Buck Lundy Dies

William C. "Buck" Lundy, a longtime resident of Jayton, died at 11:50 p. m. Friday in the North Plains Hospital in Borger following a lengthy illness.

This Week In Jayton

President Nixon really upset the experts last week when he planned in secret his trip to China. It is said that practically no one knew about his advance. If this be true, there are sure to be some red faces in Washington, and some sad politicians too.

Time will only tell what influence this proposed trip of the president to Red China will have on international politics. More than likely his chief aim in this, is to try to work out something with them to help end the war in Vietnam.

The U.S. has had a very strong negative policy toward Red China ever since the Communists took over the Chinese mainland. This new move by the president might mean cause the now dormant John Birch Society to come alive again, who knows? But the negative reactions to this remarkable move, is certain to come on bold and strong. If it were not so serious a matter, it would be interesting to watch.

Well, the telephone workers, and the Bell system have reached an agreement on their wages and by the time you read this, the workers should be back on the job again.

And if you don't think the short strike got the job done, you didn't read Tuesday morning's paper as closely as I did.

According to reports, the wage raises stipulated in the new contract will amount to more than a million dollars a year in extra salaries to telephone employees, in Lubbock alone.

Never tell all that you know, or do all that you can, or believe all that you hear.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

Grass is one of the most effective pollution control and air conditioning devices that nature has to offer.

"One acre of grass releases about 2,400 gallons of water on a summer day through evaporation and transpiration," according to Rhett H. Johnson, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service office in Jayton.

"This much evaporation equals the cooling effect of a 70-ton air conditioner," Johnson continued. "And grass is ideal for erosion control, beautification, and animal forage."

Johnson said grasses vary widely within individual species. There may be dozens of strains of side-oats grama, for example, growing within an area of only a few counties. These variations are caused by differences in climate, soils, elevation and other factors.

SCS conducts a constant search for superior strains of grasses and other plants, Johnson said.

"What we're looking for are strains of grasses that will help solve some specific environmental problems. In Texas, we need grasses that will thrive on several droughty soils; cool season plants that will extend the grazing season; and plants that will provide forage for livestock while also providing better food and cover for more kinds of wildlife."

Johnson added that conservationists also need salt tolerant grasses that will grow on wide variety of problem sites, forbs and woody plants useful to wildlife and livestock that can be planted in range seedling mixture, and water-tolerant plants that will curb wave action on earthen dams.

To help coordinate the search for better plants, SCS operates 20 plant material centers in the United States. One is located in Texas at Knox City. Scientists at these centers grow and evaluate plants from all over the world to help find strains that will solve specific problems.

The most recent grass selected and put into use by SCS plant materials work in Texas is Selections 75 Kleingrass. Released in 1968, the plant is a leafy, highly palatable grass that is now being grown widely in Central Texas. It is used mostly in tame pastures where high rates of fertilizer are used.

Johnson further stated, "Here in the Jayton area, we are going to be test growing three grasses from the Knox City Plant Material Center.

They are Arizona Cotton-top, Alkali Sacaton, and Wintergreen Harding grass. Alkali Sacaton is a native grass that is salt tolerant. Arizona Tolerant. It is a native grass that we are trying to select an improved strain to be used in our range seedings. Wintergreen Harding grass is a perennial, cool season, improved pasture grass that produce growth from September through May. Its production compares to good oat grazing,

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Now here's a clock that beats them all... Big Ben, himself, watching the passing parade. Somehow, old Ben still manages to keep an eye on things while he's telling the time, and the stories he could tell might fill a book.

With today's atomic clocks, which mark the passage of time by atom vibrations, time now can be measured more accurately than ever before. Yes, we've come a long way since the first clock, which was simply the alternating periods of darkness and daylight.

Just as man has always relied on some satisfactory method of telling the time, so has he always been aware of a hunger within his heart for peace and meaning in life.

Discover this timeless source of unending strength... worship in church this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
All for the Church
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and financial support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A. Moreland, Sr.
ved in a rather isolated of the country, near a forest, I decided that I some money as I did not how long that I would and that I might need had but three hundred on deposit. I always sh, so I checked it all of a "loner". I ran so much that my folks ght nothing of it. I ed a cave that I knew in a secluded place in oods. The cave ran quite under a hill. I did not much sleep the night er, and I became quite er. I lay down and was fast asleep. There was all opening in the back cave and a light breeze coming through. Few knew about the cave

se it was so isolated.
oke up and a slide of and rock had fallen and ed my way out. It was dark inside. I was so and stiff, I could hardly I discovered an opening top of the slide some six inches wide. I got ump ax and managed to hole through the top that did climb through. I got in the bright sunshine and an to look around. The was so bright that I could ly see. When my eyes ame accustomed to the t, there was no woods, nor ing else that I had ever e. I walked away and e to a pavement.
a short time, I passed a house. There was an ensure containing several s, covered with fine grass, and fine blooded cows were ing. Shortly I passed her house. There was a newspaper lying out in front.

