151 pints of blood donated

The blood drive held Tuesday at Towle Park drew 161 donors with 151 pints of blood taken, it was reported.

Sponsors for the event were Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and Scurry County Advisory Council for United Blood Services of Lubbock.

There were 10 deferrals and pins were given to those who have donated either one, two, three, four, or six gallons of blood.

Five persons have reached the one-gallon goal. They include E. W. McCasland, J. B. Tate, Jr., Trisha McCasland, Jill Wilkinson, Helen McLeod, and Becky Smogorzewski.

Sid Palacios received a two-gallon pin. Leonard Keller received a three-gallon pin. Two recipients of four-gallon pins included Wayne Winkles and Rona Sikes. Freda Shepard received a six-gallon pin.

Twenty-four first time donors were recorded yesterday. In addition, 22 persons donated blood for Lois Pierce who is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock. Also, 46 persons donated blood for Cary Jones, the Texas Department of Corrections correctional officer injured in a wreck who subsequently had to have a leg amputated.

Charlie Streetman won the dinner for two donated by Willow Park Inn.

Blood drive officials extend appreciation to all donors, merchants and businesses which donated coupons or other prizes used as incentives, and merchants who set up signs advertising the blood drive.

Coupons and other incentives were donated by Dairy Queen, Sonic Drive-In, Gandy's Dairies, Long John Silver's, Golden Corral Steak House, Whataburger, Coca Cola Bottling Co. in Sweetwater, UBS in Lubbock, Gill's Fried Chicken, Jaramillo's Restaurant, Spanish Inn, (see DRIVE, page 9)

Absentee voter deadline nears

Friday is the deadline for in-person, absentee balloting in the Nov. 7 general election, the county clerk's office here has stressed.

The clerk's office reported 79 people had voted absentee as of early this morning.

"That's not very many, but for a constitutional amendments election it is probably normal," said Joan Bunch, deputy county clerk. "A lot of people don't like to vote on amendments because they don't understand them."

To help voters prepare for the election, sample ballots are available at the clerk's office.

Anyone may use the in-person, absentee method of voting. A 1987 state law gives Texans the option of casting absentee votes by personal appearance without having to give a reason for doing so.

The hour deadline for in-person, absentee voting is 5 p.m. on Friday.

Oct. 31 was the final day to have applications turned in for anyone voting absentee by mail.

The Nov. 7 constitutional amendments election includes 21 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. Included are measures that would raise the salaries of state legislators, the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house; authorize the issuance of bonds for water projects and state prison expansion; let the legislature pass laws permitting courts to instruct juries on good conduct time and parole eligibility for defendants; allow state lawmakers to sanction and regulate raffles conducted by non-profit organizations; and several other issues.

New locations planned for 3 local businesses

The purchase of a downtown office building will result in new locations for three Snyder businesses later this year.

The Snyder law firm of Cotton and Cotton has purchased the building located between Snyder Savings and Loan and West Texas State Bank, and renovation work has already begun for offices to house the law firm and Snyder Abstract and Title Co. Attorneys in the firm are Dan and David Cotton.

Sam Robertson Insurance Agency has already moved from the location and is officed temporarily on the second floor of West Texas State Bank, sharing the suite with attorney Tommie Mills. Robertson will eventually move into the Cotton law offices at 1926 26th Street. Robertson, who has been in the insurance business six years, said the offices will be remodeled before he moves in.

Stephens Office Supply, which has been in its present location for 21 years, has purchased the old J.C. Penney building on the south side of the Snyder square.

Renovation of that building has already begun, and owner Bill Stephens says he hopes to be in his new location by the latter part of November.

Cotton and Cotton has been in its present location since 1966.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A lot of people can lead if someone will show 'em what direction to go."

Researchers have been studying expectant mothers. Specifically, they are looking into the viewing habits of mothers and the impact on the unborn baby.

The study was done because pregnant women, particularly in the uncomfortable stages, watch an unusually high number of situation comedies.

The study found that expectant mothers spend up to 70 percent of their time watching comedies in the latter weeks of pregnancy while non-pregnant women watch only 40 percent of the time.

Sitcoms are believed to improve the woman's mood and make them feel better. One researcher says the physical process of laughter makes one endure pain more easily.

To date, there is no evidence that a full diet of Sesame Street before birth is going to give junior a head start in kindergarten.

Now that jogging is fashionable, young mothers and fathers are finding a way to take the youngster with them. Now many tots are finding a carriage stroll anything but lesiurely.

Some babies, thanks to streamline baby strollers, find themselves dashing at high speeds while being pushed by jogging parents.

Somebody should file suit on behalf of the innocent babes. They might rather play soccer instead of going jogging.

Most folks approach life like a cafeteria—you pick out stuff and pay for it later down the line.

In Brief

Five are dead

CALERA, Okla. (AP) — Five people, including three children, died when the car in which they were riding was crushed by a Union Pacific freight train in southern Oklahoma, authorities said.

