Don't Producers Count Anymore

There is no need for studies or investigations to explain why taxpayers are on the edge of revolt. A few paragraphs from an editorial in the Oceanside, California, Blade-Tribune—an editorial that recently was reprinted in the Congressional Record—tell the story. The Tribune's editorial was aroused by a proposal of the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to give cash to the needy rather than to provide necessities on the theory that this would "preserve the dignity and freedom of choice" of the poor.

Says the Tribune, "What about the dignity and freedom of the hard-working industrious Americans who are working their fannies off to pay their taxes so the government can give it away? Don't we count anymore in America? Or do you have to be from a broken home or a lazy home or a I-don't-give-a-damn home to count?" The taxpayers' revolt is, in reality, a revolt of the producers against the demands of the non-producers. The smart politician knows which side his bread is buttered on. He should also know who provides the butter.

MAYBE THEY SHOULD

An official of a large city has left himself wide open by accusing the local Chamber of Commerce of running City Hall. A spokesman for the Chamber was quick to reply "... to protect our honor." As he pointed out, the Chamber is a business organization, operated on business principles. If it were indeed running City Hall, he noted, the Municipal Railway would be run on a businesslike basis. Also, there would be major reforms to overhaul the Civil Service System. If the Chamber were running City Hall, the city would be curbing expenditures instead of enacting new taxes to balance the budget.

"No," concluded the Chamber spokesman, "the Chamber of Commerce is not running City Hall. However, each year we borrow the talent of our best tax, finance and management brains from several hundred businessmen who ... appear before ... city departments and commissions ... to report their findings and make constructive suggestions." In some instances, it might be a good idea if City Hall were run by the Chamber of Commerce.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"CONCEALED" WEAPONS

"That guy is so tough," runs an old gag, "that if he puts his hand in his pockets, he could be arrested for carrying concealed weapons."

He couldn't, though, no matter how deadly his fists, because they would not be "concealed." In spite of the fabric covering the pockets, anyone could tell that his hands were there.

For contrast, consider this case: A man arrested with a gun in his pocket argued that it had not really been concealed, because it made a distinct and visible bulge.

But the court decided there was still sufficient concealment to make the man guilty of the charge. The judge said a mere bulge was not enough warning to an ordinary observer, that the man was armed.

It is this test — obviousness to an ordinary observer — that the law usually applies in deciding whether a person is carrying a concealed weapon. Thus, a gun would not be considered concealed simply because a particular person, looking from a particular angle, was unable to see it. For example:

A man who had a gun openly displayed in his belt was found not guilty of the offense. Even though the arresting officer — approaching from behind — could not see the gun, it was obvious enough for ordinary observation.

And what does "carrying" mean? Does the person actually have to be moving with the gun?

One man, seeing an officer near by, hastily slipped his pistol into an inside pocket. Arrested and brought to trial for carrying a concealed weapon, he offered this defense to the court: "Carrying" means transporting the weapon from one place to another. I did not move a single step.

But the court pointed out that, although "carrying" could mean "transporting," it could also mean just "possessing." The judge decided to pick the meaning which, considering the purpose of the law, made the most sense — and he found the man guilty.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT SENDS 4th SAFETY MESSAGE

Traditionally, July the Fourth is the holiday for celebrating our freedoms. Texans are particularly fond of celebrating one freedom — the freedom of mobility, the freedom to take to the open road.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends who were so generous with their expressions of sympathy, for the beautiful floral offerings and food at the loss of our loved one, Quinnie Hamman. May God bless you all in our fervent prayer.
 The Dilbeck Family

Texans by the thousands will exercise that freedom over the July Fourth weekend. Increased travel throughout the State will mean additional problems for motorists, particularly in construction areas. The Texas Highway Department works to make construction areas as safe as possible, but extra care is needed during the peak holiday travel periods.

The Texas Highway Department urges safe driving everywhere — all the time.

BREAKFAST IS FOR THE FAMILY

Breakfast may be the most neglected meal in the United States. One can't prove that. But it's commonly known that many people simply do not eat breakfast, or if they do, they eat pitifully little.

