

Community education...

Classes for parents are held at Central

Beginning computer skills for instruction in math, reading and English are currently being offered to parents of students enrolled at Central and Northeast elementaries.

There is no charge for the program, called the Community Education Parent Program.

The classes are sponsored through a program started at Central two years ago by the school district, and initially began as part of grant monies awarded based on the concept of greater community involvement in the area surrounding the Central district.

Classes will be held on Tuesday evenings from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. in the computer lab at Central Elementary.

Courses offered include mathematics, adult reading skills, adult language skills and English as a second language as well as keyboard skills, including typing and word processing.

Elida Garza directs the program for the school district. Also assisting is "Kat" Higgins.

Hobbs school closes its doors today

SISD to benefit from student, added tax revenue

Hobbs school district was to close its doors today after the school board voted unanimously Wednesday to send its 13 students in grades 1 through 6 to Snyder, Roby and Rotan districts.

Hobbs, said to be the first consolidated rural school district in the state, had an enrollment of more than 400 at peak times in the 1940s and 50s but less than 10 years ago discontinued grades 7 through 12. The district formed in 1925.

Hobbs is located approximately 22 miles east of Snyder in Fisher County.

According to M.B. Maxwell, superintendent, enrollment dropped from about 25 to 13 students this year.

Because the school district will be dissolved, landowners will pay higher taxes after June 1, 1990. Hobbs' tax rate is 79.5 cents per $100 valuation. Snyder has set a school tax rate of $1.04, Rotan a rate of $1.03 and Roby a rate of 89 cents.

Scurry County residents previously in the Hobbs district will pay Snyder school taxes after the current academic year. Those living south of Hwy. 180 will pay Roby school taxes and those north of Hwy. 180 in Fisher County will pay Rotan school taxes.

The part of Hobbs school district in Scurry County is approximately 40 square miles and has an evaluation of $3,359,513. Snyder Independent School District has calculated that this would mean an added income to the district of approximately $35,000 for the next academic year.

Dalton Moseley, superintendent, said the district expects to gain only one student. Two of the 13 Hobbs school students reside in Scurry County, but one of these is the child of a Texaco employee who is being transferred out of the area.

The child who will begin attending Snyder public schools completed the transfer process in May in anticipation of the Hobbs school closing. Moseley said the child would be added to the SISD's Average Daily Attendance roll.

The Hobbs district is debt free, meaning that none of the districts involved — Snyder, Roby and Rotan — will incur bills on its behalf. Hobbs will also not request any district to accept any of its employees.

"I believe we can help this district by providing the students we receive an opportunity for an excellent education," said Moseley.

Peveler receives honor of 'Fellow'

Ray Peveler, CTA, Scurry County Appraisal District chief appraiser, has received the honor of Fellow, bestowed upon him by the Institute of Certified Tax Administrators at the Annual Conference of the Texas Association of Assessing Officers.

The designation of Fellow is the highest honor which can be bestowed by the Institute and is awarded in recognition of outstanding service for contributions to the Institute and to the field of tax administration. Only 16 Fellows have ever been awarded out of a membership of over 540 members.

Peveler also holds the designation of Certified Tax Administrator (CTA) awarded by the Institute, a designation recognized by the Texas Legislature. He earned other designations, such as Senior Residential Appraiser from the Society of Real Estate Appraisers, Certified Review Appraiser from the National Association of Review Appraisers, and Registered Professional Appraiser from the State Property Tax Board.

Peveler served as chairman of the Institute of Certified Tax Administrators from 1989-87 after serving as a member of the board for three years. He also served on the Educational Advisory Committee for the State Property Tax Board in 1983.

He entered the tax profession by way of his background as an Emergency Loan Supervisor with the Farmers Home Administration for Scurry and Garza counties and then as surveyor for the Texas Highway Department. He began with the Snyder Independent School District as Tax Assessor-Collector in 1966 and was promoted to Chief Appraiser in 1980.

Peveler is a graduate of Texas A&M University with a bachelor's degree in range management.

Tourism board views reports detailing city, area promotion

The performance of Guy Lombardo's Orchestra dominated discussion during a meeting of the Tourism and Retirement Committee at the chamber of commerce Thursday.

The band will provide musical entertainment at Scurry County Coliseum on Nov. 7 at 8:30 p.m.

Committee President Herbie Figueredo said, "This performance really appeals to a vast majority of people."

The committee also heard reports on promotional billboards, an advertising flyer and a magazine, and a new feature for the upcoming White Buffalo Days — a fly-in.

Senior citizens are a particular target group of the performance of Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians with Al Pierson.

Jerry Baird suggested providing a package rate for senior citizens' centers in nearby communities to come to Snyder for the performance as well as dinner, museum tours and shopping. Baird said he took a group of 30 people from the Senior Center to a similar gathering in Post, and it was very successful.

Plans were made to contact senior citizens' centers in the 19 surrounding counties, and to set a deadline of Nov. 1 for reservations.

Two billboards advertising Snyder and its assets are almost ready to be put up, the committee learned. The signs, painted by Kenny Miller, are ready except for advertisers' logos.

Another advertising endeavor, SCENE, a tabloid-type flyer, is being temporarily postponed due to lack of advertisers, according to Bill Moss, chamber manager. "The concept was a good one, but right now may not be the best time," he said. The untimeliness of the project is due to the rush of advertising being sold by other entities, according to Moss.

The color magazine, Snyder At Its Best, promoting Snyder as a retirement center as well as a place to raise and educate families, is progressing on schedule, according to Moss.

Also discussed was fly-in, sponsored by the Snyder Pilots Association and in conjunction with White Buffalo Days. The event will be held Nov. 14 at Winston Field. Jaycees will serve breakfast, free for fly-ins and $3 for walk-ins from 7:30 until 9:30 a.m.

Public airplane rides will be available for a $5 fee. The plane rides will take people around the prison, not directly over, due to (see TOURISM, page 8)

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Sometimes in our pursuit of happiness, it's important to pause and just be happy."

Disappointment, but not defeat, best described the reaction to Thursday's announcement that Snyder had been eliminated from competition in the current round for new state prisons.

