Those attending the meeting were: Lanier Foster, Jarri Parker, Joe Gilmore, Joe Seaton, William D. and Ethel Hall, Jo Kelly Shirley Swearingen, Herman Dunham, John H. Mayer, Gus Fincher, and Joy Kidd.

County Acclaimed For High Voter Registration

Kent County with a voter registration of 144% over the previous year, has been highly acclaimed by the Democratic Executive Committee, states M. V. Jay, County Chairman.

A gold and silver bronze plaque has been awarded the county, Jay said. This is one of the highest in the state, he said.

April Draft Call Asks For 940 Men

The April draft call for Texas is 940, and no man will be selected and ordered for induction with a random sequence number higher than 115, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Wednesday.

This April quota is down from 1,064 in March, which is being filled with men having random sequence numbers no higher than 90.

Its Your Community How Do You Want It? Dead or Alive?

AN EDITORIAL

Not long ago, I was travelling down the road, and my path took me within a few miles of a little community where I once lived when I was in Junior High School. I was not in too big a hurry, so I pulled off the pavement, and drove down to this little community. And did I get a big surprise.

At the time I lived there, there were two stores a lodge, a station, two churches, and a depot as well as a number of houses. How much of all of this do you suppose was still left? Not a single thing, and I mean just that. All I could see was a field. The whole thing was gone, even the rails had been taken up, where the track and the trains had run. Can you imagine how I felt? I had to even look carefully to decide where the old store and the post office had once stood.

This gives one a terribly sad feeling. I just can't get over the entire community having been torn down. I drove a mile and a half down the road where the old house, with the big fire place was in which our family lived, and there too, I just had to try to imagine where the old house had stood.

Now, how do you suppose you would feel, if you got up some morning, and drove down to the downtown area of Jayton, and there was not a things but an open pasture? No grocery store, no dry goods stores, no filling stations, no court house---nothing at all---except emptiness? What would you think?

Well, this you may see, sooner than you even think, unless you do something to help prevent it. Everytime you go out of town to buy something you can get from a Jayton store, you are casting a vote to close up the local store. And these votes count up faster than you may think, too.

Perhaps there is not a store in town, but what at one time or another in recent years has not wondered as it counted up the expenses, whether or not it could remain solvent, and pay the bills, and continue to operate. And this definitely includes the Jayton Chronicle. Many weeks, our expenses are larger than the receipts and we are made to wonder, if there may not be a Friday morning soon that you will go to the Postoffice and find, rather than a paper, a notice saying "Sorry, we had to close down---not enough business to keep going."

Or, are we mistaken? Do you really care if Jayton continues as a community or not? Are the people of the community really interested in the grocery store, the hardware store, the lumber yard, the car dealers, the cafes, the filling stations, the feed store, the bank, the flower shops, the beauty shops, the drug store, and yes, even the school and the court house, staying here and open for your convenience?

The people in the community are the community and only they can make it a better community. You can do something to make Jayton a better community, but you can't do it, giving out of town businesses preference over the home town merchants. Think about it!

School Board Gives Teachers New Contracts

At the last meeting of the Jayton School Board, the contracts of all teachers were extended another year, according to the minutes, except that of Mrs. Elwanda Hahn. Her contract will be considered at a later meeting, it was said.

In other action, a board of equalization was appointed composed of Robert Hall, Robert Harrison and Woodrow Where Is It?

Here is a picture of a Kent County abandoned farm house, near a well traveled road? Do you know it? Or where it is? If so call 237-3593 after 9 a. m. on Friday and be the first to identify it for a years reading to the Chronicle. Last week Mrs. Buck Thompson correctly identified the windmill on the Fincher farm north west of Girard. The old house, in the paper two weeks ago has not been identified yet? Do you know about it? If so, give us a call.

Big Outsider Basketball Tournament Coming To Jayton This Weekend

An outsider basketball tournament will be unreeled in Jaybird Gym this weekend. All proceeds will go to the senior class, states Marvin Gene Hall. A number of good teams have signed up to play in the tournament, with two local teams.

There will be four games each night of the 31st, April 2nd and 3rd, he said.

Admission will be 75¢ and 25¢. Don't miss it.

Fire Badly Damages Goodall Ford House

The Goodall Ford Sales Building caught fire Saturday night about 11:25 p. m. When the fire trucks arrived a show window was broken and smoke came out very heavily.

It is reported the first started in the ceiling. This made it hard for the firemen to place the water at the direct fire.

