Special to the Herald

The United Way of Big Spring and Howard County's Rock-n-Roll Campaign Kick-off will be August 20 and 21, and headlining the concert lineup on Saturday, Aug. 20, will be singer-songwriter William Clark Green of Fort Worth.

Opening for Green will be Lubbock-based country and classic rock band Spur 327.

According to promotion information provided by Green, he "...released his sixth album Baker Hotel on March 25 (via his own Bill Grease Records). The Eastland, Texas, native has been selling out venues across the state and beyond for the last 15 years, making a name for himself as a gritty performer with a big ol' voice and a powerhouse band. During the recent lull in live performances, Green took stock of his career, re-prioritized, and challenged himself and his sound. Baker Hotel is the creative universe born out of the process.

"What this record means to me is self-reflection, realizing that I just turned 35 and it's like, 'Where am I at in life? Where do I want to be? Where did I think I would be?'" Not being able to work (during the lockdown), I had a lot of time to sit and think about myself, and what's really locking me down, and that's what I think this record is about," Green says.

"On Baker Hotel, Green sharpens his contemporary roots sound while exploring outside it, from indie folk ('Feel Alive') and swampy country ('Dog Song') to Southern rock anthems ('All Pot No Chicken') and traditional Western balladry ('Me, Her and You'). Songwriting themes are similarly balanced, probing deeper into Green's soul and examining personal convictions, optimism, doubt, and raw truth. Nowhere is the cohesive

EDC hears budget plans, goals during Tuesday meeting

By ROGER CLINE

Herald Staff Writer

Members of the Big Spring Economic Development Corporation's Board of Directors heard information about the EDC's budget planning progress and goals during its regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Speaking of the budget plan, EDC Executive Director Mark Willis said, "A lot of it stayed very much the same."

Willis specifically noted inclusion of special revenue in the amount of $57,000 for right-of-way for a pipeline along the edge of 300 acres the EDC owns on the east side of Big Spring.

"We put in a contingency in there that nothing can be above ground, like a pig trap or anything like that," Willis said. A "pig trap" is an above-ground port allowing tools to be inserted into the pipeline for maintenance and cleaning. "We had somebody that's expert in the field read through it and make sure its everything we were comfortable with."

Willis said the budget will include a 10 percent raise for EDC Associate Director Teresa Morris.

The budget also assumes the EDC will receive a $3.2 million grant from the Economic Development Association, slated for development along the U.S. Highway 87 reliever route west of the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark.

"Our $400,000 (matching funds for the grant) down there at the bottom is recognized," he said. "Again, this board approved 'up to $400,000,'" he said. "Right now the match, and it's all budgeted, we should come in if everything goes perfectly, it should cost the EDC $300,000. However, with the way prices are going up on everything, it's good that we have that

Evacuation order lifted as Texas wildfires burn amid heat

By TERRY WALLACE and KEN MILLER

Associated Press

A mandatory evacuation order issued because of a wildfire in North Texas has been lifted as the threat of fires remained high Wednesday in the state due to hot temperatures, winds and drought conditions, officials said.

Hood County said the order was lifted Tuesday night, hours after it was issued for a rural area south of Tolar, about 45 miles (72 kilometers) southwest of Fort Worth, due to the Chalk Mountain Fire.

The fire has burned about 9 square miles (23 square kilometers), destroyed at least a dozen structures and was about 10% contained, Texas A&M Forest Services said.

It was not clear how many of the structures were homes, Forest Services spokesperson Mary Leathers said.

County emergency management officials did not immediately return a phone call for comment early Wednesday.

Crews were also fighting a fire at Possum Kingdom Lake, about 70 miles (113 kilometers) west of Fort Worth, that has burned about 500 acres (202 hectares) and at least five homes and was also about 10% contained, according to the agency.