Members of the chamber's economic development committee had expressed cautious optimism about the chances of another 1,000 beds and 300 jobs adjacent to the Price Daniel unit.

We suspect that many communities in Texas, also desperate for something to stimulate a sagging economy, offered the same argument that Snyder used in 1987—spread the resources of the state around.

While expansion at Snyder may have been an excellent management decision, it may have not been the best from a political viewpoint.

Snyder citizens must remember what we do have—an up and running unit with 300 jobs filled with good people and a payroll of $7 million annually. We have contracts in place with the TDCJ that will provide long-range benefits for both the hospital and college.

Those benefits—coupled with Snyder's knowledge of the prison system and Snyder's earned respect from its officials—will make Snyder attractive in future construction plans.

What Snyder needs to do now is to shake off the disappointment and continue its work in being a model prison community—including a positive vote for Proposition 8 on the Nov. 7 ballot. As one community leader pointed out Thursday afternoon, it has been Snyder's intention to have a long-term partnership with the TDCJ—and that has not changed.

We remain confident that Snyder is still very much a part of the TDCJ's long-range plans.

In Brief

Fiery crash

ROBERT, La. (AP) — Three people died and seven were seriously injured in the fiery wreck of a bus carrying a singing group, a tractor-trailer and a car in early-morning fog today on Interstate 12, state police said.

Two people were killed when their car exploded into flames after the crash near Robert about 1 a.m.; the third person killed was in the bus, said Sgt. Walt Clement of State Police Troop L.

He said three people were critically injured and four seriously injured.

Jobless rate

DALLAS (AP) — The state unemployment rate fell to 6.3 percent in September, a sharp drop of 1.2 percent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said today.

The decrease can be attributed to students leaving the work force and returning to school, said Nic Santangelo, a bureau analyst. He said an estimated 516,000 Texans were looking for work last month.

"Although it's a significant (change) ... still it is not one that we can make anything good about yet until we see more information develop," Santangelo said.

"We are just about where we were last spring overall. Except for some summer dynamics, we really haven't changed too much," he said.

Plan scuttled

WASHINGTON (AP) — A measure to allow airborne federal agents to fire on cocaine-carrying aircraft has been rejected in the Senate, with lawmakers expressing concern that the plan's safety features might be unworkable.

"Let's not go into a piranha-like feeding frenzy every time somebody mentions drugs," Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, said Thursday. "Let's send it back where it came from before we kill some innocent people out there."

Reversing an action it took only weeks ago, the Senate voted 52-48 to kill the measure that sponsors had sought to add to a wide-ranging drug bill.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Thursday, 35 degrees; low, 61 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Friday, 61 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1989 to date, 10.66 inches.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight, partly cloudy and cooler with a 20 percent chance of showers and thunderstorms. Low in the mid 50s. Northeast wind 5 to 10 mph. Saturday, partly cloudy and cooler. High near 80. Northeast to east wind 5 to 15 mph.

Child care...

Backers: moms in Texas will benefit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a $22.7 billion child-care package say the bill will increase the availability and quality of day-care for Texas children, but opponents claim the federal government will instead be trying to manage programs around the state.

"There's no question that it's going to vastly improve day-care availability and quality," said Rep. Jim Chapman, a Sulphur Springs Democrat, after Thursday's vote approving the plan.

"The bill we passed will provide 60,000 more day-care slots in Texas — that's 60,000 mothers potentially that we can get off welfare. That is a worthwhile goal," Chapman said.

But Rep. Charlie Stenholm, a Stamford Democrat and author of a substitute bill defeated on a 230-195 vote, said the plan that passed would result in federal management of day-care centers.

Under the bill, day-care centers receiving federal aid would be subject to federal regulation.

Stenholm's bill, however, would have let states retain their regulatory authority over child care, and would have cost $5 billion less.

If the bill that passed the House becomes law, Stenholm predicts the impact on Texas day-care centers will be "very negative. ...

A lot of the state and local people will be saying you did it to us again.

"The bottom line is that the federal government doesn't have a good track record in running programs at state and local levels," Stenholm said.

But Chapman said that if the federal government is going to send billions of dollars in aid to the states, "I see nothing wrong with having some type of minimal standards that will apply to those that get the funds."

Rep. John Bryant, a Dallas Democrat, said he believes the bill that passed will result in much more available day-care to lower-income Americans, "who in many cases are forced to let their children wander the streets after school."

"It will result in some assurances that child-care centers are going to be safe places for their children while they go to work," Bryant said.

Chapman said Texas already has in place standards that will meet every test of the bill, except the requirement that day-care workers have 15 hours of training.

Conviction will stand

DALLAS (AP) — A state district judge has denied Randall Dale Adams' request to erase all records of his 1977 capital murder conviction, which was overturned by an appeal earlier this year.

Judge Larry Baraka said he denied the motion because Adams' attorneys did not prove that he was wrongfully indicted.

"We don't know if he did or didn't do it," Baraka said.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for Adams after reviewing evidence mostly obtained through Errol Morris, who documented the case in a movie, "The Thin Blue Line." Adams spent 12 years in prison after being convicted of the 1976 fatal shooting of Dallas police officer Robert Wood.

The jury had sentenced Adams to death, but the sentence later was commuted to life.

Adams had maintained his innocence and said the real killer was David Ray Harris, who had provided investigators with clues that he said linked Adams to the slaying. Harris withdrew his accusation in a court hearing last year and provided so many details about the case that Judge Baraka declared his statements a virtual admission of guilt.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try to avoid the company today of people you know from experience are more takers than givers. These are the types of individuals who could impose upon your generous disposition.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Being overly insistent on having everything your way today could create real problems with your companions. They may let you have your way, but you'll be an army of one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a good chance the problems you encounter today are likely to be of your own making. Life is tough enough without putting roadblocks on your own path.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It might be best today to stick to tasks where little thought and concentration are required. You're a bit of a day dreamer and your mind may not be on your work.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Have fun and enjoy yourself today, but guard against overindulgence. Don't spend too much to have a good time, nor eat or drink more than you should.