A hole was chopped in the roof to place the water at the right place.

The new cars on the display floor were removed. Two cars received extensive damage and the other cars with only smoke damage to them. The contents of the front of the building and auto parts had smoke and water damage badly with the back of the building only smoke damaged.

Know Your Faculty

By Jayton High School Journalism Department

"I am in the teaching profession because I feel that is the best occupation a woman can have. Teaching is also a family tradition. Grandfather, mother, and several aunts have been teachers", said Mrs. Nina Fincher, Jayton's third-grade teacher. Mrs. Fincher, a 1961 graduate of Howard Payne College, has a Bachelor of Science Degree. Before attending Howard Payne College, she graduated from high school in Huntsville, and attended Odessa Junior College.

While in high school, Mrs. Fincher was a member of the F. T. A., and she was the student librarian. She worked as switch-board operator and as secretary to the coaches while attending Howard Payne College.

Mother of David, 13, Mark, 12, and Wes, 5, and wife of Gus, who raises horses, Mrs. Nina Fincher has only one brother, a pilot for American Airlines. Her mother lives in Talpa.

Nina and her family are members of the Baptist Church, where she also helps teach a Sunday School Class. Mrs. Fincher states that she likes to spend her spare time reading, and she enjoys cooking.

Let's all extend a warm hand of friendship to welcome Mrs. Nina Fincher back for her ninth year at Jayton High.

LETTERS to EDITOR

We are now approaching the Easter season, commemorated by all Christians, as the time of the resurrection of our Lord. Tradition and what limited history we have place the event at this time, but shortly before the resurrection was the crucifixion, the greatest tragedy of all times.

On the tenth day of June, 1956 it was my privilege with my children to see the great painting of the crucifixion at Glendale, Calif. This giant painting measures 45 x 195 feet in size. It is the work of a great Polish artist who spent seven years at the task. It was finished at the time that the Legions of Hitler were seeking the conquest of Europe. For the fear of the wrath of Hitler, the painting was shipped to California and installed in a large building called the Hall of the Crucifixion. It is located on the grounds of Forest Lawn Cemetery which is one of the most awe inspiring places of beauty in Southern California where sleep such characters as Will Rogers, various movie stars and other notables of the state. The painting is shown every day, seven days a week throughout the year at no charge. When we were admitted we were seated near the front midway of the painting. When all were seated the curtains moved back each way accompanied by lovely music. The lights are so arranged that the picture seems to almost come to life. The painting is electrically controlled and each leading character is automatically pointed out. Christ stands alone near the cross. His disciples are alone or in small groups nearby. The high priest is there in his regal splendor. The Roman soldiers cast lots for his garments near the foot of the cross. To all lovers of art the painting is a treasure, and to the most indifferent believer in the risen Christ, it is an inspiration.

Bentsen Seeking To Eliminate 'Unknown' Label Before May 2 Democratic Primary

By DONNY RICHARDS Who is Lloyd Bentsen, Jr.? Who is this 49-year-old South Texas man who graduated from law school at 21, was elected county judge at 25, U. S. Congressman at 27 and now seeks a seat in the U. S. Senate?

Ask Ralph Yarborough. He knows. The answer to that question and many more is what Lloyd Bentsen himself is trying to give Texas voters before the May 2 Democratic primary. And they're getting the message.

Has Never Lost Bentsen is an old pro in politics from way back. He has never lost a political race and once won over the opposition of the famous Judge Pharr political machine of Duvall County.

Bentsen, who says he is a moderate, opens his speeches with a patriotic touch that has the little grey-haired ladies waving their flags and when he settles down to real issues he has the businessmen nodding in agreement and reaching for their checkbooks.

The biggest problem facing Bentsen, as is with most candidates opposing an incumbent, is that of name identification. The slender, deep-voiced native of Mission, strongly resembles actor James Stewart, not only in looks, but in his smile and mannerisms.

Admits He Has Frobien "I'm fairly widely known in the Rio Grande Valley," said

Bentsen, who returned over the weekend from a campaign tour of North and East Texas. "but people in the top half of the state haven't heard of me."

Bentsen was the U. S. Congressman representing the lower Rio Grande Valley from 1949 through 1955. He served three terms before retiring undefeated and unopposed to enter the insurance business. He is currently President of Lincoln Consolidated, a Houston-based financial institution.

