Mandy Haynes New Municipal Judge
Big Spring City Council fills post left by Timothy Green

By ANDREIA MEDLIN
 Reporter

The Big Spring City Council held its regular meeting Tuesday and appointed Mandy Haynes, Legal Assistant in the City Attorney’s Office to replace Timothy Green who retired after 22 years of service.

Big Spring Mayor Robert Moore opened the meeting with an invitation for public comment. No one came forward so Troy Tompkins read the World Polio Day Proclamation. A proclamation designating Oct. 24, as World Polio Day was voted on and passed unanimously.

A proclamation was then read designating Oct. 23-31 as Red Ribbon Week. The motion was passed unanimously.

City Manager Todd Darden presented the City Manager’s report on four items: Update on the large item pickup in district 4. Four tons of large items were picked up for district 4. A decrease from the last pickup. The next large item pickup is for District 5 in November.

The next item was an update on the sports complex water line project. Darden reports that it has been completed after struggling last summer and winter. City crews and the utility department were able to lay the line at the Roy Anderson Sports Complex, according to Darden.

The Festival of Lights was the next item and the project has already been started. An inquiry for the help of inmates was submitted. Volunteers have started on the project. Volunteers to work as greeters are needed as well and for those interested in being a greeter email Hlewis@mybigspring.com Dates for the drive-through event is Nov. 1 through Dec. 31.

Consent items 8 through 12 were unanimously passed and are as follows: Approval of the City Council minutes of the regular meeting of Oct. 11, and the City Council minutes of the Special Meetings of Oct. 10, 12, 17 and 20; Final reading of a Resolution Repealing City Council Resolute 013-2022 which authorized and directed the City Manager to submit an application for a safer grant on behalf of the Fire Department; providing sever-ability; and providing an effective date; Final reading of an ordinance amending chapter 44 “Solid Waste” article I “In General,” Section 44-7 “Collection by City: Exception,” Subsection (d) to update the section with New Big Sandy Landfill address; and amending section 44-8 “Collection of City-Furnished Containers,” Subsection (c), to prohibit the blocking of containers set by the user; Providing for severability; providing for publication; and providing an effective date; Acknowledge receipt of the Big Spring Economic Development Corporation minutes of the regular meeting of Sept. 20.

Blowout at the Bunker slated for Nov. 12

By ANDREIA MEDLIN
 Reporter

After all the Halloween festivities this weekend, don't sit down for too long because there's lots more to do in November.

McMahon-Wrinkle Airport Director Mike Feely wants the public and all veteran's and their families to come out and have a grand time at the Blowout at the Bunker Nov. 12.

The event promises to be an especially fantastic one and will feature rare events not usually seen in Big Spring.

Slated for the ‘blowout’ are a 5K run that will begin at the Vietnam Memorial located at the intersection of Rackley and Swords.

Runners will finish the race at the Hangar 25 Museum located at 1911 Apron Dr.

A drag race featuring drivers from surrounding areas including Midland, Lubbock, and Abilene is also scheduled.

“There are 50 cars that have signed up,” said Feely and continued, “It’s an 1/8th of a mile race with speeds upwards of 170 miles-per-hour.” The drag race will include various divisions from street cars to high performance vehicles, Feely explained.

A military fly-over has been requested as well.

“It’s scheduled to happen, but it’s up to the military,” said Feely.

Car enthusiasts will not be disappointed as a carshow with more than 30 cars will be on display. Food trucks, vendors and a swap meet is also on the board.

“The event is free and is being hosted by the City of Big Spring in connection with the Military Heritage Association to honor our veterans,” said Feely.

“We want the citizens of Big Spring and especially veterans and their families to come out and have a good time.”

The fun starts at 9 a.m. and continues to 8 p.m.

All proceeds will be donated to the Military Heritage Association.

For more information visit facebook.com/blowoutatthebunker or contact the Airpark Director at 432-264-2362.

US sued over lack of protection plan for rare grouse

By SUSAN MONTROYA BRYAN
 Associated Press

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An environmental group is suing U.S. wildlife managers, saying they have failed to protect a rare grouse found in parts of the Midwest that include one of the country’s most prolific areas for oil and gas development.

A lawsuit filed Tuesday by the Center for Biological Diversity says the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is nearly five months late in releasing a final rule outlining protections for the lesser prairie chicken.

Once listed as a threatened species, the prairie chicken’s habitat spans parts of New Mexico, Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas -- including a portion of the oil-rich Permian Basin that straddles the New Mexico-Texas state line. Environmentalists have been pushing to reinstate federal protections for years. They consider the species severely threatened, citing lost and fragmented habitat as the result of oil and gas development, livestock grazing, farming and the building of roads and power lines.

The Fish and Wildlife Service in 2021 proposed listing the southern population in New Mexico and the southern reaches of the Texas Panhandle as endangered and those birds in the northern part of the species’ range as threatened. The agency had a deadline of June 1.

“The oil and gas industry has fought for decades against safeguards for the lesser prairie chicken, and the Fish and Wildlife Service is late issuing its final rule,” said Michael Robinson, a senior conservation advocate with the environment group. “The agency has slow-walked every step, and these imperiled birds keep losing more habitat.”

The Fish and Wildlife Service on Tuesday cited its policy for not commenting on pending litigation.

The species was once thought to number in the millions. Now, surveys show, the five-year average population across the entire range hovers around 30,000 individual birds.

Landowners and the oil and gas industry say they have had success with voluntary conservation programs aimed at protecting habitat and boosting the bird’s numbers.

The Western Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies, which oversees the conservation effort, has yet to report the results of the 2022 survey done earlier this year.

Agriculture Industry Grows Texas

(AUSTIN) — Texas has about 247,000 farms and ranches and 126 million acres of farmland, more than any other state. In 2021, Texas ranked fourth among states for total cash receipts for all agricultural commodities — including Texas' prominent cotton industry in the Panhandle, its cattle ranches in the west and its timber harvesting in the east.

In October's issue of Fiscal Notes, the Comptroller's office looks at the Texas agriculture industry and its outsize impacts on the state and national economy.

