Don't fight the same enemy too often. He may learn your art of war.

If you are leading a "dog's life" be sure it is the life of a St. Bernard—those splendid watchers of the alps.

Because some spiritual interlocutor proposes to go your celestial bail is no sign your crime is forgiven, or that the world will ever forget your meanness.

In this great land of ours, every American's wife is his queen, his sisters are his princesses and his friends are his faithful subjects. When our home and community life are lost to this splendid ideal our country is headed for the rocks.

In a recent reading of some natural history we noticed that when a baboon gets either too old or too helpless to help himself, the rest of the tribe utterly forsake him and leave him to die alone. The discovery of that trait set our thoughts a-going. The way some deluded souls do leads us to think that Darwin was not far wrong when he said he had an inkling of ancestral apes and monkeys.

It is said that the world's great violin makers would break and mend, and crash and rebuild again. Somehow they thought it gave the violin a wider range. Oh, yes! There are nights when the stars refuse to shine. There are hours when the poor heart is left all bleeding and torn. Who knows? It may be that we must be shattered. The skillful hand that broke the instrument can rebuild it. He dreams of a way that shall bring out of life its sweetest harmonies, its softest melodies. Who knows?

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Statistics indicate that both the current business situation and the business outlook are improving. Many important industries are doing better than in 1934—some are actually leading ahead of their 1929 experience.

A much asked question is: "To what extent are government policies responsible for the improvement?" A few think that if congress took a swing to the right, the course of recovery would be immeasurably accelerated. That is a matter of opinion—and, in the light of recent Presidential statements, there seems little chance that the administration will go conservative. Here are some business briefs of interest:

RETAIL TRADE: Well above last year, with chain systems having a particularly favorable experience. (Sales for J. C. Penny dry-goods chain recently broke all records for first-half-year sales.) National Retail Dry Goods Association forecasts that the fall season will bring a 10 to 15 per cent additional increase.

CONSTRUCTION: Substantially above last year. Residential awards in a recent month were 143 per cent over the same month in 1934. General Motors has announced that it will spend $50,000,000 for new plant capacity—this represents the largest sum any corporation has decided to spend for building in a long time. For the first seven months of this year, industrial contracts totaled $99,000,000—within a few millions of the total for the entire year of 1934.

FARM EQUIPMENT: Belief is that 1935 will be the best year for this industry since 1930. Farmers are buying again because their existing equipment is inefficient or worn-out, and they want to replace it. Most farm equipment manufacturers have taken heavy operation losses in recent years—now they are again in the market.

AGRICULTURE: It is the forecast that total farm income for 1935 will be more than $1,000,000,000 over 1934—which exceeded 1932 by $1. News Service, expert fact-finding and forecasting organization, says there that. At Chicago, incoming hog shipments recently touched an all-time low, while prices reached the highest level since 1929.

ELECTRICAL POWER: Dow Jones News Service, expert fact-finding and forecasting organization, says there is considerable indication that power production in the third quarter will establish a new record for any comparable period in the industry's history. However, this experience may not be duplicated in earnings—rate-cuts in many localities have resulted in less. The fear of new tax and in the industry selling more, but punitive legislation discourages normal progress in the electric industry. AIRCRAFT: Big manufacturers are doing better. The Army and Navy are both carrying on aggressive air-defense programs and manufacturers naturally benefit.

STEEL: Operations are stable, with price firm. Machine and machine-tool makers are especially heavy buyers of the basic metal.

LUMBER: Production has spurted. This is partly due to the temporary settlement of labor troubles—and partly due to the fact that lumbermen are producing heavily now in anticipation of additional Pacific Coast labor difficulties this fall.

ELECTRICAL MANUFACTURERS: Seventy eight makers of storage batteries, household power devices, industrial equipment, etc., reported 10.5 per cent more business in the second quarter of 1935 than in the first. Demand is still gaining in most parts of the country.

While the foregoing are facts, they should not be taken that all is clear sailing for industry. Much remains to be done, and constant fear of governmental interference, at expense of recovery, is prevalent. The new tax bill, for example, seems destined to be a seriously dampening influence on industry. On the other hand, adjournment of Congress, which may be effected by the time this is read, will be a relief to business.

CAR NUMBER "20"

According to an advertisement of a large life insurance company, the driver of every 20th car is a reckless, careless driver and will take the life of some man, woman or child before the year is over, if the accident experiences of 1935 duplicate that of 1934. And statistics for the first six months of the year indicate that little if any progress has been made in curbing the dangerous driver.

Every driver should decide for himself whether he wants to be at the wheel of "car number 20". The decision is really within his power. He can drive carefully, in accordance with the laws and use good judgement, he can keep his speed to reasonable levels, maintain his car in first class mechanical condition so far as safety devices are concerned, and work on the basis that it is better to give up his right-of-way than risk a trip in an automobile.

On the other hand, if he can't take chances, he can regard crowded streets and highways as playgrounds, where his reckless adventurous instincts may be indulged to the full without regard for others or for himself.

The laws of chance are immutable and every motorist who is deliberately careless, can be certain that he will eventually become a cropper. He may get away with his reckless acts a thousand times, the thousand and first time he may pay the price. Gambles with death always lose, the dice are loaded before you start the game.

One car in twenty will be the cause of someone's death or maiming this year. Are you going to be the 20th driver?

GET BUSY
While it is expected that the building of lateral roads will provide the major portion of the work necessary to the employment of the 6,000 or more employables in the counties comprising District No. 13, the Works Progress Administration, it is by no means the only method through which towns, counties and school districts may receive the benefits, according to W. P. Director, W. S. James, of the A. S. office.

