

Along The Waterfront

The Rockport Conservation Association has elected officers for the coming year. Grady L. West is the new president; Joe H. Slocum, retiring president was named first vice-president; Fred Christilles is second vice president; Bill Crist is recording secretary; and the new financial secretary is William N. Sanders.

A new Board of Directors was also chosen, and includes H. S. Randolph, Clyde Townsend, Sr., Milton Harrell, Harry Mills, Pat Greene, W. L. Jones, J. H. Mills, Jack Smith, C. L. Thomas and Ted Little.

Slocum, in his talk, pointed out the aims and objectives of the club at large, and for a group of bait shrimpers that were present.

The club, he said, was not an opposition club to the shrimpers because they were a necessary part of the sports life of the community. However, he continued, the shrimping industry is sick, and some sort of legislation is in the offing to attempt to remedy its troubles.

If bait shrimpers do not get together with legislature needs as they see them, then they are apt to be burdened with shrimp legislation that some one will write and that will not fit their needs as well as some that they had a hand in.

The bay shrimping industry from Brownsville to Sabine needs its own organization, Slocum told the gathering, and he felt sure that this club and other sportsmen's clubs will assist them in every way possible to conserve the resources of the bays.

The only practice that this club opposes, he said, was malpractice, and this could come not only from shrimpers and commercial fishermen, but also from industries and individuals that pollute or damage the bays, or that otherwise interfere with proper conservation practices.

West, who followed Slocum on the program, pointed out that the club could be a potent force for good in conservation.

C. of C. Protest Defers Closure of R. R. Station

James A. Jarboe, of the local Chamber of Commerce, has deferred closure of the Southern Pacific station here indefinitely, it was announced today.

Jarboe, who had urged the railroad to think seriously before curtailing its present service here, through closure of its station, said officials of the line have assured him that such action will be held in abeyance for the present.

R. de Waal, general manager of the railroad, told Jarboe that the friendly attitude of the Chamber and local merchants had induced this action, although the S.P. could easily handle its business from Corpus Christi by phone.

De Waal pointed out that, while business in the area was undoubtedly increasing, along with population, this was not reflected in the railroad's revenues. Outbound shipments from here during 1957, he said, had averaged less than one car every two days, while there were only three cars of inbound freight during the entire year.

"We can," the general manager said, "without seriously interfering with service to our patrons, handle the duties performed by the Rockport agent at another station. With modern communication and a paved connecting highway, duties at Rockport could be absorbed at another station without additional cost, and it is uneconomical to continue the station without an increase in revenue."

"I am, however, impressed by your friendly attitude and the businessmen's offer to help in obtaining this. In deference to your request, therefore, we will defer for the present any action towards discontinuing the agency."

Jarboe pointed out that local merchants, wherever possible, should route their shipments by Southern Pacific.

FREAK BLIZZARD IN INDIANA—Helen LaCoke wields a small broom against an impressive pile of snow covering a car in front of her Michigan City, Ind., home. A freak storm, dumping four feet of snow on an area less than 20 miles square on the southeast shore of Lake Michigan, threw the city of 30,000 into a state of emergency. The storm was an exception in the cold, sunny Midwest.

Chamber of Commerce News Releases Worth $2,385 a Month Publicity Man Points Out, Counting Year's Clips

If Rockport had paid cash for the advertising it has received in newspapers and magazines during the past 18 months, the bill would have been $49,620, or almost exactly $2,385 a month, according to clippings on file with Jack Baughman, Chamber of Commerce publicity man, who says that the amount astounded him when he started figuring it up.

And, he points out, this doesn't include stories that have gone out over the wire services or that appeared in the national magazines.

The roster of newspapers in Texas that have carried such stories is a distinguished one. Among the larger dailies that have carried appreciable Rockport publicity are both papers in Corpus Christi, both San Antonio papers, and the Houston Chronicle. These five papers, between them, have carried a little over three-fifths

Spring Migration On Says Mrs. Hagar

Here, where the great migration routes from South and Central America are constricted by the coastal bend of Texas, Mrs. Connie Hagar, nationally-known ornithologist, says the big push is on.

Wave after wave of birds is spreading northward along the Texas coast and rolling inland—a winged flood whose last ripples will die out far north of the Arctic Circle.

"The ducks—pintails and the great rafts of redheads—left long ago," she said, "and the geese will all be gone by the middle of the month. Swallows were flitting past all day in a steady stream. Shore birds like the willets are streaming past by the hundreds, and yesterday I saw a thousand avocets on the shore along Mustang Island—headed for their summer breeding grounds."

