Deep Creek residents express concern over treatment plant

Two dozen residents of the Deep Creek area south of Snyder attended a Monday night city council meeting to express concerns about the effectiveness of the new sewage treatment plant the council is planning to build.

The 6:30 p.m. public meeting was held to discuss expanding the city's water treatment plant, building a sewer plant and settling on a method of financing both projects, which could have a total price tag of as much as $4 million.

Deep Creek area landowner Lawson Stiff urged the council either to have a plant constructed that would purify the effluent back to near the level of clear water or build a "land application" system that would put the plant on several hundred enclosed acres and end the sewer drainage down Deep Creek.

Stiff said he had contacted an Environmental Protection Agency representative who said the city's EPA permit expires in August 1991 and that the city must substantially upgrade its sewage treatment plant to get another permit.

"They told me it was going to cost a tubful of money before they issue another one," he said. "We're very concerned and anxious to get the thing because we've got three miles of stink creek running through us."

Other Deep Creek residents expressed similar concerns during the 2½-hour meeting, and engineer John Kelly of Lubbock said the plant he envisions would produce an effluent with two-thirds less organic matter in it than the existing plant produces.

The Parkhill, Smith & Cooper representative outlined several options, including a land application that would cost $5.7 million to build and re-vamping the current plant for $2.9 million.

Kelly appeared to favor the third option, abandoning the existing plant, which was built in the 1950s, and constructing a new one for $3.1 million south of the current plant and south of the city off Ave. M.

He said installing an ultraviolet treatment system would cost an additional $405,600, as opposed to a chlorination system that would run $502,000.

Mayor Troy Williamson and council members Joe Coronado, Ralph Williamson and Mike Thornton sat with the audience during Kelly's presentation, and Mayor Williamson said afterwards that the public will be notified when the council nears a decision.

Earlier, Abilene financial consultant Joe Smith had said he favors a bond issue, rather than applying for loans through the State Revolving Fund, because of the recently improved bond market.

"We would recommend you go the public market route," Smith said.

Terry Bilderback of the Lubbock engineering firm said in a presentation prior to Kelly's that a computer analysis of the municipal water line system is in progress and has already revealed some "bottlenecks" in the system.

"The problem is getting the extent of it defined so it's not just out of sight," Bilderback said.

PS&C is analyzing the water distribution system so that the council may decide on the possible addition of a $200,000 turbine pump to increase water pressure, in addition to the construction of a $750,000 solids contact clarifier to expand the capacity of the water treatment plant.

Bilderback said in a recent meeting that adding the pump without repairing lines would only cause leaks.

Firemen's banquet scheduled

Snyder firemen will name their "Fireman of the Year" and sweetheart in their 60th annual Thanksgiving banquet at 7 p.m. today at Snyder Country Club.

The 50-man department, with 10 regular firemen and 40 volunteers, will also present service pins and 100-percent attendance awards for participation in meetings and drills.

Volunteer fireman Rodger Potts was the fireman of the year last year.

OPENING — The Scurry County Museum's Country Store opens Monday with a variety of gift items and seasonal decorations. Volunteers Bobby Newton, left, Mary Jacobi and Linda Robbins have been getting it ready for the opening and for the museum's annual "Christmas Happening" on Dec. 3. The museum is on the south side of the Western Texas College campus. (SDN Staff Photo)

WTC trustees approve audit

Western Texas College board of trustees unanimously approved the year-end financial audit in a morning board meeting today after discussion and review with Jerry Vestal, CPA.

The audit reflected an unrestricted fund balance of $1,943,426 and total revenues of $5,677,082. Total unrestricted expenditures were $5,475,805, less $133,240 transfer to other funds, leaving a net increase of revenues over expenditures of $68,037. When added to a beginning fund balance of $1,875,389 it leaves an unrestricted fund balance of $1,943,426.

Unrestricted funds are able to be used at the discretion of the college board. The $91,701 restricted fund balance at year's end is restricted by external sources such as the federal government and other providers.

The fund balance represents approximately four months of current fund expenditures.

Of the total revenues, unrestricted and restricted, some $648,448 involved tuition and fees; $169,440 in federal grants; $2,174,036 in state grants; and $1,986,583 in local appropriations to include $1,739,558 in property tax. Others included $77,684 from the sales and service of educational departments such as welding and auto mechanics; $594,935 from sales and service of auxiliary enterprises such as the bookstore and cafeteria, $404,992 in student aid, and $263,785 in other resources to include interest earnings. The total current revenue, unrestricted and restricted, is $6,259,903.

Trustee Roy Baze noted concern over some expenditures, primarily a loss of $66,621 at the pro shop and golf course, and mentioned that the board might review those areas at a future meeting.

Auxiliary enterprises lost $331,646. The largest of these was athletics, which received $27,329 (see WTC, page 8)

Workshop outlined; officers announced at chamber board

Snyder Chamber of Commerce board of directors reviewed a number of topics during its monthly meeting Monday, including Sunday's Holiday Festival, prospective dates for Ag Day and the chamber banquet, a proposed workshop for elementary school teachers, and chamber officers for 1990.

