GARNER FOR PRESIDENT

Some Democrats who are strong prohibitionists, and who have hesitated about endorsing the candidacy of John Garner for president because they wondered if there might be some truth in the John Lewis castigation, now haven't a leg left to stand on.

Garner's friends who knew Lewis' statement was untrue and was made only for political purposes, now call attention to the endorsement of Senator Morris Sheppard, who delivered a nation-wide radio speech urging Garner for president.

It should be remembered that Sheppard is an ardent prohibitionist and sponsored the amendment that for a time made the sale of intoxicants unlawful in all the states. Had Garner been a whiskey-guzzling, wicked old man as charged by Lewis, he would never have received the Sheppard endorsement, to say nothing of a nation-wide speech urging his candidacy.

Not because Garner was born within a few miles of the home of this newspaper, and is a Texan, but because he is a solid, substantial, level-headed American, who through more than thirty years of public life has never had his honesty or integrity called in question, whose private life has been without sham or pretense, and whose thirty years of experience as a congressman, speaker of the house and vice-president has given him a greater knowledge of the problems confronting this nation than that of any other living man—for these, and for no other reasons, The Times advocates the candidacy of John Nance Garner for president.

SOLAR SCIENCE

Talco Times: America was practically isolated from the rest of the world for several hours Sunday by the effects of a magnetic storm, described by scientists as a tornado-like solar disturbance that whipped up huge spots on the sun from which a stream of electrical particles emanated, riddling the atmosphere of the earth and affecting communication lines. The astral-physical warfare was capped by a display of the aurora borealis.

State Press in Dallas News: So you saw that aurora-bora thing at Talco, did you? They saw it at Higgins, Texas, too, as the Higgins News reported. The phenomenon seems to have skipped Dallas, or at least wasn't noticed. Our people probably were at the movie. Those solar cyclones do play havoc sometimes. They blow great holes into the gaseous element of the sun and the atomic shower consequent to the storm affects our terrestrial communication systems. Our communication systems depend on electricity and electricity is sensitive to solar influence. The fact is that the exact nature of electricity has never been discovered. We only know how to make use of it, to make it work for us and to register on a meter. Neither has science entirely grasped the sun. All the scientists know the sun is a great gob of burning gas but nobody knows who set it afire or what would happen if the fire went out. The supposition is that we earthlings would freeze to death, solidly and pronto. Fortunately, as long as the gas lasts the fire will last. But when a cosmic tornado hits the sun it may blow out a small portion of the illuminated mass

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

BURT LOCKHART
in Pittsburg Gazette

So much is expected of people these days it is surprising that no one has invented a longer week.

Someone has observed that there is a Jiggs and Maggie in every Main street in U. S. A.

If Europe goes to the dogs (and it seems fairly well on the way) our sympathy will be with the dogs.

The world may consider us out of date if we are old fashioned, but have you noticed that antiques often bring the best prices?

We can always tell when the fish are beginning to bite. It is when the lawn grass gets high enough to mow and the garden needs hoeing.

To be weighed down with the burdens of wealth must be a delightful experience. We've never known a man to swap the load for the burdens of poverty.

The war in Europe seems to have settled down into a controversy between England and Germany as to which one did the most damage in recent air raids.

The government's economy program didn't last long. Congress evidently felt so good over having made a cut of two hundred million dollars recently that it turned around and increased the agricultural program two hundred and ten million dollars.

Now that our nation is bumping its head against the forty-five billion-dollar ceiling of its national debt, many are wondering whether Uncle Sam is going to bump thru the ceiling, reduce expenditures or levy more taxes. One of the three things will have to be done.

Remember those "good old days" when boys and girls often walked three or four miles every day to school? It is different in this streamlined age. Last year 3,745,000 boys and girls were transported to and from U. S. schools in 85,700 buses at a cost of $72,950,000.

If you were a citizen of England and married here is how you would be taxed on income:

$1,000	$29
$2,000	$246
$4,000	$871
$6,000	$1,496
$8,000	$2,246
The tax in America is as follows:
$1,000	None
$2,000	None
$4,000	$44
$6,000	$116
$8,000	$248

Is Germany's bold offensive stroke on Tuesday one of aggression or desperation? Is it iron ore or dairy products she really needs? Norway and Sweden can supply both. The cost will be great, judging from reports of Thursday's naval engagements. Two weeks of fighting should prove whether the Nazi bold stroke was one of confidence or desperation.

and the result be a sun spot. That sun spot soon fails because the gas pours in and takes fire. If there were to come a solar storm sufficient to douse the whole glim we should all be in for it—Talco, Higgins, Dallas and the surrounding park cities. The latter would go out along with Dallas much as they might hate to.