"If I am elected, I will resign from the board," Bentsen said. "I feel a man should devote full time to his job as a representative of the people."

Assails Yarborough "That's why I feel we need new leadership in Texas," he added. "The present senator does not represent all the people."

The candidate also discussed the issues with which he is in basic disagreement with the present senator.

"I feel that the people need to know if Ralph Yarborough is planning to support the April 18 moratorium," Bentsen said. "He supported the one in October. What's so different about this one? It's too close to elections for him to support them and he realizes it."

"I feel he did not contribute to an early peace in Vietnam when he endorsed the last moratorium and therefore made negotiations tougher in Paris.

A "Legitimate" Question "I know there are many pantry patter

What is a tomato? Botanists consider it a fruit, but the US Supreme Court ruled in 1893 that it was a vegetable. Although once considered poisonous, it has long been a popular item used as a vegetable in American diets. Basil adds flavor to all tomato dishes.

We get a significant amount of Vitamin A from tomatoes. Have you ever eaten dandelion greens? Three-fourths cup cooked dandelion greens provides 34% of the Vitamin A needed daily. One tablespoon of chili powder equals about 200% of the amount needed daily. Other foods high in Vitamin A include spinach, collard greens, mustard, carrots, kale, pumpkin, broccoli, liver, peaches, squash, sweet potatoes, apricots and other dark green and deep yellow and orange vegetables.

Today's recipe featuring Vitamin A is a tomato recipe. CHILI KIDNEY BEANS WITH TOMATOES

2 cups dried kidney beans
1 large onion, sliced
1 large clove garlic, sliced
1 green pepper, minced
3 1/2 cups (2 1/2 can) tomatoes
2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. chili powder
1/4 cup bacon drippings

Soak beans overnight in cold water, or about five hours in luke-warm water to cover. Add onion, garlic, green pepper, bacon drippings, tomatoes and salt. Simmer for two hours in the soaking water. Add more water if needed during cooking.

Add the chili powder, stirring as little as possible to avoid mashing the beans. Place in a baking dish or bean pot, cover and bake in a 350 degree oven for about two hours. Uncover during the last part of the cooking, if brown beans are desired. Makes six servings. If you prefer, lima or navy beans can be used in place of kidney beans.

Wedding..

The public is invited to the wedding of Mrs. Cindy York and Jim White, at the First Baptist Church in Jayton, on Friday, March 27th, at 6:30 p. m.

DECOUPAGE WORKSHOP

A Decoupage workshop, sponsored by the Mod Moms Club of Jayton, will be held in the Girard Community Center on April 7th, from 10:00 a. m. til 3:00 p. m.

Mrs. Nita Bennett, of Tandy's Hobby Store in Abilene, will demonstrate decoupage and folk art. Mrs. Bennett will bring a selection of supplies that can be bought at the workshop or ladies may bring their own supplies.

Mrs. Bennett asks that you wear old clothes, bring plenty of newspapers, old rags, Elmer's or white glue, and a favorite print if you wish. Also a 1" paint brush. Bring a covered dish or a lunch for the noon meal.

Everyone is invited to attend and learn an inexpensive and satisfying hobby.

DESSERT TAKES THE CAKE

Dessert can be prepared in a jiffy when you start with ready-to-serve Tip-Top golden pound cake. Simple ingredients out of your cupboard can be your "magic wand" to create this delectable Tip-Topping Cake in a matter of minutes.

TIP-TOPPING CAKE

- 1 Tip-Top golden pound cake loaf
- 6 tablespoons butter, 1/4 stick
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1/4 teaspoon aromatic bitters
- 1 cup flaked coconut, 3/4 oz. package, or shredded fresh

Cut cake into eight slices and place on cookie sheet. Place under broiler until golden brown, about 2 minutes. Remove from broiler and turn untoasted sides up. Meanwhile melt butter in saucepan over low heat; do not let brown. Remove from heat and stir in remaining ingredients. Divide mixture onto tops of cake slices. Return to broiler for about 2 minutes, or until tops are golden. Serve immediately. Yield: 8 servings.

Salad Ballad For Dads and Grads

What is so rare as a day in June? School's out, the roses are in bloom and Old Glory flutters in the warm summertime breeze. June brings with it Father's Day and a crop of fresh young graduates. Time to celebrate. Plan an extra special dinner for dads and grads, or a celebration lunch with this splendid main dish salad.

