

Along The Waterfront

The Dun and Bradstreet party out of Houston have made reservations here for the week end of May 30 and will stay at Hunt's Cottages. Frazier Cantrell has been handling the booking arrangements for the boats, and he, Brooks, Fred Christilles, Bill Crist and Buck Armintrout will take them fishing.

Fishing has been picking up a little, Frazier says.

Mrs. Ruth Shelton, Midland, Miss Mabel Gambel, Marlin, and Mrs. Mary Hansen, of Palm Village fished with him this week, and caught 63 trout and two gafftop. Other catches made from his boat the Balboa this week were Dr. Robertson and Dr. McKisli, San Antonio, 50 trout and one gafftop; George Ratliff, Midland, H. L. Ratliff, Breckenridge, and Dr. Sadler, president of TCU, 63 trout; George Price, O. C. Armstrong, and Earnest Sanders, Fort Worth, 69 trout and one mackerel; Barker brothers, Fort Worth, 49 trout and 7 gafftop.

Buck Armintrout reports that he fished John M. Bayne, Andres Heermande, Jr., and Marcos Zeilulie of San Antonio last Friday and they caught a mackerel, 3 gafftops, 2 whiting and 56 trout. The day before he fished A. W. Kneupper and Leon Kasub, also from San Antonio, and they caught 81 trout and 1 gafftop.

Many friends of Good Luck Pier in Fulton, are making fine catches of gafftop and trout both day and night. George Le Vesik and wife of Arlington brought in 56 trout and 7 gaff Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. C. Jones of Morganhall, Calif., and daughter Betty Clark of Rockport had splendid luck with the gafftop. It took two trips to carry off their catch of 65 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Cooper of Dallas were highly pleased with their

LOCAL MEN MAKE FISH SCOOTERS

Two local men—Raymond Owens and Harry Stewart—troubled by the possibilities of the fish scooters being used in shallow water along the coast, have come up with a glass-wrapped, non-sinkable version, so light it is easily carried by two men or, if he's husky, by one.

The hull, which weighs about 150 pounds, is made of plywood, fastened with monel fastenings and glue. It is completely compartmented, stiffening it greatly, and rendering it almost impervious to damage. A hole will admit water only to one small section, leaving the rest intact.

The scooters come in two sizes—10 and 12 feet—and even the smaller one will plane with four men aboard, although such a load is not recommended and is far too many for safety or fishing.

With one occupant and a 12 to 18 horse power outboard, the scooter will make 20 to 22 miles an hour, and in reasonably smooth water the sensation is more akin to bicycle riding than boating. Shift your weight to the left and you'll turn that way; lean to the right and you'll circle in that direction.

"We tried to work out the bugs as we went along," Raymond said, "and we've got lots more ideas. For instance we plan to make a pontoon, catamaran-type raft, also outboard driven, for work in harbors and around bridges, capable of handling heavy loads."

"And we're figuring out new uses for the scooters. They're ideal for fresh water ponds, bayous, lakes and rivers, because they're so light one man can lift them in a pinch. Because of this, there is a lot of new freshwater and salt marsh territory that can be reached with one."

Fourth Celebration Discussed and New Committee Appointed

Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, Jayceettes, Lions, and Rotary clubs discussed plans this week for a Fourth of July celebration to be held at Rockport, and appointed a committee to report back on Thursday afternoon with suggestions.

Frazier Cantrell told the group that at least seven people had volunteered to act as policemen at least a portion of the day. Mrs. Mary Juergens, manager of the Chamber, said that E. T. White had accepted a post as coordinator when a permanent splash day organization was formed.

She reported that Homer Faber, chairman of the Community Affairs Committee of the Chamber, had contacted a number of sources of entertainment, but that most of them already had plans for the holiday.

Charles A. Roe, Jr., told the group that the Rockport Lions Club had already voted to hold a barbecue at the Lions Pit in front of the Woman's Club on the fourth, and that this would fit in nicely with whatever plan was settled upon. Matt Scott said that the Fulton Lions would like to operate a cold drink concession on the new beach at Rockport on that day.

Gary Smith reported that the Rockport and Fulton firemen had voted to help in any way they can. Those present at the meeting were: Bob Conwell, of Corpus Christi; Mrs. John Paul Reese, Frazier Cantrell, Mary Juergens, Mrs. E. W. Carter, Jack Horton, Vernon Kleypas, Dr. Leonard Goldman, Gary Smith, J. B. Jackson, Charles A. Roe, Jr., John A. Ratliff, Mrs. H. F. Elliot, Miss Lola Bonner, Pat Greene, John Sutherland, J. D. Gray, and Matt Scott.

Cantrell, Horton Battle It Out At Polls Today

Because Precinct One candidates for city councilman Frazier Cantrell and Jack Horton tied with 62 votes each in the election on April 7, they will battle it out again today (Thursday).