The agency has used bulldozers to dig containment lines around the fires and aircraft to drop water on the flames.

blend of vision and voice more evident than the album's first single 'All You Got,' a pop rock gem that goes down way too easy for a potential breakup song.

"Green knows his way around being relatable while also complex, with heartfelt sentiments and turns of phrases like in 'Gun to Your Head' when he harmonizes with a pitch-perfect lilt, 'Would it kill you to give a little more than you take.' And just try to get the vocal harmonies of the heartbroken 'Give A Damn' ('How do you make love not give a damn?') and the effervescent, commercial-ready 'Feel Alive' out of your head after listening.

"In a proudly independent regional scene, it's not easy to separate oneself – or to evolve once you have – but since 2010, William Clark Green has done both. Baker Hotel continues his growth and is a big step forward for a singer/songwriter hitting his stride."

According to Spur 327's website, "Spur 327 is a four-piece band based in Lubbock, Texas. Founded in 2010, this country/classic rock band started as a cover dance band playing a wide variety of hits including songs from 1990s country, classic country, Texas country, classic rock and party song classics.

"Since then, the band has written several original songs and has released its first album, Dodging Armadillos, in 2019. They were honored with awards from the CMA of Texas for Band of the Year 2020 and Music Video of the Year for 'Must Have Lost

My Mind.' They were selected for Lubbock Music Now 2019 and voted Best of Lubbock 2018 Best Local Band.

"With musical influences including the Eagles, George Strait, Brooks and Dunn and Jimmy Buffet, songs such as 'Beneath the Texas Sunset,' 'Must Have Lost My Mind' and 'One For the Road' have already been packing dance floors across west Texas. The band includes Heath Stewart, lead vocals and rhythm guitar, Andy Hackney, lead guitar and vocals, Tyge Payne, bass guitar and vocals, and Todd Chambers, drums."

Concert tickets are available for purchase at the United Way office, 215 W. Third St. in Big Spring, or at Expedition Royalty, Lone Star Bank or OC Farm and Ranch.

contingency in there and I expect it will be used."

During the budget workshop, Willis announced a partnership with the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark and Airpark Director Mike Feeley for some resource sharing in the vicinity.

"Mr. Feeley out at the Airpark, he has additional budget money that he hasn't had before," Willis said. "The Airpark is going to spend $3.5 million on a new water tower out there, and some more sewer and water on the west side of the Airpark. The water tower, looped with water we're going to run out there with the grant and our money and the city's money, we'll now have that additional water pressure, which opens us up for companies that need better fire suppression than we were going to have. Kudos to Mr. Feeley for coming up with that. He looked at our plan and said, 'We need to do this anyway, so let's go ahead and do it.' I think we're going to try and bid it out as one whole project. Again, that's assuming we get the grant. We're still jumping through hoops for that."

EDC Vice President Jeff Ward noted an increase in promotional funds in the budget plan and questioned Willis about plans for those funds.

"Promotional and that kind of stuff, we're going to have something additional to sell," Willis said. "We're probably going to be a little over on promotional this year when it's all said and done. We're almost out of promotional items and that kind of stuff. We'll probably be traveling again in September, and we were just talking about today that we were probably going to have to order more stuff in the near future."

Willis said official word on the EDA grant should be announced sometime in August.

The board will vote on approval of the budget at its August meeting.

During the goals work session, Willis noted that the EDC's primary goals remain fairly constant from year to year.

"This coming year, perhaps our primary goal is to help promote that 430 acres plus out west of town," Willis said. "(Current owners) Cross-L (Ranch) would like to sell the whole 430 acres. We're not opposed to that. We're going to try our hardest to find a group that does develop industrial property like that, which would serve us better. Cross-L is a ranching outfit. If we get somebody to buy it, one of the things we've agreed on is a maximum price they can ask for that 430 acres."

Willis said if a complete sale to a development company doesn't pan out, a back-up plan is in place in which the EDC or city will buy 40 acres of the land to give to an anchor business prospect in the area.