And shore birds, such as the golden plovers which have also started through, present the longest migration routes among land-feeding birds. This species nests along the Arctic coasts, and, as soon as the young are able to care for themselves, begin to fly south, over Labrador to Nova Scotia, where the birds take off on one of the most extraordinary migrations of all—2,500 miles over water to the coast of South America.

But in the springtime the plovers loaf along, up through Central America and along the Texas coast, eventually reaching their nesting grounds once more, some times before snow has melted.

"Some of the sparrow-like Cassin's and the lark sparrow that nest here, have shown up," Mrs. Hagar said, "and we went up the other morning to watch the prairie chickens on their booming grounds between here and Tivoli. Myrtle warblers are about gone, and some of the others among the early migrants are arriving, like the white-eyed vireos, and black and white and parula warblers, and I've seen scissortails, which are very early this year."

Over at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge, Mrs. Annette Kennedy said that there were so few geese around that they weren't worth reporting.

"There are a lot of cardinals," she said, "and some red winged blackbirds, but the sandhill cranes have nearly all left. And of course the whoopers are still here."

There are 26 of these giant white birds on the Refuge now, more than there have been in a number of years. They'll stay there until about the last of this month or the first of April, according to Mrs. Hagar, who says that they're among the latest birds in this region to migrate.

By the middle of April, at the latest, they will have headed for their nesting grounds in Wood Buffalo National Park, in the Canadian wilderness.

JOE SLOCUM TO BUILD BUSINESS BUILDING HERE

Joe Slocum, who recently purchased two lots in downtown Rockport, immediately back of the Rockport Pilot building, has announced plans for erection of a business building which will have 4,000 square feet of floor space.

Slocum says that construction will be of the tilt-up masonry wall type, in which wall slabs of concrete are poured flat on the ground, then tilted into place and columns poured between the slabs.

Construction will be started in the very near future, he said, and he expects to do the contracting himself, sub-letting the plumbing steel and electrical work.

The building will be erected on the eastern half of the two lots, leaving a very desirable corner location on which he intends to construct another business building as soon as he can find a suitable tenant.

Robert Arley Shivers Appears Before Eagle Scout Board of Review

The District Board of Review for Eagle Scout Robert Arley Shivers, was held Monday afternoon, with W. T. Henry, superintendent of the Sinton schools and chairman of the board, presiding. Other members were Ellis L. Clark, local chairman; S. F. Jackson, the Rev. A. Arnott Ward, Col. J. W. Porter, Norville F. Jackson, Cecil V. Gray, advisor for Explorer Post 49, and Bob Reddell of Sinton, area executive.

Also present were Sheriff and Mrs. A. C. Shivers, parents of the scout.

Insurance Office Moves To New Quarters Monday

The insurance firm of Glass, Sorenson and McDavid moved to new quarters Monday, and now occupies offices built especially for them in the new First National Bank Building.

The fixtures in this office were built by Dick Picton, as were those in the bank, and the layout was planned by Jack McDavid, to make a thoroughly modern and convenient place from which to carry on the firm's business.

New Captain At 813th AC&W

A new officer, Captain Bert W. Smith, from Keesler Air Force Base at Biloxi, Miss., will be commanding officer at the 813th AC&W Squadron effective March 22, replacing Lieutenant Ray Burleson.

Lieutenant Burleson will remain at his post, however.

In other orders issued this past week, Gilbert R. Settler was promoted to A/2c, and Harry J. Hulsom to A/1c.

OUTBOARD MOTOR SHOP SLATED FOR ROCKPORT

An outboard motor shop, to be known as Colium's Boat Barn, is being opened in Rockport this week.

In the making is a 28x5 foot building of masonry construction with plate glass display window, which will house Lamar boats and Gail products.

Colium has lived in Rockport for 11 years, coming here from Livingston, where he conducted a similar enterprise.

New Management Operates Shipyard

Plant and Equipment to Be Overhauled and Modernized As Johnson-Picton Interests Resume Operation of Rockport Boat Yard

The Rockport Boat Works, well-known to shrimpers and pleasure craft owners as one of the oldest and largest on the Texas coast south of Galveston, has received a new lease on life as the Picton-Johnson interests of Rockport took over management this week, pending final outcome of negotiations for purchase of the property.

Harold Picton, of the Charles

T. Picton Lumber Company, will be president and general manager of the new organization, to be known as the Rockport Boat Works, Inc.

Directors will consist of his brother, Thomas Dick Picton, manager of the lumber yard; T. J. Johnson, manager of the Johnson Fish Company; and Travis Johnson, who with the late Charles T. Picton, was founder of both the lumber and fishing companies, and who is a director of the First National Bank at Rockport.

