GENERAL RITES HELD FOR P. G. GRAVES AFTER DOCTORS ENDS AUTOPSY

Funeral services for Percival G. Graves, 34-year-old employe of an oil company, were held in Wichita Falls Sunday after officials completed an investigation which shed considerable light on the circumstances of his death Saturday in the Wichita county jail.

Services for Graves were held at the First Methodist church in Wichita Falls at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The Rev. J. H. Hamblin, pastor, officiated. Interment was in the city cemetery. A brief service was held in Wichita Falls at 3 p. m. at the home of Dr. Graves.

Autopsy Held
The inquiry into the death, which already had been charged with murder against Ed Ebers, four physicians collaborated in an autopsy requested by District Attorney Spence. The autopsy revealed that Graves had died from a blow over his left eye according to Doctors L. D. O. C. Eppert, T. C. Lynch and A. Glover.

The blow fractured the skull, and a blood clot underneath, pictures made by Dr. Glover and Dr. Parsell said there were no bruises about the body. Graves was found dead by Jailer Sid Johnson early in the morning. A verdict of "death from natural causes" was returned by Justice of the Peace O. C. Eppert. Later, upon the request of the dead man's brother, Dr. Parsell examined the body and determined that Graves had been placed in a room in Country Club a short time before his death.

Ebers Denies Charge
The accused prisoner, denied the state's charge at the jail on Saturday afternoon. The prisoner, who is 200 pounds, maintained that he had attempted to return to the Vernon man on the floor of the jail.

Removed Clothing
Ebers was over and picked him up. He was unconscious, but I thought I could revive him. I stripped him of his clothes and held his head under the shower. When I saw he was dead and Sid Johnson, the night jailer, said he had taken him to the county jail. Ebers was transferred to the Wichita county jail after his conviction and sentenced to 18 years' imprisonment for robbery.

Graves Well Known
The special officer in charge of the jail, who brought Graves to the jail, said he found Graves in his parked car, in which Ebers also found a partially filled whisky bottle. Graves was well known in the area and was employed by the area company. He formerly was in the area.

BURK BULLDOGS TO PLAY LAST GAME OF SEASON WITH EAGLES

Ten Bulldogs End Schoolboy Careers With Holiday Contest; Big Parade To Precede Chillicothe Tilt

The Burkburnett Bulldogs will play the final game of their conference schedule against the Chillicothe Eagles here on Thanksgiving. The two teams didn't meet last year but in 1932, the Eagles took the Bulldogs to the tune of 25 to 9. This year's Bulldog aggregation is going into the Chillicothe game with the avowed intention of beating the Eagles. They are still smarting from their defeat at the hands of Crowell and they say they want to beat Chillicothe as bad as Crowell beat them.

Parade to Feature Game
The Chamber of Commerce is arranging for the parade to start promptly at 1 o'clock and according to Herman Brown, the manager, everything is in readiness.

Since the day will be a holiday and the greater part of the business houses of the town will be closed all the merchants are asked to have cars and floats in the parade. Naturally the Burkburnett Community Band and the High School Pep Squad, which is the best one ever in Burkburnett, will lead the parade for the football players. Word has been received that there will be an extra large delegation from Chillicothe to see the game and Burkburnett should show the visitors what a good host can be.

Bonus Bill To Pass Is View

Washington, Nov. 27.—Balky members of the 74th congress predicted tonight a majority of house Democrats would join with Republicans to pass again with an overwhelming vote the $2,300,000,000 soldier bonus bill.

The fate of the measure in the senate is problematical. Party leaders have informed President Roosevelt that the bill is certain of increased support in the body which twice has voted against it. Bi-partisan pressure in favor of the legislation was forecast by Representative Isaac Bacharach, Republican, New Jersey. Belief that a majority of Democratic members would desert the administration on this issue was expressed by Representative Fred Vinson, Democrat, Kentucky. Both are members of the powerful house ways and means committee in charge of the legislation; both voted against a bonus bill the last session and both believe the house can pass such a measure over Mr. Roosevelt's veto.

F. E. R. A. Receives Shipment Supplies

According to H. D. Smith, local relief administrator, a shipment of butter, potatoes and other items of groceries, was received this week and will be distributed to the needy. Mr. Smith states that a family of five is entitled to 4 lbs. of butter per month and 3 bushels of potatoes. This is in addition to the regular ration they receive from working. There are at present 260 families on the relief rolls and according to Mr. Smith this will increase as cold weather approaches.