THE POCKETBOOK of KNOWLEDGE BY TOPPS

Ain't that Sump'n

By NUMBER SEVEN

So long as Hitler lives off the fat of other lands and is egged on by his henchmen, we may expect no improvement in his manners. Hitler's general meanness and nasty temper is attributed to his excessive diet of fat and eggs by one medical theorist. Too bad that butter and eggs should be indirectly responsible for the downfall of little Czechoslovakia and Poland. Maybe the peace-loving German people should have kept their Jews and sold their chickens and cows.

This job of census-taking, though a bit unusual, is certainly not an innovation of modern civilization. In the 24th chapter of the second Book of Samuel is a story of a great enumeration of the people that required nine months and twenty days to complete. Nowadays, however, it doesn't take nine months to count the people. If it did the enumerators over here would have to do plenty of backtracking, due to the increased birth rate as a result of the European war.

Number Seven, who is classed as a columnist, desires to thank his Excellency Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel for his recent tribute to "stinking-out-loud columnists." His remark, though undoubtedly not so intended, is a compliment to all columnists who openly disapprove of his administration of government affairs. This in view of the fact that such columns do not stink, even to the floury and fastidious nose of the Governor, until the record of that estimable gentleman is transposed to cold type. Which indicates that it is not the columnist, but the thing the columnist holds up for view, that stinks.

TASTES DIFFER

Jimmy (at the circus): "Don't you wish you was one of them aerialists an' fly through the air?"

Johnny: "Naw, I'd rather be an elephant, eat peanuts an' squirt water through my nose."

FORMER RED RIVER COUNTY GIRL KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Velta Parker, 15-year-old McCaulley high school student, died recently as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident. Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Parker, and two brothers. The family formerly lived in the Lone Star community of Red River county.

One thing is very certain and reassuring about the European war: Our dear Uncle Sam is not letting them have the money to buy powder and lead. That ten billion dollars Europe owes us is still a very sore spot with us.

Mrs. Norman Scaff Buried Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Clarksville for Mrs. Margaret Gaylor Scaff, wife of Norman (Boots) Scaff, to whom she was married a year ago. Deceased was born May 14, 1912 and is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Hattie Gaylor and one brother, Hamlin Gaylor of Clarksville. She had been ill for several months. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. Wilson Cole, Presbyterian minister, with interment in Fairview cemetery.

Monopoly

My bill, H. R. 1, to prevent a few New York interstate chains from obtaining control of retail distribution is being heard by the Committee on Ways and Means. That committee has 500 bills before it, so I feel very fortunate in getting my bill considered, second only to the Reciprocal Trade Act extension. Unusual interest is being manifested. My original statement to the committee was two hours and five minutes long and questions were asked me by committee members an additional three hours and twenty-five minutes. The testimony has disclosed that a few large chains have enormous buying power and that they combine their buying power so as to force the farmers to sell to them at a very low price. Last year, 1939, the farmers were forced to sell their production for three billion dollars less than they would have received if the interstate chains had not ganged up on them.

This bill is aimed at monopoly. New York interests now own most of the following businesses and industries in Texas: Telegraph, railroad, telephone, electricity, gas, water, oil, sulphur, bus, truck, picture shows, ice houses, and creosote plants. They even fix the price of poles and cross ties, using the creosote plant as the bottle neck, thru which they must go and which they completely control. That is the reason our money flies overnight to Wall Street. Who owns Texas? It would be interesting to know. Texas people who built our great state own a very small part of the real money making businesses. My bill exempts the first fifty stores but it will stop the further invasion of New York chains.

Ownership Encouraged

Prior to 1933, the average purchaser of a home on the installment plan paid $65.23 a month on a $5,000 home after making the $500 down payment. Now under the Federal Housing Authority, loans are made by banks, insurance companies, and building and loans, which are insured by a governmental agency for a fee, and the cost to the average home-owner, who has paid $500 down on a $5,000 home, is only $26.83 a month. Therefore, the average home-owner has $38.40 more each month to use to buy comforts and necessities of life because of this saving in interest. The time of second, third and fourth mortgages along with commission and renewal rates, which were so expensive to the home-owner, is gone. In addition, the typical FHA mortgage is written at 80 per cent to 95 per cent of appraised value instead of 45 per cent to 60 per cent. The construction of homes stimulates the use of durable goods, which helps as many people as the use of any other type of goods or commodities and possibly more. The government records disclose fewer foreclosures than at any time during the past seven years.