Horton, a tourist court operator, is filling the unexpired term of Colonel James W. Porter, who resigned from the council approximately a year ago, and owns Oleander Courts.

Cantrell, a charter boat operator, owns the fishing craft Balboa and formerly was proprietor of Balboa Courts.

Voting place is the city hall. Polls close at 7 p. m. Election judges are Mrs. A. L. Brundrett, Mrs. Mary Alice Gray, Mrs. Fred Diederich, and Mrs. J. H. Malchar. Other members on the council are James Hunt, precinct one; and Ernest Harist and V. A. Dullye, Jr., from Precinct Two.

Two ACHS Students Receive Honorable Mention In Contest

Word was received recently by Philip Baldwin that two students in his mechanical drawing classes had received honorable mention in a state wide contest.

The contest, staged by Texas A & M College, was open both to beginners and advanced students, both of which classes are taught by Baldwin, all of whose students submitted entries.

From these he chose three entries from the beginning class, those of Tommy McCabe, Jerry Iles and John Cabaniss. He also picked three from the advanced group, Mike Johnson, Roger Ayres and Stephen Weber.

These six entries were sent to A & M to compete with work from all the high schools of the state.

The work of Cabaniss and Weber was outstanding enough that these two boys received honorable mention.

Dramatic Club Makes Last Presentation

Members of Mrs. Jack Horton's dramatics class at Aransas County High School will present their last theatrical performance of the school year in the high school auditorium Friday, May 15, at 8 p. m.

The play will be Oscar Wilde's comedy of manners, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

The setting is in 19th century England, during those years labeled the "mauve decade" in that country, and the "gay nineties" in this.

Beautiful and colorful costumes of the period, made for the occasion, will be a feature of the presentation, Mrs. Horton said.

The cast includes Jerry Iles as John Marthing; Jimmy Jackson as Algernon Moncrief; Gayle Williams, The Rev. Chasuble; Susa Dewveall, as Lady Bracknell; Sue Jenkins, as Gwendolyn Fairfax; Sue Eller as Cecily Cardew; Beatrice Wofford, as Miss Prism; Pamela Harris as Merriam; and Davy Carol Brown as Lane.

The play, in two acts, runs about an hour. Admission is 25 cents per person.

Simon Michael Director Of Victoria Show

Simon G. Michael, of the Rockport School of Fine Arts and teacher of artists at Victoria and elsewhere along the coast, is director of the Third Annual Victoria Art Guild Sidewalk Show, May 15-17, according to Mrs. Ruth Ashberry Hubbard, president of the Guild.

Artists from Port Lavaca, Goaliad, Yoakum, Cuero, Edna, and other communities around Victoria all expect to exhibit, she said, and indications are that the show will be twice as large as it has been in the past.

To be held in the Arcade at Village Center on Laurent Street, it is expected to occupy both sides of the block-long arcade and to spill over to the sidewalks in front and back of the Village stores.

Many canvases painted under Michael's direction will be shown. Judge for the occasion is Ethel Thurmond, Victoria College Art Department head.

EQUALIZATION BOARD TO MEET MAY 28

The Board of Equalization of Aransas County, consisting of Commissioners Arthur Davis, W. E. Allen, Jack Sparks, J. H. Mills, and County Judge John D. Wendell, will meet on May 28, it was learned this morning.

813th to Observe Armed Forces Day

Armed Forces Day will be celebrated here May 16 by an open house at the new station of the 813th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at Aransas County Airport, between 12:30 and 4 p. m., and by a fly-over of some of the nation's most modern aircraft, Major Verle Harris, commandant of the station, said today.

114 Boys Sign Up For Little League

One hundred and fourteen Rockport youths have registered for the Aransas County Junior League summer baseball program, sponsored by the ministerial association every summer. However, instead of the various churches sponsoring teams this summer, as they have done in the past, the boys will be placed in a community pool from which managers will select them for the teams in the league.

Ross Demory, William Jones and Tom Dannelly are serving as commissioners of the league, and they state that any boy interested in registering may do so by contacting them. The boy must have his parents' consent to take part, and must be registered with the league at least two weeks before he will be eligible to play.

Six teams have been organized so far, and the possibility of organizing farm teams for these is also being explored.

Team managers and assistants are as follows:

Braves: Jimmy Hayden, Manager, assisted by Bill Edwards and Johnny Goff.

Dodgers: Manager to be chosen; assistants, C. E. Nickerson and Walter Lassiter.

Giants: Charles Smith, Manager; assistants, Bill Parker and Jack McDavid.

Cardinals: Manager Sergeant Santos Lopez; assistants, Sergeant Joseph La Borde.

Indians: Manager, C. L. Taylor; assistants Allen Carter and C. C. Trulove.

Cubs: Manager Rex Davis; assistants, Bill Kelsay and Paul Clark.