Grandmother of Local Doctor Dies Mon.; Oldest Citizen in Co.

Mrs. Jane Severns Collins, grandmother of Dr. Lewis Shores of this city, died at her home in Goodland, Kansas, Monday, Nov. 26. Mrs. Collins was the oldest woman in Sherman County, being 95 years, seven months and 23 days of age. She was also one of the early pioneers of Sherman County. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the Christian church.

Rev. Bell of that denomination had charge of the services. Burial was made in the Goodland cemetery beside that of her husband, W. J. Bower and son had charge of the funeral arrangements.

"BABY FACE" NELSON IS SLAIN IN GUN BATTLE WITH FEDERAL AGENTS

Washington, Nov. 28.—Baby Face Nelson, accused slayer of three federal agents, was found dead today in a ditch near Niles Center, Ill. His body was riddled with bullets.

Atty. Gen. Homer S. Cummings, announcing the finding of Nelson's body said the Drilling gang machine gunner had died of wounds suffered yesterday in his gun battle in which two federal agents were killed.

"There were five shots in his stomach, two in his chest and he had been wounded in the leg," Cummings said. The place where the body was found is about 15 miles from Chicago, the justice department said. "Our men were the ones who shot him," Cummings said.

Some of Nelson's clothes, it was said, were found by federal agents in their hunt for public enemy No. 1. Not far away they came across the riddled body of the man who was regarded as one of the most ruthless killers who ever ravaged through the mid-West.

Dutch Schultz Behind Bars
Shooting of two federal agents by "Baby Face" Nelson put Dutch Schultz of the Bronx, New York, behind the bars today. When he heard of the shooting in Illinois of two department of justice aces, the Bronx beer-baron is said to have remarked: "This settles it. I'm going to get into jail where it's safe."

Shortly thereafter, Schultz walked into a U. S. commissioner's office at Albany and surrendered on tax evasion charges. The temperature slumped to 30 degrees Tuesday, the lowest since last winter when it dropped to 29 degrees. The first general killing frost is more than two weeks overdue and farmers are benefitting greatly. Records for the past several years reveal that the average date for a hard frost is Nov. 11. Late feed, badly needed because of the summer drought, has been given a chance to make a much better crop than the farmers had hoped and small grains are in shape to provide splendid winter pasturage. There is sufficient moisture in the ground to protect wheat, oats, and barley from freezing weather until Jan. 1, due to the four inches of rain during the middle of November.

Daring Speed Demons at Lawton

Race fans of this section of Oklahoma and Texas will be treated to a full afternoon of speed events at the Lawton fairgrounds track Sunday, Dec. 2. Knights of the roaring road from nearly every State in the mid-west continent will compete in open competition. Many of the speed aces that competed at the State Fair Auto Races at Hutchinson, Topeka, Oklahoma City and Tulsa have signed to be in Lawton for this post season race meet. The half mile Lawton fairgrounds oval will be especially prepared for the speed events. Heading the list of stars are Pat Cunningham, diminutive speed ace of St. Joseph, Mo., Bob Wilson of Kansas City, Eddie Krijet of Omaha, Chas. Clark of Wichita and Oscar Coleman of Dallas. Defending the honors of the Sooner States will be the ever popular Carl Mayfield and Posey Reeves state title holders of Oklahoma City. Ran Golden of Elk City and Pearl Hisland of Shamrock, Raymond Spradlin of Hollis and Willard Fox of Lawton are other entries. Eight events will be presented to the race fans.

Ford vs. Chevy Match Race
In addition to the professional races, several stock car events will be presented. The stock car events are open to amateur drivers as well as professional and all makes and models of cars can enter. Several popular V8 cars and others are already entered for this free for all. Much interest is manifested in the Ford vs Chevrolet challenge match race and it is rumored that considerable in side purses is on this event. Entries can be made with Carry Millard of the Fair Assn. or Don C. Onley, Lawton, Okla. On account of the assembly of prominent drivers entered, one of the biggest crowds is expected that has ever been attracted to the Lawton race course, and officials of the race have completed plans to safely entertain upwards of 5000 race fans. In case of bad weather the program will be held Sunday, Dec. 9th. Elsewhere in this issue of this paper will be found an add coupon that will admit for 10c.

Legion To Meet Monday, Dec. 3

The regular meeting of the Oscar Frye Post of the American Legion will be held Monday, Dec. 3rd at their home on Ave. D. Every Legionnaire is urged to attend as plans for the Christmas program will be made at this meeting.