Splendiferous Meat-Potato Salad

- 1 medium apple, unpared and diced
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 cup leftover, cooked meat, cubed (such as beef, steak, chicken, veal, lamb, pork, ham)
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 cup cubed, cooked potatoes
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 1 cup cooked peas and carrots
- 1 medium tomato, cut into wedges
- Western iceberg lettuce
- 1/2 cup real mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 1/2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Sprinkle apple with lemon juice. Arrange apple, cubed meat, celery, potatoes, eggs, cooked peas and carrots and tomato in a salad bowl lined with Western iceberg lettuce. Blend mayonnaise, sour cream, prepared mustard, salt and pepper. Serve over salad. Makes 6 servings.

Junior love clingy knit prints in 1 and 2-piece dresses with new ideas like polo and tank necklines, flippy skirts. Or in another mood, prints on enchanting voiles with full or puffed sleeves, lowered necklines, softly-full skirts. Special favorites of Junior girls at Sears are "mini" prints of small flowers, neat geometrics—blurred dye-like prints—"atit" or "dusty" colors.

Prints are IN the news now through summer! Exciting new designs: geometrics, florals, paisies, abstracts, patchwork—wonderful on polyester and silky synthetic knits that take to new soft shaping, never wrinkles or muss. At Sears these new prints look letter-perfect in soft shirt-dresses, the easy chemise, the very new "lowdown" look of long slim torso with a low burst of pleats!

Earliest adhesive postage stamps were the "Penny Blacks" placed on sale in the United Kingdom

FOR THE STOUT-HEARTED—California designers are making sure males don't feel fashion-neglected this summer. Janston has created this Tunisian-style tunic of unbleached cotton muslin for a man's beach coverup. Styled with embroidery on neck and sleeves. It's also great for lounging around the house.

"You better have that motor checked—it keeps making sounds like a policeman's whistle."

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

MOM, JOIN THE CLUB!

Dear Amy: I have 3 children. My oldest child is 18 years old. She has a sister who is 15 and a brother who is 13.

I seem to have a heartbreaking problem with the girls! The 18 year old girl carries a grudge to the point where she doesn't talk to me at all. She bluntly answers me explanations offered even if I ask for them.

I feel so heart sick over this that I cry many times. To make things worse, she even talks to the 15 year old, and she, too, in loyalty to her sister, will treat me the same in her presence.

I can't understand this kind of behavior and it upsets me very much. Why would an 18 year old girl dislike (hate) her mother so much? The more I try to take an interest in her, the more she resents it. I have even tried to ask her why this type of behavior and she will not give me any kind of an answer at all.

You see, I don't know how to cope with her if I don't know what is bothering her.

Can you give me an insight into this problem, or explain it at all?

Mrs. B.B.

Dear Mrs. B.B.:

I would venture to say that every parent goes through this experience somewhere along the line in raising their children. It is not easy to cope with and is very heart-breaking, but if you know your children well enough, you can break this barrier by handling the situation properly.

Let me assure you that your daughter does not hate you. This may come as a surprise to you but she loves you very much, and although she does not show it, she will if you have patience and forbearance.

It is not easy for teenagers to grow up today. There are many frustrations. They have much competition and they have a certain amount of rebellion as to propriety and to their parents' way of thinking.

In the effort of growing up into maturity, they sometimes try to shut their parents out of their lives. Do not be offended. This is part of growing up...

So now I do as I please and loves me for it. By the way, "Mr. J.A.G." three things are you doing your wife in return?

and helpful when she needs it. If she is doing something you do not approve of, be sure to praise her and praise her when she pleases you. Smile, mother, chain up!

Dear Amy: I read your column last week and I enjoy it immensely. My mother is very strict on her on it, but the rest of the things in my class wear practical thing they want. They will rebel against my mother.

If you were 13, what would you do?

Dear Skirts: I'd listen to my mother. F.S. And there are times I still do!

Dear Amy: This is in answer to "G.G.'s" letter about his wife's ears pierced.

I was lucky to get married when I was a baby. Since then I have 5 I haven't worn earrings through my pierced ears. It just wasn't a popular idea just started to wear them about 5 years ago, and you one thing—it isn't as much as comfort.

When I wore the hoop earrings, I often got the hoops too tight... or I would wear earrings. Now I can wear earrings in complete comfort. I haven't lost an earring since I have 4 daughters and one of them wants her ears pierced. I'm all for it!

