City of Jayton Now Has Adequate Water Supply

This Week In Jayton

"A new water well, recently completed and put on the line, will give Jayton an adequate supply of water, even in the hot summer months," Mayor Hobert Lewis told the Chronicle recently.

This is the second good well completed by the city. In a recent test it pumped from 350 to 400 gallons of water per minute.

The city now has the water and pumping facilities to put almost a million gallons of water per day into the lines, yet about five million per month is the most that has been sold.

These two wells cost quite a bit of money he said, but feels it is well worth it. Jayton still has the lowest water rate of any small town in the area. Also, Mayor outlined a number of other important items on the city agenda for the near future. They are:

A complete financial statement, of the tax rate, receipts, expenditures, indebtedness, etc. "I think the people are entitled to know how their city government is being operated" the mayor said.

Also, he said there would be a city election in Jayton next year, at which election the mayor and all five members of the council would be elected.

He asks that anyone having any suggestions about the city government, welcome them, and they would get careful consideration.

English Is Named Coach Of The Year

Jayton Coach Jerry English was named Class B Coach of the year, and six of the Jaybird players were named to the All Area Class B team, by the sports staff of the Abilene Reporter News.

Three Jaybirds made the 11-man team, and three others made the honorable mention team.

Described as the do-everything quarterback of the mythical team was Kim Nichols. The best pass catcher in the area was named Lyndall Favor, and Tommy Stanaland, best guard.

Honorable mention went to running backs Harold Judy and John Charles Davis. Nickey Williams placed from his tackle position.

In referring to the Jaybird Coach this comment was made "Jayton's Jerry English, who in his first year at the Jaybird helm coached the team to a regional championship, is an easy choice for the coach of the year."

Teens Play Dangerous Game With The Law

While the Debate over marijuana rages, teenagers play a dangerous game of attempting to beat the law by using it.

What if they get caught? Probably, on first offense, they'd get a suspended sentence and never serve a day in jail. So what difference does it make?

The Carbon Copy, a college newspaper at Frank Phillips College at Borger, came up with this food for thought for the youngsters who think they're getting away free with that first conviction.

A youth was stopped for a traffic violation. The officer recognized the odor in the violator's car. The defendant had a few joints (of marijuana) with him.

"He was convicted of possession, a felony, and received a suspended sentence.

"Did he lose anything? "All he lost was the right to vote, the right to own a gun and the right to run for public office.

"He lost the opportunity of ever being a licensed doctor, dentist, CPA, engineer, lawyer, architect, realtor, osteopath, physical therapist, private detective, pharmacist, schoolteacher, barber, funeral director, masseur, stock broker or life insurance agent.

"He can never get any job where he has to be bonded or licensed.

"He can't work for the city, county or federal government.

"He can enlist in the military service, but will not have a choice of service.

"If this happened to you, would you think you had lost anything?"

This Week...
(From page one)

Last week, we headed east across Oklahoma into Arkansas, and spent the holidays with the daughter and family near Little Rock, driving back Saturday. As predicted, the traffic was extremely heavy. We drove up on the scene of a fatal accident in Western Arkansas, near Fort Smith. Someone in an old car was attempting to go the wrong way on the expressway, resulting in a head-on.

The highway patrol in all three states were out working. Several times we passed scenes where the light on the patrol car was rolling, and someone was apparently getting a court summons.

QUEEN JANE OF ENGLAND ONLY REIGNED FOR 9 DAYS!!

BY DAY-BY NIGHT

For the elegant, captivating man who pursues the sweet smell of success, two heads are better than one. And the wise strategies for victory in this highly competitive "double-header" are as different as night and day.

A man shapes his career by day and he plays to win a different game at night. That's why Coty, the house of fine French perfumes, created their first fragrance for men, Success in two separate scents: spicy and light BY DAY, cool and sensuous BY NIGHT.

SUCCESS BY DAY is an invigorating blend of leather, spice, moss and lime. It's a practical, uncomplicated masculine fragrance that means business. In After Shave, Cologne and gift set combinations, each "by day" product gives a clean, cool sensation that wears well all day.

SUCCESS BY NIGHT combines seven distinct scents with a topnote of woodmoss. Each man's body chemistry personalizes SUCCESS BY NIGHT's complex undertones, developing a fragrance that is truly individual—intriguing, long lasting and wearable. Remember, nothing succeeds with a man like the gift of SUCCESS BY DAY or NIGHT.