THE RELIEF PROBLEM

The federal and state governments are now spending billions of dollars annually in relief work. We are assured it constitutes a necessary expense, and that unless it is kept up this country will undergo a revolution. This is probably true. But certain leaders of thought are commencing to ask questions. They are not worried over the financial end of it. They are afraid, as any Burkburnett citizen will be who studies the problem, that it is breeding a type of citizenship that will never seek to earn its bread by the sweat of its brow.

We have in this country today a virtual counterpart of the British dole system, and we are beginning to reap the evils of that system. We are creating a class of people who will never willingly work again. They are finding out that the taxpayers will not let them starve; they are learning that they can live without working, and they are growing louder in their demands for what they call "their share." Already in many of the larger cities they are demanding "cash relief" instead of fuel and food and clothing. And that is a dangerous demand.

We are going to have in this country the problem of relief for a long time to come. Isn't it about time, therefore, that government agencies approached it in a scientific way? We cannot continue as we are doing, for we are merely breeding discontent and bankrupting character. We are spending billions annually, but pleasing neither those who receive nor those who give it. We are facing a problem for which we have not even begun to find a solution.

NO FOOD SHORTAGE

There is no shortage of essential foodstuffs in this country, and those in position to know say there will be none next spring. This is something everyone around Burkburnett should remember. Food prices are slowly rising, but this is not from a shortage, the result of the drought nor the AAA's crop reduction plan. It is due to a settled government policy of higher prices for both agriculture and industry. The only danger now threatening is that people will get scared, fearing a shortage, and begin to buy and hoard foodstuffs. Even this will not produce a shortage, but it will send prices higher than they would otherwise go. The sensible course is to buy your food just as you have been buying it—enough to carry you along for periods of a few days at the time. Such a policy will conserve the best interests of everybody concerned. Don't hoard. You'll be the loser in the long-run.

Courage isn't an unmixed blessing. If people didn't get scared they never would make good resolutions.

Let us be thankful for neighbors. Without them we would never know where our tools are.

The trouble is that you can't prove he's a fool driver until after the coroner has shoveled up the remains.

Life seems to be almost a continuous struggle trying to keep your enemies from getting something on you and your friends from taking something off you.

Even if Burkburnett women didn't wear any clothes at all it would still be necessary for some of them to keep a man waiting while they get ready to go out with him.

The radio will never supplant the newspaper. You can't use radio waves to cover the pantry shelves.

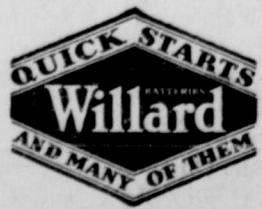

Football may be a brutal game, but violent exercise with a knife, fork and spoon has killed more people.

Buy Xmas Seals; Help Fight T. B.

President Roosevelt, in a letter written at Washington November 27, endorses the nation-wide Christmas Seal Campaign that is conducted from Thanksgiving Day to Christmas by the 2,000 afflicted tuberculosis associations of the United States. The letter addressed to Dr. Kennon Dunham, President of the National Tuberculosis Association, is as follows:

"The approach of the holiday season brings again to our thoughts the annual sale of Christmas Seals to aid the nationwide fight against tuberculosis for another year. Although in recent years the death rate from tuberculosis has been halved, this disease still ranks first as a cause of death between the ages of 18 and 40, and it still causes nearly 75,000 deaths in the United States.

Not by one thing alone, but by many means of attack, both direct and indirect, tuberculosis must be fought. Fifty years ago Doctor Trudeau pointed the way to successful treatment. Sanatorium care is still indispensable. Hence, we need commodious special and general hospitals for tuberculous patients.

For those with early disease, I believe the sanatorium is best for cure; and patients with advanced disease also need a resourceful hospital. More beds are needed, especially for tuberculous children. But prevention is even more important. To protect infants and young children and to avoid the infection of adolescents and adults, the resources of every community are taxed.

The task before us is more than a medical problem. Physicians, nurses, and hospitals are only a part of the great defensive force, which must include the heads of all families, governors, educators, social workers, scout masters, volunteer workers, charity organizations, pure food experts, and the forces of the United States Government. The National Tuberculosis Association and its local branches give competent leadership.

By wise arrangement, the responsibility for the sale of Christmas Seals is a local one. The money is spent locally by and for the residents of each city, town, or county. It is part of wisdom for each locality to assume its due share of relief and responsibility.

