"Queen of the Road" Helen Hall

'Queen Of Road' Visits Burk

Helen Hall, 'Queen of the Road' was a recent visitor to Burkburnett, having stayed in the home of Mrs. Stanley Bohenek. Mrs. Hall stated that she has walked over 16,000 miles, twice crossing the United States. Her first walk was from Philadelphia, Pa., to Washington, D.C., in May of 1965 to protest to President Lyndon Johnson, who refused to see her. Her protest involved a demand from the welfare agency that she refund payments she had received from it after collecting a large sum of money from a firm following a fall on the ice in front of their building and breaking an arm. She was a practical nurse at the time and payments from welfare were not enough to buy coal for heat. She has no family and her income is $44.70 per month from Social Security. She has around 400 badges and patches from various police and sheriff departments throughout the U.S., plus several hundred keys to the city, and various mementoes bestowed upon her. She receives lodging and food gratis in the stopover towns in exchange for a story for news media. Claiming to be "nationally and internationally known," Mrs. Hall said she is having a book written about her excursions and it will be titled, "The Highway is My Home." Quite a girl, that Helen Hall!

Wait 10 Weeks Before Inquiring On Tax Refund

DALLAS, Texas — Ten weeks from the date a Federal income tax return calling for a refund is mailed, the taxpayer either has his check or a letter explaining why it is held up, Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said today.

For this reason, a taxpayer who has not heard about his refund should wait ten weeks before writing IRS. By waiting this length of time, most taxpayers will find their inquiry unnecessary, Mr. Campbell said.

If it becomes necessary to write, the taxpayer should indicate where and when he filed his return and give his name, address and social security number, Mr. Campbell said.

Millions of tax returns are handled every filing season at the Austin Service Center which serves Northern Texas taxpayers. The volume of processing operations there makes it practically impossible for IRS to locate a particular return and to answer any question about it until processing is complete.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Freedom of speech and freedom of press have been jealously guarded heritages of the U.S. political system. They are the foundation of representative government. Recent action by the Federal Communications Commission to ban cigarette advertising on television and radio raised the free press, free speech question in the minds of many people.

Irrespective of how one feels about cigarette smoking, the FCC action raised a point about "the communications media" that is often overlooked. The right of free speech and a free press do not have the same relationship to television and radio that they do to the nation's newspapers. The very fact that radio and TV stations are subject to federal licensing sets them apart. It also explains why, contrary to what some have thought in the past, neither radio nor TV will take the place of the hometown newspaper. In today's world, they are essential supplementary features of the art of communication. That is why many newspapers own radio and TV stations—while the newspaper keeps right on publishing.

Only the newspaper leaves a permanent record of community life. Only the newspaper is free to express its editor's personal convictions, and only the newspaper—unlicensed and unregulated—fulfills the obligation of a free press in accordance with the historical meaning of the term. A free press is the bastion of a self-governing people. It can be supplemented, but never supplanted.

FUEL OF PROGRESS

A half century ago, before the word profit fell into the "epithet" category, private enterprise was generally acknowledged as the basis of community development, the growth of payrolls and the source of tax revenues. Then came the sterile years in which very little good could be seen in any private enterprise. Most of those now living were raised on a diet of political oratory praising the blessings of big government.

Yet, of late, a curious transformation has been taking place. A broad search is on to reach the goals of opportunity, employment and progress that have been the sole reason of the existence of private enterprise from the beginning. One of these days, we may even awaken to the truth that the profits of private enterprise are like fuel to an engine. Profits give private enterprise the horse power to build a solid foundation under the growth and progress of the community. The leading role that industry is playing today in the training and employment of hard-core unemployed and in the solution of broad social and economic problems is as logical as it was inevitable.

Uncle Charlie is very concerned about world problems...

We're very concerned about Uncle Charlie!

You see, being concerned is about as far as Uncle Charlie ever goes. He worries about this...he gripes about that...but actually getting out and doing something to solve some of those problems...well...that never occurs to him. So, the problems remain...some get worse...new ones arise...and good old Uncle Charlie always has plenty to voice concern about.

At Lone Star Gas, we believe in concern plus action. And we put that belief to work in the communities we serve, and for our more than one million customers. There are over 6000 of us at Lone Star Gas, and we like to think there isn't an "Uncle Charlie" among us!