"It had hit the driver's side of the car. Everything was just crushed," said Nancy Utter, a reporter for television station KTEN in Sherman, Texas, who happened by the scene moments after the collision Tuesday about 8:30 p.m.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said the train had 80 cars and three engines.

Bryan County Sheriff B.J. Moore and Oklahoma Highway Patrol dispatcher Shaun Houghton said the car was dragged about one-quarter mile down the tracks after being hit at the railroad crossing on State Highway 70E, just off U.S. Highway 75.

Nine injured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine sailors were injured by smoke inhalation and one also suffered burns in a fire aboard the oiler USS Monongahela in the eastern Atlantic today, the Navy reported.

The fire, which broke out in one of the ship's two boilers, was extinguished, but the vessel is "dead in the water," said Navy spokesman Lt. Bruce Cole. The ship was reported 500 miles west of Gibraltar.

Man Getting the Runaround Searching for Runaway Wife

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My problem is different from any I have seen in your column. My boyfriend, "Sammy," and I have been living together for 4 1/2 years. We want very much to get married, but Sammy is married to another woman. I will call her Shirley.

Five years ago, Shirley left Sammy for another man, and Sammy has not been able to find her. He has written to her, but all his letters were returned, marked "No Forwarding Address." He has contacted all her friends and relatives, but nobody knows where she is.

We are getting so discouraged, we are ready to go ahead and get married anyway. Is there any way Sammy can get a legal divorce from Shirley so we can get married?

LOOKING FOR SHIRLEY IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR LOOKING: The laws vary from state to state. But in California, Sammy can obtain a legal divorce, even if he can't locate Shirley. He can make a public search by placing notices in the local newspapers, as well as in the surrounding communities where Shirley might be living. These notices should run from four to six weeks, giving Shirley — or anyone who may know of her whereabouts — ample time to see the notices.

If, at the end of that period, Shirley has not surfaced, Sammy should present proof of his futile efforts to the court. A summons and petition will be filed at that time, and the court will grant Sammy a dissolution of the marriage.

Every attorney who specializes in family law is aware of this procedure. Be sure to consult an attorney, and let him or her handle it.

DEAR ABBY: I have always wondered why the American bald eagle is called "bald." It appears to have as many feathers on its head as it has on the rest of its body.

Nobody I've asked seems to know the answer, so I thought I'd ask you because you seem to have an endless store of knowledge in your head.

BLOOMINGTON BIRD BRAIN

DEAR BIRD BRAIN: I cheated. I looked it up in the Marshall-Cavendish International Wildlife Encyclopedia and learned that the American bald eagle is not really bald. It gives the appearance of baldness because its head and neck feathers are snow-white, as contrasted to the dark brown plumage on the rest of its body.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle a heated argument some friends and I are having: How do you address mail, letters, sympathy cards, etc. to a recent widow? Is it Mrs. Jim Jones or Mrs. Mary Jones? Please settle this.

VERN GORDON

DEAR VERN GORDON: A widow is "Mrs. Jim Jones" until she dies or remarries. She would be "Mrs. Mary Jones" if she and Jim had been divorced.

Cop wounded in freeway shooting

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston police say they are planning a "very thorough investigation" into the shooting death of a woman who allegedly opened fire on three off-duty police officers and critically injured one early Tuesday.

The woman, 50-year-old Ida Lee Delaney, described by friends as a sweet woman, had twice been charged with assaulting a police officer and was convicted of the charge once, in 1971.

"She was a dear, loving person. She was nice. You couldn't ask for a better neighbor," Margaret Selders said of Ms. Delaney.

Officer Alex Gonzales, 25, was listed in critical but stable condition at Hermann Hospital late Tuesday with a gunshot wound to his abdomen, police spokesman Dan Turner said.

According to police, Gonzales and two other off-duty officers: A.R. Romero and R.C. Gonzales, were traveling north on Interstate 45 in south Houston about 5:30 a.m. Tuesday when a pickup truck cut in front of their car. Houston homicide Sgt. Jim Ramsey said the three officers, who were not in uniform, had just attended a party for another policeman at a lounge and were headed for a restaurant.

"They flashed their lights and honked their horn in an attempt, I suspect, to warn the driver that maybe that person was driving too fast. I don't know," police spokesman Al Baker said.

"The driver at that point produced a small caliber revolver and fired at least once and possibly two times in the direction of the officer's vehicle which was directly behind her pickup truck."

Ramsey said the officers chased the truck, but did not fire at it.

The woman stopped her truck on the shoulder of U.S. Highway 59 near The Houston Post, where she worked as a janitor. Gonzales stopped his car about 15 feet behind her vehicle, police said.

The three men got out of the car, identified themselves as police officers and a scuffle with the woman ensued, Baker said.

