Sheriff R. G. Goodall Overcomes Writein by Larry Williams

In the voting in Kent County's general election held here Tuesday, Sheriff, Assessor and Collector G. Goodall staved off a writein campaign by Larry Williams to unseat him, getting 400 votes to 126 by Williams.

It appeared Wednesday morning that Democrat Jimmy Carter had unseated President Gerald Ford.

Carter took only a narrow lead in Texas. Kent County gave a nice margin to Carter 474-121. All of the South Plains Counties in the general area went to Carter, except Scurry. In King Carter led 100-96, Jenkins 1222-343, Crosby 2176-897, Floyd 81-1402, 1880-1641, Howard 3245-1628, Motley 4-428.

In the upper Plains and the Panhandle Ford carried many of the counties.

The water amendments lost over the State. In Kent County they carried with a slight margin. No. 1 carried 222-206, and No. 2 238-188.

CK THOSE 1977 SEED TAGS

Farmers buying certified seed to plant their 1977 crop should pay particular attention to the labels on the bag--there's been a change. Certified seed sold after July 1 must bear two labels--one certifying the variety and the other indicating a number of seed quality factors. Look out a cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Farmers must check both labels to get the complete story on the seed. In the past seed was labeled for both variety and quality factors.

An Old Antique

The Boll Weevil Spraying Continues

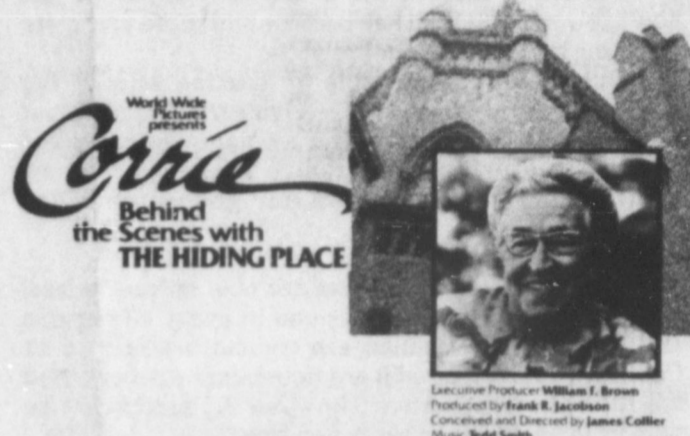

Spraying for the cotton boll weevil in the diapause program will continue in Kent County in fields that were not killed by frost and have a high weevil count. Some areas of Kent County received a killing frost and some did not.

USDA survey teams are continuing to check fields for insect counts. Spraying is planned for Thursday and Friday in fields that still have green bolls and high weevil counts.

The County Extension Agent attended a meeting with USDA and research personnel in Lubbock recently to plan the diapause program.

The diapause control program has been very beneficial in helping to control the overwintering boll weevil population.

Color Film To Be Shown In Jayton Methodist Church 7th

Corrie: Behind the Scenes with "The Hiding Place", a new full length color release from World Wide Pictures, will be shown at the First United Methodist Church in Jayton, this Sunday night, November 7 at 7:00 o'clock.

This is a co-operative effort of the five churches in Jayton, the First Baptist Church, Assembly of God Church, Church of Christ, Catholic Church and United Methodist. Planning for this movie in the Jayton community has been going on for several weeks among the various ministers.

This movie is being shown in churches of various denominations throughout the country.

"The Hiding Place", a true story filmed in Holland and other European locations, is based on the experiences of Corrie Ten Boom, who, with her father, sister, and brother, proved refuge for countless Jewish families. A secret room was constructed in their home as a hiding place for use during Gestapo raids. The Ten Boom's activities were discovered, and they were sent to prisons and concentration camps.

According to Kenneth Bliss, Director of Distribution for World Wide Pictures, "The Hiding Place" has been extremely well received, both by audiences and film critics. "Corrie was produced to give people who have seen "The Hiding Place" or read her many best-selling books an opportunity to hear her share many of her memories about her life in Holland, her family, and her lifetime of service to others."

