Thank Goodness,
There's No Video!

I am just thankful that my husband didn't have the video camera with him. Otherwise, everyone up in this part of the world would have as big a laugh as everyone in Progresso, Mexico did...and all at my expense.

Thomas and I went to visit my cousin, Bob and Medora Williams, this past weekend down in the Rio Grande Valley.

We went shopping over in Progresso, just across the Mexican border. There are so many neat things to buy, at bargain prices. The catch is that we walk across the international bridge, which usually precludes us buying anything very large.

When we arrived at the Williams' condo in Pt. Isabel, she had a lovely little pearly colored crane figurine out on the deck. She had purchased it in Mexico for $5, and I decided immediately I wanted one.

But, when we arrived at the place with all the cranes, they had one that was life sized. That's right, three and one half feet tall, heavy as lead. Of course I HAD to have that one. It would look so nice on the stump out on our dam where we lost the willow to ice last winter.

The only catch was that this one, which cost all of $10, was garishly painted. The beak and feet are bright, airbrushed yellow, the reeds at the base a poisonous green, the eye a brilliant, somewhat angry looking red! Still, for that price, what harm? I figured on repainting it and it would be so handsome. A similar piece bought at a garden center around here would cost $100 or more.

Well, there is a price to be paid for bargains, my friends.

Everyone else was loaded down with ironwood carvings, big bottles of vanilla, a ceramic parrot. In fact, we made jokes about going "birding" since a huge ironwood eagle, the parrot and the crane meant three out of four of us were totting "birds" across the border.

The kind lady at the shop insisted on bagging my bird into a gigantic, heavy, clear plastic sack. It was slick.

Off we went, loaded with loot, me cradling the crane easily on my shoulder. But as I walked, the crane shifted, carrying my coat with it.

I shifted it to the other shoulder. Same thing. I tried carrying it like an oversized baby, in both arms. After the first ten minutes that paled too. So, the rest of the journey over the international bridged (how DO they make the bridge get so much longer on the return trip?) I desperately tried to grip the crane, which was gaining pounds with each step, I swear.

Finally, though, we reached the checkpoint. I realized everyone behind me was smiling and laughing as I finally set that blasted thing down. Then, I realized everyone was wondering what I wanted with anything so hideously painted, anyway! So, I began babbling that I was going to repaint it. One gentleman said "Thank heavens!". It was all, to say the least, a bit embarrassing. But, at least there is no proof it ever happened. When I get a chance I'll paint it up nicely, and then everyone is invited to come see my treasure. One thing's for sure...I earned it!

And the snow came down

Snow, snow, then more snow was the day long situation in this part of the world Tuesday.

Beginning about 5:00 a.m. Tuesday, the fluffy, moist snow fell all day long. Until noon or so, very little stuck, as the temperature hovered above freezing. Only trees, bushes and car roofs had an accumulation of much depth.

Later in the afternoon temperatures began to drop and accidents on roads began to occur as roads began to get slick and bridges to ice. Accumulation totals began to stack up, and four to five inches graced the land!

It was perfect for making snowmen, and school kids rushed home after classes to begin making them in abundance.

Wednesday, the area was incredibly beautiful, and there was a chance of additional snowfall, while roads were reasonably good.

Country Cooking
By Liz Irwin

Our cooks this week come to use from Blossom School. They are Gayla Williams, Dixie Lewis, Denise St. John and Judy Anderson. These ladies are up at the crack of dawn preparing delicious and nutritious meals for the students at Blossom in grades K-8 along with faculty and staff members.

Students are offered breakfast each morning, along with a noon meal. The breakfast vary from cereal, to scrambled eggs and toast, breakfast burritos and everyone's favorite, breakfast pizza. The kids love it!

Although the menu has changed from the past, students are offered some of their favorites for lunch also. One of their favorites for lunch is the chicken strips or chicken nuggets. They can also get corny dogs, hot dogs, hamburgers and other dishes that they enjoy. The meals also include milk and juice for breakfast and milk for lunch along with vegetables or salads and breads.