The need is urgent; the cause most worthy. The Seal this year commemorates the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of the sanatorium movement in this sanatorium for the modern treatment of tuberculosis. It was constructed in 1884 by the late Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau, "father of the sanatorium movement," and was the forerunner of the 600 institutions in the United States today.

When we buy Christmas Seals ourselves, we are helping to buy health for many people and surely that is a thing for which to rejoice. It is worthy of a day set aside to give "Thanks for Health." The Wichita County Tuberculosis Association opens its Christmas Seal Thanksgiving Day. The money received from the sale of these Seals is used to finance the fight against tuberculosis. Chest clinics are held throughout the county and the tuberculin skin test is given to children. Visits are made to the homes who have tuberculosis by a registered nurse. Instructions how to care for the sick and how to protect the well are given. Assistance is offered to those who wish to enter the State Sanatorium. Literature on tuberculosis is distributed and lectures given on Tuberculosis by our doctors. Buy Christmas Seals. Help Fight Tuberculosis!

"And Now I See—"

"I don't know why I failed my Grammar and Reading," she said, "I really have tried."
 "I see you did satisfactory work in your arithmetic and your teacher tells me that you are doing alright in your board work," we replied. Her past records showed very satisfactory work.

"Now tell me," we insisted, "is the work too hard for you?"
 "No!" she replied, "please do not put me back in a lower grade—and I'll tell you what I think."

"Very well," we replied, "now let's hear all about it and we promise to keep your secret."

"About a year ago I was sick for a long time and since then when I got well I could not read—I just can't see—when I try to read it, all goes blurry—"

"Well, if that is all of the trouble you have, that can be remedied," we answered with much assurance—much less that we had—for where was the remedy to come from?

A free examination by the local optician revealed that a pair of glasses for corrective measurers were necessary. A new fitting will be required after these have been worn for a while, we were informed when the glasses were ordered. A visit to the home explained that the father had been out of work for three years. Records at the relief office proved the family to be reliable and worthy. The parents offered to do anything that they could toward the purchase of glasses but their ability was insufficient. The glasses must be purchased from some other source.

This is only one of the numerous requests that have been met and answered by our public school attendance department with the aid of the Parent-Teacher Association and Rotary-Lion's Club funds of this city. More than two hundred boys and girls have been helped in some way or other by this department in the past three years. Aid has been materially given in the way of a fund of receipts from a football game the two service clubs played in the fall of 1931 but these funds have been depleted.

It Happens This Way

"I would like to go to school," he said, "Why, gee whiz, two years ago I didn't miss a single day and I have a paper a sayin' so at home!"

"Then if you would like to go we would like very much to have you come, because you know that when you grow up you want to know the things that will help you in this world."

"Sure, I do, but—," the remainder of the expression was merely a glance at the old torn tennis shoes that held his two feet. There were no socks, the bare skin touched the earth when he walked.

"See these pants," he continued, "I bought them with the money I made a'pikin' boles". His bright face was beaming with pride as he told of how he had picked more than eighty pounds of boles a day at the end of four days had been able to purchase the trousers. "Dad is going to get an extra day workin' for the CWA and I'll get a shirt then, maybe, if there's enough to go 'round." The clothes made in payment for the extra day are clothes that have been made at the sewing room and, well, do we know that these do not include shoes.

Tears were gathering in his eyes, his lips were quivering as he said: "If I only had some shoes like the other boys, I know I would not miss a single day and I would study harder than the teacher wanted me to."

"We'll make a bargain" with you —, tell you what we'll do. If you promise to study hard and come to school every day, keep your face and hands clean, we'll try some where to get you some shoes."

"I'll do it," he beamed brightly, "and I'll take good care of them too." The promise on our part was none too easily kept. A careful survey of our stock of old shoes that have been given by more fortunate children revealed not one suitable pair. A phone call to the president of the P-TA resulted that a proposal would be made to other members of the executive council. A later report from the executive council stated "we don't have the money now, but we expect to get some later on. If, in your judgement the child is worthy and needs them and the family cannot provide, go ahead and purchase shoes and we'll try to get it somewhere".

He is in school now. He has not missed a single day since the shoes were purchased. He is a good citizen in his room. He brings his good marks to us for praise. He tells us his troubles that seem most serious to him. He plays with the other boys on the school grounds.

He is not singular, there are many more boys like him in our schools today. They are the twigs, tomorrow they will be the trees. More than two hundred boys and girls have been aided in some way by a fund donated by the Rotary-Lion's Clubs of this city in 1932. These boys and girls are strengthened in their moral by the fact that they know they have friends and companions in the membership of these two clubs that not only express it orally, but in a material way. It is our duty in this age to prepare for the future, to give it strong boys and girls, to give it the best that we have and to prepare every boy and girl to meet the future with the best equipment it is possible for them to receive and to the extent that we fulfill these obligations our civilization shall progress.