Neutrality

This country is determined to stay out of war. The passage of the Neutrality Act by Congress during the Special Session last year was a long step in that direction. The neutrality law has been on the statute books now about six months.

and although over two hundred ships have been sunk during that time, we have not had our ships molested in any way. There is much bitterness and hate as well as jealousy and envy existing in European countries. The outlook for peace is not promising. I believe that we will remain out of the war. If our ships upon the high seas are attacked or interfered with, we have many ways of retaliating without going to war.

TIME FOR THE FACTS

How Money Paid for Motor Licenses is Distributed

The popular belief among motorists when paying their registration fees is that the state receives all or most of the license fees. That such is not the case is shown in the following tabulation, prepared by the Texas Good Roads Association, showing distribution of funds secured from automobile registrations during the fiscal year ending August 31, 1939, in District 1:

	Retained by Co.	Amount to State
Lamar	$79,512.39	$29,722.32
Red River	$38,275.04	$40.20
Franklin	$18,030.34	$17.50
Hopkins	$56,130.30	$6,227.17
Fannin	$63,433.52	$13,501.34

Probable Appropriations
The outlook for more money for parity payments, disposing of surplus commodities tenant purchase through Farm Security and rural electrification is real good. The chance for an appropriation for appropriation for next year will likely exceed a billion dollars. Strong opposition to drastic cuts in WPA rolls is piling up on Capitol Hill from all over the country. Hearings on this bill are now in progress before the committee.
Sentiment seems to favor an early adjournment, both in Congress and at the White House. The best evidence of this trend is the passage of the Reciprocal Trade Bill, which represented such a wonderful chance for delay, if delay was desired by any strong minority.

German Births were High in 1939

The year 1939, which plunged Germany into war, was a record year for marriages and brought a further increase in the birth rate, it was revealed in official statistics. Though final figures are not yet compiled, it is stated that the 1934 high of 740,161 marriages will be exceeded, while births will total about 1,640,000, including those in Austria, the Sudetenland, Memel and Danzig.
In the first three-quarters of last year 58,165 more children were born in the old Reich territory than in the previous year, while including Austria births exceeded last year's by 91,084 for the same period. It is emphasized that these figures surpass those of France for 1938 by more than 1,000,000.—New York Times.

Cat's Paw Responsible for Mysterious Night Lights

Wonder what State Press and No. 7 will say about a certain cat belonging to a Talco merchant, after they have read this story.

G. W. Bonds operating a grocery store in Talco has had trouble with a light burning after he and his employees had turned it off. It even had the nightwatchman worried seeing the light come on hours after the store had been closed. Mr. Bonds had argued with employees that there must be some mistake about the light being turned off, but all were sure that it was never left on when closing the store.

Now, Mr. Bonds has a cat that has been so faithful in catching rats around the store that he feels like it is a part of the fixtures and he can't do without it. Consequently the cat is a second boss around the store. Mr. Bonds keeps a stock of feed under the light previously mentioned that plays a part including the cat, for the light being turned on.

One morning Mr. Bonds walked back and pulled the string, extinguished the light, then walked back by the stove where his cat was perched on a chair, and watched for a ghost to turn the light on. The cat immediately jumped from his chair and leaped upon the stack of feed, grabbed the string with his paw and on came the light. The cat then jumped down, crawled back up in his chair and started purring. Mr. Bonds again stepped to the back and cut the light out. The cat jumped up, and with a very hard look at his master, again turned the light on. So, Mr. Bonds moved his feed from under the light.

J. W. C. Hancock of Rugby, had a perfect right to give his faithful cat an honorable burial, if Mr. Bonds will pay an extra light bill and move a stack of feed for a cat.

RAIN DAMAGE TO TOMATOES IS THOUGHT SLIGHT

Several tomato beds in this area were damaged by the week end rain and wind which shredded sheets and exposed plants to the driving rain. Most beds which were protected by new, heavy sheets withstood the wind. Growers could not estimate damage but most of them expected plants to survive and suffer only delayed growth.

Saturday, those who had beds exposed were busy getting new sheets and restoring the cover which protected plants from cold. Sunday's low temperatures caused no particular damage and warmer weather due soon is expected to give the plants a boost.

With the exception of last week end, tomatoes have had ideal weather and have made good progress. In a short time the transfer from cold frames to fields will be made and actual production of the crop will begin. Most farmers have prepared their land and are keeping well up with their truck growing program.