Named as officers for the coming year were Eddie Williams, president-elect; Gary Landes, vice president; and Susan Neves, treasurer. Fran Farmer is the current president-elect and will take over duties for current president Herbie Figueredo at the first of the year.

Agri-Business Committee Chairman David Kattes reported that the annual Ag Day will be Feb. 19 with Rep. Charles Stenholm as guest speaker.

Of a more immediate nature is the Holiday Festival, scheduled here Sunday from 2-5 p.m. Cindy Banta, Business Development Committee chairman, told the board that at least 16 businesses planned to be open for the event. Entertainment will be featured on the downtown square and lighting of the Christmas tree will be held at 5:30 p.m.

Chamber Manager Bill Moss said tentative dates for the chamber banquet are March 24 or March 31. The board is in contact with several probable guest speakers and Moss noted that he hopes to have an exact date by the Dec. 18 board meeting.

The chamber also plans to hold a reception for its new and outgoing board members during the December meeting. Figueredo proposed a plan to bring a five-day workshop to Snyder for elementary school teachers, which would help them accrue 30 AAT hours toward Career Ladder promotions.

Cost of the course is approximately $6,500 and the cost to teachers is usually $120. Figueredo, however, proposed that funding could be raised to offer the course at little or no cost to teachers. His tentative plan would ask the chambers of commerce from Snyder, Post and Colorado City to contribute $1,500 each for a total of $4,500. This money could be provided by the chambers or through businesses. If that $4,500 is raised, he said McDonald's, of which he is a franchise owner, would also contribute $1,000.

"The closest these workshops are now planned are in Lubbock (see CHAMBER, page 8)

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "One thing about the college of hard knocks—it's impossible to drop the course."

Somebody ought to say "Knock it off..."

The taxpayers of Rochester, N.Y., are expected to be the obvious loser in a situation in which an irate citizen raised the ire of a petty bureaucrat. Both of 'em are in need of an old-fashioned spanking.

The citizen is the editor of a weekly newspaper who received a parking ticket. In his anger, the editor is said to have vented steam by writing a note when he sent in his $12 fine. The message read, "There were no (expletive) signs posted anywhere."

That note irritated officials in the city's parking violations bureau, and it promptly brought aggravated harassment charges against the editor.

The charges were later dropped when a city court judge ruled that public servants must expect a certain amount of disdain. But that's just part of the story...

The editor has now filed suit against the city and the enforcement supervisor, contending that his constitutional right to free speech was violated.

The citizen is asking for $1.8 million in punitive and compensatory damages. Should he win the case, that would leave the editor—before legal expenses and after deducting the cost of the parking ticket—$1,799,987.75. Lawyer for the plaintiff says his client has incurred substantial expense and humiliation.

Shoot, the situation would have provided 12 bucks worth of column material.

Overheard in a Dallas restaurant:

It was probably a 50th wedding anniversary. The man had obviously given in to hints to take his "bride" out somewhere special for the occasion.

It was one of those places where only the man's menu has prices, but both parties were having a hard time making out items listed on the menu.

Finally the man blurted out, "Maw, if you can't pronounce it, we can't afford it."

Q—When the 1990 Census is taken, will we be mailed forms to fill out, or will they have someone to go from house to house to take them?

A—The census is taken by both methods. Most people will receive forms through the mail that they will be asked to fill out and mail back, and then door-to-door census-takers will attempt to identify and count everyone who has not already been counted.

Police quash counterfeit ID operation

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Federal and state authorities say they are expanding an investigation to Southwest Texas State and Texas A&M universities after breaking a ring of Texas Tech freshmen who made dozens of counterfeit driver's licenses.

At least 48 underage students, mostly freshmen, agreed to pay $50 to $60 each for the fake IDs so they could enter nightclubs and buy alcohol at bars and package stores, officials said Monday. Police impounded about half the licenses before they were distributed.

Four male Tech freshmen, all from the same unidentified Dallas-area high school, made the high-quality fake licenses in their dormitory rooms, Secret Service resident agent David Freriks said.

The four are expected to be indicted on federal counterfeiting charges next month, Freriks said. He declined to identify the suspects pending the filing of formal charges.

"They were all in high school together, where they perfected their technique, and then they spread out across the land," Freriks said, naming Southwest Texas State and Texas A&M as schools where related rings are suspected of flourishing.

The makers face federal counterfeiting charges that carry a maximum penalty of 15 years imprisonment and a $250,000 fine. Possessors or users of fake licenses face state charges that carry a 2- to 5-year prison term and loss of their licenses from 90 days to a year.

The counterfeiters advertised by word of mouth, mostly in unidentified dormitories, Freriks said.

Through confiscated photographs and interviews with suspects and witnesses during a monthlong investigation, police identified 46 students who agreed to buy the licenses, Freriks said. Two other students have yet to be identified, he said.

Six students were arrested at nightclubs over the past couple of weekends as they tried to present fake licenses made by the ring, Department of Public Safety Sgt. Larry Hinojosa said.

After publicity surrounding the investigation, "We expect the trash cans to be full" of discarded, fake licenses, Freriks said.

