FAIR CONCLUDES — The 24th annual Scurry County Fair closed Saturday evening following three days of successful running. ## 24th county fair termed 'success'

Sizeable crowds made the 24th Scurry County Fair a successful one, according to fair spokesmen, who said they believed this year's recently-concluded event was one of the best in recent memory.

Local man arrested in 'drug bust'

A 29-year-old Snyder man was arrested on two Mitchell County warrants Saturday afternoon, one pertaining to the three-county "drug bust" conducted by officers last weekend.

Ralph Rodriguez of the Old Lubbock Hwy. was taken into custody by a county sheriff's deputy at 4:17 at his residence, according to reports.

Rodriguez was arrested on a warrant for delivery of a controlled substance, cocaine, and on a forgery warrant.

Officers here last weekend and early last week picked up four Snyder men and a Colorado City man on six Scurry County warrants for delivery of controlled substances, cocaine, amphetamines and methamphetamine, or "speed."

They have also arrested several suspects for Mitchell and Nolan County on warrants for drug and forgery offenses in connection with the investigation, which began last November in Sweetwater.

Since no tickets are taken, a head count of fair-goers was impossible. Response from those manning booths and directing the various livestock shows and other specialty shows indicated they were pleased at the turnout, however.

An event growing each year is the domino tournament, which was won by Guy Turner and Don Carraway. Second place went to Ronnie Lewis and Hulen Malone, followed by D.M. Foree and Cleve Chambers in third place and J.J. Hall and George Richardson in fourth place.

The "Crittter's Parade," a favorite with the youngsters, had a number of entries. Top contestants in the five-and-under division were Sara Potts, Destiny Proctor, Tyler Riggan, Nicole Moore and Jeffrey Proctor. Tops in the 6-9 category were Stoni Riggan, Jason Almquist, Robin Proctor, Amanda Williams and Christy Williams.

The Pedal Tractor Pull was held in three divisions. In division I, for 51 to 60 pounds, a 25-foot, 4-inch pull by Caleb Callaway won first place. Greg McAnaw was second with a pull of 23-1 feet, followed in third place by Christina Holder with a pull of 23-0.

In division II, 41-50 pounds, Colby Stoker prevailed with a pull of 25-5. Second was Matthew Blocker with a pull of 22-3, followed in third by Riley Patterson with a pull of 21-0.

Sheena Callaway won the 30-40 pound division with a pull of 27 feet. Tyson Kubena was second with a pull of 26-8, followed by Will Davis with a pull of 25-6.

First place in the horseshoe throwing contest was won by Don and Terry Duncan. Second place went to Don Edgmon and Cloyce Scarberry.

Commissioners okay board nominee; approve five amendments to budget

Scurry County Commissioners Monday unanimously approved the nomination of Brenda Hedges to the Cogdell Memorial Hospital Board of Managers and approved amendments to the 1989-90 county budget in five departments.

County Judge Bobby Goodwin cited Hedges as being an active member of the community. She has served as chamber of commerce president as well as being active in United Way campaigns.

County Auditor Linda Franklin requested budget amendments in five departments. Commissioners approved an additional $40,000 added to Cogdell Memorial Hospital's budget. Hospital administrator Tom Hochwalt attended the 10 a.m. meeting to explain the hospital's need for additional funds.

Hochwalt noted the shortage of doctors in the community has led to a decline in admissions for the year. Ad valorem taxes for the hospital clinic are approximately $20,000. He also said several large health insurance claims, one in excess of $40,000, have been turned in by employees.

The permanent improvement department's budgeted amount was amended by $25,476. The ambulance service contract is shared by the city and the county. This amount is for the purchase of a new ambulance.

Scurry County welfare department received an additional $18,000 for indigent drug care. Marge Sealy, director of the department, reminded commissioners that indigent health care is a state-mandated program, and is increasing steadily each year. Currently, the welfare department is $5,229 over-spent, but with the additional funds Sealy expects to be able to finish the year without another request for funds. She said the prescription drug bill runs about $3,500 to $4,000 per month.

An additional $8,000 was approved for Scurry County Coliseum. Coliseum manager Wes Partain said $4,000 is for repairs and $4,000 for supplies. Partain said the new horse barn added to the coliseum annex was not put into the supply budget at the beginning of the year.

Partain said he has kept a separate tally of expenses for the horse barn, which totals $4,000. The barn would have cost approximately $65,000 to build without the volunteer labor and donated materials.

County Judge Bobby Goodwin said it only cost the county $14,000, and with this in mind, commissioners unanimously approved the amendment. Another $4,000 has been allocated for repairs in the restrooms at the ag barns and repairs on a tractor.

'Little Miss' pageant planned for October

Young ladies age one month to 17 years are invited to participate in the Little Miss Snyder Pageant, planned for Saturday, Oct. 21, in Worsham Auditorium at Snyder High School.

Age categories include Baby Miss Snyder, age 0-23 months; Tiny Miss Snyder, 2-3 years old; Little Miss Snyder, 4-6 years old; Petite Miss Snyder, 7-9 years old; Jr. Miss Snyder, 10-13 years old; and Sr. Miss Snyder, 14-17 years of age.

Contestants must reside in Scurry County or be enrolled in a school district within the county. Previous pageant experience is not necessary.

Optional categories such as talent, photogenic, portfolio and special awards will also be available to enter.

Because of requests, a competition for boys will be held. Boys will have a Mr. Handsome Competition and a Photogenic Competition. Age categories for boys will be 0-23 months, 2-3 years and 4-6 years.

Entry blanks are available at Li'l Rascals or the chamber of commerce. Deadline for entry is Oct. 18, 1989.

For more information, contact Kay Reed at 573-9809 or Bill Moss at 573-3558.

Scurry Ag Tour set Tuesday

Dr. James Supak and Dr. Jackie Smith, extension specialists, will be featured speakers at the Scurry County Ag Tour, which leaves from Inadale Community Center at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Registration for the tour and cotton meeting will be from 9-20 a.m. until 9 a.m. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Demonstrations on plant populations in cotton, whiteweed control in cotton and cotton pest management will highlight the tour, which will be conducted in private vehicles.

The cotton meeting will include the topics "Improving Cotton Quality at Harvest" and "Marketing with Futures and Options," presented by Drs. Supak and Smith.

Scurry County Extension Office and the Scurry County Field Crops Committee are sponsoring the tour, which is expected to conclude by 11:30 a.m.

Elementary schools stage district-wide open house

Snyder elementary schools hold open house this evening, beginning at 7 p.m.

Below is an agenda for each of the six schools:

—Central: Guests are asked to enter through the main hallway entrance and meet in the auditorium at 7 p.m. The sixth grade choir will perform and visitors will be greeted by representatives from the Parent Council and DARE. Visitors will be dismissed to the various classrooms following a brief program.

—East: Activities begin at 7 p.m. with a brief musical presentation in the auditorium, after which guests may visit the classrooms.

—North: Guests will visit classrooms from 7 p.m. until 7:45 p.m. The fourth grade choir will present a program in the auditorium from 7:45-8 p.m.

—Northeast: There will be a general meeting in the auditorium for welcome, introduction of staff and announcements at 7 p.m. before visitors are dismissed to the classrooms.

—Stanfield: Guests are to meet in the school cafeteria for a short Parent Council business meeting and introduction of the faculty at 7 p.m., then visit the classrooms.

—West: There will be an opening assembly at 7 p.m., after which guests may visit the classrooms.

Q—Is it true that there are prisoners serving long-term sentences at the Price Daniel unit?

A—Yes, because inmates qualify to serve in a medium or minimum-security unit like the Daniel unit on the basis of their behavior since becoming state inmates, and not the basis of the crimes for which they were sentenced.

