Hobby asks for state income tax

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers owe it to future generations of Texans to consider establishment of a state income tax, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said in touting the politically unpopular levy as the answer to school finance problems.

"If the idea of an income tax is not put fairly and accurately into the debate of this state's future, we are letting our children and grandchildren down," Hobby told the Texas Association of Taxpayers on Thursday.

"It would, I suggest to you, be a considerable improvement for the education system, the business community and the tax system of this state," he said.

An income tax would address a Texas Supreme Court ruling that the current school finance system, with its funding inequities among school districts, is unconstitutional, Hobby said. The school funding system relies on a combination of local property taxes and state money.

Legislators face a May 1 deadline to come up with a solution for the funding inequities among school districts.

"A personal income tax of 4 percent on a broad measure of income, even with generous exemptions and deductions, would raise enough money to replace every dollar of school property taxes, and add almost another $1 billion per year to fund education," he said.

A state income tax should be coupled with relief from other taxes that unfairly burden the poor and discourage business investment, Hobby said.

"If I'm the father of the Texas income tax, can I also be the guy who abolished the franchise tax, lowered property taxes and lowered the sales tax?" he asked after his speech to the business-based association.

Hobby, a Democrat who is not seeking election after heading the state Senate since 1973, acknowledged that the proposed levy is a political hot potato in Texas, which has neither a personal nor corporate income tax.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Kent Hance launched his campaign for the 1990 GOP nomination by pledging to prohibit an income tax. Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Jim Mattox is pushing a lottery for school funding, calling it the only alternative to an income tax.

"Most statewide candidates will be forced to oppose it," Hobby said, but he called current taxes less fair.

The property tax hits poor taxpayers harder than the wealthy, and it has been an unreliable funding source as property values have fallen this decade, he said.

Lombardo draws area seniors

Guy Lombardo's band will be in town Monday night, and the chamber of commerce learned that approximately 35 people from area senior citizens centers will be among those who attend the event at the Scurry County Coliseum.

The Tourism and Retirement Committee of the chamber of commerce sent out package invitations which included museum tours, a meal, a shopping spree, and the ballroom dance with entertainment by Guy Lombardo's Band. Groups from Kent County, Colorado City and Midland were among those who indicated they plan to attend. They will meet at the Dodson House between 3 and 4 p.m. Monday.

The performance by Guy Lombardo's Band is the third program this season in the Snyder Pops series which brings cultural entertainment to Scurry County.

Tickets for the Guy Lombardo performance are $10 and may be purchased at the coliseum door. Senior citizen and student's tickets are $5.

Committee member Gay Hickman reported that Phase II of Golden Terrace will be completed around Thanksgiving, while members Blanche Chisum and Rod Waller discussed forming a committee to attract high school football playoff teams to Snyder.

Members were informed that the billboard advertising Cogdell

Memorial Hospital is in place on Highway 84.

Jack Denman stressed the idea of Snyder as a retirement community. "Every one of us should be an ambassador of Snyder," he said, praising the senior center as a place of "love, affection and comradery."

Shirley Leftwich, director of Scurry County Museum located on the campus of Western Texas College, was assigned to find out the status of the Diamond M Museum, a project that has been at a standstill since the county commissioners decided not to purchase a building to house the museum.

Proposed Amendment No. 21

Below completes the series outlining the 21 proposed constitutional amendments which will be offered for voter ratification on the Nov. 7, 1989, general election ballot.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 74: proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds as college savings bonds by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board to provide educational loans to students and to encourage the public to save for a college education.

Additional Information The proposed amendment would permit the legislature to authorize the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor to provide for, issue and sell general obligation bonds in an amount not to exceed $75 million in addition to bonds issued under other sections of Article III. These college savings bonds would be zero coupon bonds or a similar type bond that will encourage the purchaser to hold the bond until maturity. Bonds would be issued in small denominations at a price that would make them attractive for the purpose of using them (see AMENDMENT, page 8)

Chamber committee hears from statewide promoters

The Economic Development Committee of the chamber of commerce met Thursday morning to hear from Tony Rogers of the Texas Department of Commerce and Gary Kennedy of the economic development department of TU Electric.

Committee member Jack Smartt, and Chamber Manager Bill Moss, gave them a tour of the city.

The two men gave committee members brief descriptions of their jobs, which are essentially to promote Texas. Kennedy is involved with communities where TU service is provided while Rogers promotes the entire state, a region at a time.

When companies are interested in locating to Texas, it is the job of each man to educate the prospect about the different regions in Texas, and provide them with information about regions in which they are interested.

TU Electric sends videotapes featuring Governor Bill Clements and former San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros to interested companies. TU also does a great deal of magazine advertising, often in Fortune magazine.