What should recommend a church to the support of a community—the size of its building, the number of people that worship there, the ability of the church to bestow earthly favors, or, its spirituality and fellowship?

We are striving to make our church a spiritual force in Talco. Against the sin that would destroy it and for the spiritual forces that would build it.

It is not enough to accumulate wealth. A great poet said: "Ill fares the land to hastening dooms the pray, Where wealth accumulates and men decay."

The finer things of life are the spiritual things. The greatest powers in the world are spiritual powers. Everyone is invited to come and help us in the work we are trying to do for God and humanity in this town of ours. Come.

From the Back Files of The Talco Times

Week of April 9, 1937

Mike Langley had been elected to serve on the school board, replacing John Hargrove.

A. V. McElroy had been re-named Mayor of Talco. He received 142 of the 202 votes cast in the election.

W. K. White had been elected city commissioner, and Marvin Hazelwood was returned to his position as commissioner.

The organization of a baseball club for Talco was underway. Three completions in the Sulphur Bluff field that week had brought the total up to 34 producing wells.

Week of April 10, 1936

Ernest O. Thompson of the Railroad Commission had announced that the Talco field would have 30 days of free flowing without production.

Three lumber supply houses had moved to Talco that week. They were equipped to supply heavy timbers for oil field rigs.

A news reel of the new Talco oil field was being shown that week. Scenes were activity in town and out in the field.

Business houses were adding to their fixtures and some were enlarging their stores to care for the increased business.

Workmen had oiled and graded the main street in Talco, settling all dust and making travel better in town.

WHOLE MILK BUYING BEGUN IN THIS AREA

Operation of a milk route thru a heretofore untouched section of Red River county was begun Tuesday when the operator, J. H. Armstrong, picked up 80 pounds of milk. Wednesday the amount reached 160 pounds and is expected to become a full truck load in a short time.

The route, as it was begun, includes a 43 mile loop through the Lone Star and McCoy sections and a 10 mile loop which goes down Highway 271 to a point south of Johntown. This route was surveyed in advance of the beginning of whole milk buying and as soon as farmers get production plans underway is due to yield a large quantity of milk.

Milk purchased is hauled directly to Sulphur Springs and this practice will continue until production is sufficient to justify establishment of a cooling station or processing plant. Production of 30,000 to 50,000 pounds of milk would make possible a processing plant for Bogata. Minimum necessary for a cooling station has not been disclosed.

Plant officials and veteran dairymen say the section is ideal for commercial dairying and believe the milk cow will bring real prosperity.

Lightning Does Freak Damage at Mosley

Lightning, thought to have followed an aerial wire, entered the home Friday of Jodie Stewart of the Mosley community, tore up the radio, knocked a leg off the kitchen stove and the curb off the cistern. None of the family was injured or shocked by the freak bolt, according to W. M. Garrett of that community.

Lightning was also reported to have struck a mulberry tree at the Arthur Mitchell home in the same community during the thunder storm, tearing off a limb and hurling it through a window.

An increase of 46 scholastics in the Detroit school district was revealed by the recent census of children of school age, according to the News-Terald.

JOHN GARNER, PRESIDENTIAL PROSPECT, HAILS FROM SMALL-TOWN LIFE IN TEXAS

When he is not in Washington presiding over the Senate, John Garner is a typical Texan—a friendly neighbor and an ardent sportsman. Folks who drop in at his Uvalde home usually find him tending the chickens or raking up the back yard, but his love of a vigorous outdoor life often sends him hunting or fishing at some remote camp for days at a time.

Vice President Garner, now a leading presidential candidate, is a stalwart American whose political honesty and integrity stem from the simplicity of his home life in Texas. Born and reared on a Blossom Prairie farm, he became a country lawyer and editor before beginning his notable career of public service. Today he still cherishes his ties with small-town life in Texas.

TALCO—MT. PLEASANT

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

AUSTIN.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, announcing his candidacy for re-election this week, told the voters the governors' race this year is going to be a mere sideshow, and the big excitement was going to be over the election of 150 House members and 14 Senators.

That is probably as the Governor would like to have it. But political developments of the week-end indicated O'Daniel may be as wrong about this as he has been about some other things during the last two years.

In the first place, O'Daniel himself made his prediction improbable when he laid the chief issue of the campaign—his transaction tax, and his spending program that calls for $60,000,000 of new taxes to be laid on the backs of the people of Texas. His demand that the people elect a subservient Legislature that will do the bidding of O'Daniel, as the present Legislature refused to do, reminded the voters that Huey Long had that kind of a legislature in Louisiana for ten years, and the people of the neighboring state have just finished the job of ousting the dictator's machine, and restoring democratic government in the Pelican State.

