Ask Us

Q—Is there a law in Snyder concerning the skateboard riders going down the middle of the street?

A—There are two pertinent sections in the city's traffic code, one saying that no person on roller skates or any coaster, toy vehicle or similar device may go onto any street, roadway or highway except while crossing a street in a cross-walk, like a pedestrian, and another says it is unlawful for anyone riding a bicycle, motorcycle, coaster, sled, roller skates or any vehicle of any kind to attach himself to any moving vehicle on a street, highway or roadway.

In Brief

Won't testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former HUD Secretary Samuel Pierce did not appear today as scheduled before a House subcommittee investigating scandals at his department, and the panel's chairman said he would seek a subpoena to compel his testimony.

Pierce abruptly canceled plans to testify Thursday evening, saying he had not had time to prepare and had only recently hired an attorney.

Seven killed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A printing plant worker who shot 20 co-workers had pledged to get even after being let go for mental disability last year, but his warnings went unheeded, employees at the plant say.

Joseph T. Wesbecker, armed with several semiautomatic weapons, went from floor to floor shooting former co-workers at the Standard Gravure Corp., killing seven and wounding 13 before taking his own life Thursday morning.

Wesbecker, a 47-year-old pressman, was placed on permanent disability leave last year because of mental illness, police said.

"He carried a big grudge because of that," said George Oswine, a former co-worker.

Another former co-worker, pressman Joe White, said Wesbecker's talk centered on guns and Soldier of Fortune magazine.

Argee paying disgruntled workers now

by The Associated Press
A general contractor handling construction work at three prison sites — including the Price Daniel Unit near Snyder — has paid more than $90,000 to about 110 disgruntled employees.

Responding to complaints from construction workers employed by subcontractors, Argee Corp. agreed to pay about 43 workers at the Hightower Unit near Dayton back wages they contended had not been paid since Aug. 4. Those workers were given $26,030 Thursday.

Workers at prison sites in Woodville and Snyder also have been paid at recent meetings, bringing the total payout to $93,400. Some, however, still contend they have not been compensated properly.

Argee had subcontracted with G&S Sandblasting and Allied Steel, which then hired the workers. Some of the workers contended they were not paid union scale wages or were not paid at all beginning Aug. 4.

The workers complained to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, which set up the meeting for the employees to be paid.

George Baldwin, an attorney for Argee, said the company likely will file suit against the subcontractors to recover the money paid to workers Thursday. Argee had hired both subcontractors at the Dayton site, Baldwin said, and ran into problems with both.

Baldwin said the money in question had been sent to G&S to pay workers. In the other situation, Baldwin said Allied had asked for money to meet payroll but had not shown a certified payroll or other evidence of the amount needed.

Both subcontractors contend they never received money from Argee to pay the workers.

Ted Sellers, an administrative assistant in the office of state Sen. Temple Dickson, D-Sweetwater, has investigated the problem since Aug. 8, when workers at the Snyder prison site contacted him.

Sellers said the subcontractors had had problems there and at the prison sites in Dayton and Woodville.

"This is what's making all of it worth it seeing these people who have been waiting all this time to get paid," Sellers said. "The guys that have been hurt the most are getting their money."

Committee using billboards, publications to promote city

Boosting Snyder as a retirement community was the primary topic of Thursday's meeting of the chamber of commerce Tourism and Retirement Committee.

The committee discussed ideas of advertisement that would enhance Snyder's image as a retirement community to those traveling the highways surrounding Snyder.

Herbie Figueredo, chamber president, exhibited two ideas for six billboards. One, advertising Snyder in general, would state "Go West and Retire With the Best...Snyder...Where You Want to Be."

The billboard could be painted by a firm in Snyder less expensively than it could be drawn on paper and placed over the billboard outside the community. Figueredo also stated that the paper would be more difficult to maintain.

A second billboard would advertise the hospital, because, as Figueredo noted, as people grow older, hospitals play a large role in their lives.

In addition, the billboards would also have eight spots available for local merchants.

Cost for one advertising spot on each of the six billboards would be approximately $800 per year, according to Figueredo. The signs will not all go up at one time, but advertisers will have a full year on each sign. Six billboards are involved but plans have been drawn up for only two, to date.

Figueredo also discussed Snyder Magazine, currently in the planning stages. He said the magazine, with color photographs of different Snyder landmarks, "promotes our town as an attractive place to retire."

The front cover will feature a "grandmother-type figure" holding a small child, with a college-age person in the background. "We want people to raise families, grow, retire, and educate kids in Snyder," he said.

The magazine, to cost roughly $14,000 to $15,000, will be financed mainly through donations from the hospital, college, Board of County Development and city financial institutions. Financial institutions will have ads in the magazine, but other establishments making donations will be featured in the center spread of the publication. Some 20,000 copies will be printed, with a cost of 60-70 cents per 36 page magazine, according to Figueredo.

The committee is also looking into publishing Scene, Scurry County Enterprising Network, a tabloid. The publication would be free of charge, and distributed in Snyder and area towns through a newsstand.

Advertisement in Scene would be in six-month blocks, with a publication distributed the first of each month. Business card-size ads would cost $25 per issue. Chamber members would be featured on the inside page of the publication, with four lines of advertisement, free of charge. It would provide an index of goods and services.

Also discussed were ticket (see COMMITTEE, page 10)

SISD enrollment ahead of last year

Snyder public schools reported one more enrollment count for the fall, showing an increase of 50 students over last year.

Figures compared between Monday of the second week of school this year and last, show 3,564 students enrolled in 1989 and 3,514 in 1988, district-wide. Most of the difference occurred in the pre-kindergarten level.

Snyder High School has 871 students enrolled with a freshman class of 271. The sophomore class has 223 students, the junior class 196 and the senior class 181.

There are 257 seventh grade and 260 eighth grade students, giving Snyder Junior High School a total of 517.

At the various elementary campuses, to include pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, special education and early childhood students, North has 270, Central 449, East 325, West 467, Northeast 280 and Stanfield 385.

By class, enrolled are 103 in pre-kindergarten, 275 in kindergarten, 315 in first grade, 322 in second grade, 302 in third grade, 289 in fourth grade, 300 in fifth grade, 253 in sixth grade, 15 in special education and 2 in early childhood.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "More people would learn from mistakes if they weren't so busy denying they made them."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: O.G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, claims that statistics don't always tell the whole story.

"A case in point is the cleanup of the Alaskan oil spill. At one point Exxon had spent roughly $110 million in the cleanup. There have also been reports about the fatalities to Alaskan wildlife.

"According to the Otter Rescue Center in Seward, Alaska, the wildlife fatalities include waterfowl, 17,000 plus; sea otters, 733; eagles, 47; bear, 1; owls, 1; deer, 2; and whales, 0.

"If $110 million has been spent, that translates to $6,470 per waterfowl. Add the sea otters, eagles, bear, owl and deer into the package, and it works out to $140,306 per fatality.

"One man who worked in the cleanup says it burns him up that the news media never mentioned the fact that Alaskan fishermen destroy thousands of sea otters in their nets each fishing season. So much for statistics."

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, told about a worker's comp case in North Texas in which the plaintiff won a hefty jury award.