The investigation began last month when an employee at an unidentified photo processing store in Lubbock called police after she saw a roll of film containing 22 photos of young people on prints containing license information, Freriks said.

Hinojosa said the fake licenses were well-made, and that the telltale signs were that the blue background in the students' snapshots was too dark, and the picture appeared too large on the bogus licenses.

Most of the students who ordered the fake IDs were freshmen, Freriks said. Most did not receive their licenses and will not be prosecuted, Hinojosa said. Neither would speculate about how many licenses were sold or how much money the counterfeiters made.

Lawmakers to court: hurry up

AUSTIN (AP) — Death Row inmate Clarence Brandley, who remains in prison more than two years after a judge recommended a new trial for him, deserves a decision from the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, state lawmakers say.

A group of legislators on Monday asked the court to hand down a ruling quickly.

"Today we're going to ask them to forget their lunch hours, get to work on time, work beyond 5 o'clock, because we believe they can resolve this issue," said Rep. Harold Dutton, D-Houston.

"We're asking them to get off their rear ends and move and act and do their jobs," added Rep. Lloyd Criss, D-LaMarque.

Brandley, a black janitor at Conroe High School, was convicted in the 1980 rape-slaying of Cheryl Ferguson, a 16-year-old white girl, at the school. His first trial ended with a hung jury. An all-white jury found him guilty in a second trial.

On Oct. 9, 1987, after a 10-day evidentiary hearing moved from Conroe to Galveston, retired State District Judge Perry Pickett recommended that Brandley get a new trial because the previous two had been tainted with racism.

Brandley has said he believes that a third trial would clear him.

Defense attorney Paul Nugent of Houston argued before the Court of Criminal Appeals last January that the investigations and judicial proceedings leading to Brandley's capital murder conviction were tainted by racial discrimination.

Man Registers His Complaint Against Some Doctors' Nurses

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, a woman wrote to say that she objected to being examined by a doctor without a nurse present. I have no objection to that. What I do object to is calling someone a nurse when she is not really a nurse.

I venture to say that 75 percent of the "nurses" in doctors' offices have no more than a high school diploma and are not registered nurses. Some of the procedures these so-called nurses are called upon to perform are extremely critical and should be performed only by someone who is properly trained. It is illegal to practice medicine without a license, yet these same doctors see nothing wrong with hiring women off the street, giving them minimal training and turning them loose on unsuspecting patients. Just because a woman puts on a white uniform and nurse's cap does not make her a nurse. (These items can be bought in a uniform shop.)

Please don't use my name or city, as my wife is a registered nurse working in the office of a doctor who uses "nurses" who aren't really nurses.

REQUESTING ANONYMITY

DEAR REQUESTING: Thanks for an interesting letter. To stick all physicians with the same needle would be unfair, but I'm sure there are some so-called "nurses" with minimal training who are passing for registered nurses.

Physicians proudly frame and hang their diplomas on their office walls. I think all registered nurses who work in doctors' offices should frame and hang their diplomas alongside the doctor's.

DEAR ABBY: I just had to write when I read the letter from the woman whose doctor noticed a scar on her wrist and asked her if she had tried to commit suicide, which made her angry! Instead of getting angry, she should have been grateful for the doctor's concern. I wish I had a doctor like that.

Not long ago, I went to a health clinic because I was very depressed and had a sore throat. When the doctor came in to examine me, I was crying. He just looked in my throat and my ears and never asked me why I was crying. He just said, "Drink lots of liquids and get some rest — you look very tired." With that, he hurried out of the examining room. Please comment.

LET DOWN

DEAR LET DOWN: I suggest that you go back to that clinic and tell them that you are depressed and need to see someone who specializes in emotional problems. You desperately need someone to talk to — preferably someone who not only listens but "hears" what you are saying.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter you printed from the reader who objected to receiving heavily perfumed bills from department stores, here's how my wife and I handled that situation:

We cut up that store's credit card in several pieces and mailed it back with a note stating we objected to the store stinking up our mailbox to advertise a perfume that it was promoting. It worked like a charm!

Within days, we received a telephone call from the store's credit manager wanting to restore our credit card and assuring us that it would be no problem to flag our account and send us regular bills that wouldn't stink up our mailbox.

SENSITIVE NOSES IN ATLANTA

DEAR SENSITIVE: Smart move on your part, and theirs — a matter of eliminating scents for dollars.

DEAR ABBY: If you have a cross with a figure of Christ on it and it breaks, what are you supposed to do with it? The arm on mine broke off, and I hate to throw it in the trash because I think that would be disrespectful. Should I bury it?

ONLY 14 AND ALREADY A FAN IN WAUKEGAN

DEAR ONLY 14: Yes, bury it. And bless you for asking.

fore making the instinctive play, you look for a better alternative, you are progressing.

Today's declarer got to the fine contract of six spades. When the opening lead was made, he instinctively won dummy's heart ace, throwing a club away. Realizing that he was in the dummy for the last time, he led the club jack and finessed. West won the queen and later took the setting trick with the spade jack. What went wrong?