Ma May Get In

The probable entrance of Fa Ferguson into the race furnished another crop of rumors. If the Fergusons get in, it is a cinch that the gubernatorial race will be the main show. Jim Ferguson has been a power in Texas politics too many years for any campaign in which he takes part, with Ma as the candidate, to be anything but the main attraction.

Jerry Sadler, opening his drive, didn't have a hill-billy band, but he did try to outdo O'Daniel as a "promissory" candidate. He opposed the sales tax, but advocated $40 pensions instead of $30, by amending the state constitution; a burial fund for putting the pensioners away when they die; and state appropriations to match county funds for relief of unemployable charity cases.

Ernest Thompson, a sure entrant, declared his opposition to the sales tax and the transaction tax, pointing out that the latter is nothing but a multiplied sales tax, and let it be known that he will drive hard for increased oil taxes to pay the social security obligations.

Harry Hines, already busily campaigning with a weekly radio broadcast, promised to work with the legislature—denied any desire to dictate to the people what kind of a legislature they elect—and declared for a policy of spreading the new tax burden, which all candidates are agreed must be imposed, without crippling any line of business or industry.

The situation thus far is this: All the announced or declared candidates admit some additional taxation will be required, to meet teachers pensions, aid to the blind, aid for dependent children, and old age pensions. Their estimates vary widely as to the amount needed. O'Daniel is the most extravagant, with his $80,000,000 figure. Sadler, with his bid for support of the "gimmecrats" through advocacy of new state grants and charities, is probably next, although he is less definite about the total tax load he would impose. Thompson calls for substantial increases in oil taxes, with his "nickel for Grandma," while Hines, admitting frankly that the governor can't do anything about the kind or amount of taxes laid, has so far merely promised to go along with the legislature on any reasonable tax program, except a sales tax, which he strongly opposes.

Ferguson has at various times advocated a retail sales tax, and later, a gross receipts tax, similar to that in use in Indiana. Nobody knows what Old Jim would urge now if he puts Ma in, but that both he and Sadler will cut heavily into O'Daniel's support is the best guess of observers here.

Austin politicians pointed out that Texas voters have on every occasion they have had in recent years decisively rejected a sales tax, and they believe O'Daniel's stubborn advocacy of his screwy transaction tax—which approximates the equivalent of a 4 to 8 per cent sales tax—has weakened the governor's former strong position. There has been a feeling all along in Austin, where O'Daniel is anything but popular, that he was an odds-on favorite to win without a runoff. After his transaction tax speech, and his demand for a legislature that will jump through the hoop when he snaps his fingers, the Austin politicians began to see a real contest, with a good possibility that O'Daniel may not be in the governor's office when the next legislature meets.

Rail Board Post

Persistent rumors that Rail Commissioner Lon Smith may not stand for re-election, while subject to heavy discount here, centered attention on that important race. Olin Culberson continued his busy campaigning, with gas rates and an equitable regulation of oil flow, as his chief issues; Bill McDonald, ex-laud commissioner, and Larry Mills of Dallas, are active candidates. Pierce Brooks, runner up to Coke Stevenson in the last race for lieutenant governor, is about ready to get in. Smith, in ill health, postponed his announcement for re-election, but if he is able, best informed sources here regard it as certain he will stand for re-election. If he does, the voters will see all three members of the Railroad Commission running this year. Smith for re-election, Sadler for governor and Thompson for governor.

National Outlook

Sweeping victory for Roosevelt delegates in New York and Wisconsin drew "explanatory" statements from Gene Germany and Miss Clara Driscoll in behalf of Vice-President Garner, but the latest Gallup poll, showing a strong majority of Texas and Oklahoma voters favor a third term for Roosevelt, didn't do the Garner campaign any good. Jim Farley came and went, was warmly greeted, and talked very little about national politics. Best guess here is Farley is angling for second place on the national ticket, probably with Cordell Hull as the nominee, and that Farley knows or thinks Roosevelt will reject a third term at what he considers the proper time, which may be at the convention next July.

What New Road Bond Assumption Law Means to Taxpayers

What the new Road Bond Assumption Law means to East Texas taxpayers is shown in the county allocations, Sept. 15, 1940, which will be approximately as listed below:

Titus—$6,024.05.
Franklin—$3,529.05.
Lamar—$15,263.68.
Red River—10,801.01.