The man appeared in court, bent over and twisted, yet he seemed to get around just fine. The jury found in his favor and awarded him several million.

The defendant's attorney felt the man was faking, and when the case ended, the attorney confronted the man in the hall. "We said he knew the man was faking and he was going to have him watched around the clock.

The plaintiff said he was leaving for Oklahoma the next day, but the attorney said, "Don't think you can get away that easy. I still mean to have you watched."

"That's fine with me," the plaintiff said. "Whoever follows me to Tulsa will witness one of the greatest miracles of all time."

But oil scars remain...

Exxon completing summer cleanup

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) — Cleanup workers and state officials say there's still plenty of oil fouling the shores of Prince William Sound, but Exxon insists the beaches are nearly free of oil as a summer-long effort ends.

Exxon officials pronounced the 1,100 miles of oil-tainted shoreline "environmentally stable" Thursday and proclaimed their 25-week cleanup of the nation's worst oil spill a job well done.

Exxon Corp. Chairman Lawrence Rawl said in Juneau that the affected shores of the sound and Gulf of Alaska farther south "are certainly what most people would call clean."

But Dennis Kelso, the state's environmental commissioner, was not pleased with what he saw when he toured shorelines on two islands south of Valdez on Thursday.

"This beach is not environmentally stable," he said as he poked a stick into thickly oiled rocks on Knight Island. "If we had wildlife here, they'd be pretty heavily oiled."

Exxon officials said they expect to declare the summer cleanup complete today, 25 weeks after the tanker Exxon Valdez cracked open on a reef and spilled nearly 11 million gallons of crude oil.

State officials are pressuring Exxon to commit to a greater research effort over the winter to determine the best way to resume the cleanup next spring.

"The point isn't that Exxon has done a terrible job," Kelso said.

"There's just more to be done. We don't need to wait until spring to get the preparations going."

Exxon officials said the company will continue to monitor the spill and respond to major problems. About 300 cleanup workers will remain in Alaska, down from about 10,000 at the height of the effort.

Otto Harrison, general manager of Exxon's Valdez operations, said that while oil remained in some areas, it wasn't enough to harm wildlife.

"What you've seen is a coastline almost free of oil," Harrison said. "You're seeing the steady recovery of Prince William Sound."

State officials agreed Exxon's efforts had resulted in some cleaner shorelines, but disputed the company's rosy portrayal of an environmental rebound.

On his tour of the Knight Island shoreline, Kelso noted there were few signs of wildlife on what once was a shore rich with the sounds of life.

Kelso said a chemical fertilizer recently sprayed on the rocks showed signs of breaking down the oil in some areas.

In other spots, however, it appeared the cleanup was rushed to meet Exxon's self-imposed deadline, Kelso said.

On Green Island, Kelso used a pocket knife to scrape sun-baked oil off blackened rocks.

"It looks and feels like tar — the way an asphalt driveway feels," he said.

Cleanup workers returned to Valdez by the hundreds Thursday on their way home. Many echoed the sentiments of Roger Consiel, who was on the first crew of 48 workers dispatched to the oiled beaches after the March 24 grounding of the oil tanker.

"I think we did some good," he said. "But the oil's going to be there for a while, that's for sure."

"I think Exxon should come back next year. There's a lot left to be done."

Consiel, 39, was an unemployed cannery worker when an Exxon contractor hired him for cleanup duty.

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you provide information on lymphedema caused by a fall? I believe your opinion can help me find a physician who deals with such conditions.

DEAR READER: In addition to blood circulation, each of us has a secondary system of fluid circulation called the lymphatic system. Lymph fluid is the colorless watery liquid that fills blisters. Small amounts of it are normally present in all tissues. Lymph circulates back to the heart (and into the bloodstream) through a series of lymph channels, thin-walled tubes that are periodically interrupted by lymph nodes, balls of tissue acting as filters.

If the lymph channels are injured or the lymph nodes damaged (or removed during surgery), the lymph fluid accumulates in the part of the body supplied by these structures. Tissue swelling (edema) ensues.

I assume you had a serious fall, which damaged the lymph channels, and now the lymph is pooling in a part of your body — probably an arm or a leg, the most common locations for this to occur. This affliction is not hazardous.

However, if you are bothered by the edema — if it is painful or quite pronounced, for instance — you should be examined by a doctor, such as a vascular surgeon, who specializes in circulatory problems. Using a sophisticated type of X-ray examination, called a lymphangiogram, the specialist may be able to pinpoint the lymph blockage and repair it surgically. Or the specialist may suggest non-surgical therapy, such as diuretic medicine and pressurized sleeves, to relieve your edema. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Medical Specialists." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 62-year-old female with mitral-valve prolapse. My doctor has me on verapamil. A report about this product has me confused. What does it do to the calcium in the body? Will it affect my teeth, bones and eventually cause arthritis?

I'm happy to hear this medication helps cancer patients, but I want to know if it is harmful to those who take it for a heart condition.

DEAR READER: Verapamil, a calcium-channel blocker, is used to treat hypertension and heart disease. It affects the flow of calcium into cells, causing relaxation of certain muscles in the body, notably those lining arteries. Verapamil does not affect the level of calcium in the bloodstream, does not influence normal bones and teeth, and does not hasten arthritis or arteriosclerotic calcium-deposits inside arteries.

The medicine is routinely prescribed for the heart condition you describe, to be used under a doctor's supervision. It helps mitral-valve prolapse by reducing the tendency to cyclic attacks of rapid heart rate (tachycardia). Verapamil has no effect whatsoever on cancer cells and is never used for the treatment of malignancies.

El Paso thrift sues

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — An El Paso thrift has filed a lawsuit against directors of its predecessor, El Paso Electric Co. and a New Mexico thrift alleging they participated in complex transactions that damaged the savings and loan.

The suit filed by El Paso Savings Association names former directors of El Paso Federal Savings and Loan Association, the utility and Sun Country Savings Bank of New Mexico, based in Las Cruces, N.M.

Austin businessman Al Hughes took over El Paso Federal last year and renamed it El Paso Savings Association.

The suit filed Tuesday alleges the transactions caused El Paso Federal's holding company to appear to have more capital than it actually had and disguised the condition of the institution from regulators, the lawsuit contends.

The financial condition was misrepresented by the actions of the directors, who could personally profit from stock ownership, the suit said.

Vaccinations continue in crowded city jail

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County Jail officials are continuing a vaccination program for personnel and inmates to try to curb further cases of a bacterial infection that has killed two inmates at the crowded facility.

As of Thursday evening, more than 600 had received a pneumococcal vaccine. The inmates and staffers also are being treated with daily oral doses of penicillin — measures recommended by medical experts from the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta as well as city and county medical personnel, said Susan Cathey with the jail's medical unit.

Officials Wednesday said they were offering the vaccination and antibodies to inmates at a high risk of contracting the infection, but Ms. Cathey said all inmates were being advised of the treatment.

Ms. Cathey said 17 inmates remain hospitalized — one in critical condition — while 27 others are being evaluated in the jail's infirmary. Seven, including the two deaths, were confirmed cases of pneumococcal disease, she said.