$51 million worth of cocaine found

KILLEEN, Texas (AP) — Military policemen from Fort Hood recovered $51 million in cocaine that floated ashore along the coast of the Virgin Islands while they were there on security duty following Hurricane Hugo, their commanding officer says.

Col. Peter D. Hoffman, 89th Military Police Brigade commander, said Tuesday that the MPs discovered the cocaine while on assignment to help keep the peace in the hurricane-ravaged Virgin Islands. Hoffman returned Monday night from a visit to the islands.

"They (the Fort Hood MPs) recovered bundles of cocaine from along the coast and on the beach. The FBI estimated the street value at $51 million," Hoffman said. "I'm very, very proud of what they have done."

Hoffman said he is not sure how long the Fort Hood MPs, from the 411th MP Company, 720th MP Battalion, will be assigned to the Virgin Islands.

"This is an open commitment. They will be there until they are no longer needed, but we anticipate bringing them back here fairly soon," Hoffman said.

Helpful interference

By James Jacoby

Pre-emptive interference bids crowd the opponents' auction. That's the good news. The bad news is that a pre-emptive overall may just provide those nasty opponents with an extra tool for bidding their cards to the hilt. Of course it's fine for East to jump to three diamonds, but look how North-South used that bid to their advantage.

After South bid three spades, what should North do? He has a comfortable raise to four spades, and more. First-round controls in hearts and clubs, a singleton diamond, and good support for a suit that South was able to bid freely at the three-level, add up to a slam-invitational hand. He figured how to send out his invitation — he cue-bid four diamonds. Although South had minimum values, he could picture the good fit between the two hands. He asked for aces and bid slam.

When the king of clubs was led, declarer had some slight worry that West might be void in diamonds. If that were the case, he was probably doomed to defeat. He won dummy's club ace, played A-K-Q of hearts, shedding a club and a diamond, and then led a diamond back to his ace. When West followed with the 10, South was able to ruff diamonds in dummy, knock out the ace of trumps and make his contract.

I don't suggest that East or West should stay out of the bidding — South might get to slam anyway — but it was ironic here that boldly getting in the way made it easy for North-South to bid the slam.

House votes to keep Lorenzo from buying more airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Air Corp. owner Frank Lorenzo would be barred from buying any more airlines under an amendment approved by the House.

Despite opposition from both Democratic and Republican sponsors of an airline takeover bill, the House voted 283-132 on Tuesday to add the anti-Lorenzo language to the bill.

The House was resuming debate with a final debate expected today. The legislation would give the Transportation secretary expanded power to stop airline buyouts or mergers before a transaction is completed. Current law allows for a review of safety, financial fitness and foreign ownership only after a sale is completed.

The amendment sponsored by Rep. Douglas Bosco, D-Calif., does not mention Lorenzo but prohibits purchase of an airline by anyone who has taken more than one airline into bankruptcy.

Lorenzo reorganized Continental Airlines under bankruptcy laws and earlier this year began similar action with strike-bound Eastern Airlines.

Bosco dubbed it the "two-time loser" amendment. Opponents labeled it the "don't let Frank Lorenzo take over another airline" amendment.

Weather curbs cotton crop in Texas

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The crop in the nation's premier cotton-producing region will drop as much as 60 percent from last year's bountiful harvest because of harsh weather, industry experts said Tuesday.

Raw cotton prices nationwide will increase about 25 percent over last year, but apparel prices should be relatively stable, authorities said. About one-fifth of the nation's cotton is grown on the High Plains, an area of 25 counties within 100 miles of Lubbock that was thrashed with early rains, hail, cool snaps at the wrong time and an early freeze.

As a result, the area's crop is expected to drop to 1.2 million bales this year from 3.2 million bales last year, Don Johnson of Plains Cotton Growers Association in Lubbock said.

"We had all kinds of weather problems from hail and rain and drought and wind," Johnson said. "We ended up with a little earlier-than-normal freeze, and cotton that was late and was coming on a little just stopped."

The Oct. 19 freeze that fell on the High Plains came about two weeks earlier than normal and killed the plants.

The freeze followed cool and rainy periods in August and September that slowed the growth of the cotton, which thrives in hot, dry weather.

Some farmers in the north part of the Plains replanted after early rains, while farmers on the South Plains endured an early drought. Hail in August damaged thousands of acres in Lamb, Bailey and Hale counties.

The problems on the High Plains have triggered an expected 45 percent drop in state production, to 2.9 million bales from 5.2 million bales in 1988, Texas Agriculture Department statistician Doug Spillman said.

The decrease in Texas follows two consecutive good harvests, Johnson said. This year's state crop is expected to be one of the smallest of the '80s.