In Brief

New budget

MOSCOW (AP) — The government today unveiled a $750 billion budget that cuts military spending by 8.3 percent and increases financing for social needs, reflecting the Soviet Union's shifting priorities under Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Finance Minister Valentin Pavlov said the government is planning to cut the $192 billion deficit in half by raising $83 billion in new revenues and trimming expenditures by $10.3 billion.

He told the opening of the fall session of the Supreme Soviet legislature that military spending could be cut because the Soviet Union's "realistic and constructive foreign policy" had led to an improvement in international relations.

The decision to cut military spending from $119 billion to $109 billion is in keeping with a directive from the Congress of People's Deputies parliament to cut military spending by 14 percent by 1991, Pavlov said.

Talks sought

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Judges threatened to strike unless they receive more protection from cocaine traffickers, and a congressional leader called today for the government to begin negotiating with the drug barons.

Three bombs exploded Sunday night at banks in the capital but caused no injuries. The blasts are among more than 100 attacks that have killed at least six people and injured 130 since the government's war on drugs began Aug. 18.

The president of the House of Representatives, Norberto Morales, said today he favors a peaceful settlement with the traffickers.

"We have to open a way toward this initiative because we are bleeding to death (and) our economy as in ruins," Morales said.

Child abuse, not Satan, may be root at Lubbock killings

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Sex, guns and Satan: the lurid combination caught the attention of police and the public last week when a teen-age couple died on a motel bed in an apparent murder-suicide pact hours after killing the girl's parents.

The police chief said devil-worship might have something to do with the killings. But the spectre of satanism faded and was replaced by something possibly more troubling and almost certainly more common: physical and sexual child abuse.

Rebecca Medlin suffered years of abuse from her father and talked of killing her parents, a friend said Friday. Police believe Miss Medlin vented her rage Tuesday when she and her 16-year-old boyfriend gunned down Jesse and Josie Medlin as they returned home from work.

Hours later, Miss Medlin and her boyfriend, Eric "Chase" Freeman, checked into a motel room, where Freeman shot Miss Medlin to death during lovemaking, then turned the gun on himself, police believe.

"It's just a shock," said Shay Deering, 16, a friend of Freeman's. "It's so sad. You just wish he was still alive to ask,

"Why? Why did you do it?" Police and Freeman's mother said they believe Miss Medlin masterminded the triple slaying and suicide, and that Freeman, a school dropout with a history of

Court to consider whether mother should be freed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The District of Columbia's highest court is being asked again to consider whether Dr. Elizabeth Morgan must be freed after spending 25 months in jail for concealing her daughter in a bitter custody battle.

Attorneys for Morgan are asking the D.C. Court of Appeals to issue an order freeing her today. President Bush signed legislation Saturday designed to force her release.

Her ex-husband's attorney, however, said Sunday she will seek to have the law declared unconstitutional.

scrapes with the law, fell under her spell.

Miss Medlin sometimes talked about killing her parents, her best friend told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Morgan contends that her former husband and the girl's father, Dr. Eric Foretich, had sexually abused their daughter, Hilary, now 7 — a charge he strongly denies. The child remains hidden at an undisclosed location, although court officials believe the girl may be with Morgan's parents in England.

Attorneys for both sides said Sunday they did not know how the court would handle the unprecedented situation. "We have not heard anything on how the court will handle it," said Morgan attorney Adrian Roe. "It's really in the court's hands."

"We're hopeful the court will act promptly, but we have no guarantees," Roe said. Foretich's attorney, Elaine Mittleman, said the court could order a hearing on the case and that there was no guarantee that the court would immediately issue an order freeing Morgan.

A three-judge panel heard arguments in the case last year, and the full court held a rehearing last Wednesday. Foretich and Ms. Mittleman both stressed that the bill does not require Ms. Morgan to produce the girl.

Foretich said he would be "delighted" to have his former wife released, if the federal government helped him find their daughter. "But until they're willing to do that, I don't see where I have any choice but to concern myself with the violation of my rights and those of my daughter," he added.

"She had told Chase a number of times that she hated them and wished they were dead," Sharon Howard said.

By the weekend of Sept. 16, Miss Medlin apparently had resolved to go through with the plan.

Freeman's mother, Eve Coleman, reported to police three days before the slayings that her son had called her to say he and Miss Medlin had signed a suicide pact and planned to kill the Medlins. She also told police her son was involved in drugs and satanic worship, according to the police report.

Ms. Coleman and police warned the Medlins, and police ordered stepped-up patrols in the Medlins' neighborhood. Three days later, Jesse Medlin died after being shot twice in the head and once in the shoulder; Josie Medlin was shot once in the head.

The day after the bodies were found, Police Chief Tom Nichols told reporters that "instruments" of cult activity were found in Miss Medlin's bedroom at home, but he would not specify. Chief detective Col. Ray Huffman sounded skeptical and said he had seen nothing unusual.

The satanic link grew weaker when Miss Howard and her mother, Ramona Howard, said Miss Medlin often stayed at their house to escape her father's abuse.

"She wasn't into devil worship at all. She was a fine Christian girl," Ms. Howard said, adding that Sharon Howard had witnessed Jesse Medlin throw books at his daughter in a temper tantrum over a broken piano bench leg.

"He hit her, I know — like in the face," Ms. Howard said. "He shoved her into the wall. He pushed her over a coffee table. He would throw things at her — whatever was handy."

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be getting some extremely interesting pieces of news shortly. They will deal with a project in which you have recently become involved.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be rather fortunate today in that others will see to it you're not overlooked if anything is to be split up or given away. Be sure to acknowledge your benefactors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In order to feel your best today, you'll need some type of involvement that keeps you active mentally as well as physically. Self-interests can be advanced if you are free to move around.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) An impulsive, but generous friend of yours might give you something today you really have been wanting, but would not have dared to ask for yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Partnership arrangements should work out extremely well for you today because they are for business or social purposes. This is just one of those times when you're lucky with allies.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're a fast thinker today and you should be able to handle yourself very well in unexpected developments. Instinctively you will know how to turn things to your advantage.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A quick-thinking associate might be available today to help get you out of a rough spot, but it's best you don't make a habit of waiting until the last minute to find essential support.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be discouraged today if things don't appear to be going in your favor according to early indicators. You're a good stretch runner and your breaks come in the second half.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone who has been reluctant to agree with you regarding an issue of importance might surprise you today by becoming an ally you can rely on.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something you've been wanting to do that you felt would be excessively expensive might not cost you a fraction as much as you thought. This will be due to an unexpected change in circumstances.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things you are likely to enjoy doing the most today will be those that just seem to pop up rather than the ones which are planned. Don't structure your day too severely because restraints could become dampers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The easiest way to know if your baby is drinking enough water is to check how many times a day the child wets the diaper. Anywhere from four to eight times a day is normal, say experts at Beech-Nut Nutrition Corp.

Mother's Death by Smoking Might Lead Others to Life

By Abigail Van Buren
1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: (July 7, 1989) I am writing this letter in the waiting room of the intensive care unit of the Boulder (Colo.) Community Hospital. My mother is on a respirator due to severe lung damage. She has asthma and smoked cigarettes for 50 years. Now she has emphysema and pneumonia.

Before she was hooked up to the respirator, she begged me to help her. Now I can only comfort her and pray for her. For years, the family asked her to quit smoking, but it was something she couldn't — or didn't want to — do. My mother is a strong woman, but her addiction to cigarettes got the best of her, even after seeing my father go through surgery for lung cancer eight months ago. ...

(Aug. 6, 1989) I was interrupted when I started to write the above letter and am now able to finish it. My mother passed away on July 18. She was only 65 years old. It's too late to save her now, but it may not be too late for some of your readers. Smokers, please think about the pain and suffering you can cause yourself and your family by continuing to smoke.