Bliss added that the film "offers a great lesson in the perseverance of a personal faith in a very dark and trying period of world history. Corrie Ten Boom, now in her eighties, has a tremendous vitality, a deep spiritual commitment, and a profound love for her fellow man. We believe we have succeeded in transmitting a part of her zest, personality, and source of strength through this film."

Bliss noted that the film includes "interesting sidelights on the experiences of the cast and crew during the filming of the Hiding Place".

The Rev. Gene B. Louder, pastor of the Jayton United Methodist Church and other ministers of the town stress that the showing of Corrie is open to the public. They encourage families to plan to attend together, and are expecting a large crowd, for what they believe will be a memorable experience.

Lanny Hall, No. 74, is a sophomore who plays tackle, nose tackle and kicker. He weighs 226 pounds and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Hall, Jr. Lanny has lived in Jayton for ten years.

Last year, Lanny played tackle and kicker. He completed six tackles. Coach Richey says, "Lanny is our starting strong running offensive and is doing a fine job as a sophomore. He should be one of the top linemen in West Texas when he graduates."

Roy Cheyne, No. 80, is a sophomore who plays for the Jaybirds. He has resided in Jayton thirteen years and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Cheyne.

According to his coach, "This is the first year for Roy to play football and he has come a long way with his football skills this year."

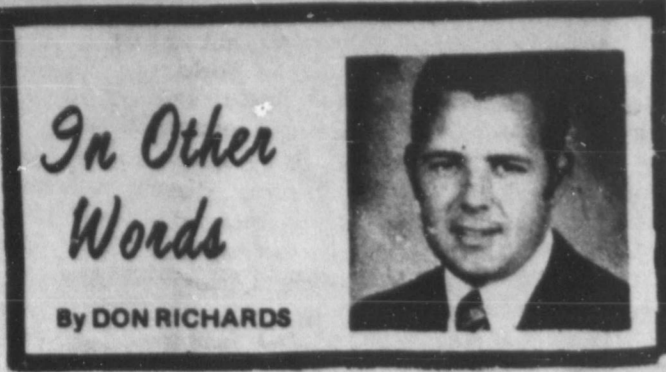

Playing center for the Jayton Jaybirds is sophomore George Johnson who wears jersey 51. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Johnson. George has lettered one year and is active in band, basketball, golf, and tennis.

His coach states, "George is our starting center as a sophomore and does an outstanding job for punt snaps and extra points too."

Robert Segura, No. 44, plays tailback for the Jaybirds. He has resided in Jayton for sixteen years and is now a sophomore. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ygnacio Gomez.

Robert is active in basketball and track. His coach states, "Robert has done a good job at running punts back this year and has had some outstanding games at tailback. We are looking for a great year out of Robert next year."

If you are one of those who believes that more working folks in this country are gettin' ripped off by welfare and food stamps, you'll appreciate the story printed by Walter Buckel in his Lamesa Press-Reporter last week.

A welfare recipient borrowed a country ham from the farm where he had part-time work, but didn't tell the farmer he had borrowed it. He went downtown and sold the ham to a grocer for $27. He used $20 of the $27 to buy $80 worth of food stamps for which he was eligible.

The man then bought $51 worth of groceries and bought back the ham for $29 worth of food stamps. The ham was returned to the farmer's smokehouse. The grocer mad a profit, the farmer got his ham back and the welfare recipient ended up with $7 cash and $51 worth of groceries.

More and more often it becomes apparent just how big our Uncle Sam has become and more and more alarming that he continues to grow.

Businesses are not able to function without Big Brother looking over their shoulders, mapping out their operations and throwing red tape on top of red tape. But, few people really realize just how cumbersome and awesome our government has become.

