Thanksgiving Day services at St. Peter's will include a 9 a. m. service, with the morning prayer and a brief address will be given by Mr. Harry Carter, lay minister. The Sunday evening service will be held at 7:30 o'clock, and the Holy Communion and sermon will be by the Rev. John T. DeForest, priest in charge.

The first Billy Graham film in wide screen, "Fire On the Heather" will be presented next Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church, at evening worship at 7:30 o'clock, under the sponsorship of Dwight Smith, of Corpus Christi, who is the Billy Graham representative in this area.

The film dramatically portrays Scotland's heroic struggle over the centuries for freedom of worship, and is filmed in color to give greater verisimilitude to the presentation.

The film shows the Roman conquest of Caledonia, then inhabited only by the primitive Picts, and how St. Columba brought the gospel to these wild and war-like people.

The conflict between Mary, Queen of Scots and John Knox in later years is shown, and the execution of John Brown of Priesthill, along with Scotland of today.

City Council Calls Bond Election Dec. 17

The City Council, at its regular meeting on Monday night, called a bond election for Dec. 17, to decide whether or not Rockport will be able to take advantage of the Highway Department's offer to bear a large proportion of the cost of paving along Highway 35 Business Route.

Absentee voting on the proposition begins on Friday, Nov. 29, and will continue until three days before the election. The election will decide whether or not the city shall issue $80,000 in tax bonds, payable in ten years and callable in five, and allocate a portion of the present tax money to payment of this obligation.

Laddie Janicek, of the First Southwest Company, presented his report on the issuance of the bonds, and Colonel Porter moved that the necessary steps be taken to adopt the resolution presented by Janicek.

A discussion followed this upon the proposal by Harry Ratliff, representative of the bonding firm of McClung and Knickerbocker, that the city redeem a $6000 bond held by the company and falling due in 1958, thus saving the city approximately $112 in interest. The council authorized redemption of this bond.

An ordinance on peddling within the city was then adopted, and the council adjourned.

Navigation District Constructs More Jetties at Fulton

Efforts by the Aransas County Navigation District to hold the bathing beach at Fulton in place continued this week with the extension of the jetties along the shore.

Ever since the beach was cast up as the result of dredging when Fulton Harbor was constructed, the sand and shell has had a tendency to move alongshore with the prevailing winds and tides, and at least twice the district has added to the structures designed to hold the material in place.

In November of 1956, three short jetties were first installed, in the hope that they would stop the drift, caused by the steady south-east wind most of the year. These structures slowed the migration of the beach, but didn't completely stop it.

By May, of 1957, the shoreline had started to recede again, and once more the Navigation District took measures which it hoped would remedy the situation, and constructed three more jetties or groins, perpendicular to the shore. However, the ceaseless wave action and the high tides of the summer, which accompanied hurricanes elsewhere in the Gulf, enabled the bay waters to wash out still more shore, and to actually run between the groins and the beach.

At a recent meeting of the district, commissioners decided to expand the jetties still farther, in an effort to stop the erosion, and the work, started this week, will probably be finished by Saturday if no delays are experienced.

Rockport P-TA Needs Clothing

At the regular meeting of the Rockport Parent-Teachers' Association, assembled members heard Miss Marie Vidaurri, chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, tell of the needs of some children now attending school, who have insufficient clothing. There are a number of such pupils, Miss Vidaurri said, and she urged anyone with clothes to get in touch with her or with the school's principal, Albert Griffith, Jr.

With winter coming on, and cold weather ahead, Miss Vidaurri said that the need was even more urgent than it had been earlier in the fall, when there was no inclement weather.

Mrs. Don Henderson, president of the organization, joined Miss Vidaurri in appealing to everyone with wearable clothing to donate them at once.

The program part of the meeting was opened with the singing of "America the Beautiful" and then Rev. A. Arnott Ward, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, spoke on "Guidance With Meaning."

Two rooms tied for the attendance prize—Mrs. Hazel Frophet's first grade, and the fourth grade pupils of Mrs. Guy Hill.

FAR EASTERN MUD—Artillery maneuvers of the First U. S. Cavalry Division bring a light tank of an AAA battalion into juxtaposition with an Honest John rocket launcher.

Three Out-of-state Men In Jail Charged With Stealing Shrimp

Three men charged with stealing shrimp were lodged in the Aransas County jail, Monday morning, after being apprehended by Aransas Pass police.

Charged with stealing approximately 700 pounds of shrimp were L. Z. Cartwright, of Montgomery, Alabama; Jimmy King, of Pensacola, Florida; and James Ballard Yarborough, of Winter Haven, Fla.

Edward Mulloy, of Aransas Pass, owner of the shrimp boat Pink Lady, said that his boat had been docked at Casey's Safooc, in Conn Brown harbor, and that the three men had been seen acting in a suspicious manner by people in the neighborhood.

When arrested by the Aransas Pass police department, they had approximately 245 pounds of shrimp in the car in which they were headed for Corpus Christi, and the next morning Mulloy and the police recovered another 400 pounds that the three men had sold in Port Aransas.

Cartwright and King were charged with the 400-pound theft, and Cartwright and Yarborough were charged with the 245-pound theft.

