Shrimp Fishery Production Rises

The Coastal Bend area, including Rockport, Aransas Pass, and Corpus Christi, was the largest producer of shrimp along the Texas coast during September, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Prices were not stable, the Service said, as they ranged from 72 to 86 cents a pound for 15-20 count to the fishermen.

Opening of the bays was a boon for fishermen, according to the Service, during rough weather, as Gulf trawlers maintained a good yield of white shrimp from these areas during the first two weeks of the season.

Following a snack hour, a devotional and a program, Stewardship, was presented by the visiting group.

The visitors were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baker of Corpus Christi.

storm "Ella" caused the bay to become too choppy for many of them to operate and apparently dispersed the shrimp.

Finfish production during the same period fell off, and observers believe that this was because of the added effort devoted to the shrimp fishery.

SPECIAL STEWARDSHIP LESSON IN FIRST BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL SUNDAY

Next Sunday, Nov. 16, there will be a special lesson in the First Baptist Sunday school on stewardship.

The adults and young people will have a special lesson, "Faithful Stewardship," by Robert J. Hastings; the Intermediates will be taught "Being Honest with God," by Valois Byrd; the Juniors will have "Talents to Use," by Myrtle Owens Looney; Primaries, Beginners and Nursery will be taught God's ownership and our stewardship.

ROCKPORT FELLOWSHIP GROUP ENTERTAINS

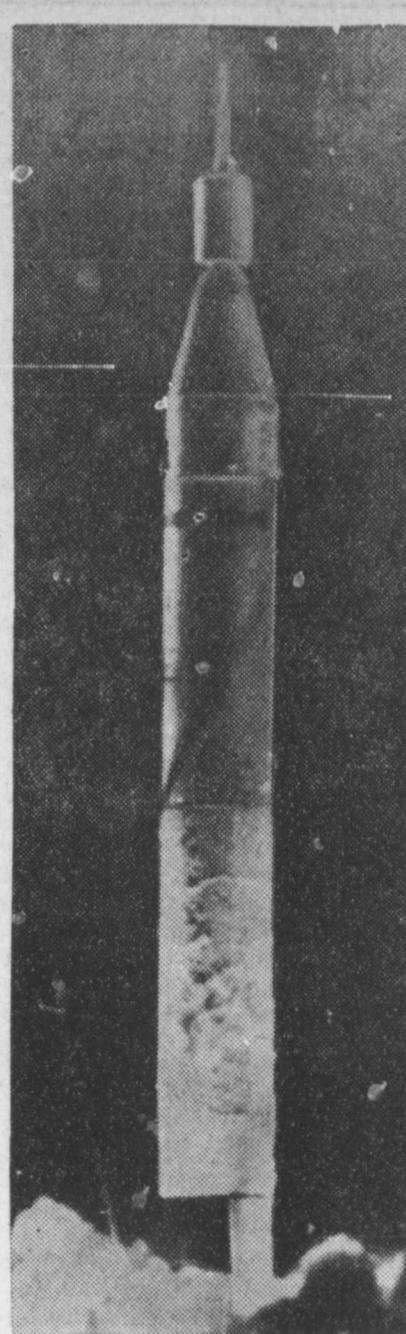

The Senior High Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church was host to a similar group from the Corpus Christi Central Park Presbyterian Church Sunday night.

After the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Faber entertained the entire group at their home.

The Senior High Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church was host to a similar group from the Corpus Christi Central Park Presbyterian Church Sunday night.

An interesting commentary on the number of sportsmen fishing for shrimp with small nets was furnished when the Service counted some four thousand operating in Galveston bay immediately after the bays were opened to large nets and commercial shrimping in September.

This concentration of fishing effort did not last long, however, as

Pirates Win Over Corpus Christi School by 14-0

In a game marred by many penalties for offside and for clipping, in which two of Rockport's backs were injured, one badly enough that it is doubtful whether he will play the rest of the season, Aransas County High School Pirate won over the Corpus Christi Academy Cavaliers, 14-0, on Friday night.

The difference was largely in the Pirate line play, in which John Goff was a standout.