A full schedule of games is planned to begin the early part of June and anyone interested in helping the program, either as a worker or financially is asked to contact the commissioners at once.

NEW BARBECUE, DELICATESSEN OPENS TODAY

Floyd S. Gober, who has operated a bakery and restaurant in San Antonio the past eighteen years, is opening the Old Plantation Barbecue and Bakery today, May 14, in a portion of the Bushart Building, which has been completely renovated since the fire.

Gober, who still owns a bakery and restaurant in the Alamo city, intends to make Rockport his home, he says, and will develop the block that he owns back of Hunt's Cottages, as well as operate his new business here.

The menu will include barbecued chicken, beef, ribs, and sausage, salads of all kinds, cream pies with pure whipped cream on top, all sorts of fruit pies, in which no corn starch is used, and all types of bakery products.

Gober says that he will have home-baked light bread, French bread, Vienna bread, rolls, doughnuts and poppy seed rolls for sale, also, as well as other bakery products.

Barbecue sandwiches will be made with either home-made light bread or poppy seed rolls.

Adequate facilities will be provided in the new establishment for those who wish to take their meals there, he said, but all merchandise can be prepared to go.

PONY LEAGUE TO BE ORGANIZED

All boys in Aransas County that are interested in playing pony league baseball this year are asked to assemble at Dickerson Field on Saturday, May 16, at 9 a. m. At this time prospective players may register and teams will be organized, according to Tom Dannelly.

Boys unable to attend Saturday morning are asked to obtain registration blanks from their school principals.

tant, filled in the details on the aircraft, which will cross Rockport between 11 and 2:30 p. m., at a height of about 1100 or 1200 feet.

"There will be a B-52—one of the big jet bombers—and KC 135, a jet tanker; two 4-47 medium jet bombers, a KC 77, which is a propeller driven tanker, and a C119, a flying box car."

This will be the first close look that many residents of this area will have of these modern aircraft, and of the two tall towers and the 160 or so airmen that are methodically providing citizens with an unseen commodity: Protection.

At the top of the towers are the ever-turning sky sweepers of the 813th, the heart of the system.

The United States Air Force's Mission here is defense of the United States and more particularly south Texas against any possible aerial attack.

Major Harris, commander of the station, recently explained:

"The potential air invasion routes from the south have become increasingly significant because of the jet streams that bend southward from the poles and sweep over this region at high altitudes. A jet bomber taking advantage of

City Council Holds Regular Meeting

The city council would appreciate it if citizens of Rockport prepare earlier for their business to be handled rapidly by the council.

Except in case of emergency, those who have business to transact with the councilmen should see Mrs. Jean Tuer, city secretary, before noon Friday prior to the meeting which they wish to attend on Monday, to have their business placed on the agenda. Council meetings are the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

A statement of the nature of the business and, if subdivisions or building permits are involved, either plats or plans, should be filed with Mrs. Tuer, so that councilmen may have time to better inform themselves before the meeting at which the matter is to come up.

The council took this action to expedite city business, and to prevent unannounced delegations of citizens arriving and asking for immediate action on ordinances, permits, or similar items before councilmen have had time to give the affair the study that it may deserve.

There was also some discussion, led by Councilman Dullye, centering around the need for employment by the city of expert advice when needed, on things arising on which the council did not feel it had sufficient experience.

In other business, the council met with Frank Kresta, J. E. Weichert, both of Rockport, and G. L. Kramer of Victoria, concerning assessments on their land for curb and gutter. Frank Kresta, as soon as the council had heard his request and had outlined for him the manner in which driveways would be handed, and the cost, immediately wrote a check for the entire amount. Weichert and Kramer both told the council that they would pay the entire assessment as soon as the curbing and guttering were completed in front of their property, a statement which was satisfactory to the council.

Fire Chief Dick Fox and Assistant Fire Marshal Elva Mullinax then appeared, asking that the present fire ordinance be amended by inclusion, in toto, of the National Underwriter's Code for the handling and storage of flammable liquids, and this request was turned over to City Attorney Dick Hatch.

Fox also told the councilmen that the next quarterly meeting of the South Texas District of Volunteer Firemen, comprising firemen from some 31 towns in the area, would be held in Rockport on Sunday, July 12, and asked that the city secretary be instructed to write letters of invitation to the various fire departments.

County Judge John D. Wendell, then consulted with the council on tax matters, and County Surveyor James A. Jarboe asked that the council signify its interest in the matter of a salt water conversion plant by a letter to the proper governmental agency, a request to which the council acceded.

Pupil of Simon Michael Wins Fourth In State

Claudia Nelson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Nelson of Beeville, and a pupil of Simon Michael at the Rockport School of Fine Arts, was awarded fourth place in the statewide Hallmark art contest recently for an oil entitled "Strength and Culture," painted at one of the summer sessions last year, under Michael's direction.