Justice of the Peace C. O. Bailey set Cartwright's bond at $1,500 on each charge. King's bond was set at $3,000, and Yarborough's bond was set at $1,500.

All three were bound over for grand jury action. All are shrimpers, but none is from this area.

First Baptist Church Schedules Week of Prayer and Offering

A week of prayer, accompanied by the Lottie Moon Christmas offering for Foreign Missions, has been scheduled for Dec. 2 to 6, according to the Rev. C. Wilson Brumley, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The history of this week, he said, parallels that of the Women's Missionary Union in the Baptist Church, for the two were begun the same year—1888. In far away China, Miss Lottie Moon wrote a stirring letter to Miss Annie Armstrong, corresponding secretary of the three-month-old organization, urging the societies to make a special Christmas offering for two new missionaries.

Letters were written by hand to the 15 societies in the church, and the response was thrilling. Four years later a week of prayer and the offering were celebrated at the same time, and since then, shortly before Christmas each year, they are both repeated.

HEAVY RUN OF FISH THIS WEEK

SAN ANTONIO DUCK HUNTER IS KILLED

W. A. Showers, 48, of San Antonio was killed here Friday when he was accidentally hit by a shot gun blast during a duck hunt.

Showers and his partner, John W. Currie, 22, also of San Antonio were hunting around Cavaso Creek. Showers was in the bow of the boat and Currie the stern. After missing a shot at a duck Showers said to Currie, "You get him."

As Currie pulled the trigger, Showers stood up in the boat and was ripped by the blast. He died instantly or soon after.

Justice of the Peace F. Iansen rendered a verdict of accidental death and fixed the time at around 4 p. m.

Immediately after the accident, Currie, thinking Showers might still be living, and after docking the boat on a muddy bank, ran seven miles to the St. Charles Bay Hunting Club to get help.

When Iansen, deputy sheriff Sherman Mundine, and two doctors arrived at the boat, Showers was dead.

The two men came from San Antonio Thursday and had spent that day and night hunting.

Showers is survived by his wife, Viola, and a 16-year-old daughter. Cage-Marshall Funeral Home in Aransas handled the local arrangements.

JAYCEE'S LAUNCH PROJECT TO HELP MENTALLY ILL

The Aransas County Junior Chamber of Commerce will launch a project to help the mentally ill of Texas tomorrow, it was announced by Cecil Cole, president of the local Jaycees, when it begins a state-wide sale of Christmas cards in support of the State Mental Hospital Development Association.

Cole says that the Texas Jaycee organization voted unanimously to undertake this service project on a state-wide basis because of the great need for more and improved treatment for the mentally ill and for increased understanding on the part of the public.

He emphasized that proceeds from the sale of the cards will go to the State Mental Hospital Development Association, a non-profit Texas organization set up to aid the mentally ill and their families and to provide funds for research into causes and treatments of mental illness.

Heading the sales group for the local Jaycees will be Joe Pat Mills. Assisting him will be the Jaycee Club.

The goal for the local Jaycee group is $150. Cards may be purchased at a cost of $2 per box of 20 cards by calling SO 4-6574. Displays of the cards may be seen in the windows of Piggly Wiggly beginning Saturday.

Cole said, "Remember, when you purchase these cards, you are not only getting Christmas cards you can be proud of, but you are also giving a Christmas present—that of hope—to the mentally ill and their families throughout Texas." Booths will be set up Saturday, Nov. 30 at West's Red & White, and Roe's Piggly Wiggly.

Presbyterians Hold Special Bible Sunday

Universal Bible Sunday and Recognition Day was observed at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday.

At the Sunday School hour, Ted Little, chairman of Christian Education, introduced all teachers and paid tribute to the services they have rendered. This was followed by a prayer of dedication by the pastor, the Rev. A. Arnott Ward.

Methodist Church Holds Special Bible Program

"The Symbolisms of MYF," written by Angelo Palazzolo, was presented by the youth of the First Methodist Church at the evening worship service Sunday.

The entire program was given by the young people with Chester Barre giving the inspirational talk.

Loretta Wilson sang "Sunset and Evening Star," and "Ivory palaces."

According to Colonel Porter, practically all preliminaries have been completed for widening the present route from Rockport Cottages south of town to the small park just north of the point where Highway 35 and the Business Route rejoin on the north.

"The county purchased its part of the highway some time ago," Colonel Porter said, and to do the work needed, including installation of curbs and gutters, the State Highway Department expects to spend about $225,000. But this is contingent upon Rockport bearing some of the cost.

"Our part of it, plus the cost of some drainage installations which the city must bear alone will, we think, run about $40,000 to $50,000, a large part of which we will get back from property owners. Approximately 90% of those along the route have signified their willingness to bear the costs of the curb and gutter in front of their property.

"However, as this will probably come in over a period of time, and as we must have the money for our part of the project in escrow before the Highway Department will start, the council feels that the bond issue will be necessary." The Council expects to ask for no more than $80,000, the Colonel said, "payable in ten years and callable in five. We believe that people realize how much this improvement is needed, and will support the issue. The City is in good shape. Our recently-built City Hall is completely paid for, and we have been operating in the black."

