts are especially palatable lightly fried in good oil or butter.

Who wins in divorce?

EDITOR'S NOTE — A psychologist at the University of California spent 10 years studying 60 families split by divorce and found some unexpected patterns. Now Judith Wallerstein is publishing her findings in a book to be published next month. It seeks to answer the question, "Who wins, who loses, and why?"
 By John Barbour
 AP Newsfeatures Writer
 Every year, more than 2 million Americans in some degree of desperation seek a "second chance" in life through divorce.
 But a new look at this phenomenon finds that things are not necessarily better the second time around and the chances of success are more elusive than was thought.
 And society often forgets to think much about the 1 million or so children a year who are involved in divorce, most of whom sense a loss of protection and fear of the future.
 Furthermore, the study shows, the aftershocks of divorce echo through the personal lives of all concerned at least a decade later.
 Judith Wallerstein, a psychologist at the University of California and founder of the Center for the Family in Transition, has studied in depth 60 families for more than 10 years.
 Her findings are to be published next month in a book, "Second Chances — Men, Women and Children a Decade After Divorce," written in collaboration with science writer Sandra Blakeslee. The sub-sub title is even more provocative: "Who Wins, Who Loses — And Why."

 Among the findings that Wallerstein discovered was "new, scientific and unexpected," was "that in most instances one person was much better off."
 "One person is very important in life," she says. "But the other member was, on balance, either in the same place or not doing too well. You're looking at a much greater divergence after divorce, and that's entirely new."
 Who gets the major benefit of "the second chance" boils down to who wanted the divorce, whether male or female.
 Wallerstein says she is not against divorce. "Divorce is much more than the coup de grace of a stressful marriage," she writes. "It is a new beginning that offers people second chances. It is no more and no less than an opportunity to rebuild lives. And there's the rub."
 The book tells of the pitfalls, the expectations, the denial, and the quiet dramas through the voices of those involved, and Wallerstein has obviously won the trust and the understanding of these people with whom she has been involved these many years.
 "In the book there are three major families we built on," she says. "I think those people started off equal...We ask, 'Why did you get married?' Almost all of them tell us they married for love. They thought they were equal. They weren't shotgun marriages because someone got pregnant, although some of them were. By and large they knew each other...
 "In some of the marriages that we see, there never was a marriage, however one defines marriages in terms of love, intimacy, friendship. There was unhappiness, loneliness or violence — whatever — from the start.
 "But in a whole group of these marriages, there was at some point a real marriage, and then it didn't endure for a whole lot of different reasons."
 In investigating the aftermath of divorce she found that each participant has a different view, even the children, although they are almost unanimous in thinking that the divorce was a good thing for their parents.
 Not so for the children. "You're in a mine field of moral issues, because the children feel they are worse off," Wallerstein says. "I'm not sure they were, but they feel they were, and that's an important distinction. I think in many ways they were better off."

Rhonda Jo Horn will represent Snyder

Miss Scholarship pageants which are part of the Miss America system.

Horn, who will be a junior at Texas A&M, is majoring in speech communication. "I wanted to enter a major where I could expand my knowledge of people. A speech communication degree could pave the way for me to enter any field such as sales or public relations. I may also get my teaching certificate," she said.

Horn's other college honors at A&M include serving on the Aggie Muster Committee, on the student government traditions council, and as a counselor for the A&M freshmen orientation "fish" camp.

While in high school, she was the state champion for UIL poetry interpretation in 1986 and was named the best actress at the state-one-act play contest in 1987.

At Seymour High School, Horn was also named best "all around" and outstanding senior girl.

Horn loves being a pageant participant but she adds that while "winning is wonderful" it is "not everything." Being a contestant has boosted Horn's self esteem and she said that she encourages any young girl who has a talent and wants to share it by performing in front of people to enter a scholarship pageant because "it's wonderful."

Bank chooses to stay small

LOWES, Ky. (AP) — The narrow two-story Bank of Lowes looks like a place Jesse James would go out of his way to visit.

Little has changed in the 85 years of Kentucky's smallest bank. The teller cage is a genuine antique. Accounts are kept in a ledger book, and the closest thing to a computer is an adding machine on a desktop.

"A lot of people like small banks and don't like computers," says Dorothy McClellan, cashier and chairwoman of the board.