Those at high risk of contracting the illness include those with cardiovascular disease, pulmonary disease, diabetes, alcoholism, cirrhosis, sickle cell disease, cancer, organ transplantation and those without spleens.

The two inmates who died last Thursday of pneumococcal disease had had their spleens removed.

Meanwhile, a federal court hearing continues today with U.S. District Judge James DeAnda expected to rule whether to release up to 500 misdemeanor offenders from the jail that now houses 8,300 — nearly double its capacity.

Attorney James Oitzinger, who represents inmates in an ongoing lawsuit, filed a motion Monday seeking emergency relief from the overcrowding because of the bacterial outbreak.

Oitzinger's motion also seeks to isolate those at risk of contracting the bacterial infection.

Judge stalls plea bargain

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A federal judge surprised prosecutors and an attorney representing a San Augustine businessman on drug charges by declining to take action on a plea agreement they had proposed.

Dave Husband, his brother Buck Husband and son David Neil Husband appeared before U.S. District Judge Howell Cobb with attorney Joseph "Lum" Hawthorn on Thursday, hoping Cobb would accept a plea agreement.

Buck Husband was expected to enter a plea Thursday, and Neil Husband was expected to testify in a forfeiture hearing, but both actions were postponed.

Number of elected Hispanics jumps 12.6 percent from 1988

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reapportionment that follows despite "impressive" gains at every level, Hispanics still account for less than 1 percent of all elected officials although they make up 8 percent of the population, according to a Latino advocacy group.

The National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials says 3,783 Hispanic elected officials hold office in 37 states, an increase of 12.6 percent from 1988.

Texas leads the country, with 1,693 elected Hispanic officials who account for 44.75 percent of the total, followed by New Mexico, with 647 Hispanic elected officials who account for 17.1 percent of the total, NALEO said in a study released Thursday.

"Civic participation is the key to economic and political advancement in the Latino community," said Rep. Solomon Ortiz, D-Texas., a NALEO board member. "The 1990 census and the reapportionment that follows will play a vital role in Latino electoral representation for the next decade."

NALEO's 1989 roster shows 10 Hispanic members of Congress — four from Texas, three from California, and one each from New York, Florida and New Mexico.

NALEO also said there are 128 state legislators, 1,340 school board members, 1,178 municipal officials, 246 mayors, and one governor — Bob Martinez of Florida.

"Hispanics continue to make impressive electoral gains at every level of office," said Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif., NALEO board president. "A barometer of an ethnic group's integration into the political system and society can be measured through their number of elected officials."

Valley officials trying to keep tourist attraction

WESLACO, Texas (AP) — Lower Rio Grande Valley officials are trying to keep a valuable tourist attraction, the Confederate Air Force headquarters, from leaving the area and have thrown support to a proposal from the city of Brownsville.

CAF leaders said in late August they were considering a move from their Harlingen base to Midland, where officials have offered a $6 million incentive package to lure the group devoted to preserving World War II aircraft in flying condition.

Brownsville has offered a multimillion-dollar package to lure the CAF to the Brownsville-South Padre Island Airport 25 miles south of Harlingen.

Valley Chamber of Commerce's Select Committee met Wednesday in Weslaco and voted to support the Brownsville offer, rather than see the CAF move to West Texas.

Competition, however, is tough. A later offer to lure the CAF to the northeast Texas city of Longview also is valued at several million dollars.

Harlingen Mayor Bill Card said a lack of available land at the Valley International Airport made it impossible for his city to compete with other offers. The CAF has been based in Harlingen for the past 20 years.

Valley Chamber officials estimate the CAF's annual economic impact at $30 million.

The Brownsville package, which officials say is worth more than the Midland offer, includes up to 50 acres of land adjacent to the airport and free electricity for the CAF buildings for 20 years.

CAF members are expected to vote in October on the organization's future headquarters.

Its air shows attract thousands who come to the Valley each October to watch reenactments of World War II battles. Its "Ghost Squadron" includes more than 140 vintage World War II aircraft.

The CAF also has a museum where it displays World War II memorabilia.

Valley officials worry that Airshow '89 on Oct. 13-15 could be the last one they will host.

After Midland made the $6 million offer, the Valley Chamber named a committee headed by McAllen Mayor Othal Brand to come back with a counterproposal for keeping the CAF in southern Texas. The chamber has designated the Brownsville proposal as its offer to the CAF.

"I believe we have more than an even chance to keep the Confederate Air Force at Brownsville and in the Valley," Brand said.

The Brownsville proposal will be presented to the CAF general staff at a Sept. 23 meeting in Harlingen.

2nd woman joins state treasurer's race

AUSTIN (AP) — A Dallas businesswoman and lawyer, with state and federal government experience, has joined the statewide race for treasurer in 1990.

Kay Bailey Hutchison, 46, on Thursday became the first Republican candidate for the job being vacated by Treasurer Ann Richards, a Democrat running for governor.

The only other announced candidate for treasurer is Karen Friend of Houston, a Democrat. A third woman, Harris County Treasurer Nikki Van Hightower of Houston, is considered a likely candidate in the Democratic primary.

"I just happen to want to be state treasurer, and it didn't occur to me it would be a woman's race," Ms. Hutchison told a news conference.

Ms. Hutchison said if she is elected treasurer she would recommend strict limits on the amount of state debt created each year. She said the debt is getting so high it threatens Texas' future.

"The state's increasing appetite for debt can easily mortgage our state's future," she said.

Ms. Hutchison in 1972 was the first Republican woman elected to the state House of Representatives. After four years, she was appointed by President Gerald Ford as vice chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board.

She is the wife of another former House member, Ray Hutchison of Dallas, who also was state GOP chairman and ran a losing race for governor in 1978.

Ms. Hutchison, a native of La Marque, received a law degree from the University of Texas in 1967. She was the first woman television news reporter in Houston, serving as political and legal correspondent for KPRC-TV.

Her political experience includes a losing race for Congress in 1982.

In other political developments Thursday:

— Country and western entertainer Les Chambers of Lancaster, in Dallas County, announced for the third time as a candidate for governor, this time as a Democrat. Chambers, 63, announced as an independent in 1982 and also as a Democrat in 1986, but never paid the filing fee.

Chambers told reporters he is president of the Texas Country Music Association and, if elected, would give the governor's $93,000 salary to the poor and homeless.

— Republican gubernatorial hopeful Kent Hance touted his support for a state income tax ban.

Aggressive bid backfires

The modern trend is to bid aggressively when the vulnerability is favorable. But there are drawbacks to this approach, and today's result for East-West is an example. As a passed hand, East thought he could risk a distributional cue-bid showing a two-suiter. His idea was either to find a good sacrifice against the opponents' potential game, or to force them to play at such a high level that they would be set. Instead West made a speculative double of four hearts, and declarer South, armed with the knowledge that East held long spades and diamonds, played the hand as though he were looking at all 52 cards.

Declarer won dummy's ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond and led a low heart to the queen in dummy. He ruffed another diamond, and played ace of clubs and then the 10 of clubs, finessing. He played another club to dummy's jack and cashed the king of clubs, throwing a spade. Next came the A-K of spades. If West ruffed, he would have the choice of playing A-J of hearts or of playing another club, allowing declarer to make 10 tricks in either event. If West discarded on the king of spades, it would be worse. Now he would have to ruff the next spade and lead away from the ace of hearts.