Darnell will teach Bible lessons here

Dr. David Darnell, pastor of First Christian Church in Plano, will be the guest Bible lecturer at First Christian Church, 2701 37th St. this Monday through Wednesday evenings, Oct. 9-10, from 7-9 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

This will be Darnell's second visit to First Christian in Snyder this year. He was here in February to lead a study of John 13-17. This fall's study will concentrate on the book of Revelation. Darnell will use the first three chapters as a key to understanding the whole book.

Darnell has served as pastor of the Plano church since 1981. A native of Clovis, N. M., he was educated at Abilene Christian University and Florida College (BA, 1953); Brite Divinity School of Texas Christian University (BD, 1962); and Duke University (Ph.D., 1973). He is married and has four children and five grandchildren.

Morningside plans revival

Morningside Baptist Church's fall revival will be conducted next Wednesday through Sunday, Oct. 11-15. Nightly services will begin at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday services are set for 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Rev. Wayne Cullins, pastor of Pleasant Hill Baptist Church in Blanchard, Okla. will be the evangelist.

The church is located at 36th St. and Avenue B. The public is invited.

Rubber chickens will fly in E. Texas town during event

MARSHALL, Texas (AP) — Throwing fire ants wouldn't have been much of a spectator sport, of course.

But why rubber chickens?

"You get the humane society on you if you use symbols of lovable pets and tossing rubber frogs would be too much like Kermit and would upset the kids," said Harris County District Judge Bonnie Leggat, chairwoman of the world championship event that will be one of the highlights of Saturday's seventh annual FireAnt Festival.

"We haven't got any complaints," she said. "Apparently, chickens are not thought of too fondly by anybody. After all, Chicken Little was a dingbat."

About 100 people tried their hand at throwing regulation rubber chickens imported from Taiwan at last year's FireAnt festival. Officials expect an even bigger turnout this year.

The event originally was conceived as an exhibition between East Texas politicians two years ago.

"We found out they could throw bull, but not chicken," said George Smith, publisher of the Marshall News-Messenger and one of the organizers of the festival.

Officials briefly debated using live chickens, but the suggestion was quickly shot down.

"The street cleaning people weren't real happy about the mess that would make," Ms. Leggat said.

There also was a problem of making a relatively non-aerodynamic rubber chicken fly as far as possible.

NEW YORK (AP) — Religious broadcasters reaped a bitter harvest of lost credibility, contributions and congregation soon by the lapses of Jim Bakker and other big-time apostles of the airwaves.

But even as Judgment Day fell Thursday for a fallen Bakker, electronic evangelism beamed resiliency amid the spatter of scandal.

"TV evangelism is not dead. It's damaged, and it's changed permanently," said religious historian David Harrell of the University of Alabama at Birmingham. "But there clearly is an audience buying the product these people are selling, which is ministering to lonely, alienated people."

"Because some of these great men had warts, it's not going to cause the faithful to lose their faith."

Jimmy Swaggart lost 69 percent of his viewership and 72 percent of the enrollment at his Bible college after revelations in 1988 that he paid a prostitute to pose naked and talk dirty.

Faith healer Oral Roberts, burdened with a $25-million debt, is closing his City of Faith Hospital and medical school in Tulsa, Okla. Two years ago, before scandals raised skepticism, Roberts told his flock that a 900-foot-tall Jesus had appeared in a vision and God would "call me home" if believers didn't send in $8 million. He got the money.

Jerry Falwell raised more money than ever this year, $135 million, thanks to brisk sales of cassette tapes for home Bible study.

But the Moral Majority founder, who dismantled that conservative political arm in August, has dropped from the top 10 televangelists in TV ratings because of a 52 percent slip in viewership.

Pat Robertson, the failed Republican presidential candidate, returned to "The 700 Club" last year after revenues fell by one-third. He has recovered his losses, and contributions are near their 1986 peak of $139 million, according to spokesmen at his Christian Broadcasting Network.

story. Anyway, in true hand-hog fashion South jumped to three spades over his partner's one-no-trump response to the takeout double, and now had to struggle to make 10 tricks. The defenders played K-A and a third heart, ruffed and overruffed. Declarer played two rounds of trumps, noting the bad split. What a pity! If East had started with only three spades, declarer could play three rounds of diamonds ending in dummy, and then a club to the jack. Even if West held K-Q of clubs, he would be endplayed.

Since West opened the bidding, the chances of both king and queen of clubs being in that hand are good. So it is right for South to try for an endplay anyway. He should leave a trump in the East hand, play Q-K-A of diamonds and then a club from dummy. When South plays the jack, West will win the queen. West cannot lead back a club. If West plays a heart, declarer will ruff with the jack in dummy while discarding his 10 of clubs. He can then play a club back to his ace and pick up the remaining trump in the East hand. Declarer didn't like leaving a trump outstanding in the East hand, but that was the only way to make the contract.

An endplay is the only way

Better here for South to raise to two or three no-trump. That game is easy, but then we might not have a column

Coyotes, Bulldogs to do battle in Gail

Ira and Borden county are set to tangle in a battle of area six-man teams, Friday, while Hermleigh is enjoying an open date after winning three straight.

The Bulldogs and Coyotes are coming off vastly different weeks as Ira was pounded by highly regarded Jayton, 58-8, and Borden County did some pounding of their own, whipping Wilson, 48-6.

Ira is 1-3 on the year, beating Wilson, 42-12, and losing 25-6 to Lazbuddie, 46-0 to Guthrie and the loss to Jayton.

The Coyotes suffered a similar fate at the hands of the Jaybirds, falling 63-19 two weeks ago. They tied New Home, 16-all, to open their season, whipped Wellman, 50-0, then stomped Wilson to give them a season mark of 2-1-1.

Friday's 7:30 p.m. contest in Gail will be the last tune-up for both teams as play begins in District 7-1A (6) for Ira next week as Highland comes to town.

The Coyotes are slated to commence district action versus 6-1A (6) foe Loop, there, Oct. 13.

Hermleigh will be back in action as district play begins next week for the Cardinals, also. They will play Trent next Friday.

Tigers, Chiefs tangle

Snyder, Lake View face first loop test

Snyder travels to San Angelo to take on the Lake View High School Chiefs in the first district contest for both schools, tonight.