The boat works had been operated for many years by R. R. Rice who announced, only a couple of weeks ago, that he was closing the shipyard down because of poor health.

During the war the yard built sub-chasers for the Navy—twenty four 110-footers, and nine T-boats for the Army. Since that time it has operated as an overhaul and repair business, and has built a dozen large shrimpers for various fleet owners in the area.

Picton says that it is the new company's intention to repair and modernize equipment in the yard as fast as is consistent without interrupting the service, and even now the ways are operating and boats are being accepted for overhaul.

In addition, he said, the company hopes to build up its marine supply service, paying especial attention to the needs of shrimpers and workboats, as well as pleasure craft.

The yard normally employs between 26 and 30 people, he said and most of these will be retained.

JACK HORTON RESIGNS AS A.C.H.S. PRINCIPAL

Jack Horton, principal of the Aransas County Junior and Senior High Schools, has tendered his resignation, effective at the end of the school year, giving as his reason, need to care for other business, and this resignation has been accepted by the School Board of the Aransas County Independent School District.

Horton, who owns and operates the Oleander Tourist Court here was for many years principal at Pasadena, Texas, and has been principal of the local for the past two years, having replaced David Coleman.

In other action the School Board offered contracts to Albert R. Griffith, Jr., of Rockport Elementary, and T. H. Dannelley, of Fulton Elementary for the coming school year. Both men have been principals of these schools for several years.

All teachers in the Aransas County High School System were offered renewal contracts for the school year of 1958-59.

Joe Johnson Operates From Back Door

Joe Johnson says that he feels a little like he's running a speakeasy as his remodeling job under Seth Steele's supervision goes into its second week and the drug store has to operate from the side door.

Remodeling on the rear portion of the drug store has virtually been completed, Joe says, and he is moving all his stock into that part while Steele starts on the portion in front. Customers, to be served, Joe says, should come to the side door, where business will be carried on as usual.

When Steele has completed the work, the entire building will be remodeled, with brick veneer and glass walls and front, and air-conditioned.

HUNT OIL CO. WELL FLOWS 113 BARRELS

Hunt Oil Co. No. 3 State Tract 72, Aransas County recompleted producer in the Fulton Beach Field one mile north of Copano Village, has flowed 113.7 barrels of 41.4 gravity oil plus 8.7 percent water in 24 hours.

Flow was through 1/4-inch choke from 22-shot perforations at 7,144-48 feet in 5 1/2-inch casing at 7,192 feet with total depth 7,204 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 1,708-1 and flowing tubing pressure was 180 pounds.

Students Win Baking Honors

According to Mrs. Edith Cruser, teacher in the homemaking department of Aransas County High School, two of her students have taken top baking honors at Aransas County High School's Bake-Off, in Pillsbury's Tenth Grand National recipe and baking contest.

A panel of judges chose Teresa Johnson's loaf cake and Brenda Alexander's Toast of the Coast cookies as the best foods entered in the school's first baking contest. According to Mrs. Cruser, home economics supervisor, the two girls will receive trophy awards at a school ceremony, and their recipes will represent Aransas County High School in state and possibly national competition.

Teresa is the daughter of Mr. Rob Johnson. Brenda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Lee Cobb.

Bird Watchers Tour Refuge

Bird-watching guests from Rockport Cottages have been on two tours of the Aransas Wildlife Refuge during the past week, aboard Floyd Smith's boat.

The first group, which included Judge J. A. Simpson, Racine, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. James J. Blackmore of Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Blackmore, of Michigan; and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edwards, of New Jersey, were fortunate enough to observe 24 out of the 26 whooping cranes on the refuge, as well as many other birds of interest to them.

A second tour, on Monday, was participated in by Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Boyce, of Florida. They saw 17 of the giant white whoopers, as well as all sorts of wading birds.

C. of C. News Releases (Continued from Page 1)

of a column of Rockport news every day for 540 days, exclusive of that sent in from here to the Caller by Mrs. S. F. Jackson.

The news has been of all sorts, and has ranged from Mrs. Hagar and her birds to treasure tales of Vinson's Slough, both of which were picked up and widely disseminated by the Associated Press.

Feature stories have gone out of Rockport on noted visitors like Edwin Way Teale, author-naturalist, and Francis Lee Jaques, one of the greatest living painters of wildlife.

The charms of Rockport for tourists, the region's oil, commercial fisheries, shrimping, and industrial and harbor facilities have all been dealt with. When the Aransas County library was getting under way, there was a full page story in the Houston Chronicle rotogravure. Other Rockport people that have appeared in it were Mrs. Fred Werhan with her shell collection, Mrs. Sol Silverman and her crab cakes, and John Nolan and his anchor monument in Copano Village.