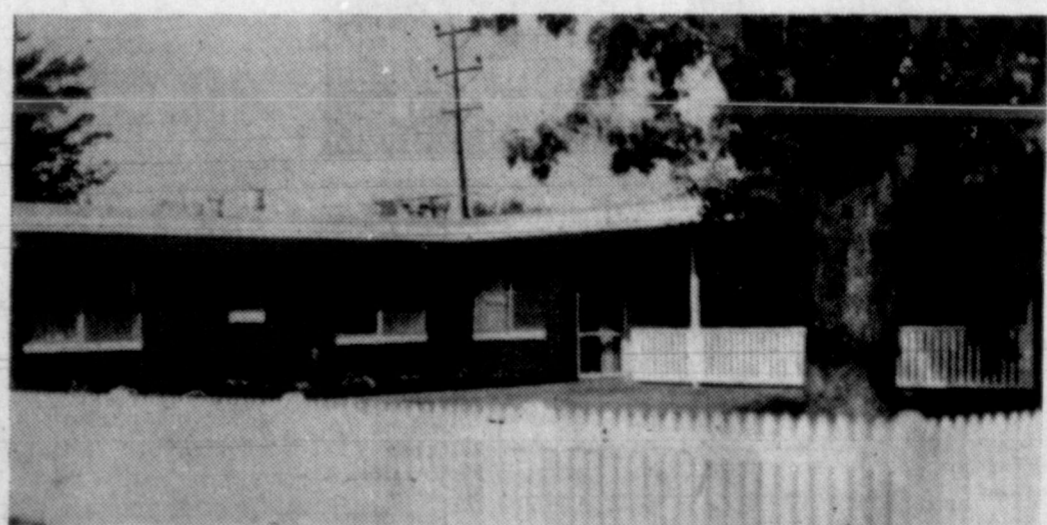

Final figures on this year's cotton crop aren't expected for about a month, he said. Harvesting has already started and will peak in about two weeks.

About one-third of the High Plains farmers operated in pockets where they were not damaged too badly by weather, Johnson said. Another third of the farmers lost most or all of their crops.

Total U.S. production is expected to drop 25 percent, to 11.3 million bales from 15.1 million bales last year, Spillman said.

"With the exception of primarily Arizona and California, there have been problems across the belt, from the Carolinas across Mississippi and Arkansas," Johnson said.

Coaches recognize outstanding Tigers

Snyder High School football coaches honored players with their weekly awards this week with the defensive unit grabbing the lion's share of recognition.

Mark King was given the award for the most tackles with 12½ against Sweetwater last Friday.

King was also cited for causing a fumble and he graded out at 92 percent according to head football coach David Baugh.

Terry Stevens, Randy Morris and Jody Iglehart each received awards for quarterback sacks in the Friday night tilt.

Stevens and Morris had one each while Iglehart trapped the Mustangs' signal caller twice.

Clint Haywood and Bart Morton caused fumbles as did King and Damien Haywood, Morton, Clint Haywood and Iglehart each recovered a fumble.

Quick guard Kevin Murdock was awarded a knockdown prize, the award given for taking down at least 12 enemy players by a lineman and seven for a back, for knocking 21 opposing defenders out of the play.

Chad Fox had 14 knockdowns, Greg Kiker and Clint Haywood had a dozen each and Jayson Presley had seven from his backfield position.

Special teams recognition goes to Bert Merritt, for kick-offs and extra points, and to Fox for outstanding blocking on kick-off returns.

Terry Stevens got an award for special teams play, as well, as he blocked a Robbie Smith field goal in the late stages of the Snyder-Sweetwater battle.

The entire defensive team is an award winner for the block of the field goal attempt.

Toby Goodwin wins this week's Great Fake Award with a fake that pulled at least four defenders to him and Willie Garcia claimed the Big Hit of the Week Award with a shot to a Mustang receiver that separated the ball from the pass catcher.

Twelve offensive players graded out at 80 percent or higher according to the SHS coaching staff. They are Murdock at 87 percent, Morton at 85 percent, Hayward Clay at 85 percent, Toby Goodwin at 93 percent, Paul Anderson at 87 percent and Shelby Bufkin at 100 percent.

Others on the Tigers' offensive unit making at least an 80 were Garcia with 100 percent, Dewayne Cato with 93 percent, Presley with 93 percent, Morris with 86 percent, Carlton Sanders with 88 percent and Terry Snyder with 100 percent.

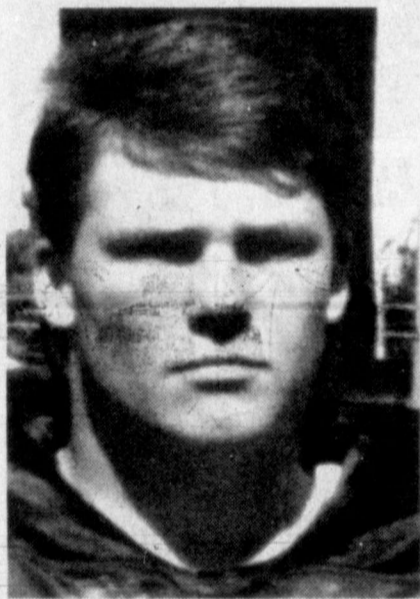

Defensive players making the grade were Merritt with 96 percent, Iglehart with 82 percent, Bill Hodges with 91 percent, Tommy Lane with 92 percent and Damien Haywood with 95 percent.

