Baptist Revival To Start 25th

The First Baptist Church will begin revival services Sunday, April 25, through Wednesday, April 28. Sunday services will be at 11:00 a.m. and 6:45 p.m. Weekday services will be at 8: p.m. each evening.

Brother Ed Jackson, Director of Admissions, Hardin-Simmons University, will be the preacher. Brother Ed is well known by our people since he has been interim pastor of the church at two different times. Brother Jackson has a rich background and is a very gifted preacher. His messages will be a blessing to each heart.

Eddie Nicholson from Lubbock will be leading the singing. Mr. Nicholson is a professional evangelistic singer. He was born and raised in the hills of Tennessee. At the age of 15 he was music director of his own church, and at the age of 16 had his own radio program. He is a graduate of Carson Newman College. Brother Nicholson calls himself the Rocking Chair Singer.

This Sunday evening he will present a musical concert. He has presented this concern in large churches with many hundreds in attendance. It is a concert that emphasizes the best of the old hymns. He sings and gives his testimony in story form. This is a worship service we would encourage each person of our community to attend. It will be a unique worship hour. Come and be with us, and each night of the revival.

The Thunderstorm

The thunderstorm season is approaching. Statistics show these storms contain highly destructive winds which usually do not touch the ground plus the heavy electrical charges which do strike the ground and which claim many lives each year.

Summer weather is generally thought to be non-dangerous and many assume thunderstorms are mostly noise and fury and without danger. However, lightning from thunderstorms in late spring and early summer kill more people than does lightning at all other times of the year combined.

There are certain rules one should follow if caught in a thunderstorm, according to the Weather Bureau. If indoors, one should stay indoors and avoid electrical equipment, the telephone and plumbing fixtures. If outdoors, one should stop work on metal fences, leave tractors, especially those pulling metal implements, stay away from the tallest trees, poles and solitary fixtures and seek shelter in low areas away from water or in buildings.

There is a last, grim word of advice. Sometimes one can actually feel the first electrical charge of approaching lightning, we are told. The hair stands on end or the skin tingles. If you feel one of these danger signs, the Weather Bureau says, drop to the ground immediately. If you don't you may drop a few seconds later in more serious condition, for this is an omen of a nearby, massive electrical charge.

DEFENDING THE FLAG

The U.S. Marines helped to defend the flag in the sea fight between the Bon Homme Richard and the Serapis, September 23, 1779, when John Paul Jones made his defiant retort: "I have not yet begun to fight," according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Marines carried the Stars and Stripes to the "Shores of Tripoli" where it was hoisted at Derne, April 27, 1805, the first time our flag was flown over a fortress of the Old World. The Marines also took part in the defense of Fort Mchenry during the night of September 13, 1814, where, on the following morning, our flag inspired Francis Scott Key to write the Star-Spangled Banner.

Put on the Full

Armour

"Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God"...

In Paul's letter to the Ephesians, he makes a comparison of the children of God and warriors. He says that our loins should be girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness. He makes many more comparisons that exhort us to a proper life. Another thing that Paul urges is that we gather together and worship the Lord. No part of our armour is greater than regular church attendance. Much strength for the week is derived from worshiping with others.

Complete your suit of armour... attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Bicentennial Historical Notes

Even in an age of remarkable men, Ben Franklin stood out, printer, inventor, writer, scientist, philosopher, diplomat, statesman, he was a true jack-of-all-trades and master of most of them. He was the first to prove that lightning was electricity. He persuaded the French to help America in the fight against England. He helped write the Constitution. And when he died at the age of 84 people could say of him, as he wished, "He lived usefully", rather than "He died rich."