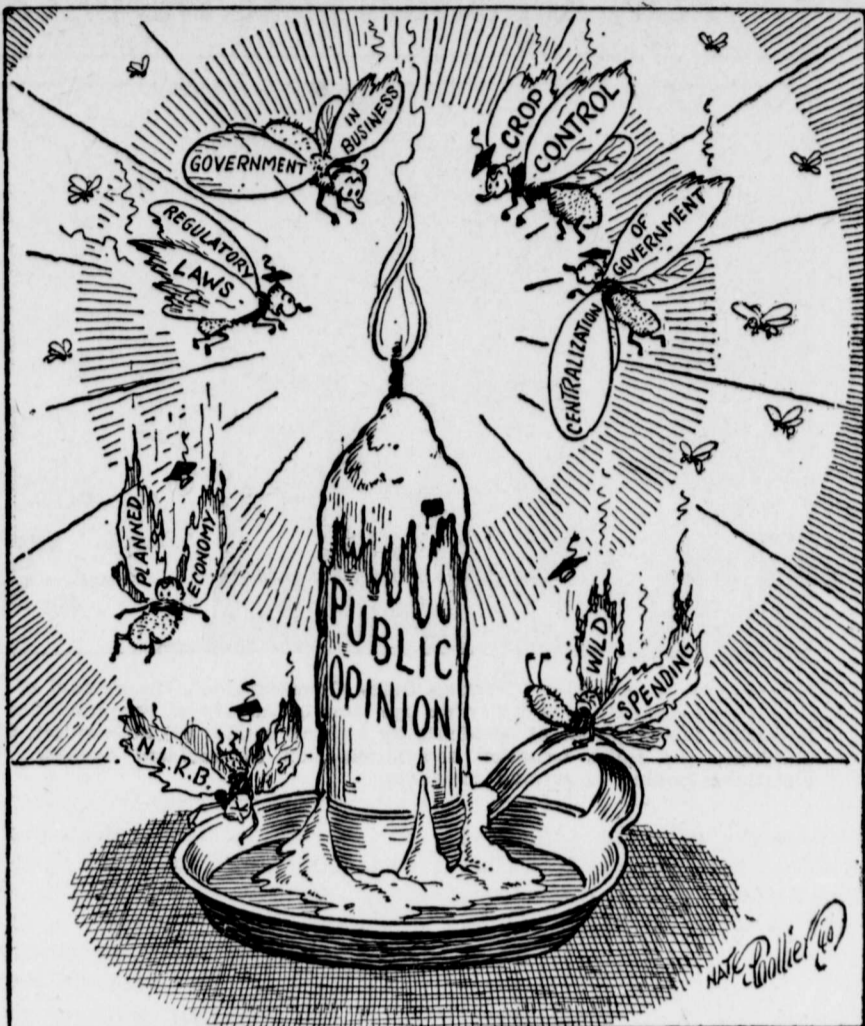

The above figures, supplied by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, may vary slightly in some cases because the formula is to be figured on the basis of 1940 motor vehicle registration. They are figured on a present estimate of $2,190,190.97 balance for 70 counties as of Sept. 1, 1940, to go into the Lateral Road Account.

The following counties have had monies deposited to the credit of their respective lateral funds under the terms of the new act. The figures are of March 25, 1940:

Deposited to lateral road fund because of new additional tax—Lamar, $15,552.80; Red River, none; Titus, none. Deposited to the lateral road fund because of old increased aid — Lamar, $15,516.67; Red River, $7,297.01; Titus, $5,510.07.

There IS a Difference in Gasolines

AGAIN, Humble's policy of continuous improvement registers a noteworthy gain in quality for Texas motorists. These two great gasolines, now improved, point the way to improved performance for your car. When you try them, you'll agree that there is a difference in gasolines.

Improvement of these gasolines results from our policy of CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT: Humble technical men are constantly experimenting, in the laboratory and on the road, with improved products for your car. This constant research results in continuous improvement of the gasolines, motor oils and other products you get under the Humble sign. The process of improvement is so continuous that specific improvements frequently are made without public announcement. It is only when marked improvements are made, like the improvement in quality of these fine gasolines, that your special attention is called to them. It all adds up to this: we promise you that you will find Humble products second to none, that you can depend on continuous improvement to keep the quality of Humble products up with, or a little ahead of, the performance built into your car.

To Buyers in the Lower-Price Field Humble offers you another product of its policy of continuous improvement: in Thriftane, a leaded gasoline of specified quality at thrifty price.