I hope, "J.A.G.", you like my husband who asks me not to do things if we were married. Don't wear polish, don't smoke and don't perfume. Then I noticed he reeked from perfume when in an affair with another woman.

So now I do as I please and loves me for it. By the way, "Mr. J.A.G." three things are you doing your wife in return?

SOMETHING NEW UNDER A CRUST

Enveloped in a rich, exotic shrimp sauce and baked in a crust, plain and simple fish fillets emerge to a king's taste. The French have a word—"croûte"—for crusted foods, but there's another word, too. Magic!

SHRIMP-SAUCE FISH IN CRUST

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 2 tablespoons dry white wine
- or 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon capers, drained
- 1 tablespoon minced fresh parsley
- 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) shrimp, drained
- Dough for 2 double-crust pies or 2 packages pie-crust mix
- 6 fish fillets, fresh or frozen
- 1/2 cup sliced almonds
- 2 or 3 stuffed olives

Melt butter; stir in flour, then undiluted soup. Cook until mixture bubbles. Add wine or juice, capers, parsley, and shrimp. Set aside. Prepare and divide dough into six equal portions. Roll out to the thickness of pie-crust. Cut portions in half to the rough shape of whole fish, making sure there is dough to spare for shaping heads and tails; for sealing and fluting edges. Roll fillets dry; place on dough and spread with shrimp sauce. Use all the sauce. Brush edges with a little sauce; cover fish with dough. Seal and flute edges while pushing and molding the dough into fish shapes around the fillets. Cut V-notches in dough for tails. Brush "fish" with slightly beaten egg white; stud with almonds in the pattern of fish scales. Olive slices make the eyes. Bake about 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes 6 servings.

Most of the talk now days pertaining to the Festival that is to be held near Lubbock this week-end. All we know about such is what we have seen on TV and read in the news, and if the big deal that is to run three days 10 miles south of the City of Lubbock turns out to be like the one near Dallas about a year ago, then the good wholesome air of this cow country will be stained and polluted that it will take years to live down.

This neck of the woods has experienced all kinds of weather here of late, including snow, sleet and rain. It has been down right cold too.

Didn't know what had become of C. Ray Williams until I read his letter to the editor in the Jayton Chronicle last week. For many years Ray was manager of a cotton gin in Girard. His wife was post master for years. They should still be living in Girard... instead of so far-away, Maryland.

Here for Easter week-end visiting their grandparents, the Walter Brooks, are Belinda Ruth and Bobbie Brooks of Lubbock. These are the children of Edward Brooks.

Mrs. Donna Lackey visited her mother, Mrs. Maurine Dyer last week-end. Mrs. Lackey's home is in Lubbock.

Mrs. Letha Beth Wyatt and children are spending a week in the home of her parents, the Hugh Turners. Mrs. Wyatt teaches in the Lubbock schools and has a nice Easter vacation.

Forty-two local citizens met in the community center Saturday night for Game Night. Good eats a lot of coffee and dominoes were enjoyed by the group. "Bad Samaritans"

Moralists accuse the modern man of a growing tendency to avert his eyes from the fallen stranger and to shut his ears to the cry for help. When a "Bad Samaritan" is pressed for an explanation he will usually say:

"I didn't want to get involved." All too often what he really means is:

"I didn't want to get sued." This fear of a lawsuit has gotten out of hand. The fact is that, in terms of legal liability, getting involved is simply not that dangerous. A successful suit against the person who lends a helping hand is actually a rarity. The notion that he is responsible, in case anything goes wrong, is just not so.

True he can usually be held liable for, say, gross negligence—just as we all can in our everyday activities. For instance, a motorist taking an injured pedestrian to the hospital may be held liable if, by driving recklessly, he causes a collision that worsens the injured man's condition.

But if there is no negligence, there is no liability. Take this case:

A woman getting off a stool at a lunch counter lost her balance and fell to the floor. Two men, coming to her aid, tried to help her over to a chair. But she suddenly grew faint and slipped out of their grasp, falling again to the floor.

Could the two men be held legally liable for the woman's second fall? A court ruled they could not. The court said that since they had made an honest effort to be helpful, and had used reasonable care in doing so, they bore no blame in the eyes of the law.

Of course, in a particular situation, a bystander might have a legitimate motive for not interfering. For instance, prudence may deter him from trying to tackle an armed robber. Ignorance may deter him from giving first aid.

But if he does hold back, he should at least do so for a good and sufficient reason. An exaggerated fear of legal liability is not a good and sufficient reason.