Also grading out from the defensive squad was Clint Haywood with 95 percent, Kiker with 88 percent, Garcia with 91 percent, Guynes with 96 percent, Kelly McGaha with 100 percent, Morton with 94 percent, Morris with 96 percent and Fox with 96 percent.

The awards are presented to the recognized players in a weekly social-motivational meeting.

Cubs' Zimmer gets NL manager award

CHICAGO (AP) — So what if the team from the Second City finished second-best? For once, Don Zimmer is in first place.

Zimmer, who led the Chicago Cubs to the National League East title before losing to San Francisco in five games in the playoffs, was a near-unanimous choice for NL Manager of the Year in voting announced Tuesday.

"I think it's a great thing to have the writers vote you the Manager of the Year," Zimmer said. "It's a great honor. It's never happened to me before."

He garnered all but one of the 24 first-place votes cast by a panel chosen by the Baseball Writers Association of America. The other first place vote went to San Francisco's Roger Craig, Zimmer's close friend and former teammate.

"You feel like you want to share it with everybody who played a part," Zimmer said, "the players who did the playing and Jim Frey, who hired me and got criticized for doing it. It just seemed like every move he made helped out the club."

"Jim Frey took a lot of criticism," Zimmer noted, saying that some people accused the general manager of hiring him out of friendship and not because he could do the job.

Zimmer did the job, leading the Cubs into postseason play for only the second time since World War II and nailing down his first division title in 11 seasons as a major-league manager.

It was vindication for Zimmer, who was run out of Boston for not leading the Red Sox to a division title in the late 1970s.

Boston blew a 1½-game lead in 1978 and eventually lost the AL East to New York in a playoff. The Red Sox were 411-304 during his 4½ seasons but Zimmer got very little credit. "We didn't win what you call the big one," Zimmer said of his Boston days. "I think this (the Cubs' season) was a lot more satisfying because we finished fourth last year."

There wasn't total satisfaction, though, and Zimmer was anything but content, particularly with the outcome of the pennant series with San Francisco.

"I was a dummy the last three games we played, a total dummy, but that's baseball," he said. "I didn't do anything different the last three games we played, except the decisions I made didn't turn out too good."

Zimmer got 118 points in the 5-3-1 voting and Craig, who received 17 second-place votes, got 62.

Dusters' season starts

WTC cagers to play in Levelland event

Western Texas College's Lady Dusters travel to Levelland to compete in the Lady Texans Classic Thursday through Saturday.

The Dusters, defending Western Junior College Athletic Conference co-champions, will play three contests in the course of the event, facing Western Oklahoma College at 6 p.m. Thursday, Panhandle State University JV at 4 p.m. Friday and Northern Oklahoma College at 5 p.m. Saturday.

"We really don't know anything about any of the teams we're playing," said women's cage coach Kelly Chadwick.

"We do know that Northern Oklahoma is supposed to have a good program, but beyond that we just don't know."

WTC comes into the contest untested as their season opener was put off until this event. The Dusters were to have played in the Highclassie Classic in Waco Oct. 25 but due to scheduling problems the Dusters were dropped from the list of entrants.

Coach Chadwick's 1988-89 squad finished with a 27-10 record, overall and had a final slate of 9-3 in conference play.

"It's a really good situation for us," says Chadwick.

"We're finally getting a chance to play. The girls have worked and worked through the drudgery of practice and now they have a chance to see how good or how bad they are."

WTC carries just three returning sophomores into the '89-'90 season.

Tri-captains Bobbie Brown, Valery Jackson and Tami Wilson will serve as experience on the Dusters during this campaign.

Jackson is out for the first few weeks of the schedule with a knee injury. The injury originally occurred in last year's Nationals and was aggravated in practice early this year, requiring arthroscopic surgery.

Questionable for Thursday's opening game will be Wilson who was treated Monday for abdominal pains, and freshman Carrie Heldt with an injured left leg.

Tracy Rome and Vicky Jones are sophomore transfer students expected to aid the Dusters attempt to return to the national tournament, where they ended last season ranked eighth in the country.

The Dusters' home opener will be Tuesday against Ranger Junior College.

Tip-off for that contest is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Troy starts working out

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Troy Aikman resumes workouts with the Dallas Cowboys today after being sidelined four weeks with a broken finger but his playing status for Sunday night's game against Washington won't be determined until the end of the week.

Aikman, the rookie quarterback from UCLA, fractured a finger on his left hand which made it impossible for him to take the snap from center. In his absence, another rookie, Steve Walsh, has been handling the winless Cowboys' offense.