I don't have a mother now, and my children, ages 12 and 18, don't have a grandma anymore. Please, please quit smoking now, if not for yourself, then for those who love you.

SUSAN ORTEZ, DENVER
DEAR SUSAN: My heart goes out to you and your family. If your letter inspires only one person to quit smoking, it will be well worth the space in this column. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a rather busy, easily distracted mother of two, and have on five occasions (yes, five!) placed my purse on the top of my car while I buckled my kids in their car seats and then driven off, thereby losing my purse and its very important contents. On all five occasions I have received a phone call from the kind finder and my purse was returned. Each time I was able to offer my thanks and a token of my appreciation.

Well, last Monday, I left my purse in the shopping cart at a Target store in Visalia, Calif., and went home. Of course when I went back, it was gone. I kept checking back with the store. Nothing. My luck had finally run out — or so I thought.

On Sunday, when we returned home from church, there on my front porch was my purse — with all the contents included! Six out of six — once in Davis, twice in Sacramento, once in Woodland, once in Fresno and twice in Visalia. And yes, I know I probably need counseling to find out why I'm senile at 33.

LUCKY LINDA
DEAR LUCKY: You're not senile. You could be preoccupied, careless, easily distracted or thoughtless. Possibly all of the above.

You may have been joking about needing counseling, but that's exactly what you need. Don't wait until your luck runs out.

DEAR ABBY: As I sat sewing a garment for a grandchild this morning, I had a rush of appreciation for my mother, who had the patience to teach me how to sew when I was 11 or 12 years old. I've had so much pleasure and satisfaction at my sewing machine and have used this skill in so many ways for friends, neighbors and family throughout the last 50 years. I consider this one of the best gifts my mother ever gave me, and I'm glad I told her so while I had the chance.

So many of the skills we enjoy for a lifetime have the roots of mastery planted in childhood. I often wonder about the many children who spend hours being entertained by television or video games today. How many opportunities are lost to them for a lifetime? Pass on my message, Abby.

JEAN M. DAVIS, EUGENE, ORE.
DEAR JEAN: How true. But a mother's life today is very different from the life her grandmother led half a century ago. Most mothers work outside the home today as a matter of necessity — not choice. This is progress?

Troopers save two from fatal fire

MATHIS, Texas (AP) — Two Department of Public Safety troopers' heroic rescue of an elderly woman and her grandchild from a South Texas fire that killed five family members left the men saying, "We wish we could have done more."

Investigators said they do not know what caused the blaze, but Mathis police said it appeared to have started from an overloaded electrical outlet.

The victims of the blaze were identified as Yolanda Lopez Amador, 29, and her four children — daughters Yvette Amador, 2½; Leslie Angelica Amador, 4; and Lisa Amador, 8; and son Joc Angel Lopez, 9.

Troopers Kelly Manning, 26 and Danny Lorberau, 26, were able to save Mrs. Nicolosa Gonzalez Amador, 67, the mother-in-law of Mrs. Amador, and her grandchild Michael Rosales, 1½.

The grandmother was in "very critical" condition Sunday night in the burn unit at Memorial Hospital in Corpus Christi with third-degree burns, said Zuelma Garcia, a hospital spokeswoman.

The grandchild was listed in critical condition at Driscoll Foundation Children's Hospital in Corpus Christi, officials said. "It's a sick feeling of helplessness when you know there are people in there and you can't get to them," Manning said.

Neighbors discovered the fire and called the Mathis Volunteer Fire Department to the scene about 2 a.m., according to Fire Chief Larry Wallek.

Manning and Lorberau were the first to arrive and find the modest frame house in flames.

The troopers battered down a back door and found the grandmother and grandchild. "We saw the woman's arm reaching through the smoke and we quickly got her out of there," said Manning. "We found the baby between her legs and got him out too. We couldn't find the rest of the family because the fire was everywhere."

Manning said the fire was so intense his arm hair singed when gusts of heat blew out of the house.

"I wish we could have done more, but you can't just put on a superman's suit and walk through fire. No one is fireproof."

Authorities searched the house after the blaze had been extinguished and found the mother holding her youngest daughter in a back bedroom lying on the floor. The daughters and son were found in the room with her, Manning said.

"It is the most horrible tragedy in the history of Mathis," said the family's pastor, Jesus Garcia of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Garcia said he was called to the scene to comfort Joe Amador, who was grief-stricken after losing his family.

Mathis is a town of about 7,000 nearly 30 miles northwest of Corpus Christi.

Changes urged at homeless mission

HOUSTON (AP) — A report on Star of Hope, the city's largest mission for the homeless, says the organization should replace its president and be more careful about administrative and financial management.

The study recently completed by The Hay Group and Peterson & Co. was demanded by the United Way after reports that the mission was beset with health and safety problems, violence and mismanagement. The Star of Hope board of directors joined in requesting the review.

A report says Star of Hope treats and pays its employees unfairly, practices nepotism and fails to properly plan its spending or monitor grant requirements, the Houston Chronicle reported in a copyright story Sunday.

The Chronicle obtained a copy of the "Management and Operations Review of Star of Hope," distributed recently to board members and some United Way officials.

The report recommends that Don Johnson, the organization's president, be replaced because his "skills and experience do not match the requirements" of his position.

Johnson would not say Friday what action might be taken in response to the report.

Board Chairman Carlross Morris said he backs Johnson.

"From my standpoint, I think that he has done and is doing a great job. If we had more money, we should give him more help. That's our only problem, we're a little deficient in having enough money all the time... We're going to talk to United Way about that whole report."

United Way formerly provided about 20 percent of Star of Hope's $3.6 million annual operating budget. But earlier this year, United Way cut funding and put the mission on probation.

In months before the study was commissioned, the mission was cited for violation of local health and safety codes. Private investigators hired by United Way reported seeing crime, violence and unsanitary conditions at a men's shelter.

Federal officials canceled the Star of Hope's authorization to accept food stamps at the men's shelter because of policy violations that included accepting the stamps as rent for beds.

I-Condo mistrial is under investigation

DALLAS (AP) — The FBI is investigating for possible jury tampering in the mistrial of seven men accused in Texas's largest bank fraud case, The Wall Street Journal reported.

A mistrial was declared Sept. 15 after jurors said they were hopelessly deadlocked in the trial of D.L. "Danny" Faulkner and six others.

The Journal, quoting people "familiar with the investigation," said the FBI opened its inquiry into the suspected tampering shortly after the mistrial was declared by U.S. District Judge Sam Cummings in Lubbock.

An FBI spokesman in Dallas would neither confirm nor deny the inquiry, the newspaper said in Monday's editions.

The jury in Lubbock deliberated 16 days after hearing more than a year of testimony in what became known as the I-30 condo case. The seven defendants were accused of bilking savings and loan associations of more than $100 million in land swindles involving condominiums along I-30 in Dallas.

The trial was moved to Lubbock because of pre-trial publicity in Dallas.

Defense attorneys contacted by The Journal said they were unaware of any FBI investigation. "I certainly am unaware of any improprieties with respect to the jury and would hope that the FBI is not acting in response to the jury's not being able to reach a verdict," Cheryl B. Wattlely, who represented Faulkner, told the newspaper.

though he did not have a club control, because he wanted partner to know that he had full-fledged high-card values for his four-spade bid. Had he bid game immediately over the two-club overcall, he would be showing more distributional values and less in point-count.

West led K-A of clubs, then switched to the six of diamonds. Dummy's queen lost to East's king, and back came the jack. Declarer won dummy's ace, played A-K-Q of spades and then ruffed a diamond low. West discarded a club. West had shown up with two diamonds and only one spade. Since East had played up the line in clubs, East could not have a doubleton club. That meant that West originally held six clubs. If declarer is thinking along these lines, he does not need to consult Albert Einstein to know that West has four hearts. The right play becomes simple: Cash the king of hearts; then play a low heart and insert the eight from dummy. Return to the jack of spades and lead back to the A-J of hearts. The unusual play in the heart suit is easy to find when declarer does a little basic counting.