Declarer missed the better alternative. He should ruff the opening lead and then play A-K of spades. If the defenders' trumps divide evenly, he will have sharply curtailed his chances of making all the tricks, since he will have to play the club ace and then a low club to dummy's J-10 to guard against either defender starting with Q-9-x-x of clubs. But look how well placed he is when West has the long spade. He can cash the diamond ace and then throw West on lead with a trump. If West plays a heart or a diamond, declarer can throw his losing clubs away. And if West plays a club, the J-10 will provide a certain entry for dummy's winners. What if East has the long trump? Declarer plays the same way, first cashing just one high club in case East started with a low singleton club, and then throwing East in with a spade. He will still succeed when East holds the club queen.

Honey do's have three programs

Honey Do's Extension Homemakers met Nov. 16 in the home of Virginia Fogle for an all day meeting. Three programs were presented.

Gloria Peppers gave a program on public awareness of abuse of the elderly and disabled. She used a filmstrip to further illuminate the issue.

Shirley Bullard, president, illustrated making butterflies out of foil paper for Christmas decorations, and Joyce McCoy gave a program on mounting silk flowers and leaves on sweatshirts with "Wonder Under." Each member decorated a sweatshirt.

A Thanksgiving pot luck luncheon was held for the noon meal, and plans were made for the club Christmas party.

Club members also priced items to display in the Scurry County Museum's Country Store and decorated a Christmas tree to enter in the museum's tree decorating contest. They also voted to renew membership in the Scurry County Museum.

Two new members, Barbara Newman and Donna Roemisch, were present for the meeting, as well as two visitors, Joyce McCoy and Earline Payne.

Newly elected officers are Shirley Bullard, president and reporter; Virginia Fogle, vice president and council delegate; Patsy Burleson, secretary; and Mary Vaughan, treasurer and historian.

University Women hear Roberts

University Women met at 6 p.m. Nov. 14 for a salad supper at MAWC. President Penny Perry presided over the meeting, and Melinda Owens, program chairperson, introduced Kathy Roberts, County Extension Agent, as the guest speaker.

Mrs. Roberts' program, entitled "Buying Beef," illustrated the changes in the beef industry, highlighting leaner products since 1950. She also discussed forms of beef and beef cuts and selection, as well as factors determining the cost of meat.

She graduated from Panhandle State University in Goodwell, Okla., with a bachelor's degree in Home Economics-Science, and a physical education minor.

Mrs. Roberts taught at Snyder High School for 10 years, after working as a home economist for an electric utility company. She and her husband, Gary, have two children and one grand-daughter.

Club members expressed their appreciation to the local people who provide them with timely and informative, as well as entertaining programs. Penny Perry won the door prize.

Those interested in joining the organization are invited to attend the meetings, as well as any visitors. More information can be obtained by contacting Penny Perry, president; Peggy English, vice president; or Melinda Owens, telephone chairperson.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 14 at MAWC, and Ruth McBeth is in charge of obtaining Christmas music. Members will exchange gifts with their secret sisters.

Davies presents 'wit' to club

Altrurian Daughters Club met Nov. 7 at Martha Ann Woman's Club. Club members welcomed Jean Sealy as a new member. Celeste West, of Manila, Philippines, was also present.

A program entitled "Evelyn and Her Wit," was presented by Evelyn Davies. Mrs. Davies gave a presentation on "Women in Their 60s in the 1980s," highlighting Barbara Bush and Queen Elizabeth.

Virginia Clark, president, presided over a business meeting with some 19 members present.

Denver beats Skins minus John Elway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just when quarterback Gary Kubiak figured he was destined to spend the season on the bench, he ended up being John Elway for a night. Kubiak, inserted as the starter Monday night in place of an ailing Elway, played the role magnificently. He threw two short touchdown passes in the first half, then played ball-control in the final 30 minutes to lead the Denver Broncos to a 14-10 victory over the Washington Redskins.

The triumph all but wrapped up the AFC West title for the Broncos (9-2), who own a four-game lead over the Los Angeles Raiders with five games left. Denver, San Francisco and the New York Giants share the best record in the NFL.

Kubiak, who has made a career out of backing up Elway, had thrown only two passes this season prior to Monday night. He learned four hours before the game that he was about to get his second start in the last five years because Elway was sick with a stomach virus.

"It's kind of ironic," Kubiak said. "I told my wife last week ... I think it may be one of those years where John plays every game. But as long as we win, it's OK."

Kubiak got off to a rough start, fumbling on the third play from scrimmage to set up the Redskins' lone touchdown, an 8-yard run by Jamie Morris. But Kubiak rebounded to lead the Broncos to victory in much the same fashion Elway has done this season — by throwing short, conservative passes and frequently handing off to Bobby Humphrey, who finished with 110 yards in 31 carries.

Kubiak completed 13 of 27 passes for 123 yards, including a 1-yard TD pass to Melvin Bratton and a 5-yard scoring strike to Ricky Nattiel. Kubiak also had 16 rushing yards, punted twice and guided the Broncos in a 14-play drive that enabled them to hold the ball for the final 6:45.