Both men commended Snyder on securing the 1,000 bed Price

Daniel Unit of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

They pointed out that they cannot direct every company interested in moving to Texas to Snyder, but they can provide information on the city once a company is interested in West Texas and Snyder meets their criteria.

Rogers said that about 80 percent of the companies wishing to move to Texas look for an existing building. He said if Snyder has the money to build one, it could pay off, but added that some towns build new buildings to try to attract industry and they remain vacant for up to 10 years.

Q—If I have already paid my taxes, what will happen if the county roll-back election passes? Will I get a refund?

A—Yes. If the tax rate is rolled back, you will receive a refund amounting to the difference from the county.

Icy weather could pose threat to LP-gas users

AUSTIN—With the arrival of winter heating season, Texas homeowners who fuel furnaces and appliances with liquified petroleum gas should double-check to make sure the regulator on their LP-gas tank is properly installed and protected from snow and ice, say safety officials of the Railroad Commission's Liquified Petroleum Gas Division.

If the regulator vent ices over, high pressure gas can be released directly to home appliances. A normal 3/4-inch blue flame on an appliance could suddenly shoot up, becoming a dangerous torch. Over the past few winters, several homes and business fires have been caused by such regulator freeze-ups, officials say.

Regulators on many home tanks are located under a protective metal dome on the top of the tank, shielding them from weather and insects. Homeowners with tanks where the circular regulator has been installed outside the dome cover should check to make sure that the regulator vent is pointing down toward the ground, away from the weather.

If homeowners are concerned about whether or not their regulator is properly installed, they should contact the local LP-gas dealer that fills or services the tank.

LP-gas, more commonly known as propane or butane, is used as a residential and commercial fuel in areas where natural gas utility service is not available.

American nun said missing in Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — An American nun who disappeared from a retreat house after receiving a series of threatening letters was probably kidnapped, the city's Roman Catholic archbishop said.

Archbishop Prospero Penados del Barrio said in an interview late Thursday that Sister Diana Ortiz, 31, of the Ursuline order had gone into the garden of the Belene Sisters Retreat House, a former convent in the town of Antigua, on Thursday and "she did not return at lunch time."

The archbishop said the nun probably had been watched and then was kidnapped from the courtyard without anyone noticing. She had been attending classes at the house, he said.

Since mid-July, Guatemala has been suffering from a resurgence of the assassinations, disappearances and other violence that claimed tens of thousands of lives in the late 1970s and early 1980s. A leading Christian Democratic politician, a prominent banker and students have been among its victims.

The extreme right, with traditional links to the military, is being blamed by some observers for most of the violence.

Ortiz had been threatened several times while teaching kindergarten for more than a year in San Miguel Acatan, in Huehuetenango province, 225 miles northwest of Guatemala City, the archbishop said.

A native of Grants, N.M., she had taught school in Owensboro and Hawesville, Ky., before going to Guatemala two years ago.

National police in Antigua, 28 miles west of Guatemala City, would not comment on the case.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've had a chronic sore throat for 2 1/2 years. A specialist recommended having my vocal cords stripped. Another specialist discouraged this kind of surgery. I live breathing through a nebulizer and coughing drops day and night. What can be the cause, and what can be done?

DEAR READER: The cause of chronic pharyngitis (sore throat) can be a problem to diagnose. It can be caused by virus infection, allergies and air pollution. For example, chronic mononucleosis is characterized by throat redness and swollen glands in the neck, with or without tonsillitis; it is diagnosed by a blood test.

Postnasal drip from allergies, such as allergic rhinitis, can cause long-standing throat irritation, because the tissues of the throat are inflamed by the constant drainage. Cigarette smoke and other air pollutants, such as smog, also cause chronic sore throat.

I agree with your second doctor that a vocal-cord operation would not solve your problem. I think you should see an otolaryngologist, a specialist in disorders of the ears, nose and throat. After a careful examination and testing, such a doctor should be able to discover the cause of your symptoms and suggest treatment. In the meantime, if you smoke tobacco or any other drug, stop.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Help I - Physical Illness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there any potential harm in taking niacin 500 milligrams with each meal, as I have done since last September? My cholesterol dropped from 278 to 223. Because of this success, I'm willing to endure the discomfort of itching, yet I have concern regarding the effect niacin might have on my cancer-prone skin.