You bridge players don't need computers to do your counting, as long as you can get to 13. "The Bridge Book - Vol. 3 - For Advanced Players" by Stewart and Baron (Devyn Press, Louisville, Ky.) has an excellent chapter on counting. This week we'll look at some useful examples.

WTC 'pokes seize first in N.M. rodeo

Western Texas College snatched first place in the Eastern New Mexico University rodeo held last weekend in Portales, N.M.

WTC cowboys and cowgirls amassed 310 team points to whip the second place team, Odessa College, by over 100 points.

Individually, the Westerners' Denny McLanahan captured all-around cowboy honors with 160 points, while WTC cowgirl Jackie Parker finished third in the all-around with a score of 135.

Odessa College took second place with 200 followed by ENMU with 140, Vernon Regional Junior College with 125, New Mexico Junior College with 120 and Tarleton State University with 90.

Other finishing tallies included Sul-Ross State University with 55, West Texas State University with 40, Texas Tech with 15 and Howard College with 10.

Western Texas placed three cowboys in the top ten in the bareback riding event to put the trio in Sunday's finals.

McLanahan won the event with a two-head total of 149, followed closely by teammate Troy Cattor with a 147 on two rides.

Tim Ryan of WTC carried a 59 score into Sunday's round, but was tossed off for no score by a bronc named Red Wing.

Jackie Parker, of the WTC women's squad, tied for second place in the breakaway roping with a 6.7 second time on two calves.

She tied with ENMU's Mistri Davis.

First place in the event was won by Amy Cockrell of VRJC with a 6.6 time.

Ty Robinson hauled second place away in the steer wrestling with a two-head time of 11.2, including a 3.7 in the opening round.

Russell Merchant headed into the final round in second place with a 4.3, but received no time Sunday.

Ken Berry of ENMU nabbed first place with a score of 10.7.

Other WTC wranglers placing in their chosen events included Shannon Ragland, who took second in the barrel racing with a two-round time of 35.84, Parker, with a 20-second time in goat tying and McLanahan who finished tied for second in bull riding with a combined 140 score.

Record stands at 0-3...

Dallas loses to 'Skins

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Washington Redskins finally got an NFL victory and it came without help from workhorse Gerald Riggs.

With the 232-pound Riggs watching from the sidelines, the Redskins chewed up the hapless Dallas Cowboys anyway 30-7 on Sunday behind third string, 188-pound Jamie Morris and second-string, 215-pound Earnest Byner.

It was a disastrous home opening debut for a glum coach Jimmy Johnson, who gave his team a closed door lecture after the whipping.

Byner, acquired in a trade from Cleveland, scored on his first run as a Redskin, a 12-yarder, and Morris scored a 12-yard run and gained 100 yards on 26 carries.

Riggs, the NFL's leading rusher, tried to play on a sore shoulder and gained 26 yards on 10 carries before he bruised his chest.

"I was worried about him," Gibbs said. "He had a sore shoulder going in. I started, during practice this week, to hold him out. I think he might have reinjured his shoulder."

Riggs, whose last-minute fumble cost Washington a 42-37 loss to Philadelphia, said he wanted to give it a go to redeem himself.

"I wanted to make up for it if I could," said Riggs, who set a club record of 221 yards rushing against the Eagles.

"With Jamie, we go from the biggest back in the league to the smallest," Gibbs said. "We run him just as much as you want to run him and all he does is make yards."

Washington improved its record to 1-2 after losing two at home while Dallas dropped to 0-3 and its worst start since 1963. It was the second-worst home opening loss in Dallas history.

"I'm just tickled about it," Gibbs said. "We've been taking a lot of heat after losing two at home."

Morris said he was happy to get a chance since he was so far down on the depth chart.

"You don't get many chances playing behind Byner and Riggs," Morris said.

Byner made the most of three carries for 30 yards.

"You want every carry to be like my first one," Byner said. "It felt good to be a bigger part of the offense. I got me a Redskins' touchdown on my first carry."

Boosters meet athletes Tues.

The athletic boosters of Western Texas College will host "Meet the Athletes Night" Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the WTC cafeteria.

Rodeo Coach Bob Doty will introduce his charges, Dave Foster, WTC golf coach, is to present the golf team, men's basketball coach, Tony Mauldin, is slated to introduce the Westerners and Kelly Chadwick, women's hoops coach, will present the Dusters.

Immediately following the meeting and refreshments, the men's and women's basketball squads will stage scrimmages as a preview of the upcoming season.

Information will also be made available on the Westerners game versus Southwest Christian at Reunion Arena in Dallas. The Oct 20 contest will precede the Mavericks-Spurs tilt.

"The trip last year was a lot of fun and really gave the Westerners a good start on the season," reported club spokesperson, Shirley Fritz.

Booster club members will be on hand Tuesday to accept new memberships and renewals for the coming season.

Admission to the event is free and all sports fans are invited to attend.

The Monday lunch meeting of the WTC boosters has been cancelled for this week because of the Tuesday event.

The next meeting will be held at Golden Corral, Oct. 2 at noon.

Navratilova beats Monica Seles in Virginia Slims finals action

DALLAS (AP) — Martina Navratilova has seen the future of women's tennis. It's young and powerful.

"If she keeps improving, we'll all be in trouble," Navratilova said after playing 15-year-old Yugoslav pro Monica Seles for the first time Sunday.

The world's No. 2 player had the pleasure of examining the force of Seles' two-handed strokes firsthand while still overcoming them for yet another tournament singles title — her seventh of 1989 and the 145th of her career.

The 7-6 (7-2), 6-3 victory in Sunday's final of the $250,000 Dallas women's professional tennis tournament was worth $50,000 for Navratilova. Seles, who also is left-handed, was awarded $22,500 for finishing second.

"She does hit the ball harder than any 16-year-old I've played against," said Navratilova, giving Seles an extra year. "Even Steffi (Graf) didn't hit it as hard on the forehand. And very few times does she go for too much. That's a sign of good coaching and a good head on her shoulders. She's extremely poised. She's a force."

Seles was a serious threat to win the tournament when she had Navratilova down 5-6, 15-40 in the first set Sunday — double set point.

However, Navratilova won the first point with a big second serve wide to the forehand. And Seles squandered the second when she tried a difficult down-the-line forehand off Navratilova's crosscourt shot and hit it wide.

"I was lucky to win that set," said Navratilova. "The first point, I was going for a good serve. If she hit a good return, that was too good. That was my best second serve, and I went for it."

Winning that game put Navratilova into a situation that she commands: the tie-breaker.

"I can't remember the last time I lost one," Navratilova said of tie-breakers. "I looked at it positively, to come out and attack."

Seles made one unforced error in the tie-breaker, a netted forehand at 2-all. Navratilova earned the other six points with winners and forcing shots to take the tiebreaker, 7-2.

"She has a really big serve, especially to the ad court," Seles said. "I tried to forget about the set points. The first one, she hit a great serve. On the second point, I had a big chance, and I didn't use it. She had a big serve in the tiebreak, and it was pretty important."

With the first set in the bag, Navratilova began serving so well that she jumped to a 3-0 lead and smoothly finished Seles off. The final lasted one hour, 21 minutes.

Seles said of the match, "I got a lot of experience in playing against a serve and volleyer, because she's the best. The next time, I will know more what to do. I can learn some things from her, especially on her serve, since she is left-handed, too."

Only five months ago, Seles defeated Chris Evert in the final of the Houston tour stop. Though this was only the ninth senior event of her brief career, Seles has skyrocketed to the No. 10 world ranking and has earned $185,711 in official prize money in 1989 in only six tournaments, including the Dallas paycheck.