Pete Mireur kicked over for the Cavaliers and Happner in a 35-yard run made it to the Pirate 45. Barnard made a couple; Cabaniss made two more, and then Barnard added the necessary yardage for a first down on the Cavalier 45. Cabaniss carried for two; Barnard went through center for two more. Then Shivers to Rouquette was incomplete and Cabaniss punted to the Cavalier 15 on fourth down, only to have Sterling bring it back to the forty.

Bledsoe made three, and then Casillas added another trio, only to have it called back and a five-yard penalty assessed against the Cavaliers for offside. Bledsoe made eight and then went around right end for four more and the ball was on the fifty.

Trujillo made a yard, and this play was called back, the Cavaliers being assessed 15 yards for offensive holding. Bledsoe made a yard; Sterling on a keeper added four; then Bledsoe made it to almost the original line of scrimmage. Mireur's punt from the Cavalier 35 wound up on the Rockport 38 and was killed there.

Cabaniss made three yards around left end, then Happner barreled across for 10 more, to the Cabaniss 46, and on the first play of the next series of downs Cabaniss skirted left end on a reverse for a touchdown and added two points more a minute later on a pass from Shivers.

Warden kicked off to the Cavalier 20 and Bockholt ran it back to the Cavalier 41, for a 20-yard return. Bledsoe carried and the ball was called back and five yards assessed against the Cavaliers for illegal procedure. Bledsoe carried for five on the next play, and then on third down fumbled with Rockport making the recovery on the 50.

Cabaniss made three, only to have it called back and five yards assessed against the Pirates for illegal procedure. Shivers' fumble was recovered for the Cavaliers by Estes on Rockport's 36. Bledsoe made four yards on the last play of the quarter.

On the first play in the second quarter Casillas galloped around his own right end for 12 yards. Bledsoe's five-yard gain from the Pirate 21 was called back for an offside penalty against the Cavaliers and then Sterling's 14-yard pass to Mireur was good, but was offset by a five-yard offside penalty to the Pirate 31. Bledsoe failed to gain; Sterling made two; Sterling to Casillas was too tall, and then on the next play Pena intercepted a Cavalier pass and set sail for 37 yards, winding up on the Cavalier 47.

Cabaniss went around his own left end for 11, and was tackled by Estes. Barnard was smeared two a two-yard loss, and then a pass from Shivers to Happner netted 13 yards and a first down for the Pirates.

From the Cavalier 25 a pass to Cabaniss was good for six yards but it was called back and a five-yard penalty assessed against the Pirates for illegal motion. Cabaniss made 15 yards, and this was called back and a 15-yard penalty assessed against the Pirates for clipping, making it first down and about 20 to go. Happner, on a reverse, made two yards, and then Shivers' pass intended for Rouquette, was snared by Francis Ordner and the Cavaliers had the ball on their own 45.

Castillas went around right end for two; Bledsoe rumbled through the left side of the line for four. Sterling gained seven but it was called back and the Cavaliers were penalized 15 for offensive holding.

With third down and 19 to go, Neme's pass was incomplete and on the next play he punted from the Cavalier 25 to the Rockport 30 where Pena picked it up and lost three yards.

A pitch out to Happner netted a couple; on the next play he made two more before he was tackled by Bledsoe, then Cabaniss' try around left end made no gain. Cabaniss then punted from his own 20 to the Cavalier 32. Bledsoe's three-yard gain from this point was called back because the Cavaliers were offside and a five-yard penalty was assessed against that team. Bledsoe made two; Casillas went around right end and fumbled but recovered for three yards. Mireur punted from the 50 to the Pirate 20. Happner was taken out of the game because of an injury to a leg.

Jo May made no gain; Cabaniss around left end made two, this was called back and the Pirates penalized 15 yards for offensive holding, which put the ball on the Pirates 35, and from there the Cavaliers gained 18 yards in a hurry on a pass from Sterling to Casillas, winding up on the Rockport 17. Bledsoe made five and then Sterling fumbled, but the Cavaliers recovered. Sterling to Neme's was incomplete, and then Neme's was smothered on fourth down and the Pirates took over just as the whistle was blown for the half.