"If we needed to give that away to a really great prospect to kickstart that TIRZ," Willis said. TIRZ stands for Tax Increment Reinvestment Zone, a legal structure that diverts a portion of property tax in a designated zone to reinvestment in improving the area as an inducement for further companies to locate in the area.

Willis said he plans for the EDC to continue working with the City of Big Spring on the downtown TIRZ, and encouraging cooperation between the City and County governments.

During the meeting, the board also approved minutes of its June 21 meeting and the June Investment Report and Financial statements.

At the end of the meeting, the board met in executive session, but took no action when it emerged into open session.

No injuries have been reported as a result of either fire.

A combination of near-record and record temperatures approaching 110 degrees Fahrenheit (43 degrees Celsius) combined with breezes gusting as high as 30 mph (40-50 kph) and drought conditions leave the region ripe for fire, the forest service said.

The National Weather Service has issued a red flag fire warning and excessive heat warnings for northern and central Texas and western and eastern Oklahoma for Wednesday.

Wightman wins 1500 on night filled with surprises at worlds

By PAT GRAHAM

AP Sports Writer

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The look of disbelief on British 1,500-meter champion Jake Wightman's face as he crossed the finish line captured the evening best. "Crazy," he said.

Nothing quite went to script, yet everything seemed almost perfect on a wild Tuesday night at the world championships.

The in-stadium announcer for Wightman's race was none other than his dad, Geoff. Handing Jake Wightman the gold medal after the race was none other than British middle-distance great Sebastian Coe, who also happens to be the World Athletics President and one of Wightman's mentors.

"What else could I ask for?" Jake Wightman said.

Almost lost in all those good feelings was that Olympic champion Jakob Ingebrigtsen of Norway finished second in this one and his countryman, Karsten Warholm of Norway in the night's last race, the 400-meter hurdles.

Wightman's win arrived because he decided to take a chance and go all-out with about 200 meters to go.

"I thought, I'm going to give this a go. If I end up finishing fourth, whatever. I gave it a go to try to win," Wightman said.

Other surprises included 100-meter champion Fred Kerley suffering a cramp in the semifinals of the 200 and not advancing.

And Warholm's loss — chalked up to a bad hamstring that's been bugging him this season — was a win for Alison Dos Santos of Brazil. Not that huge of a surprise, though it did open the door for American Trevor Bassitt to take surprise third, then withstand a tackle from the silver medalist, teammate Rai Benjamin.

"Just amazing," Benjamin said. "So proud of him."

Warholm, Benjamin and Dos Santos have formed the Big Three in the event. So any time they don't end up on the podium it's a shocker.

The 24-year-old Bassitt used the underdog card to his advantage. After the race, he replicated NBA standout Steph Curry's iconic "night, night" gesture. No one will sleep on him again.

"I knew for me there really wasn't that much pressure from the outside," Bassitt said. "I knew if I got a medal people would be shocked. I knew if I didn't get a medal it would be like, 'OK, he really wasn't supposed to.' I feel like I belong in that pedigree in that group of three. I feel like today proved it."

Dos Santos powered down the homestretch to take the title and finish in a championship-record time of 46.29 seconds. That broke Kevin Young's world-championship record of 47.18 seconds set in 1993 in Germany.

No wonder Dos Santos gave two bows to the crowd.

"The energy of the crowd was amazing," Dos Santos said. "I felt their love, people hugging me. When you win, you start being everyone's favorite."

Warholm said the focus on getting ready, but his winning not as much. "I've only been focusing on getting ready, and today I went all or nothing, and unfortunately it was nothing," said Warholm, the Olympic champion and world-record holder. "I've just got to live with that."

Maybe the biggest shocker of the night was that Wightman's dad was able to keep it together on the call in the stadium, even with his own son about to win.

"I have to keep it neutral," he explained. "So there's things you can do just to stop yourself from getting emotional."