As an example, Mr. James calls attention to the fact that all school grounds, both rural and urban are afforded an opportunity to beautify their grounds by the building of retaining walls, sodding, laying out gravel walks, drives and play grounds planting shrubbery. School houses, out-houses and garages may be repaired, repaired or built, provided the sponsors or patrons will supply a portion of the needed materials. The abundant supply of native building stone and road material throughout the District makes the employment of a great number of unskilled laborers in quarrying, loading and handling such material for these projects. This section has never, and will probably never have another such opportunity to bring rural school and school grounds up to the standard of the older states, says Mr. James.

School boards, trustees, civic organizations and women's clubs are urged to make surveys of their needs and co-operate with sponsoring bodies in filling their projects as quickly as possible on this type of work.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

The Kent County Cotton Board met Thursday and approved all cotton compliance papers. Members being present were J. M. Johnson, J. A. Parks, E. L. Peterson, and J. T. Bonds. Mr. J. P. Stewart and H. L. Underwood also helped with the transacting of community compliance business.

Notice will be mailed out from the County Agents Office some time next week in regard to the issuing of Bankhead certificates each producer will receive notice and if you will present this card at the office when calling for your certificate it will expedite matters greatly.

Now is the time to hand select all grain for seed. Seeds that are to be used next Spring for planting. This is one overlooked step that when carefully followed will help increase the yield per acre.

At this season of the year you will note that all the leaves on grape vines are dead and covered with a brown looking rust. This is a black spot fungus disease which can be controlled by spraying with a bordeaux mixture. For best results grapes, roses and grapevines should be sprayed with a mixture of this kind while the plant is dormant, however an application now would do no harm. The above mentioned disease also applies to most of the hardy climbing vines.

Next year will be Centennial year for Texas and Kent County should be represented at this celebration and the only way a credible show for this County could be arranged is for every farmer to start right now in selecting his best ears of corn, best heads of grain and vegetables. All products like corn and grains must be stored away in the dry and safe from rats and mice. As to fruits and small vegetables, select the finest specimens as to form and size. Handle carefully and place in a bottle, arranging them so as to show best. Fill each bottle to the neck with fruit, then pour on the liquid recommended, filling the bottle within 1-2 inch of the stopper, so as to entirely cover the fruit. Then place the stopper in the bottle and run a little melted beeswax or paraffin over the joint to make it air tight. The following prescriptions are used by the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

- 1. Boric Acid, 1 lb; water, 45 lbs. Dissolve by agitation, and then add 5 pints of alcohol. If the fluid is not clear, allow to stand and settle, when the clear upper portion may be poured off and the remainder filtered.
- 2. Sulphurous acid, 1 pint; water, 8 pints; Alcohol 1 pint. Allow the mixture to stand and should there be sediment, pour off the clear liquor and filter the remainder.

THE TRIP I MADE TO COLLEGE STATION

My trip to short course was the most profitable trip I could ever hope to make. I saw so many interesting things, but of all the interesting things that I saw, the thing that attracted me most was a modern rural home, called the Key Cottage.

The house is Colonial in architecture and distinctive in appearance. It is a six room cottage, conveniently and economically planned to meet the needs of an average size family.

The living room furniture was made of simple lines with substantial upholstery in harmonizing and contrasting colors.

The bedrooms were furnished primarily as places for rest and for sleep, mattresses old pillows, and a comfortable chair or two were selected for each room. The dining room was furnished complete with home-made furniture. The kitchen had electric equipment of every kind and was conveniently arranged. The floor was a type that is easily mopped the walls of the kitchen and bath room were steam resistant and were washable. In the kitchen, bath room, office back bed room and hall a good linoleum was used.

The walks and drive were planned to harmonize with the building. A gravel drive was laid directly into the garage which was built facing the side street. Both the front and back walks are made of stones. The back one is of native rock, the front one of broken concrete. Grass is grown in between the rocks.

A tall tree grew to the side back and five pecan trees were grouped in the back and side so that they will give a frame and background.

for the cottage. One tree was placed for the front so it will give shade for the front door which faces the west. Low growing evergreen shrubs were used across the front of the cottage. To add height taller broad leaf evergreens were used at the corners. In order to give some color a few flowering shrubs were included.

The entire rear of the house is a straight line that presents a rather awkward and monotonous appearance. Broad leaf shrubs and ever greens were planted to break the wall line, to add interest in color flowering shrubs were chosen. All shrubs were planted in groups rather than in straight rows since they make a more natural appearance. In the back between the kitchen and garage a little rose garden was planted and it can be enjoyed from any rear opening of the cottage.

I want to thank Mr. Tom Johnston and the County Council for my most enjoyable trip.

SAFEGUARDING THE INVESTOR

Government regulation of stock sales in the United States is said to have driven many high-pressure sales men of "phony" stocks out of the country. Such "Salesmen" too often specialized in mining shares.

Before the days of the blue-sky laws, mining securities were regarded with suspicion, the best and most honestly operated properties often had difficulty in raising capital because of the machinations of unscrupulous and crooked promoters. The few damaged the many—and everyone involved, save the crook was the loser.

Of the myriad new federal laws and restrictions, security regulations seems to be one of the few that is of real benefit to the people. The investor has assurance that securities offered him are based on legitimate business activities and that the prospectus tells the truth. If an issue is speculative, it must be so labeled, which is certainly fair enough. Both those who wish to gamble, and those who wish to invest conservatively, can make an intelligent choice of issues.