Wednesday is the big day for the cooks as they prepare chicken or chicken fried steak and hot rolls, cream gravy, green beans and mashed potatoes. Several times of the year, especially around the holidays, they pull out the turkey and dressing recipes and it is a hands-down favorite. There are usually extra visitors on these days, with parents and grandparents enjoying lunch with their child or children.

We know that there are very few times that you will need recipes that can handle 50 or more people, but we wanted you to see what these ladies and all of the other cooks around the area prepare and the quantities that they have to use for meals each day. Be sure to go by and thank these lunch ladies (in all schools) for the great job they do feeding the students and taking care of them for you! Hope you enjoy them and we will see you in the kitchen!

OATMEAL COOKIES-several times a week, the ladies prepare cookies for the students and they are really good!

APPLESAUCE CAKE-another favorite of students and teachers!

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS-everyone loves blueberry muffins.....maybest not in this quantity.....serves 110!

COLE SLAW-you will need lots of potato salad to go along with this recipe!

VEGETABLE BEEF SOUP-uses ground beef and lots of it.....45 pounds!

CORNBREAD DRESSING-this is the best dressing recipe and lots of students and visitors enjoy this!

BLOSSOM HISTORY--The Georgia Elliott Watson Library has received a number of photos from Dave Tipton, great-grandson of George Hill, who was a constable for Blossom in the late 1800's and early 1900's. George is the brother of Ben Hill, who was murdered in Blossom around that time and his murderer was hanged in Paris. This picture was taken in front of the jail. Is this the same jail that used to sit in City Park, and does anyone know who these men are? Anyone with information on this picture is asked to contact the Library. It's a great addition to the history of Blossom.

Lady Rebels defeated by Lady Mustangs of Chisum

by Coach Debbie Williams

January 29, 2002 the Lady Rebels had a home game against their rival, the Chisum Lady Mustangs. We prepared for their size and we knew rebounding was a key to winning. We had to keep them off the offensive boards at all times and the 1st half, we did. We controlled the boards, hustled and scrapped at all times on defense and on our press and or trap. They didn't get easy buckets off of us during the first half. We had good shot selections on the offensive end because we were all working for the ball and if nothing was available, we ran our offenses. We went into the half time with a 30-14 point lead. But, then the 2nd half began.

We knew their defense would step up and become tighter. We knew that they would look inside more on offense, we knew that, but, did not play up to that. The third quarter we were outscored 27-13. We began turning the ball over, not even attempting to see if our offenses were there and gave them too many offensive rebounds. At one possession they took 5 shots before they scored. This didn't happen the 1st half and the 2nd half all 5 Lady Rebels on the floor knew they were responsible for the rebound and we had 2 to 3 working and it ma be a different 2 to 3 the next shot. We quit moving our feet on 1/2 court defense and they. They started driving to the hole and we just stood and let her go. This is not how you play with a lead, or if you are behind... Chisum stepped up and we quit stepping. The score at the end of the 3rd quarter; 43 Lady Rebels-41 Lady Mustangs.

The 4th quarter, again, we didn't have the same intensity as in the 1st half. Instead of stopping the ball, playing good hardworking, moving our feet defense, we stood. We seemed more worried about not fouling. Well, as they know, if you play good solid "D" and box out, you have a less chance of fouling, instead of standing, letting them drive and then reaching out there and still fouling because you are out of position.

We put them on the line and they hit 23 for 38 from the free throw line and we were 14 of 27 from the free throw line for the night. They outscored us 25-14 in the fourth. Final score, Chisum Lady Mustangs 66; Lady Rebels 57.

We have two games left in the season. Friday night at Prairiland, which will be a dog fight. They are hungry to win, but so are we. And our last game of the season is at home Tuesday against Paul Hewitt. They had the first victory and we will be working for the second. The Lady Rebels will finish the season strong and we appreciate the support our spectators have given us. The last two games should be good ones and our goal is to WIN both games using all we have physically, mentally and emotionally, which is a large, total package we must have.

Note: The Lady Rebels won their game over the Prairiland Lady Patriots on Friday night and Tuesday night's game with Paul Hewitt was canceled due to snow, but, will be played Thursday, Feb. 7.