Each federated woman's club in the state was permitted to sponsor one high school senior in the contest. Claudia was sponsored by the Rosetta Club.

She has won in the club's annual county-wide art contest for the past four years taking one first, two seconds and a third. She also placed third in the Victoria Art Guild show a year ago. She has been a pupil of Michael for several years, both in Beeville, where she attends art classes Friday night, and in summer sessions at Rockport.

Carolyn Sue St. John REACHES FIFTH ROUND IN REGIONAL SPELLING

Carolyn Sue St. John, a student in the eighth grade in Aransas County Junior High School, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. St. John, reached the fifth round in the regional spelling contest in Corpus Christi Saturday before she went down.

She retraced the "m" in "tremendous," a technical error which eliminated her. Spelling bee rules allow a contestant to retrace letters already said, but the contestant must start from the beginning of the word if they do.

Carolyn Sue hesitated after the letter "m," then started again with "m," thus giving the word a double "m" according to spelling bee rules.

TELEPHONE TALK
by Bob Freeman, Manager

THE ONE BEST WAY

One of our chief operators told me the other day that she'd be glad if I'd take a few lines in Telephone Talk and explain the best way to place long distance calls. "It'll help us give better and faster service," she said. When I asked her what she'd say, she gave me these suggestions:

- 1) If possible, know the distant number. We can handle your calls twice as fast if you call by number.
- 2) When the operator answers, simply tell her the city and telephone number you want. (She'll ask for your number later).

It works like this, the chief said: The instant the operator knows the city, and number, she can put up the connection and start getting the number. She also is filling out the long distance call ticket. Then she will ask for the calling number. And about then, if the called party is home and the line is not busy, your party will answer. According to the chief, it's about the same for person-to-person calls, except that you'll need to tell the operator the city you want, the person you want, and the telephone number, if you know it.

MAKE IT A "HOLIDAY" WEEKEND WITH A LONG DISTANCE CALL

Last year, many of us had a three-day weekend because Decoration Day fell on Friday, and it'll be the same way next year when it comes on Monday. But this year, the calendar threw us a little curve and Decoration Day lands on Saturday. This cuts out the chance for a three-day holiday, which means there's not enough time for an out-of-town trip to see friends or family.

Since a holiday is a family get-together day, several of my friends have told me they still plan to "get together" with a long distance call over the week-end.

"It's the next best thing to visiting in person," one fellow told me, "and we can make quite a few out-of-town calls for the cost of traveling over the weekend."

It makes sense to me, and I hope many of you will perk up your Decoration Day weekend here in Rockport with a long distance call to friends or family.

As you know, rates are lower after 6 p.m. weekdays and all day Sunday. And when you call, call station-to-station. That way, you'll be able to make three calls for about the price of two. That's a real saving!

IT'S FUN TO PHONE

How often do we use the phone "just for the fun of it"? Have you ever stopped to think how many times a telephone call has been the beginning of a lasting friendship, or a pleasant evening with neighbors?

People often tell me of calls they made "just to visit." You've probably done the same. Chances are good you'll do it again.

Why? That's easy. Because it's fun to phone.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

"BIGFOOT" WALLACE

Friend and Defender of the Young Republic

Loyalty to his clan brought William Alexander Anderson (Bigfoot) Wallace to Texas, and his loyalty to Texas enriched the history of his chosen country. Born in Lexington, Virginia, in 1817, Wallace set out for the Southwest in 1836, to avenge the massacre of a brother and a cousin at Goliad. Later he told his friend and biographer, "Texas John" Duval, that he believed the account had been squared.

Wallace was a magnificent physical specimen. 6 feet 2 inches tall in his moccasins, 240 pounds of bone, muscle, courage and humor. . . a mellow and convivial soul except when it was time to fight Indians, Mexicans or outlaws. He loved to sit in the shade and tell about such sights as the last buffalo run down Austin's Congress Avenue. But Texas history records him as a fearless soldier, scout, hunter, Ranger throughout the years of the Republic and those of the Civil War and Reconstruction. For many years he lived as he liked, and re-lived in tall tales the old days of free ways and free land. Bigfoot Wallace died January 7, 1899.

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedom-minded homeland. "Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of Texans, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self-Regulation program.

Major Augustus B. Maxwell, area Reserve commander, made the presentation of the award, which was signed by the commander of the Seventh Corps in Germany. The certificate said that Cron "contributed immensely to his unit's success through skillful assistance in maintaining and handling" administrative matters.

JOE GIBSON, ACE CAMERAMAN, SAW FIRST REVOLUTION

Joe Gibson, now of Rockport, has filmed kings and paupers, facing death a hundred times as an ace newsreel cameraman.

Highlight of his adventurous career came in 1933, when Batista first seized the Cuban government and Gibson, covering the Cuban revolution, was shipped home with 16 bullets in his body!