Much better for East to stay out of the bidding. With no East-West bidding to guide declarer, bidding and making a game becomes an iffy proposition.

Quaker Oats... Countersuit reportedly filed in battle over bran claims

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox usurped federal authority and picked on Quaker Oats Co. by suing it for false advertising, according to the cereal maker's countersuit against the state.

The Quaker suit, filed a week after Mattox sued the Chicago-based company, accuses the attorney general and Texas Health Commissioner Robert Bernstein of violating Quaker's rights to freedom of speech and equal protection under the law.

Mattox claimed the No. 1 maker of hot cereal misleads consumers through advertising claims that its product can help reduce the risk of heart disease by helping lower cholesterol.

Quaker's suit, filed Thursday, asks a federal judge to declare Quaker's advertising truthful and to prevent Mattox from interfering.

It also asks for unspecified damages, noting Quaker's name "has come to be recognized by consumers as signifying wholesome and nutritious food products, and is accorded very high consumer loyalty and brand recognition."

Mattox's suit, originally filed in state district court, was switched to federal court with the filing of Quaker's suit.

"It doesn't matter to us whether we win this case in state court or federal court," said Mattox spokesman Ron Dusek in Austin. "It doesn't matter if they counter-sue or shoot off a cannon. We're going to prove that they illegally misrepresented their product in their advertising."

The Quaker suit claims Mattox's action violates federal antitrust laws, places unlawful restraints on interstate commerce and puts Quaker at a competitive disadvantage.

"There are several competitors of Quaker Oats, both national and regional, that are selling food products containing oats or oat bran and who are making similar or stronger claims for their products," Quaker vice president Luther C. McKinney said.

"Yet, the attorney general has selectively challenged only Quaker Oats' advertising," McKinney said.

The Quaker suit also cites examples of several studies indicating bran is effective in reducing serum cholesterol, thereby reducing the risk of heart attack.

"Millions of people, myself included, have seen positive results from eating oatmeal or oat bran, as part of a fat-modified diet, and we find Attorney General Mattox's allegations incredible," McKinney said.

Since last week, Quaker has repeatedly noted that its ads were approved by the Federal Trade Commission.

Officials: border key funds laundering area

AUSTIN (AP) — Federal authorities say drug money makes up a significant part of the $7.3 billion in bank deposits near the Texas-Mexico border, it was reported.

Officials in the U.S. Justice Department, Customs Service and Internal Revenue Service say traffickers who smuggle drugs across the border are stashing illegal profits in financial institutions along the Rio Grande, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

The IRS is working on about 40 money-laundering cases along the Rio Grande, from El Paso to Brownsville, the newspaper reported Thursday.

Such investigations are expected to intensify under the anti-drug plan announced last week by President Bush, who has vowed to find and seize narcotics dealers' profits.

The border is "where most of the narcotics initiate and where most of the transactions take place," said Mike Grubich, chief of criminal investigation for the Austin IRS district.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Charles Lewis, assigned to a special drug task force in Houston, recently prosecuted a bank in the Rio Grande Valley for accepting $1.7 million in cash from drug dealers without reporting the transactions to the IRS.

By law, banks must report to federal authorities all cash transactions of more than $10,000.

"There's no question in my mind that banks along the Mexican border and in major cities are handling huge amounts of drug money," Lewis said. "And sometimes they don't know about it."

Dear Abby

Tree of Knowledge Evergreen At Your Local Public Library

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I live in Norfolk, Va., where our school systems are embroiled in a huge battle over changes in public school sex education.

I hope every opponent of the Family Life Education curriculum read the letter from the 14-year-old girl who wanted to know if she could get pregnant the "first time." It is obvious that the sex education program at this girl's school has failed to meet her needs.

And while I have your ear, Abby, I'd like to address another way schools are failing their students. Abby, you get many letters from school-age children, all spending 25 cents to ask you questions they could have answered free. All our 14-year-old friend need have done is walk to the nearest library. There she would have easy access to free information on every subject on earth.

Don't schools teach students how to use a library anymore? And Abby, why don't you ever plug our library system? It would make my day to see you answer someone's letter with, "Look it up." It might put you out of business, but if you could teach one young person how valuable our libraries are, you could certainly consider your job of educating the nation well done.

A FRIEND OF THE LIBRARY

DEAR FRIEND: You must be a new reader. I have plugged our public libraries numerous times. But for those who might have missed it, here's what I've said:

If I could give young people one piece of advice it would be, read, read, read! In reading, you will open up new worlds, real and imagined. Read for information, read for pleasure. Our libraries are filled with knowledge and joy, and it's all there — free for the taking. The person who does not read is no better off than the person who cannot read.

DEAR ABBY: About 12 years ago, my father died and left my sister and me a modest sum of money. As part of his will, he also set up trust funds to provide college educations for my two children, who were his only grandchildren at the time.

Shortly after Dad's death, my younger sister married, and now she has two children. Here's the problem: My sister constantly tries to make me feel guilty because my children — now teen-agers — "have it made" for their college educations, while she and her husband will have to beg, borrow or scrape together the money to send their kids to college.

She says Dad should have made some arrangements for his future grandchildren. Is this ever done?

GUILT-TRIPPED BY SIS

DEAR GUILT-TRIPPED: Yes. An attorney (or estate planner) could and should have suggested that provisions be made for all grandchildren who may arrive.

Your sister may have good reason to resent the fact that her children were shortchanged, but she shouldn't take it out on you. Your father and his estate planners were responsible for either the unfortunate oversight or the deliberate choice to include only your children and no others.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, who is a grown woman, has a boyfriend she likes very much, except for one thing — when he eats he talks with food in his mouth! She says this bothers her so much she can hardly stand it, but she doesn't know him well enough — nor does she have the guts — to tell him.

She is just about ready to give him up for that reason. He is really a wonderful man and I would hate to see her give him up. I thought maybe if you'd print this, it may get to him — or someone else who needs some lessons in good manners.

SOMEONE FROM MINNESOTA

DEAR SOMEONE: I'll try:

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SOMEONE IN MINNESOTA" (or in any of the other 49 states): If you talk with food in your mouth, please don't, because you are in danger of losing your girlfriend.

Abby's favorite recipes are going like hotcakes! Send your name and address, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Abby's Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

For governor...

GOP activists say Dallas lawyer will enter race

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican Party activists say Dallas lawyer Tom Luce has decided to enter the GOP primary for governor and is expected to announce his campaign next week, according to published reports.

Luce wouldn't say whether he intends to join three other candidates already in the GOP field. He said that's why he scheduled a new conference on Tuesday.

However, Luce said Thursday he had been "encouraged by the enthusiasm and support that's come to me over the last few weeks."

Luce, 49, does legal work for Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot, who has said he would back the lawyer in a bid for governor.

Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance, former secretary of state Jack Rains and Midland oilman Clayton Williams all previously declared for the GOP nomination.