Coach Jimmy Johnson won't decide until Friday if Aikman will start in place of Walsh, who had two interceptions in Sunday's 19-10 loss to the Phoenix Cardinals.

"Troy will practice and we'll evaluate his progress," Johnson said. "We need to see if he is 100 percent healthy and we want to see if he is 100 percent into the offense performance-wise."

"If not, then we don't believe it would be in his best interest to start against Washington. He hasn't practiced in some time and if he's not sharp then it wouldn't be in anybody's interest to throw him out there against the Redskins."

Bulldogs' JV defeats Rule

Ira's JV Bulldogs whipped Rule 16-8 Thursday as Mike Hughes ran six yards for a touchdown and Chris Haynes tossed a pair of completions to get into the end zone for the second time.

Hughes' TD and Haynes' extra-point run gave the 'Dogs a lead of 8-0.

Haynes threw a 40 yard strike to Larry Gunset to set up a TD pass to Travis Goswick on a bootleg pass.

The Haynes to Goswick connection clicked again on the same play to add the conversion and give Ira the win.

The IHS junior varsity is currently 3-1 on the year. They end their season next week with a trip to Jayton.

The Ira junior high Bulldogs also wind up their year next week as they host Loraine.

Ortega suspends cease-fire agreement with the Contras

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Daniel Ortega today ended his leftist Sandinista government's 19-month truce with the Contra rebels, blaming recent attacks by the guerrillas.

Ortega told a news conference that President Bush was in part responsible because he was "supporting terrorism in Nicaragua."

But suspending the truce, Ortega was inviting renewed U.S. military aid to the Contras.

Ortega startled a meeting of hemispheric heads of state in Costa Rica Friday by announcing he would not renew the cease-fire as the government has done monthly. He had since been softening his stance.

By going through with the threat, he could trigger international condemnation and loss of support of Western European friends, who in the past have defied U.S. pressure and aided Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

President Bush said Tuesday he would review U.S. policy toward Nicaragua if Ortega ends the cease-fire.

Asked if he would consider asking Congress to renew military aid to the Contras, Bush said, "I would re-evaluate this situation in a minute if the cease-fire is broken."

President Ortega, his defense and interior ministers, international observers of Nicaragua's electoral process and a U.S. Embassy official, traveled by helicopter Tuesday to the site of the latest reported attack by the rebels.

After returning from the site, a remote village 200 miles southeast of Managua, the top Sandinista officials met for four hours with their top military officers.

The Contras were forced to the negotiating table with the Sandinistas after Congress refused to renew weapons and ammunition supplies to the Contras in February 1988.

A month later, the Contras and Sandinistas signed a temporary cease-fire which the Sandinistas have renewed on a monthly basis. Talks to turn the agreement into a lasting peace broke down in September 1988.

About 11,000 Contras have since withdrawn to base camps in jungles across the border in Honduras.

At the San Jose summit, called to celebrate 100 years of Costa Rican democracy, Ortega said continued attacks by the 2,000 to 3,000 Contras who remain in Nicaragua were forcing him to break the truce.

More than 730 people have been killed and more than 1,000 wounded in Contra attacks since the truce was signed, he said.

Ortega was immediately condemned and world leaders expressed concern about his risking the painstaking peace process in Central America as well as Nicaragua's scheduled elections Feb. 25.

By Saturday, Ortega had wavered, telling reporters at the Managua airport he would think it over and announce a decision Tuesday.

On Monday he went further, asking the Rev. Jesse Jackson to try to persuade Congress to divert non-lethal aid to the Contras into funds for their demobilization.

But late Monday, a group of about 30 Contras attacked an eight-family farm cooperative near San Miguelito, a village on the southern shores of Lake Nicaragua, the Defense Ministry said.

Four people were killed and five wounded in the attack. One woman was kidnapped.

Infant rescued from river continues to cling to life

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — A month-old baby from Houston was breathing through a ventilator as doctors worked to keep her alive after she was pulled from a car that skidded into a river. Her mother and two grandparents died in the crash.

Samantha Venable's 19-year-old father, Gabriel Rivera, said his baby, who had been submerged 45 minutes in the frigid water, was a "real fighter who's going to make it."

Several of his relatives were at the hospital, touching and kissing the 9-pound infant who lay with life-supporting tubes stuck in her tiny limbs.

"We were going to get married in December," Rivera, of Kingwood, Texas, said about his baby's mother.

"Now it's just me and the baby."

I feel... no, I believe, she will survive."

Dr. Jim Piper said Tuesday the baby's "short-term and long-term outlooks are in grave doubt," but added that she was responding to treatment.

"She seems somewhat more stable, although no one could give you a good outlook now," he said.

Piper said it would be impossible to estimate whether the infant will suffer long-term brain damage or other problems.

The baby remained in critical condition in the intensive care nursery of St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Junction.