Mrs. B. H. Allen, when she returned from India, was interviewed; Mrs. Tom Morris, Jr., the English girl who came to Corpus Christi because it was the nearest thing in this country to South Africa, and married here, told her story for a lot of people in San Antonio and Houston.

There have been historical stories that have gone out of here on Old Copano, Old Lamar, Live Oak Point, Lafitte the Pirate and early sailing and boating days on Aransas Bay, as well as the stage coach line that ran down St. Joseph's Island.

Nature stories on the Aransas Wildlife Refuge, beasts and fishes of the region have been well received and helped to carry Rockport's name from Maine to California and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico, extolling the pleasures of living in Rockport, either for the tourist, who only wants to visit, the fisherman who comes for our unparalleled fishing, or for the retired person who wants to live in this quiet and lovely little town.

Stories on the radar station and the two hundred families that will come here have been part of the program, local stories in the Rockport Pilot, have helped Rockport citizens to understand more about the radar and the people that will man the station.

And these local stories have also helped people in Rockport understand what the Chamber of Commerce is trying to do, and have helped many of the projects in which the Chamber has been engaged.

There have been stories on the boy and girl scouts of Rockport; on Camp Copano; on the relay on football (Rockport got better coverage on this last year than it ever has before); and in summer season, there are weekly telephone calls to several of the daily papers giving them the dope on fishing in the area.

The Art Colony, which has a tremendous drawing power, has also been publicized. Releases to area newspapers and radios were sent out during the last summer season; the art show in the fall was publicized; there was a double page spread in the Chronicle Rotogravure on the School of Fine Arts, and stories are on their way to a slick magazine, published in Texas; to a national magazine; and to a dozen newspapers on this asset to the community.

And the drag races, which bring so many people into town, and which put money in Rockport pockets, both directly and indirectly, have been part of the job of publicizing Rockport.

For every one of these, releases have been sent out to every daily paper in the state, and to 130 radio and TV stations, helping to draw the crowds, with the result that people coming here to attend have assured local residents that the local drag races have the largest attendance of any in the state.

During the period over which the clipping run, stories have appeared in the Beaumont Enterprise, the Port Lavaca Wave, the Wichita Falls paper, and a number of them in the Monarchs News, all on Rockport.

The Marshall paper has carried stories, so have the Corsicana Sun, the Dallas News, the Dallas Times-Herald, the Houston Post, the Houston Press, the Galveston News, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, the El Paso Times, the Beville Bee Picayune, the Cuero Record, the Bay City Sun, the Freeport paper, the Palacios Beacon, the Brownsville Herald, the Valley Morning Star, the Valley Evening Monitor, the Aransas Pass Progress, the Austin American, the paper at Hannibal, Missouri, the Port Arthur News, the Victoria Advocate and others.

In the national magazines, there was a double page spread in Offshore Drilling, and there were three half-page articles in the Maritime Reporter. They were also stories in Offshore, Workboat, and ten or twelve of the oil magazines. In addition, at one time, releases were sent to 250 newspapers along the Gulf Coast; at another, releases went out to fifty.

There have been two Chronicle front page stories on Rockport during the period; there have been innumerable radio and TV releases of news that were sent out from here; the story on John Nolan and his anchor has appeared in two national magazines.

Baughman points out that things just don't get in the newspapers and magazines by themselves, and that for a town as small as Rockport to obtain as much space as it has is phenomenal. Only a constant and unremitting flow of stories about Rockport and under a Rockport date line attracts people and brings them here.

Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Brumley have as their house guests this week, Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Hutcherson, of Waco. Dr. Hutcherson was the first president of the University of Corpus Christi, and is now assistant to the president at Baylor. He was in this area to address the Executive Board of the Blanco Baptist Association, which meets at the First Baptist Church in Sinton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Sanders, of Little Bay Shores, who have been in Houston visiting their daughter, are ill with the flu.

Cut-off Bridge Bids To Be Let This Month

Congressman John Young said Monday that the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, will issue invitations to bid on the high-level bridge which will be part of the new Aransas Pass causeway on or about March 13.

This bridge, for which money has been appropriated by Congress, will be so constructed that when the Intracoastal Canal Cut-off, between Rockport and Aransas Pass is finally dug, there will be no interruption of traffic over the causeway.

Congressman Young said that all bids for the structure must be in by April 3, 1958, to be opened on April 10.

The estimated cost of this is from $200,000 to $1,000,000 and while it is considered part of the cut-off expense, most of the work and planning will be done by the Texas Highway Department, which is also planning the causeway itself.