After the half time show, Mireur kicked off for the Cavaliers and Cabaniss took it on his own eight and ran it back to the Pirate 37, for a 27-yard return. Shivers' pitch out to Cabaniss netted no yardage; Shivers to Barnard was good for one, then Cabaniss went around right end for three yards before punting to the Cavalier 29.

Bledsoe made five through the line, then repeated for a first down. Casillas made six yards only to have it called back and a backfield in motion penalty assessed against the Cavaliers. Bledsoe lost four more, but as the Cavaliers were penalized 15 yards for clipping on the same play they wound up on their own 11-yard line. Bledsoe made 10 and it was second down with 29 to go. Trujillo made five and then a Sterling pass to Mireur was good for 15 more, but on the next play Sterling fumbled and the Pirates recovered on the Cavalier 40. Cabaniss made a couple through center; Jo May went around right end for four, and then Barnard made five, turning it the same hard driving sort of run that he has made all season.

Cabaniss made no yardage and the Pirates were penalized five for illegal motion. Shivers' pass to Rouquette in the flat went for a yard, but his next pass to Rouquette was too tall on the Cavalier 12. Barnard tried the line for no gain and then Shivers to Hayes Warden was tipped by Sterling and went incomplete.

The Cavaliers took over on their own 22 and a hand-off to Casillas was good for eight. Bledsoe through center made the necessary yardage and it was the Cavalier ball on their own 32. Casillas made four through center. Bledsoe fumbled and Prieden recovered for the Pirates.

Pena made two around end; Shivers to Cabaniss on a pitch out was good for seven; and then Barnard went through center for three. Pena made four yards and then a pitch out to Cabaniss made 11 more. Shivers' jump pass to Rouquette was good for six, Barnard went through center for one and the touchdown, but the point after try was no good.

Warden kicked off to the Cavalier 30 and Bockholt returned it for eight yards. Neme's hand off to Casillas netted a couple; Neme's to Bledsoe lost a yard; a jump pass was incomplete and then Neme booted the ball to the Pirate 20 where Pena, who played a good game all night, took it and ran it back five yards. He made two more on the last play in the third quarter and then Cabaniss made nine on the first play in the fourth to the Rockport 39.

Shivers' pitch out to Pena around right end for two yards was called back and the Pirates penalized 15 yards for offensive holding. On the next play, Shivers attempted to pass again and Sterling intercepted for the Cavaliers and ran it back to the Pirate 40. From here Smith made eight yards through center, but on the next play the Cavaliers fumbled and Pena recovered on the Rockport 35.

Cabaniss made two yards, failed to gain and the fireworks started. Shivers flipped one to Cabaniss who handed off to Pena who went all the way, only to have it called back. Fine defensive play by the man covering Cabaniss was responsible, for he hit the Pirate back at the same time as the ball and the referee had whistled the play dead before Pena even received the pigskin.

However, on the next play, Barnard made 18 yards for the first down and wound up on the Cavalier 42. From here Cabaniss went around right end for five yards but had to be taken out of the game on account of injuries to his shoulder which will probably keep him out of football for the rest of the season.

Shivers to Goff clicked on the Cavalier 21, a gain of 16 yards, but was called back and the Pirates were penalized 15 yards for clipping.

On the first down from the Cavalier 36 Barnard made a yard, then a pass from Shivers to Monte Rouquette added nine more. A pitch back to Pena was good for two yards and then Hayes Warden's kick was blocked and went out on the Cavalier 25.

Bledsoe made no gain; Casillas made a yard and then failed to gain on the third down after which Mireur booted the ball and it was called dead on the Pirate 25. A pitchback to Jo May netted three yards; Pena lost four, and then, after a penalty was called of 15 yards against the Pirates for a personal foul, Warden kicked to the Pirate 40.

Casillas made eight and Ordner four in two tries. Casillas made five more, Smith lost two, then Sterling to Mireur was way too tall, but the ball was given to the Cavaliers on the Pirate 10½ as a penalty was called against the Pirates for interference with the passer. From here Casillas made five but it was called back and the Cavaliers penalized five yards. Neme's to Trujillo was good for a yard, Smith made two; Neme's was snowed under on the Cavalier 19, and then lost another 10 yards on the next down, the ball going over to the Pirates on their own 29 as the game ended.