John Naughton, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, stands with the 1970 Maverick, Ford's answer to the booming imported economy car market and the division's first all new car since the mighty Mustang. Maverick averages 22 1/2 miles per gallon from its peppy six-cylinder engine.

FORD TO INTRODUCE NEW MAVERICK ON APRIL 17th

Maverick by Ford challenges the United States imported car market with a $1,995 suggested retail price, average gas economy of 22 1/2 miles per gallon, a peppy 105-horsepower engine, easy serviceability and the fun look of the '70s.

John Naughton, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said that the 1970 Maverick represents another Ford first, following in the wake of such successful car lines as Mustang, Fairlane, Falcon, Tunderbird and LTD.

The 1970 Maverick—a sporty two-door, four-passenger sedan—will be introduced at Ford dealerships throughout the nation on April 17, 1969—the fifth anniversary of Mustang.

In size, Maverick takes a stand between the sub-compact imports and the domestic compacts. With a 103-inch wheelbase and 179.4-inch overall length, Maverick is 19 inches longer than its principal foreign competitor. It is nine inches wider and five inches lower than the import and has almost twice the trunk space.

"Never before has the American public been offered so great an automotive value at such low cost," Mr. Naughton said. "Maverick has the things most Americans want in a small car—economy of operation, low purchase price, durability, high quality workmanship and outstanding performance."

"Maverick is designed for years to come. It is proof that a small, inexpensive car can be beautiful. Maverick has virtually all the advantages of the imported small car and none of the disadvantages," he said.

Its roomy interior provides four-passenger comfort. Maverick is 70.6 inches in overall width—nearly nine inches wider than most imported small cars. Hip room is an ample four and one-half feet in the front compartment and nearly four feet in the rear compartment.

Maverick is easy to drive and park. It has good handling characteristics and a small, 35.6-foot turning diameter—smaller by almost one-half foot than the leading import's turning diameter.

The standard 170-cubic-inch displacement six-cylinder engine provides 105-h.p. for plenty of "go."

Maverick has a solid 12-month 12,000-mile warranty that transfers with the car, in contrast to some warranties that apply only to the first owner. And Maverick parts and service will be readily available through the more than 6,000 Ford dealers throughout the United States.

The manufacturer's suggested retail price for the 1970 Maverick is $1,995. This price includes the seven per cent federal excise tax, but does not include state or local taxes, licensing, dealer preparation or destination charge. Although it is priced at about the same level as the original 1960 Falcon, it is actually cheaper in terms of the proportion of average family income required for purchase.

The 1970 Maverick by Ford has smart design and 105-horsepower for excellent performance. Its roomy interior provides four-passenger comfort. It is nearly nine inches wider than most imported small cars, with ample hip and leg room in both front and rear compartments. The standard interior trim, shown here, features cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts.

FORD MAVERICK $1995*

(You don't have to read it all—but it's nice to know it's all there.)

Most new cars look like other cars. But when the word gets out that something really different is on the way, rumors run wild. Few cars have caused as much talk as Maverick. Ford's new entry in the small car field rivals the economy imports in price... but tops them in power, performance, passenger room and luggage capacity. We've been bombarded with questions about Maverick. Now, for the first time, here are the answers.

- Q. Why did you build the Maverick?
A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.
- Q. Why did you call it Maverick?
A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.
- Q. Why did you make it this size?
A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.
- Q. What do I get for the price?
A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls... important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.
- Q. What about options?
A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semi-automatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

- Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?
A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.
- Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?
A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.
- Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?
A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5 1/2 feet to any parking space.
- Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?
A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)
- Q. How about parts and service?
A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.
- Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?
A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

- Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?
A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points... plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.
- Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?
A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight... power... stability. Designed for American driving conditions.
- Q. How does Maverick ride?
A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.
- Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?
A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is... right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's... Fairlanes... Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's... the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5387, Dept. N-50, Detroit, Mich. 48211 (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the car. Price does not include: white sidewall tires, $32.00; dealer preparation charge, if any; transportation charges, state and local taxes.

The first meeting will be held in the Commissioners Court Room in the County Courthouse in Wichita Falls beginning at 10 a.m. The second meeting will be held that same day at the Iowa Park Experiment Station beginning at 1:30 p.m. Mr. U. A. Randolph, Superintendent of the Montague Experiment Station, will be in charge of both demonstrations. Both men and women are invited to attend this meeting.