According to reports:

--Five million Americans are now on the federal payroll. That means there is one in every 43 persons and of these, 2.9 million are civilian workers in 11 Cabinet departments, 59 are dependent agencies and the federal court system. The other 2.1 million are on active duty with the military services.

--The government spends an amount equal to almost 25 percent of the nation's total out-put of goods and services.

--One-third of the nation's land--760 million acres--is owned by Washington. The government holds title to 405,000 buildings that cost $91 billion and it pays more than $663 million a year in rent for another 54,000 buildings. It occupies a total of 443 million square feet of office space--an amount equal to 96 Sears Towers, the 110 floor Chicago building that is the world's tallest.

--Twenty-five percent of the funds expended by state and local governments comes from the federal government. Grants this year will amount to $60 billion.

--The number of different federal forms has dropped this year--from 5,148 to 4,504. The material they generate each year would fill 11 Washington monuments. About 211,000 secretaries, typists and clerks are employed by the government to handle the paperwork.

But, the story doesn't stop there. The magnitude of the federal government can be seen in the 1,026 different aid programs administered by the federal government workers who also deal with the public at more than 34,000 offices around the country. They received advice from 1,240 advisory boards.

Those things come only from within the government establishment itself. It administers, through its various agencies, the distribution of some 10 billion sheets of paper each year that businesses are required to fill out.

That paperwork itself figures out to about 10 forms for every man, woman and child in the U.S.

The U.S. public spends some $40 billion on paperwork each year, the federal government spends about $15 billion to process paperwork, small business spends about $18 million completing paperwork, the U.S. government spends about $1 billion for forms, another billion for directives accompanying forms and another $1.7 billion to file and store those forms.

Those statistics, by the way, were compiled by the Commission on Federal Paperwork.

November, 7th

Back in 1942 American troops made their first thrust at Germany in World War II on November 7th. Hitler had declared war on America several days after the Japanese had sneak-attacked Pearl Harbor in December of 1941.

United States military forces were not ready for war, much less a two ocean war, but there was a desire to do something in the first year. U.S. Marines invaded Guadalcanal in August of 1942 (after the great victory at Midway in June) and U.S. forces landed in French-administered North Africa November 7th. Thus in the first twelve months of the conflict U.S. forces were on the offensive against both its major enemies.

North Africa gave U.S. military forces the bleeding they need for tougher fighting that lay ahead. U.S. fighters, P-39's, P-40's and P-38's, were roughly handled by the Luftwaffe's Me 109's. U.S. ground troops suffered sharp defeats in some cases, though outnumbering the enemy heavily.

TIPS FOR HOMEOWNERS

FIRE SAFETY
Keep the possibility of fire in your home down to a minimum by following these essential fire safety tips:

1. Make frequent checks of your electric wiring system to make sure it's adequate, especially if you've recently added large appliances.
2. Don't allow grease to build up on stove tops.
3. Don't let rubbish accumulate.
4. Don't empty ashtrays into waste baskets, as a smoldering butt can start a blaze.

COOL IDEA--Make sure your home is equipped with fire safety devices.

5. Install a smoke detector, which could prove indispensable, should fire occur. It senses smoke before it becomes visible and sends out a loud, shrill signal that will penetrate even the deepest sleep. Called Smokey, it's made by Norelco and operates on a 9 volt alkaline battery.
6. Have a good fire extinguisher handy. The Flame Fighter Charger by Norelco is easy to operate and refillable and extinguishes grease, oil, electrical, and paint fire. It's handsomely styled, suitable for any room.
7. Cover paint cans tightly and secure the lids. Make sure brushes are clean.

If you follow these tips you'll be taking the first step toward protecting your family from the perils of fire.

Americans have a right to be proud of the beautiful structures erected and dedicated to the service of our Lord. David had a great desire to build a temple for the Lord, but because of his sins he was not allowed to complete it. . . . The building completed by Solomon was used as God's house until the people strayed from God, and then it was destroyed. God has no desire for the building without the people.