DEAR READER: I am not aware of any harm in taking 1,500 milligrams of niacin to lower cholesterol, in doses of 500 milligrams with each meal. Niacin will not predispose you to developing skin cancers. Rarely, patients may experience low-grade liver inflammation from niacin; this can be diagnosed by a routine blood test and disappears when the dose is reduced or adjusted. Flushing and itching are the major side effects of niacin therapy. These symptoms can usually be relieved if you take an aspirin tablet before each dose of niacin.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 62 years old and underwent surgery for a hydrocele. Can you tell me what this is, what causes it and the best treatment? I had a similar problem two years ago, which the doctor drained, and wonder why it returned.

DEAR READER: A hydrocele is a benign cyst, containing fluid, next to a testicle. It occurs from an excessive accumulation of lymph fluid beneath the testicular covering and does not require therapy, unless it enlarges and causes discomfort.

Treatment consists of surgical excision; the fluid and the tissue around it are removed. In the past, doctors chose simply to drain the cyst and leave the covering. This was not a satisfactory solution, as the fluid re-accumulated with time. Complete surgical excision is the preferred treatment, because it is permanent.

TV entertainer said front runner

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A popular television entertainer who jumped into the presidential race just two days ago has quickly emerged as front-runner with nearly 30 percent of the vote, according to a new poll.

Silvio Santos, a conservative, declared himself a candidate for the Nov. 15 election on the ticket of the small Brazilian Municipalist Party. He is a former street vendor who has strong support among the poor, even though he is now a millionaire businessman.

A poll by the Gallup Institute, which was published Thursday by the newspaper O Estado de Sao Paulo, gave Santos 29 percent of the vote, a wide lead.

The newspaper said support for center-right candidate Fernando Collor de Mello, who had led the polls for six months, had plunged from 29.3 percent to 18.6 percent among those questioned.

Let Your Voice Be Heard... Vote YES on Proposition #4

In Texas, we like to believe that we can do anything, including making our state the very best it can be! That's why veterans organizations quickly expanded their scope to include local fund-raising activities that benefit Little League Baseball, Cancer Research, Boys' State, Girls' State, T-ball, Youth Summer Camps plus assistance to disaster victims, aid to the homeless and many more programs...

However, these programs are threatened because veterans are treated unequally throughout the state when it comes to property taxes. Veterans groups already pay millions of dollars in taxes, why make them pay more? Bob Bullock, Texas' State Comptroller, testified recently "we've looked at the impact of this change and found it would have very little impact locally...rather, it will help the local community by providing additional revenue to take care of the needy..." Voting YES allows veterans to continue their support of local causes and charities.

So Support your Veterans by Voting YES on Proposition #4 on November 7.

The Westchester Cat Show didn't want to admit Cornelius, a miniature Oriental pig, to the Nov. 10 show. But Pat and Andy Stevenson, whose hairless cat Alienne qualified for the competition, raised a stink.

The case was referred to the International Cat Association, which gave the nod to the pig.

Cornelius, who is 4 months old, and Alienne, just under a year, eat together, sleep together and play together, and the Stevensons said they feared the kitten would be scared and lonely without Cornelius in her corner.

The International Cat Association ruled that Cornelius and Alienne could be kept together in a special area before the judging. But when Alienne goes to strut her stuff, Cornelius must remain in the wings, so the other cats don't become agitated, the group ruled.

Washington, D.C. — Congressional investigators and relatives of people killed in the Pan Am Flight 103 bombing are going to West Germany to look into new allegations of prior warnings that terrorists targeted the flight for attack.

Mission Texas is a five-year Texas Baptist emphasis on missions, evangelism and discipleship that was launched in 1985.

Probe continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators and relatives of people killed in the Pan Am Flight 103 bombing are going to West Germany to look into new allegations of prior warnings that terrorists targeted the flight for attack.

A presidential commission also will look into the charges made in court documents by Pan American World Airways, said Sens. Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J., and Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., both members of the commission on aviation security.

Rep. Cardiss Collins, D-Ill., at a news conference Thursday with the senators and victims' relatives, said members of her staff will travel to Bonn and Frankfurt with relatives of some of the 270 people killed in the Dec. 21 terrorist bombing over Lockerbie, Scotland.

Dakotas celebrate 100th birthday

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — The Dakotas celebrated their 100th birthdays with vows to make the first years of the second century bright ones despite declining economic fortunes in recent years.

About 6,000 second-graders scheduled to graduate in the year 2000 packed the Bismarck Civic Center on Thursday and counted down to 3:40 p.m., the time on Nov. 2, 1889, when North Dakota and South Dakota were admitted to the union.

Hundreds of balloons floated from the ceiling and a 28-square-foot cake glowed with 100 sparklers as the arena erupted into a boisterous "Happy Birthday."

should ruff the spade and play jack of clubs, but rise with the ace when East puts on the nine. Now come A-K of hearts and a heart ruff, and then another club. West will be on lead with the club king. Rather than giving declarer a ruff and a sluff by leading a major-suit card, West will be forced to lead diamonds. Declarer then assumes that the diamond honors are split between the two hands, and plays accordingly.