HELPS WHOLE FAMILIES

Attention, MOTHERS, to what every doctor knows to be a fact, and what they say to avoid

If you have children who are occasionally constipated, you should know this.

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age, but first try this treatment that safely relieves sluggishness in children or adults.

The Proper Treatment

You can't safely relieve the bowels with any medicine if you can't regulate the dose. To regulate dosage, you should have a liquid laxative. When necessary to repeat, you can gradually reduce the dose. And that is the secret of safe relief from a sluggish, constipated condition at any age.

A liquid laxative can be measured. Its action can be thus controlled. If properly made, of such natural laxative elements as senna and cascara, it forms no habit—even in the youngest child. And such a laxative will help the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative containing

BE CAREFUL

IF any laxative is dispensed (makes you thirsty).

IF it affects your appetite.

IF you need more today than the first time you took it.

IF it drains the system (by too watery a movement).

IF a bad "burning" is felt.

IF there is severe griping.

herbs, active senna, and cascara and is the one widely used. You can always obtain it at any drug store. Why not make the "right test" which has attracted so much attention of late? It helps everyone who tries it. It may make you feel better overnight. The children will like it, too; Syrup Pepsin has a delightful taste.

If you will risk sixty cents to cover the safe, pleasant action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, believe bowel worries will be for your household.