Each of the squads is winless, Snyder having lost to Lubbock Coronado, Levelland and Littlefield and Lake View falling to Lubbock High, Ballinger and Vernon.

While the statistics seem to point to a weak Lake View defense, coach David Baugh of Snyder feels otherwise.

"Their defensive stats (giving up almost 900 yards on the ground in three games) are a reflection of the competition they've faced. Lubbock High and Vernon are good football teams and Ballinger is ranked second in the state in 3A."

The Lake View defense has Baugh concerned, because he isn't sure what to expect.

"They started the season in a basic-5 defense, like ours," he said, "but against Vernon, they changed to a 26. They have lined up from time to time in different defensive sets. That is a real question mark at this point and it has created a few problems in our preparations because we just don't really know what to expect."

On offense, the Chiefs will also use several formations, calling plays using double wide receivers, two on one side of the line, but basically a split back set.

The Chiefs might run a few plays from the I-formation or with a slotback from time to time.

"They have two quarterbacks that are really good athletes," Baugh reported. When one is quarterbacking the other is at receiver."

The QB's the coach mentioned are Cory Stephens and Joe Baquera. Stephens is known as a sprint-out type quarterback, focusing on possession passes and roll outs.

Baquera, on the other hand, is a classic drop-back passer who likes the pocket.

Stephens is 11 of 28 passes this season for 154 yards, a touchdown and two interceptions.

Baquera has completed nine of 33 tosses for a yardage total of 104. He has not thrown for a TD and he has suffered three interceptions.

The favorite receiver of both quarterbacks is Steven Cruz, the Chiefs' wide receiver. Cruz has collected five catches for 87 yards. That translates to an impressive 17.4 yard average per catch.

Baugh concedes that the Lake View passing attack will put added pressure on the Tigers' secondary.

"Our corners and safeties will have to have a good game if they start throwing the ball at us."

The Tigers' defense is currently ranked fourth in District 4-4A statistically, allowing less than 80 yards per game passing. They limited the Littlefield Wildcats to minus two yards through the air last Friday.

The Black and Gold defenders have given up only 177 yards per contest on the ground. They have allowed second fewest first downs in the district with 36 and are third in points allowed with 51.

Snyder has forced seven turnovers this season, while covering up the ball the same number of times, offensively.

Lake View's defensive unit was ravaged in non-district competition, placing the Chiefs at, or near the bottom in most categories.

They have given up a total of 1090 yards, 363.3 per game. They are last in points allowed with 99, last in first downs allowed with 58 and last in team defense.

Last year's game gave the Snyder crew their only win of the year as they destroyed the Chiefs in Snyder, 35-0.

A trio of Tigers will be unavailable for the Lake View tilt because of injuries.

Shelby Bufkin and Hayward Clay will miss this week's game, as they did the game in Littlefield because of a twisted knee on each player.

Paul Anderson will take Bufkin's regular tailback spot in the Snyder offensive scheme and Bert Merritt will fill in at cornerback, Bufkin's defensive post. Clay will be replaced by a pair of linemen, Kevin Murdoch and Ronnie Pruitt at defensive end, and by Bert Morton at tight end.

Terry Snyder has a twisted ankle and is doubtful for Friday's game.

Bay John Long has been called up from the junior varsity to take the number three snapper spot on kicks. He is behind Carlton Sanders and Jodi Iglehart on the depth chart at that position.

The game will be taped for broadcast and replayed on cable channel 2 at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Cubs even series with 9-5 win versus San Francisco

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants are even — in number of routs, number of ace pitchers clobbered and in number of victories in the National League playoffs.

After an embarrassing 11-3 loss in Wednesday night's opener, the Cubs came back with a vengeance, beating the Giants 9-5 Thursday night to square the best-of-7 series at one game apiece.

Just as the Giants had battered Chicago's 19-game winner, Greg Maddux, in the opener, the Cubs pounded San Francisco's 17-game winner, Rick Reuschel, in Game 2. Chicago scored six runs in the first inning, then ended any San Francisco hopes for a comeback when Mark Grace doubled home three runs in the sixth inning.

"We got beat good last night," Manager Don Zimmer said. "It looked like we didn't belong on the same field with them. But the series is tied and we're 7-7 (for the year) with them."

The next three games will be played at San Francisco's Candlestick Park, beginning Saturday.

Jerome Walton opened the game with a single on Reuschel's first pitch. Before the 40-year-old veteran knew what was happening, Ryne Sandberg tripled, Grace doubled, and Luis Salazar and Shawn Dunston each singled. That finished Reuschel. Kelly Downs relieved, and Cubs starter Mike Bielecki tagged him for a two-run single.

It was the biggest first inning ever in the National League playoffs, topping the five-run first by Pittsburgh against Los Angeles in 1974.

"No problems, other than they kept hitting whatever I threw," Reuschel said. "I threw a couple of good pitches. They hit the good ones and a few of the bad ones."

Ironically, Bielecki didn't last five innings and the victory went to reliever Les Lancaster. Bielecki gave up a two-run homer to Kevin Mitchell in the fourth. It was the second in the series for Mitchell, who led the majors with 47.

Then came the fifth. With two on and two out, stepped Will Clark who had homered twice, including a grand slam, and driven in six runs in the opener.

Out came Zimmer. In a similar situation Wednesday night, he had stayed with Maddux, who gave up Clark's grand slam.

This time, Zimmer went to the bullpen for left-hander Paul Assenmacher, who retired Clark on one pitch.

"That's one of the toughest decisions I had to make," Zimmer said of replacing Bielecki. "Here's a guy who won 18 games and needed one out to get the win but I had my mind made up when he walked (Robby) Thompson."

Assenmacher didn't retire another batter, as Mitchell and Matt Williams each singled opening the sixth. In came Lancaster. Pinch batter Ken Oberkfell flied to center as both runners advanced, but Lancaster fanned Pat Sheridan and got pinch hitter Ernest Riles to fly out to end the threat.

"That was the turning point for us," Lancaster said. "The big out was the strikeout. It was a big lift for all of us."

The Cubs wrapped it up with Grace's base-clearing double off Craig Lefferts in the sixth. That blow negated Williams' two-run homer in the eighth and a solo shot by Thompson in the ninth.