"I was set up on the balcony of the Nueva Isla Motel," Joe said, "when a student demonstration turned into an all-out battle between Batista's men and administration cops. The plaza was full of people, but that didn't make any difference when they cut loose with the machine guns. Men, women and children were mowed down, as well as revolutionists and cops. A little boy was blown to bits, and a little girl cut in two by a grenade."

Suddenly a machine gunner caught sight of Gibson, and loosed a burst in his direction. Joe kept grinding, the upper part of his body protected by the camera and heavy tripod. Another burst riddled his legs and he dropped, but before he fell he had pictures of them shooting him down. Only when soldiers rushed to his camera and strewed his exposed film on the street did he discover that he was wounded.

Years afterwards, again in Cuba, Gibson received a summons to the presidential palace. When he stepped from the car with his camera, he discovered, to his astonishment, that the guard of honor was for him, and that he was to be decorated by Batista for his distinguished service during the revolution!

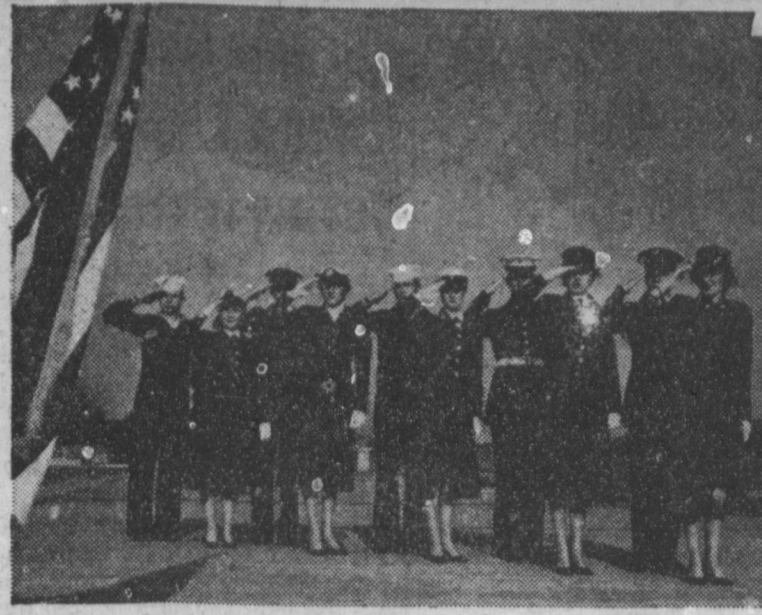

Joe has had other brushes with death, including the time he nearly crashed into the sea on Naval maneuvers. Flying over an aircraft carrier for a shot of its deck, his plane was caught in the updraft from the stacks and almost went out of control. Another time, on a naval tugboat towing a target for coastal defense guns, he was nearly blown up instead of the bullseye.

Taking pictures of an auto time trial at Daytona Beach, Florida, he narrowly escaped death when a hurtling speedster struck the cameraman next to him, hurling the unfortunate man a thousand feet, killing the driver also, but leaving Gibson untouched.

He has shot the Chrysler building while under construction, clinging to a steel beam 68 stories in air; has been seasick standing on an elephant's back, trying to photograph a tiger hunt; and was one of the photographers that recorded the coronation of King George V and Queen Mary, the present ruler's grandparents.

One of his most unusual assignments came during the "Bubble Bath" craze, when his boss, tired of the blathering publicity, dreamed up the stunt of having a comedian built on the same lines as Jackie Gleason lave himself in a bathtub suspended from a blimp flying down Fifth Avenue, scattering soap suds gracefully to the winds.

Another wacky one came when Joe thought up an entirely new alligator stunt. When a ten-footer was caught in a swamp near Miami, Gibson combined it and a blimp to give the city a thrill, and to make a good news reel for popular consumption. The animal was trussed on a platform beneath the dirigible, and Joe, with his legs locked around a strut, took pictures of the great reptile against a bird's-eye view of Miami.

The alligator, upset by all these goings on, rebelled so vigorously that it worked its forequarters loose and dangled from the platform by its hind legs. The pilot brushed it off against some tree tops. It fell, bounced, and was recaptured for a Miami zoo, probably the most confused saurian that ever lived.

Educated in English technical schools, for he was born in Derbyshire, Joe alternated between long-distance swimming and turning a camera crank when he came to this country. He ground a camera for a time at the old Fort Lee studios where Theda Bara was emoting for the silent films, and was technical adviser on an early-day series, "The Fatal Fortune," starring Helen Holmes.

He has met the great and the near-great, and has covered fire, murder, sudden death and natural catastrophes.

"I'd covered the Duke of Windsor on jaunts as the Prince of Wales, from the time his father, King George V, took office, and when he and Wally were persona non grata in England and they shipped him off to be governor of the Bahamas, I was on the job again.