AUTOGRAPHED COPY OF LATE BOOK NOW IN COUNTY LIBRARY

According to Mrs. Everal West, County Librarian, an autographed copy of his latest book, "Some of My Best Friends Are Professors," has been presented to the Aransas County Library by George Williams, Rice professor, who has often visited Rockport to study the bird life of the area.

Professor Williams, a teacher of English, an enthusiastic and expert bird watcher, with many papers on birds to his credit, as well as an English text book and a novel, "The Blind Bull," takes a dispassionate look at modern education.

Undoubtedly a lot of education majors are not going to agree with some of his conclusions and we wonder if the title of the book might not better have been "Some of My Best Friends Were Professors" as we do not think all of his colleagues will agree with him either.

However, he writes from long years of experience and not, as he makes quite plain, from frustration, and whether you agree with him or not, the book is well worth reading. Many, many people will agree that modern education is not all that it should be and that many of the educational theories could do with some overhauling.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sneed of Refugio visited Mrs. Charles T. Picton and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. C. Herring over the week end.

Century-Old Mystery Solved by Father Oberste

The Right Reverend Monsignor William H. Oberste, Vicar General of the Diocese of Corpus Christi, pastor of Our Lady of Refuge Church, and Refugio historian, has solved a century-old mystery with translations of two ancient Spanish manuscripts found this past winter in the library of the Franciscan college at Zacatecas, Mexico.

One of these describes the first building of Nuestra Señora del Refugio after which the present town and county are named, built about three years after Father Manuel Julio Silva and his co-workers had founded the mission. The second document is perhaps the first detailed geographical survey of the country between the Nueces River and Lavaca Bay, made when mission co-founder Fray Jose Francisco Maria Garza, with an engineer and a detail of soldiers, left the mission's first location on Goff's Bayou, in Calhoun County, to seek a more healthy permanent site.

These details were long ago established by the late Carlos Castaneda, Texas University historian, and others and when Father Oberste wrote his own history of the mission in 1942, he unearthed many other facts in the college library of Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe de Zacatecas. Moreover, he had excavated some of the mission foundations, just to the north of the present church of Our Lady of Refuge, in 1936. But neither he nor anyone else knew what the building looked like, nor did anyone have the slightest idea of what had comprised the furnishings of the mission. In later years a woodcut entitled "Mission of Refugio Near Goliad" was published in "Texas and Her Presidents," and another Refugio historian, Hobart Huson, had a painting made from this which he published in his own two-volume work, showing the mission embellished with two towers and a dome. He said, however, that it was not certain whether this picture was one of the mission at Refugio or Mission La Purissima Concepcion at San Antonio.

Mirabeau B. Lamar, who was a poor speller, even if he was President of Texas, saw the mission at Refugio after it had been abandoned by its priests, bombarded by Mexican artillery during the war for Texas independence, and used as a stone quarry, and said: "It is a venerable pile, not distinguished for architectural symmetry, but built of costly materials and the workmanship executed with much mechanical skill. Especially does the inside of the building exhibit a high degree of elegance and taste, the walls being studded with costly images and the sacred desk adorned and beautiful with enlaid of gold and silver and other fine materials purple colored, all protected by glass coverings of chrysal clearness. In its better days in its original condition it could boast magnificence and splendor which would not have dishonored the proudest of cities."

In other fragmentary references at least one bell tower and three or four bells are mentioned. But no plan, no painting, and no written description had been uncovered on which an authentic reconstruction could be based. Moreover, no detailed account was known to exist of the events leading up to relocation of the mission at Refugio. Hence it was a thrilling experience for Father Oberste when—on a trip to Zacatecas last January—he opened a pair of manuscripts handed him by the college librarian, who remarked: "I think you'll be interested in these," and found that he had the long-sought documents in his hands after a search of more than 22 years for material on Refugio Mission.