"Faced with a myriad of challenges year round, Texas farmers and ranchers are the epitome of hard work and perseverance," Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar said. "I know from experience: I grew up on a farm in a rural community northwest of Houston as the son and grandson of farmers, and I still help out during busy times like the harvest and when conditions are challenging like the exceptional drought that much of the state is experiencing."

This issue of Fiscal Notes also examines health care availability in rural Texas. There are 71 rural counties without a hospital. That means too many rural Texans must travel great distances to receive medical care.

"Our state's policymakers and health experts are putting their heads together to improve health care access in rural areas," Hegar said. "One way to do this is through the statewide expansion of high-speed internet, or broadband, which can provide virtual medical services to Texans who are separated from their nearest health care facility by many miles."

Fiscal Notes furthers the Comptroller's constitutional responsibility to monitor the state's economy and estimate state government revenues. It has been published since 1975, featuring in-depth analysis concerning state finances and original research by subject-matter experts in the Comptroller's office.

Don't Let The Flu Spoil Your Holiday

Special to the Herald

The festive fall season is in full swing – lively football rivalries, exhilarating post-season baseball games, celebratory Halloween festivals, and, unfortunately, the flu. You don't want to miss your favorite fall activities!

Arm yourself with information about how best to protect yourself and your loved ones, and getting a flu vaccine may be the answer to keep you in the game this season.

If you're unsure if a flu vaccine is right for you, you're not alone. To help, UnitedHealthcare has put together valuable facts to debunk the five common flu vaccine myths.

Myth 1: You can get the flu from the flu vaccine.

Every year, some people choose not to get a seasonal flu vaccine because they have heard you can get the flu from the vaccine. However, that's not true. In fact, doctors strongly recommend getting the flu vaccine because it is the best way to help protect yourself from the flu. The flu vaccine has a good safety record, it doesn't cause serious side effects and may even help reduce the seriousness of your symptoms if you do get the flu.

Myth 2: The flu vaccine isn't safe for older adults.

The flu vaccine is safe, simple and a smart choice – no matter your age. In fact, the flu vaccine is especially important if you're 65 or older because older adults are at higher risk for serious flu complications, which could result in a hospital stay.

Myth 3: The flu vaccine causes strong side effects.

Side effects from the flu vaccine are typically mild, if any happen at all. The most common side effects are soreness, redness or tenderness where the shot was given. A low-grade fever, headache or muscle aches may occur but usually only last a day or two. The flu vaccine also doesn't interact with other medications, so you don't have to worry about changing your medication routine.

Myth 4: I got a flu vaccine last year, so I'm fine for this year.

Even if you received a flu shot last year, the CDC recommends a yearly flu vaccine for optimal protection, due to the fact that a person's immunity from vaccination declines with time. Also, the flu viruses are constantly changing so the vaccine is updated each year, as needed.

Myth 5: I got the COVID-19 vaccine, or a booster, and so I can't get the flu vaccine.

The two vaccines are very different and protect you from different viruses. There are no interactions between the two vaccines. Both are recommended by the CDC to help maintain optimal health and you can save a trip by getting both vaccines at the same time.

Whether you are enrolled in Original Medicare or have a Medicare Advantage plan, your flu vaccine is covered at no additional cost. Don't wait to get vaccinated – visit your doctor's office or a participating pharmacy and get your flu vaccine today.

Acknowledge receipt of planning and zoning committee minutes for the regular meeting of Sept. 6.

Item 13-Vouchers was presented by Council member Gloria McDonald and are as follows: $1,037,171.84; $1,154,853.74; and $616,076.69. The motion to accept the vouchers was passed unanimously.

Bids: Item 14 was presented by Assistant City Manager John Medina and was for consideration and possible action on awarding a bid for a 2022 John Deere Backhoe for the Distribution and Collections Department was unanimously approved for the backhoe.

The purchase was made from Yellowhouse Machines and $129,000 was budgeted for the loader. The backhoe total cost was $99,000. The motion passed unanimously.

Item 15 was a similar situation. "We heard there was another one available," said Medina. "We couldn't pass it up." $131,500 was budgeted. The total price was $95,000 with trade-in. Questions were raised in re: the condition of the old backhoes. "One doesn't work," said Medina and explained that maintenance on the old ones was too expensive. The motion passed unanimously.

New business to acknowledge receipt of the quarterly claims and litigation report for the third quarter of 2022 from the City Attorney sent Oct.

11, was approved.

The investment report showed $26 million in the checking account at Prosperity Bank. Investment opportunities are being explored as well as moving funds to high yield accounts. More than 90 percent of property taxes have been collected and sales tax collections are up due to 10 percent inflation. Reports show that the golf course made money this year and the budget will be balanced.

Item 19 was the First reading of an ordinance of the city council of the City of Big Spring, Texas Amending Chapter 2 of the Big Spring amending chapter 2 of the City Code entitled Administration, article VII "Boards and Commissions," Division 4 "Parks and Recreation Board" Section 2-295 by amending subsection (d) and adding a new subsection and amending division 10 "Convention and Visitors Bureau Board," Section 2-315 by adding a new subsection (c) in order to inactivate the said Boards and release members of each board for potential consideration for service on other boards; providing for severability and providing an effective date.

A proposal was made that instead of getting rid of the boards they could be made inactive.

The parks and recreation, and convention and visitors bureau members will be released so can be put on other boards. When the need arises to raise fees for the park pavilions, the boards can be reenacted.

After clarifying the motion as stated by Moore, the proposal was passed 6 to 1.

Item 20 was for the consideration and possible action on an agreement with AirMedCare Network for payroll deduction memberships and authorizing the City Manager or his designee to execute any necessary documents. The motion was unanimously passed.

Item 21 was for the consideration and possible action on a contract extension, amendment 7 with Vector Fleet Management for the annual pricing adjustment and authorizing the city manager or his designee to execute any necessary documents.

The contract with vector fleet was entered in 2013. Vector won proposal that year and has been renewed annually.