The extra money, over and above cost of curbs, gutters, and drainage was included for work on side streets where they join the business route, and for needed drainage at several points that are badly flooded after a heavy rain.

Eventually, Colonel Porter said, Highway Department plans call for traffic lanes from the T. Noah Smith corner north along the waterfront, separated by a parkway, and a waterfront parking area with controlled access from the highway, to be beautified by the Highway Department.

Landowners along this stretch, including the Aransas County Navigation District, are cooperating enthusiastically, Porter stated.

"If we can get the bond issue approved soon enough," the councilman said, "the Highway Department is sure that the improvements can be made before school is over and the summer vacation season starts. Otherwise the council will ask that construction be deferred until next fall, in order not to interfere with summer visitors."

Cub Pack Needs Adult Leaders

Cubmaster Philip Baldwin said today that at least 80 or 90 Rockport boys are ready to join Cub Scout Packs throughout the Rockport and Fulton area, if enough den mothers could be found.

"We hold the packs to eight," he said, "and we just don't have enough den mothers to go around. I know that a number of mothers are probably wondering why their youngsters can't be Cub Scouts, but that's the reason."

"And, unfortunately, when some have asked me, and I've pointed this out, they say that they are too busy to be den mothers themselves. And these leaders are the backbone of the pack. If we don't have them, we can't do as much as we would like to."

"Last year, when we had over 125 boys in the pack, we had lots of leaders, but these boys have graduated into the Boy Scouts and their parents are working with that group."

"We've had the regular den meetings going right along, up to capacity, but we've delayed holding a pack meeting for the same reason that we've not organized new dens. We just don't have enough adult leaders, and until we do, Cub Scouting is going to be slower than we would like."

Oddfellows Have Successful Meet

The regular meeting of the Oddfellows this past week was a most interesting one, with visitors from Sinton, Portland, Ingleside, Aransas Pass, New Mexico, and Minnesota, attending.

The guests were welcomed by Alvis Holland, Noble Grand, during the business meeting.

During the recess a degree team was organized by Lawrence McLester, after which four new members were given the initiatory degree.

H. M. McFathridge, district deputy, also spoke, likening Oddfellowship to good music, and pointing out that it isn't the amount of wind blown into a horn but what comes out of it that matters. In other words, it's not the amount of talking that is done, but the results obtained that count.

Refreshments were served, and several short talks followed.

Visitors included Ray L. Sinton, W. K. Bonner, Bill Smith, and Rudolph J. Zipse, of Ingleside; R. R. Merriam, A. D. Wofford, D. G. Brown, and M. W. Arnold, of Sinton; Lane Dunbar, F. O. McPayne, Jim Dunbar, H. M. McFathridge and W. M. Hodnett, of Portland; and E. T. Lavine and W. G. Wilkinson, of Minnesota.

Fish Fry At First Baptist Big Success

Members of the First Baptist Church attended a churchwide fish fry Thursday night, and were fed on fish that their pastor, Rev. C. Wilson Brumley, and members of the Baptist Men's Brotherhood caught and cooked. Rev. Brumley, Dale McClain and Bob Blake, on one trip came in with 79 nice fish, and other members of the congregation raised this total to the point where over 150 people were fed, and more could have been accommodated.

In charge of the fish-frying department were V. L. Ramsey, president of the brotherhood, D. R. Simmons, Carl Casey, Dale McClain, and M. D. McNorton, and although they cooked them over an open fire, under difficulties posed by the wind and weather, everyone agreed that they had done a magnificent job.

The kitchen committee consisted of Mrs. D. R. Simmons, social chairman, Mrs. Somerville Ballou, Mrs. Shelley Roaten, and Mrs. Bill Clark, and the planned the menu and coordinated the efforts of the ladies who furnished the rest of the meal.

The Rev. Brumley and his wife were surprised with a pounding after the meal, at which Brother Bill Mason, Associational Missionary, from Beville, was also a special guest.

LATE START MAKES 4-H CLUB LAG SAYS MRS. ALTON KINSEL

"We got started too late this year to begin feeding calves," Mrs. Alton Kinsel said, "and so we haven't done as much as we'd like to. County Agent Dan Pawlik thought we ought to organize our own club in Aransas County, and we do have seven boys in it, but we haven't any consistent program and probably won't have until next year."

There are seven boys in the club at this time: Charles Armstrong, John Cook, Eddie Steele, Joe Hugenberg, Bob Johnson, Alton Kinsel, Jr., and Francis Rouquette, who is president of the organization.

"We have been over in San Patricio County," Mrs. Kinsel said, "to see what 4-H clubs over there were doing, and we have held some meetings here, but as we have to wait until Mr. Pawlik can get here, they haven't been as regular as we would have liked, for he's been very busy, and we've had to postpone meetings from time to time."

Paul Hoover will be the speaker at the Church of Christ this evening.