Mrs. Lewallen Entertains at Baptist Church Friday

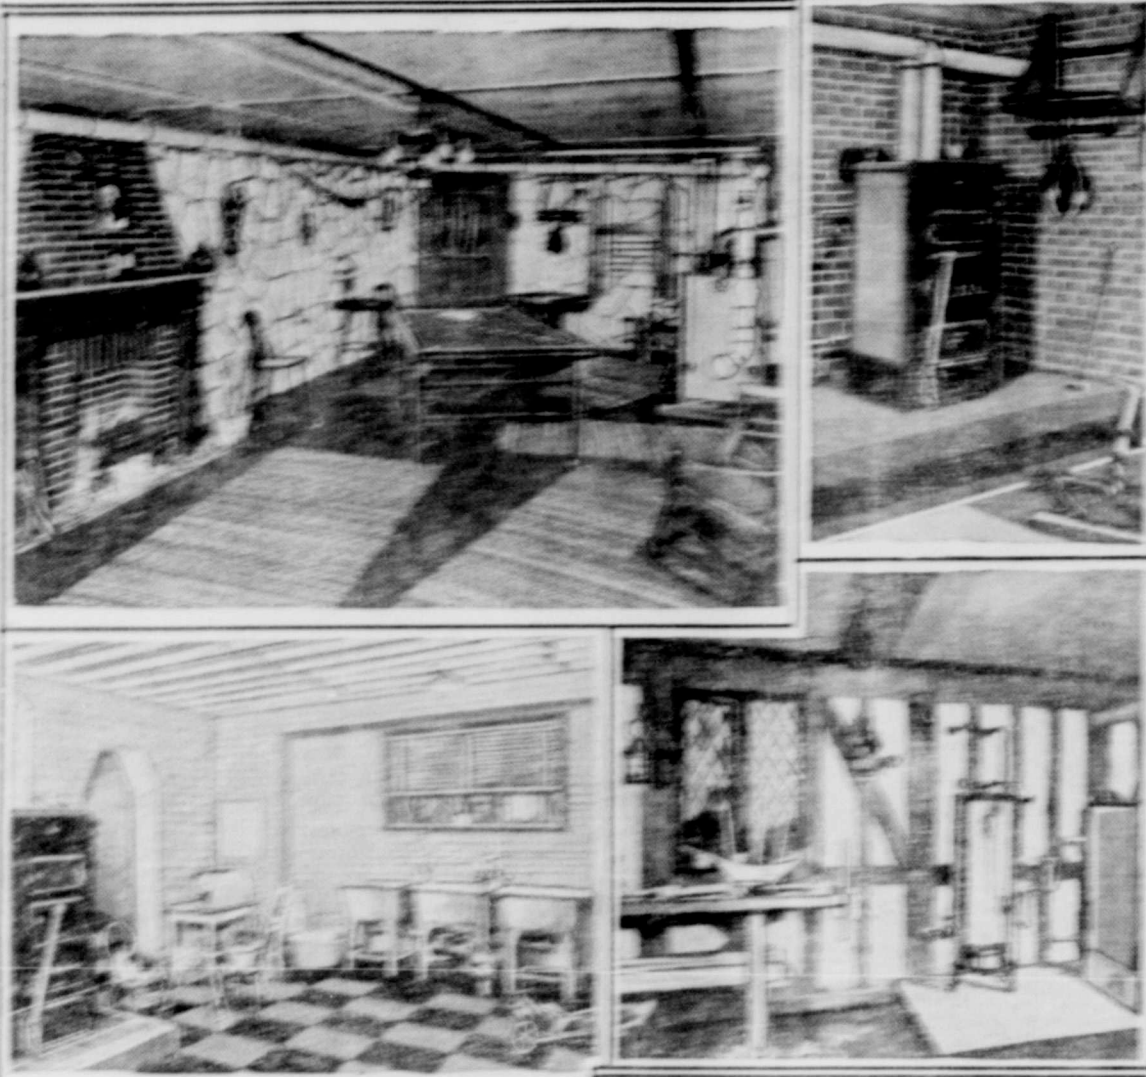

Mrs. M. E. Lewallen entertained her piano and voice students and their parents and friends last Friday night at the First Baptist church in a most delightful party and social.

Including as a part of the program was a demonstration of the class instruction conducted by Mrs. A. H. McHaffey, of Wichita Falls, which she preceded by a talk showing the necessity of Theory, Harmony, History of music and Ear training to a thorough musical education, such subjects being efficiently and interestingly taught in the class groups. At the close of the demonstration Mrs. McHaffey presented Mrs. Lewallen with the Pi Mu pin, which was awarded for passing Teachers' College of St. Louis, Mo., with which both teachers are affiliated. Pi Mu is a national music society demanding definite grades of efficiency and excellence for affiliation.

This pin is the style of a shield and on its surface appears two Greek letters, pronounced Pi Mu respectively. These letters are initials of two Greek words spelled in English "Pieris" and "Munus" the first meaning education, culture; the latter meaning music. On the surface of the pin are also shown a lyre, symbolic of music and torch typifying education.

Mrs. Lewallen next announced the social numbers played by the following students: Betty Eddle, Marge Russell, Nathalie Smith, Billie Jean Smith, Dora Mae Grace, Juanita Carver, Pearl Cooper, Dolie Reynolds, Billie Franks, Jack Grant, Mae Small, Verna Day, Maurine Collins, Mildred Davis, Ruby Louise Bishop. Assisting on the program, Myrtle White gave a Thanksgiving reading. The Young Peoples Orchestra opened the evening with two numbers. At the close of the program Mrs. McHaffey played two numbers by request of Sciences in B. H. S.

By Jess Johnson

The aim of modern education is to make the individual more efficient, socially, and if one is to be socially efficient in this age of science, a great amount of training must be given in the natural sciences. This can best be accomplished, we believe, by offering all first year high school students a course in general science, second and third year students biology and fourth year students chemistry and physics.

The first year of science is a course designed to "initiate young people in the elements of physical science, to lead them to form a clear mental picture of the phenomenon of nature, beginning with the familiar facts of daily experiences and leading step by step to the more remote objects and to the less readily comprehensible relation of things" and to give them practical experience in the scientific method. This is accomplished by three lectures each week on the fundamentals of science with numerous illustrations of scientific phenomena as observed in the laboratory and in nature. These three hours each week are given over entirely to laboratory demonstrations of the forces of nature and in making applications of these phenomena in solving of every day problems of life.

The aims of biology course are more specific in as much as biology concerns living things only. In this course the main objectives are to learn how things live, how they are related one to the other, how they depend upon the physical world about them and how man can control them. In order to learn how things live, it is necessary to study the vital life processes of a great number of living organisms. This is done throughout the year in biology with special emphasis being given to the study of health, sanitation, and the control of other living organisms to the betterment of mankind.

After the completion of this course, the student is better prepared to go into a deeper and broader field of study in the form of physics and chemistry. Both these courses require accuracy in the manipulation of laboratory equipment, a keen power of observation, exactness, attention to detail and genuine desire on the part of the student to collect and record facts and to apply intelligently these facts to the solving of the problem at hand.