Big Spring Girl Earns Trip to 4-H Congress

Joan Crawford

A trip to the 49th National 4-H Congress was the award earned by a Howard County girl for her excellence in the 4-H consumer education-home economics program.

Joan Crawford, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Crawford, Big Spring, has learned that her project is a common denominator for like programs. This may be one reason she is planning a career in mathematics.

Some of the things she learned during the six years in the project are having your own checking account, comparative buying of groceries, constructing your own clothes and cooking for the family.

Each project involves an expenditure in money, time and energy. And each year, from 1965 through 1970, Miss Crawford has placed first in either county or district for related areas.

Her trip award is sponsored by Montgomery Ward, which also provides six scholarships of $600 each to national winners in the program.

The 4-H programs are supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. The National 4-H Service Committee arranges and announces the awards programs.

1971. You've changed. We've changed.

Change. That's what it's all about this year. And that's what we mean by putting you first.

These are uneasy times. There are major concerns. About pollution. About safety. About the economy. About your hard-earned dollar. We know.

For the past 10 years Chevrolet research people have questioned thousands of people on every subject from rising taxes to the size of the glovebox in their cars.

We've found that price and maintenance costs, trade-in value and quality have become tremendously important.

Your car has to work. It has to last. And each new model must have more built-in value.

At Chevrolet, we understand. You want meaningful change. And our aim is to give that to you, as you'll see in the 1971 Chevrolets.

Caprice. The biggest, most luxurious Chevrolet ever. A complete change.

Bigness in itself is nothing. But if it allows you to lengthen the distance between the front and rear wheels (which we did), then you've got something.

You've got a smoother ride. The idea in the 1971 Caprice was to give you the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, without asking you to pay anywhere near that much for it. And above all, to build in as much dependability and security as possible.

So we changed the body structure for 1971, too. We made it stronger. And we made it quieter by putting a double layer of steel in the roof.

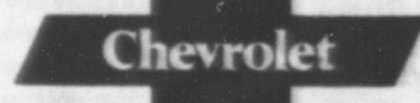

Caprice, as you can see below, is a lot of luxury at a Chevrolet price.

Vega. The littlest Chevy ever. It wasn't changed from anything.

Before building Vega, we read everything we could get our hands on about little cars. We talked to owners. We studied little cars up one side and down the other and, literally, tore them apart. We found out what made them tick, or why they didn't tick.

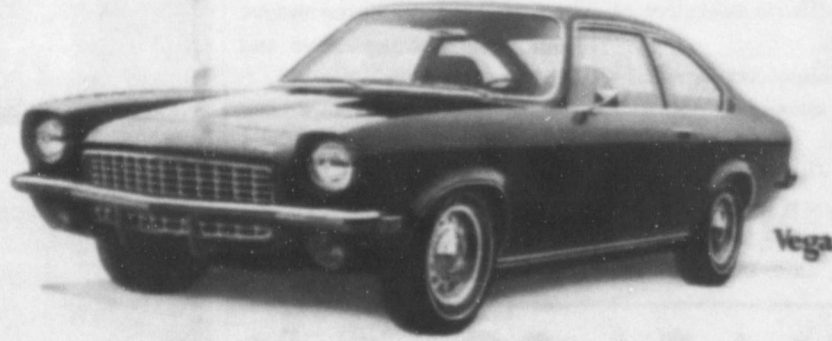

What ticked were gas economy and dependability. What didn't were underpowered engines, cramped quarters and getting blown around in the wind.

In our little Vega, everything ticks. It's not just another little car. You didn't want that. It's one little car that does everything well.

Dear Afion,

I notice in the December, 1970 issue of the Texas VFW News that the Veterans Land Board in Austin has completed the sale of twenty-five million dollars in Veterans Land Board bonds at an interest rate of 4.06 per cent to a New York Combine. This money will be used to purchase land for Texas veterans. The article also mentions that the Board expects veterans will start filing applications for land purchases during mid-January.

This should be of interest to the veterans of your area who are planning to make purchases under this program. You may wish to make special publication in regard to this in your paper.