If you can't fight it — join it. This is a good rule to follow if Johnsongrass invades your hay pasture. Costs of herbicides to control the "weed" are much more than fertilizer costs, points out B. T. Haws, county agent.

Nutrient value of Johnsongrass is comparable to many of the cultivated grasses grown for forage or hay and livestock can utilize it as well.

If the Johnson grass is to be baled it should be cut in the "boot" stage, or right before seed heads form. An application of fertilizer according to soil test will help it grow rapidly and maintain nutrients.

Chemicals can be used to control other undesirable plants in the hay field. Although other herbicides have been registered for use in pastures, 2, 4-D is still Texas' favorite for control of broadleaf weeds. About a pound of the chemical in 15 to 20 gallons of water per acre will give effective control and not harm the Johnsongrass.

A reapplication of fertilizer following each cutting, or about every six weeks when grazing, will make for high quality feed.

It is important to keep in mind to keep Johnsongrass under control and not allow it to enter cultivated row crops.

Spring is the season which brings more beauty to the exterior of the home than any other—and more maintenance, too! The efforts of the gardener must be redoubled in order to achieve his continuing goal: to provide a maximum decorative effect with a minimum amount of upkeep.

Mulches are an increasingly popular way to provide an attractive, low-maintenance garden, and probably the best mulches are those produced from the bark of the Pacific Northwest Douglas Fir. This bark, a clean, weed-free and firm material, forms a beautiful mulch to not only discourage the growth of weeds, but to help hold moisture in the soil and provide a rich, red-brown setting for flowers, shrubs and trees.

Bark does not "cake" on the soil during extremely hot, dry periods as do softer materials such as peat moss. It's ideal, therefore, for forming a neat border along fences and walls where temperatures tend to be high. Because the bark from the stately Douglas Fir consists of large uniform particles, it will not blow away as will lighter mulches such as sawdust or husks. This same feature makes it one of the longest-lasting mulches tested. A life expectancy of more than five years is common—then it gradually becomes a soil-enriching humus.

Unlike purely decorative ground covers such as pebbles and crushed brick, bark combines the beauty and color of these decorative covers with the weed-discouraging and water-conserving virtues of a long-lasting mulch.

Garden Bark, produced by the Weyerhaeuser Company, is the most popular Douglas Fir bark mulch. It is available in 50-pound plastic bags in many garden centers, department stores, and hardware stores.

CAN WE TAKE THE "COST" OUT OF PENTECOST?

IF WE DENY THAT THE CHURCH IS THE WAY OF SALVATION, ARE WE NOT SAYING BY OUR WORDS AND ACTIONS THAT THE BLOOD OF CHRIST WAS NOT SHED FOR THE CHURCH?

THE CHURCH AND SALVATION are related when we read: "Even so Christ also loved the church and GAVE HIMSELF for it" Eph. 5:25 ALSO, "Feed the church of God, which He hath purchased with His own blood." Acts 20:28.

We must not take out the cost of the church that had its glorious beginning on Pentecost. If man can be saved outside the church, then man can be saved without the blood of Christ. "The saved are added to His church." Acts 2:47. Those who have not been saved from their past sins are wasting the blood of the Christ.

Mack Lyon, Evangelist

It would be foolish to deny the efficacy of Christ's blood in respect to the salvation of the individual, for Paul writes by inspiration, "In whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins," Eph. 1:7. Therefore, the pictured conclusion is inevitable if salvation is made possible through the blood. The church and salvation are related and we are taking the "COST" out of Pentecost if we say the church is not THE WAY OF SALVATION.

COUNTY H-D AGENT NEWS

Seven out of every 10 homeowners plan to modernize or remodel within the near future. If you are one of them a new Housing Act may lend financial assistance.

The upsurge in home improvement is related closely to the fact that financing for home modernization more readily has been available than for long-term mortgages. Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent, explains.

Under the new Housing Act, regular FHA home improvement loans are being expanded to a limit of $5,000 with seven years to repay. In the past the limit was $3,500.

The increase means that families can secure financial backing for larger and more extensive home improvement projects.

Certain improvements add value to the home and increase its comfort and livability. Often the increased value more than offsets the cost of the project.

Improvements which tend to increase livability and value include the addition of an up-to-date kitchen, complete with appliances, and an extra bath. Converting a porch or attic to a living room, den or bedroom increases interior living space and has strong appeal to many prospective buyers.