The accident occurred Sunday when the car in which the family was riding skidded off a snow-packed highway near Aspen and plunged 60 feet into the Roaring Fork River.

Doctors and fire crews rappelled down the gorge on Independence Pass to reach the car.

Dr. Steve Ayers, shivering in the water, pulled the baby from the car and said she had "no pulse, no respiration, was blue in color."

The baby's mother, Kay Venable, 19, of Kingwood, died four hours after being pulled from the water. Her parents, Omard Harrison, 64, and his wife, Marjorie, 61, of Houston, also died.

The family was vacationing in Colorado when their car slid off icy Independence Pass into a snow bank. They then hitched a ride with two Aspen teen-agers.

$4.25 an hour by April, 1991...

Minimum wage hike likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation raising the minimum wage to $4.25 an hour by April 1991 is on the fast track in Congress, following a compromise between the Bush administration and Democratic leaders that ends an eight-year stalemate.

The House planned to vote on the proposal today and Senate leaders promised action before Thanksgiving. Barring unforeseen problems, President Bush could sign the bill by then as well, triggering the first minimum wage increase in nine years on April 1, 1990.

The measure would create a new "subminimum wage" for teen-agers with little job experience, allowing them to be paid 85 percent of the minimum wage for their first three months in the work force. The lower rate could be extended for another three months if an employer showed that the youths were receiving specific skills training.

"This package offers the promise of better wages for the working men and women of this country and gives incentives to create new jobs for our young people," Bush said in a written statement that commended organized labor and congressional leaders.

"This is a victory for working men and women and I think long overdue," House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., said Tuesday after the deal was struck.

Amendment

Continued From Page 1 investment needs and that increases the return on local investments. The amendment and enabling legislation would allow political subdivisions to invest their bond proceeds in money market mutual funds that are liquid and nearly risk-free.

AGAINST: The proposed amendment allows for the possibility of the investment of political subdivision funds in investments that are too risky for public funds. The amendment would allow those subdivisions to take funds out of local banks and savings and loans and invest the funds in money market mutual funds. The withdrawal of those funds will reduce loan capital in an industry that is already suffering in Texas' depressed economic climate.

Both sides made significant concessions in an effort to avoid a repeat of Bush's veto of minimum wage legislation earlier this year, which was sustained by the House.

Democrats acknowledged giving ground but said it was necessary to guarantee a boost in the minimum wage, which has been frozen at $3.35 an hour since January 1981 in a stalemate that lasted throughout the Reagan administration. Democrats promised to reconsider the issue before the 1992 presidential and congressional elections.

AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland said organized labor would "welcome the long overdue agreement on the minimum wage" and urged Congress to pass it swiftly.

The compromise would boost the minimum wage to $3.80 on April 1 and provide the final 45-cent increase to $4.25 on April 1, 1991.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, said the minimum wage would already be $4.79 an hour if adjusted to account for inflation since 1981.

"That is the measure of how far we have failed the test of fairness to the working poor," Kennedy said. "Our only answer to them is that this is the best compromise we can get from an administration that wanted to give them even less."

The subminimum wage could be paid to any worker age 16 to 19 with less than three months total job experience. Once that threshold was met, the subminimum could be paid for up to an additional three months only when the employer had a training program subject to Labor Department approval.

Former child actor testifies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former child television star Todd Bridges broke into sobs at his attempted murder trial, saying he was suicidal and addicted to cocaine when an alleged drug dealer was shot.

The actor testified he couldn't remember shooting anyone, saying his first memory after the assault was of a friend rushing him out of the house.

"To be honest, I was going to try to get another hit (of cocaine)," the 24-year-old Bridges said.

For eight years, Bridges played actor Gary Coleman's older brother on the TV series "Diff'rent Strokes." On Tuesday, Bridges testified that when the situation comedy was canceled in 1986, he discovered his accountant had embezzled more than $1 million from him.

Fighting tears, he said: "It came to the point where I became very mentally unstable. ... The only thing I had left was to kill myself."

He is charged with attempted murder in the Feb. 2 shooting of Kenneth "Tex" Clay during a scuffle in a Los Angeles crack house.

Dr. Gott
Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 62-year-old male with rectal drainage originating from the anal canal. The skin. Hot soaks have released some fluid. Could this be a manifestation of rectal cancer?

DEAR READER: Any lump under the skin could, until proven otherwise, be cancerous. However, in your case, this possibility seems unlikely, because solid or cancerous lesions do not ordinarily release fluid. You appear to have an anal cyst that periodically drains because of infection.

You should see a doctor. Under the circumstances, a surgeon would be appropriate. You will feel more comfortable knowing that the cyst is benign and having it removed to prevent further nuisance.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Three years ago, I had two sections of flesh removed from the inside of my right cheek due to a malignant tumor. Four months after surgery, I broke out with lichen planus on my arms that settled in the incision in my mouth. My family doctor sent me to a specialist, who in turn sent me to an oral surgeon. They all agreed on a diagnosis, but not the cure.