Bids on the causeway, which will extend parallel to the present road, are expected to be let about the middle of April, according to M. G. Yoes, senior resident engineer of the Texas Highway Department at Corpus Christi.

The plans have undergone a number of revisions, he said, but, barring unforeseen circumstances will be ready in April.

The fill portion of the causeway and the bridges, with exception of the high-level structure over the canal, will be covered in the first contract. The canal bridge is the one referred to by Young.

Due for later letting will be the causeway approaches and actual construction of the roadway, Yoes said. He indicated that if there is no hold up, construction on the Highway Department's part of the project may get underway in May.

Young did not say when the engineers expected erection of the high-level bridge to start. It is extremely doubtful, according to U. S. engineers, that actual dredging on the cut-off will start before next year, if then.

Japanese Fishermen Using Fish Finders For Better Catches

A new Japanese fish-finder is capable not only of gauging the ocean's depth, but also of locating individual fish at depths as great as 600 feet. And, because of the ultra-high frequencies at which the fish finder operates, it is not so greatly affected by air bubbles in the water created by a ship in motion, or by stormy seas.

This equipment has enabled Japanese researchers to locate many groundfish and king crabs, even when the water was extremely turbulent.

According to Agriculture and Forestry Ministry's Fishery Agency, which developed the finder, modern electronics is playing an increasingly important role in the Japanese fishing industry, which is using such electronic aids as direction finders, radar, sonar, ultra shortwave equipment, and echo sounders, as well as the fish finders.

At the present time, 20% or over 7500 of the Japanese fishing boats over five tons are equipped with these electronic finders, and the number of vessels so equipped increases daily.

The Fishery Agency has recently been engaged in research on a fish finder which can be used for tuna fishing, for these fish are hard to locate because of their speed and the dispersal of the tuna schools.

The Agency says that use of fish finders is contributing a great deal toward improving the fishermen's life, and at the same time they are indispensable for conducting marine resource surveys and development of new fishing grounds.

No such equipment is in use on the Gulf Coast of the United States.

Mrs. Robert McCurdy, for many years a Rockport visitor, and well-known to many people here, passed away last week.

There were 269 people present in the First Presbyterian Church last Sunday.

NEW CROSS FOR SUNRISE SERVICE

The local Council of Churchwomen has planned a new and larger cross to be used at the Easter Sunrise service on the waterfront, according to Rev. A. Arnott Ward, president of the Aransas County Ministerial Alliance.

These services have been a growing and important part of the community, and this year to replace the cross that has been used so long that it was becoming a little dilapidated, the council has obtained a new one, 18 feet high, and with arms that stretch eight feet from tip to tip.

Rev. Ward said that Boy Scouts would be contacted as usual this year, to help arrange the benches, and issued an appeal for trucks to carry these to the waterfront. He also said that anyone who wished to contribute the cost of the cross could do so by contacting him.

ODDFELLOW NEWS

The Coastal Bend Association met in Aransas Pass on March 3. Attending from Rockport were: Fred Cloberdants, George Langley, Ruey Langley, Lawrence McLester, Stan Heath, Edgar Jacobson, Clifton Barber, Alton Younglove and Billie Younglove. Fifty members were present from this area. Past Grand Master Tom King and Dist. Deputy R. E. Young of San Antonio were introduced by Director of Attendance Howard Kemp of Corpus Christi. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Red Hovey, of Aransas Pass, president; Stan Heath, Rockport, vice president; and Ray Longbotham, Ingleside, secretary-treasurer. Howard Kemp of Corpus Christi was re-elected Degree Captain.

Several interesting talks were given and I quote the words of Tom King, Past Grand Master, State of Texas: "Many people of this community are actually Oddfellows in spirit even though they may not have taken the degrees of the order. Any man who believes in the grand principles of friendship, love and truth, who practice and live the lesson of the good Samaritan; who live by the golden rule; who believe in the rich helping the poor; the strong supporting the weak; the learned instructing the unlearned; is in truth an Oddfellow."

"The Independent Order of Oddfellows is and lives by these principles and teaches these lessons. Oddfellowship takes good men and makes them better. Those outside the order who believe in these principles are invited to affiliate with Oddfellowship and associate with men of similar ways of life, together there is no limit to the good that may be accomplished by good men striving together for the betterment of mankind".

Brothers Talley and Perkins of the Sinton Police force, Langley and Younglove of Rockport, Trayward of Portland and Balko of Kingsville received the second degree. Noble Grand for degree work was Lawrence McLester of Rockport.

There will be a called meeting at our lodge Saturday, March 8 at 7:30 p.m. —Stan Heath.