Seles' ranking is expected to rise to No. 6 or 5 when the new Virginia Slims rankings are released Monday.

SHS spikers earn victory

The Snyder Lady Tigers upped their season volleyball record to 9-7 with a win over Monahans Saturday.

SHS took the match in two games by scores of 16-14 and 15-12.

"Both teams played such good defense, it was hard for anyone to score," said coach Patty Grimmett of Snyder.

"We were really consistent, but they had some long rallies that seemed to go on forever."

"Our serving percentage was in the 90's," she continued. "We had a good offensive effort, we played good defense, we just hustled."

Jennifer Pate, scoring 12 points for Snyder, led the Lady Tigers. She was followed by Liz Greathouse with seven, Kathy Armstrong with six, Camille Thompson with three, Veronica Rivas with two and Cindy Srna with one.

Junior varsity volleyballers lost, 16-14, 13-15 and 10-15, in Monahans.

"They played real well. Monahans was just a little more consistent," said Grimmett.

Ronda Gantt and Dayla Church paced the JV with nine points each. Julie Johnson added eight followed by Ginger Alexander with five and Angie Crawford, Freida Clay and Angela Good with three apiece.

Both the freshmen teams, Black and Gold, won in Monahans. Fresh scores were not available at press time.

U.S., European golfers battle to tie for trophy

SUTTON COLDFIELD, England (AP) — The pond at the 18th hole of The Belfry is an unpleasant place. Bees swarm around the footbridge that connects the fairway with the green, and the meandering water is dyed a vile greenish-blue. Even the ducks don't stay there long.

Because shots kept plopping in this smaller, more brackish body of water, the U.S. Ryder Cup team is crossing the Atlantic Ocean today empty-handed, while Europe keeps the cup without a victory.

And the question the three-day tournament was supposed to answer — who plays better golf, the Americans or the Europeans — remains open.

"I think a draw was a fair result," European captain Tony Jacklin said.

With old-timers Christy O'Connor Jr., of Ireland and Jose-Maria Canizares of Spain leading the way, the Europeans retained the golden trophy with a 14-14 tie, losing Sunday's matchplay singles 7-5 and missing its own shot at a third consecutive victory.

A drive into the water at 18 by Nick Faldo helped deprive the Europeans of the half-point they needed to win.

The United States avoided defeat with final-hole victories in the last two matches, including a win by U.S. Open champion Curtis Strange with birdies on the last four holes. The Americans said a tie was better than a third successive loss.

"I looked forward to going back with the Ryder Cup on the Concorde," U.S. captain Ray Floyd said. "I'm not going back with the Ryder Cup but I'm not going back a loser. We stopped the losing streak. We halved it."

But golden U.S. chances to regain the cup lost here four years ago drowned at the 18th, as first Payne Stewart and then Mark Calcavecchia drove into the water and handed 1-up victories to Jose-Maria Olazabal and Mark Calcavecchia.

"We had everything going for us," America's Tom Kite said. "We had an excellent chance to win the cup, but you have to play all 18."

Kite never got close to the 18th. He started the United States with an 8 and 7 victory over Howard Clark of Britain, the biggest winning margin in singles since they went to 18 holes in 1961.

Two teammates quickly joined him — Chip Beck beating Bernhard Langer of West Germany 3 and 1, and Paul Azinger coming from two holes down to beat Seve Ballesteros of Spain 1-up.

The United States had three of the 7½ points it needed from the singles, a format it has dominated in recent years. Mark James of Britain was chewing up Mark O'Meara, but the winners of the last two majors, PGA champion Payne Stewart and British Open titleholder Mark Calcavecchia, were leading late in their matches and seemed certain of at least getting halves.

Texas honors Jim Sundberg

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers are creating an annual community achievement award in honor of Jim Sundberg and have announced that the veteran catcher was selected as the first winner.

Team officials announced the award on Sunday, the day Sundberg chose to retire as a player after 16 major league seasons. He was honored Sunday afternoon with a "Jim Sundberg Appreciation Day" ceremony.

Sundberg will receive the first award at the team's mid-winter banquet in February.

Each year, the award will be given to a member of the Rangers organization who has demonstrated outstanding achievement both on the field and in the community.

"There is no more fitting person for whom to name this award than Jim Sundberg," said Rangers President Mike Stone. "We feel this is a very appropriate way to recognize those members of our organization who have given their time in realizing this pursuit."

Sundberg, who will not accompany the Rangers on their final road trip of the year, was presented with several gifts from the team and individual players. He also was given a 6-foot-tall card of appreciation signed by thousands of baseball fans.

Sunday was proclaimed "Jim Sundberg Day" both in Arlington and Galesburg, Ill., Sundberg's hometown.

Gift items may be bought until Sept. 26.

President: U. S. will destroy 80 percent of its stockpile

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — President Bush, challenging the Soviet Union to "rid the earth of this scourge" of chemical weapons, said today the United States will destroy more than 80 percent of its stockpiles if Moscow reduces its arsenals to an equal level.

"The world has lived too long in a shadow of chemical warfare," Bush told the United Nations General Assembly, seeking to spur a 40-nation treaty conference aimed at banning the weapons entirely.

While the chemical weapons plan was the centerpiece of his remarks, Bush also paid tribute to the Soviet Union for removing "a number of obstacles" on treaties reducing long-range nuclear weapons as well as troops and tanks in Europe. The superpowers made progress toward a strategic arms agreement during weekend talks in Wyoming.

Bush's nationally televised speech marked his first to the United Nations General Assembly as president. Bush served as U.N. ambassador in the early 1970s.

In his prepared remarks, Bush said the world was witnessing a "rise of freedom," and cited advances in Hungary, Poland, Latin America and Africa.

"Make no mistake. Nothing can stand in the way of freedom's march," the president said.

"Today we are witnessing an ideological collapse, the demise of the totalitarian idea of the omniscient, all-powerful state," he said.

Yet, he cautioned, "We have not entered an era of perpetual peace." He said regimes throughout the world were emerging, "armed with old and unappeasable animosities and modern weapons of mass destruction."

Bush said regional conflicts "may well threaten world peace as never before."

His offer to slash U.S. chemical weapon stockpiles was both a challenge to the Soviet Union to follow his lead and an invitation to the 38 other nations whose negotiations in Geneva to ban the weapons are moving at a snail's pace.

"Let us act together, beginning today, to rid the earth of this scourge," he said.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze was given advance word of the administration's proposal during his meetings over the weekend with Secretary of State James A. Baker III. At the sessions, in Jackson Hole, Wyo., Baker and Shevardnadze agreed on a two-stage U.S.-Soviet program to exchange information about their chemical weapons and to inspect each other's plants and arsenals.

Only the United States and the Soviet Union admit having poison gas. But Bush said more than 20 nations possess chemical weapons or the capability to produce them.

Bush outlined a series of steps the United States was willing to take "to rid the world of these truly terrible weapons" and move toward an international ban to take effect 10 years after an agreement was signed.

These are the three major elements of Bush's plan:

—While working to complete a global agreement, the United States will eliminate more than 80 percent of its stockpile "if the Soviet Union joins us in cutting chemical weapons to an equal level, and we agree on inspections to verify that stockpiles are destroyed," Bush said.

—Once an international treaty is signed, the United States will destroy more than 98 percent of its current chemical weapons stockpile over an eight-year period, provided the Soviet Union joins the ban. "I think they will," he said.

—The remaining 2 percent would be destroyed over the next two years after all countries capable of producing chemical weapons become partners to the agreement.

In addition to his speech, the president had a full day of activities at the United Nations.

Bush today also was meeting in New York with U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

The United States and Soviet Union are the only nations that admit to having chemical weapons. However, U.S. analysts estimate two dozen countries actually have the weapons or the capacity to produce them.