These four high school science courses are given in the hope that students completing them will be better prepared to share his or her responsibility with the following objectives in mind:

1. The formation of useful scientific habits through training, routine and rationalized practice.
2. The acquisition of facility in the organization and application of facts.
3. The development of taste and power of apprehension of unity, adaptation, order and system in nature as interpreted by science.
4. The acquisition of useful information.
5. The development of scientific or philosophic insights, perspectives and attitudes of mind that serve as safeguards to the intelligent interpretation of contemporary life.

Thanksgiving

Yesterday we celebrated Thanksgiving. Of course our thought turned to a large turkey in all his splendor of dressing and cranberry sauce, huge pies and fruit cakes. This, true to tradition, is expected, but this is not the true purpose of Thanksgiving.

There is no use going into the interesting history of Thanksgiving, as we remember how the Pilgrims came to America seeking freedom of religion and after a horrible winter had a profitable spring. The crops had been made and in order to show their gratefulness to God they set the last Thursday in the eleventh month for Thanksgiving. We are also familiar with the story of how the Pilgrims invited all the friendly Indians to rejoice with them and how feasting went on for three days.

It is true we all look forward to Thanksgiving to indulge in the annual turkey and other goodies, but we have made a mistake in rejoicing in a too worldly manner. The Pilgrims did much praying over their safe delivery through the hardships of that horrible winter. We, too, should spend a little time in thanks to our Creator, because that is what this holiday was originally for.

You can always tell a heathen country. It is one where they kidnap missionaries instead of millionaires.

High School Library

Before school last Wednesday morning the fifty-three new books which already have been delivered to the High School Library were issued to the students. In about ten days the rest of the order will be delivered, and as soon as possible the books will be prepared for circulation.

The new library poster displayed on the bulletin board pictures a boy and a girl on a white horse. The saddle is filled with attractive books. The poster, which is the official one for Book Week this year, bears the following words: "Ride the book trail to knowledge and adventure."

Since school started this year the following students have donated books and magazines to the library: Jack Boulton, LaNelle Elder, Lucille Kemp, Donald Lohofener, and Virginia Vaught. Mrs. Westerfield also has donated several books.

Assembly

The high school and seventh grade had a Thanksgiving assembly Wednesday morning. The program was as follows:

Two songs, Choral Club; Reading, Pauline Browning; Address, Rev. Hagard; Talk, Male Baber; Yells, Pep Squad.

STUDY HALL QUESTIONNAIRE

Mr. Westerfield passed out questionnaires in the study hall last Thursday for the purpose of ascertaining the subjects that are considered the most difficult, the most interesting, the subject being studied, the reason for coming to school, and what students are planning as their life's career.

The results of the questionnaire follows:

Reasons for Liking to Come to School

- To secure an education—71.
- Because it will help in later life—30.
- It is better than staying at home—15.
- To be with friends—33.
- Because I like my work—15.
- Because I feel like I am accomplishing something—10.
- Because I like my teachers—8.
- Because I like sports—8.
- Because I have a good time—5.
- Because I like shop—3.
- Because I want to go to college—1.

Geography In Middle Grades

By James W. Guest

It is not my plan to put up a defense for the teaching of geography in the middle grades, by which I mean, the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, for such a procedure would be out of order. I know of no one who would suggest taking geography out of the curriculum of the middle grades. But what I do intend to do in the following paragraphs is to explain to the general public what the child should study during his geography periods for the three years he is in Central Ward School.

First, I should like to state that before he ever enters the fourth grade, the pupil should have been taught something concerning food, clothing, shelter, and home products. For instance, the fundamental Burkburnett industries should have been discussed in his class room. The local landscape, that is, the natural features of the community, the seasons, climate, gardening, and map-making are things which the children should become acquainted with while still in the primary grades.

From products of the local community, he would pass to products of other places. Useful and harmful forms of plant life would receive attention. A surplus or shortage of any commodity would lead to a study of transportation and relationships of one part of the country to another. Immigration would be touched through reference to countries from which people in the community formerly came. If possible, excursions to interesting points about the community are recommended.

Whole the above has been suggested as a sort of elementary course in geography for the first, second, and third grades, I do not believe that a geography test for these grades is either necessary or advisable. In fact, there is a somewhat general agreement among authorities on this subject that in no case should a textbook be introduced below the fourth grade.

With a good understanding of home geography established in the first three grades, the concepts may now be extended in the fourth grade to include the county and the state. Rivers, mountains, highways, railroads, products and industries may be studied. The influences of soil, seasons, rainfall, and temperature on products and occupations should be examined. The interrelations of people living in different parts of the state should be included in the course. In the latter part of the year elements of world geography, such as the form and divisions of the earth should be taught. The approach to world geography may be made through peoples, products, or natural features. The previous study of home, county, and state geography will lead naturally to a desire to know how people in other lands live.