On Drinking

Sometime ago, a report on drinking in the New York Times Magazine indicated damage is likely to the liver, heart and brain, from moderately heavy daily drinking over a period of years.
There is still much to be learned about the extent of damage, but the following general rules are a good guide for those who wish to continue to drink moderately, and preserve their health.
The first rule is to avoid daily use of alcohol. This gives the liver a chance to recover from the toxic effect of alcohol, which has now been clearly established.
A second rule is to limit one's intake to less than eight ounces of 86-proof spirits a day, if and when drinking, or to wine or beer with an equivalent amount of alcohol.
Eat when drinking whenever possible, for food in the stomach reduces the rate at which alcohol is absorbed into the bloodstream. If you're a man, be sure you do not have elevated serum triglycerides (a simple blood test will show this) and if you do, drink nothing alcoholic or very sparingly.

The Sheriff's Job

Now this Sheriff's job is a curious one,
Like the housewife's work, it's never done.
Calls come by night and come by day,
They may be near, or miles away.
Do hurry up, says the voice of the caller.
You're badly needed in Possum Holler.
Paw's on a rampage; he's got a gun;
Been looking for Maw since half-past one.
So we jump in our flivver and hit the trail.
And drive like a streamliner carrying the mail.
Our only hope and all we can figure,
Is to be on hand when Paw pulls the trigger.
We finally arrive and amid confusion--
We learn the affair was a simple delusion.
Paw with his gun was just hunting squirrels.
Maw had gone to school with the two oldest girls.
Next day we're hunting a mottle-face cow;
That night we referee a nice family row.
Now, that's just a sample of what we do;
An endless variety of the old and the new.
It may be a prowler, a burglar, a drunk;
He may steal your billfold; your watch or your trunk.
We set out to catch him and we do our best;
We catch our percentage and lose the rest;
We can't catch them all, for some leave no clue--
They don't leave their cards, like the candidates do.
Sometime they plead guilty, and the judge will scold.
Then half the county will want them paroled.
They blame the depression, the new deal, the tariff--
But most of the folks put the blame on the Sheriff;
So, it's quite a game, if you stay right in--
You'll get a pat on the back, and a sock on the chin.
But, I like it, and I'm shedding no tears--
And I'd like to be your Sheriff for another four years.

Vote for R. G. Goodall

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. THREE:

Please accept my heartfelt thanks for the courtesy and encouragement you have given me as I visited with you as a candidate for County Commissioner of Precinct No. Three.

If you see fit to elect me as your representative on the Kent County Commissioner's Court, I pledge my best efforts to conduct the business of the County in an honorable, honest, and financially responsible manner. I believe we must not only consider the needs of our County as they exist today, but we must also look ahead and prepare for the future.

As we prepare for change, and surely changes will come with time, we must maintain a sound financial and economic base in County government and plan now for the welfare of generations to come.

It is obvious that more and more state and federal regulations have significant and often harmful impact on local communities. We must stay abreast of these changes as they are being proposed and try to influence the decisions of our state and federal law makers. I pledge that I will work to stay informed and speak out in behalf of rural areas and our County in particular.

I am a native of Stonewall County, graduated from Peacock High School in 1952, and attended Tarleton College in Stephenville for two years before serving in the Armed Forces. I am 42 years old, married and have three sons. As a resident of Kent County for fourteen years, I believe my experience in the conduct of public business, finance, working with other officials, and evaluating issues to insure that the best interest of all citizens is served, qualifies me to serve effectively as a member of the Commissioner's Court.

I ask for your consideration as a candidate for County Commissioner. Be assured that your vote and support will be sincerely appreciated.

Roy H. Parker

A PLANNED CROPPING SYSTEM

A well planned cropping system should be a vital part of every farming operation in Kent County and now is the time of year to make final plans as to amount's and kinds of crops that are to be planted. Soil building crops such as grain and forage sorghums, small grain or winter peas are needed for improvement or maintenance of good condition of your soil. To protect the soil during critical periods when erosion usually occurs and to bring about an economic return for the farmer.

A good conservation cropping system is based primarily on the type of soil that makes up the farm and must include enough high residue or soil improving crops to offset the effect of soil depleting crops such as cotton. This can be done by using a system of high residue and soil building crops such as grain sorghums, forage sorghum, small grain or winter peas in rotation with cotton or other soil depleting crops. Winter cover crops can also be employed and so an excellent job of soil building, controlling wind and water erosion in addition to furnishing added forage for livestock during the critical months.