Said Giants manager Roger Craig said Reuschel "got the ball up and got hit."

WTC riders claim top spots at event

WTC's rodeo team is making its presence known in this weekend's NIRA event at Sul Ross State University.

A pair of Western Texas cowboys and a cowgirl are currently in line for Sunday's finals. Kyle Ham milked a 75 from Thursday's bull ride landing him in first place in that event.

Bareback rider, Tim Ryan, is hanging on to first, also, with a 67.

Lisa Meloy is in second place after the first round of breakaway roping with a time of 4.2 seconds.

Other WTC students participating in the rodeo's opening round were, Buddy Reed, who nabbed a 20.2 time in steer wrestling after a broken barrier, Jamie Hannis and Krista Jefferies, who each received 'no times', Hannis in calf roping and Jefferies in breakaway roping, and Kathy Crowder, a barrel racer who recorded a 19.32 second time.

Jefferies also registered no time as a barrel racer.

Collegiate wranglers will be competing in preliminary rounds tonight and Saturday night, with the finals beginning Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Baylor comes next for high-octane UH

Baylor. You're next. Facing the Houston Cougars these days is like charging a Gatling gun. Andre Ware is the trigger man and what has been happening to the unfortunate opponents of the probation-stained Cougars hasn't been suitable for viewing by small children.

Part of the Cougars' NCAA probation includes no television. The way the Houston has been slaughtering opponents perhaps it's for the best the general public doesn't have to watch.

The Ladies Golf Association has released their list of winners for September events.

MEET THE DUSTERS — Kelsey Koester, a freshman at WTC, is a physical therapy major from Richardson Berkner High School. She was named defensive player of the year in District 12-5A as well as All-District, and All-City. Koester competed in volleyball and basketball in high school. Her future plans are to become a physical therapist and work in sports medicine. In high school she averaged 14 points and seven rebounds per game. She cites her reason for attending WTC as "I think coach Chadwick can get the best out of me and make me a much better basketball player." (SDN Staff Photo)

Jr. high units off this week

Snyder's junior high teams from the seventh and eighth grades were enjoying an open date this week.

The squads spent the week in preparations for their upcoming contests versus Andrews.

The Andrews games will be played Saturday, Oct. 14 with the seventh grade hosting the Mustangs and the eighth graders travelling there.

The "B" team games will begin at 10:30 a.m. at their respective sites and the "A" squads will kick-off at noon.

Wadkins' 62 leads Open

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Lanny Wadkins posted an early 8-under-par 62 lead and then sat back and saw it matched by Mark Wiebe and Tom Sieckmann in the first round of the Texas Open.

Attacking cozy Oak Hills Country Club with his customary fervor, Wadkins dropped a 12-foot birdie putt on his final hole to match the course record. The trio, all seeking their first title of 1989, held a one-shot lead over Dan Forsman.

Offensive players were most in demand at the 1989 NFL draft. There were 166 selected.

Senate considers whether to scrap or revamp catastrophic health plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, swamped with protests from older Americans, is deciding whether to preserve some catastrophic health coverage for retirees or scrap the program altogether.

Senate leaders are rallying behind a plan by Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn., that would keep most benefits of the program, wipe out drug coverage and significantly reduce the surtax on higher-income retirees that pays for most of the program.

A competing plan by Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., would repeal the surtax and keep only extended coverage of hospital bills.

But there is considerable support for outright repeal.

Durenberger's proposal was embraced Thursday by Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan, who said "the rush for repeal ... is shocking." But a short time later, Richard G. Darman, director of the White House Office of Management and Budget, said the administration has not endorsed any specific plan to salvage the program.

The Senate was expected to decide the program's fate today. The House already has voted by a lopsided margin to repeal it.

Congress is considering repealing or scaling back the program because of loud complaints from its intended beneficiaries: the 33 million retirees who are eligible for Medicare.

The program is being attacked by some retirees who already have other catastrophic coverage, and from some with higher incomes, who must pay an income surtax of up to $800 a year to finance coverage for themselves and low-income older Americans.

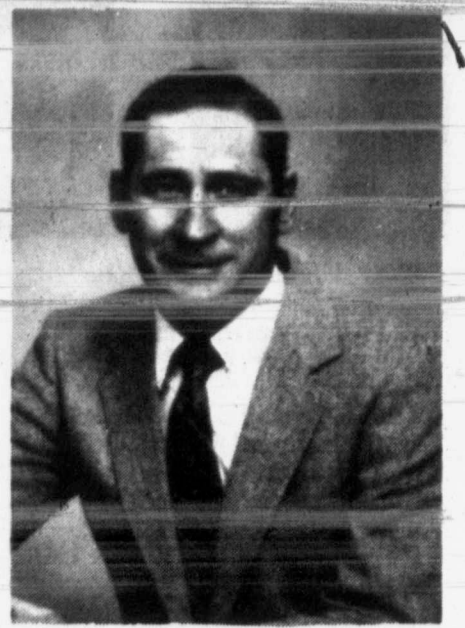

Durenberger said his proposal "would provide seniors with the equivalent of $4,000 worth of private medigap insurance coverage at a cost of between $48 and $300 per year."

His amendment had the support of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Senate Majority Leader George J. Mitchell, D-Maine, and Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas.

The catastrophic law expanded Medicare benefits to protect retirees against being wiped out financially by a long illness.

The program is financed chiefly by a surtax of up to $800 a year on the wealthiest 40 percent of retirees who pay at least $150 federal income tax. The remaining cost is covered by a flat monthly premium of $4 paid by all but the poorest retirees.

Rollover

A 25-year-old Hermleigh man escaped serious injury in a one-vehicle rollover 1.1 miles east of Hermleigh on County Road 4114.

Rodney D. Mayo was west-bound in a 1978 Chevrolet Scottsdale pickup when he failed to negotiate a curve, skidded 327 feet, went another 112 feet into a cotton field, hit a well control box and overturned once, a Department of Public Safety trooper said.

Mayo declined medical attention following the 9:33 p.m. Wednesday mishap, the trooper said.

Damages to the control box, whose owner was not reported, were estimated at $150.