"Of course," Father Oberste said, "when I wrote my book on the mission I had an inventory that was made a little before the mission was deserted in 1823, when Father Silva went back to Zacatecas, but most of the church possessions were gone by then. We knew, however, that there was a pueblo of soldiers, rancheros, and their families around the mission, and that in 1808 and 1809 the mission had about 5000 head of livestock of various kinds, but that was about all.

"But one of these new documents gave a complete inventory taken in 1796, at a time when the building was about to be finished. According to the list there was a wonderful collection of paintings and statues. The paintings are supposed to have gone to Goliad, after the Refugio mission was secularized in 1828, and so did some of the statues, although what happened to them afterwards I don't know.

"And there were some statues left in the church, because when General Urrea attacked Texans in the mission during the Texan revolution, the defenders used the pews, benches and images to help block the doors against the Mexican troops.

"This document also gave detailed measurements of the building itself, from which it was possible to reconstruct it. The rear portion—the L—was erected first, and then the larger front portion and later the wall around the churchyard which was used as a burial ground. The L was divided into two chapels, one for the Spaniards and one for the Indians.

"I believe that Refugio Mission was built by the same people that built the mission of La Bahia at Goliad. The measurements are about the same, and it seems logical that the missionaries at Refugio would get skilled workmen from Goliad. The Indians couldn't build it, even under the priests' direction. They could have carried stone or something like that, but they weren't skilled enough to do any of the erection.

"The first buildings were adobe, but within a year after the site was settled they began on the stone building. It was started in 1796, and finished about 1817. After I got the measurements we constructed a model out of that same stone. It came from a quarry about four miles upriver on the Fannie Heard pasture, and is one of the few known deposits of such building stone in Refugio County.

"I hope to publish a translation of the whole document later on, as well as one of Father Garza's account of the search for a place to locate the mission. This second document is very long. Father Garza went from the Nueces as far north as Lavaca Bay. He even went offshore to Matagorda Island, and he tells of his Indian guides digging deep holes in the sand there to obtain drinking water, just as you can do today."

Mrs. Alton Kinsel is improving from surgery at Spohn's Hospital this week.

Study Discloses Many Trick Clauses in State Park Deeds

Visitors to Texas' oldest state park, who pick pecans, wild grapes or plums, jeopardize the state's title to the property.

The deed of gift conveying Mother Neff State Park, near the town of Moody, to the people of Texas reserved to the donors and their heirs exclusive right to harvest wild produce on the land, and also to graze cattle, provided the latter does not interfere with the public's use of the park.

This is one of many little-known restrictions in the deed to the state's 61,496-acre park system uncovered in a survey by the Texas Legislative Council. Now nearing completion, the study will provide the first complete inventory of the state park system.

A concurrent resolution of the 55th Legislature, sponsored by Rep. W. C. Schwartz of Brenham, requested the study. Directing it is a committee of the Legislature council consisting of Sens. Neville Colson of Navasota, Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, and Reps. Stanley Boyesen, Yoakum, and Tony Koriath, Sherman.

So far as known, the Neff heirs never have insisted upon their pecan picking rights to the detriment of park users, but in some of the other parks donated to the state, inconvenience, loss, and litigation have resulted from the reservation of mineral and grazing rights.

In the Davis Mountains park, holders of grazing rights fenced off the scenic trail. The resultant lawsuit is still in the courts.

Smallest of the 56 state parks is Acton, in Hood County, consisting of a 14 by 13 foot cemetery lot, where Elizabeth Crockett, wife of the storied Davy, is buried.

Palo Duro's 15,104 acres of rugged canyon is the largest, and is one of the two the state acquired by purchase, the other being Longhorn Cavern.

Improvement of the park system, long a source of concern, will have an added claim on the Legislature's attention if Texas voters adopt the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the expenditure of state funds for promotional advertising.

Tourists from other states will find in Texas' parks a sample of all its scenic attractions, but may be disappointed in the quality of accommodations offered at most of them. Even in their present condition, they attracted 5,226,248 visitors the past fiscal year.

For the current biennium the Legislature appropriated $818,821 to operate parks under jurisdiction of the state parks boards, with an additional $90,480 for three historical parks independently administered—the Alamo, Fannin and San Jacinto.