"The president has been concerned for a number of years about the horrors of chemical weapons," said Brent Scowcroft, the president's national security adviser.

"He made a major presentation to the U.N. conference in 1984 on the possibility of banning chemical weapons and he will have some proposals tomorrow to advance that issue," Scowcroft said Sunday on the NBC show "Meet the Press."

The final version of the speech was completed Sunday.

"We added a couple of things," Bush told reporters Sunday during a futile fishing excursion. Bush, who arrived Friday at his vacation home in Kennebunkport, spent much of each day playing golf and fishing — even in a driving rainstorm.

Baker and Shevardnadze signed an agreement to exchange data on chemical weapons by the end of the year and allow visits by inspectors of the other side to stockpiles and plants by June 30. In a second phase, there would be more intensive on-site inspections of the submitted data.

Among an array of other accords, they also reached agreement on the broad principles for verifying limits on strategic forces and nuclear tests.

In a major development, the Soviets said they would drop their demand that the United States abandon work on its Star Wars missile defense program before concluding a treaty curbing long-range missiles, bombers and submarines.

$5,121. The library has a deficit of $2,121, and another $3,000 was asked for the ongoing purchase of annotations and updating of material already on hand.

Commissioners, at the recommendation of Judge Goodwin, amended the law library budget only $2,121 and requested that no more books be purchased this year.

In other business, commissioners accepted the bid of $125 for four items sold at a public sale Sept. 5, for non-payment of taxes.

Commissioners also allowed Judge Goodwin to sign checks to reimburse county school systems with county-available school funds. Snyder ISD will receive $8,296, while Ira will receive $550 and Hermleigh will receive $349.

After approving bills payable for the week, the court was adjourned at 10:55 a.m.

Mattox says...

Alcohol said campaign issue

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Jim Mattox says a candidate's history of alcoholism is an issue for state leadership, and a Dallas newspaper says he is planning to bring it up in the 1990 gubernatorial campaign.

Mattox, the state attorney general, has not formally announced his candidacy. The only announced Democrat to this point is State Treasurer Ann Richards, who has openly discussed her 1980 treatment for alcoholism.

Ms. Richards, 56, called the treatment the greatest thing that ever happened to her and said that if Mattox wants to make it a campaign issue, "let him raise it."

Mattox told The Morning News: "The alcoholic will tell you, of course, that there is no such thing as a recovered alcoholic. There are recovering alcoholics. And I don't know whether it will have an impact on her performance in this campaign."

The Morning News reported that Mattox said he will bring up the issue in his campaign.

But Elna Christopher, a press secretary for the state attorney general's office and a volunteer worker for the Mattox campaign, said Mattox made the statement, but said his comments were taken out of context to imply that he was attacking Ms. Richards.

Ralph Langer, executive editor of The Morning News, said his paper stands by its story.

"We believe this story is accurate," he said.

Ms. Richards maintains that her treatment for alcoholism has made her "an even better candidate and certainly a better officeholder."

"In some sense, I think that treatment for this disease has made me an even better candidate and certainly a better officeholder," Ms. Richards said. "And the reason for that is that I have had the privilege of getting a real perspective on what is important in life," she said.

In the article, Mattox questioned whether a recovering alcoholic has the "vision" to lead the state of Texas. Many recovering alcoholics "still talk about living 'one day at a time,'" Mattox told the newspaper.

"I think you've got to have very strong willed people, with vision, to lead this state forward," he said. "I'm just saying that if drug or alcohol abuse keeps us from having that kind of vision ... it could be very harmful for the state of Texas."

Said Ms. Richards: "One of the tenets of a ... recovery program that is very important to me is humility — the acceptance that I am human. I am not perfect. Never will be. I think we need more of that in public office, rather than big talk and big egos."

Mattox, who says he doesn't drink or smoke and stays away from caffeinated beverages, has "very strong feelings" about alcohol and drug abuse because of his father's problems with drinking.

If Mattox intends to raise alcoholism or drug abuse history as a campaign issue, he will have an impact on virtually every contender to enter the race so far. The four Republican gubernatorial candidates said they have a family history of alcoholism.

Midland oilman Clayton Williams said his son's treatment for dependence on beer and marijuana was a motivating factor for his entry into the Republican gubernatorial race, and that he has "great admiration" for anyone who has conquered a substance abuse problem.

Dallas lawyer Tom Luce, Houston businessman Jack Rains and Railroad Commission

Chairman Kent Hance said that alcoholism also has affected their families, but they would not get specific.

"I don't think there is a family in America that has not been touched by alcohol or drug abuse," Hance said, "and my family would be no exception."

Former Gov. Mark White, a likely Democratic contender, is the only candidate who said his family has not been affected by alcohol.

All agreed, however, that Ms. Richards' recovery should not be a campaign issue.

"It is not an issue," said Hance. "It is a credit to her."

Mattox cited the high rate of relapse among alcoholics he has known.

Ms. Richards said she has not had "any form of mood-altering chemical since I left treatment in 1980," she said.

Talks don't yield agreements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawmakers thrashing out a fiscal 1990 defense plan are looking toward Senate action on a military spending bill to help break the impasse over President Bush's budget request for strategic weapons.

House and Senate conferees, meeting behind closed doors on authorization legislation, have made no progress on resolving their differences over funding levels for Star Wars, land-based nuclear missiles and the B-2 stealth bomber.

Complaints, rather than agreement, have emerged after three weeks of negotiations.

"The Senate still hasn't learned to do math," said Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., one of the House conferees. "They want everything and take it off somebody else's budget."

"The thing is going nowhere," Rep. John Kasich, R-Ohio, another House conferee, said Friday.

Sen. James Exon, D-Neb., said the House came to the negotiations with a series of votes that were "all over the lot. They both accepted and rejected every strategic program."

"This is one of the most difficult ones (conferences) I've ever been in," he added.

Initially, the House and Senate were far apart on the major strategic programs.

—On Star Wars, the Senate approved $4.5 billion, a slight cut in Bush's request of $4.9 billion. The House adopted a budget of $3.1 billion for the missile shield.

—On the multiple-warhead, rail-garrison MX missile, the Senate endorsed Bush's request of $1.1 billion for the MX and $100 million for the Midgetman. The House cut $502 million from the MX program and eliminated all money for the Midgetman.

—The Senate made a modest cut of $300 million in Bush's $4.7 billion proposal for the stealth bomber, the bat-winged aircraft that at a cost of $530 million a copy has caused sticker shock. The House limited production of the radar-evading plane to four over the next two years — half of what the administration requested.

Last week, the House presented a revised proposal that restored the MX money, left out the Midgetman and called for the chamber's lower funding total on Star Wars, according to congressional sources. The Senate rejected the plan.

A counterproposal that left the original Senate bill relatively intact was quickly turned down by the House.

Setting the tone for future House-Senate negotiations on strategic weapons will be Senate action, scheduled to get underway today, on a $28.2 billion military spending bill. The Senate Appropriations Committee approved about $3.7 billion for the Pentagon's Star Wars program, which amounts to last year's level plus inflation.

Senate Republicans are expected to introduce amendments to raise the funding level for Star Wars, formally known as the Strategic Defense Initiative, to at least something closer to the authorization total.</

Slain bricklayer was informant for 13 years

MIAMI (AP) — This city has lost one of its most effective soldiers in the war on drugs, and it hardly noticed.

A drug trafficker's bullet that pierced the throat of Rafael

Orelle Pazo in July ended the 13-year career of one of Miami's most productive undercover informants, drug enforcement officials said this week.

Orelle, a 44-year-old Cuban immigrant who never had a formal education, began undercover operations that resulted in hundreds of arrests and removed at least a ton of cocaine from the streets, officials said.