I picked it up and glanced at the front page. It was printed at Denver, Colorado in A. D. 2130, one hundred and sixty years after I had taken my nap. A census of the nation had just been taken - the population of the USA was listed as 800,000,000; New York City, 50,000,000; Chicago, 40,000,000; Los Angeles, 60,000,000; Houston 15,000,000; Dallas, 9,000,- 000; Galveston, 5,000,000; San Antonio, seven million, and all others in proportion.
I walked a short distance and saw a large parking lot, covered with cars that were like nothing that I had ever seen before. The wheels were very low. While I was standing there, a man came and got in a car. He started it.
It rose from the ground and ascended about two hundred feet and disappeared. I watched two or three cars take off. I walked on and met several men who looked like they thought that I was a wild man from Borneo.
The men that I met were very dark complected. I learned later that they had no racial problem, as people were all about the same color.
My hair was down below my shoulders and my beard was down to my waist. No hippy would have admitted me to their hideouts. My complexion was almost as white as an albino from being out of the sunlight so long. I walked on to the consternation of all met. I was very hungry and did not know where I would get any food. I passed a sign that read "barber shop".
I entered the door. The barber was working on a customer. He glanced at me and ran to a back room, came back with a shotgun and I made a hasty departure.
Shortly I reached a cafe. I entered the door. A waitress was bringing a tray of food from the kitchen. She looked at me and yelled and dropped the tray. There was quite a few diners at the tables. They jumped up, overturned tables and chairs and all hit the door at once. I saw that I had no admittance there. I saw a large building with a sign that said City National Bank. I entered the bank. A lady was sitting at a desk. She looked at me and screamed. Some girls rushed in and saw me.

They yelled and made for the rear of the building. I said, "Lady, I beg your pardon, I am a human being, a citizen of the United States and I am in trouble, can't you help me?" She quieted down some and said, "What do you want?" I told that I was hungry and that I desperately needed to see a barber. I showed her the bills in my billfold. She looked at the bills and said, "Yes, this is real money more than 160 years old." She reached for a book, scanned through it and said, "The bills are very rare.
I will pay you six hundred dollars for them." She pressed a button on what I presumed was some kind of a computer.
A young lady came in from another room. She walked clear around the room, eyeing me continually. She laid the money on the desk, picked up my bills and fled.
It was near closing time, I said, "Lady, I thank you from the depths of my heart for the great favor that you have rendered me. I will see you tomorrow under different circumstances, I hope".
I walked for quite a ways and came to a small grocery store. An elderly man was in charge. He did not seem to be badly frightened.
I said, "Mister, I am not a Hottentot or a headhunter, I am a citizen of the U. S. A. and I need some groceries badly." He said, "If you have some money, help yourself."
I selected quite a few groceries and paid him. He gave me an empty jug. I filled it with water from a hydrant. I asked him I would pay him $2.00 if he would cut my hair and beard and he did a pretty good job. He gave me a clean gunny sack.

I tried to follow the back streets and alleys and went back to my cave. I fixed up some supper, had a good nights sleep in the cave, then went back to town. I found another barber shop and got a complete workover. I then bought some modern clothes, put them on and started out again. I caused no more consternation.
Of course, my complexion created some speculation. I went to the bank. The lady did not recognize me. I said, "Don't you remember when the wild man came in yesterday?" She said, "My what a transformation!"
She was not busy and we had quite a lengthy conversation.
I asked her what was the population of the town. She said about 500,000. I said that in my time there was not a town within thirty miles of there.
She said "We have lots of enterprises here. We have one of the largest moon ports in the nation. Two powerful atomic engines produce a thrust that places a ship on the moon in forty-eight hours.
She said that two ships leave for the moon daily and that two return loaded with fine minerals.
The moon is quite a resort for people with money. A round tripticket including all expenses costs five hundred dollars". The lady had made the trip herself and she said that there were giant oxygen tanks. The buildings were arranged so that oxygen could be piped around like water.
People outside carry oxygen with them. Mars was found to be uninhabited. Telescopes were being used that reached out billions of miles in space and that constant study was being made of the most remote stars.

I asked her if any men worked in the bank. She said, "Only two janitors because women would not do dirty work since their emancipa-tion." She said that most national, state and county officials were women and that there had not been a man president in the U. S. for more than fifty years.
There was a large portrait of a lady on the wall. I asked who she was. She said that it was of Mrs. Pankhurst, the English lady who started the crusade for women's freedom.
She said that science had found cures for most diseases such as cancer, heart disease and many other diseases. Illiteracy and crime had almost ceased to exist. Criminals had found out at last that crime does not pay.
With the computers that they have now, a fugitive can be located anywhere in the world within 30 minutes and when captured, a computer can find out in five minutes whether he is guilty.
I was impressed with the women's hair style. It stood up around a foot high and ran up to a point like a dunce cap.
They dressed similar to what they did in my day but more conservative. Men's clothing was different, of course, but similar to that of the 20th century.
They are very few prisons.
Atomic bombs had long ago been outlawed. I, of course was interested in farming. I talked to some farm scientists.
They told me that 30 acres was considered a medium sized farm. Insect problems are no more. Air pollution had long ago been conquered.
Farm lands are built up with scientific fertilizers and are as rich as the valley of the Nile and can produce three crops per year. Farming is mostly by remote control; horses and mules are seen mostly in zoos; cattle mostly in feed lots or in small tracts; dogs and cats are plentiful.