Place any man behind a governmental desk and give him a few million dollars of government money to spend and he is likely to develop the fixation that any one who does not approve of the way he does his job is a public enemy." Tyler Dennett, President, Williams College.

CONTROL OF CREDIT A BASIC QUESTION

Economist Describes Conflict Between Opposing Social View-points on Government Bank.

Agitation for government banking is a phase of the conflict between our present "personal competitive enterprise system" in America and the "compulsory state collective security system" of several European States, Virgil Jordan, President National Industrial Conference Board, says in an article in a recent issue of "Banking" published by the American Bankers Association.

"They involve irreconcilable principles of human conduct and philosophy of life and the conflict between them is the key to the economic, social and political struggles of today," Mr. Jordan says.

The enterprise system of which "the development of the United States has been the unparalleled example, depends for its motive power of progress upon the inexhaustible reservoir of energy in individual desire for personal advancement in prosperity, but it guarantees nothing to the individual save freedom of opportunity," the article says in part.

The collectivist security system, he says, "places all emphasis upon the maintenance of a minimum standard of living for the mass without regard to the creative power of the individual. Quite simply the security system involves the modern form of the philosophy of the slave society." He continues:

A Sign of the Times

"The many-sided movement toward governmental banking, deposit insurance and currency management is the most direct and decisive expression of the universal instinctive search for security which is the sign of the times. In America our so-called social security legislation is an important indication of the drift away from the enterprise system toward a collectivist security system with concentration of authority in a central Federal government.

"The nationalization of credit is crucial and indispensable for complete state control of the complex industrial and business structure of this country. The drive toward government banking and monetary control is most determined because the relation of the state to credit goes to the root of the enterprise system. A collective security system is inconceivable without nationalization of credit. An enterprise system is inconceivable with it."

Under a collective security system, based on government banking the controls "lie solely in the hands of a few persons and depend upon their judgment, will or caprice," Mr. Jordan says adding that it is they who must determine "upon the basis of some predetermined plan or upon pure political expediency of the moment, what lines of industry and even what individual enterprises shall have access to the credit reservoir." The state, he says, has the power of life and death over all enterprise that utilizes credit.

"Every government is an organ of party power and must respond to the will of the party that put it in power," the Jordan article says. "Under unchecked government operation it is an inescapable tendency of every currency to depreciate and for credit to expand. However much it may be in the interest of the nation, deflation is too dangerous politically for any government to undertake it deliberately.

"In the end government banking and currency management resolve themselves simply into the use of credit as a political instrument of power, and this instrument tends to be used in the long run for expropriation of the savings of the community."

THE FARM BUDGET

By DAN H. OTIS.

Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

Inventories aid in the formation of a farm budget. Some banks, as well as the Farm Credit Administration, recommend outlining in advance the method of using production loans. Under this plan provision is made for monthly expenditures and funds are granted to the borrower in accordance with the budget plan.

D. H. OTIS

The budget helps to show how loans can be repaid. With the accumulated data from previous inventories and budgets, budget making becomes easier and more accurate and valuable. As one branch of the farming plant requires more expenditure, such as for new machinery, fencing, livestock, etc., it may be necessary to limit other branches in order to meet these pressing requirements.

The budget helps to formulate a financial program. It is of special importance in arranging to meet special or large expenditures. If the income and expenditures are carefully budgeted it prevents the spending of money needed for interest and taxes before the time of their payment arrives. It helps to provide a reserve.

The Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association feels that this type of work is so important that special emphasis has been placed upon the field of farm inventories, budgets and credit statements as one of its national projects for farm aid.

Patent Applied For

To walk with or against traffic, that seems to be a moot question. If paths or sidewalks were placed along main highways, pedestrians would not be required to walk in the highway, where many are at the mercy of drivers.

But as long as such paths or sidewalks are not provided for the safety of pedestrians, it might be a sensible thing for pedestrians to think about the advantages of walking on the left side of the road, facing traffic.

When pedestrians walk on the right side of the road they are somewhat in the position of the person pictured above, equipped with a periscope to see what is coming from behind. Although not as many pedestrians are hit while walking on highways as under some other circumstances, the death rate is very high. Out of a total of 13,220 pedestrians hit while walking on the highway in 1934, there were 2,690 who were killed, according to figures computed by the Travelers Insurance Company. While the number of pedestrians struck amounted to only 4.6 per cent of all pedestrians involved in accidents, the number killed while walking on roadways was nearly 17 per cent of all pedestrian deaths.

Experience shows that there is no easier way to get one's name in the newspaper than by using the streets and the highways in a careless manner.

Subscription Campaign to Start September Second

Jayton School To Start With Greatest Enrollment In Its History

IN PUBLIC SCHOOL TO EN WITH 340 ENROLLED

An interview with Supt. G. Gray of the Jayton Schools indicated that there will be approximately 340 pupils enrolled in the schools this year.

There are 309 scholastics consolidated district 14 over the school year. Negro students that attend the Jayton schools colored.

Teachers this year will be Mrs. Supt. W. L. Coons, Blanch, Louise Rutherford, Marjorie Williams, Blanche Zeman, Maudie, Mrs. Check Jay, Mable, Opal Loise Creighton, and Morris Murphy.

As well as the faculty and students are expecting the Jayton Schools to make this year in putting over the school program ever at in Jayton.

A number of improvements in the school building proper, modern and practical athletic facilities will have one of the best in the history of Jayton Schools have the students presented with the opportunities that are now at their disposal.