WOMEN SHOULD NOT DELAY IN CLAIMING BENEFITS

Social security insurance benefits are payable to women who are otherwise eligible, at age 62 instead of 65. H. M. Cleveland, District Manager of the Social Security Administration says that these monthly benefits are retroactive for one year at most. Since the beginning date at the lower age was November 1956, an application will have to be filed before the end of this month to start the payments as early as November 1956.

A woman worker or the wife of a retired insured worker who chooses to claim her benefits between ages 62 and 65 will receive a reduced amount, and she will continue to receive the reduced rate after reaching age 65. A widow's benefit, however, is payable at age 62 without a reduction in the amount of the payment, even though she may have received a reduced wife's benefit prior to the death of her husband. Anyone who feels that she may be eligible for the benefits should get in touch with the social security office promptly, according to Cleveland.

Certain information is needed in order to pay claims as quickly as possible. It is necessary for a woman worker, wife, or widow to establish the date of her birth before payments can be made. Also, when a widow applies for payments on her deceased husband's account, her marriage certificate will be needed. A birth certificate established at the time of birth (not a delayed certificate) or a baptismal certificate will usually serve as proof of age; if one of these documents is not available, an old record such as an insurance policy or a family Bible can be used.

"The processing of your claim can be speeded up," Cleveland explained, "if you will bring your proofs with you on your first visit to the office. However, do not delay filing an application just because you do not have the documents mentioned. Your social security office will assist you in filing your claim and securing the required proofs." For this area, the address is: Social Security Administration, 530 South Water Street, Corpus Christi, Texas.

The Church of Christ What It Teaches

As we pursue our study of the subject of BAPTISM which we began last week, we come now to the question, "What doth hinder me to be baptized?" or stating it in different words, who then can be baptized? Then let us hasten to say that all who have reached the age of accountability may be baptized if they can meet the requirements of the Lord for baptism.

Well, then, who may be baptized? Listen to Jesus when He said, "He that BELIEVETH and is baptized shall be saved. He that BELIEVETH not shall be damned." (Mk. 16:16).

Hence, we see that no Atheist, Agnostic, Infidel, nor any other unbeliever can be Scripturally baptized. Philip, the evangelist, said to the inquiring eunuch, "If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest." That is, the eunuch could be baptized, if he believed with all of his heart. (Acts 8:37).

Having then seen that one must be a believer before he can be baptized, we ask are there any other qualifications that one must have before being baptized? Yes, an individual must have repented of all sins; for we hear the Apostle Peter saying, "Repent and be baptized everyone of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." (Acts 2:38).

Hence, unless, and until a man REPENTS he is not qualified, or prepared for baptism. Baptism can do the impenitent man no good whatsoever. Well, is that all that one should do before being prepared for baptism? No, for the Lord requires a confession of our faith; for Jesus tells us, "Whoever therefore shall CONFESS me before men, him will I CONFESS also before My Father which is in heaven." (Mat. 10:32).

Now listen to Paul, "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness! and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." (Rom. 10:10).

Again, let us look at the conversation of the Ethiopian eunuch: "And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water; and the eunuch said, See, here is water; what doth hinder me to be baptized. And Philip said, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answering, and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God." Acts 8:36,37).

Hence, we see that a CONFESION is required for Scriptural baptism, and that CONFESION is, the divinity of Christ; or, I believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God." (Mat. 16:16). No other confession is required of anyone in becoming a Christian. Hence, we must conclude that one must be taught the gospel of Christ sufficiently that he understands and believes it with the whole heart; and has genuinely repented or turned from all sins; and confessed his faith before he is prepared for baptism.

Fur, Feathers & Fins

By JACK BAUGHMAN

Practically everyone who has vacationed or spent some time along the coast has observed the comings and goings of the ghost crab. It has been named appropriately because all one gets is a fleeting glimpse of the animal as it disappears almost spectrally into its burrow. The technical name given to the animal is also a very suitable one. The generic name Ocyopode means "fleet-footed" and the specific name albicans, "White."

Ocyopode albicans is found on exposed sandy beaches. Burrows of the adults can be found in the area just above the high tide mark to about 50 yards inland in the dune region. Three types of burrows have been reported. However, the author has found only two types: Small burrows in the wet sand made by immature crabs, and the very deep excavations of the adults which may go down almost vertically for more than four feet. The other type burrow reported is one which extends into the sand for one or two feet at an angle of 45°. Halfway down, a side burrow intercepts this main tunnel at an angle vertical to the surface of the beach. This auxiliary tunnel may be used for escape purposes.

Immature crabs may be found in the coarse wet sand between the tide marks. The adult crabs are nocturnal animals and are often found feeding at the drift line early in the evening. Young crabs may be observed during the day feeding along the beach.

The ghost crab changes its color, mimicking the coloration of the sand, making the crab difficult to be seen. The tissue which underlies the hard outer shell is yellowish white and is dotted with numerous pigmented cells called chromatophores. Migration of the pigment within these chromatophores causes the color variation of the animal. Experimenters have found that this migration is influenced by temperature and light.

The first pair of legs are unequal in size and bear large pinching claws. Either the right or left claw may be the larger. Right and left "handed" crabs occur at random in both males and females.