Wightman finished in a time of 3 minutes, 29.23 seconds. His win broke a string of five straight world 1,500 titles by the Kenyans. Spain's Mohamed Katir flew down the homestretch to take home bronze.

"To take the win, I think it will take a long time to sink in," Wightman said. "I just wanted to show I was in good shape and to build on it."

Other winners included Australia's Eleanor Patterson in the women's high jump and Kristjan Čeh of Slovenia in the men's discus.

Earlier in the night, Kerley slowed down midway through his 200-meter semifinal due to a cramp and finished sixth. His thoughts of two individual medals at the first worlds held on U.S. soil were dashed.

Kerley, once a 400-meter specialist who moved down in distance before last year's Olympics, won the 100 in 9.86 seconds and was expected to lead the Americans in the 4x100 relay this weekend. He hasn't been ruled out.

Kerley's departure opens a less-challenging path for Noah Lyles, the defending world champion, 18-year-old Erriyon Knighton, and top-ranked Kenny Bednarek, all of whom advanced. The trio had the top three times, led by Lyles at 19.62 seconds.

The Jamaican women are poised for another sprint sweep after qualifying three for the final in the 200. Shelly-Ann Fraser-Pryce, Shericka Jackson and Elaine Thompson-Herah — the finishing order of the 100 — all advanced. Jackson had the fastest time at 21.67.

It was an easy night at the track for the medal favorites in the women's 400 hurdles. Olympic champion and world-record holder Sydney McLaughlin, defending world champion Dalilah Muhammad and Olympic bronze medalist Femke Bol of the Netherlands easily won their first-round heats.

"This event has become one of the main focuses for the last couple of years," Muhammad said. "It could be any one of our days. So we'll just see how it goes."

Stanton, Buxton lead AL over NL in 9th straight All-Star win

By BETH HARRIS

AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Giancarlo Stanton homered into an sweet spot in his Dodger Stadium homecoming at the All-Star Game, putting his name alongside some of the sluggers he loved watching from the left field seats as a kid.

Byron Buxton followed with another drive and the American League won its ninth straight Midsummer Classic, beating the National League 3-2 on Tuesday night.

AL manager Dusty Baker reminded his team of the winning streak before the game.

"We had to hold it down for him and keep it going," Stanton said.

Fans rooting for a tie score after nine innings so they could see a first-time home run derby decide the winner instead of extra innings didn't get their wish.

Instead, the back-to-back homers in the fourth inning were the difference as the AL boosted its overall edge to 47-43-2.

Facing 11-game winner Tony Gonsolin of the Dodgers, Stanton's impressive 457-foot, two-run shot landed in the left-field pavilion.

"He smokes them," NL manager Brian Snitker said. "Big, strong kid."

Stanton and his father, Mike, would sit out there after buying tickets off scalpers for whatever price they could afford.

"My Pops took me to my first Dodger game, showed me how to have love for this game and now we're here," the New York Yankees slugger said. "Look at us, it's just incredible."

Despite his love for the home team, Stanton thrilled at seeing the visiting sluggers.

"It was really the big boppers when they came into town," he said. "I wanted to see (Mark) McGwire, (Sammy) Sosa and (Barry) Bonds, even if it was two at-bats. All that wraps around full circle."

Stanton was chosen the game's MVP, receiving a glass bat engraved with his name from two-time MVP Steve Garvey and Billie Jean King, part of the Dodgers ownership.

"It hasn't fully sank in," he said. "It's going to be an amazing memory for all of our lives."

The homer ended Stanton's career 0 for 7 skid in the game and at 111.2 mph, it was the hardest-hit homer in an All-Star Game tracked by Statcast. Also scoring was José Ramírez, tying the game 2-2.

Four pitches later, Buxton went deep to give the AL a 3-2 lead against a clearly frustrated Gonsolin, who took the loss.