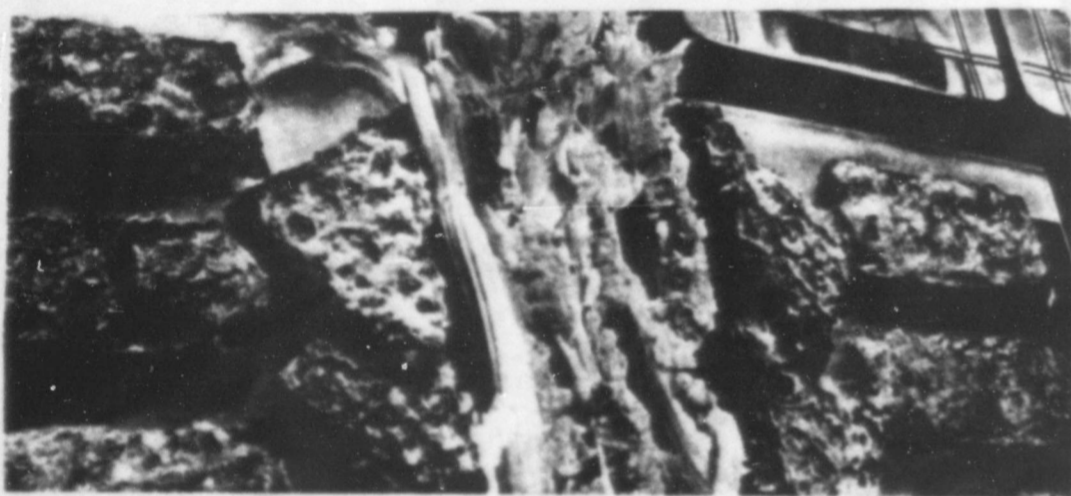

With kindest personal regards, I am

Very truly yours,

Compensation For Fright?

Truck driver Fred, on a downhill slope, suddenly discovered that his brakes had failed. To his consternation, the truck began to pick up speed. Finally Fred managed to bring it to a halt against a hillside.

A short time later, however, he suffered a stroke. Could he collect workmen's compensation for his disability?

In a court test, the company argued that he could not. "There was no physical injury at the time of the accident," said the company. "He just got very frightened. Workmen's compensation was never intended to protect a workman against mere fright."

But the court granted Fred's claim, since the "mere fright" had led directly to serious physical harm.

In most cases, compensation is indeed payable for fright that is followed by clear physical consequences. This is true even if the consequences are not as immediate as in Fred's case. Take this situation:

Rumors of possible rioting began to swirl around an American agency in a foreign capital. The rioting never did break out, but several days of nervous tension finally brought one government employee down with a heart attack.

He too claimed workmen's compensation. And a court ruled that he was entitled to it. The court attached no great importance to the fact that his heart attack followed a prolonged period of "nerves" rather than a single scare.

Still, there at least must be a causal connection between the job and the disability. In another case, a workman with heart trouble suffered an attack after a mild disagreement with his foreman. Under these circumstances, a court decided that the man was not entitled to workmen's compensation.

The court said he had not been subjected to anything worse than "the countless irritations to which all workers are occasionally subjected without untoward results."

Therefore, said the court, his heart attack could not fairly be considered a product of his work.

billion dollars in new money for the next two years. This, too, is not a very pleasant thought.
Many members of the Legislature say they will vote for no new taxes, but this, they will find will be hard to hold the line and stay put. The groups that are asking for more money, state employees, and teachers, will be putting a tremendous pressure upon them.

IMPROVING
Grace Hutchinson, one of our local teachers improving after having surgery in Lubbock. She is visiting in the home of her sister for a while.

Then, we had a call from Lubbock Chief of Police, Bill Alley, who said his policemen kept their hats on, by orders from him. That they saluted the flag, but did not remove the hats; that his officers had to work, and did not have time to take off their hats.

Well, at the recent Caprock tournament in Lubbock, a high state official who lives in Lubbock brought the matter to me for conversation. He said he was indeed glad to learn that city policemen were such hard workers, but he doubted they were so busy as all that. "They do take time to go to the restroom", he said, grinding, and they take time to light up cigarettes, and a hundred other things that have nothing to do with their jobs, and take more time than standing at attention during a patriotic presentation.