Information About The New Garments

COLLEGE STATION--Some garments made of natural fibers and woven fabrics may shrink more in washing than the consumer had planned. Such shrinkage can affect the utility of a garment, Marlene Odle, a clothing specialist, says.

"Although today most fabrics are pre-shrunk to eliminate such a size problem, most garments or fabric over-the-counter that has two to three percent residual shrinkage can change the size of a garment noticeably. Garments marked as such usually have special care instructions to prevent shrinkage, which can be controlled with special treatment. A good example of this is cotton gauze shirts or tops," she said.

Miss Odle is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"If uncertain about the shrinking qualities of a garment, flatwork ironing tends to stretch fabrics. Dry the garment on a flat surface. Arrange the garment for pressing by applying some tension to the fabric to straighten the yarns. Press the garment lying in this position. Mechanical tumble drying can cause more shrinking," the specialist said.

If, however, the consumer finds that the shrinkage is excessive, even after hand ironing, the garment should be returned to the stores where it was purchased, she advised.

The Green Berets

A military group which gained fame during the Vietnam war was the Green Berets. In Vietnam they carried on guerrilla warfare but primarily countered the enemy's guerrilla warfare. Now their role is expanding.

The Green Berets are still a special, elite force. But emphasis is not being devoted to special guerrilla-like missions. The Special Forces, as they're called, are being trained to rescue kidnapped U.S. diplomats, to carry out guerrilla operations of their own, etc. Perhaps the recent daring rescue of a planeload of hostages in a hostile country by Israeli special forces set an eye-opening example.

The Green Berets, now only 3,000 strong compared to a Vietnam war strength of 8,000, are sure to be needed if the world trend toward terrorism and kidnapping is not checked.

Wedding Plans Told

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Alexander of Jayton are announcing the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Miss Mickey Alexander to Bert W. Bratton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bratton of Rochelle, Saturday, December 4 at 3:30 p.m. in the United Methodist Church of Jayton.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Jayton high school and attended Angelo State University and is a graduate of Texas State Technical Institute of Sweetwater. She is a certified dental assistant. The prospective bride-groom is a graduate of Brady High School and attended Southwest Texas Junior College in Uvalde.

All friends are cordially invited to attend the wedding.

Pep Rally Held

The pep rally was held at 5:15, October 29, in the gymnasium.

The sophomores won the spirit stick. Skit: Three Indian braves (Robert Partridge, Katy Capps, and Donny Shipp) and a chief (Bobby Capps) were trying to discover a way to beat the Jaybirds in a game that Friday night.

The braves and chief ate something that made them sick so they called in some doctors. They didn't know it at the time but the doctors were witch doctors and they were the Jaybirds. The witch doctors were LeAnn Kuenstler, Kathy McMeans, Sally Garcia, and Shelly Williams.

After the Indians had drunk the medicine, they realized that they had been poisoned by the birds.

On Population

The latest population estimates for the world's 164 countries show Red China with more than 950,000,000 people--a greater population than official Chinese census figures admit.

The figures estimate Indian population at more than 650,000,000. After China and India, Russia is the world's third most populous country, with 257,000,000 inhabitants.

The United States, with a growth rate higher than that of the Soviet Union, is fourth, with 222,000,000. These four countries contain half the world's people. Only three other countries contain more than a hundred million inhabitants.

The next three, in population size, are Indonesia (143 million), Brazil (113 million) and Japan (112 million). A fascinating feature of the new estimates of the Environmental Fund in Washington is the conclusion that some countries (Britain, Austria, Malta and Barbados) have achieved zero growth. Others (East Germany, Portugal) are experiencing population declines.

Taste

Americans are often unaware that among educated and cultured families of the Old World, new American ways, unreserved behavior, haste, informality, commonality, etc., often comes as a repugnant shock.