"No one worked like Rafael," said Peter Sarron, a Drug Enforcement Administration agent who worked with Orelle daily for the past five years.

"He was an inspiration to the DEA," said spokesman Lynn Wheeler.

"Quite often the people who assist us in narcotics cases are not pillars of the community," said DEA spokesman John Fernandes, describing Orelle as an exception. "He was just a concerned citizen."

A short, balding man who walked with a limp after being stricken with polio as an infant, Orelle had to wear a weightlifting belt to support his bad back and considerable paunch. Born in poverty and unable to read or write, Orelle eventually would make more than $50,000 a year supplying information.

His undercover career began in 1976, when he was hired to lay file in the home of a major marijuana trafficker and saw piles of cash and a room-size safe being installed under the garage.

"He came to the DEA and offered his services," said Coral Gables Lt. Harold Hopkin. "We gave him $500."

After police seized 23 tons of pot and sent the trafficker to prison, Orelle found regular work with Miami-area police and federal agents.

According to court records, Orelle didn't always operate on the right side of the law.

In 1967, when he was struggling to find construction work to pay his rent, he was charged in a dozen burglaries. Orelle pleaded innocent by reason of insanity and spent a year in a mental hospital.

In 1979, Orelle and another informant were caught impersonating police officers and offering to fix the case of an accused drug trafficker for $7,000.

Orelle pleaded guilty to a lesser theft charge and was paroled. State prosecutors told police they no longer considered him a trustworthy informant, effectively blackballing him from Dade County courts.

But, "because of his value we began working with him again," said the DEA's Sarron.

During the past five years, the period for which records were available, Orelle initiated about 50 cases, leading to 150 arrests. Thanks to his efforts, agents seized about $2 million in cash, $3 million in property, tons of marijuana, more than 1,000 kilos of cocaine and a quarter-million illegal sedatives.

But Orelle's identity became more known among dealers in Miami's Latin community each time he testified in court. It all caught up with him July 14.

Working with Sarron and DEA agent Kevin Stephens, Orelle posed as a dealer wanting to buy 20 kilos of cocaine from Jose Peralta, an accused smuggler.

Before they could discuss prices, Peralta and a gunman, Octavio Sanchez, fired a spray of bullets, authorities said. A slug matching Sanchez' gun hit Orelle in the throat, said prosecutor Michael Cornely.

Sanchez, Peralta and his alleged getaway driver have been jailed and face first-degree murder and cocaine-trafficking charges.

Isabelle Orelle, the informant's 43-year-old widow, says her three-teen-age children remain fiercely proud of their father.

Her 16-year-old son wants to be a DEA agent when he grows up.

"I'm trying to get his mind off it," Mrs. Orelle said. "I tell him 'I'm going to live the rest of my life in fear, and your wife and kids will be the same. You can do something about drugs in other ways.'"

Entomologists' group marks 100th anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a caricature, the entomologist is often portrayed as a wispy, bespectacled man wearing tropical shorts and pith helmet chasing exotic butterflies with a long-handled net.

Sure, some of them do things like that. But many others perform painstaking work that non-entomologists would see as sheer drudgery — the meticulous slow work of scientists.

"They save us a lot of grief," says Henry Becker III, an information specialist in the Agriculture Department's main science agency, the Agricultural Research Service. "They certainly make life easier for us by studying these insects, the good ones as well as the bad ones."

Becker, in a recent telephone interview from his Beltsville, Md., office, is one of those attending a two-day conference in Washington on Tuesday and Wednesday that will commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Entomological Society of America.

Entomologists are intense about their experiments, he said. For example, when they observe a parasite lay eggs in a destructive beetle, for example, "it's like they're watching their kids do a virtuoso concert ... they really get excited."

But some entomological research "is so plodding, such as categorizing and cataloging insects," Becker said. "But, yet, they're very, very interested in what they're doing."

Today's society dates from the founding in 1889 of the American Association of Economic Entomologists, and the 1906 begining of the Entomological Society of America. The two were merged, adopting the latter's name, in 1953.

The society, a non-profit educational group, says it is the largest international association of entomologists, with more than 8,700 members.

Becker, who claims his only experience with entomology is "swatting flies and spraying cockroaches," said the society hopes for an attendance of around 350 at its centennial symposium this week. Some members from Britain, Canada and Australia are expected to attend the sessions held at the Smithsonian Institution.

Julius J. Menn, associate deputy area director of the Plant Sciences Institute at USDA's research center in Beltsville, said the symposium is unique in that it is directed at an intended audience of "decision makers who are not familiar with entomology."

Menn said the sessions will be geared to legislators, federal and state officials, industrial representatives, news media and other non-entomological persons.

Allen L. Steinhauer, head of the University of Maryland's department of entomology, College Park, said more than 15 authorities "on all aspects of insect-related research worldwide" are on the program.

In the first session, Carroll M. Williams of Harvard University will talk about "unraveling the secrets of insect life." Williams is a pioneer researcher of insect development biology.

WHAT IS THAT RUMBLING SOUND?

Agriculture department has foliage watchers hot-line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has a hot-line for foliage watchers.

Stanley Krugman, director of timber management research for the department's Forest Service, said the hotline carries a recorded message featuring areas of "especially beautiful fall color" as they occur in national forests throughout the United States.

The hotline began operation on Sept. 15 and will continue through the fall season, he said. The number is (202) 475-3780.

Krugman said some pockets of fall color are occurring earlier than usual this year, which could be due to unusual temperatures, moisture or drought.

Many of the vivid colors are in the leaves year-round but are hidden by dominant green color during the summer months. As autumn approaches, the chlorophylls — which produce the green as sunlight is used to produce plant food — decrease and the other pigments are apparent.

New England is famed for its foliage splendor, but Krugman said there are opportunities for viewing magnificent colors in most of the states. Michigan alone offers 65 species of trees that produce color, more than any other state, he said.

The Rocky Mountains offer the splendor of the quaking aspen, and the Pacific Northwest has the western larch, which Krugman said is "an unusual deciduous conifer whose needles turn yellow and drop from the tree."

Bryant's Carpet work is experienced

Bryant's Carpet Cleaning has served Snyder over 11 years. They have used or seen every type of carpet cleaning. Even though they could use a cheaper method, they prefer steam extraction. This method extracts the dirt and stains, whereas other methods leave the dirt in the carpet. For a clean and safe carpet, steam extraction is by far the best method.

Some methods leave the carpet wet, but they leave it only damp so it will dry in only a few hours. This is because they have the latest truck mount unit with more power than smaller units. The unit stays in the van and only the cleaning head goes into the house, eliminating spills in the home.

Most carpets need to be cleaned within a year, depending on the traffic. Not only can they be dirty, but after walking on the carpet a while the carpet protector is worn off. They can clean the carpet and replace the carpet protector, which is similar to Scotch Guard.

In some cases they can clean the carpet as inexpensively as you can rent a machine. Many times when people try to do it themselves the carpet won't come clean, they keep adding detergents to the machine. This results in the carpet becoming too wet. Also, the detergents leave a residue in the carpet and the carpet seems to get dirty quicker. Bryant's doesn't leave a residue in the carpet because they prespray with cleaners and when they go over the carpet with the cleaning head, they use only soft hot water.

Carpets are a big investment and the wise person will maintain them. So, trust your carpet to the professionals. They have cleaned thousands of carpets and can furnish recommendations.

Famous photo stretches truth

NEW YORK (AP) — The famous photographs of a bronzed Pablo Picasso swimming in the Mediterranean and playing with his daughter Paloma stretched the truth a bit, Paloma said in a recent interview.

"He would pretend to swim; he couldn't swim," Paloma Picasso said in October's Fame magazine. "I haven't told many people that he was faking swimming."