Although O. albicans normally runs sideways, it may run obliquely sideways and also forward for long distances at considerable speeds. To effect a backward movement the crab usually uses a jumping maneuver. A normal walking or running crab uses all eight ambulatory legs, yet when pursued closely, the last pair is raised off the ground and only the first three pairs are used. Uncanny accuracy is exercised by the crab in returning to its burrow, approaching food, or escaping from enemies. Much of this behavior is the result of the crab being able to detect changes in light intensity.

The sea is not always blue, but may vary from an indigo, or deep blue, to an intense green, or in certain circumstances brown or brown-red. Blue waters are typical of the open oceans, particularly in the middle or lower latitudes, whereas green water is more common in coastal areas, and the brown or "red" waters is usually observed in coastal regions only. The blue color can be explained as a result of the scattering of light against the water molecules themselves, or against suspended minute particles smaller than the shortest visible wave lengths. The blue color of the water is therefore comparable to the blue color of the sky.

The transition from blue to green color, however, cannot be explained as a result of this scattering, and it has been pointed out that a "yellow substance," which seems to be a metabolic product of plant plankton and which occurs in greatest abundance in coastal areas, in combination with the "natural" blue of the water, leads to a variety of shades of the green colors which are observed at sea.

When water is full of silt or other suspended large particles, the sea may take on the colors of the particles. Discoloration can be observed when large quantities of suspended mineral particles are carried into the sea after a heavy rainfall. This also may occur when very large populations of certain kinds of microscopic algae or dinoflagellates, such as those found in the "red tide," are present very near the surface. Thus, the "red water," which is actually more often brown than red, which is observed in many areas and after which the Red Sea and the Vermilion Sea in the Gulf of California have been named is due to the abundance of certain algae or dinoflagellates.

Supt. Pat H. Greene To Retire After 42 Years of Service

Pat H. Grene, superintendent of the Aransas County Schools, intends to catch up on his fishing after 42 years as a school teacher and superintendent, and the Aransas County School Board will soon start interviewing some of the many applicants for his position.

"I started back in 1914, in East Texas, at Rosevine School," Pat said. "It was a two teacher school, and I was the principal. School didn't start in the fall until after cotton picking, and it let out in the spring in time for planting. That year, I remember, I picked three or four bales of cotton for my daddy before school took up. We had about 120 or 125 pupils between the two of us.

"The next year I taught at Capote School out in Presidio County. The future Mrs. Greene was teaching a school out there in Pinto Canyon, and I wanted to be near her, and to get in some hunting and fishing. It was only 35 miles on a horse when I wanted to call on her, and as for the hunting, I used to carry my gun along to school, and hunt rabbits and quail.

"The quail were mostly blues, and same Gambel's, and they were so plentiful that my wife saw 30 coverts once just riding the two miles between her boarding house and her school.

"We were married in 1916, and in the winter of 1916-17 I went back to school at the University of Texas. The next winter we were back in Presidio County again, and I taught Candelaria School for two years. Mrs. Greene was postmistress part of the time, and our oldest son was born there.

"I used to make an average of about three months wages as a teacher by running a trap line every winter. Coyotes brought a $2 bounty and a good hide was worth from $10 to $15. Coons brought $3 to $4 each then, when a dollar was money, and just any kind of a skunk would bring a dollar, while fancies were worth about $3.50. There were two kinds, the striped ones and the little spotted ones that some people call civet cats.

"I caught ringtails and bobcats, too, and one of these was so big that when I held his front paws as high as I could reach, his back ones were still on the ground. There were a few panthers, too, but I never got one, and along the river and at the charcos (pools) there were tremendous numbers of ducks, geese and grullas—sandhill cranes—but when I went there afterwards, the irrigation dams had all the water, and the river bed and the pools were dry.

"There were swift foxes, grays, and cross foxes, and lobos, and a wolf that was between the lobos and the coyotes, and these in between fellows practically put me out of business finally, they tore up so many of my traps, or carried them off."

After Candelaria the Greenes moved just about as far in the other direction as it was possible to go in Texas, to Douglasville, near Texarkana, which was where Pat was born and raised. Then they went to Fort Worth, where Pat taught in Polytechnic High for a while, before they moved to Goose Creek.

"I was principal," Greene said, "and was also in charge of athletics. The school teams had been playing for four years, ever since the school district started, without winning a game, and then the year I went there we won our first. Goose Creek and that area are football fans sure enough nowadays, and that first victory apparently got them on the way."

From Goose Creek Pat went to

Webster, just south of Houston, and stayed for 19 years, first as superintendent of the Webster School District and then as superintendent of the Clear Creek Consolidated School District, which took in Webster and a number of the other districts in that immediate area.

He left there at the end of the 52-53 school year and came to Rockport, where he was the first superintendent in charge after Rockport and Fulton had consolidated their district into Aransas County Independent School District, and had built the new high school between Rockport and Fulton.

Since then he has seen the district spend another $750,000 to add class rooms at Rockport and Fulton, and to build a new junior high school, gymnasium and stadium on the high school campus.

Out of his 42 years experience, he has come up with one very definite idea.

"The public," he said, "in general approves of education, but doesn't necessarily understand the urgency of the country having the best educational program in the world. At best, it is a race between education and catastrophe, and if we cut corners we're going to be facing catastrophe."

