The City Council faced a di- | age disregard for law and order

This group, consisting of some scended upon the city hall in 16 or 17 persons, expressed themdroves, to argue the merits of a selves as willing to submit to police force with a raise in taxes, additional taxation so that the or no police force and no advance town would have a police force on duty at all times.

The mayor and council explaincilmen for a police force, to curb with at least one police car (or vandalism, traffic violations, teentheir own), and to provide the necessary legal machinery through a corporation court to make the enforcement of laws possible.

This, the city fathers said, would be a minimum, and to furnish it, the city budget would have to be raised from $48,000, on which the municipality operated last year, to about $69,500.00. This increase was largely to foot the bill for the new police force. To furnish this additional money, the councilmen stated, only one course was possible.

At the present time, Rockport taxes property at the rate of $1.50 per hundred, and assess that property at one-third of the fair market value. In other words, if the fair market value of a man's home is $12,000.00, he is taxed $60.00 a year.

To raise the additional money, would be necessary to raise the assessment on each piece of propto pay $81 in taxes annually, an

The 'Jeep' Truck is time-tested and performance-proved. It works for you 365 days a year, because it's designed to handle the toughest assignments while taking the ordinary ones in stride. With the extra traction of its 4-wheel drive it goes - with a payload of over a ton - up steep grades, through mud, sand, snow or soft earth, where other trucks can't go. Then, for highway speeds it shifts quickly into conventional 2-wheel drive. With power take-off, it supplies mobile power for many types of machinery for business or farm. It's America's lowest priced 4-wheel drive truck.

Generally speaking, each spouse has the right to control and dispose of his or her own separate property. The separate property of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired by either after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Aside from the ordinary community estate, there is a class of property known as the wife's "special community" which includes all the income from her separate real property, and probably the interest on bonds or notes, and dividens on stocks owned in her separate right. While the husband may have similar assets, the law accords them no particular distinction from ordinary community property.

Although the history of the matter is somewhat confusing, it appears that under present day law the husband has control of ordimary community property; but control of the wife's special community property is reserved to

Certain restrictions are imposed upon both husband and wife in exercising such control. For instance, the husband cannot legally dispose of community property in such a way as to defraud the wife, nor can he sell the homestead without her signature and acknowledgement. And the wife's sale or mortgage of her separate real estate, stocks or bonds is not valid unless her husband joins with her in the transaction - he must sign and execute the necessary legal papers along with her. There are laws exempting the wife's separate and special community property from liability for debts incurred by the husband. Such liability is restricted to his separate property and the ordinary community property.

On the other hand, debts incurred by the wife in obtaining necessities for herself or the children bind all property belonging to either party, including the husband's separate property. For other debts which she has power to incur, only her separate and special community property are

All of these distinctions emphasize the advisability of keeping proper records. By doing so the various classes of community and separate property owned by a married couple will always be easily distinguishable. Each category will then receive the special protection afforded to it by our

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM CYNTHIA ANN PARKER Symbol of Loyalty and Love of Liberty

When a Texas Cavalryman saw a blueeyed girl of fourteen living contentedly as the adopted daughter of a Comanche Indian family, he knew the long-lost Cynthia Ann Parker had been found. Five years previously on May 19, 1836, she had been captured in a Comanche raid on Fort Parker, and taken away with the raiders. Attempts to buy her from her captors failed.

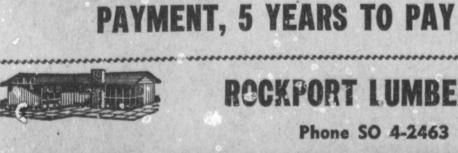

When she was next seen by a trading party on the Canadian River two years later, she was happily married to a Comanche chief, Peta Nocona, and refused to leave her foster-people. Two sons were born, Pecos and Quanah Parker, and later a daughter, Prairie Parker, and later a daughter, Prairie Flower. At the battle of Pease River, in 1860, she and the little girl were captured and taken to Fort Cooper. There her identity was definitely established by an uncle, Isaac Parker, but Cynthia Ann wanted none of white civilization. She naver became the captured to the property of the parker became the captured to the property of the parker became the captured to the property of the parker became the captured to the property of the parker became the pa ilization. She never became reconciled to separation from her Comanche peo-ple, and tried many times to escape and rejoin them. The story of her loyalty to the Indians with whom she lived so long has been told and retold in song, narrative and drama and will always be a colorful chapter of Texas

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedomminded homeland .. "Beer Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, to assure the sale of beer under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of Texans, the Loundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self-Regulation program.

CANDIDATES WARNED AGAINST NAILING POSTERS ON POLES

Candidates for public office today were cautioned against tacking campaign posters and placards on utility poles by B. T. Hardeman, CPL manager.

He pointed out that tacks or nails can be a serious safety hazard to utility linemen who climb poles. If a lineman's "climber" hits a nail in a pole, it may cause him to slip and fall, Hardeman

Even after posters are removed, many tacks are left in the poles and are a hidden menace to linemen. Many cities have an ordipitcher, running out of gas in the nance against posting campaign placards on utility poles, the CPL manager said.

Preston (Skeet) McHugh is still confined to his bed at his home in Fulton, after suffering a heart attack the early part of May.