Founded in 1903 by a group of local businessmen with a pool of $15,000, the bank remains in the hands of local residents. It pays depositors no interest, but it thrives in an isolated corner of Graves County, serving about 500 customers with checking ac-

Customers who can't make the 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. banking hours make appointments — sometimes as early as 7 a.m. weekdays — or give their deposits to McClellan at church on Sunday.

McClellan's father, Col. Paul Wilkerson, ran the bank for more than 40 years. He used to write loans on the kitchen table at his home for those who couldn't do their banking during regular hours.

"Most of what we handle is checks and paperwork."

Besides McClellan, who has been at the bank for 29 years, there are two other full-time employees. Frank Wilkerson, her brother, is president and has worked at the bank for 18 years. Gladys Sullivan is assistant cashier and has worked for the bank for 27 years.

Staying small is one of the bank's goals, McClellan says.

"We're just trying to help other people," she says. "Everybody knows everybody. The larger you get, the more headaches you have."

Curry powder spices up chicken dish

By NANCY BYAL

Curry powder gives a clue to this recipe's origin; it probably came from India by way of early trading ships. "Captain" may refer to the man who brought it or may be a corruption of "capon," used in the recipe in India. Use a cut-up chicken or 6 meaty pieces such as breast halves, thighs and drumsticks.

CHICKEN COUNTRY CAPTAIN

One 2½- to 3-pound broiler-fryer chicken, cut into pieces
½ cup chopped onion
1 medium green pepper, cut in 1-inch squares
1 clove garlic
One 16-ounce can tomatoes, cut up

¼ cup dried currants or raisins
¼ cup snipped parsley
2 teaspoons curry powder
½ teaspoon ground mace or nutmeg

¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
Hot cooked rice
Spray a large skillet with non-stick spray coating. Brown chicken in skillet for 15 minutes, turning once. Add onion, green pepper and garlic. Stir in undrained tomatoes, currants, parsley, curry powder, mace and pepper. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, about 30 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken; keep warm. Skim excess fat from sauce, if necessary. Combine cornstarch and cold water; stir into sauce. Cook and stir until bubbly; cook and stir 2 minutes more. Serve chicken and sauce over hot cooked rice. Makes 6 servings.

Carrots make delicious pie

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes and Gardens
Food Editor
CARROT PECAN CRUNCH PIE
2 16-ounce cans diced carrots

2 beaten eggs
One 14-ounce can (114 cups) sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon pumpkin pie spice
Dash salt
One unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup margarine or butter, melted
1 cup chopped pecans