We urge them to take advantage of the opportunities before them and show the patrons and parents that they appreciate the things the faculty and board have done to make the most of the opportunities possible.

Registration started Thursday and continues until today (Friday) at the school registering office and the grammar grades beginning today.

Being talked around that celebration and dedication of the new gym is going on. Let's do something and see if we can't get this celebration started.

Following is a list of Grand Jurors drawn by the Jury Commission to serve the September term of District Court beginning September 9, 1935.

Coddell, Clairemont, Texas. Nance, Girard, Texas. Gilbert, Clairemont, Texas. Parks, Girard, Texas. Buckalew, Girard, Texas. Davis, Jayton, Texas. Phipps, Girard, Texas. Wood, Spur, Texas. English, Jayton, Texas. Harrison, Jayton, Texas. Young, Girard, Texas. Head, Girard, Texas. Hall, Jayton, Texas. Cooper, Girard, Texas. Brown, Jayton, Texas. Carriger, Clairemont, Texas.

WAR CERTAIN
A few months ago it looked as if there might be an Italian-Ethiopian war. Now it looks as if there must be. Pressure and argument by the other great powers has not changed Mussolini's determination that she will fight for her independence until her last man has met death on the battlefield.

Italy wants Ethiopia for one simple reason — natural resources. Today, Italy is dependent on foreign supplies of raw cotton, oil, coal, iron, copper. Lack of these national essentials — which Ethiopia is supposed to possess — is hampering Italy badly.

It's the old case of a big nation going after a small one when the latter has something it can use.

Miss Lucille Daniels entertained a group of her friends in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Daniels, last Wednesday evening.

Miss Opal Creighton, second grade teacher in the local schools arrived in our city Thursday morning to be here on time for the opening of school Monday morning.

James McCormick and wife were Spur visitors Wednesday night.

R. E. and Erman Willis who have been visiting the home of their Uncle, L. F. Wade, returned to their home in Mulshoe, last Saturday.

Has it been hot this week? Yes, pretty warm, thank you.

Uncle Sam McCombs was over from Luzon this week. He tells us that Guy Brown is making application to the Government for the establishment of a G. C. C. camp on his place to clear out the sun flowers in his corn field so Guy can gather his corn. It is a great idea and we hope he gets the camp established.

Milton Ramsey left Wednesday for Clayton, New Mexico where he will again teach school this winter.

Mrs. Earl Draper of Falls was in Jayton last Sunday visiting with her children Elsmoth and Vivian Dye.

First Bales of Cotton Ginned, Sold

JAYTON'S FIRST AND SECOND BALE ARRIVE

Mrs. T. F. Dixon of the Luzon community brought into Jayton the first bale of cotton for this year, just about an hour later Narcisses Colese brought in a bale from the Dr. McLauri farm west of Jayton about ten miles. The Farmers gin handled the first bale and the William and Miller gin the second one. We understand that they both sold for twelve cents per pound and the first one brought down a premium of $50, contributed by the business men of the town.

And this is the beginning of the cotton season for Jayton and Kent county. Jayton is hoping for as many as 6,000 bales this year. Last year's receipts were only about 1,000 bales. The Federal Government has placed a loan value of 10 cents per pound on cotton and to farmers who have cooperated with the Government on the reduction campaign will receive a bonus of 2 cents a pound. This makes the cotton of these farmers sure to bring them 12 cents per pound.

This is much better than it was under the late Hoover Administration when cotton sold in Jayton for 4 1/2 and 5 cents per pound, which was much less than the cost of production.

Pill Rollers Lead City Softball League

Wednesday afternoon the Pill Rollers pounded out ten runs to defeat the Prune Diggers by a score of 10 to 0. This game was the first shut-out of the league and everyone enjoyed the game especially the Pill Rollers. This game put the Pills in the lead by a one game margin. The Pill Rollers only allowed the Prune Diggers 3 hits while they chalked up 13 for themselves. The Pills made 2 errors to the Diggers 5.

Judge Grissom Visits In Kent County

Judge Clyde Grissom of the Court of Civil Appeals, with headquarters at Eastland, visited with old Kent county friends this week. Judge Grissom is near and dear to the hearts of the people of this county, having served as District Attorney and District Judge in the county for several years. He is one man who has the respect and esteem of every citizen in the county and as he goes up the judicial ladder in Texas he has the good wishes of us all.

The Judge was looking extra well. He told us that he enjoyed his work, bit took advantage of the first opportunity that was his, to visit his friends in Kent County and thank as many of them as possible for the many favors they had shown him in the years gone by. He said he wanted to go to Clinton to look the old court house over and meet the county officials who had worked with him. He spoke highly of Judge Ratliff who was appointed to fill his place on the bench in this district.

Sport Fans Follow The American Boy

Boys and young men of this city who wish to improve their tennis service, their basket-shooting eyes, their forward passing talent, or their crawl stroke can enlist the aid of the nation's foremost coaches and players by subscribing to the American Boy magazine and following the sports interviews and fiction stories that appear each month.

When I was in high school," says a famous decathlon champion, "I read a track article in The American Boy that gave me my first clear-cut idea of the western style of high jumping. At practice I laid the open magazine on the grass and studied it as I worked out. That afternoon I increased the height of my jump three inches."

That was a long time ago, but today thousands of future champions just as eagerly follow The American Boy.