Along these lines, another play would work. After the king of clubs does not drop under the ace, let declarer play two rounds of diamonds as well as A-K of hearts and a heart ruff. Now West is put on lead with the club king and has no diamond left. So he must give declarer a sluff and a ruff to allow the contract to make.

Armenians protest Soviet policies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hundreds of Armenians protesting Soviet policies in their homeland blocked the entrance to an auditorium and delayed a performance by the Red Army Choir on its first tour of the United States.

Police said 500 to 1,000 protesters blocked the entrance to the Shrine Auditorium and streets surrounding the hall shortly after 6 p.m. Thursday. Some chained themselves to the doors.

Shouting matches between protesters and ticketholders flared at times, but there were no reports of violence or injuries, police Officer Jim Farris said, and no arrests were reported.

The show, set to start at 8 p.m., went on before a reduced audience late Thursday night, KNBC-TV reported.

"We're trying to bring to public attention that the Red Army, instead of protecting its citizens, is firing on people," said Berdj Karapetian, a spokesman for the Armenia National Committee.

In 1984, a gunman opened fire inside a fast food restaurant in San Ysidro, Calif., killing 21 people before he himself was shot dead by police.

Responder North bid diamonds and hearts, both forcing bids, and then supported clubs at the three-level. That was a game-forcing sequence, and a series of cue-bids now ensued. South showed the king of diamonds, North the A-K of hearts, South the spade ace, and North second-round spade control. That was enough for South. Despite the lead-directing double by East, he bid six clubs.

After the spade lead to South's ace, there were choices in the play. Declarer ruffed a spade and played the jack of clubs from dummy, letting it ride. West won the king and exited with a club. There was no way to avoid the loss of a diamond trick, so the contract was down one.

Declarer can do better by playing West for a singleton king of clubs. If it turns out that West has the king doubleton, he can be endplayed. South

Tigers to Battle PHS

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder's Tigers lost a heart-breaking football game last Friday with no time on the clock.

Sweetwater's Robbie Smith stepped in front of an errant Toby Goodwin pass and pounded his way into the Tigers' end zone to snatch an 18-13 last-second win.

This week's contest with Pecos should allow some type of frustration release after the loss to the Mustangs, if for no other reason than just getting back on the football field.

The Tigers start the home stretch of their 1989 football campaign with the road game to Pecos tonight at 8 p.m.

The Tigers have never beaten the Eagles and are anxious to change that trend.

Snyder coach David Baugh capsules the Pecos offense by saying, "They are a passing team. Their quarterback, Medanich, is a pretty accurate passer and (Dani) Talamentez is leading the league in receiving."

Talamentez has amassed 519 yards on 25 receptions this season to top District 4-4A pass catchers thus far.

Medanich has thrown for 710 yards and seven touchdowns on the year but has been touched for 10 interceptions.

"The key match-up for the game will be Talamentez and whoever covers him on a given play," said Baugh.

Defensive co-ordinator Jack Dorsett explained the strategy behind covering the offensive threat.

"We're going to try to bump him hard at the line of scrimmage and just stay in his face the whole game."

The coaches report that they won't adjust their defensive alignment according to where Talamentez lines up.

"They aren't a very good rushing team," Baugh reported.

"Their line isn't very good and we think that is why they pass so much of the time."

The Eagles' defense is a basic five set, sometimes going to a "double-eagle" formation in which the defensive tackles move over the guards and the linebackers move outside to protect against pitch-outs and sweeps.

"They will also stack their safeties behind the backlogs to add a little pressure," said Baugh.

Defensively, Pecos is allowing almost 300 yards per game. They have given up almost 1600 yards of rushing offense in seven games en route to their current 3-4 season record.

"Their main defensive weakness is their lack of technique," Baugh reported.

"That's why they move around so much on defense, to cover the fact that they're just not strong in that area."

On the offensive side of the ball the Eagles are averaging just 223 yards each game. Last week against Big Spring Pecos gained just 93 yards. Almost half of their total offensive output came on one pass play in which the Eagles picked up 44 yards.

Pecos notched only four first downs and had a measly 12 yards rushing a week ago.

Snyder was paced on the offensive side of the ball by Dewayne Cato who gained 71 yards on 15 carries against Sweetwater last Friday.

Quarterback Toby Goodwin was five of 10 passing for 46 yards and a touchdown.

Tailback Paul Anderson was limited to 18 yards on six toiles against the Mustangs but is still in seventh position among District 4-4A rushers with 381 yards on the season, including three straight 100-yard efforts.