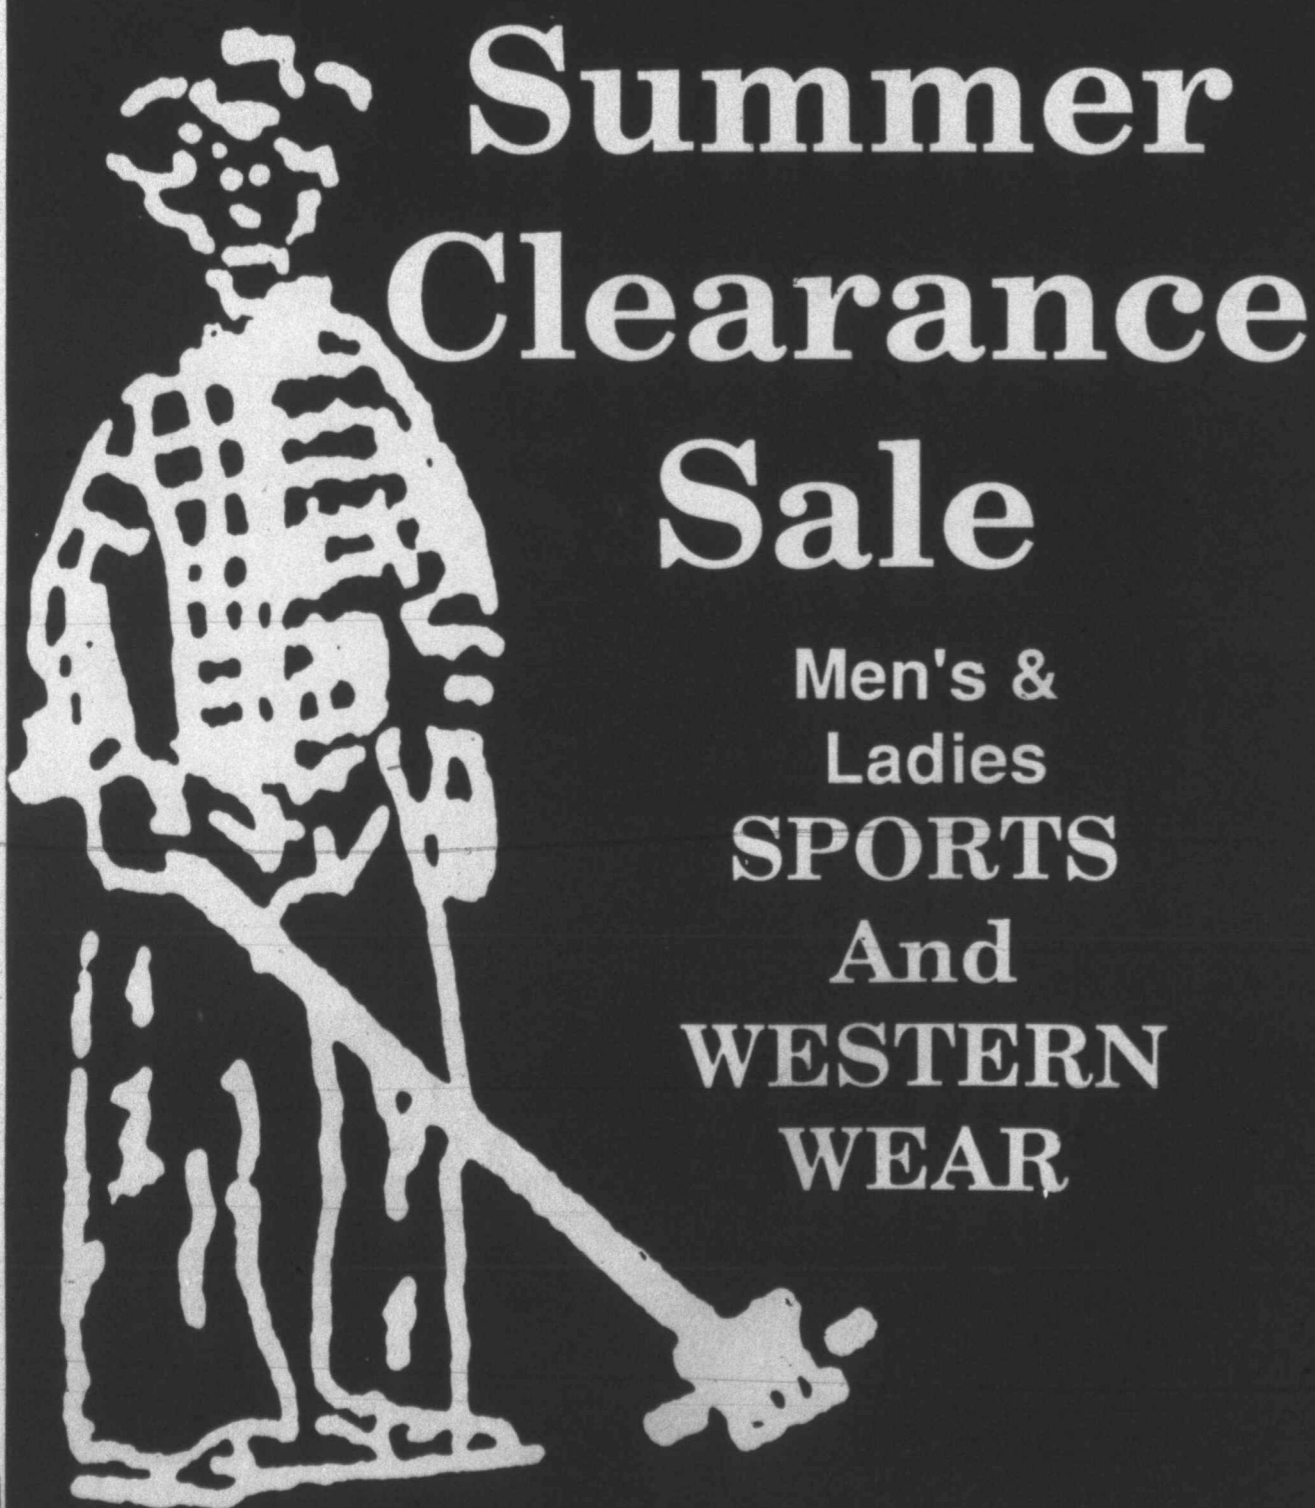

Drain carrots. Puree in a blender, food processor or food mill until smooth. (You should have about 2 cups.)