"This year," states Griffith O'Gden Ellis, sports editor "our staff football teams of the country—Ministers have gone to the two greatest mesota and Pittsburgh—for first-hand tips on strategy, blocking, tackling, passing and the fine points of play. They have interviewed Jack Medina the world's fastest swimmer, and his coach, Ray Daughters. Gone to Eastern High school of Washington, D. C., Eastern interscholastic basketball champions. In the past they have followed the Grapefruit Circuit of the major leagues in Florida, sat on the bench at Rose Bowl, sought out the famous runners, divers, All-American tackles ends and backfield men, to bring their story of how to play the game to the young men of America.

"In addition to our fiction, adventure, exploration, hobby counsel, and vocational help, we shall continue to encourage young men to improve their game in every line of sport."

Send your subscription to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. Enclose with your name and address $1 for a year's subscription, $2 for three years, and add 50 cents a year if you want the subscription to go to a foreign address. On newsstands, 10c a copy.

Hiram Arms, of Slaton Texas was a business visitor in Jayton Monday. He tells us that crop prospects with him are no better there this year than they were last year—too dry.

The first bales of cotton ginned in Jayton this year weighed 470, the second even 400, the third 400.

Mrs. Earl Draper of Falls was in Jayton last Sunday visiting with her children Elsmoth and Vivian Dye.

Local Farmers Hear Interesting Talks

An interested group of farmers, August 21, heard Martin McCain Secretary-Treasurer of the Stamford Production Credit Association explain the many advantages of the type of financing offered by production credit. The meeting, which was held at Jayton, was for the purpose of acquainting farmers of this territory with details concerning loans by Production Credit Association. Some of those who attended now have Production Credit loans and, therefore, have a voice in the actual operation of the association.

As explained by Mr. McCain, Production Credit Associations are cooperative organizations, whose membership is made up entirely of farmers and ranchmen and whose operation are designed to meet the credit needs of these members, economically, and adequately. He stated that the success of the association depends largely upon the amount of interest which the membership takes in its progress.

Mr. Thos. Fowler, local representative, who takes applications for Production Credit Loans at Jayton, was in attendance at the meeting as were Mr. O. C. Lowrance, inspector and J. F. McCulloch, director of the Stamford Credit Association.

Mr. Edward P. Onstot, Field Representative of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston was also present and gave an interesting discussion on the organization, set up and accomplishments and services of Production Credit Associations.

Weather Change

Thursday morning quite a change in the weather took place in this part of Texas. For several days it has been not only hot but very sultry. Even the nights were very unpleasant. But Thursday before day light it turned cool and the considerable cover hunting took place. Folks sleeping out of doors moved into the house and a little after sun-up it began gently raining. We hope it continues to rain as it is now, until we have a good season that will mature all crops and make the sowing of winter pasture grains possible.

Kent County Singing Convention at Girard

The Kent County Singing Convention meets at Girard next Sunday, September 1st. Beginning at 1:30 o'clock. Everyone is invited, come and bring your song books.

R. E. Beaver

Joe Earnest has accepted the job of managing the Clairemont gin this season and he tells us that he expects to gin around 1500 bales of cotton there.

Girard got a good local shower Monday afternoon. Probably an inch to an inch and a half. Two houses were damaged considerably by a high wind however, no one was seriously hurt. Jayton did not so much as get a sprinkle.

Mrs. Annie E. Moreland has returned from her vacation after making a tour of 14 states. She visited in the Capitol at Washington D. C. and many other places of interest. Mrs. Moreland also visited her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Becker in Philadelphia and from there she went to New York City to Niagara Falls on to the Canadian side. Returning by way of Detroit where they visited the Ford Automobile plant and from there they motored on to Chicago from there her party journeyed on to their home in Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Moreland returned home on the Bus. She says that the crops are good all the way to Canada. Her favorite places were Canada and Iowa. Of all the states Oklahoma and Texas were the driest.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE SET SEPT. 16

Austin, Aug. 28 —Governor Allred definitely decided today to recall the Legislature for a special session Sept. 16 to consider liquor regulations and possibly other laws.

Who he was hopeful legislation could be completed in 30 days, the belief was held in other quarters that because of the controversial matters with which it would deal, a 60 day day session would be necessary.

Governor Allred said the first subject submitted would be liquor regulations and that his proclamation, expected tomorrow, would probably contain a clause under which other subjects might be submitted from time to time.

It was expected the latter subjects would include old age pensions and placing local officers on a salary basis both of which, with repeal of state wide prohibition, were authorized at the election Saturday.

The Governor said he delayed the session to give members time to study the problems with which they would be confronted. He said members with whom he conferred suggested they be given opportunity to study proposed bills and ascertain measures taken in other states on liquor regulation and old age pensions.

Governor Allred said demand for an immediate session arose from fears confusion would follow the repeal vote.

"There is no need for confusion on this subject," he said, explaining the Attorney General had ruled the Dean law, prohibition enforcement statute would continue in effect in counties dry by local option.

"If there had been any doubt, I would call the session sooner, but some mistakes have been made in the past by calling the Legislature too quickly and I want to avoid them this time," he commented.

The Governor has asked the State Auditor to study the old age pension problem and gather data for legislative information.

"In making up my mind on Sept. 16, I have not only talked with members of the Legislature, but particularly with Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul, Speaker Coke Stevenson and representative R. Emmett Morse, leader of the repeal movement," the Governor said. "All three of them agree with me that it probably would be best to call the session Sept. 16."

Mrs. J. M. Kelley was carried to the Stamford Sanatorium the first of this week where she underwent a major operation, and the last report we had she was doing nicely. Mrs. Kelley has been in poor health for several years and it is hoped that she will now regain her health and once again be able to enjoy life.