Asked what he intends to do besides fish, Pat said that he and his wife have so many things to do that they hardly know where to start, but as they have three sons, a daughter, three daughters-in-law and a son-in-law, and a varied assortment of grandsons and granddaughters, he thinks maybe he'll spend some time teaching the grandchildren how to fish, too.

"All fishing is good," he said, "only some of it's better. I caught an 8-pound red Saturday, and a couple of 6-pounders and some small ones."

To Our Theatre Patrons

The Cove Drive-In will close after Monday night, Dec. 2nd. The entire December program for the Cove will be moved down to the Surf Theatre beginning Tuesday night, Dec. 3rd. This policy will prevail thru February, 1958. A big drop in attendance due to inclement weather and the flu makes this change necessary. It is hoped the Surf will offer greater comfort during the winter months.

Fred Percival Passes Away At Age of Eighty-eight

Mr. Fred Percival, 88, for many years a resident of Rockport, passed away last Sunday, and on Monday, after a service conducted by Mr. Harry Carter, lay minister of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, was laid to rest in Rockport Cemetery, with the members of the Masonic Lodge acting as pallbearers.

Mr. Fred, as he was generally known, came to Rockport in 1888, when he and his father, Frank Percival, a native of England, located a surveyor's office in this city, and after his father retired from the post was, for many years, county surveyor of Aransas County.

However, in his younger days he said that he had carried a surveyor's level over much of South Texas, as well as neighboring states.

As a young man he surveyed rights-of-way for many of the early railroads. These included the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, in the territory between Del Rio and Alpine; the Gulf, Mobile and Northern, in the states of Tennessee and Alabama, and the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico, in the territory between Victoria and the Valley.

At one time, he also worked for the International Boundary Commission, surveying the international boundary between Brownsville and Laredo.

At that time, according to his accounts, the surveying party operated in the dense brush along the Rio Grande, packing their supplies in on mules and burros, and camping out in the chaparral. One of the hazards of this tour of duty was the Mexican bandits, who, several times ransacked the survey camps, carrying away practically everything movable.

For many years Mr. Fred was an employee of the State Highway Department, first in this area, and then in the Laredo District, attaining the distinction of being resident engineer.

Mrs. A. C. Shivers remembers that when she went to work for the Highway Department in 1929, Mr. Percival was at Rockport, and occupied with the planning and construction of the Copano Causeway. He also planned and laid out much of the Hug-the-Coast Highway, now known as Highway 35, and the roads between Beeville, Sinton, Taft, Aransas Pass, Rockport, Lamar, Tivoli, and Port Lavaca, were either the result of his planning or his supervision.

At various times during Mr. Fred's life, principally before he went to work for the Highway Department, where he stayed for 30 or 35 years, he surveyed a great portion of the land in Aransas and the surrounding counties. When the old Coleman-Fulton Pasture Company lands began to be marketed by the Taft Ranch, Mr. Percival laid out most of the land blocks, and later, many of the various subdivisions in San Patricio, Bee, Aransas and Refugio counties.

So wide had been his experience, and so well was he acquainted with this part of South Texas and its surveys that he was frequently called in as an expert witness in title suits.

In his work, Mr. Fred had to re-examine old and crude surveys made before his time, and in the process discovered some long forgotten communities, among them the ghost town of St. Mary's, and the old Mission of Refugio, on Copano, one of the oldest recorded communities in Texas, near present Bayside.

He also found evidence of a large and permanent Indian settlement on Lamar Peninsula, near the present terminus of the Copano Causeway.

He was born at sea on August 7, 1869, while his parents were en route to the United States, where they intended to make their home. He later became a naturalized citizen of this country, only to discover still later that he was an American by birth, since the ship he was born on was an American vessel.

DO YOUR CURTAINS LOOK DINGY?

The curtains looked dingy, so she decided to clean them in a pan of gasoline in the bathtub. She forgot about the pilot light on the floor furnace just outside the bathroom door.

She was buried just a couple of weeks ago, this usually alert woman who was "accustomed" to doing her own dry cleaning. It happens to someone somewhere practically every day.

Many victims of home dry cleaning accidents, like the woman above, routinely used flammable liquids to clean curtains or clothes. Others were beginners, motivated by economy or convenience.

Most of them were ordinarily sensible, with full awareness of the peril of gasoline or naphtha or other dry cleaning preparations. One moment of carelessness to which we are all prone turned them from happy homemakers into sad statistics.

Explosions are only one of several risks run by the thoughtless do-it yourself operators. Some cleaning agents are flammable; others give off vapors; still others are harmful to human skin. All could be lethal if taken internally.

So inflammable is gasoline that to keep it stored at home is to openly court disaster. Gasoline emits vapors to form explosive mixtures in the air. A transient spark from a light switch or cigarette and the mixture may be ignited.

Vapors may flow in an invisible stream for 200 feet from the point of use, flashing back and exploding the main container when touched off by flame or spark. Static electricity generated by synthetic or silk fabric being cleaned is fully capable of igniting the fumes of gasoline or naphtha.