Flanker Jayson Presley leads the team in receiving with 13 catches for 197 yards. He has caught three scoring passes in 1989 including a five-yard touchdown in the Sweetwater game.

The Snyder defense is ranked

NBA begins '89 season with full slate of opening day tilts; Lakers at Dallas

By The Associated Press

Larry Bird's season as a cheerleader is over. His return as one of the NBA's top players begins tonight.

The Boston Celtics, who didn't clinch the last spot in the playoffs until the final game of the season, were 7-1 in exhibitions as Bird returned after missing all but six games in 1988-89 because of foot and back injuries. Bird struggled, however, leaving question marks about his future as the team prepared for the season opener against Milwaukee.

"I haven't played as much as I'd like," Bird said. "I get going and I come out of the game and I get going again and I come out. I've struggled a lot more in this preseason than I have in any previous season I can remember."

"I'm not getting the minutes I used to get. So it's something I have to adjust to."

The Celtics, who have won their last 10 home openers, meet a Milwaukee team top-heavy with backcourt strength and problems up front. Forward Terry Cummings was traded to San Antonio and forwards Greg Anderson and Larry Krystkowiak are injured, but the Bucks have guards Alvin Robertson, Rickey Pierce and Jay Humphries, while Paul Pressey moves from guard to forward.

Other season openers tonight include New York at Detroit, Washington at Charlotte, New Jersey at Miami, the Los Angeles Lakers at Dallas, Indiana at Atlanta, Cleveland at Chicago, Denver at Utah, Minnesota at Seattle, Golden State at Phoenix, Houston at the Los Angeles Clippers and Sacramento at Portland.

Bird, who practices as diligently as anyone, could be hurt more from loss of timing than the average player.

"Things flash through my mind that I think's going to happen, and they don't happen," Bird said. "I always said basketball's a reaction game. If I start thinking about how a guy's going to play me, or what they're supposed to do, and they don't do it, it really screws me up. I'm a reaction player."

The Bucks were a surprise last season, winning 49 games in the NBA's toughest division.

The loss of Cummings, who was traded to San Antonio in exchange for Robertson and Anderson, could be the hardest to overcome. Cummings averaged nearly 23 points per game.

"I think it has to come from a team concept where there are two points here, three points there and I believe we'll find a way to get the 110 points we're going to score," Harris said. "We've got a little more speed and quickness and we'll play around the rim a little more frequently than the past teams have."

Atlanta won 52 games last season before being eliminated in the first round by the Bucks, whom Atlanta had beaten six straight during the regular season.

The disappointing loss caused some players to vent their frustration against Coach Mike Fratello, who now refuses to discuss last season.

"Last year is behind us," Fratello said. "Let's deal with this year. What do we accomplish by dealing with last year?"

"We have this year's team. This is what we're getting ready for - Friday night - not last year. Last year is over with," he said.

Controversy already is dogging the Hawks.

Kevin Willis, who missed last season with a broken foot after starting at forward the previous year, blasted Fratello for naming Jon Koncak as a starter ahead of Willis. Koncak, averaging 6.2 points for his career, signed a six-year, $13.2 million contract during the offseason.

Eastland forfeits loop games as UIL penalty

EASTLAND, Texas (AP) - The Eastland Mavericks, unbeaten and ranked fourth in The Associated Press poll of Class 2A football teams, have had to forfeit four games because they used an ineligible player.

The Mavericks were 8-0 this season and 3-0 in District 8-2A before the forfeits. The forfeits mathematically eliminate them from the playoffs.

De Leon Superintendent Dwain Bills, chairman of the district executive committee said Thursday the student dropped out of Eastland High School last spring to join the Army.

The student, a backup lineman who was not named, earned his general equivalency diploma (GED) last June, but was told he needed to be a high school graduate to join the Army. So he returned to school to get his diploma and went out for football.

"He'd had a lot of problems in the past, so we thought we were doing him a favor letting him play football," Eastland coach Ron Sanderson said.

He was ineligible for the first six weeks because he had missed the previous semester of school.

"We called the UIL to make sure on his eligibility because he sat out last semester," Sanderson said. "After the first six weeks, we called again and double checked."

But they didn't ask if he had a GED. Under University Interscholastic League rules, a player who has any kind of diploma or who has graduated from any institution is ruled ineligible.

"The Army tells him you can't get in unless you're a high school graduate, and you can't get into a major college unless you're a high school graduate," Sanderson said.

"So here's these people saying he's not a high school graduate, and now the UIL is telling him he is a high school graduate."

The committee announced the forfeits following a meeting Thursday.

"It was a very hard decision," Bills said. "We're all friends, and we live close to each other out here. Eastland has the best ball club in the district and probably in West Texas."