Nine-time All-Star Clayton Kershaw got the first start of his career for the NL in his home ballpark, with the Dodgers hosting for the first time since 1980. Los Angeles Angels two-way star Shohei Ohtani got the game's first hit on Kershaw's first pitch.

Framber Valdez of Houston got the win, tossing a scoreless third inning.

AL starter Shane Bieber of Cleveland gave up two runs and four hits. The first-time All-Star, who owns an MLB-leading 1.71 ERA, had allowed four hits or fewer in his last seven starts.

McClanahan combined with 10 other pitchers on the five-hitter. Cleveland closer Emmanuel Clase put on quite a show, striking out the side in the ninth to earn the save.

Austin Riley's single in the eighth was the NL's only hit after the first inning.

Ohtani led off for the AL as the designated hitter. Interviewed moments before the start, the Japanese superstar said, in English, he was going to swing. He cracked a 91-mph fastball into center field on the first pitch.

"I was definitely swinging a hundred percent," Ohtani later said through a translator. "Kershaw has really good command."

His hit snapped an 0 for 8 streak as a hitter against Kershaw. Last year, Ohtani was the starting pitcher and led off as the DH in the AL's 5-2 win at Denver. He didn't pitch this year so he can start Friday in the Angels' first game after the break at Atlanta.

"I mean, you can't throw the first pitch of an All-Star Game as a giving ball," Kershaw said. "You kind of had to give him a heater there, I think just for everything. Had to do it."

But the three-time NL Cy Young Award winner had the last word. Kershaw fired a pickoff throw to first that caught Ohtani off the bag.

"Honestly, I didn't know quite know what to throw yet. Sometimes I throw over there for a second to be convicted with the pitch," Kershaw said. "I wasn't trying to pick him off. I was trying to delay the game for a bit, but it worked out."

Then the Yankees' Aaron Judge, who leads the majors in home runs, went down swinging. After Rafael Devers walked, Vladimir Guerrero Jr. grounded into a fielder's choice, and Kershaw walked off to applause from the appreciative crowd.

"I tried to take a minute at the beginning to take it all in and look around, which I usually never do," Kershaw said. "It kind of calmed everything down for me and then I had a lot of fun."

The NL wasted no time in taking its first 2-0 lead in 10 years. Styling in yellow spikes and alternate yellow and red sleeves, Ronald Acuña Jr. led off the bottom of the first with a ground-rule double to left and scored on Mookie Betts' single. Paul Goldschmidt hit a solo homer with two outs.

In between runs, Guardians second baseman Andrés Giménez made a defensive stop on Manny

Machado and followed with a dazzling behind-the-back toss to shortstop Tim Anderson, who threw to first to complete the double play.

A sellout crowd of 52,518 filled Dodger Stadium two years after the third-oldest ballpark in the majors was supposed to host before the game was canceled because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

HERE'S TO YOU, MS. ROBINSON

Dodgers outfielder Mookie Betts, with all of the other All-Stars bunched behind him, led the crowd in sending out 100th birthday wishes to Rachel Robinson. On his 1-2-3 count, the crowd and players shouted "Happy birthday, Rachel!" The widow of Jackie Robinson didn't travel from her home in Connecticut. She visited Dodger Stadium in April on Jackie Robinson Day to mark the 75th anniversary of her husband breaking baseball's color barrier with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947. Jackie Robinson's achievement was honored with on-field comments by Oscar-winning actor Denzel Washington and a presentation on the video boards.

FIRST PITCH

Backed by a mariachi band, Dodgers great Fernando Valenzuela tossed out the ceremonial first pitch. Fittingly, first-time All-Star Alejandro Kirk of Toronto served as catcher. Kirk and Valenzuela were both born in Mexico. Fernandomania gripped the Dodgers in 1981, when the left-hander won Rookie of the Year and the Cy Young Award in helping LA win the World Series.