The board is asking $5,467,486 for the coming biennium, including $1,545,430 for building roads.

Mrs. Bobby Close, the former Joyce Warden, was honored at a shower Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church. Miss Marilyn Morrison, Miss Marvina Davis and Miss Glenda Dunn were hostesses.

TELEPHONE TALK
by Bob Freeman, Manager

BY WAY OF INTRODUCTION
Your next "Telephone Talk" will be written by Bob Freeman, the new telephone manager for Rockport. Bob comes to Corpus Christi from Laredo, where he was manager for five years.

Bob started with the telephone company in Laredo as a business representative in April, 1949. Mr. Freeman was transferred to San Antonio as a special representative for right of way companies. In December, 1953, he returned to Laredo as manager.

Mr. Freeman is married and has three daughters and one son. He entered the Air Force in 1942 and served 36 months. After his discharge from the service he attended the University of Texas. While in Laredo he was active in the Rotary Club, Boy Scouts, and Chamber of Commerce.

A NEW FAMILY PLAN
For some time now, railroads and airlines have been telling people about "Family Plans." Well, I recently heard of an older couple who thought up their own "Family Plan" for get-togethers with their married children living out of town.

Since Sunday always seemed the loneliest day without the family around—and because long distance rates are lower all day—they set up a regular Sunday calling schedule for their sons and daughter. On the first Sunday of the month, Bill, the oldest son, calls and puts the whole family on the line; on the second Sunday, it's the middle boy, Ralph. Jane, the only girl (she has a little girl of her own now) calls on the third Sunday. On the fourth Sunday, it's Tom's turn. He's the youngest, and just married.

I didn't learn what happens when a month has five Sundays, but I do know that these Sunday calls turn a lonely day into a happy one for the folks back home.

TOUCHDOWNS BY TELEPHONE
Many telephone employees aren't as lucky as I am when it comes to football. Usually—if I can duck all the projects my wife saves up for me to do on Saturday—I can enjoy a game on radio or television.

For other telephone people, football is work, because broadcasts and telecasts, as well as news accounts of the games, are flashed from city to city over telephone company lines.

Here in our part of the country, where there's so much interest in football, it takes a lot of skilled telephone people and a lot of telephone facilities at work to keep fans in touch with what's happening to their favorite teams.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Packaged Hospitals New Wrinkle for Civil Defense Programs

Texas has been allotted 78 emergency hospitals to be stored by local civil defense officials and put to use in the event of enemy attack or widespread natural disaster.

Announcement of Texas' quota was made by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization and sent to the state's Division of Defense and Disaster Relief, a part of Governor Price Daniel's office.

Eventual goal, said Claude Yaun, operations officer in the state defense office, is to ring the major population centers with stored hospital units and spot them near target areas over the rest of the state. The quota is based on one hospital unit for each 70,000 people in a metropolitan target area.

At the present time hospitals are in storage or have been approved for storage in the cities of Fredericksburg, Springtown, Weatherford, Kemah, Mercedes, Brownsville, West Columbia, Alpine, El Ampo, Floresville, Devine, and Stephenville, Texas. In addition hospitals have been applied for by the cities of Robstown, Nacogdoches, Keene, Longview, and Jefferson County.

Immediate goal, said Yaun, is to have at least 30 of the hospitals placed by July, 1959.

Each packaged hospital contains equipment for wards with 200 beds, three operating rooms, a triage room, a pharmacy, V-ray room, clinical laboratory, sterilizing room and central supply room. It can all be set up within a matter of hours and has been done in practice sessions in 55 minutes.

Except for perishable supplies, which are checked and rotated, the boxes cannot be opened except with OGD permission to be requested through the state office. However, the state has two units which are used for training sessions.

Total cost of a packaged hospital is $21,316.11, but there is no cost to the city receiving it except that of providing proper storage and care.

Civil defense officials in West Columbia (near Houston) have stored their hospital boxes in two large vans obtained from the Texas Surplus Property Agency. The vans are in the county barns where there are trucks which could take them immediately to wherever they might be needed. The local school has been designated as the probable site for setting up the hospital, and each box of hospital equipment has been color coded to show the room in the school to which it should be taken.