The only accident investigated by city police Thursday was at 4:43 p.m. in the 3000 Block of College Ave., where a 1988 Pontiac Bonneville driven by Felton Wallace of Rt. 2 was in collision with a 1988 Ford Ranger XLT pickup driven by Terry W. Miller of 213 33rd St.

Illegal weapon

A 19-year-old man was arrested for unlawfully carrying a weapon at 12:16 p.m. Thursday in the 1900 Block of 40th St. after a woman complained that he had hit her.

A city police detective took the man into custody for carrying an illegal knife, and the woman came to the police station to file a misdemeanor assault complaint.

Bomber crew discusses safe landing despite nose gear being crippled

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The pilot who safely landed a B-1B bomber on a desert air strip without its nose landing gear said Thursday he kept his thoughts on emergency drills and his feelings on his family.

"The only thought on my mind was accomplishing the emergency procedures and getting out of the plane," the aircraft's commander, Capt. Jeffrey K. Beene, said at a news conference the day after the spectacular landing.

"My basic feelings were that of my family. In our business we worry about them a lot," said Beene, who has a wife, son and 3-month-old daughter.

The big swing-wing bomber remained on the runway where it slid several thousand feet Wednesday after Beene and co-pilot Capt. Vernon B. Benton, 30, set it down on the main gear and gently dropped the nose to the ground.

The $280 million B-1B, part of the 96th Bombardment Wing at Dyess Air Force Base, Texas, took off on a training flight at 6:38 a.m. PDT and was near Abilene, Texas, when the problem was discovered about three hours later.

Refueled four times, the bomber headed to California, where it was escorted for more than an hour by an F-111 being flown by a B-1 test crew.

The crippled jet circled Edwards Air Force Base, made a touch-and-go landing, circled around, dumped excess fuel and came down for good.

Lt. Col. Joseph G. Day, 39, a weapons instructor, said it was "teeth-rattling" when the nose hit the dirt.

"After 12 hours of flying, four hours of interviews, we were pretty well beat," said Capt. Robert H. Hendricks, the offensive weapons officer.

Beene, 30, said the crew had problems with both the electronic and hydraulic systems controlling the nose wheel. The crew said it was Air Force and B-1 engineers at the manufacturer, Rockwell International, who decided the crew could land the bomber safely rather than have to eject.

"We called Rockwell to see if there were other options," Beene said.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You requested opinions from readers in response to a question posed by the mother of a child with a repaired cleft lip. This mother asked if displaying the "before" photos of her daughter in the family album was appropriate now that the defect had been corrected by surgery. Her husband felt they should not be displayed, and you said, "Display them only with the daughter's approval."

As the mother of a 13-year-old daughter born with a cleft lip and palate, I personally feel that the pre-surgery pictures should be included among other family pictures. To exclude them would make the child feel that you were ashamed of the way she looked at birth.

However, I think your suggestion of honoring the child's wishes when she is sufficiently mature to express them is a valid one.

Abby, please let your readers know about the National Cleft Palate Association. This organization is dedicated to advancing the health, welfare and education of children and adults with cleft palates and craniofacial irregularities. There are chapters and support groups all over the United States. (I am president of the New Orleans chapter.)

Parents and interested parties may call either (800) 23-CLEFT or (800) 24-CLEFT — both toll-free numbers — for more information about this non-profit organization.

LUCIENNE D. SIRAGUSA, NEW ORLEANS

DEAR LUCIENNE: Thank you for writing. My mail contained some diverse opinions concerning whether the pre-surgery pictures should be placed in the family album. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I feel I must write about the little girl who was born with a birth defect that was corrected by surgery.

I had a tumor on my pituitary gland when I was very young. Because of this tumor, my growth was stunted and as a child I was short and fat.

My mother took a lot of pictures of me as a child. I was not a very pretty sight. Fortunately, surgery corrected this condition and enabled me to grow normally. I am 18 years old now, and all the misery of my stunted growth and fat body is now a thing of the past.

Last year, I went through our family album and removed all the pictures of me when I was a short, fat and miserable child. Then I tore them into little pieces. Why should I have to relive all those painful memories? Once was enough! Thank God they are over.

HAPPY IN FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: I'm so mad I don't know where to begin. The lady's daughter was born with a cleft palate and had corrective surgery at 4 months old. You said to put the pre-surgery pictures away until the girl was old enough to decide whether she wanted them in the album or not.

Abby, do you really think in a few years the child will feel comfortable putting those pictures back, when her parents weren't comfortable with them to start with?

My youngest son was born cross-eyed, but he had corrective surgery when he was 8 months old. I love my children for who they are — not what they look like. And I'm certainly not going to yank eight months' worth of pictures out of my family album.

I also hope parents of children born with irreversible defects don't feel ashamed to display pictures of their kids.

A PROUD MOM IN TACOMA

DEAR PROUD MOM: My mail ran 20-to-1 in favor of leaving the pre-surgery pictures in the family album. Most said to remove them would be attempting to deny reality. Many children wrote to say that they were glad they were shown pictures of themselves before their surgery. Some thought they looked "funny"; others said they appreciated the wonderful work their doctors had done.

Skepticism greets Trump's offer for American Airlines

DALLAS (AP) — Donald Trump's $7 billion buyout bid for American Airlines has been greeted with skepticism by analysts who wonder if the billionaire developer is really looking for a quick buck through stock plays.

"That seems to be a popular question," said Robert Decker, an analyst for the Chicago investment firm Duff & Phelps Inc., after American's parent company, AMR Corp., revealed Trump's proposal Thursday.

Trump wrote AMR Chairman Robert L. Crandall, offering $120 for each of the 58.9 million shares of stock in the nation's largest airline.

The deal would be the biggest airline takeover ever.

Shares in Fort Worth-based AMR rose $16.87½, to $99.87½, in heavy trading Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange. Other airline stocks also jumped in related speculation.

Some in government, concerned about high debt levels in the industry brought on by buyouts, viewed the deal unfavorably.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, a member of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation, called for the immediate adoption of legislation approved by the committee Thursday that would require Department of Transportation approval of airline takeovers.

Others called for the Justice Department to review the deal for antitrust violations because of Trump's purchase in June of Eastern Airlines' Northeast shuttle, since renamed the Trump Shuttle.