One good point to ponder is that your land is like a bank account, you can't keep taking money out without putting some back in or sooner or later you end up with nothing left.

Your local Soil Conservation Service Personnel, William Reeder, District Conservationist or Joe McAdams, Range Conservationist or Carroll Johnson, Soil Conservation Technician will be glad to assist you in planning your Conservation Cropping System and furnish information on your soil, its needs and capabilities.

Few men think other men deserve their successes.

Anything can be funny when it happens to someone else.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. 3:

As you know I am seeking re-election as your County Commissioner. I have tried to see each one in person, but if I have missed some of you, this is to thank you for your past support.

I feel like my service and work for the county - qualify me in continuing my job as your County Commissioner. Again I ask for your support and vote.

Please Vote

TO ALL THE PEOPLE OF KENT COUNTY:

I have tried to serve you to the best of my ability for the past 4 years and will appreciate your vote in the coming election, as I would like to serve you again for the next 4 years.

I want to say Thanks' for the cooperation of both parents and younger generation.

A Big Mystery

Not everyone loves a mystery. For instance, why are farmers and ranchers in the Great Plains destroying windbreaks and shelterbelts planted to control wind erosion?

The Great Plains Agricultural Council is sponsoring a symposium in Denver, Colorado, April 19-22, 1976, to explore reasons and issues for the destruction of windbreaks and shelterbelts planted as far back as the dust bowl days.

In June 1976, the U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO) reported that "Support for continued use of windbreaks in the Great Plains is diminishing," and that many windbreaks and shelterbelts, some established with government cost-sharing, are being destroyed. Changes in farming systems, shifts in land use, and other factors may be involved, but farmers, foresters, scientists and conservationists will discuss the possibility that many of the plantings are being needlessly destroyed.

Dr. Ralph Bohannon, director of the Kansas State University Extension will introduce the topic. Mel Davis, administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, Washington, D.C., will summarize the problem.

Farmers Bryce Nedig of Madison, Nebraska; Mrs. Leon Silkman of Burlington, Colorado; Charles Robbins of Florence, S.D.; and James Gochenauer, Calahan, Colorado, will address the symposium. University and USDA people from the ten Great Plains states will also appear on the program.

The symposium is expected to respond to the GAO report by outlining actions and studies to promote the value of windbreaks for their protective benefit to people, land, livestock, and wildlife on the Plains.

Colonies Strongly Consider Independent Movement

It now can be stated with relative certainty: The Patriots fighting in America now seek complete independence from Britain. What started out long ago as a series of skirmishes and demonstrations supporting relatively mild forms of increased freedom from direct British rule now almost certainly will lead to a struggle for absolute independence.

On April 12, the Carolina Congress empowered its delegates to the Continental Congress to vote for a declaration of independence, and obvious other colonies do likewise.

A brief synopsis has caused this process of development order. At this point, brink of a major decision by Congress.

At the base of the struggle for independence are the people who the settlers who left some years ago to new life in a new nature most of these were independent venturesome, not government by any alone a king located a vast ocean. These as could be reacted with every attempt by Britain made attempts.

At the end of the and Indian War, stance, the British trouble when they protect both Indian settlers from continuing settlement west. Then in 1794, ment passed the ever to try to raise from the colonies crown--the Sugar Act restrictions and trade, and it did well with the settlers.

That same year British forbade the to issue their own and a year later passed the Stamp of the Quartering Act, of a series of measures began to tax the patience and pocket.

Demonstrations, liets and speeches British control became common during 1760's and the became more as restrictive as a res colonists shouted against taxation representation, he would gladly have representation if sation were eliminated.

In 1773, Parliament the unpopular Patriots is reacted by dumping chests of British Boston Harbor--the "Tea Party" resulted in a series of acts against the in turn led to the the 1st Congress on Sept. This meeting of from most of the was an important toward self-government.