The company asked for 3 percent increase in salary which was determined to be fair. Hughes made motion to pass. McDonald seconded.

Council member Troy Tompkins asked why the labor was not in-house.

According to the report, prior to the contract with Vector the department was operating at 85 percent and paying for tools out of pocket. After a vote, the item was approved.

The Auditorium renovations was a highlight of the agenda with updates already completed for $692,525. Darden explained that the HVAC system was installed in 1987 and had spent many years at the mercy of West Texas harsh weather. "It had been patched and repaired to keep it going," said Darden.

We have already updated the sound system and lighting. All that's left to do is some cosmetic work. "Paint, carpet, and replacing the windows," said Darden.

The motion passed 6 to 1.

Items 23 and 24 were presented by Ornelas and involved the timely repair of boarding up of broken windows. "I was picking up trash in the downtown area and noticed many broken windows," Ornelas said and continued, "The ordinance needs to be enforced."

Notices will be sent to property owners who have 30 days to make repairs. "If we are passing ordinances we need to enforce the ordinances we are passing."

Ornelas also spoke about the upcoming renewal of the City Charter. "We have an opportunity to create a new charter," said Ornelas. If nothing else the charter could use some editing. The Council then adjourned into Executive Session in a closed meeting to deliberate the appointment of the new Municipal Judge. After reconvening it was revealed that Mandy Haynes would take the post.

Following brief comment by the Council, the meeting adjourned.

Nola to start World Series Game 1 for Phils, Wheeler Game 2

By DAN GELSTON

AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies will start right-hander Aaron Nola in Game 1 of the World Series against the Houston Astros and last season's NL Cy Young Award runner-up Zack Wheeler in Game 2.

Game 1 of the World Series is Friday night in Houston. Game 2 is Saturday.

"Any time you've got Nola and Wheeler, two top-10 pitchers in the game right now, you feel like you have a chance to win that game," Phillies first baseman Rhys Hoskins said.

Nola is 2-1 with a 3.12 ERA and has struck out 18 in three starts this postseason. He took a perfect game into the seventh inning in the Phillies' 3-0 win over the Astros on Oct. 4 that clinched an NL wild-card spot.

Nola, who went 11-13 with a 3.25 ERA this season, struck out nine and didn't allow a baserunner until Yordan Alvarez singled with two outs in the seventh.

"You can't go wrong with who's going to take the bump out of our starters in that first game," Phillies slugger Kyle Schwarber said. "They've been so good for us the whole year."

The Astros have not lost a game since that date, going 7-0 in the playoffs. Astros manager Dusty Baker has not officially named his starters, though Justin Verlander is widely expected to start Game 1 and Framber Valdez in Game 2.

Verlander struck out 11 and tossed six shutout innings in his lone start against the Yankees in ALCS and Valdez tossed seven scoreless innings in his only start against New York.

The 39-year-old Verlander shows no signs of slowing down and went 18-4, with an MLB-best 1.75 ERA, and 185 strikeouts this season.

"Anybody that can do that for that long, it speaks to his work ethic, it speaks to his competitive nature," Phillies manager Rob Thomson said. "Obviously, he's always had great stuff."

Wheeler is 1-1 with a 1.78 ERA and has struck out 25 and walked three in four postseason starts. He had a no-decision in Philadelphia's NL Championship Series-clinching 4-3 win over San Diego in Game 5.

Wheeler, who experienced soreness after he was smacked by a comebacker on his right leg, gets an extra day of rest.

"Any time we give those guys an extra day, we do it," Thomson said Wednesday.

Nola made his playoff debut this year and went 2-0 without allowing an earned run in 12 2/3 innings as Philadelphia swept the NL wild-card round against St. Louis and upset defending World Series champion Atlanta in the Division Series.

The 29-year-old Nola gave up six runs and seven hits in 4 2/3 innings in his Game 2 loss to San Diego in the NLCS. Thomson said the Phillies did not find evidence as they watched video that Nola tipped his pitches in San Diego.

"We didn't and we looked at it," Thomson said. "Any time that type of thing happens, we're always looking at it, we're always checking and making sure we've got everything covered. I think there was some bad execution in there as well as they were hunting fastballs."

Thomson did not reveal his starters for Games 3 and 4 but said he would stick with a four-man rotation. Left-hander Ranger Suarez could start Game 3. The Phillies used Noah Syndergaard to start a game in the NLDS and Bailey Falter started Game 4 in the NLCS.

Syndergaard allowed one run in three innings against Atlanta. Falter only retired two batters in his start.

Thomson said he wouldn't announce any roster changes until Friday.

The Astros won 19 more games than the Phillies in the regular season and are the betting favorite to win the World Series, per FanDuel.

Schwarber powers Phillies in postseason with mythical homers

By DAN GELSTON

AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Kyle Schwarber crushed a 98 mph slider beyond the center field fence and the ball disappeared into a thicket of English ivy, Arborvitae, Holly, and other evergreen flourishing as the greenery backdrop at Citizens Bank Park.

Most of Schwarber's homers land -- and yes, they do land even as some he hits might best be viewed through the Hubble once they reach orbit -- in easy to track spots.

This particular ball, hit against San Diego during Game 4 of the National League Championship Series, almost needed a search party to locate. The area was swept, not by the grounds crew as might be the assumption, but by the team in charge of collecting game-used memorabilia. Schwarber doesn't make it easy; he hit two into the bushes in one game this year and it couldn't be verified which ball was which.

The NLCS ball was, indeed, found (though the authenticator was careful not to disturb one worn ball resting in a bird's nest).

"Trees and shrubs, you've got to really look through," said John Hollinger, who runs the authentication program. "Balls do get wedged in different spots."

Schwarber will say there is no spinach that fuels his muscle -- even as his mammoth shots through the years have sunk into ivy or even smashed car windshields as he did in college -- and that he's just a slugger who happens to have a little extra oomph in his swing.

Let everyone else stand in awe of Schwarber's prodigious blasts, that include the NL-best 46 he hit this season and three more in the NLCS. The Philadelphia Phillies slugger only counts the runs that each homer scores, not the distant distance.