DEAR READER: Lichen planus is a skin condition of unknown cause, marked by recurrent, itchy, inflamed areas that eventually coalesce into scaly patches. The skin lesions often develop at the sites of skin injury, such as scratches or surgical incisions. The mouth is involved in about 50 percent of patients.

Except for occasional ulcerated, painful patches, lichen planus is a harmless nuisance that causes embarrassment, because it is cosmetically unattractive. Oral skin lesions should be biopsied for diagnosis, since they can mimic leukoplakia, a premalignant affliction.

If the lichen planus produces no symptoms, it is not treated. Cortisone creams or injections into the lesions may reduce inflammation and aid healing. A topical anesthetic, such as lidocaine, will help painful mouth lesions. Unfortunately, despite treatment, lichen planus may recur after years.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Help I - Physical Illness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you tell me what cellulitis is, what causes it and the cure? Will it return?

DEAR READER: Cellulitis is a diffuse, spreading infection of tissues - usually the skin - without pus or abscesses. It is a common complication of strep infection, because the streptococcus bacteria manufacture substances that break down healthy tissue and allow the germs to spread beyond normal cellular boundaries.

For example, staph infection usually causes a boil: a swollen, red, inflamed area topped with a cap of pus. The infection is contained within a relatively small area because of tissue immunity. Imagine the boil being squashed under extreme pressure; the pus would disappear, the infection would spread and be forced into larger areas of tissue. This is cellulitis. Boils can be lanced and drained. Cellulitis usually cannot. Treatment consists of antibiotics. Like any other infection, cellulitis can recur.

Jail prisoner tries to escape

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A Bexar County Jail prisoner tried to leg his way out of jail, but his escape attempt failed, authorities say.

Bexar County Sheriff Harlon Copeland said Steven L. Messervy, 27, held on an attempted murder charge, used the metal brace from his wooden leg to dig through the wall of his sixth-floor cell.

The escape plan failed when the inmate ran into the brick outer wall, Copeland said.

"Yeah, he used a wooden leg," Copeland said. "He took the metal brace off his wooden leg and used it to remove a tile from the wall in his cell."

The sheriff said the man also used the brace to break a three-quarter inch steel reinforcing rod that ran through the brick. Only the brick outer wall remained between the inmate and freedom when the escape attempt was discovered, Copeland said.

Copeland ordered an investigation into the escape attempt. He said he was concerned that jailers found that Messervy had managed to accumulate 31 bed sheets, which were found hidden under his bed.

The sheriff said he wants to know how the inmate was able to hoard so many sheets without guards discovering the stash during routine cell inspections.

Messervy was being held in lieu of $160,000 bail while awaiting trial on a charge accusing him of firing shots at a San Antonio officer during a car chase last August, authorities said.

Texas Tech quartet to appear at WTC on Friday

Quadrige, a piano quartet comprised of four Texas Tech University music faculty members, will perform at 8:15 p.m. Friday at Western Texas College's Fine Arts Theatre. There is no admission charge.

The ensemble includes violinist James Barber, violist Susan Schoenfeld, violoncellist Arthur Follows, and pianist Steven Glaser.

Slated for performance are Mozart's "Quartet No. 1 in G Minor," Robert Palmer's 1947 "Quartet," and Robert

Schumann's "Quartet in E Flat Major, Op. 47."

Mozart completed his Quartet on Oct. 16, 1785, with the tonal center signifying a sombre mood like that of many of his other works in G Minor. Its publication meant a great deal financially to the impoverished Mozart, who begged his publisher Hoffmeister to advance him two ducats (about $4.60) "to help (him) out with some money."

The work was met with naive yet enthusiastic acclaim from 18th century concert-goers, who did not entirely understand the Quartet from a musical standpoint but were anxious to applaud practically anything produced by the composer of such Viennese successes as "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Don Giovanni."

Robert Palmer, born in Syracuse, N.Y., in 1915, studied piano at the Eastman School in Rochester on a scholarship, but eventually shifted his focus to composition, studying with Bernard Rogers, Roy Harris, Aaron Copland, and Quincy Porter. His first piano Quartet from 1947 perhaps shows Palmer's distinctive style that echoes not only that of his teachers, but also the writing of Milhaud, Hindemith, and Bartok.

Robert Schumann, swept along by the wave of creativity that engulfed him after his long-awaited marriage to Clara Wieck, composed the piano quartet of "Opus 47" in a scant month's time. The works from this period in the composer's life have proven to be among his greatest; here Schumann is at the height of original idea and romantic expression.

Ancient Maya culture flourished while Europe languished in the Dark Ages, survived six times as long as the Roman Empire, and encompassed more cities than existed in all of ancient Egypt, says National Geographic.