FASHION CRITICS

The reviews were mostly negative for the second straight year on the All-Star uniforms. The AL wore dark gray uniforms that blended into the plate umpire's black shirt and dark gray pants. The NL wore all-white uniforms. Both had gold lettering. Fans were critical on social media, with "atrocious" a frequent critique. Last year, MLB went away from wearing traditional jerseys, which met with heavy online criticism.

MIC'ED UP MANOAH

Alek Manoah, Toronto's expressive right-hander, wore a microphone and earpiece while pitching the second inning, engaging in an entertaining conversation with Fox analyst and Hall of Famer John Smoltz. "How hard am I throwing?" Manoah asked early. He also sought scouting reports on Joc Pederson and Acuña Jr. Manoah did fine, striking out three and also plunking Jeff McNeil with a pitch. A lot of players were mic'ed up. Fans heard Judge and Stanton talking back and forth while playing the outfield, and Yankees batterymates Nestor Cortes and Jose Trevino talking while working together.

Martian Send-Off

The moon and Mars align in Taurus for the send-off of the Cancer sun signifying financial exchanges like those that might occur between a parent and a child before the child goes off on a trip. Money for food, transit, entertainment and souvenirs will be handed over in a moment of caretaking as all parties look toward adventure's horizon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You were eager for good to triumph over evil. Now you realize it's not so much about good and evil as it is about power and how a game is played. Rules will be broken by all sides.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Only untrustworthy people constantly talk about how good they are. Actions speak even when the actor is unaware of what they are saying. Those busy doing what's right might have little time left for hype.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). A case of arrested development will be featured, with people trapped at a point of growth they do not know how to move beyond. The stunted are likely oblivious to their own behavior. Compassion is called for.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You'll take on tasks you are not yet equipped to handle, nor do you fully understand what they entail. You'll start without guidance but keep seeking help and along the way you'll pick up the mentor you need.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You've experienced the quick brilliance of sheer inspiration, but the muses are fickle. More typically, what brings about your best is a bit of outside pressure. It's on today!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Your self-doubts are normal but unhelpful, so you may as well stop. Your wishes are not unreasonable fantasies. If you don't feel your hopes are within your grasp, you haven't surrounded yourself with the right people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). While it's wonderful to get what you want, it does come with a downside. Suddenly, you are responsible for protecting and maintaining the gift, as well as being grateful for it and using it accordingly. Wish carefully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You'll be mightily productive working with those whose gifts are complementary to yours but not identical. They share your values, not your strengths. You'll accomplish together what you couldn't do alone.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Sometimes relationships require work, but you shouldn't have to work at them all the time. Putting too much emphasis on serving the needs of others will only make them spoiled and you resentful... not great for anyone!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). The ego has a necessary role in your psyche, trying to mediate between all the parts of you. Don't condemn your ego, but don't cater too closely to it either, or believe it as the absolute truth.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). A great well of self-discipline can be accessed. It won't last all day, so use it while you have it. You will expertly manage your emotions, curb your cravings and shine in the social arena.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). "The eye can't see its own lashes" says the proverb, though things change with lash extensions. You'll notice something about yourself. To you it's subtle, but not to them. It's an advantage to see from different perspectives.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 21). Your confidence is high, and for good reason. Your talent, plus inspired action, will equal explosive success. Quite by accident you'll make your way into a stellar team. More highlights: A hobby becomes work, a moment of closure or comeuppance, and trading in "old baggage" for new luggage and celebratory trips. Aries and Pisces adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 8, 19, 3, 33 and 14.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Beloved actor Robin Williams was known for performances that touched on every aspect of the human spirit. With over 100 screen credits in movies and television, the beloved Academy Award winner was exceptionally prolific. Williams was born when the sun, Mars and Uranus were all in the sensitive, intuitive sign of the crab and Mercury was in showstopping Leo. "Everyone you meet is fighting a battle you know nothing about. Be kind. Always." -- Robin Williams

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