In Case of Fire

If you smell smoke at night, don't rush from your bedroom to investigate, warns the Texas Safety Association.

Place your palm high against the bedroom door. If it's hot, don't open it. The hall outside is a deadly trap of superheated air and gas and can kill almost instantly.

If the door doesn't feel hot, brace your body against the door and open it a crack, ready to shut it if there's air pressure or the draft feels hot.

Get members of the family to safety quickly and don't waste time getting dressed or picking up valuables, urges TSA.

HOW WOULD YOU ANSWER?

Yes ___ No ___ Though I do worry, I feel there's a way to prevent it.

Yes ___ No ___ Sometimes I antagonize people because of my actions or attitude. I know there must be a way to correct this.

Yes ___ No ___ It seems contrary to reality, but I feel that real happiness is something apart from wealth, power, or fame.

Yes ___ No ___ There must be a practical way of raising my family in a better world.

A "yes" answer to any of these questions is definite proof of God's concern for you. God talks to man by making him "feel" and "know" of a better way of living. You feel discontent about present conditions, you sense "something better," somewhere. That's God talking to you. Listen to him. Come to church this Sunday. Read His Living Word in the Bible. This could be the chance you've been waiting for.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bentsen Seeking To Eliminate 'Unknown' Label Over Texas

 peaceful people involved in these demonstrations, but there are always extremists in the background and so many of these end in violence. I think we need all these demonstrators waving Viet Cong flags while our men are dying in Vietnam. That's why I'm calling on the senior senator to tell the parents, wives and children of servicemen in Vietnam to say where he will be standing on April 18.

"As for U.S. involvement in Vietnam, I basically support the President in his program to end the war and achieve an honorable peace," Bentsen said. "When the President says he has a program for the withdrawal of American troops and training the South Vietnamese to assume a larger combat role, I think we all should endorse that program. The President should be given time to carry out his program."

"But, Mr. Yarborough does not agree with the program. He says now that the Vietnam war was 'legally and morally unjustified from the beginning'."

Bentsen added he also felt that U.S. ground forces should be withdrawn from Laos and Cambodia. Also, he said the public has the right to be informed of the circumstances involving U.S. men in Laos and Cambodia.

Says Opponent Ineffective
 Bentsen also talked on Yarborough's seniority in the Senate. "The senator has been on the welfare committee, money committee and postal committee for 12 years and what has he done to improve the system? There's a difference," he said, "between 12 years of experience and one year's experience 12 times."

"I believe in taking care of the physically and mentally handicapped, but to have third generation families on the welfare rolls is a disgrace. The government should take people who are physically able and train and educate them and give them jobs. Then if they won't work, get them off the welfare rolls. The expense of training and educating will be expensive, but to leave them on the welfare rolls for long periods is also expensive."

Other major problems Bentsen emphasized are those of pollution and dying small towns. "I have a new idea," Bentsen said, "to help the pollution problem and restore vigor to the small American towns. Pollution is caused by the centralization of people and industries in the urban areas. At the same time, small towns are dying out because the youth are going to the cities where the action is. With the overflowing of people the large cities fall behind with their social services. They have a sewage problem, inadequate police and fire protection and transportation problems."

"I suggest the government give a 10 per cent investment tax credit to industries locating in smaller rural towns. This would give incentive to industries, provide jobs in the rural areas and take some pressure off the larger cities. This is not a solution, but it is a step toward the answer."

"Also, let's talk about the present senator's seniority on the postal committee," Bentsen said. "Never has there been so many problems with the postal service."

"The last three postmasters general have recommended that the postal service be a separate agency and not under the jurisdiction of the Congress. I agree with that policy. But Ralph Yarborough has blocked reform of the postal service every step of the way. He has put patronage ahead of progress and economy."

Appearing on a local television station in Sherman, Texas, Bentsen said that he agreed with the ordering of the postal workers, now on strike, back to work.

"The postal employees are doing an essential public service and the strike could be catastrophic to the country and could cause a serious economic crisis," Bentsen said.

Opposed To Busing
 Two other areas cause Bentsen concern. One is forced busing of school children and the other is the proposal being studied now by President Nixon dealing with the substitution of tariffs for import quotas.

"I believe in the neighborhood school system and I am absolutely against compulsory busing," Bentsen says. "If black parents want to send their children to a predominantly white school or vice versa, it should be allowed."