In the fifth grade a more detailed study of the geography of the United States should be undertaken. In my own high fifth classes at the present time we are studying the North Central States which include Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Michigan, and about ten other states. In so far as natural features affect the lives of people in occupations, home life, manufacture and exchange of products, forms of transportation and mineral resources, they should be analyzed. The effects of mountain ranges, coastal plains, river systems, deserts, and interior basins on the population should receive attention; so should the development of cities, railroad centers, great industries, and educational institutions. The relation of latitudes, longitude, and altitude to food, clothing, shelter, rainfall, and occupations should be considered. The influences of immigration and of exports and imports on different sections of the country should be studied. Our relations to Canada, Mexico, Central America, South America, and to the countries of eastern Asia and of Western Europe, may be taken up because of our mutual interest in peoples, exchange of products, education, and home life.

The sixth year may be given to a more intensive study of the natural features, climatic conditions, occupations, products, populations, and institutions of Europe, Asia, Africa, and important islands, as they are related to each other and to the people for the United States.

By the time a pupil completes the sixth grade he should have a fair idea of the relation the natural features, products, peoples, occupations, and institutions of the leading countries of the world bear to those of his own country. He should know something of the oceans as pathways of travel and of commerce, of ocean currents and winds as they affect climatic conditions, and of the earth's general relation to the sun and other parts of the system.

The above is, of course, a plan of presenting geography to the pupil as he passes through middle grades. Maybe we do not come up to all the conditions herein made, but should bring to our pupils in an impressive and enthusiastic way even what is mentioned a so-called study, we shall be doing a deal toward making their days more interesting and enjoyable. Learning to know the world books is the next best thing to learning to know the world travel.

Big Rabbit Creek

Nov. 25, 1934 Mr. and Mrs. James Hatcher had a very sick little girl last week but at this writing, she is reported better.

The all day rain which fell last Wednesday sure has put a good underground season in old Mother Earth. An inch and a half of rain fell and it was just what wheat and oats were needing.

Mr. Si Linksey and his brother Will, killed and dressed a big 200 pound hog last Thursday and their wives fried it all down.

Wheat and oats are sure looking fine now and it is making fine pasture.

Mr. Si Linksey motored up to our county seat Saturday to get his cotton tags, as Saturday was the last day to receive the tags; also the last day to pool your cotton tags.

J. B. Fletcher, who has been living in Mr. John Ashton's house on his Indian Lease, moved his family out Friday and Mr. Fletcher moved to Mr. Tom Smith. He and his son are working for Mr. Smith, heading grain.

Grandma Reaves, Mrs. Fred LaBarre's mother who is 81 years old, has been very sick for the past ten days, but at this writing, the writer was advised Sunday morning that she was a little better.

John Ashton was down on his Indian Lease Sunday morning looking after his buch of fine sheep and some young horses and colts which he has in his pasture.

As there has been so much rain for the past week or so it has delayed the feed cutting by hand. The Owens family will finish their 18 acres up by Wednesday of this week.

Our mail carrier on Route 4, Henry Carrol, has been on the sick list for over a week with the flu, but he was able to be at his post Friday and Saturday. His many friends were pleased to see him back on his Route again.

The rains this past week have kept Mrs. Ed Owens out of the field from helping Ed and his brother, John, cut and tie their 18 acres of Hegari. To make up for lost time, she has canned 36 quarts of green beans and several cans of other garden vegetables.

Dr. Holisted of Temple, Okla., has made three calls from Temple in the past week to see Grandma Reeves.

Mrs. Martha Nails and her son, Charlie, called on the Owens family Sunday afternoon.

BACKSTAGE in the TELEPHONE SERVICE

The telephone service this company furnishes you could not be as uniformly good, as quietly accurate, as far-reaching and inexpensive, if the nation-wide organization of the Bell System did not stand behind it.

There is American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the parent organization, furnishing technical and business guidance to the 24 operating companies.

There is Bell Laboratories, the research organization, constantly seeking better and more economical methods and equipment.

There is Western Electric, the supply unit, buying and manufacturing at a cost in most cases below what would be paid in competitive markets.

Each of these units stands behind the men and women who give you your local telephone service. Each is dedicated to the fundamental and enduring Bell System policy of giving good telephone service, at a fair cost to the user.

Back of this policy lies our belief that in an undertaking such as ours, planned for the long run, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the course that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.