"When they got to the bottom of the gangplank, where I was grinding away, the Duke stopped short, did a double-take, then put his hand out and pushed away the camera.

"What," he said, "are you still grinding that thing?" and His Highness walked away.

"The next day I got an invitation to appear at the Governor's Palace. There wasn't any reception. I found the place empty except for the ex-King of England and his bride, who crossed the grounds to welcome me. Then we all took tea and discussed old times — the numerous times that I'd been near His Majesty in the old days, 'till the tea got cold. I'd hobnobbed with a lot of kings, usually with the camera between us, but if the mark of a gentleman is to make others feel at home, then the Duke's still the greatest gentleman of his country."

In recent years, Gibson has been in Europe and South America, making travelogues and documentaries until his retirement. In South America he visited the emerald mines of Colombia, and in a DeHaviland plane nicknamed "The Flying Birdcage" he and a still cameraman, Milton Meade, traveled through Ecuador, Bolivia, and Chile, flying over the Andes, and making shots in the Valley of the Moon in the latter country, at over 14,000 feet.

For many years Joe and his wife made their home in Miami, but within recent years they decided that they'd rather live in Texas, and have built a home on the shores of Aransas Bay, just north of Rockport.

"You know," Joe said, "it's kind of nice to take things easy."

Shrimp Catch
Rises a Little
During March

Continued bad weather in March affected shrimp production along the Texas Coast, according to C. E. Nickerson of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Many owners, he said, kept their vessels in dock rather than send them out for a box or less per night in the short periods between northers.

The preliminary totals of 990,000 pounds of heads-off shrimp was approximately 35 percent less than the 1,520,000 pounds produced during the same period last year and with approximately 2 percent increases over February 1959 landings.

Distribution in landings varied as compared to the previous month with a large decrease in Port Isabel and Brownsville, Coastal Bend remaining about the same and an increase in the Freeport and Galveston areas. Landings in the Galveston area consisted of mostly white species, Freeport and Coastal Bend were predominately brown with some pink shrimp freighted in from Campeche, and Port Isabel and Brownsville shrimp were also mostly brown but with a larger amount of Campeche pink as a result of freight-ins, about 13 percent were pink shrimp.

Following totals will give an indication of distribution in thousands of pounds heads-off:

Brownsville, 455.4; Port Isabel, 247.9; Coastal Bend, 139.6; Freeport, 117.5; Galveston-Sabine, 29.8.

Ex-vessel prices ranged from 72c to 81c for 15/20 count heads-off shrimp during the month, however very little reached the market over 78c 15/20 count ex-vessel. The higher prices was paid to the fishermen because of local demand for fresh shrimp during the Lenten Season. It was noted that the prices ranged from 84c to 92c ex-vessel price per pound of heads-off 15/20 count shrimp during March, 1958. High winds played havoc with the fleet in the high-seas fisheries off the coast of Mexico. It was reported by our Port Isabel agent that eight vessels ran aground in the vicinity of Tampico, Vera Cruz, and Campeche and at least three vessels sank in shallow water. Due to these strong Northers there were approximately 20 vessels tied up in Port Isabel and may remain to the dock until the Spring run. This trend is reflected all along the Texas coast.

Employment is still at a low point in the shrimp industry, but with the landings of small white shrimp on the upper Texas coast, there is indication that headers will have some employment. Many laborers have gone into agriculture work and in the event of a large "run" it may be difficult to make immediate recruitments back into the fish houses.

Most of the activity in the oyster fishery was centered around the Corpus Christi bays. Dredgers from other areas worked in this region and trucked their catch to Calhoun County where four certified shucking houses were in operation. Toward the end of the month there appeared to be a decline in landings as the season drew near to the close. However due to the cool weather there has been no indication of "milkiness" in any of the oyster landings and the quality still remained good at the end of the month. Prices dropped to $3.00 per barrel in some areas. The landings in the Galveston area dropped from the previous month and the Spring season ended there.

Production of finfish in most ports was up as demand for fresh fish increased during the month. Red snapper landings were in the leading species in the Galveston area and drum, spotted sea trout, and redfish appeared to be the leading species in the Coastal Bend and Laguna regions.

Production of crabs in the Matagorda, the chief producing area, was up during the month. Supply is plentiful and reports indicate that there has been very good yield of picked meat. Several fishermen have claimed that there was more crabs on the grounds this year than any preceding year in their memory. Due to this heavy supply there has been more than a passing interest in establishing additional picking plants in the Coastal Bend area. One potential dealer visited the plants in Mississippi to use as a guide for further development. It was also mentioned that crab pots were employed in the Matagorda area with very good results and the outcome being that many of the outside (other than regular) boats could not dispose of their catches.

A survey of the bait fishery in Galveston Bay showed 1,616 quarts of live-bait landed in March as compared to 1,184 quarts landed in February. This was the first upward trend since last fall.