"Everyone likes to talk about the far homers," Schwarber said Wednesday. "I really don't care how far they go for me. It's more about getting a run on the board."

Schwarber has bashed and mashed baseballs his entire career and his power surge in the first season of his $79 million, four-year contract with the Phillies has fueled their run to the World Series. Schwarber took his hacks during Wednesday's workout at the ballpark before the team left for Houston. The Phillies will start right-hander Aaron Nola in Game 1 and right-handed ace Zack Wheeler in Game 2.

Schwarber has done the bulk of his damage from the leadoff spot, as the game moves far away from the days of speedy table-setters such as Vince Coleman or Ricky Henderson at the top of the lineup. Schwarber struck out 200 times and hit only .218 but had a knack for hitting some of the memorable homers of Philadelphia's surprising run at the penant.

Schwarber slammed a homer off the second-deck facade on opening day in his first at-bat with the Phillies. He led off Game 3 of the NLCS with a homer off Padres ace Joe Musgrove. And the capper, so far, of all the Schwarby bombs -- as they're affectionately known in Philly -- the 488-foot blast in Game 1 against the Padres that had an exit velocity of 120 mph.

That homer -- the second longest overall in the postseason since Statcast started tracking distance in 2015 -- launched 1,001 memes thanks to teammate Bryce Harper's bug-eyed, mouth-agape reaction in the dugout.

"I thought it got pretty small pretty fast," Harper said after the game.

The 29-year-old Schwarber simply remembered the homer came in a postseason win. It's a run no matter that Schwarber turns into some sort of Paul Bunyan mythical figure that can scare the leather off the ball with each colossal moon shot.

"Who cares about distance?" he asked. "I think it's more about trying to impact a game in any way that you can, especially in important times, too."

Schwarber made big October games a habit since he broke into the big leagues with the Chicago Cubs in 2015 and hit five homers in the postseason. The next year, Schwarber tore two ligaments in his left knee after a frightening collision with outfielder Dexter Fowler while chasing down a flyball. It was only the third game of the season and Schwarber about figured his year was over.

But 201 days later, and following months of relentless rehab, Schwarber returned to help the Cubs break the curse and win the 2016 World Series. He hit .412 with seven hits, one double and two RBIs in five World Series games.

He had a brief 72-game stint last season with Washington before he was traded to Boston. Naturally, Schwarber had a grand slam for the Red Sox in the AL Championship Series.

It's certainly not his first postseason rodeo -- Schwarber's popularity soared like one of his homers after he rode a mechanical bull at the Phillies' NLCS party at a bar across the street from the ballpark.

"He's done it in a lot of different places, and when that usually happens, that tends to not be an accident," Phillies first baseman Rhys Hoskins said. "Some guys just have that knack. They know what it takes to win. They know how to bring guys together, which I think has probably been some of the most important stuff he's done in a Phillies uniform."

Phillies manager Rob Thomson lauded Schwarber's clubhouse contributions on Wednesday and noted how the slugger has seemed to enjoy holding court in front of his locker with younger teammates.

"He's very outgoing and very honest with people," Thomson said. "He jokes around about himself a lot which makes people feel comfortable to approach him. He helps the veterans, he helps the kids. And he goes through slumps, too, or periods of time when he's not swinging the bat particularly well. Even though he's trying to fix his own stuff, he's still trying to help other people. That's a great sign of a great teammate."

NCAA approves new guidance on player endorsement deals

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The NCAA's Division I Board of Directors approved on Wednesday new guidance to members on name, image and likeness activities, clarifying how schools, coaches and staffers can be involved with athletes' endorsement and sponsorship deals.

The latest clarifications to the NCAA's interim NIL policy creates no new rules, but are intended to give athletic departments a better idea of what types of support fall outside existing bylaws.

"The NIL landscape is constantly evolving, and the Board of Directors decided it was important to offer further guidance with respect to a number of key questions that have arisen recently," said Georgia President Jere Morehead, chairman of the D-I board.

"As we continue to reinforce current NCAA rules, we expect to offer further guidance in the future on what should and should not be done when engaged in these activities."

The NCAA spelled out numerous activities that were permissible and impermissible.

The last time the NCAA provided guidance to members it was to clarify rules related to booster-funded collectives, their roles in providing NIL deals to athletes and recruiting.

The latest guidance said school personnel, including coaches, can be part of fundraising for collectives, booster-funded organizations that provide opportunities for athletes to profit from their names, images and likenesses.

But coaches and school staff members cannot donate directly to collectives.

"School staff members also cannot be employed by or have an ownership stake in an NIL entity," the NCAA said.

"Schools also can request donors provide funds to collectives and other NIL entities, provided the schools do not request that those funds be directed to a specific sport or student-athlete."

Warm and wow guests with homemade hot mulled apple cider

When hosting friends and family at home, it’s understandable that hosts direct so much of their focus to the foods they plan to serve. The main course is often the focal point and most memorable aspect of a dinner party, and that’s true whether the get-together is a backyard barbecue, a holiday meal with the family or a formal affair with colleagues.

Food might be a focal point, but guests also will need something to drink. Traditional spir- its like wine and cock- tails are the standard, but hosts who want to get a little creative should not hesitate to do so. When choosing a special beverage, timing is everything. Guests wil want to cool down on warm summer evenings, so something cold and refreshing can make for the perfect signature cocktail. When hosting on nights when the mercury has dropped, a warm beverage can heat up guests in a matter of minutes. On such nights, hosts can serve this version of “Hot Mulled (Sherried) Apple Cider” courtesy of Laurey Masterton’s “The Fresh Honey Cookbook” (Storey). One added benefit to Masterton’s recipe is it can produce a welcoming winter aroma, helping hosts establish a warm ambiance for the festivities.