GOP sources said several prominent Dallas Republicans, including Gov. Bill Clements, have encouraged Luce to run. Investor and philanthropist Peter O'Donnell also reportedly has encouraged Luce.

The United States purchased the Danish Virgin Islands for $25 million in 1916.

Investigators demand two samples

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Investigators probing the 1986 shooting death of a policeman have ordered a San Antonio patrolman to provide handwriting and fingerprint samples to a federal grand jury.

Patrolman Farrell Tucker was ordered Wednesday to furnish the samples. It was the first move in six months by federal authorities looking into possible civil rights violations stemming from officer Stephen Smith's death.

Tucker was acquitted in state district court in the shooting death of Smith, who was slain as the two were driving along a quiet residential street.

Tucker, 38, was served a subpoena Wednesday by FBI Special Agent Bruce Gatt.

"How long is this going to go on?" Tucker asked. "Is this never going to be over? It's been three years and it's been investigated by the FBI, by the Texas Rangers, by everybody who's anybody, and now they're asking for fingerprint and handwriting samples?"

Tucker, a 10-year veteran of the force, called the subpoena harassment. The document orders Tucker to hand over the samples by Sept. 20. Tucker said he has not been asked to testify.

FBI officials refused to describe the focus of the investigation, but in the past federal officials have said they are probing possible civil rights violations of Smith and others in the case.

At the time of the shooting, Smith was on suspension and awaiting trial on charges of violating a prisoner's civil rights.

After his death, a special team of investigators revealed that the dead officer was a suspect in three homicides and several terrorist acts, including the firebombing of an assistant chief's house.

The investigation concluded no other police officers were involved in the attacks.

House panel says...

Documents altered by FFA officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal aviation officials doctored attendance records of air traffic controllers who were fired in Chicago during the 1981 strike, a House panel said today in recommending a probe for possible criminal misconduct.

Officials produced altered documents when Chicago controllers appealed their firings to the Merit Systems Protection Board, and then "attempted to conceal those activities" during testimony to the board and a House subcommittee investigating the case, lawmakers concluded.

The report by the Public Works subcommittee on investigations and oversight recommends the Justice Department review the testimony of Federal Aviation Administration officials for possible misconduct.

"Our goal was to determine if a federal agency had trampled on the rights of individuals and we are able to conclude that a gross injustice did indeed take place," said Rep. James L. Oberstar, D-Minn., chairman of the subcommittee during the investigation.

Two FAA spokesmen in Washington, Fred Farrar and Robert Buckhorn, said they were not familiar with the subcommittee report and could not comment. A spokesman in Chicago, Mort Edelman, also declined comment.

The subcommittee said it was not judging the merits of the more than 400 firings in Chicago, which were among 11,500 ordered nationwide by then-President Ronald Reagan after members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization went on strike.

Rather, the subcommittee report said it was concerned with the actions of FAA officials while they were defending the firings in front of the Merit Systems Protection Board, which considers appeals from dismissed federal employees.

The first two months of the strike were "traumatic and confusing times" at the Chicago center, where 80 percent of the controllers had joined the walkout, the subcommittee report said.

Supervisors were forced to handle other jobs, "and this situation severely affected the condition of the center's attendance records," the report said.

On Aug. 13, 1981, a month before Chicago controllers started receiving final termination notices, Robert L. Miller, evaluations officer at the center, began to process personnel files — in a special area dubbed the "war room" — in anticipation of controller appeals to the federal merit board, the subcommittee said.

Happy times are in the offing for you in the year ahead, because it looks like you will switch your emphasis from your material interests to life's more esthetic values. Friendships will become more important than things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) What's in it for me should not be your motto today. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is not a particularly good day for you to go shopping in expensive stores. You could be a bit more extravagant than usual and buy things you don't need or may never use.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In order to get proper mileage out of your budget at this time, it may be necessary for you to trim some non-essential expenses. Start with the mostly costly ones first.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In a critical career situation today everyone, including yourself, could be at odds as to how this matter should be handled. It's not likely an effective resolution will be achieved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) What you think is a clever maneuver expressly devised to further your personal aim might backfire today if it is not in accord with your highest standards.

Texas man gets sentenced in fuels tax fraud case

AUSTIN (AP) — A Houston-area man was ordered to pay the state $500,000 as part of a sentence for fuels tax fraud, State Comptroller Bob Bullock and Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle said Thursday.

"This is just the beginning of what we expect to be a parade of convictions of tax cheaters," Earle said. "We're coming after them and they better get ready to pay up in more ways than one."

Thomas Foster Petty, 33, of Kingwood was sentenced on two counts of felony fuels tax evasion by State District Judge Bob Jones of Austin.

As part of his sentence, Petty must serve two concurrent 10-year terms of probation. He also must cooperate with the comptroller's office and district attorney in a tax investigation.

"This man's scheme cost Texas hundreds of thousands of dollars," Bullock said. "We aim to put a stop to tax fraud and the courts are backing us up."

Tigers battle Lobos

The Levelland Lobos invade Tiger Stadium Friday night for a non-district contest set to begin at 8 p.m.

The Tigers are 0-1 on the season, losing 24-8 to Lubbock Coronado a week ago, and

JV loses 20-6 in Levelland

Snyder's junior varsity Tigers fell to Levelland 20-6 in grid action there Thursday night.

The Tigers score came on a 25 yard Jason Rios to Joe Martinez touchdown pass.

"The score was not indicative of how close the game was," said coach Bud Birks of SHS. "We had a touchdown run called back, another long run called back and a fumble inside their 20."

In spite of the loss, Birks had praise for his team.

"They played much better than last week. They were more physical and a lot stronger. We actually played them a very close football game."

Birks singled out running back Daniel Espinosa for his outstanding effort against Levelland. Statistics citing Espinosa's yardage were not available.

Levelland has a record of 1-0, defeating Lamesa, 19-14, last Friday.

The Tigers will start five new faces, offensively, for the Levelland tilt. Bill Hodges will start at strong guard, David Jennings at quick tackle, John Wright at strong tackle, Mark King will move over to play at the split end position and Jayson Presley will play flanker.

The Lobos will run one of several variations on the I-formation to take advantage of their power game on offense.

"They'll run a lot of power type plays," said SHS head coach David Baugh. "They'll run sweeps, options and traps, that sort of thing."

"Their quarterback has better than average speed," he continued, "he had a 70 yard touchdown run last week."

The quarterback he referred to is senior Jimmy Payton. Payton and tailback Curtis Hall, another senior, accounted for two touchdowns rushing in the season-opening win. Those TD's, as well as a 38 yard TD pass from Payton to split end Anthony Dawn, another of the Levelland offensive weapons, powered the Lobos past the Golden Tornadoes.

Defensively the Lobos carry a lot of weight in the trenches, as all the down linemen weigh in the 200 pound range and over.

According to Baugh, the defenders to watch are defensive tackle Danny Brackens, a 222 pound senior and linebacker Tony Golightly, a returning starter from last year.

Levelland plays what is called a multiple five defense featuring five down linemen, four linebackers and a pair of safeties.

"Their linebackers are pretty quick," said Baugh. "They can really get there."

What is the Snyder game plan?