J. T. Lyles formerly in business at Jayton but now making his home in Dallas was seeing Jayton friends here Tuesday and Wednesday.

The third bale of cotton came on the market Tuesday. It was grown by J. C. Jones on his farm just West of Jayton, was ginned by the Swift Gin and sold for 12 cents the pound. This makes the third bale of the season and each gin has received their first bale.

Dwight Worthen is here from Levelland visiting his brother, Claude.

Rodo Worthen was here for a short time Wednesday seeing relatives and friends.

Mrs. W. F. Gilbert and sons, Joe and Wade visited in Carbon, Texas last week end.

J. W. Sewalt returned Monday from his vacation.

Don't fight the same enemy too often. He may learn your art of war.

If you are leading a "dog's life" be sure it is the life of a St. Bernard—those splendid watchers of the alps.

Because some spiritual interlocutor proposes to go your celestial bail is no sign your crime is forgiven, or that the world will ever forget your meanness.

In this great land of ours, every American's wife is his queen, his sisters are his princesses and his friends are his faithful subjects. When our home and community life are lost to this splendid ideal our country is headed for the rocks.

In a recent reading of some natural history we noticed that when a baboon gets either too old or too helpless to help himself, the rest of the tribe utterly forsake him and leave him to die alone. The discovery of that trait set our thoughts a-going. The way some deluded souls do leads us to think that Darwin was not far wrong when he said he had an inkling of ancestral apes and monkeys.

It is said that the world's great violin makers would break and mend, and crash and rebuild again. Somehow they thought it gave the violin a wider range. Oh, yes! There are nights when the stars refuse to shine. There are hours when the poor heart is left all bleeding and torn. Who knows? It may be that we must be shattered. The skillful hand that broke the instrument can rebuild it. He dreams of a way that shall bring out of life its sweetest harmonies, its softest melodies. Who knows?

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Statistics indicate that both the current business situation and the business outlook are improving. Many important industries are doing better now than since 1930 — some are actually running ahead of their 1929 experience.

A much asked question is: "To what extent are government policies responsible for the improvement?" A few think that if congress took a swing to the right, the course of recovery would be immeasurably accelerated. That is a matter of opinion — and, in the light of recent Presidential statements, there seems little chance that the administration will go conservative. Here are some business briefs of interest:

RETAIL TRADE: Well above last year, with chain systems having a particularly favorable experience. (Sales for J. C. Penny dry-goods chain recently broke all records for first-half-year sales.) National Retail Dry Goods Association forecasts that the fall season will bring a 10 to 15 per cent additional increase.

CONSTRUCTION: Substantially above last year. Residential awards in a recent month were 143 per cent over the same month in 1934. General Motors has announced that it will spend $50,000,000 for new plant capacity — this represents the largest sum any corporation has decided to spend for building in a long time. For the first seven months of this year, industrial contracts totaled $99,000,000 — within a few millions of the total for the entire year of 1934.

FARM EQUIPMENT: Belief is that 1935 will be the best year for this industry since 1930. Farmers are buying again because their existing equipment is inefficient or worn-out, and they want to replace it. Most farm equipment manufacturers have taken heavy operation losses in recent years — now they are again in the market.

AGRICULTURE: It is the forecast that total farm income for 1935 will be more than $1,000,000,000 over 1934 — which exceeded 1932 by $1, News Service, expert fact-finding and forecasting organization, says there that. At Chicago, incoming hog shipments recently touched an all-time low, while prices reached the highest level since 1929.

ELECTRICAL POWER: Dow Jones News Service, expert fact-finding and forecasting organization, says there is considerable indication that power production in the third quarter will establish a new record for any comparable period in the industry's history. However, this experience may not be duplicated in earnings — rate-

cuts in many localities have resulted in less. The fear of new tax and in the industry selling more, but punitive legislation discourages normal progress in the electric industry. AIRCRAFT: Big manufacturers are doing better. The Army and Navy are both carrying on aggressive air-defense programs and manufacturers naturally benefit.

STEEL: Operations are stable, with price firm. Machine and machine-tool makers are especially heavy buyers of the basic metal.

LUMBER: Production has spurted. This is partly due to the temporary settlement of labor troubles — and partly due to the fact that lumbermen are producing heavily now in anticipation of additional Pacific Coast labor difficulties this fall.

ELECTRICAL MANUFACTURERS: Seventy eight makers of storage batteries, household power devices, industrial equipment, etc., reported 10.5 per cent more business in the second quarter of 1935 than in the first. Demand is still gaining in most parts of the country.

While the foregoing are facts, they should not be taken that all is clear sailing for industry. Much remains to be done, and constant fear of governmental interference, at expense of recovery, is prevalent. The new tax bill, for example, seems destined to be a seriously dampening influence on industry. On the other hand, adjournment of Congress, which may be effected by the time this is read, will be a relief to business.

CAR NUMBER "20"

According to an advertisement of a large life insurance company, the driver of every 20th car is a reckless, careless driver and will take the life of some man, woman or child before the year is over, if the accident experiences of 1935 duplicate that of 1934. And statistics for the first six months of the year indicate that little if any progress has been made in curbing the dangerous driver.

Every driver should decide for himself whether he wants to be at the wheel of "car number 20". The decision is really within his power. He can drive carefully, in accordance with the laws and use good judgement, he can keep his speed to reasonable levels, maintain his car in first class mechanical condition so far as safety devices are concerned, and work on the basis that it is better to give up his right-of-way than risk a trip in an ambulance or he can take chances, he can regard crowded streets and highways as playgrounds, where his reckless adventurous instincts may be indulged to the full without regard for others or for himself.

