Three survey crews are working in Kent County in cooperation with the Kent County Agent on the cotton boll weevil control. Two teams of four each are doing surveys for research entomologists. One two-man team is conducting weekly surveys in Kent County on selected farms.

Boll weevil catches on the trap line which border the Caprock are the highest they have been for this time of the year since the trap line was set in 1970. The weevil trap line is a series of traps from Briscoe to Border County. Each trap is baited with a synthetic hormone called "pheromone" which attracts boll weevils.

Reports of weevils have been made on several farms in Kent County. Information on control of the cotton boll weevil is available from the county agent office.

Burleson Says Fuel Shortage Could Have Been Avoided

Washington, D. C. -- Things-Like people-need to be in the right place at the right time.

This is the situation relative to an adequate supply of fuels. As has been opined in this space before, there are sources of fuels, if made available.

There is really no justification for shortages in gasoline and fuel oils, which now face many parts of the Country and which may become worse before it becomes better.

Those knowledgeable of the background of circumstances saw the shortage coming several years ago and warned of policies which have created the lack of supplies now apparent.

A few glaring examples illustrate what is now happening. In the first place, tax incentive and tax policy have not encouraged new exploration for oil and gas. More immediate have been policies related to the environment. Everyone wants the environment protected and it can be protected with application of some common sense.

The environment kick we have been on the last few years has prevented the construction of new oil refineries. This is a bottleneck in finished products at this time.

Deep-sea unloading ports have not been developed; nuclear energy plants have been held up; pipelines have not been built and, particularly, the one from the North Slope of Alaska where an ocean of oil was discovered in 1968.

The argument over the construction of a pipeline from Northern Alaska to the Southern Port of Valdez has raged for three years.

The contention of the environmentalists has been, and continues to be, that a pipeline would spoil the Nation's last true wilderness; another that tankers at the port of Valdez would foul the Gulf of Alaska; another is that a trans-Canadian pipeline to our Midwest would be preferable. Millions of dollars have already been spent in the most painstaking research to insure that a pipeline across Alaska would not disturb the environment. Every contingency has been anticipated from the needs of caribou herds to the potential effects of earthquakes.

Volumes of research have concluded that a 789 mile pipeline from Prudhoe Bay down to the ice-free Port of Valdez would eventually be an invisible hairline in the awesome vastness of Alaska's 586,412 square miles. Its entire right-of-way would not be as wide as a modern highway, of which, incidentally, Alaska has none.

Emotions are raised by the notion that migratory animals, such as the caribou, would be unable to pass over the pipeline.

The facts are that more than half of the pipeline would be buried seven to ten feet underground. Where it is above ground underpasses are provided and tests have been physically carried out to show that migratory animals readily use the trails under them. Lines would be buried at least five feet below each of the 350 stream beds which it would traverse. It is planned that vegetation would be naturally replaced and that in a short time any denuded area would be healed over.

No doubt, some oil spillage is bound to occur in any seaport but every precaution is now being made to prevent it.

A final argument against the Alaskan pipeline argument is that a trans-Canadian line would be preferable. It is well documented that an Alaskan line can be completed in three years, while it would take a minimum of ten years, even if all political problems were solved now, to bring a pipeline across Canada. This means that our oil-hungry Country could not get its own Alaskan oil until the early 1980's.

Finally, since many environmentalists are sure that a pipeline would soil and spoil our own backyard, why ask the Canadian Government to let us use their land for this purpose?

The Farmers Union Criticizes USDA

"It is most unfortunate that the House Agriculture Committee has bowed to pressures from Secretary Butz and the Administration and approved a mediocre farm bill at a time when a good farm program is so necessary to the consumer as well as the farmer," Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco said.

In a statement from the Waco office of the statewide farm organization, the Farmers Union expressed disappointment at the reduced target prices in the House version of the farm bill. The House bill reduces the target price of wheat approximately 20¢ a bushel, takes 20¢ a hundredweight off the price of grain sorghum, and reduces the target price of cotton by 5¢ per pound. These reductions lower the target prices substantially below the 70% of parity level in the Senate-passed farm bill.

"The purpose of the farm bill is to provide an incentive for farmers to produce in abundance by assuring them a target price which will enable them to pay high production costs and still retain a realistic profit. This objective is in the interest of the consumer as well as the farmer, if threatened shortages materialize," the spokesman for Farmers Union said.

Naman charged that Secretary Butz has coerced the House Agriculture Committee into including several crippling amendments in the House version of the farm bill by threatening a presidential veto. One of these, according to the Farmers Union official, is a provision that will offset the advantages of the escalator clause to increase target prices as farm costs increase.

"The Secretary of Agriculture insists on an (efficiency index) that will drive the target price down if farmers increase their efficiency. In other words, it is a scheme to deprive farmers of the opportunity to receive any benefits from their increased efficiency," Naman said.