Oliver Brundrett Complimented for Work With Veterans

Oliver Brundrett, local veteran's service officer, has been complimented by the Veterans' Affairs Commission in Austin for his excellent work in this county. Their letter to him follows:

Dear Mr. Brundrett: In compiling our annual report, our attention has been brought to the fact that through your efforts, $42,905.00, was paid to veterans and their families in your area the past year. Please bear in mind that this amount of money only represents the cases that were handled through organizations that this department is accredited with.

This Commission realizes that practically none of the awards are automatic in any sense of the word. The benefits that are available to disabled veterans and their families from the Veterans Administration and other sources administering veterans benefits, must be properly applied for and the claims properly developed by you in order for awards to be made. Practically none are made otherwise.

We feel that there is no better investment the counties can make than to maintain an expert service officer such as you to provide the deserving veterans with the kind of aid which they should receive from the grateful community which they served so well in time of war.

It has been a pleasure to work with you this past year and we take this occasion to commend you for rendering such valuable service to veterans and their survivors, as evidenced by the records in this office.

Sincerely yours,
Executive Director

Chuck Wagon Dinner Well Attended Thursday

Fifty-five attended the supper meeting of the Men of the First Presbyterian Church, Thursday night at the church assembly room.

The speaker of the evening was Odell Ingle, member of the Corpus Christi City Council and an elder in the Woodlawn Presbyterian Church. His subject was "Won-To Win One." He was accompanied by the Rev. Paul Hanna, pastor of the church.

The western theme, which has been chosen as the entertainment feature of the group for the year, was carried out in the decor of the tables and included miniature cowboys, corals, split-rail fences, horse shoes and shootin' irons, while the brands of the four ranches into which the group is divided, appeared on the table covers.

Pat Smith, foreman of Triple Star Ranch, brought the devotionals.

A goat, the mascot, was tied to a tree on the church lawn and afforded much merriment as each foreman counted the cowhands from his ranch, to determine which group would care for the goat until the next meeting. Ralph Matern, foreman of Judghead Ranch, was found to have the fewest men present, so the goat went back to his care, as he was the unlucky one at the February meeting.

In the business session, presided over by Jimmy Little, the charter for Boy Scout Troop 49, which is sponsored by the group was presented to Floyd Smith, chairman of the troop committee, who in turn will present it to the troop. Other members of the committee are Dr. L. G. Wood, C. L. Taylor, E. F. Everett, Melvin Borchert, Bob Little, L. W. Tuer and John Boseley, the two latter, scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster, and the Rev. A. Arnett Ward, institutional representative.

Hostesses for the chuck wagon supper were Mrs. S. F. Jackson, Mrs. J. H. Schleider, Mrs. Pat Smith, Mrs. N. F. Jackson, Mrs. Rufus Casterline and Mrs. Ralph Matern.

First National Started Growth Under Leadership Of Heldenfels and Glass

When the First National Bank formally opened the doors of its new building March 10, the institution was largely a monument to two men, F. W. Heldenfels, Sr., of Corpus Christi, and A. C. Glass, of Rockport.

Heldenfels and his brother, C. A. Heldenfels were lumber dealers in Beeville before World War I, and first became interested in Rockport in 1917, when Rockport was making strenuous efforts to obtain a shipyard and some government contracts.

Local citizens donated approximately $45,000 and a site on the bay, and Heldenfels got contracts for four wooden ships to carry supplies overseas, and they were in business.

This was probably the first large scale industrial development of any sort in Rockport.

A canal 700 feet long, 75 feet wide, and 12 feet deep was dredged from deep water in Aransas Bay to the site which lies about a mile south of the center of Rockport. A roughly triangular basin, 300 feet to a side was excavated; ways were built, and two wooden ships were built at the location.

These were 300 feet long, with a beam of 46 feet, designed to draw between 8 and 9 feet of water. No machinery was ever installed in them, however, and they were later used as barges.

After the war, Heldenfels Brothers continued to operate the shipyard for a time, and branched out into the mudshell business, building a dredge to supply needs along the Coastal Bend for this important article of commerce, which, one man has said, helped lift South Texas out of the mud.

With the growth of the mudshell business the firm also began to do some contracting work on streets and roads, and by the time World War II started was large enough to do most of the work on the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station and similar installations.

Since then, with F. W., Sr., at the helm, and three sons, Frederick W., Jr., (who is also president of the Associated General Contractors of America), H. C. (Tony), and James, forming the firm, Heldenfels Brothers has grown until it is one of the largest contracting firms in the country, handling contracts on the Corpus Christi high bridge and highways everywhere in Texas, and owning oil and gas holdings, real estate, and similar investments, besides a large share of the First National.