The laws of chance are immutable and every motorist who is deliberately careless, can be certain that he will eventually become a cropper. He may get away with his reckless acts a thousand times, the thousand and first time he may pay the price. Gambles with death always lose, the dice are loaded before you start the game.

One car in twenty will be the cause of someone's death or maiming this year. Are you going to be the 20th driver?

GET BUSY

While it is expected that the building of lateral roads will provide the major portion of the work necessary to the employment of the 6,000 or more employables in the counties comprising District No. 13 of the Works Progress Administration, it is by no means the only method, through which towns, counties and school districts may receive lasting benefits, according to W. P. A. Director, W. S. James, of the Abilene office.

As an example, Mr. James calls attention to the fact that all school grounds, both rural and urban, are afforded an opportunity to beautify their grounds by the building of retaining walls, sodding, laying out gravel walks, drives and play grounds planting shrubbery. School houses, out-houses and garages may be repainted, repaired or built, provided the sponsors or patrons will supply a portion of the needed materials. The abundant supply of native building stone and road material throughout the District makes the employment of a great number of unskilled laborers in quarrying, loading and handling such material for these projects. This section has never, and will probably never have another such opportunity to bring rural school and school grounds up to the standard of the older states, says Mr. James.

School boards, trustees, civic organizations and women's clubs are urged to make surveys of their needs and co-operate with sponsoring bodies in filling their projects as quickly as possible on this type of work.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

The Kent County Cotton Board met Thursday and approved all cotton compliance papers. Members being present were J. M. Johnson, J. A. Parks, E. L. Peterson, and J. T. Bonds. Mr. J. P. Stewart and H. L. Underwood also helped with the transacting of community compliance business.

Notice will be mailed out from the County Agents Office, some time next week in regard to the issuing of Bankhead certificates, each producer will receive notice and if you will present this card at the office when calling for your certificate it will expedite matters greatly.

Now is the time to hand select all grain, sorghum, heads that are to be used next Spring for planting. This is one overlooked step that when carefully followed will help increase the yield per acre.

At this season of the year you will note that all the leaves on grape vines are dead and covered with a brown looking rust, this is a black spot a fungus disease which can be controlled by spraying with a bordeaux mixture. For best results grapes, roses and grapermyrtles should be sprayed with a mixture of this kind while the plant is dormant, however an application now would do no harm. The above mentioned disease also applies to most of the hardy climbing vines.

Next year will be Centennial year for Texas and Kent County should be represented at this celebration and the only way a credible show for this County could be arranged is for every farmer to start right now in selecting his best ears of corn, best heads of grain and vegetables. All products like corn and grains must be stored away in the dry and safe from rats and mice. As to fruits and small vegetables, select the finest specimens as to form and size. Handle carefully and place in a bottle, arranging them so as to show best. Fill each bottle to the neck with fruit, then pour on the liquid recommended, filling the bottle within 1-2 inch of the stopper, so as to entirely cover the fruit. Then place the stopper in the bottle and run a little melted beeswax or paraffin over the joint to make it air tight. The following preservations are used by the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

1. Boric Acid, 1 lb; water, 45 lbs. Dissolve by agitation, and then add 5 pints of alcohol. If the fluid is not clear, allow to stand and settle, when the clear upper portion may be poured off and the remainder filtered.

2. Sulphurous acid, 1 pint; water, 8 pints; Alcohol 1 pint. Allow the mixture to stand and should there be sediment, pour off the clear liquor and filter the remainder.

THE TRIP I MADE TO COLLEGE STATION

My trip to short course was the most profitable trip I could ever hope to make. I saw so many interesting things, but of all the interesting things that I saw, the thing that attracted me most was a modern rural home, called the Key Cottage.

The house is Colonial in architecture and distinctive in appearance. It is a six room cottage, conveniently and economically planned to meet the needs of an average size family.

The living room furniture was made of simple lines with substantial upholstery in harmonizing and contrasting colors.

The bedrooms were furnished primarily as places for rest and for sleep, mattresses old pillows, and a comfortable chair or two were selected for each room. The dining room was furnished complete with home-made furniture. The kitchen had electric equipment of every kind and was conveniently arranged. The floor was a type that is easily mopped the walls of the kitchen and bath room were steam resistant and were washable. In the kitchen, bath room, office back bed room and hall a good linoleum was used.

The walks and drive were planned to harmonize with the building. A gravel drive was laid directly into the garage which was built facing the side street. Both the front and back walks are made of stones. The back one is of native rock, the front one of broken concrete. Grass is grown in between the rocks.

A tall tree grew to the side back and five pecan trees were grouped in the back and side so that they will give a frame and background for the cottage. One tree was placed to the front so it will give shade for the front door which faces the west. Low growing evergreen shrubs were used across the front of the cottage. To add height taller broad leaf evergreens were used at the corners. In order to give some color a few flowering shrubs were included.

The entire rear of the house is a straight line that presents a rather awkward and monotonous appearance. Broad leaf shrubs and ever greens were planted to break the wall line. To add interest in color flowering shrubs were chosen. All shrubs were planted in groups rather than in straight rows since they make a more natural appearance. In the back between the kitchen and garage a little rose garden was planted and it can be enjoyed from any rear opening of the cottage.

I want to thank Mr. Tom Johnston and the County Council for my most enjoyable trip.

SAFEGUARDING THE INVESTOR

Government regulation of stock sales in the United States is said to have driven many high-pressure sales men of "phony" stocks out of the country. Such "Salesmen" too often specialized in mining shares.