"Execute," Baugh says. "We have to have someone to protect for the pass, someone to throw the pass and someone to catch the pass. Two out of three is not good enough. We had too many dropped balls last week. We've got to do what we do better than we did it last week."

Bright spots in last week's loss to Coronado included the forcing of five fumbles by the Tiger defense. Three of the miscues became the property of the Black and Gold.

Offensively, Willie Garcia was the leading rusher for Snyder on Friday, picking up 71 yards on 7 carries, including a 41 yard touchdown jaunt in the fourth period.

Tailback Shelby Bufkin gained 54 yards on six rushes for the Tigers.

Starters on offense for Snyder include senior quarterback Toby Goodwin, Garcia, a senior at fullback, Bufkin at tailback, split end King and flanker Presley.

Others are, at the tackle spots, Jennings and Wright, both juniors, Hodges and senior Jodi Iglehart, tight end Bart Morton, and center senior Greg Kiker.

They will face the starting defensive squad of the Lobos consisting of junior noseguard Willie Guerra, junior tackles Brackens and Mike Ansolabehere and ends Mike Hudson and Bert Franklin. Hudson and Franklin are both seniors.

The Levelland linebackers are made up of one junior, Brooks Broussard and a trio of seniors including Golightly, Dawn, and Skipper Carnes.

Junior Britt Spears lines up at strong safety and Orlando Coursey plays free safety.

The Tigers will start on defense as they started last week, with Damien Haywood at noseguard, Iglehart and Clint Haywood at the tackles and Will Clay and Hayward Clay at the ends.

Damien and Clint Haywood are juniors, Iglehart, a senior and Will and Hayward Clay are sophomores.

Snyder's starting linebackers will be the senior Morton and junior Terry Stephens.

Bufkin and senior Bert Merritt will line up at the corners with the strong safety being senior Charlie Guynes and junior Paul Anderson starting at free safety.

Levelland will counter on offense with a line consisting of senior Ricky Ochoa at center, juniors Guerra and Roy Moore at guards and senior tackles Steve Watkins and Mike Hudson.

Senior David Day will line up at tight end for the Lobos.

Payton gets the nod at quarterback, Dawn at split end and Hall at tailback, accompanied by senior fullback Derek Permenter and flanker Coursey.

Snyder will be seeking revenge for a 32-0 loss at the hands of Levelland last season.

Defending SWC champions finally get to play a game

The defending Southwest Conference champion Arkansas Razorbacks finally get to play a game.

The Razorbacks become the last SWC team to open the season when they host dangerous Tulsa in Fayetteville on Saturday.

Arkansas has won the last 12 meetings, including a 30-26 victory last year.

The ninth-ranked Hogs were rated 13-point favorites over the 2-0 Hurricane.

In other games involving SWC teams, Texas A&M and Texas Christian open the league campaign with the Aggies 11-point favorites for the 7:30 p.m. road game at Amon Carter Stadium; Texas Tech was a 23-point favorite over New Mexico at Lubbock in a noon (Raycom TV) game; Georgia was an 11-point favorite over Baylor in a noon nationally televised (TBS) matchup from Athens, Ga., and there was no line on the Connecticut-Southern Methodist 7:30 p.m. game in Ovnby Stadium.

"Tulsa is at a real advantage having played two games," said Arkansas coach Ken Hatfield. "They will know who their best people are and will have had two weeks to make corrections. They'll be more seasoned and calmer." Hatfield said he is worried about the Hogs' young secondary.

"We couldn't have picked an opener that would better test our areas of weakness," he said. "Tulsa runs and throws the ball so well, it will be a real test for a young defense. It will be a real test for our offense, too. Tulsa tackles well and they are very sound on defense."

Texas A&M (1-1) has won 16 consecutive games against the Horned Frogs and leads the series 48-29-7. TCU's last win was 13-10 in College Station in 1972.

TCU won 14-3 in 1971 in Fort Worth.

"We have a great deal of respect for TCU," said A&M coach R.C. Slocum. "They moved the ball well against Missouri (a 14-10 loss) and played tough defense. They will be very tough at home."

TCU's triple shoot offense ran and passed for 487 yards and 23 first downs against Missouri but could only cross the goal once.

The Frogs will be without their top running back, Tony Dardhard, who underwent knee surgery this week.

Although it's a heavy favorite, Tech will face a big test against New Mexico to see if the Raiders have a mental letdown after upsetting 20th ranked Arizona 24-14.

"We beat a good team last Saturday but the worst thing we can start doing is thinking we are better than we are," said Tech coach Spike Dykes.

After losing 33-7 to Oklahoma, Baylor coach Grant Teaff said he had better see more of an effort this week against the Bulldogs.

"I expect to see a much better effort both mentally and physically this week or we're going to be in trouble," Teaff said.

FSU-LSU grid matchup now just another game

FSU-LSU grid matchup now just another game

It was supposed to be a key game between two contenders for the national title. Instead, it has become a matter of survival for Florida State and LSU.

The Seminoles, ranked sixth in the preseason poll, are 0-2 heading into Baton Rouge for Saturday night's game with the Tigers. Louisiana State hasn't done any better, although it has only one loss, against Texas A&M.

"The game has taken on a whole new lock since the beginning of the year, when it looked like the game of the century," Seminoles coach Bobby Bowden said.

Florida State was beaten at home by Southern Mississippi and then lost at Clemson. The Seminoles haven't been 0-3 since 1976, Bowden's first season as head coach.

Playing for No. 1 are Notre Dame, ranked at the top, and No. 2 Michigan. In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Miami, Fla., is home to California, Utah is at No. 4 Nebraska, No. 5 Auburn entertains dangerous Southern Mississippi, No. 6 Oklahoma is at Arizona, seventh-ranked Clemson goes to Virginia Tech, No. 8 Colorado is at home against No. 10 Illinois, and No. 9 Arkansas opens its season at home against Tulsa.

Also, it is No. 11 Syracuse against Army, 12th-ranked West Virginia playing host to South Carolina, No. 13 Southern California at home to Utah State, Purdue at No. 15 Washington, Memphis State at No. 16 Alabama, Duke at No. 17 Tennessee, 19th-ranked North Carolina State at Wake Forest, No. 20 UCLA at San Diego State, 22nd-rated Texas A&M at Texas Christian, Oregon State at No. 23 Washington State and No. 24 Iowa playing host to Oregon.

Frosh snatch win vs. Post

The freshman Tigers football squad was victorious as they thumped Post 20-0 at Travis Field.

The frosh scored a TD in the first quarter and one each in the third and fourth quarters.

Jason Green, SHS quarterback, scored in the opening period on a six-yard run. The two-point conversion was unsuccessful and the Tigers led 6-0.

Wayland Harrison rambled for a 45-yard TD in quarter number three. He also ran the ball in for the two-point PAT, setting the score at 14-0.

Snyder's final score came on a run of eight yards by tailback Randy Fisk.

"We played pretty good," said freshman coach Milton Ham of the ninth graders win.

The freshmen will host Sweetwater next Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

Scorekeeper dies at age 88

DALLAS (AP) — For more than four decades, Floyd Gish scored virtually every touchdown at the Cotton Bowl. But Gish, who died Tuesday at age 88, never touched the football.