Local youth donates hair to needy

By Liz Irwin

Lisa Somerville is not your average high school teen. She is a go-getter and has many activities beside school. Lisa is a 16-year old junior at Detroit High School. Along with being active in her school activities, Lisa is also in the 4-H Club and is a Detroit FFA member.

While surfing on the internet one day, she came across "Locks For Love". What is this organization all about she asked? Further investigation found that it was a non-profit organization, solely for providing hairpieces to financially disadvantaged children across the United States and under 18 years of age.

After checking out the pictures of some of these youths and understanding what they must be going through, she took a long look in the mirror. What did she see? Well, if you know Lisa, it was a full head of long, beautiful, black hair! She had been growing it for years and had decided not to have it cut.....until now. She said the time was right and she could help some very wonderful children in the process. She knew that it was the right decision and her hair would help someone a lot more than it was helping her.

As you can see in the pictures, some child is going to be very lucky when they receive Lisa's hair. What next.....she found out the steps that she needed to take for the entire process. It goes something like this: All hair needed to be at least 10 inches in length, tip to tip. Hair needed to be in a braid or ponytail and placed in a plastic bag for protection. Hair needed to be clean and dry. Any hair would be accepted whether it be from a man or woman, young or old and all colors and races. Hair that is unacceptable for children is separated and sold at fair market price to offset the cost of manufacturing.

They found that the majority of the hair that comes to the organization is from children who wish to help other children. This idea meets a unique need for children throughout the United States by using donated hair to create the highest quality hair prosthetics. Most of the children helped by Locks of Love have lost their hair due to a medical condition called ALOPECIA AREATA, which had no known cause or cure. The prostheses they provide help to restore their self-esteem and their confidence, enabling them to face the world and their peers.

Locks of Love is not a manufacturer of any type of hair replacement product or hair care product. They are in no way affiliated with any non-profit hair replacement business and none of the employees are either. The organization began in 1997 and has helped over 600 children since its first year of operation. Children comprise over 80% of the donors. This makes it a charity where children have an opportunity to help other children.

They provide the children with a custom, vacuum-fitted hairpiece made entirely of donated human hair. The vacuum-fit is designed for children who have experienced a total loss of scalp hair and does not require the use of tape or glue. If you would like to learn more about this organization, pull up their website at www.locksoflove.org. They are located in Palm Springs, Florida.

So you see, there is hope for our youth yet. Lisa is just one among many who have their priorities in place and set goals for her future. She is the 16 year old daughter of Tim and Marcelle Somerville of Detroit and is a junior at Detroit High School. She is the granddaughter of J.C. and Hattie Abernathy of Bogata, Texas and John and Connie Somerville of Bagwell, Texas.

BEFORE: Lisa Somerville's hair was long before she donated it to "Locks of Love". The donated hair will go to some child in need of the prostheses.

AFTER: Some child will be lucky to receive Lisa Somerville's hair that she donated to "Locks of Love" for disadvantaged children.

Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.
-Benjamin Franklin

THE RENOVATION of the Cuthhand Church has been completed and the congregation is very proud of the new improvements. Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor:
If the merger between Cap Rock and Lamar Electric Co-op is completed, your electric bill might be 41% higher than they are now.

How can LEC members go with another Co-op when Cap Rock Energy has determined to adopt a "wait and see" approach? Ask your board of directors about this.

Come to the Lamar Electric Co-op membership meeting on February 16 at Love Civic Center at 2 p.m. on Saturday to discuss important matters concerning your electric rates.

Torch day is February 8

Christus Day, celebrating creation of the Christus Health System three years ago, will be observed Friday, Feb. 8, with a commemorative torch relay/walk from Christus St. Joseph's Medical Center, South, to the North Campus, with prayer services at each location.

The event will also mark the 90th year that members of the founding congregation, Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word, have provided health care in Paris.