"When I first came to Rockport as cashier," Mr. Glass said, "Mr. Heldenfels wasn't president of the bank. He and his brother, the late C. A. Heldenfels, had built boats and were engaged in production of mudshell, and Cyrus B. Lucas was president and chief stockholder. He was the one who asked me to come here from the bank at Angleton, where I was assistant cashier.

"I came in 1922, three years after the 1919 storm, and there were still lots of wrecked buildings along the waterfront and through town as well. The old bank from which we are moving had been built long before that, and was here when the storm struck. Water was about waist deep, and for years, until the salt finally got out of the wall, we had a mark in the vault that showed about three feet above the floor, which was the highest point the water ever attained.

"There were only 800 or 900 people in Rockport then," Mr. Glass continued, and the business was all commercial fishing and oystering. At that time there was practically no tourist business and shrimping didn't start until about 1926. In those days, it was just a matter of how many shrimp a boat could carry, for all they had to do was run outside the Port Aransas jetties and load up.

"By 1929 or 1930 we had 20

Last Meeting of Week of Prayer At Simmons Home

Under the leadership of Mrs. Grady West, prayer chairman, the last meeting of the Baptist Week of Prayer was held Friday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Simmons. A most interesting program on home missions was presented.

Those taking part in the program were: Mrs. A. F. Dervage, Mrs. J. V. Ferguson, Mrs. Bettye Moore, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Floy Rooke, Mrs. Mabel Thompson, Mrs. T. G. McCulloch, and Mrs. Bill Clark, president of the WMU.

Enjoying the coffee hour which followed, besides those already named were:

Mrs. W. S. Sanders, Mrs. Zack Washburn, Mrs. Vera Lee, Mrs. C. O. Lutz, Mrs. C. D. Lofton, Mrs. Mabel Bryant, Mrs. C. L. Utz, Mrs. John Hays, Mrs. Carl Casey, Mrs. J. W. Rooke, Mrs. Shelley Roaten, Mrs. Bob Davenport, Mrs. Lonnie Wright, Mrs. Lillie Calvert, Mrs. W. J. Terry, Mrs. Charles Brisbin, Mrs. W. S. Coaker, Mrs. Bob Landrum, Mrs. J. R. Simpons, Mrs. J. C. Moore, Mrs. Irene Olsen, Mrs. Virgil Dasher, Mrs. Roy Mullinax, Mrs. John McLester, Su Ann Simmons, Reggie Clark, and the hostess.

Next Sunday night, the Rev. Asa F. Avant, will preach at the Methodist Church in Odem, and Dr. Stodghill, Minneapolis, Minn., will fill the local pulpit in Rev. Avant's absence. His subject will be "God's Place in Our Lives."

Dick Weekley will preside at this service.

The Regular Methodist Fellowship Dinner will be held next Sunday noon at Fellowship hall. Everyone is invited who would like to come, Rev. Avant says.

Monday, the Rev. Avant will travel to San Antonio where he will take part in a refresher course of study in philosophy and psychology.

boats working out of Rockport, the largest one about 36 feet long, and the fish houses would only send them out when they needed shrimp for they had to ship them green. They'd only bring in what they could use.

"In my early years here the bank was not in very good shape. It had been founded by the Mathis family about 1890, and later Mr. Lucas had taken over. There were only about $80,000 in deposits at the time.

"But people were nice, and practically all of the business men pitched in, with the result that we had it in good shape in two or three years, and from that time on it kept growing along with the town.

"Mr. Heldenfels was interested in the bank long before he acquired Mr. Lucas' interest and became president. Mr. Lucas ran into financial difficulties during the depression and Mr. Heldenfels bought him out at that time.

From $80,000 in deposits when Mr. Glass came, under his leadership and that of Heldenfels the picture has changed greatly. At the beginning of the depression, which the bank weathered nicely, there were $450,000 in deposits. At the end of World War II, deposits had reached about $800,000, when Glass retired after 26 years as cashier, on February 1, 1948.

Mr. Glass, a vice president today, says that in 1933 the bank was capitalized at $25,000 with a $10,000 surplus. In 1956, although the capital was still $25,000, surplus and reserves had grown to $175,000. That same year its capital was increased by sale of stock.

Today, under James H. Sorenson, Jr., executive vice president, the bank is capitalized at $150,000; the surplus is $150,000; and there is approximately $50,000 in undivided profits, while Rockport has grown into a community of about 6,000 people.