Gish was the scoreboard operator and timekeeper at the Dallas stadium and kept score at about 1,100 games, according to his wife, Louis Matthews Gish. He scored his first game in 1937 and retired in the early 1980s.

"He was always there," said Arthur Halle, manager of the Cotton Bowl for 37 years before retiring. "He never missed a game."

Mrs. Gish said her husband was heartbroken when the Cowboys moved to Texas Stadium in Irving in 1971.

"He always thought that they would eventually come back," she said.

A memorial service for Gish, who died of complications from a hip injury sustained last May, will be held Friday. He will be buried in Dallas.

Survivors include his wife, a son, a daughter, a sister and three brothers.

BEARS, 17-13.

Philadelphia (plus 3) at Washington

The spread reflects the home field advantage. What it doesn't reflect is that even in the second week, this is a must-win game for the Redskins. If Mark Rypien can play as well as he did Monday night...

REDSKINS, 27-20.

Indianapolis (plus 6) at Los Angeles Rams

Eric Dickerson returns to play against the eight guys the Rams got for him: Are eight guys better than one?

RAMS, 34-22.

Denver (plus 6½) at Buffalo (Monday night)

The Broncos are fine as long as they're playing Kansas City in Mile High Stadium. Don't expect the Bills to wait until the last three minutes again...

BILLS, 23-14.

New York Jets (plus 7) at Cleveland

This one looks so easy it could be a trap. The Jets (Wesley Walker, Ken O'Brien, Al Toon) are banged up; Bud Carson knows their tendencies, and the Browns won 51-0 last week.

Furlong leads LPGA Classic

KENT, Wash. (AP) — Shirley Furlong was rehearsing her lines when she remembered that the last act hadn't been played.

Furlong, who had shaved five strokes off par, allowed her mind to wander late in Thursday's opening round of the LPGA Safeco Classic.

"After 15 holes, I got to thinking what I'm going to say in the press room," Furlong said. "Then I remembered, let's get back to these last three holes."

She came back nicely, getting a birdie on her 17th hole on the way to a 6-under-par 66 and a share of the first-round lead with Chris Johnson.

"It was probably one of the most solid rounds of golf I've played," Furlong said.

Johnson, who had a chance at the outright lead until a bogey on No. 18, had been battling a mouth infection recently. She took an antibiotic after playing the front nine of the 6,222-yard Meridian Valley Country Club course.

"Today is the first day I've really felt good," Johnson said. "I was kind of feeling sorry for myself. I ended up working my way out of my pity party and came out and played well."

Houston's Scott dumps L.A. to garner 20th win Thursday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The number 20 didn't matter to Mike Scott.

But the math did matter to the World Series champion Los Angeles Dodgers, who were officially eliminated from the National League West race.

Scott became the first 20-game winner in the major leagues this season when the Houston Astros beat the Dodgers 11-3 Thursday. Craig Biggio drove in six runs with two homers, including his first grand slam, in support of Scott 20-8.

"When you're growing up, you hear about this 20-game winner and that 20-game winner, and you want to be one," said Scott, who reached the milestone for the first time in his 11-year career.

"But you need a lot of things to happen to be a 20-game winner. You've got to have some luck. You've got to be in the right spot in the rotation and the guys have to score some runs. There's a lot more involved than pitching. It takes other guys out there, helping you out to do that. That's one of the reasons you don't go out there and say I want to win this many or that many games."

Niekro, who did it twice. The Dodgers' defeat, coupled with first-place San Francisco's victory, officially ended Los Angeles' hopes of winning another championship. No World Series champion has repeated since the 1977-78 New York Yankees.

"We hoped," Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda said. "Up until now, we always hoped."

The game drew a crowd of 13,026 fans, the lowest at Dodger Stadium in 13 years.

Rookie John Wetteland lost his fifth straight decision.

Rafael Ramirez scored three runs and broke out of a 4-for-40 slump with four hits, including an run-scoring double in the second inning and an RBI single in the fifth.

The Astros, who totalled 17 hits against five Dodger pitchers, chased Wetteland, 4-8, after 1 2-3 innings. They got six runs and five hits off him in the second, including Biggio's slam with two out.

Singles by Glenn Davis, Ken Caminiti and Craig Reynolds pulled the Astros into a 1-all tie and Ramirez's double put them ahead for good. Biggio, fighting a 5-for-36 slump when the game began, increased the margin to 8-1 in the fourth with another two-out homer.

Gerald Young, who walked on a 3-2 pitch in front of Biggio's grand slam, capped a three-run fifth with a two-out, two-run double. The Astros scored eight of their runs with two out.

It was Biggio's first multi-homer performance in 170-major league games.

Broadcasters argue over ESPN contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Broadcasters are taking aim at the ESPN cable network in a new campaign to preserve free, over-the-air televised sports.

ESPN earlier this year snagged a four-year, $400 million contract with Major League Baseball to carry games on Wednesday and Sunday nights. Outraged broadcasters were shut out, and on Thursday they said they were going to fight — on Capitol Hill if necessary.

TV executives from stations holding the baseball broadcast rights in 24 of the 26 Major League Baseball cities said they would meet with ESPN and major league officials to demand access to Wednesday and Sunday games. John Serrao, chairman of the Association of Independent Television Stations, said.

"An immediate effort will be made to seek the elimination of the exclusive restrictions on the Wednesday and Sunday night blackouts," Serrao said. "These blackouts on free, over-the-air TV are contrary to the public interest."

Local TV stations which already had contracted with individual baseball teams to carry a certain number of games during the season now have no access to Wednesdays and Sundays, the station executives said. Meanwhile, regional cable sports networks can show the games, the executives said.

Local broadcasters have no legal recourse because Major League Baseball agreements supersede contracts made by individual teams, Daniel Berkery, an executive of WSBK-TV of Boston, said during a news conference.

The same situation applies when college athletic conferences such as the Big 10 and Pacific 10 make cable agreements that override contracts between individual schools and local broadcasters, INTV president Preston Padden said.

The executives said this is just the tip of the iceberg for TV sports.

Viewers "are getting something now for free that in the future, if the tide goes the way it has, they are going to have to pay for," Berkery said.

Officials at the National Cable Television Association in Washington were out of the office and not available for comment Thursday. But the NCTA has stated that local broadcasters are showing 40 percent more professional baseball games now compared with 1975 and that cable is not siphoning away free TV sports.

Major League Baseball spokesman Richard Levin, reached by telephone at Milwaukee where team owners are meeting, would not comment on the broadcasters' allegations.

Class slated for hunters

A class designed to educate area hunters is scheduled for the Dunn Community Center Sept. 16 and 17.

The course is open to adults and children and is slated to include rifle, shotgun and bowhunting safety procedures, outdoor ethics, laws and regulations, conservation, traditions, wildlife identification, field care of game, wilderness first aid and survival techniques.

The cost for the class is $5 for registration and materials.

Students successfully completing the course will receive a certificate from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, according to class instructor Calvin Goebel.

Goebel also reminds hunters that anyone whose birthday falls between Sept. 2, 1971 and Aug. 31, 1973 must have this certificate to hunt alone in Texas.