Hot Mulled (Sherried) Apple Cider Serves 16

- 1 gallon apple cider
- 1 orange, unpeeled, cut into slices
- 1/4 cup whole cloves
- 4 sticks cinna- mon

- 1/4 cup honey, preferably cranberry honey
- 1 cup sherry (optional)

1. Combine the cider, orange slices, cloves, cinnamon, and honey in a large pot over medium heat. If you are picky about things floating in your cider, make a little bundle out of cheesecloth and place the cinnamon and cloves inside before adding to the cider. I like to chew on cloves, so I just toss everything in. Bring to a boil, and then reduce to a simmer over low heat for an hour or so to spread these lovely winter aromas around your home.

2. If you’re serving it to adults, add the sherry. It might make everyone want to go sledding!

Opening lead — king of spades.

But if you play low from dummy and trump the king of spades, preserving dummy's ace for later use, nothing can stop you from making the slam.

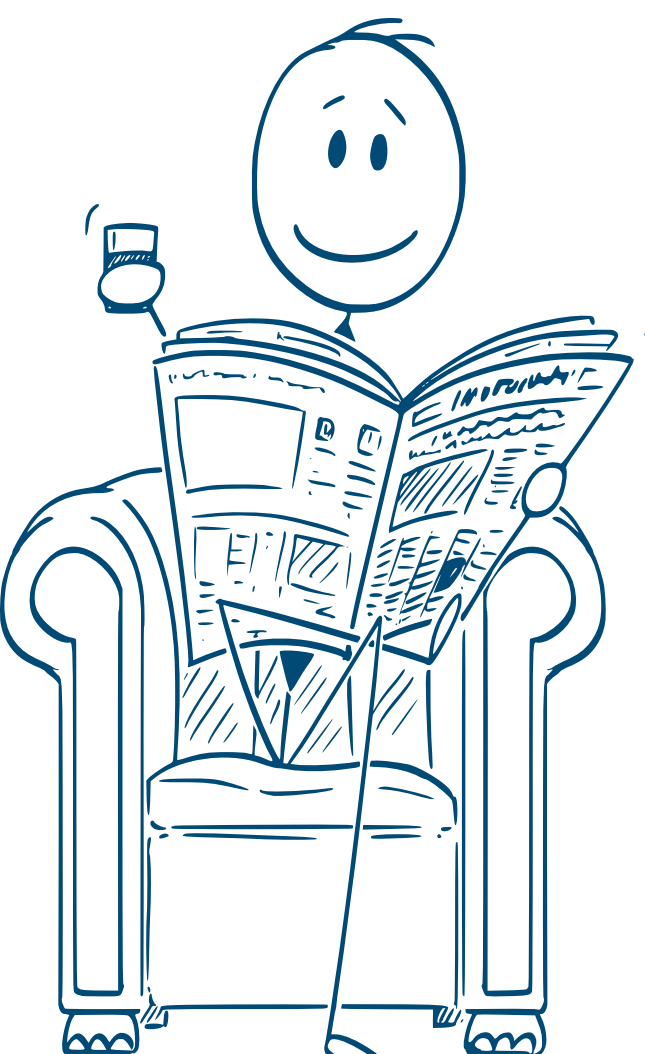

Let's see what happens if you ruff the king of spades. First you cash the ace of trump, both defenders following suit. Next you lead the four of diamonds, giving West a choice of going up with the ace or allowing you to win with dummy's jack.

If West goes up with the ace, that is the only trick you will lose since you can later dispose of your J-10-7 of clubs on dummy's ace of spades and Q-J of diamonds.

And if West allows dummy to win the first diamond instead, you'll be on equally firm ground. In that case, you'll discard the king of diamonds on the ace of spades, give up a club trick and later ruff two clubs in dummy to finish with 12 tricks.

The disadvantage of winning West's opening spade lead with the ace is that it forces you to choose a discard from your hand before you're ready to do so. By delaying the discard until later on, you put yourself in a position where, if West has the ace of diamonds, you can make the slam regardless of how he elects to defend.

Tomorrow: Test your play.

Today in History: October 27, Sadat and Begin win Nobel

Today is Thursday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 2022. There are 65 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Oct. 27, 1918, a gunman shot and killed 11 congregants and wounded six others at Pittsburgh's Tree of Life synagogue in the deadliest attack on Jews in U.S. history; authorities said the suspect, Robert Bowers, raged against Jews during and after the rampage. (Bowers, whose trial is now set for April 2023, has pleaded not guilty; prosecutors are seeking a death sentence.)

On this date:

In 1787, the first of the Federalist Papers, a series of essays calling for ratification of the United States Constitution, was published.

In 1904, the first rapid transit subway, the IRT, was inaugurated in New York City.

In 1914, author-poet Dylan Thomas was born in Swansea, Wales.

In 1941, the Chicago Daily Tribune dismissed the possibility of war with Japan, editorializing, "She cannot attack us. That is a military impossibility. Even our base at Hawaii is beyond the effective striking power of her fleet."

In 1954, U.S. Air Force Col. Benjamin O. Davis Jr. was promoted to brigadier general, the first Black officer to achieve that rank in the USAF.

In 1962, during the Cuban Missile Crisis, a U-2 reconnaissance aircraft was shot down while flying over Cuba, killing the pilot, U.S. Air Force Maj. Rudolf Anderson Jr.

In 1971, the Democratic Republic of the Congo was renamed the Republic of Zaire (but it went back to its previous name in 1997).

In 1978, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin (men-AH'-kem BAY'-gihnn) were named winners of the Nobel Peace Prize for their progress toward achieving a Middle East accord.

In 1995, a sniper killed one soldier and wounded 18 others at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. (Paratrooper William J. Kreutzer was convicted in the shootings, and condemned to death; the sentence was later commuted to life in prison.)

In 1998, Hurricane Mitch cut through the western Caribbean, pummeling coastal Honduras and Belize; the storm caused several thousand deaths in Central America in the days that followed.

In 2004, the Boston Red Sox won their first World Series since 1918, sweeping the St. Louis Cardinals in Game 4, 3-0.

In 2020, Amy Coney Barrett was formally sworn as the Supreme Court's ninth justice, her oath administered in private by Chief Justice John Roberts.