The hospital storage program has been in actual operation only about a year, said Yaun. There is no mandatory "assigning" system, he said. The units are sent upon request of responsible local officials who can show a need in that area and definite provision for safekeeping at least 15 miles from the nearest target area. Despite the voluntary nature of the program, Yaun said he felt it was progressing well toward the desired scattering over the state. Both the state office and large target cities have been working to encourage smaller towns to obtain hospitals.

As yet, none of the stored hospitals has been opened nor has a request to open one been made. "It would take a really mammoth disaster to justify this," said Yaun, "one that would wipe out all regular hospital facilities for miles around. I can't really imagine its happening except in war."

A resourceful man isn't necessarily a man of means.

Polish Pianist to Be Heard At Symphony Nov. 17

Witold Maluczynski, great Polish piano virtuoso, will play with the Corpus Christi Symphony Orchestra, Jacques Singer conducting, Monday evening, Nov. 17, at Del Mar Auditorium.

After a season's absence to the American scene, Maluczynski's return marks the close of a phenomenal five-continent tour over the past two years during which the pianist added fresh luster to a distinguished career.

Maluczynski is recognized as the heir to the mantle of Paderewski, for he was that great master's pupil, personally chosen for his ability to carry on the tradition. He is generally acknowledged, too, to be the greatest living interpreter of the works of his fellow countryman, Chopin.

Proof that Paderewski had chosen his successor wisely followed immediately upon young Maluczynski's completion of his studies. The pianist's debut in Paris was a sensation. Thus launched on his professional career, he toured Europe until the outbreak of World War II. The list of famous conductors under whom he began to play both here and abroad reads like a Who's Who of the Baton.

Maluczynski will play the Liszt "Concerto No. 2 in A Major" Monday night with the Corpus Christi Symphony Orchestra. The program will also include Liszt "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" and Beethoven's "Sixth Symphony" the "Pastoral."

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

JUDGE ROY BEAN

Defender of Liberty and Justice for All

Judge Roy Bean, Texan by choice and famous as "Law West of the Pecos," not only believed in and fought for freedom... he lived it, ignored with magnificent unconcern the conventionalities of his times... and dealt out considerable measures of liberty to his fellow citizens when he had the power to do so. Originally a Kentuckian, he drifted West to fill several adventures and romantic years... with duels, jails, escapes, prosperity, and service as a Southern irregular in New Mexico during the Civil War. Then... Texas, as a freighter, butcher, wood contractor, saloon keeper in San Antonio. There his home neighborhood on Flores Street is still sometimes called "Beanville." His schemes for raising money, winning lawsuits and avoiding payment of rent gave rise to a wealth of legend. In 1882 financial and domestic difficulties indicated a new base of operations... elsewhere.

Bean departed westward, to follow the grading camps of the Sunset Railroad builders with a profitable tent saloon. Near Vinegaroon, across the Pecos, he settled down... where he later named a small town Langtry and made it famous. As Langtry's Justice of the Peace, he adopted the title of "Law West of the Pecos"... and made the title stick.

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedom-minded homeland... "Beer Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of Texans, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self-Regulation program.

Junior High Buys Friendship Brick For Clinton

Students at Aransas County Junior High School, to show that they do not believe in the sort of thinking that led to the bombing of the school in Clinton, Tenn., have contributed $6.45 towards a new Clinton schoolhouse to buy "Friendship bricks to combat the bombs of hate."

The gift grew out of a meeting of the Junior High Student Council on Oct. 29 when Janine Torres, a guest at the meeting, brought up the subject of the Clinton bombing and read to the assembled council a newspaper clipping that she had received.

"In the middle of the debris of Clinton High School," this story said, "there still stands a notice: 'Don't bother this experiment—Kermit Jeffress.'"

"The dynamiters who took out their hate on the school of this quiet Tennessee community did not bother the notice. There it is, surrounded by broken glass, plaster, cinder blocks, desks and tables—serene and undisturbed—four wooden trays in which are growing barley seedlings. . . They are wilted and struggling to keep alive."