The AMR bid followed weeks of speculation about airline takeovers, much of it centered on profitable American, which has about 22 percent of the domestic market.

Trump said his offer would expire Oct. 20. AMR said it would consider the proposal "in due course."

But the airline added: "There has been no change in (AMR's) policy and belief that AMR and its shareholders will be best served by AMR remaining an independent company and continuing the strong partnership among American Airlines, its employees, the communities it serves and the public."

Additional troopers needed to enforce truck regulations throughout the state

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — An official of the Texas Department of Public Safety says he needs 250 more troopers to adequately enforce new trucking safety laws that some say could have helped avoid the worst school bus accident in state history.

On Sept. 21, a soft-drink truck hit a Mission school bus broadside which was carrying 81 students and knocked it into a water-filled gravel pit, killing 21 and injuring the other 60.

The safety laws, which took effect 10 days after the accident, "give us some very good tools to enforce and improve traffic safety," said Chief Dudley Thomas, who heads DPS' traffic law enforcement division.

But he said the division needs 500 troopers to enforce the laws. DPS currently has 250 troopers assigned to the job.

The regulations took effect Oct.

1, and for the first time give troopers authority to remove unsafe trucks from the road.

The Texas Legislature passed even tougher laws in 1987. But in January 1988, enforcement of those rules was suspended after several legislators and transportation lobbyists asked DPS officials for a delay until September 1989.

During that interim, DPS officers could inspect trucks for safety violations but lacked the authority to order them out of service.

Lee Dickinson, a member of the National Transportation Safety Board, said three of the soft-drink truck's six brakes were out of adjustment before colliding with the bus. In any other state, the truck would have been ordered off the road, Dickinson said.

H. E. B. bans alternative weekly due to complaints about classified ads

AUSTIN (AP) — The publisher of an alternative weekly said he may call for a readers' boycott against 17 area H.E.B. supermarkets, which banned the newspaper after an anti-pornography crusader complained about its personal ads.

"I hate to see them (H.E.B.) cave in to that kind of pressure with the feeling they're not going to get any pressure from us," Austin Chronicle publisher Nick Barbaro said.

A spokesman for the San Antonio-based grocery giant said Wednesday that H.E.B. had ordered removal of the Chronicle because the ads were too graphic. Activist Mark Weaver had charged that the ads promote homosexuality and promiscuity.

"The explicit nature of the classifieds was probably the deciding factor ... whether it's men seeking men or women seeking men," H.E.B. spokesman Mike de la Garza told the Austin American-Statesman.

The Chronicle is distributed at no charge in 500 outlets around Austin. Barbaro said about 2,000 copies are delivered by a San Antonio-based distributor every week to H.E.B., which has carried the newspaper for about a year.

Weaver, an ordained Baptist minister who has frequently lodged protests against publications and businesses that he claims promote pornography and homosexuality, said he will encourage Austin residents to seek the expulsion of the Chronicle from other "family-oriented environments."

In addition to features on city politics and the local entertainment scene, the Chronicle publishes a variety of personal ads in its classified advertising section under the headings "Men Seek Women," "Women Seek Men," "Men Seek Men," "Women Seek Women," and "Variations."

"I don't think there is anything wrong with our personals," Barbaro said.

The newspaper probably rejects one or two ads each week "because they describe sexual acts specifically," he said. Others, he said, are not accepted because they "just sound weird."

Weaver, who heads the American Family Association of Texas, said the ads contribute to the spread of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases.

Governor criticizes court decision

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Florida Supreme Court ruling that lets teen-age girls have abortions without their parents' consent was criticized by Gov. Bob Martinez as a blow to the sanctity of the family.

children, and parents cannot, then the Legislature must, by passing new abortion clinic regulations."

In a majority decision Thursday, the court struck down a 1988 law requiring girls under age 18 to get the consent of a parent, guardian or judge for abortions. The state's constitutional guarantee of privacy outweighed the law, the court said.

"I'm going to work to make certain that somehow parental consent comes back," Martinez said Thursday. "If the Florida Supreme Court will not protect

DTT proposes exclusive routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department is proposing that foreign airlines be given exclusive rights to fly between their home countries and some U.S. cities that have little or no international air service.

Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner said Thursday that he will explore the possibility of opening more U.S. cities to flights by foreign airlines without the usual bilateral negotiations.

If the plan is adopted, Skinner said, "many more U.S. cities will have the opportunity to enjoy the economic benefits" of direct international flights.

In a speech at a forum on international aviation, Skinner said the department would propose the new rules within a few days. A period for public comment, usually about two months, would follow before the rules would take effect.

Dr. Gott
Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I don't understand why doctors insist on using highly technical words, such as "angiomas," when discussing health problems with their patients. This kind of word is frightening and confusing to the average person. Why can't physicians diagnose in "plain words?"

DEAR READER: Fancy medical words are a form of shorthand for doctors. It's often easier to talk in $64 phrases than to take the time to explain things. For example, angiomas means "a diseased state of the blood vessels with formation of multiple angioma," which means that the diseased vessels tend to congregate in discrete collections, causing tumor-like growths.

In my limited definition, 12 words were required to explain "angiomas." Therefore, it's quicker for doctors to use the shorter term.

Of course, as you pointed out, the use of technical words can be a catastrophe when a physician attempts to explain a disease to a patient. In this circumstance, the practitioner owes the patient the courtesy of an understandable explanation. Most good doctors have developed skills in doing this. However, some physicians insist on mouthing technical phrases that are unintelligible to anybody but a medical-school professor. These physicians need to be re-educated by their patients.

I advise patients — my own included — to stop the music when an explanation becomes a medical lecture. In other words, stop the discussion and ask the doctor to restate the information in understandable language. This technique improves doctors' manners. Also, by asking questions, the patient encourages an adult give-and-take dialogue, which helps equalize the doctor-parent/patient-child relation.

Above all, patients should not feel intimidated by the doctor's language; the practitioner may simply be slipping into jargon by force of habit. Remember, you have hired the doctor to perform a service; part of this service is to provide useful information that makes sense.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Are there any serious reactions to taking Vasotec for one's blood pressure?