When Paloma was born in 1949, Picasso was 67. Her mother, the artist Françoise Gilot, was 27.

"His mind was on his work but not all day long," Paloma, a fashion designer, recalled. "The minute he turned it on to work, that was it. But then he would be on the beach for hours and hours."

Gilot left Picasso in 1953 after living with him 10 years. The split occurred "in a very smooth way," Paloma said. Picasso died in 1973 at age 91.

Crash witness says driver was told to stop

ALTON, Texas (AP) — A man riding in the truck that collided with a school bus in an accident that killed 20 students said he reminded the driver about a stop sign just before the crash, investigators said.

Ruben Pena, an assistant to the soft drink deliveryman, said he told driver Ruben Perez that "You have a stop here," seconds before the truck collided with the school bus, pushing the bus into a water-filled pit.

Pena's statements came in an interview with National Transportation Safety board investigators Sunday.

He said the truck, which weighed about 44,000 pounds loaded, was traveling about 45 mph and was about 300 feet away from the intersection when he warned the driver about the stop sign, according to NTSB chief investigator Bob Bartlett.

"The driver then applied the foot brake and the trailer brake, and downshifted into fourth gear," said Bob Bartlett, summarizing Pena's interview.

Bartlett said federal investigators could not disclose any conclusions they might have drawn from Pena's account, saying only "maybe he sensed something."

Pena said he first saw the bus when the truck was about 50 feet away from the stop sign, then recalled seeing the bus grill and feeling the two vehicles collide.

Bartlett said Pena told investigators that Perez had not mentioned any brake problems with the vehicle before the wreck. And they had just delivered soft drinks to a convenience store before the accident occurred, he said.

NTSB officials will try to interview the bus driver, Gilberto Pena, sometime today, Bartlett said. The two Penas are not believed to be related.

"He has been cooperating," Bartlett said. "But we were told he was under medication today, so we will meet with him Monday." Gilberto Pena was critically injured in the accident and was moved from the intensive care unit at Mission General Hospital late Saturday.

Sixty-three people were injured in the crash, the worst in the state's history.

Bartlett said investigators also are still in the process of interviewing students who survived the crash. But Perez has refused to be questioned by investigators, on advice of his attorney, he said. One thing that has been missing in the investigation has been witnesses who were not involved in the crash.

"We've not come across anybody who was following the bus or the truck so far," Bartlett said. "It could have been just the luck of the draw. But I'm sure that if we had any other witnesses, they would have come forward, or police would have talked to them."

Earlier on Sunday, grief-stricken neighbors had watched as a soft-drink delivery truck and a school bus loaded with federal investigators recreated the events that led up to the collision.

The NTSB investigators said the re-enactment helped determine the bus was traveling about 30 mph and the vehicles could not been until they were about 150 feet apart.

The speed limit along the road on which the bus was traveling is 55 mph.

As the sun began to peek through nearby palm trees, investigators and law officers gathered next to the water-filled caliche pit into which the bus plunged in the Thursday accident. The accident was reconstructed about the same time of day as the actual 7:25 a.m. wreck.

Helping in Sunday's test was 14-year-old Edna Morales, who was the last student to board the bus before Thursday's crash. Ms. Morales, who had cuts on her neck and face and bandages on her left arm and right leg, came to the site because she thought it might cure her of the nightmares she has suffered since the accident.

Miss Morales told investigators she boarded the bus about 800 feet from the crash site. She described to what level the bus accelerated after making its last pickup. That information helped investigators arrive at the approximate 30 mph speed.

Adrian Escobedo, 15, brought a video camera to record the re-enactment. Escobedo said he was a neighbor and good friend of Michael and David Saenz, two brothers killed in the wreck and buried Saturday.

"I was going to show it (the videotape) to their mother," he said.

In conducting the tests Sunday morning, investigators were among 42 people who boarded a school bus similar to the one involved in the accident.

Students returning to school after funeral-filled weekend

MISSION, Texas (AP) — Counselors will follow the class schedules today of all 20 students who died when their bus plunged into a water-filled pit after being struck by a truck last week, school officials said.

Rosa Zapata, coordinator of counseling and guidance services for the school district, said social workers and trauma counselors are mobilizing to help survivors and friends cope with their difficult loss.

The collision knocked the bus filled with 80 students into a water-filled pit by an intersection in the south Texas town of Alton, just north of Mission. Alton is in the Mission Consolidated Independent School District.

"We will have a counselor following the class schedule of each (dead) child and meet with the class and answer any questions that are necessary, and if necessary to offer extra help to those children who cannot deal with the situation," Mrs. Zapata said Sunday while working at the high school in preparation for a difficult day that follows a funeral-filled weekend.

Counselors from nearby school districts and social service agencies have been volunteering their help she said.

"Everybody's kin to everybody else around here," said John Fraser, senior counselor at Mission High School. "If it's not friends that they knew on the bus, it's relatives." Seven high school students died in the crash.

Classes were canceled Friday, as were all weekend school activities. One funeral was held Friday, services for 15 more youngsters on Saturday and four more scheduled for Monday.

"We definitely feel like Monday — that's going to be something difficult to handle," said sophomore counselor Orfilinda Jimenez.

"This is a very close-knit community and they have come together; they have been dealing with it all weekend long," Mrs. Zapata said. "And I think with the support of the family, the support of the outside agencies, we will not have too many students who cannot deal with the situation. We will have a few, but it won't be an extreme number."

Veronica Salinas, 17, a Mission High student who lost two close friends in the accident, said, "It's hard to think that one moment they're with us and the next moment they are gone." Returning to class, she added, will be "very hard, very different."

She will be giving daily rides to 14-year-old Edna Morales, a Mission Junior High student who was the last to get on bus No. 6 before Thursday's accident.

Ms. Morales, hospitalized until Saturday, said she has suffered nightmares since she escaped through a window in the submerged bus. She said going back to school will be difficult, and that she will ride with her friend, "until I am able to make myself ride the bus."

Two students remained in intensive care Sunday at Mission General Hospital.

"I think a lot of people are going to be all scared about the tragedy," said Orlando Garza, 13. "They won't be able to concentrate and they are going to be scared to take the bus."

The high school's principal, Gus Zapata, said he expects a high absentee rate at first, particularly with the last four funerals scheduled for Monday.

"Those that will come will be ready to go back to school, but I'm sure that some of them will need some comfort and some assistance," Zapata said Sunday.

It will take two to three weeks for things to return to normal for most students, longer for some.

They need "just to go on, to continue just like the priest said at church this morning to do the best we can to put it behind us and to move, go forward," Zapata said. "They will get involved back in their activities, back in their school work."

Chris Evert tries to learn to relax

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Chris Evert is learning to relax, but she isn't ready to trade in the tennis racket for a fishing rod.

"This demands too much patience," Evert said last week during a fly-fishing expedition to the Roaring Fork River with husband Andy Mill.

Despite talk that Evert, 34, would call it quits after her quarterfinal loss in the U.S. Open earlier in the month, she is looking ahead to an exhibition Tuesday with Martina Navratilova in Seattle, weekend matches in Philadelphia, and a trip to Tokyo where she'll play in the Federation Cup, the women's equivalent of the Davis Cup.

"You can see I haven't quit, not yet," she said. "I think I got retired a little bit against my will. What I said was I wouldn't play any more Grand Slam events, and people took it from there."

Pat Boone breaks jaw in accident

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Singer Pat Boone broke his jaw in a fall from a bicycle. He should be out of the hospital within a few days, authorities said.

Boone, 55, was hurt Saturday evening when the front tire of his bicycle hit a grating and caused him to lose control, said police Lt. Miles Lee.

He was in good condition at UCLA Medical Center, being treated for the jaw injury and a cut above his right eye, hospital spokesman Richard Elbaum said Sunday.