And to many Americans these upper classes, still clinging to individuality, reserve, dignity, restraint, etc., seem out of date. The advantaged citizens of the Old World look at the behavior of Americans with something of the distaste with which Americans view Russian commonality or commonness.

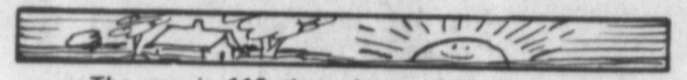

If we look closely at ourselves, and the commercialism and mass production which activates our behavior, one can understand some of the reactions.

Inexpensive, mass-produced junk can bring an end to quality oriented goods and services. Constant brainwashing by television can affect the life style of millions. The shouting, common behavior seen in practically all television programming has its effect.

Americans need make no apology for the American way of life. Taken all in all, it is best for the most. But we need not sacrifice all quality, individuality, discriminating taste, good manners and dignity along the way.

The television market place threatens American standards. Control of that market place is squarely and firmly in the hands of three commercial television networks. They teach crime and common behavior, and no one can apparently do anything about it.

The tastelessness of it all is appalling. We see a man and woman in a boat on a beautiful lake; they talk about constipation! We are deluged by a flood of stupid claims about toilet paper. We are inundated with glamorized crime, drinking, sordid sex, etc. No wonder some are repulsed by the tastelessness of it all.

The sun is 110 times larger than the earth.

Picture above shows a grassed waterway on a local farm that has been in operation for several years. This was a badly eroded gully until it was shaped and seeded to grass and now there is no erosion present.

Grassed Waterways Can Be Valuable

By Carroll Johnson

A grassed waterway can be a valuable asset to the farmer for the disposal of excess water without damage by erosion or flooding. Where the excess water is of such volume that it cannot be safely handled by a diversion, a waterway is usually the only solution to the problem.

Waterways are usually sowed to grass and can be fenced off and will furnish a certain amount of grazing for livestock if not overgrazed. In some cases waterways can be planted to an annual close spaced feed crop if the velocity will permit.

Waterways also make an excellent emergency outlet for terraces and will prevent erosion when you get a rain that the terraces will not handle and the end closures break.

For further information on waterways contact the Soil Conservation Service located in the Court House and assisting the Duck Creek Soil and Water Conservation District.

KENT COUNTY LIBRARY BOOK REVIEW

RICH MAN, POOR MAN by Irwin Shaw
It began with dancing in the streets after World War II. It ended with riots in many of the same streets. It was the quarter-century when America grew up, and the American dream grew old.

Irwin Shaw focuses on these years in a novel of epic proportions. Rich Man, Poor Man is the story of Rudolph, Grethen, and Thomas Jordache, children of an embittered German immigrant. Nurtured on traditional view of American success, each pursues the illusion of happiness in his own way, determined to achieve his "birthright."

Starting with their teen-age years in a Hudson River town, Irwin Shaw follows the Jordaches from Greenwich Village to Hollywood, from a small town in Ohio to a luxury resort in the Mediterranean. In doing so, he presents us with a sweeping panorama of the postwar United States, from the neuroticism of the McCarthy era to the overnight success stories of the post-depression boom.

The topic will be "Knotty Problems in the South" and she said all questions will be welcome.

The organization extends an invitation to everyone to come enjoy this very interesting meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the community center.

The following comments we found interesting and take them from James Roberts' "Drifting Sands" column in the Andrews County News:

This country needs a 55 mile an hour speed limit about as much as it needs another friend like India.

It's totally unwarranted, unnecessary, unjustified, undesirable, and unsafe!

It was passed in a heat of passion by Eastern Congressmen whose constituents couldn't drive 55 mile an hour on those crowded, crooked, narrow Northeast highways if they had a siren, red lights, and a bull horn.

The speed limit penalizes the only state in the Union that cares two hoots to a hootowl whether or not we solve the energy crisis or not. Texans are forced to creep along in 100 mph cars on 80 mph highways while trying to make time in a state that for five straight years has pumped its oil and gas wells wide open.