All catches were made in Galveston channel. Retail price was $3 per quart and still scarce.

Mrs. Stanley Bissett and Mrs. Ray Lee Hart spent the weekend in Corpus as guests of Mrs. William C. Greene.

Weatherman Calls
Attention to Storm
Signals Flown Here

With the hurricane season just around the corner, local weatherman Paul Clark Sorenson says that everyone ought to be familiar with the signals flown from the mast behind Sorenson's Store, so that they won't be caught napping.

A single red pennant is the small craft warning in the day time, while a red light over a white one is the night warning, which indicates winds and seas or sea conditions alone considered dangerous to small craft, and winds during the time the warning is displayed may range up to 38 miles an hour.

Two red pennants, one over the other, or a white light over a red, warn of a gale, with winds ranging from 39 to 54 miles an hour. A single square red flag, with a square black center is a whole gale warning in the daytime, and at night the signal is two red lights, one above the other. During the time these are displayed, winds may range from 55 to 73 miles an hour, and if you haven't already battened down the hatches, it might be a good idea to do so.

The most dreaded of all signals, two square red flags, with black squares in their centers, flown one above the other, are the sign of a hurricane, and indicate that winds 74 miles an hour and above are forecast for the region. Sorenson said that these signals are supplementary to, and cannot replace small craft, gale, whole gale, and hurricane warnings broadcast from time to time over the radio. And over these broadcasts come important details as to time, intensity and direction of movement of the storms.

Aransas Wildlife Refuge Directions Given for Tourists

For the benefit of tourists and of local people who may wish to be able to give directions, the following sketch of the Refuge is presented.

The Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, located in Aransas and Refugio Counties on Blackjack Peninsula and containing 47,261 acres, was established December 31, 1937, as one of more than 290 national wildlife refuges administered by the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Of interest historically as the home of the apparently cannibalistic Caranchua Indians, the peninsula was homesteaded early in the eighteenth century by various European nationals. Homes and townships were established along the San Antonio and St. Charles Bays. Agriculture was none too successfully followed for many years, and cattle raising became the primary usage.

Established for the production and protection of all forms of wildlife, the Aransas Refuge is an important link in the chain of waterfowl wintering areas along the Gulf Coast. It is the ancestral home and only remaining wintering site used by the almost extinct Whooping Crane. Here, under complete protection and encouragement, the flock has increased from only 14 in 1940. Here, they spend the months from October to April before flying northward to unknown breeding grounds in Canada. Canadian, White-fronted, and Snow Geese are common winter residents together with many duck species including Pintail, Gadwall, Baldpate, Mallard, and others. Shorebirds, wading birds (including the rare Roseate Spoonbill), songbirds, birds of prey, and others bring the total list of birds found on the refuge in various seasons to 300 species.

White-tail deer have flourished, and thousands have been live-trapped for restocking in Texas and other southern states. The native javelina hog, or peccary, wild turkey, and bob-white quail together with armadillos, raccoon, skunk, squirrels, and occasional red wolf constitute the major upland species. The grazing of cattle is permitted when no conflict with wildlife results.

Refuge tour routes are marked by the goose signs.

Because of primitive terrain, visitors must not leave shelled rods. For Whooping Cranes: Drive south from headquarters one-half mile, and follow the signs to the tower. This area is closed during nesting seasons. If desired, deer often are seen by continuing southward past the Texas deer-trapping headquarters to the Dagger-Point road and return. In season ducks and geese may be seen between headquarters and the trapping camp.

Deer and the general interior country may be seen by driving west from headquarters five miles to the Patrol Station, southward two miles to Spanish Village, thence south six miles to the oil field and return. A side trip may be made westward from Spanish Village to Burgentine Lake and return.

Refuge regulations include the following restrictions designed to give maximum protection of the wildlife. Your cooperation is appreciated. All visitors will register at refuge headquarters prior to making a tour of the area. Visiting hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Firearms must be left at headquarters prior to touring the refuge. Maximum speed of 30 miles per hour. Fishing from refuge shores is not permitted. Avoid disturbance of all wildlife. Keep pets in the car. Campfires are not permitted.

Refuge headquarters is located eight miles southeast of Austwell, Texas, over hard surfaced and shell roads.

Registrations Being Accepted or Camp Copano Summer Sessions

Brownies, Intermediates, and Senior Girl Scouts may now register for one of three summer sessions at Camp Copano.

Sessions include the first, June 7-13; the second, a two weeks' session from June 14 through 27; and the third from June 28 through July 4.

The Camp is owned by the Whooping Crane Girl Scout Council of Texas, and is located at one of the loveliest spots on Copano Bay. It faces Farm Road 1781, about 9 miles north of Rockport, which is on State Highway 35. This site, with beautifully wooded surroundings, is not far from the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge (a crossroad of the bird kingdom) and Goose Island State Park (location of the famous Lamar Oak).