Care must be taken to avoid inhaling concentrated vapors, since the common ones—excluding turpentine—are anesthetics. Some, after prolonged exposure, are injurious to internal organs.

If gasoline or naphtha can dissolve dirt and grime on fabrics, obviously these same fluids are able to cut through the natural oils of human skin.

You still insist on doing your own dry cleaning? Then—do it right.

Use only non-flammable cleaning agents, keeping in mind that "non-explosive" markings on a label do not necessarily mean "non-flammable." Never, under any circumstances, use gasoline or naphtha.

Do your cleaning outside, where toxic vapors will be quickly and safely dissipated. Use a dip stick in the liquid instead of your hands.

Keep children and pets away from your cleaning operations. Children are often the innocent victims of home cleaning accidents.

Jim Ben Clodderants, who is majoring in refrigeration at the University of Houston, was home recently, and his mother expects him for Thanksgiving.

Seller Remains Liable When Buyer Assumes Mortgage

Henry Jones decided to sell his home for $15,000 and when a buyer was found, the question arose as to how the buyer should finance the purchase.

Henry had a mortgage on his house, with a balance of $10,000, and the buyer suggested that Henry permit him to take over the mortgage payments, paying Henry the difference of $5,000 in cash. This, argued the buyer, would save him the trouble and expense of getting a new loan himself and so Henry agreed.

Several years after the deal was closed, Henry received a letter from his bank advising that the payments on the mortgage were far in arrears and that he would have to pay or a lawsuit would be filed.

Henry was surprised to learn that he was still liable on the original obligation, and that if the property could not be sold at foreclosure to bring enough money to pay the mortgage balance and the costs, he would have to pay the difference.

Of course, Henry might have sued his buyer for his loss, but the chances would be that the buyer is insolvent and "judgment-proof," so that Henry could not collect a judgment against him.

When a mortgage is assumed by a purchaser of real estate, the financial institution still holds the original note which was signed by the seller. If Henry had contacted his bank and obtained a release of liability, Henry would, of course, have been cleared of all further responsibility of the obligation.

Henry's bank, however, would have no reason to release Henry and might be reluctant to do so unless the bank's investigation disclosed that the buyer was at least as credit-worthy as Henry. The bank may also have had additional problems concerning releasing Henry from the obligation if the loan was of the FHA or GI type.

The danger of permitting an assumption of your mortgage loan may, therefore, be considerable, especially in view of the fact that real estate markets may fall after a period of years so that the real estate itself may not be of sufficient value to pay the mortgage note in the event of a default by the buyer.

SOCIAL SECURITY OBSERVES FARM-CITY WEEK

"Farm-City Week, which is being observed nationwide this week gives us an opportunity to stress the part old-age, survivors, and disability insurance is playing in the American way of life," H. H. Cleveland, District Manager of the Corpus Christi social security office, announced today.

The Social Security Administration, through the Corpus Christi office and 55 other district offices, is cooperating with farm and business industries in this year's observance of Farm-City Week.

"We of the Social Security Administration are in accord with President Eisenhower, who, in his 1957 proclamation of Farm-City Week said: . . . it is fitting that all citizens, rural and urban, should recognize their interdependence in contributing to the strength, character, and prosperity of our Nation," Cleveland declared.

He pointed out that the problem of family income in case the breadwinner's earnings are cut off by old-age, disability, or death is common to both city and farm workers. "Social Security is designed to help solve this problem but there is still need for people to understand that the program applies to city and country folks alike," he said.

Cleveland believes that many farmers feel that social security for them is a "special" program. This is especially true where retirement benefits are concerned, he said. Much of the misunderstanding, Cleveland thinks, is due to the fact that farmers, unlike most city people, continue to live at their place of business after retiring from full activity. He pointed out, however, that farmers are subject to the same restrictions on receiving social security benefits when they have earnings after retirement as are other beneficiaries.

Emphasizing that old-age insurance payments for the farmer are not a farm subsidy, Cleveland pointed out that a farmer's right to continue to receive old-age insurance benefits after retirement will be governed by the amount of his earnings and the time devoted to farm activities during his years of retirement. The law permits him to taper-off in work, work part-time or seasonally without losing all or any of his monthly payments. This provision is the same as that applying to social security beneficiaries who work in cities after their retirement, he said.

Wolf Calls Cut Tax Rate

Sheffield, England.—A tax valuation court has granted shapely, 31-year-old Mrs. Mildred Barker a cut of 2 pounds (5.60) a year in her real estate tax because of wolves.

Mrs. Barker said the wolves were the male employees of an engineering works a few yards from her home. She testified she drey wolf whistles "when I hang out the laundry, when I wash the steps and when I sunbathe in summer." The argued, and the tax court agreed yesterday, that this lessened the value of the house.

Texas Shrimp Landings Up 200,000 Pounds in October Over September

Texas shrimp landings for the month of October showed a rise of approximately 200,000 pounds over the month of September, according to the latest figures released by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, with 7,421,000 pounds of tails being landed, against 7,290,000 in the previous month.