Farmers Union claims that its "fly-ins" of farmers to Washington have resulted in some improvements in the House version of the farm program. "Without some of the work which our farmers have done in Washington, it would be a much worse farm program, but at best, it is not something that Congress should be proud of," according to the farm organization spokesman.

"We hope that the House or the Senate-House Conference Committee will restore the Senate passed target prices and accept the recommendations which Farmers Union has made to strengthen the program. As it is, if the production costs continue to go up and export opportunities do not materialize, the American farmer will again be left holding the bag," Naman said.

As It Looks From Here

By Rep. Omar Burleson
Member of Congress, Texas

Washington, D. C. -- Congressman Omar Burleson reminds young men who are interested in competing for nominations to the service academies, for the class entering July 1974, he uses a competitive method of selection so that all young men who meet the necessary requirements may be considered.

The service academies are the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colorado; and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York. These institutions offer a fine education and a great opportunity for service to their country by young men who wish to follow a military career.

In order for Congressman Burleson to consider applicants, a candidate must meet these requirements: (1) He must be a U. S. citizen; (2) He must be over 17 and a legal resident of the 17th Congressional District; (3) He must be under 22 years of age on July 1, 1974; (4) He must never have been married; (5) He must be physically fit, including excellent eyesight; (6) He must have a good high school record.

Burleson stresses that political influence is not a factor in his nominations to the Academies. The important thing is not who you know but what you are.

Interested young men who meet the above requirements should write Congressman Omar Burleson, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515, no later than July 16. Examinations will then be scheduled as a rating device to set up slates for nomination. The competition is keen but Congressman Burleson wants to assure that all young men who are interested in a military career may have an opportunity to compete for nomination.

Especially on Independence Day, we tend to regard our problems as unique, don't we? And in the bustling, troubled world of today we think of the past as pleasant and serene. This "rush-hour" scene of 1900 seems miniature when compared with the urban traffic jams of today. But it illustrates that the "olden" days were not entirely rosy. Indeed, sanitation was poor, infant mortality prevalent, roads unpaved and one-room school-houses common. Yet our ancestors, with an optimistic spirit based on faith in God, met and solved these problems, and we are indebted to them. Today we face a different set of problems, and there's another big difference: the impact of the Church on our lives has waned. YET TODAY WE NEED THE CHURCH MORE THAN EVER--to provide us with a voice of hope and understanding.

Cotton Bollweevil
Control Program

At a meeting of program officials on Monday, they discussed the situation and suggested that producers in the control zone below the Caprock and above, adjacent to the Caprock, be encouraged to spot treat cotton fields bordered by overwintering habitat, such as shinnery and mesquite. By spot treat, we mean to fly a couple of plane swaths which would be 60 to 100 feet into the cotton field. If the spot treatments were carried out by the majority of producers, we could effectively lower the overall population level of overwintering weevils entering the fields, to the point where economic losses might not be encountered below the Caprock and the weevils movement onto the Cap might be reduced. The advantage to treating now is to lower the overall overwintering population before 1/3 grown squares are available for oviposition and first generation is initiated by the overwintering weevils now entering cotton fields. Many producers may wonder why the Boll Weevil Suppression Program can not handle this and the answer is they are prohibited by USDA policy from making in-season boll weevil control applications. Another concern of producers might be the effect of these applications, as far as causing bollworm problems. We want to reemphasize that producers spot treat, so professionals will have the opportunity to reinfest treated areas from untreated areas. We would encourage producers to take this action since it will aid them in handling their own in-season weevil problem and in making the fall diapause program more effective. Producers should consult their county Extension agents for materials suggested for boll weevil control.

DPS Is Recruiting
Women Patrolmen

The Texas Department of Public Safety is actively recruiting applicants to fill the ranks of its uniformed services. Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the DPS, announced that the training school for new uniformed law enforcement personnel will begin September 25, 1973.

The Major noted that the DPS has been increasingly successful in recruiting persons from minority groups to these positions and said efforts in this direction will continue.

Also in keeping with the current trend, female applicants will be considered for these rewarding careers in law enforcement.

Major Bell said general qualifications for DPS officers are these: applicants must be 20 through 35 years of age; height not less than 68 inches; weight not less than two pounds per inch of height; visual acuity of 20/40 correctable to 20/20; and a minimum of 45 semester hours of college credit.

Applications may be obtained by contacting any DPS employee or any DPS office. The completed application form should be taken to offices in Lubbock, Amarillo or Wichita Falls where the competitive examination is given each Tuesday and Wednesday at 9:00 a. m.

Major Bell said persons selected as cadets will be assigned to Austin for training at the DPS Academy. The salary during training will be $625.00 per month. Upon being commissioned the salary is raised to $719.00 monthly with the opportunity to advance to $848.00 per month.

Uniformed personnel receive additional longevity pay for each five years of service to 25 years. They are also granted a monthly uniform cleaning allowance, and receive travel expenses when away from their station.