The camp staff includes a director, registered Red Cross water safety director, a nurse, dietician, cook, unit leaders, and assistants. A doctor is on call if needed. All staff members have been chosen for their special abilities, camping experience, interest and love of girls and enthusiasm for camping.

Campers will furnish their own transportation to and from camp. They should arrive at camp on Sunday between 2-4 p.m. Parents and friends are invited to visit the camp and to attend a flag ceremony at 5:30 p.m., after which they are requested to leave so campers may have their evening meal. Transportation to return campers home should be at the camp by 11 a.m. on Saturday, at the close of the session. The camp site will be cleared of all visitors at noon Saturday.

During the two-week session, a minister will visit camp, and Catholic children will be taken into town for services on the Sunday they are in camp.

Camp activities include handicrafts, such as weaving, tin can lanterns, maps, beads, shells, and beachcombing; Active sports: hiking, swimming which is required except by doctor's orders, volley ball, baseball, canoeing to advanced swimmers, fishing, exploring and archery.

Mrs. J. King, of Lyford, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Johnson, during the past week.

INQUIRE BEFORE YOU RETIRE

Just as a person inquires about the duties of a job before he goes to work, he should inquire about his benefit rights before he retires, states Arthur L. Finck, assistant manager of the Corpus Christi office of the Social Security Administration.

Leisure is often the only occupation of the retired worker, and the social security benefits that partially replace the former salary are intended to help him enjoy the leisure of his retirement. To avoid delay in the receipt of the first social security benefit check, the worker should file his application for retirement benefits about a month before he plans to retire.

One who prepares in advance to file an application for his social security insurance can speed up the delivery of his first check by bringing some records which will be needed to process the application, Finck says. A record of the worker's earnings during the past year and evidence of his age are generally required.

It is not necessary for an applicant to get a birth certificate, and a delayed birth certificate should not be secured for this purpose, but if he already has one it may serve as proof of his age. A baptismal certificate or almost any other record which shows the person's date of birth can be used to establish his age.

When a woman claims her benefits as a widow on the social security account of her deceased husband she should bring her marriage certificate as well as evidence of her age, Finck pointed out.

Anyone who plans to retire may obtain exact information about the requirements and his benefit rights from the Social Security Administration, 530 S. Water St., Corpus Christi.

Another Bauer dredge is already at work on the cut, having started north from Aransas Pass earlier in the year.

United Fund Holds Meeting Wednesday Discusses Drive

At the regular meeting of the Aransas County United Fund Wednesday night, most of the session was given over to discussion of the upcoming drive, slated to begin on July 15, under leadership of George Dickey, this year's campaign chairman.

The directors also discussed the problem of outside and unauthorized drives for funds by various organizations.

President Harold Pieton told the group that Mrs. A. L. Bachman had definitely tendered her resignation as chairman of the local drive for cancer funds in the future, and that although the Corpus Christi representative of this fund raising organization had been asked to meet with the directors, she had not done so.

It was pointed out that to make the United Fund a success, the utmost cooperation was needed from everyone in the county, and that indiscriminate giving was one of the quickest ways to upset the United Fund and to go back to the old method of a drive every week or so, with the same group of people spearheading each one.

Dickey and Mrs. Charles A. Roe, Jr., then discussed securing solicitors for the drive that starts July 15, and he told the directors that between now and that time he hopes to speak to some 20 civic organizations, asking for their help in staging the drive.

813th to Observe—

the jet streams could leave Siberia, fly an over water route well off the California coast and across northern Mexico, easily penetrating the heart of the U. S. were it not for this protection.

"And this would likely take less time than it would for the same bomber to fly an over water route from northern Europe to New York city."

The Rockport station, which has only been operating at full efficiency for the past five or six months, cost U. S. taxpayers many millions of dollars for installations here and at the two satellite stations it controls — Palacios and Riviera.

The base here, along with some ten or eleven others, form a chain of detection in this part of the U. S., and provide radar surveillance of all craft flying within the classified range of its operational equipment and identifies the aircraft as hostile or friendly.

If there exists a doubt about the plane's identity, these stations order a scramble from the fighter bases supporting them, including those at San Antonio and Austin, and jets shoot aloft to investigate the questionable plane.

If the plane is hostile, decision for its destruction rests with the 813th and is squarely on the shoulders of the commander, for in these days of atomic war there may not be time enough to hunt up a colonel or a general.

South Texas is served in other ways by the 813th. Among these are its ability to aid aircraft in distress and to detect severe weather conditions, particularly tornadoes.

The station has meant a great deal to Rockport and its area. Its annual payroll totals about $500,000 and the Air Force spends another $90,000 a year for community needs.

The station, consisting of some fifteen buildings, and a 27-unit housing development, is located three miles of Rockport, at the Aransas County Airport, and, when fully manned, will have about 200 officers and men.