Galveston dropped, with 661,000 pounds against 814,000, but the Aransas Pass-Corpus Christi area showed a raise of approximately 200,000 pounds to lead all other shrimp ports on the Texas coast. October landings in these harbors amounted to a combined total of 1,711,000 pounds, compared with 1,590,000 the month before.

However, with Tringali, Incorporated, one of the largest shrimping companies at Aransas Pass shutting down Texas operations for the winter, it is unlikely that such production will keep up. The firm, which located in Aransas

Pass earlier this year with a fleet of over 30 trawlers, has closed its local plant down, and will operate out of Florida for the coming months, either at their Ft. Myers or Tampa plants.

Next to the Aransas Pass-Corpus Christi area, Brownsville produced the most shrimp in October, with 1,594,000 pounds of tails crossing the dock this month, a rise of 165,000 pounds, and then Freeport was third in overall production, checking in with 1,517,000 pounds this month against 1,502,000 in September. Port Isabel was fourth, with slightly over a million pounds, compared to 948,000 a month ago.

Port Lavaca and Palacios checked in with 493,000 pounds in October; this was a drop of a little over a hundred thousand. Rockport went up 5,000, from 282,000 pounds to 287,000, and the Sabine Pass, Port Arthur area recorded 149,000 pounds in October against 105,000 in September.

No oysters have been reported from Texas as yet, but fin fish landings went down a little. Galveston and Freeport reported 73,000 pounds in October against 79,000 pounds in September; Port Isabel caught 20,000 against 17,000 the month before, and the Sabine Pass-Port Arthur region reported 12,000 pounds for no change over September.

Blue crab landings at Galveston and Freeport amounted to 3000 pounds against 2000 the month of September, and Sabine Pass and Port Arthur also reported 3000 in October against a ton the month before.

The Rockport-Fulton Area Safety Council had its regular meeting on Monday night, at the Chamber of Commerce building, and elected officers for the coming year.

Dudley Bracht has been elected president; Rev. A. Arnott Ward is vice president; Richard Fox is the secretary of the organization; Ed Beasley is treasurer, and Elva Mullinax and Jack Horton are co-chairmen of the membership drive that will start in January.

President Bracht informed the council that the budget had been met through the United Fund.

The Safety Council then voted to cooperate with the newly organized Auto Club, as long as its members operate it according to the rules of safe and careful driving.

There will be no meeting of the council or Dec. 23, this meeting having been deleted, and the next will be held after the beginning of the new year, on the fourth Monday in January.

THANKSGIVING WILL FIND TURKEY AT MOST LOCAL CAFES

Thanksgiving will find turkey as usual at most local cafes, a canvass has revealed.

At Thompson's Spa, Judy said that they would serve the regular menu and, of course, turkey and all the trimmings, for what, said he, would Thanksgiving be without turkey? The Spa will be open from 11:30 to 2:30, and from 5:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m., he said.

At the Del Mar, Mrs. Sol Silverman, just back from a Houston trip, said that she was going to see that Del Mar turkey had oyster dressing, along with the other things that go with the season, like pie and cranberry sauce, and Sol said that the Thanksgiving football will be on TV in the Del Mar that day, for diners that want to see it. The Del Mar will be open as usual, and will serve its regular menu along with the Thanksgiving specials.

Brocato's will be open all day, Tony said, and they will serve turkey, pumpkin pie, cranberry sauce, yams, dressing and giblet gravy for those in search of holiday fare, with a la carte orders for those who want them.

At Duck Inn they will open at 11:30 a. m. Mrs. Duck said, and expect to serve Thanksgiving fare all day, as well as their regular menu.

In Fulton, at the Yacht Haven Cafe, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thomson expect to be open all day, as usual, and will have turkey and trimmings, as well as their regular items.

Corky's will be open from 4 in the morning to 11:30, and will serve the regular breakfast, but will be closed in the afternoon.

Hinton's will be open as usual, and so will Captain Jim's Driftwood Inn, and will serve their regular foods.

Local Teachers to Attend State Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Barre and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dannelly, of the Aransas County schools, will attend a state teachers convention in Dallas over the Thanksgiving holidays, Barre said today.

En route, the Barres will stop at Yoakum, where Chester's parents live, to leave their children, while the Dannelly youngsters will stay with their grandparents in Lockhart.

A very interesting program has been arranged for the meeting, Chester said, with United States Senator John F. Kennedy filling the principal speaking slot on the opening day of the convention. Senator Kennedy will be introduced by Texas' own Lyndon Johnson. Other speakers on the program, which runs from Nov. 28 through Nov. 30, will be SMU president, Willis Tate, Martha Shull, immediate past president of the National Education Association, and Dr. Lawrence Derthick, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

One of the main purposes of the meeting, Barre said, will be discussion of a grass roots study of the Texas educational system which is just now getting underway. This will deal with four topics—school buildings and all that pertains to them; school programs; teachers; and financing.

A committee of 24 representative Texans, including men and women from every walk of life, have been appointed to dissect the present schools, and to evaluate them in terms of modern needs.

"The study should be even more far-reaching by the Gilmer-Aikin study," Barre said, "and should, when completed, bring about extensive changes in the Texas school system."