Uniforms, vehicles, weapons, ammunition and related equipment are furnished. Group life and hospitalization are paid for the employee and dependent coverage is available at reasonable rates. Officers participate in the Employees Retirement System of Texas well as Social Security. Vacation, holidays and sick leave are as provided for all State employees. Successful graduates will be assigned to the Highway Patrol, License and Weight Service, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service, or Drivers License Service, according to the needs of the DPS and consideration of personal preference.

Arrangements will be made for a physical examination. A character investigation will be conducted and those persons who are accepted for employment will be notified prior to the beginning of the September recruit school.

Letter To The Editor

To the editor,
I want to write you something about evolution, the tool of the devil. Recently I received a letter from a great scientist, who asked me to mail him eight dollars for a book that tells how man came upon the earth.

It seems that in some far away country, far back in an ancient cave that they found antiques two million years old. They were seeking the connecting link between man and a lower animal. They finally discovered that an ape stood on his hind feet and shed his tail, and became some sort of man and evolved to the modern man.

This Satanic theory is taught in many of our schools to confuse and mislead our young people. I did not order the book, and I resent this insult of the guy having my address, but of course all kinds of trash come through the mail. In the first chapter of Genesis we are told that in the beginning God created the heavens and the earth, and no man living or dead has ever disproved it.

God created all things and will live and rule forever more. In the gospel of Hebrews Chapter 1, verse 1-2 we read of the revealed claims of the bible, makes for being the revealed word of God, because it meets the needs of human life, under all circumstances.

Man can go to the bible and find help. The bible fits perfectly into the human needs, because of its wonderful unity. This book was written by some 40 men, widely separated by time, culture, teaching and language. Because it is superior to all other books, there is no book that is so widely read. The bible must be classed with the indestructible things because its influence upon the world. If you draw a line around the countries where the greatest freedom is enjoyed, and civilization flourishes you will find that you have included the countries where the people believe in christianity and that you have excluded those where it has very little influence.

Wherever the bible has gone it has sweetened the home, exalted womanhood, sanctified the cradle, and redeemed men.

Because it reveals the way of salvation, is the answer to the soul's greatest question, "what shall I do to be saved." Because man unaided could not have produced it, because those who grow in holiness cherish the bible more and more.

In our growth we outgrew most things that at one time aided us. We outgrew our books, and some time our companions. But no one has ever outgrown the bible. The greatest saints have been the most ardent students, and believers of the bible. And there is another book in the world that some men have not outgrown.

Love to all
Adolphus Moreland

Horsemen Urged To Vaccinate Animals

With summer weather and rains, mosquitoes are becoming more plentiful. And, since they transmit sleeping sickness to horses, steps should be taken now to protect these animals, urges County Extension Agent Geeslin.

All horses, mules, asses and ponies should be vaccinated for the three types of equine encephalomyelitis (horse sleeping sickness) — Eastern and Western equine encephalomyelitis and Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE). VEE caused many horse deaths when it ravaged Mexico and southern Texas in 1971.

The three diseases are caused by different viruses carried by mosquitoes, and therefore separate vaccinations are required, points out Geeslin.

Vaccine for the Eastern and Western strains of the disease is in a combined form and annual booster shots should be given to horses after the initial vaccination. The VEE vaccine provides ample protection for 18 months. The agent urges that horses not vaccinated since the 1971 emergency be revaccinated as soon as possible. Also, colts vaccinated while under six months of age should be revaccinated.

The Texas Animal Health Commission requires that all horses moving to shows be vaccinated for VEE.

Death often results after animals contract encephalomyelitis. Outward signs of the three diseases include depression, lack of appetite and drowsiness. Animals may frequently grind their teeth and stagger when moving.

Local veterinarians can provide information on vaccination procedures, adds Geeslin.

FB Market Study Tour Planned

Waco--(Spl)-- Western Europe -- purchaser of one-third of all U. S. farm exports, will be the destination of the 1973 Texas Farm Bureau Market-Study Tour, according to TFB President J. T. (Red) Woodson.

The tour, which departs from Dallas September 5 and returns there on September 19, is the first the Texas Farm Bureau has sponsored to this area since 1967.

Tour price of $1585 includes all transportation, rooms, meals, tips, transfers, and sightseeing. Further information about the tour may be obtained by writing Texas Farm Bureau European Tour, Box 489, Waco, 76703, or call (817) 772-3030.

Countries to be visited include France, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Holland and England.

The 15-day tour affords not only the opportunity to study markets and agriculture, but also has plenty of sightseeing, the TFB leader said. Lee Travel Service of Waco, which conducted TFB tours to Europe, South America, Australia, Africa and around the world, is handling the travel arrangements.

Briefings on marketing opportunities and trade policies of the various countries are planned for Paris, Brussels and London. Visits to farms are also on the itinerary.

Woodson said that agricultural producers and their wives who want to learn more about marketing possibilities in the Common Market countries are especially invited to join the tour.

"As agricultural producers, it is important that we learn as much as possible about our customers abroad --their preferences in quality, grades, packaging, etc.," Woodson said. "It's good for us to understand the economic and political climate in the countries that buy our products."