Ten years ago: The eastern United States braced for high winds, torrential rains, power outages and even snow from Hurricane Sandy, which was headed north from the Caribbean toward a merger with two wintry weather systems.

Five years ago: Spain fired Catalonia's regional government and dissolved its parliament, after a Catalan declaration of independence that flouted the country's constitution. Golfer Tiger Woods pleaded guilty to reckless driving, resolving charges from an arrest in which he was found passed out in his car with prescription drugs and marijuana in his system. The White House said federal officials had played no role in selecting a tiny Montana company from Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke's hometown for a $300 million contract to help restore Puerto Rico's power grid.

This past Friday, the Big Spring Steers hosted the San Angelo Lakeview Chiefs at Memorial Stadium in a crucial district matchup. To make it simple, win and the Steers are in the playoffs. Lose and the chance of making the playoffs becomes pretty tough. The Steers chose to go with the first option.

Big Spring came away with the huge 21-7 win over the Chiefs that snapped the Steers two-game losing streak but more importantly puts the Steers in the playoffs. The Steers offense put up some impressive numbers once again, but it was the defense that led the way.

Big Spring's defense had a huge game last Friday night as they held the Chiefs to just 115 yards of total offense and forced a total of six turnovers to secure the win. The only touchdown scored by the Chiefs came on a kickoff return in the second half.

"How about that defense." Big Spring head coach Cannon McWilliams said after the game. "Our defense played great tonight they kept us in the game and it's a big reason we came away with the win. Our offense made plays when we needed too but again our defense played a big part in that." McWilliams added.

The first half was all defense from both the Steers and Chiefs as both teams would make crucial stops when they needed too. The Steers secondary had a great first half as they intercepted the ball three times.

The game would go scoreless till about midway through the second quarter when Steer running back Kavien Ford punched it in from 8 yards out to put Big Spring on the board first. The first half would end with the Steers on top 7-0.

Big Spring was set to receive the opening kickoff to start the second half but the Chiefs opted to go with an onside kick. The Chiefs were successful and would start the second half on their own 48 yard line.

The Steers defense would go on to stifle the Chiefs momentum as they made a crucial stop and caused two fumbles in the third quarter to give the Steers offense an opportunity to score with a little over 3 minutes left in the third quarter.

BIG SPRING HERALD PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Big Spring's

Johnny Rios

The Big Spring Steers defense played a huge role in getting its first district win over San Angelo last Friday night. Steers defensive lineman Johnny Rios played a big role in the Steers defensive effort as he finished the night with 8.5 tackles, 4 tackles for loss, a sack and a forced fumble to lead the Steers on the defensive side

Coahoma's

Jaidyn Vineyard

Coahoma bounced back from its tough loss against Idalou the week before beating long time rival Stanton at home. Coahoma sophomore running back Jaidyn Vineyard had a career high game last Friday night against Stanton. Vineyard rushed for 172 yards on 22 carries to help lead the Bulldogs to a 40-12 victory over the Buffaloes

Forsan's

Kevin Kligora

The Forsan Buffaloes found themselves in a defensive battle last Friday night against the Christoval Cougars. Still Forsan running back Kevin Kligora found a way to rush for over a hundred yards and score one of Forsan's two touchdowns on the night to lead the Buffaloes to a 14-6 win over the Cougars.

The Bulldogs are now 6-2 for the season and will travel to Lubbock Friday to take on Lubbock Roosevelt. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

This time the other team was doing the shooting. Last week in a 28-16 loss to Idalou, Coahoma shot its own self in the foot by turning the ball over four times. Friday at Bill Easterling Stadium the Stanton Buffaloes did the favor for the Bulldogs, turning the ball over four times, all in the first half.

It came out to a convincing 40-12 victory for the Bulldogs, putting themselves back in the thick of the district race. Coahoma heads into this week's matchup against Lubbock Roosevelt with a 2-1 league mark and 6-2 overall record.

Stanton's hope for a playoff berth is dwindling away with its 0-3 district mark. The Buffaloes are 2-5 overall. Stanton damaged itself early losing the ball four times in the first half, which led to a 27-6 Coahoma halftime lead. Mikey Hernandez and Billy Bailey picked off Stanton quarterback Jake Benedict. It didn't help that the Buffaloes also lost two fumbles.

However, Coahoma was only able to convert one turnover into a score.

That came in the second quarter after Hernandez's interception.

It was a freshman connection when Body Cox hooked up with Landon Wells for a 20-yard scoring pass, giving Coahoma a 20-0 lead at the time.

Stanton answered back quickly thanks to a 46-yard Benedict pass to Stanton receiver Bret Davis. Benedict would go on to score on a two-yard quarterback sneak. Coahoma showed its quick strike potential by going 57 yards in four plays, capped off by a 35-yard scoring pass from Cox to Austin Perkins.

The drive took 56 seconds. Perkins pierced the Stanton defense in the first half for five receptions for 80 yards and two touchdowns.

The Coahoma passing game clicked when it had to, but the catalyst of the offensive movement was sophomore running back Jaidyn Vineyard who sliced the Stanton defense for a career-high 172 yards on 22 carries and two touchdowns.

The Steers would get on the board again thanks to wide receiver Zeyire Franklin. Steer quarterback Gavin Padron connected with Franklin on 27 yard touchdown pass to put the Steers up 14-0 with two and half minutes left in the third quarter.

On the ensuing kickoff the Chiefs would finally get on the board thanks San Angelo's Adrian Flores as he ran it in for a 60 yard touchdown to cut the Steers lead by one possession with just under two minutes left in the third quarter. San Angelo would end the third quarter with an interception heading into the fourth quarter with the momentum.

The Steers defense would again come up with a huge stop to start the fourth quarter stifling the Chiefs momentum. After regaining possession the Steers would get on the board again thanks to Kavien Ford. Ford would run it in this time for 3 yards out to put the Steers up 21-7.

Big Spring's defense would finish out the game on a strong note as the Steers secondary came away with its fourth interception on the night. That play would do it in for the Chiefs as the Steers offense ran out the clock to secure its first district win.

