April, 1974

You are the hope of beauty and the birth of life and death—come, welcome home again! -Anne Lawler

The second quarter of the year begins with April, which also contains April Fool's Day, Easter (on the 14th this year) and happy tax-paying day on the 15th, when millions of Americans must make final income tax payments for the year 1972.

On the 6th in 1917, Congress declared war on Germany, which doomed the Kaiser and the German monarchy and eventually, indirectly, produced Adolph Hitler. On the same day in 1830, the Mormon Church was founded. (The Greeks in America celebrate the 6th as the Anniversary of the Greek war for independence.)

On the 9th in 1865, General Robert E. Lee finally surrendered his Army of Northern Virginia, perhaps the most ably-led in the nation's history, at Appomattox, Virginia, to a generous U.S. Grant. The 10th is the birthday anniversary of the founder of the Salvation Army, William Booth.

The famed Halifax (N.C.) resolutions, calling for independence, date from the 12th in 1776, and largely influenced the Continental Congress later that year to follow the Halifax example. One of the greatest Americans and for eight years (1800-1808) President, Thomas Jefferson was born at Shadwell, Virginia, on the 13th in 1743.

The Huguenot Society observes the 13th, the day of the signing of the Edict of Nantes, halting the persecution of Protestants in France in 1598. Henry IV signed this act of freedom; Louis XIV revoked it in 1685, and Protestants were again persecuted.

Leo E. Benade, Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary: "Amnesty for deserters would be detrimental to the morale and discipline of the Armed Forces."

Anwar Sadat, President of Egypt: "The impeachment of President Nixon would be a real tragedy for the Middle East and the rest of the world."

the good earth

This is the soil, the good earth without which man could not exist. Suppose we wake up tomorrow to find a concrete world. Flowers would wilt, plants would die, and famine would sweep the land.

God, in His infinitely wise planning, gave us the earth to make use of — to care for. Without this care, the soil and fields become barren.

People are not very different. We need three kinds of care if we are to flourish — physical, mental and spiritual. Unfortunately the last, in many ways the most important, is often most neglected.

The spirit is a great part of you! Nurture it by attending the church of your choice.

Embargo

Ending of the oil embargo by Arab states provides an opportunity for the United States; the embargo could be quickly lifted if progress in persuading Israel to withdraw from the West Bank does not continue.
 The next few months are vital, in determining whether the United States will again be subjected to fuel shortages such as those which plagued the nation in recent weeks.
 This delicate diplomatic process, the key (for the U.S.) to the Middle East, is being handled by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, as guided by President Nixon. If he can bring about further progress and troop withdrawals among Syria, Israel and Egypt, the flow of oil to the U.S. will likely continue.
 Meanwhile, the nation should move ahead with plans to develop coal mining, develop nuclear energy sources, increase domestic oil production and explore synthetic oil possibilities—in case.

Utilities

Legislation is growing in Congress to charter the oil companies as utilities. The conviction grows that oil, like electricity or water, is a necessity to most users.
 As a necessity, and also a natural resource, a good case could be made for federal regulation of the oil companies; it would not be nationalized but, like telephone companies, the federal government would limit prices and profits to a reasonable level, in the public interest.
 The growing sentiment for oil utilities is being fueled by the desire for company profits and what many feel is an attitude of disregard for the public interest among too many of the oil companies.
 The oil lobby in Washington should be overcome and the oil companies chartered as utilities, it would be fair to say they helped bring about regulation in their own actions.

On TV News

A recent issue of "TV Guide" Richard Townley disdained a new breed of media consultant. They're still few and far between, but they earn their fodder by telling television stations how to change their programs to fit the TV viewer's desire.
 Townley notes that news shows are also being shaped to the people want—to get the largest possible audience. In other words, the news "show" is tailored to meet the tastes and likes of the largest possible viewing group—as a rule, the lowest common denominator.
 Most newspapers still print the news as is—and while they offer features to appeal to all readers, the news in newspapers is not only more complete but undoctored.

Library Book Review

By Sallie Hilton
 Foxfire II Edited
 By Elliot Higginson

Foxfire II continues the unique story and information that you find in Foxfire. For the practical minded there are detailed instructions for making ox yoke, wagon and wagon wheels, for keeping bees, gathering and cooking edible wild plant foods, a personal look at midwifery, burial customs, and community gatherings such as corn huskings and pea thrashings. One chapter covers everything from raising and shearing sheep to making and using your own spinning wheel and loom.

Spring Wild Plant food has 48 pages in its chapter and it warns, never gather a plant unless you are familiar with it. Some plants are safe to use in small quantities. Sometimes one part of a plant will be safe to use such as the stems of rhubarb while the leaves must be avoided. Some plants are safe only after cooking.

There is even a chapter called "Booger witches and Haints;" stories to tell as you sit around the kerosene lamps.

Then there is corn husking, house raising, quiltings, pea thrashing, singings, log rollings, candy pullings, etc.

Have you ever been to a corn shucking? It seems that you gather your corn and pile it in the barn yard, then invite all your neighbors in. When a man found a red ear of corn he could kiss the prettiest girl or if a girl found it she could choose her dancing partner for the night.

This is an interesting book that shows how our grandparents did things. This is about the people in the Appalachians.

A Message to the High School and College Age Students of Jayton . . . (and those who love them) From the President of West Texas State University

You are standing on the threshold . . . perhaps the threshold of greatness, but at least on the threshold of what can be a rewarding career. West Texas State University is also on the threshold . . . we think it is the threshold of greatness.

There is a new excitement on our campus. Everyone associated with the University tells me they feel it, students, faculty, alumni and our many boosters throughout the Panhandle.