"I wasn't concerned about the job Gary would do because Gary is a great quarterback," Denver coach Dan Reeves said. "I was just worried about going into the game with just one quarterback."

"There's so many people who did a great job," Reeves said. "Our defense really played super. You know, turnovers set up the 10 points they had."

Pokes' Martin out with injured knee

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Things have gone from bad to sad for the Dallas Cowboys.

As if getting beat by a "Hail Mary" pass wasn't painful enough, the Cowboys learned Monday that they will be without Kelvin Martin, their leading wide receiver, in Thursday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Martin will be out for the season with a torn interior cruciate in his left knee, team officials said.

Martin caught 7 passes for 82 yards before he was injured in Sunday's 17-14 loss to the Miami Dolphins.

"Kelvin was our key receiver," said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson. "Losing him will really hurt our passing game. He can make some big plays for you."

Johnson said James Dixon and Derrick Sheppard will probably start at wide receiver although "Sheppard has an ankle bothering him."

Cornell Burbage and Bernard Ford will be backups and Johnson said the Cowboys could activate Scott Ankrom off the reserve squad for insurance.

"We're going to be a little thin at the position," Johnson said. Johnson said the 10th loss of the season was particularly painful because it came primarily on Dan Marino's 48-yard "Hail Mary" touchdown pass to end the first half.

"Take away the 'Hail Mary' pass and we did a good job against them," Johnson said. "Instead of going ahead 14-3 at halftime it took a lot out of us."

"I like our effort and our attitude. We're getting ourselves in position to win games. I really can't ask much more from them. You'd like to be winning these kind of ballgames but we are getting close. I'd be willing to take these players to training camp next year. About a fourth of these players weren't in camp in July. We've come a long ways."

The 1-10 Cowboys host the 7-4 Eagles at 3 p.m., and the traditional Thanksgiving Day game in Texas Stadium will be a first for Johnson and his new staff.

"I like the idea of playing on Thanksgiving," Johnson said. "It gives the team a lot of national exposure. Of course, it's a short workweek but at least we don't have to travel."

Under Tom Landry, the Cowboys had lost their last three Thanksgiving Day games.

Ranger JC edges Westerners in third meeting this season

Ranger Junior College nudged the WTC Westerners, 109-102, in the third contest between the two teams in the young hoops season.

Though WTC won both of the other games, RJC was always scrapping and that attitude finally paid off for the Purple crew against Western Texas.

Four of the Rangers wound up in double figures on the night.

They were paced by Reginald Davis and Randy Davis with 25 points each.

Kenneth Critton and Jeff Shelley pounded out 19 points apiece to lead WTC followed by Allen Smith with 13 and David Smith with 12.

Critton scored on eight buckets and a three of six performance from the free toss mark.

Shelley's 19 came on eight baskets, including a pair of three-pointers, and a free throw.

Ranger took a seven-point halftime lead at 60-53 and held off the Westerner offensive attack in the second half.

The loss drops the Westerners to 7-2 on the year while Ranger is 5-6.

Western Texas will be on the court over the holiday as they journey to Odessa to participate in the Thanksgiving Tournament there.

Each of their three contests in the event will begin at 3 p.m.

Tami Wilson and Carla Gladden each ripped the cords for 17 points.

Wilson scored eight baskets and a free toss while Gladden was a perfect four of four from the charity stripe added to six hoops, one a three point goal.

Stallings fired by Phoenix after telling of resignation

PHOENIX (AP) — Phoenix Cardinals coach Gene Stallings kept hearing rumors that he was, in his words, "more of a lame duck than a dead duck."

On Monday, when he announced he would become the former, the Cardinals stepped in to say he was the latter.

Two hours after Stallings announced that he would honor the last five games of his four-year contract but would not seek to renew it, the Cardinals fired him and named running backs coach Hank Kuhlmann as interim coach for the last five games.

"He indicated he didn't want to be here. To me, if you don't want to be a Cardinal, find another line of work," General Manager Larry Wilson said during a news conference. "I don't want to take away the focus of what we're doing right now."

"Five weeks might make the difference of making the playoffs or not. Last year, we lost the last five games. I think we are very capable of winning the last five games. But I think it would be disruptive if Gene was here as a part of it."

"I want the team to do well and win games. I don't think they can do that if I'm the center of controversy," Stallings said. "I believed that continued speculation about my future was a distraction, so I did what I thought was right for the organization and the team."

Phoenix (5-6) still has slim hopes of a wild-card playoff berth heading into Sunday's game against Tampa Bay.

The Cardinals, who moved to Phoenix from St. Louis in 1988, have had three consecutive losing seasons under the 54-year-old Stallings and were 23-34-1 during his tenure.

Stallings' contract, worth a reported $250,000 this season, was due to expire Feb. 1 and the Cardinals said they will honor it.

There has been speculation throughout the season that the Cardinals would fire Stallings.

Snyder teams hit the court

The Tigers and Lady Tigers basketball squads hit the court again today as the boys head to Midland Lee and the girls are at home against Abilene Cooper.

The Snyder boys are 1-0 on the season after an opening game win, 75-48, over Westbrook.