Also Bentsen reminded the group that the Senate met recently in a special called meeting to vote on three amendments to a Health, Education and Welfare bill in which the compulsory busing was included.

"And you know it was special," Bentsen said, "because it was on a Saturday and those guys don't like to work on Saturday."

"Sen. Yarborough was conveniently absent for the vote," he said. "He should have been there on such a controversial issue."

The reason given by the administration for the tariff on imports is so that the price of gasoline will be lowered, Bentsen said.

"They say this will cut the price of crude oil by 30 cents a barrel," he added. "This will actually knock out all the marginal wells in Texas and hurt the tax base in many school districts. There are 221 school districts in Texas that get at least 50 per cent of their school taxes from the oil fields. If these marginal fields are cut out, Texas will have to raise other taxes to keep the school systems going."

Bentsen favors lowering the voting age to 18. "If a boy has to defend his country, he is old enough to vote on the leaders of it who decide the policies," he said.

Bentsen attended the University of Texas, receiving a law degree in 1942. He enlisted in the Army Air Corps and flew 50 missions over Europe. He received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three oak clusters and left the services as a colonel. He was elected county judge of Hidalgo County in 1946 and in 1948 he was elected to the U.S. Congress, the youngest member at age 27. After three terms he retired from the House undefeated and unopposed.

The former congressman is married to the former Beryl Ann Longino and the couple has three children: Lloyd M. Bentsen III, 25; Lan Chase Bentsen, 22; and Tina Ann Bentsen, 18.

His wife and all three children are active in the campaign.

Bentsen indeed has his work cut out for him. He travels, makes speeches and talks 16 hours a day, spending weekends at his home in Houston. On the plane between stops, he studies and works on speeches with the help of his two personal aides, Ed Norton and Denman Moody.

"I hold prejudices against no man," he said. "I plan to represent all the people and not just one group or faction. I will take each issue as it comes up and decide on it with the general welfare of the people in mind."

"Yarborough won his last election by about 230,000 votes, with the most of them coming from south of San Antonio," Bentsen added. "Well, that's my home country and I've never lost a race down there. The Mexican-American militants with him. I understand the people down there and they understand me," said Bentsen, who in his terms, speaks enough Spanish to 'get me by'.

"The senior senator from Texas voted last year for a nice retirement fee for himself. This year we are going to let him use it," Bentsen added.

One reporter, with hair considerably longer than others in the room asked the candidate how he felt about a man with long hair.

"One of my sons was in school at Harvard and his hair was longer than some of the other students there and he said they had been teasing him about it," Bentsen said. "I told him that the next time someone said anything about it, take out a dollar bill and show him the father of his country."

Purcell Makes Clinched Fist Speech To Farmers Union

At the National Farmers Union Convention in Denver this week, Congressman Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls laid in on the line when he said, "Just so there won't be any mistake. I came to praise the Farmers Union, knock the Farm Bureau, cuss the Department of Agriculture, and condemn a black hearted Republican. This gives you fair warning."

Congressman Purcell attacked the Nixon Administration and the Secretary of Agriculture for impeding efforts of the Congress to get sound legislation enacted.

In his speech Purcell rapped the Administration's proposed "consensus" farm bill as being four months late and "so sorry that not one single Member of Congress, Democrat or Republican, would touch it."

In blasting the Department of Agriculture and Secretary Hardin's insistence on enacting his own bill, Purcell queried their understanding of the difficulties facing the American farmer.

"After all," he said, "how else could any sane, reasonable group of people come up with a farm program that gets rid of parity, lowers the loan, lowers certificate payments, puts in a payment limitation and reduces (the) allotment... and then have the guts to fight for it?"

Purcell praised the efforts of Farmers Union in working toward enactment of the so-called "Coalition" Farm Bill introduced by Purcell and 35 other Members of Congress, but warned of the difficulties of passing any good farm bill for producers under the present circumstances, which he blamed equally on the Nixon Administration and urban Congressmen fighting for Federal money at the cost of farm programs.

Purcell stated the Administration's bill would give the Secretary of Agriculture more power "than Hitler had over Nazi Germany." He called for farmers to let their friends and relatives in larger cities know what it was like "to build and dream and work all year, and see it go down the drain by the time you make your notes to get your equipment and seed paid off."

Purcell is the Chairman of the Sub-committee on Livestock and Grains in the House Committee on Agriculture, which is presently seeking the break-out of the impasse between the Administration and the Congress over new farm programs for the 1970's.