"Wilted and struggling to keep their school alive also are the community leaders of Clinton. When you look at the devastation inside and around their high school, you can understand why . . ."

"On the floor of the wreckage was a book . . . a collection of the world's great literature, including . . . Leo Tolstoy's 'God Sees the Truth But Waits.' . . . 'Some members of the Clinton school board who had already raised $3,500,000 to build new schools since 1950 weren't quite so philosophical. They didn't see how they could wait. Children had to be educated. To some it seemed that God had waited a long time about protecting their school from an unseen, unknown fanatic. . . .

"I could not help but think as I walked through those ruins that other youngsters in other schools throughout the country would like to help the children of Clinton rebuild their school. If the high school children of America each contributed the price of one coke, enough money would be raised to rebuild the school in no time."

"You can buy a friendship brick to combat bombs of hate by sending money direct to the Clinton Schoolhouse, Clinton, Tenn."

The junior high school students of Rockport have bought some of those bricks. Tommy Picton, president of the Student Council for the Junior High School, went before the student body and told them about the whole thing after Janine brought the clipping to the council, and donation bottles were set out around the school for the nickels, dimes and pennies that the students could spare. A total of $6.45 was collected and sent to the children of Clinton.

But that wasn't enough to rebuild the school destroyed by intolerance and if there is anyone around Rockport or Fulton that has an extra dollar or two that they can spare, it might be a good idea to slip it in an envelope and send it on to Clinton to supplement the student gifts from Aransas County Junior High and from all the other schools in the nation that will answer the appeal.

After all, although some people that live here haven't learned it yet, this is America, not Russia, and we ought to be ashamed of ourselves that such things can happen in this country.

More honor to the students who thought of the idea first.

Rescue Plane Pilot Kin to Mrs. James

The pilot of the rescue plane that snatched a score of scientists from their storm split ice floe in Arctic seas up near the North Pole last weekend was Joe Burney Sullivan, career man in the air force, and a nephew of Mrs. Golda James of Rockport.

Sullivan, who has been in the air force for 15 years, has been, during his service, stationed at Waco and Laredo, Texas, as a flight instructor and has been in Rockport a number of times to visit his aunt and to go fishing. He has been stationed in Newfoundland two years and was one of the crew of a C123J plane which made a 600-mile flight from Thule Air Force Base in Greenland to rescue the score of air force and civilian scientists to safety from the ice which had been split by an arctic storm.

Flarepots strung along the 2200-foot landing strip on the island enabled the crew of the twin-engine transport to slide in for a ski-landing in the blackness of the arctic night. They hustled men and valuable records aboard and took off for Thule again, with an assist from rocket boosters.

At the last report, the rescued men, none of whom were injured by their experience, were enjoying the comparative luxury of the base at Thule, in Northern Greenland.

This outline map shows the projected boundaries of the water district which will be voted upon by people within these boundaries on Nov. 22. Voting for formation of the water district does not automatically raise taxes or issue bonds. It merely sets up a district similar to the Navigation District, and any improvements of any kind have to be voted separately, just as navigation or courthouse bonds must be voted. There will be a mass meeting in regard to the water district held at the Fulton Elementary School on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, at 7:30, where people who have questions to ask may go, and have them answered by members of the temporary water board which was recently appointed, and which is headed by James A. Jarboe, County Engineer.

DOUBLE-RIG SHRIMP TRAWLING BECOMES MORE POPULAR

The Texas double rig for shrimp trawlers is spreading wider and wider along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, and a recent development is issuance of a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service leaflet on double-rig shrimp trawling in the Gulf of Mexico, designed to give information on this to fishermen in other areas.

Widespread conversion of conventional trawlers from single trawls to double-rigs has been going on, and the Service has been deluged with inquiries about the method. The immediate purpose of the leaflet is to provide these inquirers with the basic information need to effect this conversion. However, the Service points out, that while this method of shrimping has reached a very successful stage in its development, improvements are still being made by members of the industry.

Copies of FL-470, Double-rig Shrimp Trawling in the Gulf of Mexico, may be obtained free of charge by writing directly to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington 25, D.C.