The girls' team is 2-0 after back-to-back victories over Midland High and Odessa Permian to begin their season.

The Tigers tip-off at 6:15 with the junior varsity contest followed by the varsity match-up at 8 p.m.

The Lady Tigers' JV game begins at 6 p.m. in the SHS girls' gym and the varsity battle starts at 7:30 p.m.

In other local action Ira travels to Blackwell and Borden County is open.

Museum fills void for Kennedy mourners

DALLAS (AP) — About 1,000 people every day go to the sixth floor of the old Texas School Book Depository and share the assassin's view of the street where President John F. Kennedy was shot 26 years ago

Wednesday. During the nine months since President's Day 1988, visitors have been able to see the spot where it's believed Lee Harvey Oswald fired the shots that killed Kennedy.

The Sixth Floor Exhibit, a tribute to Kennedy's life and a shrine for his death, opened in February. The sixth floor of the building had been off-limits to the public since the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

While thousands of people visit the site in downtown Dallas each year, the creation of an exhibit or major memorial had been delayed, in part by fears that it would only extend any infamy attached to the city by Kennedy's death.

and San Angelo and it is a great expense for our teachers to travel this far. The main thrust would be to try to do something to help our teachers, and of course we as a community would gain from their knowledge," he said.

He also told the board a decision would need to be made in January or the first part of February and that the workshop would be held in June.

It would also benefit the city economically to bring in teachers from throughout the area who will be in Snyder for five days and who would eat in local restaurants, shop, and in some cases, perhaps stay in motels, he noted.

In other informational discussion, Moss told board members that a worker's comp hotline number is 1-800-635-1407 for those interested in keeping up with the issue now before the Texas Legislature.

Teachers at North Elementary have been contacted and at least 14 are interested, he said. Following the board meeting, he said he would appreciate teachers contacting him at the downtown of-

Also discussed was the Snyder Pops cultural entertainment package, which has not been well attended to date, although the program is "about $300 in the black," said Figueredo. However, it is hoped that upcoming performances of the Paragon Brass and Folkloric Dancers will be better attended. The cost for those events will be approximately $2,500-$3,000.

but had expenditures of some $277,524. The Student Center lost $34,431 and the dormitory $12,166. Showing a gain were the apartments ($17,431), journalism ($833), the bookstore ($5,943) and the cafeteria ($7,560).

A billboard to promote the college, the third of five planned billboards featuring various aspects of the community, is currently being reviewed, it is noted. As to playoff games, Moss informed the board that geographically, it would likely be two weeks before two teams would be paired which might select Snyder as an equidistant, neutral site. That would depend, of course, on the outcome of games this weekend and the next.

Moss reported that a group attended the TDCJ's site selection process in Austin recently and although they were disappointed that Snyder was not selected, left the meeting in good spirits. He also reported on a Texas Chamber of Commerce plan to unite chamber offices throughout the state.

Board members also approved minutes and a financial report, and met in executive session following the regular meeting.

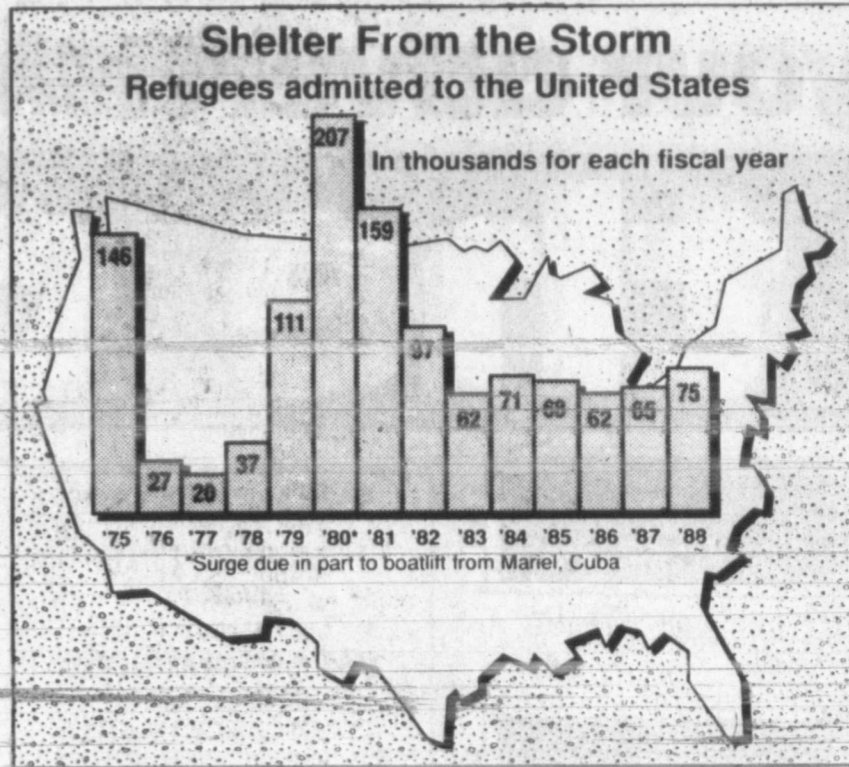

Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, said that the board may wish to consider hiring additional staff to handle the workload. All trustees were present.