"It doesn't seem fair. It wasn't something they knowingly did," Bills said. "It could happen to any of us. We never ask a kid, 'Have you taken a GED?'"

Sanderson said it is possible that Eastland may file suit against the UIL, the governing body for high school competition.

"We have lawyers working on the case," he said.

second behind the Mustangs of Sweetwater after seven games.

The Black and Gold defenders average just 212 yards allowed each contest.

They are third in points allowed with 109, second in first downs allowed with 76 and have claimed 16 turnovers, 14 fumbles and a pair of interceptions, on the season.

Snyder forced four fumbles and a pass interception last week in their loss.

Snyder's record for the 1989 grid campaign is 2-5 overall and 2-2 in loop play.

Snyder linebacker Tommy Lane is listed as doubtful for the contest with Pecos. He injured his ankle late in the game against Sweetwater last Friday and has not worked out with the team at all this week.

Richard Hernandez has been brought up from the junior varsity to take Lane's roster spot.

Tigers' defensive lineman Jody Iglehart has been out of practice since Tuesday with a back problem but is listed as probable according to SHS coaches.

The game be broadcast on a tape delay basis Saturday on Snyder Cablevision Channel 2 at 7:30 p.m.

House speaker says...

Voters will reject pay hike

AUSTIN (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment that would raise Texas lawmakers' annual salary to about $23,000 will be doing well to get 40 percent of the vote on election day, said House Speaker Gib Lewis.

"I think it's dead," Lewis said after a Thursday speech to the Texas Association of Taxpayers.

Proposition 1 on Tuesday's ballot, which would raise lawmakers' annual pay from $7,200 by linking it to the governor's salary, didn't receive enough backing from the news media to pass muster with voters, Lewis argued.

"I'm not blaming the media. I'm just saying it did not receive the support from the media that it would have taken to pass a pay raise," he said.

Nineteen House members have indicated they will leave the Legislature, a higher-than-usual number, Lewis said.

"If you want to know why we're losing good people, I'll tell you why. We just can't afford to keep them in state government," he said.

One consumer group, Public Citizen of Texas, has advocated tying a pay raise to ethics reform, after news reports detailed large lobbyist expenditures on lawmakers and legislators' use of contributions for personal expenses.

"I'll assure you, there's no one being overpaid. There's no one that has received any fringe benefits that would compensate for the time that they take away from their jobs and from their families, and from their businesses," Lewis said.

If Proposition 1 dies, that shouldn't be the end of efforts to raise lawmakers' pay, he said.

"I'd certainly like to propose that we try it again. I think it (the salary level) is having a drastic impact on legislators. I think you're all witnessing that right now," he said. "Look at the quality of people who are leaving."

Among lawmakers who have announced their retirement are Reps. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen; Mike McKinney, D-Centerville; and Juan Hinojosa, D-McAllen; and Sens. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan; and Bob McFarland, R-Arlington.

Nix's Auto & Tire Service, formerly Central Tire, now open for business

Central Tire & Automotive Service at 1510 25th St. has been purchased by Jimmy and Patricia Nix and re-named Nix's Auto & Tire Service, with the addition of the extensive mechanic's services that the Nixes had been providing at Nix's Auto at 1892 College Ave.

The company, with 12 employees including certified master mechanics Jimmy Nix and Barrie Bowlin, will still be offering a complete line of automotive, truck- and tractor tires — Bridgestone, Michelin, Monarch and Mohawk for cars and pickups and Kelly, General and Armstrong for tractors.

The size of the business is actually being doubled with the addition now of nationally guaranteed automatic transmission repairs and foreign and domestic engine overhauls, tune-ups and other mechanic's services.

Jimmy Nix worked at Central for seven years and then opened Nix's Auto on College eight years ago.

Nix's Auto & Tire Service is a member of the Texas Independent Automotive Association and Automatic Transmission Rebuilders Association.

Besides Bowlin and the Nixes, the staff includes mechanics Robert Joplin, Larry House and David Calvert, salesman Stanley Baize, tiremen Tomas Hernandez, Joe Pena and Ruben Pesina and part-time staff members Billy Nix and Terry Graft.

The company will continue to offer wheel alignments and balancing, muffler installations and flat-fixing.

as savings to finance the costs of a college education.

FOR: Costs of a college education are expected to increase dramatically and federal financial aid to students is likely to decrease, so it is imperative that the state establish and support programs designed to assist students in paying for an education and to encourage the public to save for a college education. The economic development of the state is enhanced by a well-educated citizenry.

AGAINST: Authorizing the issuance of more general obligation bonds for college student loans will only further strain the credit of the state and is not the best alternative for assisting the public in financing a college education.