The hours of instruction will be 8 a.m.-12 noon and 1-5 p.m. Sept. 16 and 1-5 p.m. Sept. 17.

For more information contact Goebel at 573-6938, Bill Robbins at 573-0795 or Mel Reed at 573-2884.

Tennis coach to aid Noah

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist men's tennis coach Dennis Ralston announced Thursday he will leave the University to become the full-time coach of professional tennis player Yannick Noah, officials said.

"My goal is to help Yannick become ranked among the top five in the world," Ralston said. "This opportunity came at the right time for me. My children have all grown, and it will be easier for my wife and I to travel."

Ralston, 47, led the Mustangs to a 185-67 dual match record in his nine years at SMU.

His teams ranked among the Top 10 six consecutive seasons from 1982-87.

Ralston was named NCAA Division I Men's Coach-of-the-Year in 1983 when he guided the Mustangs to an NCAA runner-up finish, the best performance ever by an SMU tennis team.

"We're losing the premier college tennis coach in the country," said SMU athletic director Doug Single. "Dennis will be difficult to replace. We will continue to maintain SMU's outstanding tennis program."

Single said assistant coach Tracey DeLette would serve as interim head coach and a search would begin immediately for Ralston's successor.

Ralston, who is enshrined in the International Tennis Hall of Fame in Newport, R.I., was ranked among the top eight in the world from 1963-66.

Oryx sets international expansion

DALLAS (AP) — In less than a year on its own, Oryx Energy Co. has changed its name, announced plans to build the first skyscraper in Dallas in years and now made its long-promised international expansion.

be about 400 million barrels, increasing the company's oil and gas reserves by 30 percent. "This is precisely the type of acquisition that meets our stated goals," said Oryx Chairman Robert P. Hauptfuhrer. "In terms of size, it is significant but well within our means. These properties are a strategic fit for Oryx Energy and create a balanced portfolio worldwide."

next year, most of it from five North Sea fields, remaining stable until 1994 when an increase to 36 million barrels is projected. The purchase will be paid for through new debt, which will be retired through cash flow, some divestiture and reduced capital spending.

Oryx, North America's largest independent oil and gas company, became a separate firm on Nov. 1, 1988 when Sun Co. spun off its "upstream" business. Formerly known as Sun Exploration and Production Co., Oryx changed its name on May 3 to reflect its independence.

Men treated and released

Two Snyder men were treated for burns suffered in a flash fire Thursday night and were held overnight for observation at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. They were identified as 24-year-old Ron Utley of 3108 40th St., an employee of Energy Electric, and 46-year-old Don Franklin of Rt. 3, an employee of Cynara Inc. Utley had first- and second-degree burns on the side of his face, and Franklin had first- and second-degree burns on the right side of his face and right hand, a hospital spokesman said.

Both men were dismissed from the hospital Friday morning. The fire took place at Cynara, a membrane recovery plant that contracts with SACROC to remove Co2 from produced gas. A SACROC spokesman said it was a fire in an electric control box.

Ex-MHMR official hired for review

The Snyder (Tex.) Daily News, Fri., Sept. 15, 1989 11

AUSTIN (AP) — A state investigation into alleged abuse of the retarded is being conducted by the ex-superintendent of a mental institution where retarded people were found dying after improper medical care, it was reported.

Jaylon Fincannon, head of Texas retardation services, praised the expertise of former Denton State School Superintendent Jerry Vincent, who was hired for the investigation at San Antonio State School.

But advocates for the retarded question whether Vincent can conduct an impartial investigation, the Austin American-Statesman reported Thursday. Allegations of abuse at the San Antonio institution were reported this summer to U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders' court monitor, sociologist Linda O'Neill of Florida.

Sanders, who oversees a class-action lawsuit against Texas institutions for retarded people, is expected to rule soon on a proposal for an abuse investigation by Ms. O'Neill, the newspaper reported.

The state last week hired Vincent, who resigned from his position at Denton State School on Nov. 29. His resignation came two weeks after a federal court report faulted the medical treatment of 16 retarded people who died at the school in 1987 and 1988.

Vincent now is a top official in the Louisiana Division of Mental Retardation. Reached Thursday by The Associated Press, Vincent said he was in conference but would call back. He did not immediately do so.

Fincannon said Vincent is an experienced mental retardation professional. He said Vincent was hired because he is familiar with rules of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation but is independent of the agency.

The medical problems and deaths during Vincent's administration of the Denton school should not be considered abuse and neglect, Fincannon said. "He was, and is, a good mental retardation professional, and he understands our agency," Fincannon said. "He is a good manager and knows good management techniques."

"I have no problems or concerns about him doing a thorough, objective, fair investigation," Fincannon said.

Administration vows to support project for Lake Meredith

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bush administration says it will help Panhandle officials design a system of wells to prevent salt pollution of Lake Meredith, as long as the federal government is repaid.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who has introduced legislation to remove naturally occurring salt from entering the lake, said he is extremely disappointed in the administration's position.

"They have proposed a three-year payback of the federal share of the project at 10.25 percent interest. That amounts to no federal cost-sharing at all," said Bentsen, D-Texas. "This water problem threatens the economic base of the entire Panhandle area."

Under Bentsen's desalinization plan, local governments would spend about $6.4 million on the project, with the Bureau of Reclamation providing about $2 million in design and construction management expertise.

At a hearing before a Senate subcommittee Thursday, the administration acknowledged increasingly salty water could threaten the Panhandle's economic base.

Joe D. Hall, acting commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation, said the agency would be willing to provide design and construction expertise on the project as long as it is reimbursed for its costs within three years at current interest rates.

Hall told the Senate subcommittee on water and power that the $90 million Canadian River project, which includes the lake, "is jeopardized by a salinity problem that may be solved with a small federal expenditure."

"The rural communities served by the project constitute an important segment of the economic vitality of the Texas Panhandle," Hall testified. "Loss of a major source of water would seriously threaten the economic base of these rural areas."

Hall said Lake Meredith provides municipal water to more than 400,000 Panhandle residents, along with flood control, recreation, fish and wildlife benefits.

Studies indicate much of the salt entering the lake comes from a shallow brine aquifer near Logan, N.M., Hall said. The agency believes the salt can best be removed at the source by well pumping and disposal by deep-well injection.

Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, told the committee the increasing salinity of Lake Meredith threatens to leave much of the Texas Plains without a reliable source of drinking water "which could restrict future growth in the region, as well as reduce the current economic base."

Hunt donates $3 million for Criswell College land

DALLAS (AP) — A Hunt family foundation has donated $3 million to the First Baptist Church of Dallas to purchase land that will be the new home of Criswell College, named for the church's pastor.

In announcing the gift Thursday, Dr. W.A. Criswell said the money was donated by the Ruth Ray Hunt Philanthropic Fund of the Communities Foundation of Texas.

The church will buy the property of the historic Gaston Avenue Baptist Church for the college campus, Criswell said.

Renovation of the property will begin after the first of the year. The college, which offers undergraduate and graduate degrees with an emphasis on vocational ministries, is expected to be open by the next school year.