"It was a courageous thing for Dallasites to do," said Lyndalyn Adams, chairwoman of the Dallas County Historical Foundation, which led the drive to open The Sixth Floor. "This city had to go back to a time when Dallas meant assassination."

"The reaction from most visitors is, 'Thank you.' They say it over and over again in the museum's guest book. 'Even though I did not live during his presidency, I feel like I know JFK after walking through the exhibit. Thanks for the memories,'" wrote Linda Brashear, a 16-year-old visitor from Santa Fe, N.M.

"The city has been linked with the assassination by the public throughout the world," Hays said. "The city needed to address it and this is what we have done."

"For years, sightseers found little to mark the site of Kennedy's fatal motorcade through downtown Dallas. Dallas lacked anything explaining Kennedy's death in its historic context, said Bob Hays, Sixth Floor director.

The United States is still a major haven for refugees. The U.S. Immigration Service recently reported that requests for political asylum for Central Americans had gone up from 7,000 in 1985 to more than 50,000 in 1988.

Town grieves for seven kids killed during recent tornado

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — So many funeral processions in one day. Five, and this stricken town's sorrow seemed even greater because the coffins were so small. One was covered with a teddy bear-shaped wreath of flowers.

A stuffed Garfield doll, a small dinosaur and baseball cards lay nearby. It was apparent that the bells tolled for the children, not for the spirit of the town.

"It will take time, maybe a long time, but we will get through this," Bud Sharp was saying, standing on the lawn of the First Presbyterian Church where people gathered Monday for the last of the five funerals that gray and chilly afternoon.

Three of the five families chose to keep the services private, to bear their sorrow alone. Others did not. About 600 mourners crowded St. Francis of Assisi Church, a grand old brick edifice with twin bell towers and stained glass windows. Over the generations, it has been the site of hundreds of funerals but surely few as unsettling as the requiem for Adam Joseph Soltis, age 7.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 26-year-old son has Reiter's syndrome. His doctor tells him research is still being done, and as yet there is no cure. Is this hereditary, and can you provide any information?

DEAR READER: Reiter's syndrome is a poorly understood ailment marked by inflammation of the urethra — the tube leading from the bladder — or the cervix (the mouth of the uterus in women), associated with conjunctivitis (eye inflammation), arthritis and sores in the mouth.

In many patients, especially men, the disease appears to be sexually transmitted and may be caused by a microorganism called chlamydia. In other patients, the condition seems to follow various forms of bowel infection — for example, those caused by shigella and salmonella.

Patients with Reiter's syndrome have a high level of a blood protein called HLA-B27, indicating that a genetic factor may predispose to this infection.

Although about 50 percent of Reiter's patients improve without treatment, the remainder progress to a chronic stage of the disease, characterized by recurring arthritis and urethral discharge.

Treatment consists of antibiotics to eradicate the infection. This therapy is usually quite successful.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My mother has a series of problems. Her teeth are sore, her gums are receding, and she feels there is an infection from two of them. She's been to a dental school for over a year, and they have found nothing wrong but did root canals to save one tooth. She suffers from fatigue and rapid weight loss. One doctor found a problem with her liver through a blood test, yet says the liver itself is fine. A neurologist says she is losing sensitivity in her nerves and doesn't know why, unless there is a tumor he's been unable to find. Her doctors can't find the problem. Can you help?

DEAR READER: I don't know the cause of your mother's problems, which I will summarize as fatigue, weight loss, mild liver abnormalities and neuropathy (nerve malfunction). I do not believe her dental symptoms are a factor in her condition.

I would like to know more about her liver and the state of her abdominal organs. Could she have low-grade hepatitis, a tumor of the pancreas or a severe nutritional deficiency? These possibilities should be investigated with specific blood tests and X-rays.

Because your mother's illness puzzles her doctors, I suggest she ask for a referral to the diagnostic clinic at a teaching hospital. In this setting, specialists are trained to diagnose unusual diseases. The doctors have special equipment and diagnostic resources not available to physicians engaged primarily in office practice.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Medical Specialists." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

On July 8, 1896, William Jennings Bryan captivated the Democratic National Convention in Chicago with a speech in which he denounced supporters of the gold standard, saying, "You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold." The next day Bryan was nominated for president in the first of three unsuccessful bids for the White House.

Houston shooting disputes...

Quick resolution said needed

HOUSTON (AP) — Police and community leaders say a quick resolution to controversy surrounding two fatal shootings by Houston officers is needed to curb growing fears in the community.

"We've heard women as well as men express outrage and fear" about growing tensions between the citizenry and the police, said Cassandra Thomas of the Houston Area Women's Center.

"The reality is that they are afraid and because of that fear, the city needs to address these issues," Ms. Thomas said.

"We're hearing people talk about fear to go out and whether or not they need to get a gun. Many say that they are going to get one because they're afraid if they don't, that somehow they, too, may be another Ida Delaney, another Byron Gillum."