Most of the complaints I hear concern teen-agers. But now and then I find mothers worrying about even younger children.

Well, let's look at the situation. Are parents setting the best example? Is Dad running off to work with too little time to eat a substantial breakfast? Is mother so concerned with weight control as to falsely assume she should skip or drastically minimize breakfast?

Most of all, does your family ever sit down — all of you at the same time — for breakfast together?

Provides Family Unity

Breakfast, in my opinion, can be one of the most important factors in building family unity. The only valid excuse I can think of for not sharing breakfast is the busy and conflicting schedules that various members of the family can be engaged in.

But you don't always have to settle, even for that.

Since it's now summer and the kids aren't rushing off to school, why not eat breakfast together? You probably would if you were at a summer cottage. Give it a try, now, at home.

There must be, of course an atmosphere of courtesy and good humor. If necessary correct the going-to-bed-late habits of some of your family members so they can get up a little earlier to join the rest of you. One hardly expects, or desires, exuberant and effervescent brilliance at the breakfast table. But the morning groch needn't be tolerated.

And Don't Worry

And don't worry if everyone doesn't eat everything. Just set an attractive table. The kids can be asked to help. It will lend special occasion to breakfast and be good training too. Have fruit or fruit juice, milk, and cereal one day, eggs another, bacon or sausage, an occasional omelet or chipped beef in cream sauce, or waffles. Pancakes, or french toast are other alternatives.

If your husband bucks at the idea, remind him that business men increasingly are holding breakfast conferences — especially at conventions. So why can't the family get together? Good breakfast habits have a civilizing effect on all of us. And nothing starts the day better. Accident and work performance records, too, show real improvement both at work and at school when people switch to a good breakfast.

Civil Air Patrol Cadets Complete Nursing Course At Base Recently

SHEPPARD AFB, Tex. — A graduation banquet Friday evening at Sheppard's Noncommissioned Officers Open Mess will wrap up a week-long nursing orientation course for more than 50 Civil Air Patrol (CAP) cadets from all over the United States.

The course was conducted for the cadets, all girls age 13 to 21, by the Medical Service School (MSS). It was designed to motivate young girls toward a nursing career in the Air Force.

Instruction included discussions on military nursing and the role of the Air Force nurse in Vietnam. The students observed a simulated disaster exercise in the MSS bivouac area and received "on-the-job" training where they worked in designated areas of the hospital with members of the nursing team.

Highlight of the week's activities was a trip to Brooks AFB, Texas, and a tour of the School of Aerospace Medicine there.

While at Sheppard they also toured the U.S. Air Force Helicopter School.

The cadets will depart Sheppard for their home station Saturday from Base Operations at

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Early churches used steeples to make the building higher than all others in the city. People could see God's House from any direction, and could easily find their way to a place of worship. Today, with many office buildings towering into the sky, churches are not always the tallest buildings. However, churches still point the way to God, and provide a place of worship.

NEWEST IDEA IS "INSTANT" BEAUTY
"Instant" is the word today — instant coffee, instant hair color, instant tenderizing, instant desserts. And now Pablo, the celebrated makeup authority, announces a simple, four-step morning ritual for "instant beauty."
"First, refresh the face with a mildly astringent preparation," he says. "Veva Smooth Lotion's fuzzy tonic feeling perks up the circulation and helps give new life to the skin. Secondly, apply a sheer, liquid cream blush highlighter to add a transparent glow to the face. Using both hands, pat it far out on the cheekbones, but not too near the nose. Also pat it (don't rub!) on the forehead, temples, chin and the tendons of the neck."
Step three is for the eyes. Pablo recommends a stroke or two of neutral-toned creamy-powder eye shadow for the lids, applied from just below the crease of the lids down to the lashes. "Use more in the outer corners so that the eyes look farther apart, and use a little lighter shade as a highlighter just beneath the brows."
Lastly the Elizabeth Arden authority calls for a light, sheer lipstick that gives a tint of color but still allows the texture of the lips themselves to glow through.
"This routine should take less than five minutes daily," says Pablo. And, compared to most beauty rituals, that's instant!