Another wise investment for any homemaker is an adequate wiring system with the capacity to take care of present and future electrical installations.

If dissatisfied with their present home, Miss Wirges suggests families needing more room remodel rather than move. In some cases it is easier on the family budget to refinance the present home than to purchase a new one.

The metal look for home furnishings once was dismissed as too cold and too mechanical; plastics once were used for only cheap, low quality furnishings. But all that has changed.

Metals and plastics are the vogue in present day furnishings, reports Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

Metals and plastics challenge designers because they should be designed to take advantage of their many good characteristics. Metals and plastics are not expected to look like another material.

The challenge for the consumer lies in his ability to combine furnishings of these materials with his other furnishings and to accept them for their aesthetic qualities.

The 1969 space age materials suite 20th century furniture designs and fit into homes which express the today feelings. Both metals and plastics can be used in combination with or to complement glass, wood, canvas, cane, leather and many other textures found in the home.

Several types of plastics are being used in furniture of today. Some are acrylics, polpropylene, urthane, vinyl and polystyrene.

Mrs. Shirley Marsh, a demonstrator in home improvement for the Barwise Home Demonstration Club, has plans to include some of the synthetics in her home furnishings. She has plans for remodeling, arranging and furnishings. As a demonstrator she made plans with the home demonstration agent and will work on the complete plans throughout the year.

DO YOU RECALL.....

THOSE WONDERFUL YEARS...

They shall abundantly utter the memory of thy great goodness... The Lord has blessed us with children and now grandchildren. Our lives, and now theirs have been molded in the church. One generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts. Pass on this priceless heritage to your children and grandchildren.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

SALT OF THE EARTH

To be called "the salt of the earth" is still a high compliment. And in human physiology there is no more vital element than ordinary table salt — sodium chloride.

Thus it is important to know why this compound is so important. It is only one of many "salts" which in themselves are a class of chemical compounds formed when an acid is combined with an alkali. Still, in everyday conversation one does not worry about such technicalities. It is enough to know that we mean the stuff in the salt shaker at home or in a restaurant.

This salt is a constituent of seawater, of the soil, of plants, and of every living cell and tissue. The proper exchange of salt in the human body between blood and tissues is essential to life. Its impairment interferes with the proper fluid content of the tissues and with the electrical components of tissue functions. When something goes wrong with the handling of salt in the body, there is serious trouble.

Metal Content Essential

It is the metallic content of sodium chloride — the sodium — that is the essential factor in the proper functioning of salt within the body, and of its disturbances. Sodium chloride is one of the mineral elements known as electrolytes. It bears important relationships to calcium and potassium in body chemistry. Its utilization is related to the function of the adrenal cortex, an important factor in Addison's disease (a disturbance in salt metabolism due to adrenal cortical failure).

The most common impairment of sodium metabolism is the excessive loss of salt that we may suffer through perspiration before our bodies fully adjust to hot weather. This can range from mild to severe, the latter causing heat cramps and preventable by the use of more salt on our food. If salt tablets are taken periodically, they must be swallowed with at least a cup of water to help the body metabolize the salt. Otherwise, the taking of salt tablets defeats its own purpose by stimulating further dehydration.

The reverse can also happen. In certain forms of heart and kidney disease, excessive sodium retention in the body may cause water-logging of the tissues. Habitual use of too much salt is ordinarily handled by the kidneys without difficulty, but it may be a factor in weight control.

Low-Sodium Diets

When the doctor prescribes a low-sodium diet, erroneously called "salt-free", he doesn't mean diet without salt. The would be detrimental, and impossible, since salt is contained in all foods, even when not intentionally seasoned.

He means a diet low in sodium. He means that he wants you to refrain from working the salt shaker so hard, and to cut out salty foods such as smoked and cured meats, sea foods and ocean fish, pickled foods and canned food with sodium benzoate preservative added (read the label). He may also recommend bread baked without salt, unsalted crackers, and dietetic fruits and vegetables canned without added salt. Seasonings permitted are herbs, onion, garlic, vanilla, paprika, parsley, pepper, peppermint, vinegar and non-sodium salt substitutes.

Dairy products are usually unrestricted in a low-sodium diet, except that sweet instead of salted butter is used, and low-sodium cottage cheese is favored over other varieties.