It's ridiculous!

This nation was suppose to become energy independent by 1985. Hogwash! Two years ago when a lot of drivers couldn't buy gas for their cars, the politicians rushed to the rescue. We would mine more coal, develop nuclear plants, have a crash program on solar energy, would drill and develop new oil fields off the coasts and would speed up development of the Alaskan oil fields.

And above all, we would conserve gasoline by driving fifty-five on the highways.

The end result after all the headlines and hot air? Coal production is up only six percent because environmentalists scream about the smoke that coal produces. And since the price of coal is not controlled by the federal government, coal costs more than cheap natural gas and oil which is controlled by the federal government.

Not one single new nuclear power plant has been built in this country since the Arabs first placed an embargo on oil...environmentalists claim the plants are too dangerous. And the Atlantic states from Florida to Maine have screamed to the high heavens about offshore leasing for oil and gas production...they don't want the facilities clogging up the Eastern seaboard.

Washington Promoted

George Washington, who ably led both hard-pressed American armies in the Revolution and the nation as President for eight years, was recently promoted to General of the Armies.

The idea originated in New York. Bronx Congressman Mario Biaggi introduced a bill promoting Washington to six-star rank, above all other generals and admirals, at the request of veterans' organizations in his district.

President Ford signed the bill shortly before election day and thus General Washington's rank is elevated above that of all other military men in the nation's history. General John Pershing was also made General of the Armies by Congress at the end of World War I, and some argue this meant six-star rank. But only Washington enjoys that clear distinction.

Perhaps it should remain that way, without Washington's leadership and ability to influence his fellow men, there might not have been other purely American armies, and generals, in the years thereafter.

Cattle On Feed Declines... From 1867 To 1976... $3.10 To $57.70.

The number of cattle on feed in Texas and nationwide is showing a downward trend, according to the latest report from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Cattle and calves on feed in Texas feedlots totaled 1,460,000 head as of Oct. 1. This is down two per cent below a year ago and is one per cent below the Sept. 1 count.

Nationwide, cattle and calves on feed were down less than one per cent from a year ago.

Feedlot operators in Texas intend to market 800,000 cattle through the rest of this year. This would be 55 per cent of the number on feed as of Oct. 1 and represents an increase of four per cent from marketings during the same period a year ago.

Cattle and calves placed on feed during the July 1 to Sept. 30 quarter totaled 921,000 head; this is seven per cent below the corresponding quarter last year.

Marketings of fed cattle from Texas feedlots totaled 1,001,000 during the July 1 to Sept. 30 quarter; this is up 36 per cent from the same period in 1975.

In the October totals, steers accounted for 62 per cent of the cattle on feed and heifers made up 48 per cent.

IF YOU THINK LIVESTOCK PRICES ARE LOW now, consider prices of 40 years ago and even a century and more ago.

A hundred years ago, the average cattle price was less than $9 per head; the year of 1868 was apparently the lowest ever, with an average value of slightly more than $4 per head.

These and a host of other figures about the Texas livestock industry from 1867 through 1975 are contained in a report titled Texas Historic Livestock Statistics.

On a price-per-pound basis, the report begins with the year 1924. And as you might expect, the low years were in the Great Depression of the 1930's.

Cattle prices in 1932, 1933, and 1934 ranged from $3.10 per hundredweight to $3.30. Calf prices ranged from $3.60 to $3.90 per hundredweight.

The highest average price per pound for cattle came in 1973 with a 44 cent figure. The highest price for calves was also in 1973 with a 57.70 cent average.

The year of 1873 records the lowest total number of cattle in Texas, with 4,600,000 head. Last year, the record number of cattle and calves in the state was set with 16,600,000 head.

Hog prices had their ups and downs, too. In 1867, the value of a hog was placed at just under $2. The highest hog price came in December of 1975 with an average value of $67.50 per hundredweight.