With the win the Steers are now 5-3 overall and 1-1 in district. The Steers also secured a playoff spot with the win.

"This win feels really good we needed this tonight. You know this game has been a year in the making we went down there (San Angelo) last year and they came away with the win spoiling our chances of a district title so to get the win here tonight is great." McWilliams said.

"You know this puts us in the playoffs and that was one of our goals coming into this game. Now that we won there's no pressure on us now so we can go out now and play a little more relaxed and stress free." McWilliams added.

The Steers offense finished the night with a total of 405 yards of offense. Steer quarterback Gavin Padron finished the night completing 26 out of 42 pass attempts for 257 yards, one touchdown, and three interceptions. Steer running back Kavien Ford led in rushing finishing the game with 128 yards on 26 carries and two touchdowns.

Steer receiver Zeyire Franklin led in receiving as finished the game with 9 catches for 88 yards and one touchdown. Donavyn Hilario finished behind Franklin with 7 catches for 80 yards.

Big Spring's defensive end Keyshaun Woodruff had a huge night as he had a total of 7 tackles with 2 tackles for loss and 1 sack. Steers defensive lineman Johnny Rios had 8.5 tackles, 4 tackles for loss, a sack and a forced fumble to lead the Steers defensive effort.

The Steers have short turnaround this week as they travel to Lubbock on Thursday to take on the Estacado Matadors at Lowery Field. The Matadors are coming off a 52-14 loss to Brownwood last week and will look to bounce back in Thursday's game.

"They're a really good team that have some really talented players that can make the big plays," McWilliams said of Lubbock Estacado. "We just have work on the little things offensively and just keep getting better overall. It'll be a tough game but I like our chances." McWilliams added.

Kickoff is set for 7 p.m. in Lubbock at Lowery Field

Equally as impressive was opposing Stanton sophomore running back Kameron Isemann who ran for 173 yards on 25 carries. Coahoma's defense contained him much better in the second because it had 122 yards at the half. A lot of those second half yards came when Coahoma was freely substituting its defense last in the game.

Coahoma head coach Chris Joslin said his squad tried different offensive looks in the game. "We were trying to do some new stuff. My philosophy is to give the defense as many different formations as we can," said Joslin. He added that his team didn't take the loss to Idalou kindly. "The kids were real mad after the loss to Idalou. They came out this week with fire in them. We had the best Monday practice we've had. They weren't going to let what happened to them last year (30-17 loss to Stanton) happen to them again," he concluded.

The Bulldogs will be at Lubbock Roosevelt Friday at 7 p.m.

Forsan takes sole possession of 1st place in District 3-2A with 14-6 win over Christoval

Left, Forsan running back Kevin Kligora runs in for the Buffaloes first touchdown of the night in the fourth quarter. Right, the Forsan Buffaloes demonstrated a strong defense against Christoval Cougars on Friday night for a 14-6 victory. This win brings the Buffaloes to 3-0 in district play and in sole possession of first place in District 3-2A play.

By AMANDA DUFORAT

Contributing Writer

Forsan's game against Christoval last Friday night was a defensive battle between two unbeaten teams. The stakes, sole possession of first place in District 3-2A play. Through the first three quarters both teams defenses went head to head but in the end, the Buffaloes came out with the huge victory with a final score of 14-6.

The defensive teams showed up to play Friday night as Forsan looked to continue their undefeated district play. Forsan Buffalo Nolan Park kicked off the game launching the ball into the endzone.

The teams traveled up and down the field as first through fourth downs continued to roll. Both Forsan's and Christoval's offensive lines did what they could to carry their teams across the field, but both teams' defenses were not letting up on either side.

The first quarter rolled by with no score on the board. The second quarter was a repeat of the first with the score 0-0 heading into halftime.

The teams rushed back onto the field with the same energy demonstrated in the first half, and the battle of defensive lines continued. The third quarter ended with still no score on the board for either team.

Every advance that was made from the Cougars was met with resistance and for the most part stopped dead in its tracks by a dominant Buffaloes defense led by Grant Roman and Nolan Park.

As the fourth quarter started, Christoval's offense found its momentum as they drove all the way down inside the 10 yard line. The Cougars were denied once again as the Buffaloes defense answered back pushing them through all four downs and regaining control of the ball.

"The defense played great throughout the game and had a huge goal line stand in the 3rd quarter that gave us the momentum we needed in the second half," Forsan football coach Dave Park, said.

With 10:33 left in the game, #35 for Christoval claimed the first touchdown of the game. The extra point attempt by the Cougars was no good leaving the score 6-0 for Christoval.

The Buffaloes wasted little time in responding back with a score of its own. On the Buffaloes next possession, Forsan running back Kevin Kligora, #33, put Forsan on the board as he ran the ball in from around the 20 yard line.

Buffalo Kicker Nolan Park added the extra point for the Buffaloes to take a 7-6 lead. The Cougars, now in control of the ball, ended up catching a five-yard penalty for an illegal substitution. Not long after, with 5:22 left in the game Forsan offense was inching closer and closer to yet another touchdown. While the Cougars made some progress, it wasn't enough to find the endzone again.

Forsan's Bryson Kinsey, #16, drove another touchdown in from the Buffalo 30. Forsan kicker Nolan Park once again did what he does best and knocked in the extra point for a 14-6 lead and 4:38 left in the game.

Christoval found another detrimental flag thrown as they caught another 10 yard penalty for holding. This time the penalty brought it to a first down on their own 10 yard line. Forsan's Cade Wallis made the sack on the Christoval 4 yard line bringing it to second down. A delay of game was called against Christoval pushing them half the distance to the goal to their own 2 yard line.

Forsan regained control of the both for 1st and 10 from the 34 yard line with 2:30 remaining on the clock.

The penalties continued to come as Forsan found themselves with a 10 yard penalty for holding, bringing it to 1st and 20.

The Buffaloes shook it off and continued their offensive drive as Cade Wallis threw to Hayden Bowlin for a reception on the 46 yard line. Kligora would carry the ball down the field running down the clock to secure the win for the Buffaloes.