Weather is pretty well under control.
Tornadoes no longer reach the earth. I talked with a doctor and he told me that there were 100,000,000 people in the United States between one hundred and one hundred and fifty years of age.
I asked him what they were doing about the population threat. He said that there was not much that they could do about it although it is the nation's greatest problem... well, I suppose that I will remain in this congenial land, away from the trials, crime and wars of the 20th Century.

ABOUT PEOPLE YOU KNOW

BY CLIQUE SMITH

PHONE 237-3593

Mrs. Bill Vencil and Scott went to Eastland to visit Mr. Will Reagan over the weekend.

Vanessa Vencil of Wichita Falls left last Tuesday in order to get ready to leave on her trip to Ireland to visit her dad and family.

Mrs. Della Burkett has been in the Hamlin Hospital for several days. It is hoped she will soon be up and out.

Mrs. Nolan Grice returned home Friday after surgery Monday. I talked with her Monday and she is doing fine.

Mrs. Bill Bingham and children of Brownwood brought Karen Smith home after a three week visit. She stayed several days with her parents the Archie Smith's.

The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Fuller are visiting with their grand mother Mrs. Nellie Fuller, also Leslie Partridge of Lubbock is visiting with his grandmother.

Mrs. Estelle Luma went to Brownwood to attend the Butler reunion an annual affair. They enjoyed a day of visiting, especially the singing. James and the children stayed home.

The Jayton Drug recently changed hands the new owners Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sartin have changed the store around and plan to add some more changes.

Mrs. Glenn Phillips and boys spent several days with her parents at Plainview last week.

Glenn Phillips and Rhett Johnson attended a convention of Soil Conservation Society of America in Nacogdoches last week.

Mrs. Paul Lane visited with her sister at Cross Plains recently for a check up.

Patricia Hamilton underwent surgery Wednesday morning of this week. At last report she was doing well.

A large number of shoppers attended the opening of McAteer's annual July sale. The excitement is catching. There are some good buys here at home, folks, you can't beat that.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Gallagher took her mother to Stinnett, to be with Mrs. Buck Lundy Tuesday. They came home, then Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kidd and boys, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Clark attended the funeral of Buck Lundy.

Buck and Elsie were from Girard. They lived near Spur also, at one time. It seems that every week, so many of the people we have known so long pass away. For as good a christian as Buck was, his work is over. But his good work will last, even though he is gone. Our sympathy to Elsie and children.

I saw some pictures of the Peacock homecoming of last week. Those people were having a good time visiting old friends and acquaintances.

Sallie McAteer came home from the hospital Sunday afternoon, feeling better. She had received a check up and treatment, while there.

Mrs. Blanche Barfoot visited in Lubbock with Mrs. Nina Martin last week.

Mr. K. P. Brantner of Spur came by the office Monday. We sure miss them since they moved away, hope they miss us a little bit, but we hope for them the best and after all its only a jump over either way, to get to visit.

The condition of John Smith is good news for a change after surgery three times two of them on one day over 40 pints of blood, after pneumonia, he is some better, although not out of the woods. It is the best news we have had in some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Kyle and Mr. and Mrs. Rickie Kyle have gone to Altus this week to attend the Kyle family reunion at the Altus Lake and camp grounds. This is their first time to have it at Altus. It is near many of the older members of the family and they can attend the reunion there. Lucille Wade is taking care of the office in Lucille's absence.

Well it is sprinkling this Tuesday morning and does the air ever smell good and fresh, with only the very smallest amount of rain the air is suddenly changed. The beauty of God's world will never cease to make us stand in awe and thanksgiving.

With the disease that is going about in the state so deadly to horses the play night has been stopped. Lets hope this can be stopped soon. If they are only pets not thoroughbreds we don't want to loose a one.

Mr. Bill Porter visited with several in Jayton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fowler are soon to move a new home to their farm just west of Jayton, where it will be more convenient for John to help out at the farm. He will commute to his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Smith and family of Earth, spent the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Johnson have returned from their vacation. More elsewhere in the paper, of places they went, etc.

John Gregory came by the office to renew his subscription to the Chronicle. It seems they can use some rain as well as most all the rest of us. A rain at this time would be a boom to the crops that are now at the point it would help the most.

Mr. L. E. Browning Sr. received word that one of her sisters-in-law had passed away. It was too late to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Glenn Phillips and boys attended the show "Texas" at the Palo Duro Canyon, that has been so widely advertised throughout this part of the country, while they were visiting her parents in Plainview last week. She said they really enjoyed themselves. There is a Bus from Lubbock at Tech chartered for people wanting to see Texas. You leave in afternoon and return to Lubbock sometime after 2 a.m. The cost is $10.00 for adults $8.00 and $8.50 in other situations. Bring a sack lunch, all the rest is furnished.

Scott Vencil of Odessa has been visiting with his grand parents for the last three weeks.