Before the days of the blue-sky laws, mining securities were regarded with suspicion, the best and most honestly operated properties often had difficulty in raising capital because of the machinations of unscrupulous and crooked promoters. The few damaged the many—and everyone involved, save the crook was the loser.

Of the myriad new federal laws and restrictions, security regulations seems to be one of the few that is of real benefit to the people. The investor has assurance that securities offered him are based on legitimate business activities and that the prospectus tells the truth. If an issue is speculative, it must be so labeled, which is certainly fair enough. Both those who wish to gamble, and those who wish to invest conservatively, can make an intelligent choice of issues.

Place any man behind a governmental desk and give him a few million dollars of government money to spend and he is likely to develop the fixation that any one who does not approve of the way he does his job is a public enemy." Tyler Dennett, President, Williams College.

CARD OF THANKS

To our friends and neighbors who were so faithful and kind to us during the illness and death of our dear mother. We cannot find words to express our love and gratitude for the loving deeds, consoling words, and beautiful floral offerings, and especially de we want to thank the dear loving hands that prepared and brought lunch Monday. May God's richest blessings be upon every one of you is our prayer.

CONTROL OF CREDIT
A BASIC QUESTION

Economist Describes Conflict Between Opposing Social View-points on Government Bank.

Agitation for government banking is a phase of the conflict between our present "personal competitive enterprise system" in America and the "compulsory state collective security system" of several European States, Virgil Jordan, President National Industrial Conference Board, says in an article in a recent issue of "Banking" published by the American Bankers Association.

"They involve irreconcilable principles of human conduct and philosophy of life and the conflict between them is the key to the economic, social and political struggles of today," Mr. Jordan says.

The enterprise system of which "the development of the United States has been the unparalleled example, depends for its motive power of progress upon the inexhaustible reservoir of energy in individual desire for personal advancement in prosperity, but it guarantees nothing to the individual save freedom of opportunity," the article says in part.

The collectivist security system, he says, "places all emphasis upon the maintenance of a minimum standard of living for the mass without regard to the creative power of the individual. Quite simply the security system involves the modern form of the philosophy of the slave society." He continues:

A Sign of the Times

"The many-sided movement toward governmental banking, deposit insurance and currency management is the most direct and decisive expression of the universal instinctive search for security which is the sign of the times. In America our so-called social security legislation is an important indication of the drift away from the enterprise system toward a collectivist security system with concentration of authority in a central Federal government.

"The nationalization of credit is crucial and indispensable for complete state control of the complex industrial and business structure of this country. The drive toward government banking and monetary control is most determined because the relation of the state to credit goes to the root of the enterprise system. A collective security system is inconceivable without nationalization of credit. An enterprise system is inconceivable without nationalization of credit."

Under a collective security system, based on government banking the controls "lie solely in the hands of a few persons and depend upon their judgment, will or caprice," Mr. Jordan says, adding that it is they who must determine "upon the basis of some predetermined plan or upon pure political expediency of the moment, what lines of industry and even what individual enterprises shall have access to the credit reservoir." The state, he says, has the power of life and death over all enterprise that utilizes credit.

"Every government is an organ of party power and must respond to the will of the party that put it in power," the Jordan article says. "Under unchecked government operation it is an inescapable tendency of every currency to depreciate and for credit to expand. However much it may be in the interest of the nation, deflation is too dangerous politically for any government to undertake it deliberately.

"In the end government banking and currency management resolve themselves simply into the use of credit as a political instrument of power, and this instrument tends to be used in the long run for expropriation of the savings of the community."

THE FARM BUDGET

By DAN H. OTIS, Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

Inventories aid in the formation of a farm budget. Some banks, as well as the Farm Credit Administration, recommend outlining in advance the method of using production loans. Under this plan provision is made for monthly expenditures and funds are granted to the borrower in accordance with the budget plan. The budget helps to show how loans can be repaid.

With the accumulated data from previous inventories and budgets, budget making becomes easier and more accurate and valuable. As one branch of the farming plant requires more expenditure, such as for new machinery, fencing, livestock, etc., it may be necessary to limit other branches in order to meet these pressing requirements.

The budget helps to formulate a financial program. It is of special importance in arranging to meet special or large expenditures. If the income and expenditures are carefully budgeted it prevents the spending of money needed for interest and taxes before the time of their payment arrives. It helps to provide a reserve.

The Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association feels that this type of work is so important that special emphasis has been placed upon the field of farm inventories, budgets and credit statements as one of its national projects for farm aid.

Patent Applied For

To walk with or against traffic, that seems to be a moot question. If paths or sidewalks were placed along main highways, pedestrians would not be required to walk in the highway, where many are at the mercy of drivers.

But as long as such paths or sidewalks are not provided for the safety of pedestrians, it might be a sensible thing for pedestrians to think about the advantages of walking on the left side of the road, facing traffic.

When pedestrians walk on the right side of the road they are somewhat in the position of the person pictured above, equipped with a periscope to see what is coming from behind. Although not as many pedestrians are hit while walking on highways as under some other circumstances, the death rate is very high. Out of a total of 13,220 pedestrians hit while walking on the highway in 1934, there were 2,690 who were killed, according to figures computed by the Travelers Insurance Company. While the number of pedestrians struck amounted to only 4.6 per cent of all pedestrians involved in accidents, the number killed while walking on roadways was nearly 17 per cent of all pedestrian deaths.

Experience shows that there is no easier way to get one's name in the newspaper than by using the streets and the highways in a careless manner.