This is a wildcat strike, not even endorsed by labor leaders, and strikers are subject to court contempt charges for having walked out. But when you think about it, the New York carriers, and those in other large cities, do have sufficient grounds for grievances.

Some of the letter carriers have a take home pay check of less than a hundred dollars a week. And in New York City, a person with that kind of a check would have to live in the ghettos and be on part time relief, in order to live.

The system of paying people the same salary all over the nation is not equitable. In New York house rent would be three times as high as it is in Falls, and all other living expenses would be at least half again as much as they are here.

A salary schedule based on the cost of living index in the immediate area would alleviate the situation. It would take some fortitude to administer such a policy, but it would only be fair.

My opinion is that the Congress will come up with some sort of a measure similar to this, in a special hearing on postal employee salaries, within the next few days.

Convention will be in St. Louis March 24 to meet with other members of the 28 farm organizations who have formed the Coalition to work for passage of the Purcell Bill in this session of Congress. The group will make plans to strengthen the Coalition and work in support of this bill which provides a continuation of the 1965 Farm Act with improvements in income provisions.

Adventures In Insight

by Joe Gilmore

Easter is a movable feast commemorating the resurrection of Christ. It is the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21, (vernal equinox) except when the full moon falls on Sunday. Then Easter is one week later. Coming in the spring it has come to symbolize the resurrection of new life.

Little do we realize how terms have changed historically. For example: The term Easter is not of Christian origin. Some say it is one of the titles of the Chaldean goddess, Astarte, the queen of heaven. Others attribute the name to Eostre, Teutonic goddess of spring.

The Hebrew word PASCHA is mistranslated "Easter" in Acts 12:4. Pascha actually means "after the Passover." In his book Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words, Dr. W. E. Vine tells us, "The festival of Pasch held by Christians in post-apostolic times was a continuation of the Jewish feast, but was not instituted by Christ, nor was it connected with Lent. From this Pasch the Pagan festival of Easter was quite distinct and was introduced into the apostate Western religion as part of the attempt to adapt pagan festivals into Christianity."

The historical meaning of Easter has changed for the contemporary meaning has not. A few years ago one of our metropolitan papers carried the headline, "Entire World Celebrates the Risen Christ." The same page carried smaller headlines such as: "236 killed in Viet Nam," "Negroes and Whites Clash in Chicago," "Chinese Issue Ultimatum to US." How ironic! The message which was intended to bring meaning and purpose to life had been devoured by hypocrisy. Millions had flocked to church all over the world in a ritualistic and traditional manner to go through the motions of religion. They had lost the meaning and purpose of the celebration.

What is the real purpose of the resurrection? On the cross Jesus conquered sin; he arose from the grave to conquer death. "Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him." (Romans 6:9). God's purposes have meaning for us. What was the meaning for us in Christ's resurrection? Romans 6:8 tells us: "Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him." The decision to live with Christ and share His resurrection.

Because He lives, I cannot die.
 Death
 'Because He lives, I cannot die.
 Death signifies no loss;
 My soul shall know but spirit-change
 Because He knew the Cross."
 --Adele Lathrop

It is just as important for a wife to have a will as it is for the husband. Since most property owned by married people in Texas is community property, the wife usually owns half the family wealth.

Where there is no will, children inherit the mother's interest in property just as they do the father's. The father may suddenly find himself in partnership with small children with all the trouble and expense that brings. So, the husband's will alone does only half the job of planning for the family.

Lubbock Site Picked For Rock Festival

Southwest Festival officials announced late Tuesday that the '70 Peace Festival will be held in Lubbock County and will definitely start Thursday morning.

The new site will be seven miles south of Lubbock on Highway 87 and one mile east on FM 41. The site is very near the Lubbock-Lynn County line.

The "rock festival" was originally scheduled to be held north east of Dickens, but a district court ruling sent the producers of the festival looking for a new site.

The festival, starting Thursday morning, will continue 24 hours a day through Saturday. About 23,000 persons are expected to attend the three-day outing.

Visitors began coming into Lubbock as early as Monday for the festival. Camping facilities will be available for all these paying for three-day admission. Attendance is expected to come for people as far away as California and Colorado.

The bands that will play during the continuous 72-hour performance are: Vanilla Fudge, canned Heat, The Byrds, Delain and Bonnie and friends, Johnny Winter, Muddy Waters and Freddy King.

Admission will be $5. per person per day or $13.50 per person for the three-day period.