Fire destroys pickup truck

A Littlefield man's pickup truck was destroyed in a Thursday afternoon fire 13 miles north of Snyder on U.S. 84.

The fire in the 1984 Chevrolet owned by Cody Douglas was reported at 3:15 p.m., and firemen returned to the station at 5 p.m., saying the vehicle was "totaled" with heavy fire damages in the engine compartment and cab.

"He told us he was driving down the road and thought he smelled something, and it was on fire," a department spokesman said, adding that the cause was not known.

3 reporters killed

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Two bombs exploded in the capital, killing three people, including a child, and injuring five, a national radio chain reported early today.

The new violence erupted late Thursday, the same day judges and court workers began a series of nationwide strikes demanding more protection. The strikes were a response to the murders a day earlier of a judge and a congressman, apparently by drug traffickers.

Insults From Father-In-Law Weigh on Woman's Nerves

By Abigail Van Buren

1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEARABBY: My father-in-law is my problem. I have been 15 to 20 pounds overweight most of my life and am self-conscious about it. Whenever I am around my father-in-law, he comments on how much and what I eat, and calls me insulting names such as "Fats," "Hippo," etc.

At first I just let it pass, but after a while it got on my nerves, so I told him how much this hurt me and asked him to please stop. He said, "Well, you'll just have to get used to it."

My attitude toward my father-in-law is at the point now where I can no longer tolerate his insulting behavior, and I don't enjoy being in his company.

My husband is an only child and family ties are important to him. We have one child and are expecting another. I'd ask my husband to speak to his father about this, but I'm afraid my father-in-law would resent my coming between him and his son.

What's your advice, Abby? I honestly don't know how to handle this.
HAD ENOUGH

DEAR HAD ENOUGH: Obviously, you are either unable or unwilling to stand up for yourself, so I suggest you deliver the following message to your husband:

"I have asked your father to please stop his insulting comments about my weight, and he told me that I would just have to get used to it. Well, I'm not willing to 'get used to it,' so I am asking you to please tell your father how I feel because I have had enough, and no longer enjoy being in his company."

I hope your husband is man enough to speak to his father in your defense.

DEARABBY: I need to know how much I'm worth. My husband and I differ about the value of a housewife/mother. We have two teen-agers (our son is 17 and our daughter is 15). I do all the marketing, cooking, cleaning, laundry, yard work and chauffeuring our daughter. (Our son has had his own car for nearly a year.)

My husband has a great job that nets him $70,000 a year, but he wants me to go back to working a full-time job outside the home.

When I did work outside the home, I was totally stressed out trying to hold down an office job — then coming home to all the domestic chores. I was an emotional wreck.

My husband works hard all day, then he comes home to do absolutely nothing. He fixes himself a drink, sits in an easy chair and reads the paper while I prepare dinner. Don't suggest that he help with the housework — he flatly refuses.

I have an article from 1972 stating that the dollar-and-cents value of a homemaker was approximately $17,351.88 per year.

What am I worth today?
M.G. IN SEATTLE

DEAR M.G.: Since the cost of living has tripled since 1972, tell your husband you're worth approximately $52,000 a year.

(P.S. If you're a virtuous woman, the good book says, your price is above rubies.)

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Lucky Linda," who kept putting her purse on top of her car, then forgetfully driving off, losing her purse.

I learned long ago to place my purse, the bag of groceries or anything else I had in my hands on the hood of the car, right in front of the windshield. It's just about as handy as the roof, and you will definitely not drive off with them still there.

$305 billion...

Conferees okay defense bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawmakers are optimistic President Bush will accept a $305 billion defense bill that cuts $1.1 billion from the Strategic Defense Initiative and provides one less B-2 stealth bomber in fiscal 1990.

"Apart from SDI, on the whole it's (the bill) one which we find acceptable," Sen. John Warner of Virginia, ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, said shortly after congressional negotiators adopted the legislation Thursday.

The bill still must be approved by the full House and Senate, and critics were outspoken about a defense blueprint that provides all but $150 million Bush sought for land-based nuclear missiles and restores some funds for conventional weapons the president sought to kill.

"Where a weapon is built and by whom has become more important than how much it costs, is it needed and whether it contributes to our national security," said Rep. Larry J. Hopkins, R-Ky., a member of the House

Armed Services Committee. "We're buying too many big-ticket items with no hard choices," said Rep. John Kasich, R-Ohio, another member of the panel.

The object of their anger was the conferees' decision to provide money for the Marine Corps' V-22 Osprey, the aircraft that takes off like a helicopter but can fly like a plane, and the Navy's F-14D Tomcat jet fighter.