Lamb prices have varied from a low of $2.35 in 1932 to $16.40 in 1973.

Milk cows ranged in value from a low of $6.70 per head in 1869 to a high of $380 in 1974.

Absorbing Biography Of Great Woman

Her training came mostly from her experience as a nurse in the Australian bush. And, despite the fact that her scientific training was less than formal, she developed a regimen of physical therapy that eased the pain and restored to use the muscles of many victims of polio.

Her name was Sister Kenny, and for years before today's polio vaccines drastically reduced the incidence of polio, her therapy was the hope of those afflicted with paralyzing polio. Many of her patients were returned to useful, functional lives.

Sister Kenny's persistent fight for acceptance of her new treatment is told in a recently published book, "Sister Kenny: The Woman Who Challenged The Doctors," written by award-winning science writer Victor Cohn. It is the first complete biography of this courageous and controversial figure, a pioneer feminist.

Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the Salk polio vaccine, calls her biography "a fascinating story of indomitable courage." Barbara Seaman, a leader in the new feminist health movement, says, "Sister Kenny was a pioneer in woman's battle for independence."

This remarkable well-written biography of a great woman makes fascinating reading and will appeal to a large audience.

Criticism is a study by which men grow important and formidable at very small expense.

Farmers Have Sure Fire Plan To Control Deficit

HOUSTON--The president of the 2,500,000 member family American Farm Bureau Federation says that farm and ranch families have a sure-fire plan to do away with federal deficit spending.

The solution? No salary increases for any elected federal official until the federal budget is balanced.

Speaking Thursday (Oct. 28) before an agribusiness seminar called by the Houston Chamber of Commerce, Federation President Allan Grant praised Texas state "pay as you go" fiscal policies.

"If states like Texas can operate on a strict balanced budget, so can the rest of the states, and so can this nation..." Grant said.

He said that farm and ranch people suggest an amendment to the U.S. Constitution requiring the Congress operate on a balanced budget each year, and that only in extreme national emergencies should the requirement be waived through concurrence of the House, Senate and executive branch.

"And while we're at it, let's knock out legislative authority for wage and price controls. They deal with symptoms and not the causes of inflation. They are broken crutch, and a temptation for political misuse..." Grant said.

The farm leader noted that the economic climate of Texas has been attractive to industrial growth, and linked this attraction to the fact that Texas is a right-to-work state "known for its fair-but-firm-attitude toward organized labor."

"Agriculture has been concerned about what appears to be the growing monopoly power of labor unions. We see government officials, political candidates and social leaders going out of their way to appeal to, and appease, organized labor."

"If you--as businessmen--were to engage in some of the practices common to organized labor, you would be vulnerable to Federal Trade Commission and Justice Department scrutiny, and possible action."

"While raising food prices through harvest time strikes of fruit and vegetable processors, through antiquated methods to make work, through featherbedding and slow-downs, union leaders have tried to distract consumer attention by suggesting that farmers cause higher food prices." Grant said.

He added that labor costs now represent more than half of the total food marketing bill, and make up 67.4 percent of the average food store's total operating costs.

Grant said it is unfortunate that repeal of the state right-to-work laws has become a major issue in the Presidential campaign. He noted that in 20 states including Texas, the right of a worker to freely decide whether to join a union or not, has been protected by the law.

"In 30 other states, that precious right of free decision has been abridged."

"Farmers believe that the Constitution of the United States guarantees to each individual the freedom to engage in worthwhile work of his choosing and that this freedom must not be contingent upon paying homage, or union dues, to any individual organization," Grant concluded.

CATTLE FEEDING SHOWS INCREASE

Despite high feed prices and continued pressure on fed cattle prices, cattle feeding increased in the seven major cattle feeding states during the past year, notes livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The number of cattle on feed in the states on September 1 was up 8 percent over last year totals while in Texas the increase was even higher--10 percent. Placement of cattle and calves on feed was sharply in August compared to last year--10 percent