The excitement started ten years ago when we achieved University status. We began getting many new facilities including a new library, science building, research center, classroom and administration buildings and a new Student Activities Center which is second to none in the United States. We have new programs of a dozen different kinds . . . even one for horsemanship.

Much of the money for these programs and facilities has come from individual citizens, companies and foundations. These benefactors say, in effect, that our area should be the site of a significant university . . . a university with facilities and programs which attract outstanding faculty and students from all over the nation, even the world.

WTSU is growing but it is not so big that our teachers can take a personal interest in each student and relate to him as the individual he is. Though we have a higher percentage of Ph.D.'s on our faculty than most universities, (over 50% .) our classes average fewer students than most, (under 20).

Our students are very much a part of making things happen at WTSU. They are interested, involved and excited. Their learning experience is bigger than the classroom . . . it is as big as life itself.

Tell us which of these areas of study interests you and we will tell you more about that program at WTSU. Clip this coupon and mail it to me personally. I'll see that you get the whole exciting story without obligating you in any way.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Time Limit On Safety?

For how long a period of time may a manufacturer be held responsible for the safety of his product? Say a stepladder collapses. Does it matter—legally—whether it was bought 20 days ago or 20 years ago?

Of course, in a particular case, there may be specific guarantees or standards of safety that apply. But the law has developed some broad guidelines as well.

For one thing, the manufacturer is usually not responsible merely because his product has "grown old" in the normal fashion. As one court put it, in rejecting the claim of a housewife injured by an aged washing machine:

"There is no duty upon a manufacturer to furnish a machine that will not wear out."

On the other hand, a manufacturer may still be held responsible years after selling the product, if the passage of time had nothing to do with the accident. Take this case:

A bar stool, after being in use for three years, caved in under an unlucky customer. The manufacturer, sued later for damages, protested that he could not be blamed, since the stool had been "out of our hands" for such a long time.

Nevertheless, the court decided the injured customer had a legitimate claim because the accident was traceable to a faulty welding job done at the factory. The court said this was not the kind of hazard caused by usage of the product.

In one unusual case, the time lag was 13 years. The gear shift knob in an automobile had shattered when a passenger was thrown against it. There was evidence indicating that the plastic material used in the knob was subject to deterioration in sunlight. There was also evidence that the deterioration would not be apparent to the average person.

The court said the jury could reasonably conclude that the 13-year interval did not prove the knob's safety, but only that it hadn't really been tested until this particular accident.

Down, Down, Down... Broilers Not Chicken Feed... Citrus Crop Report Shows Decline.

For the 17th consecutive month, milk production has shown a decline. In Texas, milk production during February dropped four per cent below a year ago, and seven per cent under a month ago. Milk production in Texas during February totaled 244,000,000 pounds.

Milk production per cow averaged 700 pounds during February. This is 10 pounds below last year and 50 pounds below the previous month.

Nationwide, milk production during February showed a three per cent decline. Production during the first two months of 1974 was three per cent below the corresponding period a year ago.

Milk production per cow on a nationwide basis stabilized during February. Production per cow was 776 pounds; this is the same as a year ago. But it is six per cent below January of this year.

Milk cows on farms during February totaled 11,227,000 head. This is down three per cent from the same month a year ago.

Meanwhile, dairy price supports to become effective April 1 will be at the lowest level permitted by law—80 per cent.

Continued high cost of production is the main reason for a continuing decline in milk production.

For example, Texas dairymen paid an average of $137 per ton for mixed dairy feed (16 per cent protein) in January compared to $105 per ton in February of 1973.

Texas dairymen paid an average of $86 per ton in February for baled alfalfa hay compared to $71 per ton in February of 1973.

THE BROILER business in Texas is not chicken feed, according to a summary from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Gross income from broilers in Texas during 1973 totaled $146,221,000. This is an increase of more than $50,000,000 over 1972.

Average price received for 1973 was 22.8 cents per pound liveweight. This is the highest average price since 1955 when it was 25.5 cents per pound. The 1973 average price was 8.6 cents per pound higher than in 1972.

Texas is in seventh place in the nation in the number of broiler chicks placed in 1973. Commercial broilers placed in the state last year totaled 178,991,000. This is a three per cent decrease from 1972.

The weekly high for placements was 3,994,000 during the week of March 31; the lowest was 2,852,000 during the week of October 27.

Nationwide, a decrease of two per cent in broiler placements was noted in 1973 compared to 1972. The average price nationwide was 23.9 cents per pound.

BASED on March 1 prospects, the Texas citrus crop is down slightly from a month ago.

Virtually all of the grapefruit and most of the Valencia oranges have been harvested, although Valencia harvesting is expected to remain active during the remainder of the month. Most of the fresh market crop is expected to be picked by April 1. Many fresh market packinghouses plan to shut down as early as April.

Citrus tree condition varies greatly throughout the Valley. Most groves are extremely dry and are requiring irrigation.

Nationwide, the 1973-74 grapefruit is forecast to be down one per cent from the February 1 estimate and two per cent below last season.

ABOUT YOUR HOME
By April Rhodes

It's time to get your outdoor furniture ready for spring. Remove corrosion or rust and apply an anticorrosive primer before painting.

It's pruning time for American holly, evergreens, foundation shrubs and boxwoods.

Deep scratches or burns in plastic laminates on counters can be touched up in the depression with India ink which comes in a variety of colors.

Cubes of chilled cranberry jelly add color to chicken salad.

When painting this spring consider these two hints. The lighter the shade of paint the more light is reflected. The more somber color tones absorb much of the light.

When the weather begins to get warm, that's a sign to remove winter tires from your car. Thicker tread causes more heat buildup.