Ms. Delaney, a 50-year-old Galveston janitor, was shot to death in an Oct. 31 freeway altercation with three off-duty officers. Gillum, a 24-year-old Houston security guard, was killed during a routine traffic stop when an officer said he saw Gillum reaching for a gun on the front seat of the car. Both Ms.

Delaney and Gillum were black. The shootings have sparked renewed interest in a citizens' review board, a proposal included in a bill sponsored by Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, that was presented during a special session of the Legislature Monday.

But both officers and community leaders say if there is no quick solution to the controversies, the situation could develop into a scenario reminiscent of Dallas conflicts between citizens and the police force during the past two years.

"We are getting similar press and political involvement,"

Houston Homicide Sgt. Brian Foster said, comparing the two cities. "We are getting people on television at the funerals of these people saying, 'Don't ever trust police again.'"

"The politicians and would-be politicians are whipping people into a frenzy long before all the facts are in, and we're going to have some people getting hurt as a result," Foster said.

The animosity in Dallas was attributed to incidents in which white officers killed blacks and Hispanics. The frenzy reached a peak with the slaying of Dallas Officer John Chase.

Bankruptcy still not settled yet

DALLAS (AP) — Former billionaire brothers William Herbert Hunt and Nelson Bunker Hunt could emerge from bankruptcy before the end of December because of a compromise reached by major creditors who have been at odds for months.

As a federal bankruptcy judge poised to convert the Chapter 11 bankruptcies of William Herbert Hunt to a Chapter 7 liquidation, spokesmen for Minpeco S.A. and Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York announced they had agreed on settlement terms.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Harold Abramson emerged from hours of closed-door meetings to announce he would defer until Dec. 15 signing the order. If the agreement breaks down, Abramson could proceed with liquidation.

Abramson notified all parties two weeks ago that without an agreement by Nov. 20 he would convert the case to a Chapter 7.

Under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act, a debtor is allowed to continue to operate with protection from creditors' claims while a debt repayment schedule is arranged. Under Chapter 7, assets are sold to pay creditors.

According to bankruptcy court filings, Herbert lists $169 million in assets, and Bunker lists assets of $250 million.

"We couldn't be happier," said Stephen McCartin, head attorney for Herbert Hunt, who had asked for a delay in Abramson's conversion order.

Monday's compromise between Manufacturers Hanover Trust and Minpeco, a mining company owned by the Peruvian government, refocuses both cases toward a more orderly reorganization away from chapter liquidation feared by creditors.

Major creditors said they would have received nothing under a fire-sale Chapter 7 liquidation, and most of the money from the two brothers' estates would have gone to the Internal Revenue Service, which claims 80 percent of Herbert Hunt's assets and 70 percent of Bunker Hunt's.

Terms of the proposed settlement were not disclosed Monday.

Four of the largest creditors in the case — Manufacturers Hanover, Minpeco, IRS and the trustee for Hunt International Resources Co. — said they and the debtors would file joint plans of reorganization at 11 a.m. today in Abramson's court.

Creditors worked late Monday night to iron out the plan, which was to be put to a vote of creditors as soon as they were completed.

Separately, IRS attorney Grover Hartt III said the agency would file a motion today asking that Abramson convert Bunker Hunt's case to a Chapter 7 liquidation if the plan proposed on Monday could not be confirmed.

Minpeco has been trying to collect a $132 million judgment against the brothers stemming from the 1979-80 silver market collapse. With attorneys' fees and interest, the judgment has swelled to more than $250 million.

Ali's cologne 'the greatest'

DALLAS (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champ Muhammad Ali believes he can make it to the top again — but this time he won't be throwing jabs and counterpunches to do it.

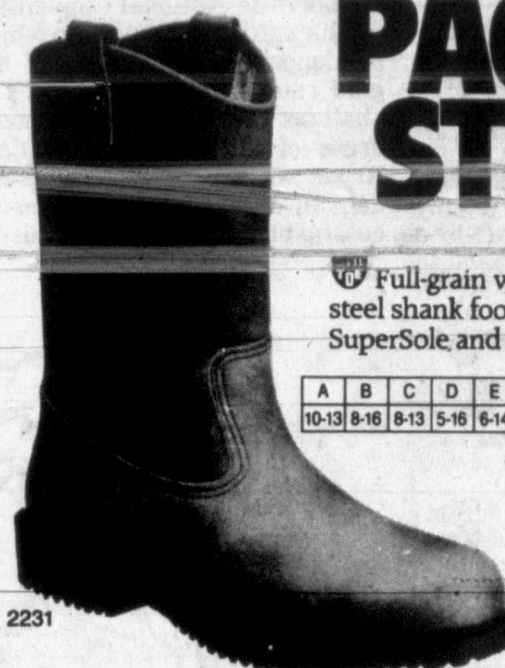

Rather, Ali is traveling to promote a new cologne that bears his name.

"It's the greatest," he said in an appearance here.

The 47-year-old Ali, who was known as much for his wagging tongue as his flying fists in his younger days, is pulling no punches as he promotes his new product.

"I predict I'll sell more cologne than anyone else in the world," he said. "Even Calvin Klein will back up."

"Women love it. Makes 'em chase' men they don't even know."