The final score was 14-6 with the Forsan Buffaloes claiming the victory, putting them 3-0 in district play. Next week, Forsan will go against Ozona on their home field.

Big 12 QB attrition piles up, TCU's Duggan shrugs off hits

By JOHN RABY

AP Sports Writer

Max Duggan threw a completion a split second before a defender's helmet struck his facemask on a targeting call, sending the TCU quarterback's head snapping back and leaving him momentarily woozy on the ground.

The mobile Duggan took his share of collisions against Kansas State but finished the game and has No. 7 TCU alone in first place.

In a year of quarterback attrition, the Big 12 race could come down to how many are left standing, or who has a backup capable of shouldering the load. Most teams have lost their starting quarterback at some point this season. A few remain out, others have returned and the status of some for Saturday's games are a day-to-day observation.

Just as he's shaken off hard tackles, Duggan deferred questions about the recent pounding, instead pointing to the real battle in the trenches.

"My job's pretty easy. When you're a quarterback, you don't get hit too often," Duggan said after TCU beat Kansas State 38-28 on Saturday. "The guys up front, the guys blocking out on the defense, they're getting hit every play. Those guys are never complaining, never talking about their hits. So the least I can do is get up after a play."

Duggan might not be thriving had redshirt freshman Chandler Morris not sprained his left knee in the season opener. Despite being a three-year starter, Duggan lost the top position over the spring and summer to Morris. But Duggan has played so well that Morris has remained on the bench despite being available. Duggan has thrown 19 touchdown passes with one interception. His 181.8 efficiency rating is fifth in the nation.

While Duggan led TCU back from an 18-point deficit to beat Kansas State, the Wildcats are having their own quarterback issues.

Starter Adrian Martinez left after the first series with an undisclosed injury and did not return. Backup Will Howard threw for two touchdowns and ran for another, then hurt his shoulder on a third-quarter running play. Howard left the game briefly but was brought back in after a third-string freshman threw an interception.

Coach Chris Klieman said Tuesday he's not sure whether Martinez will be available but Howard should be ready when Kansas State, tied for second place with Oklahoma State, prepares to host the Cowboys on Saturday.

Oklahoma State's Spencer Sanders, playing through undisclosed injuries in the past few weeks, led the Cowboys to a comeback win over Texas on Saturday. Sanders is tied with Duggan for the Big 12 lead with 23 total touchdowns — seven more than anyone else.

"He's feeling better," Oklahoma State coach Mike Gundy said. "He's not where he was. You can tell."

Quarterback injuries seem to have hit the Big 12 harder than other Power 5 conferences, although there are some notable season-ending injuries elsewhere, including Devin Leary at North Carolina State (pectoral muscle).

Some schools can't catch a break: Utah State has seen injuries to its top three quarterbacks, forcing one to end his college career, and Texas A&M its top two.

Despite the frequency of quarterback visits to the training room, the Big 12 is on pace to challenge a high scoring mark under the current 10-team format that started in 2012. The league-wide average of 35.4 points scored is more than five points better than each of the past two seasons and the same as that averaged over the 2015 season.

One reason for the success is Kansas, which has far surpassed its scoring total for all of last season.

Jalon Daniels led Kansas to a 5-0 start, then injured a shoulder against TCU. The Jayhawks lost that game and the next two. Kansas now has an open week and no timetable has been set for Daniels' return. Oklahoma's Dillon Gabriel returned from a concussion on Oct. 15 to help the Sooners snap a three-game losing streak. Both quarterbacks were injured in back-to-back weeks on plays by TCU linebacker Jamoi Hodge, whose hit on Gabriel was ruled targeting.

Quinn Ewers of Texas missed three games with a collarbone injury. Texas Tech has gone 3-3 since Tyler Shough injured a collarbone in the season opener. Texas Tech coach Joey McGuire said Shough has been medically cleared and will be available to play against Baylor this week. Red-shirt freshman Behren Morton has started the last two games, going 1-1.

Baylor's Blake Shapen sustained a head injury Oct. 13 in the third quarter at West Virginia but returned Saturday to lead the Bears to a win over Kansas. West Virginia's JT Daniels and Iowa State's Hunter Dekkers also have yet to miss a start.

By this point in the season, every coach must address a growing list of players who may or may not be available.

"Kansas State's not the only team that's beat up. That I know for a fact," Klieman said. "And so nobody's going to feel sorry for you. It's the 'next man up' mentality. And whoever is out there, we have confidence as a staff, we have confidence as a football team, that they're going to allow us and give us opportunity to be successful."

K-State QB Martinez among 15 finalists for academic Heisman

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Kansas State quarterback Adrian Martinez and Iowa linebacker Jack Campbell were among 15 players named finalists Wednesday for the William V. Campbell Trophy, given to college football's top scholar-athlete.

Finalists are chosen from all levels of college football by the National Football Foundation and earn an $18,000 postgraduate scholarship.

The winner will be announced Dec. 6 at the NFF's College Football Hall of Fame banquet in Las Vegas and receive an additional $7,000 scholarship and the Campbell Trophy.

Candidates are judged on accomplishments and leadership qualities shown on the field and in the classroom and community.

Joining Jack Campbell and Martinez as finalists are Auburn kicker Anders Carlson; Dayton running back Jake Chisholm; Chicago running back Nicholas D'Ambrose; Fordham linebacker Ryan Greenhagen; Yale defensive lineman Oso Ifesinachukwu; UTSA offensive lineman Ahoftu Maka; Holy Cross running back Peter Oliver; Stanford offensive lineman Walter Rouse; Troy offensive lineman Austin Stidham; Wayne State linebacker Julius Wilkerson; Mississippi State receiver Austin Williams; Johns Hopkins offensive lineman JR Woods; and Saint John's (Minnesota) defensive lineman Michael Wozniak.

Previous winners of the Campbell Trophy include Iowa State tight end Charlie Kolar last year, Justin Herbert of Oregon and Christian Wilkins of Clemson.