Activities will begin at 10 a.m. with a brief prayer service in the lobby on the South Campus, followed by a reception in the cafeteria. Following the ceremony, Associates representing various hospital departments from both campuses will begin a two-mile trek to the North Campus, carrying a torch to symbolize the Christus mission and in conjunction with the opening day of the Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City. The walk will conclude with a second prayer service and reception on the North Campus.

Among those leading the walk will be Curtis Fendley, member of the Christus St. Joseph's Board of Directors, who carried the official Olympic torch through a portion of Texarkana when it made its cross-country trek recently. The public is invited to join hospital Associates in the walk or any portion. Catholic sisters who currently serve or have served the hospital will begin and conclude the walk as torch bearers.

Gifted/Talented nominations open

Worth Exposition and Livestock Show. Parents of the winner are Mike and Jean Upchurch. Sponsor for Micah's effort will be National Finance Credit Corporation of Ft. Worth.

The Calf Scramble, which allows 16 students to compete at each of the 30 Stock Show Rodeo performances, has eight performance winners. The young people are high school students out to catch and halter a calf with hopes of winning a $500 purchase certificate that will help buy a registered heifer for a yearlong 4-H or FFA project.

Winners must care for their animals throughout the year and return for the 2003 Stock Show to exhibit it in the Junior Heifer

Show. Those who do the best job will be in line for scholarship funds when they enter college. Last year, the grants were made to 40 young people.

All entries receive a special T-shirt with their contestant number and a windbreaker from Justin Boots. Participants who fail to catch a calf receive a certificate for a pair of Justin Roper Boots. Mrs. Baird's Bakeries and Justin Boots sponsor the contest each year.

Of other interest during this year's Stock Show will be the exhibiting of some 25,000 head of top quality livestock with premiums for the Livestock Division and the Rodeo totaling over $900,000. All events are held at the world-class Will Rogers Memorial Center in west Ft. Worth. The Stock Show and Rodeo continued through Sunday night, February 3, 2002. Congratulations Micah!!

KENNY ROLLINS-the new Titus County Extension Agent visited with the Talco 4-H Club on Monday night, Feb. 4, 2002. He spoke to the group on various subjects and encouraged their participation in all. (Staff Photo Nancy Brown)

4-H'ers show at Ft. Worth

Recently five Red River County 4-H'ers participated in the 106th Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show held at the Will Rogers Center in Ft. Worth.

Those participating were Lillian Baird of the Cuthand 4-H Club, Amy Holt and Toni Phillips of the Dimple 4-H Club, Nina Jones of the Avery 4-H Club and Lisa Somerville of the Midway 4-H Club.

The junior beef show was held January 17 through 21 with a total of 1,200 beef heifers being entered.

On January 19, Lisa Somerville and Amy Holt showed their Polled Hereford heifers with Lisa placing third in her class and Amy placing ninth in her class.

On January 20, Lillian and Toni showed their Beefmaster heifers with Toni placing sixth and Lillian placing eighth.

On January 21, Nina showed her Brangus heifer, placing 18th in her class.

The 4-H'ers were accompanied by their parents. A good time was had by all and the 4-H'ers did a good job representing Red River County and their individual clubs.

Junior High Lady Rebels finish season

by Coach Tammie Case

The 8th grade Lady Rebels went undefeated for the second year in a row in district play. The girls played well together and were a fun team to watch. They beat their district opponents by an average of 20 points per game. They also were the champions of the Chisum Tournament held earlier in the season.

The 7th grade team improved throughout the year. They played with a lot of heart and finished their season with a big win over DeKalb.

LISA SOMERVILLE, Red River County 4-H'er, showed her heifer Victoria, at the Ft. Worth Stock Show recently. Lisa placed third in her class.

"Dianne Ross Read-In" held

On Friday, February 1, 2002, Rivercrest Elementary School students participated in the first ever "Dianne Ross Read-In". The read-in was held to honor past 1st grade teacher of Bogata Elementary, Dianne Ross. Since February 1 was Dianne's birthday and reading was one of her passions, the faculty and students at the elementary school thought the read-in would be a great way to honor Mrs. Ross. All students seemed to have a good time reading and then enjoyed snacks to end the day. Pictured are some of Mrs. Purviance's 4th grade students.