In a large mixing bowl combine eggs, sweetened condensed milk, pie spice, and salt. Add carrots; mix well. Turn into a pastry shell. In a small bowl combine brown sugar and margarine; stir in pecans. Sprinkle evenly over pie. Cover edge of pie with foil.

Bake in a 375-degree F oven for 25 minutes. Remove foil; bake for 20 to 25 minutes more or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool completely on wire rack. Makes 8 servings.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doerschuk of Liberty and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ferguson of Kingsland announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Merisha Gail Ferguson, to Gregory Scott Glass, son of Rex and Juanita Glass of Hermleigh. The wedding is planned for 7 p.m. Sept. 30 in the Central United Methodist Church of Brownwood with the bride-elect's father officiating. (Dumas Photography of Brownwood)

Famous landmark

WASHINGTON (AP) — During his lifetime, George Washington objected to a memorial in his honor as being too expensive.

But 81 years after his death, work began on the Washington Monument, which opened to the public in 1888.

Located near the Potomac River, between the Capitol and Lincoln Memorial, the marble-covered Washington Monument is an obelisk a little over 555 feet high. To reach its top visitors can either climb 898 steps or take a 70-second elevator ride.

More than a million persons a year visit the monument.

Afternoon vows join couple in matrimony

MR. AND MRS. JOHNNY DALE BROWN

centered by a pearl with a solid band of pearls across the forehead. A pouf of illusion in the back was scattered with pearls which also accented the two-tiered veil.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of silk roses mixed with silk spring flowers in pastels. Pastel streamers of ribbon and lace completed the arrangement.

Maid of honor was Lorelei Jones of Midland, formerly of Snyder. She was attired in a tea-length floral dress with boat neck and matching bows on the sleeves. Her bouquet was a miniature of the bride's and repeated the pastel colors.

Wayne Trommel of Hobbs, N.M., was best man and ushers were Blair Williams of Snyder, brother of the bride, and Sammy Elliott of Levelland, her cousin.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with white cummerbund and bow tie. The best man wore a silver tuxedo with silver cummerbund and bow tie. Boutonnieres were tiny, silk flowers in pastels.

Cindy Tolbert of Snyder registered guests.

A barbecue dinner and reception was held in The Wesley Hall following the ceremony. The bride's bouquet and silver appointments decorated the table covered in floor-length white eyelet accented with embroidered pastel flowers.

A two-tiered cake featured a lattice and ruffle design with cascades of pastel rosebuds and sweet peas covering the confection. Between the tiers, flowers were entwined with wedding bells. The cake was topped with a sweetheart of pearls with satin bells and silk flowers. The cake was designed and created by Reta Graham.

Serving were Holli Williams of Abilene, cousin of the bride, and Lorlei Jones of Midland.

Following a wedding trip to Abilene, the couple is at home in Snyder.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and attended

McMurry College and Western Texas College. She is employed at SJS, Inc.

The groom also attended WTC and is employed by Production Pumps.

Julie Ann Williams and Johnny Dale Brown were joined in matrimony at 3:30 p.m. May 12 in the Odom Chapel of First United Methodist Church. Gil Fleer performed the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Tommy and Mary Williams of Snyder and A.L. "Shorty" Barnett of Brownwood.

Vows were exchanged before a brass arch decorated with silk roses in pastel shades of lavender, pink and yellow mixed with greenery. White wicker floor baskets were filled with lilies, white gladioli, yellow gladioli, lilacs and pink carnations.

Jane Womack provided organ accompaniment for the service and sang "What Love Is" and "The Lord's Prayer." She also sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the wedding of the bride's parents 26 years earlier.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white matte taffeta. Designed with a fitted bodice lavishly overlaid with Venise lace, pearls and iridescent crystal sequins, the style featured a sweetheart neckline with scalloped lace along the edges coming to a V-back.

A shirred midriff came to a Basque waistline overlaid in Venise lace embroidered in pearls and sequins. Full, puffed sleeves were embellished with three bows of taffeta.

The softly gathered skirt featured a high-low hemline, tea-length in front and tapering to floor-length in back.

The fingertip veil of bridal illusion fastened to a garland of flowers accented with pearl sprays. Each flower was