The Church of Christ
What It Teaches

WHO SHOULD PRAY? This question deserves more serious study than has been given to it in the past by many religious people. Now it appears that just about all religious people agree that the children of God, or Christians SHOULD pray. So far as I know, there is no disagreement on that point. God's word is very clear on this matter: Just a few passages of Scripture will suffice to show that Christians SHOULD pray. Paul wrote to the Christians at Rome saying, "Continuing instant in prayer." (Rom. 12:12).

Also, he wrote to the Christians at Ephesus, saying, "Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance for all saints." (Eph. 6:18). To the Christians at Thessalonica, he said, "Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you." (1 Thess. 5:17, 18).

And to the Christians at Philippi, he wrote, "Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." (Phil. 4: 6, 7). Now we know that Christians SHOULD pray because the Bible so teaches.

Now we raise the question should others than Christians pray? Does the Bible teach that alien sinners, those who have never obeyed the gospel of Christ, should pray? Has God in His word anytime or anywhere commanded the alien sinner to pray for anything? Remember that now we are speaking of those who are not the children of God in a spiritual sense. What does God say about this matter? It is quite common to hear some one preaching over the radio tell his listeners, referring to the unconverted, to just kneel, and lay their hand on the radio, and call upon God, and He will forgive their sins right then and there.

Does the Bible teach anything like that? Or perhaps, you have attended a religious revival many times where the preacher fervently exhorted the people to come to the "altar" or the "mourner's bench" and pray, and be prayed for that they might be saved. Again, I ask is that what God's word teaches? No, my friends, if your life depended upon it, you cannot find a passage anywhere in the New Testament that commands a thing like that. On the other hand, if a man is living in rebellion to God's law, God will not hear and answer his prayer.

Listen to the apostle Peter now: "For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and His ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil." (1 Pet. 3:12). And now let us turn to Jno. 9:31, "Now we know that God heareth not sinners: But if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth His will, him He heareth." Hence, we can see that prayer is not in God's law of pardon to the alien sinner; but he must hear the gospel, believe it with all his heart, repent of all sins, confess Christ, and be baptized for the remission of sins. (See Rom. 10:17; Jno. 8:24, Heb. 11:6; Acts 17:30; Rom. 10:10; Acts 2:38).

You have a cordial invitation to attend all our services.

Michael's Pupil Paints Portraits For First National

When the First National Bank formally opened the doors of its new home Monday afternoon, visitors were greeted by portraits of the two men who have had most to do with the institution's growth—F. W. Heldenfels, Sr., of Corpus Christi, and A. C. Glass, of Rockport—painted by Victoria artist, Dalhart Windberg, and presented to the bank by the man now its executive head, James H. Sorenson, Jr.

In choosing Windberg for this commission, Sorenson said, he was governed by familiarity with his work through fall showings of the Rockport School of Fine Arts, and by advice of its director, Simon G. Michael.

Windberg, 24 years old, was born and reared in Goliad County, but for the past eight or nine years has been living in Victoria, where he began his training under Michael at an early age, as a member of the Victoria Art Guild. Except for two years spent abroad in the armed services, when he was still carried on the rolls of the guild as an honorary member, Windberg has been one of the more active Victoria artists, spending much of his time in classes there and in summer school at Rockport.

The two larger-than-life-size seated portraits are his first major commission as an artist, although he has long been employed in commercial work by Texian Displays at Victoria.

In presenting the paintings to the bank, Sorenson, who is also director of the Victoria National Bank, said that he did so in sincere recognition of all that Heldenfels and Glass had done for this community, Heldenfels as president of the bank, Glass as its cashier for 26 years, and now vice president.

Scene: The Nelson home Time: A Saturday evening

The case of the crumpled letter!

- 1 The desk where Mr. Nelson opened his bills and wrote a letter to the electric company, protesting against their advertising that electricity gives more value for every dollar than any other item in the family budget.
- 2 Where Mr. Nelson looked at the electric clock to see if he had time to mail his letter before dinner.
- 3 The hi-fi set he turned off as he left the room.
- 4 Where Mr. N. paused to check the air conditioning thermostat and turn on the porch light to guide the dinner guests.
- 5 His daughter's bedroom where he watched her drying her hair with the electric hair dryer and admired the dress she had just ironed for her date.
- 6 The TV, with Junior deep in "Masked Riders of the Range."
- 7 The electric coffeemaker and the toaster, ready to do dinner duty.
- 8 The all-electric kitchen, where dinner was cooking and Mrs. Nelson was taking ice cubes from the refrigerator—and where the electric dishwasher and clotheswasher and dryer were waiting to do the chores ahead.
- 9 The back porch, where Mr. N. paused to think—realizing that his family was putting electricity to work in dozens of ways all over the house... ways he often forgot. So maybe the electric company was right about the value of his service.
- 10 The trash can into which he tossed his crumpled letter.