DEAR READER: Vasotec (enalapril) is one of a new class of drugs called angiotensin-converting-enzyme inhibitors, that block the formation of angiotensin II, the hormone causing high blood pressure. The medicine is extremely useful and surprisingly free of side effects. Some patients may occasionally experience headache, dizziness, fatigue, diarrhea, cough, palpitations, insomnia or muscle cramps.

In rare instances, Vasotec may diminish kidney function and increase blood potassium. Most of these side effects disappear with either time or an adjustment of dose. In my experience, Vasotec is effective and well-tolerated by patients.

Bush seeks amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush, saying a Senate-approved statutory ban on defacing the American flag is inadequate, is renewing his support for a constitutional amendment to outlaw flag burning.

"I believe that a constitutional amendment, properly drawn, is necessary in order to provide the proper protection," Bush said Thursday after 91-9 approval by the Senate of the statutory ban.

The House-passed measure now returns there for consideration of changes made by the Senate. It calls for up to a $1,000 fine and a year in jail for burning or otherwise defacing the flag.

A constitutional amendment to ban flag burning is set to come up in the Senate on Oct. 16; the House also is expected to take up such a measure.

Republican senators kept up pressure for a constitutional amendment as the only effective counter to a June Supreme Court decision that threw out the conviction of Texas flag-burner Gregory Lee Johnson on free-speech grounds.

Democrats countered that free speech guaranteed by the Constitution should be limited only as a last resort.

Nuclear waste storage...

Watkins forseees resistance to plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — dump is completed in 1990 or Energy Secretary James D. Watkins is bracing for stiff resistance to his plan to store radioactive waste from a Colorado nuclear weapons plant in several states until a permanent meeting next week with state governors that seven states share the waste-storage burden in the interest of keeping the crucial Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant operating.

Watkins told the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee a permanent waste repository in New Mexico would not be ready to open by March, when Colorado's unilaterally imposed waste storage limit is expected to be reached.

Thus, temporary storage sites must be found by March 1 or Rocky Flats could be forced to close. The 364-acre plant near Denver is a vital link in the nation's nuclear arms complex because it is the only maker of plutonium triggers for warheads.

Watkins said he had not decided which states to approach. The most likely candidates include Colorado, Idaho, New Mexico, Nevada and Washington, which have some of the department's main weapons facilities. The two other nearest states with nuclear weapons sites are Texas and California.

Radioactive waste equivalent to 49 boxcar loads — about 4,900 cubic yards — would have to find temporary storage over the next two years, he said. The amount could be even greater if further delays are encountered in completing the Waste Isolation Pilot Project near Carlsbad, N.M.

The New Mexico repository was scheduled to open a year ago but has been hampered by a series of environmental, technical and regulatory problems.

Eddie Binder, a spokesman for

New Mexico Gov. Garrey Carruthers, said the governor's position had not changed.

"There's no way I'll accept any other waste than what is already in this state for temporary storage," Carruthers said two weeks ago.

The waste is contaminated with plutonium, which remains radioactive for 240,000 years, and is generated at the Rocky Flats weapons plant. The plant recovers plutonium from retired nuclear weapons and reprocesses it to make triggers for new ones.

Idaho had been storing part of the Rocky Flats waste, but Gov. Cecil Andrus closed his state's borders Sept. 1 to further shipments to protest the Energy Department's failure to open the $800 million Waste Isolation Pilot Project.

NAACP accuses welfare agency of discrimination

AUSTIN (AP) — The NAACP's Austin branch threatened to file a federal complaint against the Texas Department of Human Services if discrimination charges cannot be resolved through negotiations.

"The Texas Department of Human Services is an agency that impacts the lives of over 1 million Texans every year ... It also employs thousands of Texans, including blacks and Hispanics," Gary Bledsoe, branch president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Thursday.

"However, there is widespread discrimination practiced within the agency to the obvious detriment of these groups," Bledsoe told a news conference.

The NAACP branch said that blacks fill none of the 27 highest positions at the welfare agency, and that 75 percent of all agency employees terminated for insubordination are black.

Twenty-three agency divisions or sections have no black representatives, except for support staff, Bledsoe said. He said complaints have been made to the NAACP branch from Austin, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Abilene and Bryan.

"I would like to request that you take the bull by the horns and remedy past discrimination in your agency immediately and adopt some policies that will allow qualified blacks and Hispanics to move up in your agency," Bledsoe said in a letter to Human Services Commissioner Ronald Lindsey.

Delegation pushes possible Texas sites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Texas congressional delegation is backing efforts to lure U.S. Memories Inc. to one of 19 sites in the state competing for the private consortium's $1 billion computer memory chip plant.

"You never know until its done, but I think we would be very competitive," says Rep. Joe Barton, an Ennis Republican whose district includes three of the sites. "The Texas delegation has shown in the past that when we do work together we do have quite a bit of influence."

Sites in 14 states are vying for U.S. Memories' proposed complex, which would employ 3,000 people when it begins operation in 1993 and hopes to have sales of $1 billion by 1994.

In Texas, sites have been proposed in Austin, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio and Bryan-College Station.

U.S. Memories, a consortium of seven private companies, will narrow its list of potential sites to about half a dozen by mid-October and will visit those areas before choosing a final site by the end of November, said company spokeswoman Joanne Howard.

The consortium of semiconductor and systems companies plans to use the plant to build DRAM — Dynamic Random Access Memory — computer chips, which are used in microwave ovens with memories, VCRs, computers and supercomputers. DRAMs also have defense ramifications, Ms. Howard said.

In a letter to Sanford L. Kane, president and chief executive officer of U.S. Memories, the Texas delegation cites the state's "major role in the semiconductor and personal computer industries."

In January 1988, Austin landed the much-sought Sematech semiconductor research consortium. Kane had been chairman of the site selection committee for Sematech.

"The fact we tree'd that last coon doesn't mean we're not interested in this new coon," says Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

"The state of Texas and all our cities have been very competitive in attracting new, large-scale economic development projects similar to the U.S. Memories plant," says the delegation letter that Gramm wrote and circulated with the help of Reps. J.J. "Jake" Pickle of Austin and Rep. Barton.