The tilt-rotor Osprey, which Bush sought to cancel, will receive $255 million in research and development money but no procurement funds.

"This decision will save hundreds of jobs for Philadelphians," Rep. Tom Foglietta, D-Pa., a member of the House Armed Services panel, said in expressing his support for the bill.

The negotiators also agreed to buy 18 F-14Ds in the fiscal year that began Oct. 1 but none in fiscal 1991. The legislation also requires the manufacturer, Grumman Corp., of New York, to "sign up for termination," according to Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The debate over the cancellation of the F-14D was the most contentious of the nearly eight weeks of debate over the two widely divergent House and Senate defense bills, lawmakers said.

Warner said that in his 20 years of defense conferences, "I've never seen such forceful, if not ruthless, lobbying by some groups."

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said he was "generally pleased" with the bill because it provides for "a strong national defense and the basic principles of the president's defense budget recommendations."

In a Pentagon statement, Cheney noted the bill "recognizes that we can't afford lower-priority defense programs, such as the V-22 aircraft production and, after fiscal year 1990, F-14D aircraft production."

Bob Watlington attends seminar

Robert H. "Bob" Watlington, CLU, a National Farm Life Insurance professional, recently attended an advanced sales and marketing seminar held in Austin.

Sponsored by the Texas Leaders Round Table (TLRT), an honor organization affiliated with the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, the TLRT Roundup is designed to draw the top professionals in the industry throughout the state of Texas. The two-day seminar is an intensive, working session featuring presentations by some of the leading experts in the country.

Watlington has been a member of the Texas Leaders Round Table for 27 years and is a past president of the organization. He is the owner of the firm Robert H. Watlington, CLU, Inc.

Other industry achievements include: membership in the Million Dollar Round Table, an international group of the top life insurance producers throughout the world; and he is a leader in his individual company's top five producers.

TLRT recognizes outstanding personal achievement and represents only seven percent of the career life underwriters in Texas. Membership is limited to those professionals who qualify by meeting rigid production requirements and adhering to the highest ethical standards of character and service to the insurance-buying public.

EARTHQUAKE IN EAST GERMANY

Supporters of Marcos march

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Thousands of Ferdinand Marcos supporters, joined by Vice President Salvador Laurel, marched today in the capital to demand the return of the former president's body for burial. It was the largest show of support for Marcos in years.

The crowd, which also expressed dissatisfaction with the government of President Corazon Aquino, swelled to nearly 25,000 as it reached suburban Quezon City for a rally, police estimated.

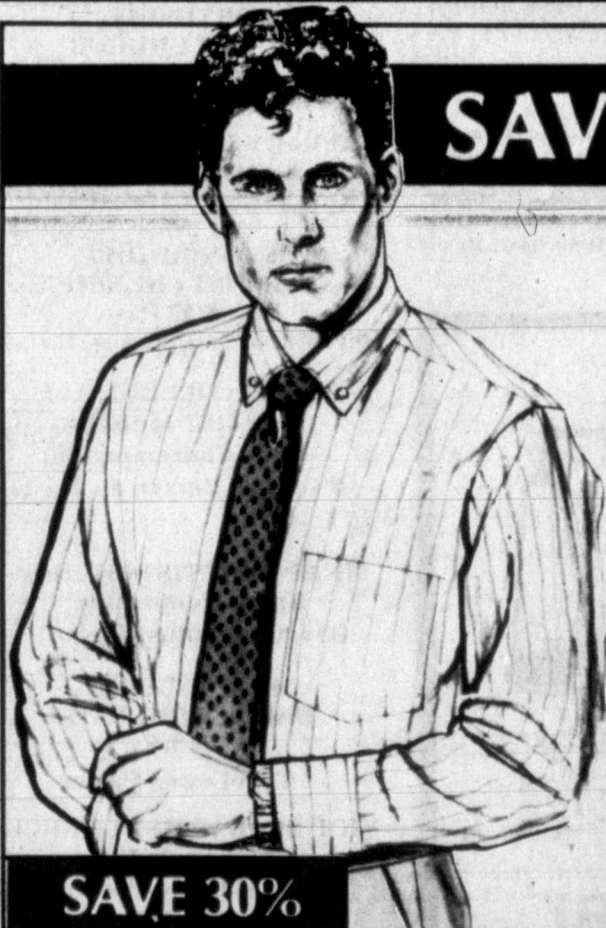

The Dutch painter Rembrandt was born in Leiden, Netherlands, in 1606.

The Italian liner Andrea Doria sank July 25, 1956, after it collided with the Swedish ship

Stockholm south of Nantucket total of more than 16,000 passengers but only 51 lives were lost.
